

REYNOL JURICAL GENEALOGY COLLECTION

GENEALOGY 929.102 F91FRI 1860-1861

FRIEND.

RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOLUME XXXIV.

PHILADELPHIA:

PRINTED BY PILE & M'ELROY.

1861.

CHELDEL.

the state of the s

.........

INDEX.

African Explorations, Dr. Livingstone's, 1, 406, African Exploration, 9. Astronomy, Recent Discoveries in, 17, 25, 33, Auburn State Prison, 62. Apple Tree Roots, 69. Address to Young Persons, an, 76. 87. Accuracy, the Value of, 88. Arsenic Eating, 114. Arnold, Dr.; Anecdote of, 124. Agriculture, 124. American Agriculturist, the, 141. Alexander, Mary; Extract, 163. Agami, the; a new Monarch of the Barn Yard, 164. American Commerce, 170. Afflictions for the Gospel's Sake, 195, 203, 211. Ancient Relic, an, 196.
Ancient Landmarks, Remove them not, 205.
"As Apples of Gold," 243.
African Slave Trade, the, 253. Ardent Spirits, Consumption of, 258. Afflictions of the Righteous, 259. Algiers, 263, 267. A Stained Memory, 270. American Forests, 270. Artesian Wells, 274. Artificial Hill, a Refuge from Inundation, 277. African Discovery, by Captains Burton and Speke, 279 Absurd Waste, 279. Appalachian Mountain System, the, 281, 294, 297, 305, 313, 321, 329, Animal Instinct, 284. Always Reprove Sin, 286. American Oysters, 287. Artesian Well at Grenelle, Paris, 326. Abstraction and Presence of Mind, 327.

Address of Friends of New York, on the State of our Country, 334.

Address of Philadelphia Monthly Meeting to its Remote Members, 342. Biographical Sketches, &c., continued from page 412. Vol. xxxiii.—4. 12. 20. 28. 36. 44. 61. 85. 101. 109. 116. 132. 140. 149. 165. 180. 197. 214. 236. 276. 285. 301, 325, Bell, Edward: his account of the old Continental Flour Mill, 12. Brahmin Cattle in the Southern States, 14.

Barclay's Apology, 21. Bottle Department, a, 43. 53. Bible in Italy, 46. Bevan, J. G.; Letter of, 50. Black Fly, the, 52. Bird's Nest in a Letter-box, 60. Broker and his Clerk, the, 76.
Be not Conformed to this World, 94. Bible, the, 102.

Botany of Japan, 115. Barotrope, 127. Black Man's Story, a, 134. "Be Right," 134. Bells, a Chapter on, 186.

Bible Association of Friends, Circular of, 199.

Barclay, John; From his Letters and Diary, 214. 223. 230, 259, 268, 287, 295, 301, 309, 317, 326, 327, 338, 349, 350, 357, 364, 375, 398, 404, 411, Bible, Modern Assanlts on, and their Results, 220. Bee Annoyance in California, 228. "Be not Deceived; Evil Communications Corrupt Good Manners," 237.

British Museum, 260. Breweries of London, 268.

Brewertes of London, 208.

"Bless the Lord at all Times, in all Places of his Dominion." 279.

Balloon Voyage, a Great, 295.

Bette, Samuel, 315. Black at the Heart, 317.

Book Worms, 338. Books, Scarcity of, 342, 393. Barclay, Robert; Proposition XV., 354, 365, 377, 385, Diamonds, and the Pleasure of Possessing them, 206, 393 401 409

Bell. Deborah, 357. Butter, Why was it Hardened without Ice, 364.

Catacombs, the, 2. Cattle's Tongues, Curry Combs, 38. Chinese Language, the, 46. Cecil, Richard, 46. Carrot, Medical Qualities of the, 55. Commerce of the East, 60. Current, its Propagation, 62. Celery, Blanching it with Sawdust, 63. Contentions, arising out of Misunderstanding, 63. Communion in Spirit, 69. Camden Evening School for Coloured Adults, 77, 125. Christians in Madagascar, the, 79. Catacombs in Paris, Fright in the, 83. Capper, Mary; Letter of, in her Eighty-fifth year, 100. Consumption, Geography of, 101.

Cause, Care and Treatment of Calumny and Detraction, 101 Christmas, 115. Cotton Regions of Africa, 123. Camels in Texas, 135. Climate, our Changing, 156. Chinese Dinner, a, 156.

Children's Dresses, 166. Circulation of Valuable Works, 166. Cotton, 176. Census of Philadelphia, 180.

Covetousness, 199. California, Periodical Literature in, 202. Cinchona, Cultivation of the, 212. Coral Reef of Australia, 219. Cotton, Production and Consumption of, 234.

Christ's Presence, the Authority of the Church, 238, Celebrated Men, a Few Facts about, 246. Curious Invention, 247.

Cedars of Lebanon, 251. Coloverseed, the Trade in, 251. Cisterns of Venice, the, 252. Consumption of Textile Fabrics at the South, 258.

Census Items, 262.

Coale, Josiah; his dying Testimony, 262. Cars, How they are Lighted with Gas, 266. Cost of the Agitation, 267. Curious Geographical Fact, 269.

Cast Iron Enameled Water Pipes, 270. Clocks, and How we came by them, 275. 283. Coal in Sonth-west Missouri, 276.

Church Membership, 278. Cold, and the Sense of Sleep, 299.

Chemistry, Wonders of, 301. Celestial Phenomenon, a Beautiful, 310. Coloured Persons, Association of Friends for the Free Instruction of; Managers' Report, 324.

Crane Wheat, 326. Congress of Verona, the, 327. Conformity to the World, 348. Cities of Europe, 348.

Cotton, the Future Supply of, 349. 363. 371. 381. Commercial Value of Insects, 351.

Commercial value of insects, 557. Curious Epistle, 358. Crisp, Stephen; Epistle of, 366. Climate of Great Britain, What Influences it, 375. Comet of 1861, 382, 389, 396.

Cottonized Flax, Fibrilia, 386. Christianity in Practice, 395.

Conscientious Obedience, 410, Dewsbury, William; On the Evils of Separation, 5. Druses and Maronites, 38. Diamond, Origin and Properties of the, 55.

Druses of Mount Lebanon, the, 58, 66. Dentistry, 94. Dissimulation, 146. Disasters on the Western Rivers, 179.

Drummond Light, the, 284.

Discipline in Childhood, 304. Danger of Departing from the Truth, 330. Depth of Mines, 412.

Death as a Regulator, 415.

Deaths.—Martha Wood, 8; Phebe Jane Taber, 24; Ja-cob T. Lukens, 40; Joseph Rakestraw, Rebecca G. Cresson, 56; Eleanor M. Peckham, Joseph Powell, 64; Mary N. Smith, 72; Phebe Roberts, 80; Joseph K. Potts, 88; Ruth W. Brown, Hannah Vail, 96; Charles Garrett, 104; Rebecca Allen, 112; John T. Troth. 128; Jesse J. Maris, 136; Sarah Engle, 152; Rebecca 126; Jesse J. anis, 180; Satar Engle, 182; Redected Bacon, 160; Martha Askew, Caroline W. Bacon, 168; Elizabeth B. Morris, 176; Eunice Starr, Mary Doud-na; Mary F. Lawrence, Joseph Rhoads, Samuel R. Simmons, 184; Samuel Marriott, Robert C. Macy, Joshua Sharpless, Edith Kite, Joseph Cresson, Hannah P. Davis, Rebecca Rhoads, Mark Collins, 192; Fothergill Ogborn, Abraham M. Underhill, Abi W. Lightfoot, 200; John Rhoads, 208; James Starr, Isaac Harvey, Sr., 216; Joseph S. Haines, Elizabeth Bonsall, 224; Ann M. Oliphant, Stephen Webster, Sa-Bonsall, 224; Ann M. Oliphant, Stephen Webster, Sa-rah Mott, Ann Maria Ransome, 232; Jesse John, 248; Rachet Mickle, Elizabeth Evans, 264; Mary L. Hib-berd, Mary Kite, Lydia Stokes, Rebecca C. Evans, Samuel Simmons, 272; Isaac Chrisman, 288; Josha Macomber, Francis T. Seal, 204; Samuel Bettle, Thomas Comfort, Ann W. Morris, 312; Jeffrey Smedley, 320: Elizabeth M. Parsons, 336; Hannah M. Gihley, 320: Elizabeth M. Parsons, 336; Hannah M. Gib-bons, 344; Richard Williams, 360; Caleb Stroud, Elizabeth Jones, Elizabeth Taylor Troth, Mercie W. Townsend, 368; Ann E. Thistlethwaite, 392; Edward Healey; J. Whitall Reeve, 408; Margaret H. Parker, 416

Encouragement to Labour and not to Faint, 7. English Opinion about the Slave Trade in America, 14. Elephant, an Intelligent, 27.

European Debts, 31. English Mistake, 42.

English Cotton Mills owned by Operatives, 79. Eye, the, 84.

Ear, the, 100. Egyptian Archaeology, Influence of on Bible Studies, 117, 125. Extraordinary Capture, 163.

Education in France, 167. "Evil Communications Corrupt Good Manners," 206. Education, 219.

Emancipation in Jamaica, 229. Engraving, a New Method of, 243. Exploit in Diving, 244. Exhortation to Early Piety, 245.

Endeavour to keep the Unity of the Spirit, 303. Epistle of the Yearly Meeting of Philadelphia to its Members, 390. 397. 405.

Extracts.-5, 6, 11, 13, 28, 34, 43, 50, 52, 55, 60, 68, 69 75, 76, 78, 87, 100, 103, 110, 124, 127, 131, 138, 147 166, 170, 171, 175, 187, 189, 191, 199, 207, 219, 223, 227, 228, 229, 230, 234, 247, 252, 255, 258, 260, 262, 263, 266, 268, 269, 270, 274, 275, 277, 282, 283, 285 286, 287, 291, 295, 299, 302, 303, 306, 309, 311, 316 317, 319, 320, 326, 327, 328, 332, 338, 340, 342, 343 346, 347, 348, 355, 358, 362, 364, 373, 375, 378, 381 382, 386, 387, 388, 390, 391, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398 399, 400, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 410, 413,

339, 400, 402, 403, 404, 405, 406, 410, 413. Glitorial.—The New Volume, 8; The Present Conditio of the World, 14; Massacre of the Maronites in Syri 23; Political Strife, and the Elections, 31; Value of Good Education, 39; "The Friend," 48; John Jay of the reopening of the Slave Trade, 55; John Yearl Meeting, 63, 79; The Degeneracy in our Society, 70 Starving Condition of the Inhabitants of Kansus, 12 Starving Condition of the innabiliants of Railesia, te Circulation of "The Friend," 88; Prosperity and It gratitude of our Country, 95; H. G. Guinness' Mee ings, 103; Position of the Roman Pontiff at the Pr sent Juncture, 111; The Secession Movement, 111 Letter of John Hunt, 128; Sufferings of Friends du ing the Revolutionary War, 135, 143, 150, 158, 167; Hard Butter without Ice, 346, Separatists in Iowa requesting to be reunited to Friends, 142; The North and the Sonth, and the diffriends, [42] He word and use south, and he utilities, [42] He word and use south, and he utilities (Eular) and the utilities (Eular) and He word and the state of the minimisent Peril, Friends Select Schools, 207; Immediate Revelation and Guidance of the Commotions in Church and State, 215; Correction of lasects on Trees, 75.

Mistake in the account of a Remarkable Deliverance "I Know 1 Ought to," 77. from Drowning, on page 207, 231; The Fearful Ordeal our Country is passing through, 239; How far are in-dividual Citizens responsible for the Acts of our Government? Crnelty to the Indians, &c., 255; Yearly Meeting of Philadelphia, 264. 270; The Duty of Dissecung of Philadelphia, 264, 270; The Duty of Dis-tributing Good Books, 280; Influence of our Actions on the Conduct of Others, 287; "Unseasonable Sa-crifices," 311; Kerosene Oil, 336; London Yearly Meeting, 343, 351, 388, 361, 375, 382, 391, 497; The Comet, 400; On the Principles upheld by "The Friend," 415.

Fire, the Idea of it among the Ancients, 53.
Fox, George; Extracts, 111. 205. 219. 231.
Farmers' Tools and Tool House, 111. Farmers' Tools and tool House, 111.
Floral Question, a, 115.
Flight of Sound, the, 116.
Friend's Boarding School at Mount Pleasant, 118. Friend's Boarding School at Mount Pleasant, 118.

Faith that Overcometh the World worketh by Love, 118.

Fothergill, S.; Selection from his Journal, 139. 171.

Fire Bricks, 173.

Fothergill, S.; Extract, 189.

Force of the Wares, Curious Evidence of the, 205.

Force of the Wares, Curious Evidence of the, 205. Fenelon, Extract, 219. Fire Water, 220.

Forster, William; Part of a Communication of, 238.

Foundered at Sea, 244. Four Quarternions of Soldiers, 261.

Fresh-water Spring at Sea, 269. Farmer and Merchant, 277. Ferris, David, 289, 298, 310. Forest Mice, 292. Felt Cloth, 299. First Twenty Years, 300. Faithfulness and Diligence, a Call for, 307. Faith, 317.

Frogs, Respiration of in Winter, 50.

Flour, Prices of since 1796, 355. For the Children, 372. Fothergill, Dr., 396. Flax Cotton, 398.

Footprints, 410. Fall of a Singular Aerolite, 415.

Griffith, John; Extract, 27. 166. Gospel Ministry, 29. Grover, William; Letter of, 39. Grape Culture, 78. Genius and Labour, 87. Grubb, Sarah Lynes; Extract, 102. Gold and its Results, 103. Good Advice for all Times, 126. Garibaldi on the State of Europe, 131, Greatest of Street Preachers, 134. Glass for Telescopes, 175. Garden, the, 178. 194. 210. 222. Gold, Large Cake of, 215. Grubb, Sarah Lynes; Extract, 226. Letter of, and Visit to the Pump Room at Bath, 228, Gold Sweepings, Value of, 227.
Grizzly Bear not a Ferocious Beast, 258.
Gillot's Pena, 260.
Going two Miles for One, 306.

Great Eastern, the, 317. Gray, George; his Ministry, 388. Go not to Babylon, 414. Hale, Matthew; on Humility, 7. Heat and Cold as Disinfectants, 28. Hull, Henry, 41. 49. 57. 65. 73. 81. 89. 97. 105. 113. 121. 129. 137. 145. 153. 161. 169. 177. 185. 193. 201. 209. 217. 225. 233. 241. 249, 257. 265. 273.

Hay, the Amount Requisite for Cows, The Cost of Milk. Ionours to a Philanthrophist, 103.

Horticulture, Influence of, 107. Icarty Suppers, 147. Icathen's Rebuke, 165. lave we been Converted? 171. lorse fat Butter, 203. lints Gathered in my Garden, 239.

lavoc of Life by War, 262. How were Thine Eyes Opened?" 286. lartshorne, Hannah, 292. lippopotamus with the Toothache, 327. ighest Railway in the world, 331.

Incendiary Mice, 35.
Immediate Revelation and Guidance of the Spirit, 62.

India Rubber Shoes, 118. Immediate Revelation, 127. Injustice and Unlawfulness of Oppression, 156.

India Rubber Cloths, 207.

Imputed Righteousness, 207.
Imperfection only is Intolerant of Imperfection, 231.
"I didn't Think," 238.

Immigration, 243.
Instances of Early Dedication, 246. Ingenious Contrivance, an, 282. Invisible World Displayed, the, 290.

Invisible world Displayed, side, 220.

Inward Retirement, 294.

"If any Man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of His," 208.

Ink, Cheap and Excellent, 311.

Iceland, 323. 337. 345. 353. 361. 369. 379.
"I am a Christian, and Cannot Fight," 372. Japanese and the Ethnological Society, 27.

Japanese, an American's Report of the, 296.
Jews of Morocco, the, 326.
Japanese Women, Dress of the, 336.

Joy and Praise, 415. Kidnappers in Kansas, 20. Keep Religion Uppermost, 174. Kill your Fish, 259. King and the Goose-Herd, 310. Kerosene Oil, Explosion of, 314.

Kindly Reproof, 326. Kansas Sufferers, Relief to the, 327. London, 44, Liberian Explorations, 45. Let Children Sleep, 75. Legatta or Lace Wood Tree, the, 79.

Lightning, Disarming a Thunder Cloud, 93, 99, 106, Life in Switzerland, 102, London Times, how Printed, 109. Lehigh Valley, the, 110. Light, Useful Effects of, 111. Lima Beans, 148.

Light for Animals, 157. Liberia, a Letter from, 163. Lindell House, the, 165 Loving Kindness of God, 167, London, Population of, 205. Luxury, 222. Love is Power, 230. Labrador Seal Fishery, 274.

Livingstone Expedition, the, 285. Explorations, 309. Light from Magnetism, 308. Lloyd's, 339. 347. Light of Christ Within, 341.

Liberian Cotton, 362. Leverrier on the Comet, 399. Little by Little, 404. London Yearly Meeting, 407. Laconics, Christian, 415.

Minor Effects in Money Spending, 36. Mourning Dress, 74.

Motives, 78.
Memory, as Affected by Disease, 94.
Morals of Wales, 100.
Marshall, Charles; Extract, 110.
Manufactures in Manchester, 224.

Manufactures in Manchester, Mendicancy, a Cure for, 226. Machine Made Chains, 231. Madeira, a Second, 238. Manufacturing, 238.

meetings of Friends in 1654, 244.
Meetings for Business, On the Proper Qualification for Speaking in, 258.
Mint, the, and its Operations, 259.
Mint, the, and its Operations, 259.
Mastedoa, Remains of a, 250.
Population of Russia, 259.
Population of Russia, 259.

Mackinery, 267.
Musings and Memorics, 277, 284, 291, 306, 314, 322, 333, 340, 346, 356, 362, 372, 379, 387, 395, 403, 411. Morocco Leather, 286.

Microscopic Phenomenon, 308.
Ministry, the Great Work of the, 316.
Materials in their Invisible State, 319.

Measure of Specific Gravities, 330. Migration of the Krim Tartars, 333. Migrations of the Buffalo, 335

Meteorology, 350. 355. 366. 373. 380. 388. 394. 402. 410. Maple Sugar, the Crop of, 365. Mineral Discoveries in California, 397.

Mind Leavened by the Spirit of Truth, a, 413. Marriages .- Daniel Satterthwait to Cornelia J. Hoag, 16; Joseph Scattergood, Jr., to Elizabeth Cope, 48; Clayton Cooper to Elizabeth E. Haines, 96; George T. Satter-thwaite to Sarah C. Conard, 128; John M. Smith to Lydia thwaite to Sarah C. Conard, 128; John M. Smith to Lydis Val, 136; Thomas Smedley to Rachel C. Preston, 144; Isaac H. Mosher to Elizabeth Hong, 176; Oliver Paxson to Ruth Anna Ely, 232; Charles M. Cooper to Hannah W. Brown; David Evans to Eliza W. Honse; Elliston P. Morris to Martha Canby, 240; Abel J. Hopkins to Jane Canby; Elias Ely Paxson to Margaret O. Wilson, 248; John W. Biddle to Mary Hewes, 296; George Haines to Edith T. Engles, 320; Dr. N. Newlin Stokes to Marta. E. Stokes, 344.

New Light House on Minot's Ledge, 12. Newfoundland Dog, 78. Nelson Worshipped as a Heathen Idol, 86. Naples, 92. Neale, Samuel; Extract, 107. New Race of Men in South America, 110.

Nezahualcoyotl, 170. New York and Philadelphia, 171. National Suicide, a, 202. New Leather, 243.

Nertchinsk, and the Siberian Exiles, 244, 250. Ocean, Bottom of the, 5. Ovster Culture, 11.

Oil Regions of Pennsylvania, A Trip to the, 82. 90.

Oil Regions of Pennsylvania, A Trip to the, i Over Exertion, 127. Oil News, the Latest, 164. Ocean Splendors, 174. Oil Business, 207. Owen, Dorothy; Testimony Concerning, 221. Offenders, Our Duty to, 229. Ocean, the Depths of, 230.

Old Age, 239. Observatory in America, the First, 255.

Oil Stories, 264. Our Country and its Troubles, Letter of Stephen Crisp, Penn, Wm.; Extracts, 3. 11. 175. Perilous Adventure of Two Ladies in a Coal Mine, 6. Perilous Adventure of Two Ladies in a Coal Mine, 6.

Penington, Isaac; Letter of, 13.
Preserving Shingles on Roofs, 13.
Preserving Shingles on Roofs, 13.
Portionity Wait and Quietly Hope, 30.
Porcelain, 34.
Professional Singing in the Churches, Objected to by the Bishop of Ripon, 53.
Photographic Printing, 60.

Powerful Burning Glass, 62. Poisonous Winds of India, 70.

Pursuit of Riches and Worldly Greatness, 86. Paris, a Journey Under, 124. Petroleum, or Rock Oil Wells, 126. Present Condition of Our Country, 133.

Philadelphia Passenger Railways, 146. Peace and Good Will Essential to Happiness, 150. Peel, Sir Robert, 155.

Prospects, 157.
Poor Children, Report of the Asylum for the Instruction

Passport System in Europe being Abolished, 165. Painting a White Girl to make her Black, 172.

Position in Sleeping, 173. Principles of Friends, 173 Popery in the United States, 175.

Pride, 179. Primitive Love and Concern of Friends, 187.

Platiua, Discovery of, 188. Pilgrimage to my Mother Land, 190, 196, 204, 213, 218.

Pride, Gaiety, and Conformity to the World, 206.

Peasantry in France, Condition of the, 293. Providence, the Meaning of the Word, 294.

Physical Forces, 300. 307. Potato Disease, 303. Preservation of Fresh Flowers, 336.

Pigeons, Instinct of, 340. Prevention of Damp on Ground Floors, 343. Poison in Finger Rings, 356. Planets, Five New, 357 Providence in Connection with Man's Situation in Life, Puzzled Wren, the, 414.

Poetry.—Original.—The Crown at the End, 4; Silent Meetings, 13; John's Baptism, "Whose Faith Folmeetings, 13; John's Baptism, "Whose ratin roj-low," 124; Light out of Darkness, 141; Treasures Sought and Obtained, 164; "Thy Will be Done," 172; The Light of the Spirit, 197; Useful Anna, 276; Above the Mist, 294; Be Loving and Merciful, 292; The Widow's Meal and Oil, 316; Musings in View of the Malow's agent and Oil, 316; ausings in view of the Atlantic Ocean, 364.

Selected.—To an Early Priming Son 36; Dare to be Right; To the Youth, 20; Evening Son 36; The Tyrolese Peasants; Speak Gently, 28; The Biell at Sea; Softly into Heaven she Faded, 36; The Biell at Sea; Softly into Hasy speas Gender, so I has exact exact path; Cheer up, 463 The Tides, 33; An Oriential Scene; "I will Bless man, 77; "If her man, 75; "If her man, 75; "If her man, 77; "If her man, 78; "If her of a Child, 300; Jesus my Strength, 308; "Eternal Beam of Light Divine," 316; Weeping Mary; God in Beam of Light Divine," 316; Weeping Mary; God in His Works, 333; Morning Discipline, 340; The Death of the Virtuous, 348; Losses, 357; A Little While; There be Those, 373; To Night, 381; Sweet is the Plea-sure; Thy Favour is Life, 405.

Quietness in the Storm, 414.

Rowntree, John S.; Remarks on his "Quakerism, Past, and Present," 2. 22. 26. Remarks on "A Word to Zion's Mourners," 14. Rickman, Priscilla; Testimony Concerning, 37.
Rapid Increase of the Slave Population, 42. Remission and Justification for Sin, 60. Red Sea, the, 61. Restoring the Soil, 68. Railroad Progress in the United States, 92. Railroad Progress in the United States, 92.
Recent Geographical Researches, 114. 122. 130. 139.
Rain, Quantity of, in the State of New York, 119.
Ross, Thomas; Extract, 166.
Rogers, Lydia S., 182.
Richardson, John; Extract, 198.
Religious Periodical, 221.
Reading to Public Congregations in Friends' Meeting Houses, 243, Railroads in the United States, 247.

Railroad Accidents in 1860, 261. Rice Plantation, a Day in a, 266. Rice as Food, 270.
Rain, the Philosophy of, 328.
"Romance of Natural History," H. P. Gosse, 334.

"Romance of Natural History," H. P. o. Reminiscences of John Randolph, 335. Rats, Sagacity of, 335. Rabbits, Imported, 340. Reindeer, Speed of the, 379. Reflections in the Country, 389. Religion for the Times, 414.

Story, Thomas, 10.

Subalpine Railways, 19.

Selected Proverbs, 31, Slave Trade, the, 37. Savour of Life, and Gracious Language, 38. Shillitpe, Thomas, 42, Sea Reckoning, 50. Sleeping in Meetings, 50, Smart Children, 52. Summary Punishment, 70. Scriptural Illustrations, 83 Soldering Metals, the Art of, 86. Sunsets, Two in One Day, 86, Serious Considerations, 93. Sponges, What are they? 106. Suez Canal, the Works on the, 108. Salvation by Christ, 124. Scattergood, T., to John Pemberton, 148. Spinning Jenny, Idea of the, 162.

Strange Series of Casualties, 162. Scattergood, Thomas; Extract, 173. Silvering Mirrors, 173. Snubbing, 146. Sugar Crop of Cuba, 179. Slaveholder's Doctrines, 180. "Silver Spring," Florida, 181. 189. Soup House, the Philadelphia, 183.

Slave Trade and Liberia, 198. Spain, Population of, 198. Sugar Duties, 221. Soap and Civilization, 226. Straw Paper, New Kind of, 237. Shillitoe, Thomas; Anecdote related by, 251.

Scotch Sheep in New Jersey, 252. Shark, Catching a, 253. Sassa Wood Ordeal, the, 254. Seasonable Hints about Personal Comfort, 269.

Ship Building, 276. Steel Pens, 277.

Silence in Nature, 277. Sea, Bottom of the, 278. Small Bed Chambers, 279. Sea, the Colour of the, 286, Sea, the Colour of the, 286. Smoke from Gas Lights, 286. Sanitary Value of Natural History, 295. Stearic Candles, 317.

Swiss Cheese, How it is Made, 318. Signature of the Cross, 319. Statistics of Population and Religion, 332. Speaking in Meetings for Discipline, on, 338. Sappers and Miners of the Insect World, 341. 348.

Selden, the Learned, 342. Sunset. Blind to the Glories of, 343.

Tobacco, its Injurious Effects, 21. Thoughts on Company and Books, 30. Trade Lies, 42. Thrilling Scene, 46. Two Swallows, 51.

To the Elect Seed of God, wherever Scattered, 52. Touching Incident, a, 55. Toads Living when shut in Plaster for Years, 55. Tongue, Rules for using it, 63.

Total Eclipse, Physical Effects of a, 68. The Right Side of Fifty, 83.

Talc, 87. Tobacco, 90. "The Spirit Helpeth our Infirmities," 103. Two Kinds of Revenge, 119. Tobacco in France, 138.

Travelling Dick, 154. Thorp, John; on the Trials of Ministers, 157. Timber, and its Decay, 171.

Tenantless Prisons, 173 2 1 Table Rock, Niagara; the Fall of, 175. "Tried to do Something," 251. The du do someting, 251. Thought Imperishable, 251. The Greatest Thoroughfare in the World, 292. The Peaceable Kingdom of Christ, 293. Tenerific, to the Top of, 315. Tea Growing in Brazil, 316.

Terrific Cavern, a, 319. Tender Advice, &c., for our Young Friends, 319. The Cause and the Remedy, 335.

Tobacco, a Combination against, 364. Telegraphic Feat, a, 364. Trouble, 378.

Upas Tree Story, the Origin of, 83. Unitary Ostriches, 116. Universalism in Smooth Water, 138. Underground Population, 302.

Voracity of Anta, 13. Value of a London Dust Heap, 23, Vane, Sir Henry, 131. Value of an Old Rope, 132. Volcanic Eruption in Iceland, 155. Victoria Bridge, the, 235. Value of "The Friend," 254. Valley of Baca, 268. Victoria Falls, 309.

Williams, Hannah; Extracts from Her Letters, 6, 18, 34, 51. 67. 91. 107. 123. 155. 172. 247. 253. 260. 269. 282. 318. 332. 370. Woman, the True Position of, 30.

Wild and Tame, 46. Wright, Mary, Testimony Concerning, 54.

Recollections of, 59, Wroxeter Excavation, the, 74. Wild Pear Stocks, 74, West-Town Boarding School, 76, 118. Working for a Penny a Day, 109.
Waterloo, the Day after the Battle, 110.

Watching unto Prayer, 119. Wafers, Manufacture of, 127. Worldly Compliance, 141, Waking up from Winter Sleep, 147.

Wonders, a List of, 149. Words of Encouragement, 163. Weather Statistics, 171.

Week-day Meetings, 204, Weary, a Word for the, 212. Worldly Prosperity, 223. West African Cotton, 242. Wooden Shoes, 263, War, Testimony against, 278.

Winds, and Their Causes, 303, Walrus, The, 307. Waste of Life in War, 325.
Warning to the People Called Quakers, 339.

Widow's Mite, the, 350. Wild Beasts in India, 357.

Whale Fisheries, North Pacific, 357.

Whate Fisheries, Norm racine, 301. Working Women of Paris, the, 396. Work of Religion in the Morning of Life, 412. Wanderings over Bible Lands and Seas, 412.

Years Trade, a, 261.

Zinc Nails, 246. Zeal of the Early Friends in Keeping up their Meetings,

ing the Revolutionary War, 135. 143. 150. 158. 167; Hard Butter without Ice, 346. Separatists in lows requesting to be reunited to Friends, 142; The North and the South, and the dif-Friends, 142; The North and the South, and the duf-ficulties between them, 183; The Uselessuess and Wickedness of War, 191; Remarkable Deliverance from Imminent Peril, Friends Select Schools, 207; Commotions in Church and State, 215; Correction of a Mistake in the account of a Remarkable Deliverance from Drowning, on page 207, 231; The Fearful Ordeal

Fire, the Idea of it among the Ancients, 53.
Fox, George; Extracts, 111. 205. 219. 231.
Farmers' Tools and Tool House, 111. Floral Question, a, 115. Flight of Sound, the, 116. Friend's Boarding School at Mount Pleasant, 118. Faith that Overcometh the World worketh by Love, 118. Fothergill, S.; Selection from his Journal, 139. 171. Forne Bricks, 173.
Fothergill, S.; Extract, 189.
Force of the Waves, Carious Evidence of the, 205. Fenelon, Extract, 219. Fire Water, 220. Forster, William; Part of a Communication of, 238. Foundered at Sea, 244. Four Quarternions of Soldiers, 261. Fresh-water Spring at Sea, 269. Farmer and Merchant, 277.

Forest Mice, 292. Felt Cloth, 299 First Twenty Years, 300. Faithfulness and Diligence, a Call for, 307. Faith, 317. Flour, Prices of since 1796, 355. For the Children, 372.

Frogs, Respiration of in Winter, 50.

Flax Cotton, 398. Footprints, 410. Fall of a Singular Aerolite, 415. Griffith, John; Extract, 27. 166.

Fothergill, Dr., 396.

Ferris, David, 289, 298, 310.

Gospel Ministry, 29. Grover, William; Letter of, 39. Grape Culture, 78. Genius and Labour, 87. Grubb, Sarah Lynes; Extract, 102. Gold and its Results, 102. Good Advice for all Times, 126. Garibaldi on the State of Europe, 131, Greatest of Street Preachers, 134. Glass for Telescopes, 175. Garden, the, 178. 194. 210. 222. Gold, Large Cake of, 215.

Grubb, Sarah Lynes; Extract, 226. Letter of, and Visit Liberian Cotton, 362. to the Pump Room at Bath, 228. Gold Sweepings, Value of, 227. Grizzly Bear not a Ferocious Beast, 258. Gillot's Pens, 260.

Going two Miles for One, 306.

Great Eastern, the, 317. Gray, George; his Ministry, 388. Go not to Babylon, 414.

Hale, Matthew; on Humility, 7. Heat and Cold as Disinfectants, 28. Hull, Henry, 41. 49. 57. 65. 73. 81. 89. 97. 105. 113. 121. 129. 137. 145. 153. 161. 169. 177. 185. 193. 201. 209. 217. 225. 233. 241. 249. 257. 265. 273. Jay, the Amount Requisite for Cows, The Cost of Milk, Ionours to a Philanthrophist, 103. Iorticulture, Influence of, 107. Iearty Suppers, 147. Ieathen's Rebuke, 165 lave we been Converted? 171. Iorse fat Butter, 203. lints Gathered in my Garden, 239. lavoc of Life by War, 262. How were Thine Eyes Opened?" 286. (artshorne, Hannah, 292. lippopotamua with the Toothache, 327. lighest Railway in the world, 331.

Inch, an, 4. Incendiary Mice, 35.
Immediate Revelation and Guidance of the Spirit, 62. Insects on Trees, 75.
"I Know I Ought to," 77. from Drowning, on page 207, 231; The Fearful Ordeal our Country is passing through, 239; How far are individual Citizen responsible for the Acts of our Government? Cruelty to the Indians, &c., 255; Yearly of Distributing Good Books, 280; Influence of our Actions on the Conduct of Others, 287; "Unexenable Sacrifices," 311; Kerosene Oil, 336; London Yearly Meeting, 943, 331, 353, 363, 375, 382, 381 491; The Gomet, 400; On the Principles upheld by "The Friend," 415. Inward Retirement, 294. "If any Man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of His," 308. Ink, Cheap and Excellent, 311. Iceland, 323. 337. 345. 353. 361. 369. 379.

> Japanese and the Ethnological Society, 27. Jug. an Emblem of the Human Heart, 43. Japanese, How they Fish, 92. Japan and China, 133. Jamaica, Condition of, 268.
>
> Jamanese, an American's Report of the, 296. Jews of Morocco, the, 326.
>
> Japanese Women, Dress of the, 336. Joy and Praise, 415.

Kidnappers in Kansas, 20.

"I am a Christian, and Cannot Fight," 372.

Keep Religion Uppermost, 174. Kill your Fish, 259. King and the Goose-Herd, 310. Kerosene Oil, Explosion of, 314. Kindly Reproof, 326. Kansas Sufferers, Relief to the, 327.

London, 44, Liberian Explorations, 45. Let Children Sleep, 75. Legatta or Lace Wood Tree, the, 79. Lightning, Disarming a Thunder Cloud, 93. 99. 106. Life in Switzerland, 102. London Times, how Printed, 109. Lehigh Valley, the, 110. Light, Useful Effects of, 111. Lima Beans, 148. Light for Animals, 157. Liberia, a Letter from, 163. Lindell House, the, 165.

London, Population of, 205. Louden, Fullmand Cr., 2005. Luxury, 222. Love is Power, 230. Labrador Seal Fishery, 274. Livingstone Expedition, the, 285. Explorations, 309. Light from Magnetism, 308.

Lloyd's, 339. 347. Light of Christ Within, 341. Leverrier on the Comet, 399. Little by Little, 404. London Yearly Meeting, 407. Laconics, Christian, 415

Loving Kindness of God, 167.

Minor Effects in Money Spending, 36. Mourning Dress, 74.

Motives, 78. Memory, as Affected by Disease, 94. Morals of Wales, 100. Marshall, Charles; Extract, 110. Manufactures in Manchester, 224. Mendicancy, a Cure for, 226. Machine Made Chains, 231. Madeira, a Second, 238.

Manufacturing, 238. Meetings of Friends in 1654, 244. Speaking in, 258.

Mint, the, and its Operations, 259. Mastodon, Remains of a, 260. Mackinery, 267. Musings and Memories, 277, 284, 291, 306, 314, 322, 333.

340. 346. 356. 362. 372. 379, 387. 395. 403. 411. Morocco Leather, 286. Microscopic Phenomenon, 308. Ministry, the Great Work of the, 316. Materials in their Invisible State, 319.

Migrations of the Buffalo, 335 Meteorology, 350, 355, 366, 373, 380, 388, 394, 402, 410. Maple Sugar, the Crop of, 365. Mineral Discoveries in California, 397

Measure of Specific Gravities, 330. Migration of the Krim Tartars, 333.

Mind Leavened by the Spirit of Truth, a, 413. Marriages .- Daniel Satterthwait to Cornelia J. Hoag, 16; arriages.—Daniel Satterthwat to Corneina J. 1902, 197, Joseph Scatterpool, Jr., to Elizabeth Cope, 485 (Clayton Cooper to Elizabeth E. Haines, 96; George f. Satterhwaite to Sarah C. Conard, 128; John M. Smith to Lydia Vail, 136; Thomas Smedley to Rachel G. Preston, 144; Jisaac H. Moshet to Elizabeth Hong, 176; Oliver Passon to Ruth Anna Fly, 232; Charles M. Cooper to Haman W. Brown; David Erans to Elizaw H. Honge, Elliston F. Morris to Martha Canby, 240; Abel J. Hopkins to Jane Canby; Elias Ely Paxson to Margaret O. Wilson, 246; Reuben Stetthwaite to Margaret A. Stapler, 264; John W. Biddle to Mary Hewes, 296; George Haines to Edith T. Engle, 320; Dr. N. Newlin Stokes to Martha E. Stokes, 344.

New Light House on Minot's Ledge, 12. Newfoundland Dog, 78. Nelson Worshipped as a Heathen Idol, 86. Naples, 92. Neale, Samuel; Extract, 107. New Race of Men in South America, 110. Nezahualcovotl, 170. New York and Philadelphia, 171. National Suicide, a, 202. New Leather, 243.

Nertchinsk, and the Siberian Exiles, 244, 250. Ocean, Bottom of the, 5. Oyster Culture, 11. Oil Regions of Pennsylvania, A Trip to the, 82. 90.

Over Exertion, 127. Oil News, the Latest, 164. Ocean Splendors, 174. Oil Business, 207. Owen, Dorothy; Testimony Concerning, 221. Offenders, Our Duty to, 229. Ocean, the Depths of, 230.

Observatory in America, the First, 255. Oil Stories, 264. Our Country and its Troubles, Letter of Stephen Crisp.

Penn, Wm.; Extracts, 3. 11. 175. Perilons Adventure of Two Ladies in a Coal Mine, 6. Penington, Isaac; Letter of, 13. Preserving Shingles on Roofs, 13. Patiently Wait and Quietly Hope, 30. Porcelain, 34. Professional Singing in the Churches, Objected to by the Bishop of Ripon, 59. Photographic Printing, 60.

Poisonous Winds of India, 70. Pursuit of Riches and Worldly Greatness, 86. Paris, a Journey Under, 124. Petroleum, or Rock Oil Wells, 126. Present Condition of Our Country, 133.

Philadelphia Passenger Railwaya, 146. Peace and Good Will Essential to Happiness, 150. Peel, Sir Robert, 155. Prospects, 157. Poor Children, Report of the Asylum for the Instruction

Passport System in Europe being Abolished, 165.

Painting a White Girl to make her Black, 172. Position in Sleeping, 173. Principles of Friends, 173.

Popery in the United States, 175. Pride, 179.

Powerful Burning Glass, 62.

Primitive Love and Concern of Friends, 187. Platiua, Discovery of, 188. Pilgrimage to my Mother Land, 190, 196, 204, 213, 218.

Pride, Gaiety, and Conformity to the World, 206.

Meetings of Friends in 1654, 244.

Meetings for Business, On the Proper Qualification for Paris, Density of the Population of, 246. Plastic Material, A New, 252. Population of Russia, 259.

Polycarp, 262. Peasantry in France, Condition of the, 293. Providence, the Meaning of the Word, 294. Physical Forces, 300. 307.

Potato Disease, 303. Preservation of Fresh Flowers, 336. Pigeons, Instinct of, 340.

Prevention of Damp on Ground Floors, 343.

Poison in Finger Rings, 356. Planets, Five New, 357. Providence in Connection with Man's Situation in Life. 399

Poetry.—Original.—The Crown at the End, 4; Silent Meetings, 13; John's Baptism, "Whose Faith Fol-Jacobsensia, 13; John's Baptism, "Whose Faith Fol-low," 124; Light out of Darkness, 141; Treasures Sought and Obtained, 164; "Thy Will be Done," 172; The Light of the Spirit, 197; Useful Anna, 276; Above the Mist, 294; Be Loving and Merciful, 262; The Widow's Meal and Oil, 316; Musings in View of the Atlantic Ocean, 364. the Adantic Ocean, 364.

Selected.—To an Early Primrose, 13; Dare to be Right; To the Youth, 20; Evening Song of the Tyrolese Peasant; Speak Gently, 28; The Bell at Sea; Softly into Heaven she Faded, 36; The River Path; Cheer up, 45; The Tides, 53; An Oriential Scene; "I will Bless the Lord at all Times," 63; A Woman's Song to Woman, 77; "If I have not Charity I am Nothing," 84; The Disburdening; "I have Called Thee, Thou art The Disburdening; "I have Called Thee, Thou art Mine," 92; Mary, 100; Lines Suggested by the Hynn "I would not Live Alway," 116; Not in Vain, 141; The Weath! The Got," 148; The Ambition of Virtue; Extract from Cowper, 213; Creation's Harmony; Lines by G. Dillwyn, 221; A Hundred Years to Come; Extract from Young, 228; The Ocean, 236; Aspirated from Young, 238; The Oce tions; Childlike Trust, 244; The Lamp at Sea, 252 Evening Prayer, 261; "O! Fear not Thou to Die," 268; "Salute Apelles approved in Christ," 284; Gulf 268; "Salute Apelles approved in Christ," 284; Gnff Weed; The Crowded Street, 292; Mutuan Help; Death of a Child, 309; Jesus my Strength, 308; "Eternal Beam of Light Divine," 310; Weeping Mary; God in His Works, 533; Morning Discipline, 340; The Death of the Virtuous, 368; Josses, 537; A Little While; There be Those, 373; To Night, 381; Sweet is the Pleasure; Thy Pavour is Life, 405.

Quietness in the Storm, 414,

Rowntree, John S.; Remarks on his "Quakerism, Past, and Present," 2. 22. 26. Remarks on "A Word to Zion's Mourners." 14. Rickman, Priscilla; Testimony Concerning, 37. Rapid Increase of the Slave Population, 42. Remission and Justification for Sin, 60. Red Sea, the, 61. Restoring the Soil, 68, Railroad Progress in the United States, 92. National Progress in the United States, 92.
Recent Geographical Researches, 114. 122. 130. 139.
Rain, Quantity of, in the State of New York, 119.
Ross, Thomas; Extract, 166.
Rogers, Lydia S., 182.
Richardson, John; Extract, 198.

Religious Periodical, 221. Reading to Public Congregations in Friends' Meeting Houses, 243.

Railroads in the United States, 247. Railroad Accidents in 1860, 261. Rice Plantation, a Day in a, 266. Rice as Food, 270. Rain, the Philosophy of, 328.
"Romance of Natural History," H. P. Gosse, 334. Reminiscences of John Randolph, 335.

Rats, Sagacity of, 335. Rats, Sagactry of, 355.
Rabbits, Imported, 340.
Reindeer, Speed of the, 379.
Reflections in the Country, 389.
Religion for the Times, 414.

Story, Thomas, 10. Subalpine Railways, 19. Selected Proverbs, 31, Slave Trade, the, 37. Sayour of Life, and Gracious Language, 38, Shillitoe, Thomas, 42. Sea Reckoning, 50. Sleeping in Meetings, 50. Smart Children, 52. Summary Punishment, 70. Scriptural Illustrations, 83. Soldering Metals, the Art of, 86, Sunsets, Two in One Day, 86, Serious Considerations, 93. Sponges, What are they? 106, Suez Canal, the Works on the, 108, Salvation by Christ, 124. Scattergood, T., to John Pemberton, 148. Spinning Jenny, Idea of the, 162. Strange Series of Casualties, 162. Scattergood, Thomas : Extract, 173. Silvering Mirrors, 173. Snubbing, 146. Sugar Crop of Cuba, 179. Slaveholder's Doctrines, 180.

"Silver Spring," Florida, 181. 189. Soup House, the Philadelphia, 183. Slave Trade and Liberia, 198. Spain, Population of, 198. Sugar Duties, 221. Soap and Civilization, 226. Straw Paper, New Kind of, 237.

Shillitoe, Thomas: Anecdote related by, 251, Scotch Sheep in New Jersey, 252. Shark, Catching a, 253. Sassa Wood Ordeal, the, 254.

Seasonable Hints about Personal Comfort, 269. Ship Building, 276. Steel Pens. 277.

Silence in Nature, 277. Sea, Bottom of the, 278, Small Bed Chambers, 279. Sea, the Colour of the, 286. Smoke from Gas Lights, 286. Sanitary Value of Natural History, 295. Stearic Candles, 317. Swiss Cheese, How it is Made, 318. Signature of the Cross, 319.

Statistics of Population and Religion, 332. Statistics of Popilation and Religion, 332.
Speaking in Meetings for Discipline, on, 338.
Sappers and Miners of the Insect World, 341. 348.
Selden, the Learned, 342.
Sunset, Blind to the Glories of, 343.

Tobacco, its Injurious Effects, 21. Thoughts on Company and Books, 30. Trade Lies, 42. Thrilling Scene, 46. Two Swallows, 51. To the Elect Seed of God, wherever Scattered, 52. Touching Incident, a, 55. Toads Living when shut in Plaster for Years, 55. Tongue, Rules for using it, 63. Total Eclipse, Physical Effects of a, 68. The Right Side of Fifty, 83. Talc, 87.

Tobacco, 90. "The Spirit Helpeth our Infirmities," 103. Two Kinds of Revenge, 119. Tobacco in France, 138.

Travelling Dick, 154.

Thorp, John; on the Trials of Ministers, 157. Timber, and its Decay, 171.

Tenanties Prisons 9382-1 Table Rock, Niagara; the Fall of, 175. "Tried to do Something," 251.

Thought Imperishable, 251.
The Greatest Thoroughfare in the World, 292. The Peaceable Kingdom of Christ, 293, Teneriffe, to the Top of, 315. Tea Growing in Brazil, 316.

Terrific Cavern, a. 319. Tender Advice, &c., for our Young Friends, 319. The Cause and the Remedy, 335.

Tobacco, a Combination against, 364. Telegraphic Feat, a, 364. Trouble, 378.

Upas Tree Story, the Origin of, 83. Unitary Ostriches, 116. Universalism in Smooth Water, 138. Underground Population, 302.

Voracity of Ants. 13. Value of a London Dust Heap, 23. Vane, Sir Henry, 131.
Value of an Old Rope, 132.
Volcanic Eruption in Iceland, 155. Victoria Bridge, the, 235. Value of "The Friend," 254. Valley of Baca, 268. Victoria Falls, 309.

Williams, Hannah; Extracts from Her Letters, 6, 18, 34, 51, 67, 91, 107, 123, 155, 172, 247, 253, 260, 269, 282. 318, 332, 370, Woman, the True Position of, 30.
Wild and Tame, 46.
Wright, Mary, Testimony Concerning, 54.

Recollections of, 59.

Wroxeter Excavation, the, 74. Wild Pear Stocks, 74. West-Town Boarding School, 76, 118, Working for a Penny a Day, 109 Waterloo, the Day after the Battle, 110. Watching unto Prayer, 119. Wafers, Manufacture of, 127. Worldly Compliance, 141.

Waking up from Winter Sleep, 147. Wonders, a List of, 149. Words of Encouragement, 163. Weather Statistics, 171.

Week-day Meetings, 204. Weary, a Word for the, 212. Worldly Prosperity, 223. West African Cotton, 242, Wooden Shoes, 263, War, Testimony against, 278. Winds, and Their Causes, 303.

Walrus, The, 307 Waste of Life in War, 325. Warning to the People Called Quakers, 339.

Widow's Mite, the, 350. Wild Beasts in India, 357. Whale Fisheries, North Pacific, 357.
Working Women of Paris, the, 396.
Work of Religion in the Morning of Life, 412.

Wanderings over Bible Lands and Seas, 412,-Years Trade, a, 261.

Zinc Nails, 246. Zeal of the Early Friends in Keeping up their Meetings,

ing the Revolutionary War, 135. 143. 150. 158. 167; | Hard Butter without Ice, 346.

Fire, the Idea of it among the Ancients, 53. Fox, George; Extracts, 111. 205. 219. 231. Farmers' Tools and Tool House, 111. Floral Question, a, 115. Flight of Sound, the, 116. Friend's Boarding School at Mount Pleasant, 118. Faith that Overcometh the World worketh by Love, 118. Faith that Overcoment the world worken by Love, 11 Fothergill, S.; Selection from his Journal, 133. 171. Fire Bricks, 173. Fothergill, S.; Extract, 189. Force of the Wares, Curious Evidence of the, 205. Fenelon, Extract, 219. Fire Water, 220. Forster, William; Part of a Communication of, 238. Foundered at Sea, 244. Four Quarternions of Soldiers, 261. Fresh-water Spring at Sea, 269. Farmer and Merchant, 277. Ferris, David, 289. 298. 310. Forest Mice, 292. Forest Ance, 2008. Felt Cloth, 299. First Twenty Years, 300. Faithfulness and Diligence, a Call for, 307.

Frogs, Respiration of in Winter, 50.

Fatth, 317.
Flour, Prices of since 1796, 355.
For the Children, 372.
Fothergill, Dr., 396.
Flax Cotton, 398. Footprints, 410. Fall of a Singular Aerolite, 415.

Faith, 317.

Griffith, John; Extract, 27. 166. Gospel Ministry, 29. Grover, William; Letter of, 39. Grape Culture, 78. Genius and Labour, 87. Grubb, Sarah Lynes; Extract, 102. Gold and its Results, 102. Good Advice for all Times, 126. Garibaldi on the State of Europe, 131.

Garibaldi on the State of Europe, 131.
Greatest of Street Preachers, 134.
Glass for Telescopes, 175.
Garden, the, 176. 194. 210. 222.
Gold, Large Cake of, 215.
Grubb, Sarah Lyaes; Extract, 226.
Letter of, and Visit to the Pump Room at Bath, 228.
Gold Sweepings, Value of, 227.
Grizzly Bear not a Ferocious Beast, 258.
Gillot's Pens, 260.
Going two Miles for One, 306.
Great Eastern, the, 317.

Great Eastern, the, 317. Gray, George; his Ministry, 388. Go not to Babylon, 414.

Hale, Matthew; on Humility, 7. Heat and Cold as Disinfectants, 28. Heat au Colu as Distinctions, 2c.
Hull, Henry, 41. 49. 57. 65. 73. 81. 89. 97. 105. 113. 121.
129. 137. 145. 153. 161. 169. 177. 185. 193. 201. 209.
217. 225. 233. 241. 249. 257. 265. 273.

Say, the Amount Requisite for Cows, The Cost of Milk,

Ionours to a Philanthrophist, 103. Iorticulture, Influence of, 107. Iorticulture, Influence of, 107.
learty Suppers, 147.
leathen's Rebuke, 165.
lawe we been Couverted? 171.
lorse fat Butter, 203.
laves of Life by War, 262.
laves of Life by War, 262.
How were Thine Eyes Opened?" 286.
lartshorne, Hannah, 292.
lippopotamus with the Toothache, 327.
lighest Railway in the world, 331.

Commons.

A mistake in the account of a mistake in the account of the provided and in the account of the provided and in the provided and prov Inward Retirement, 294. "If any Man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of His," 308.

> "I am a Christian, and Cannot Fight," 372. Japanese and the Ethnological Society, 27. Jug, an Emblem of the Human Heart, 43. Japanese, How they Fish, 92. Japan and China, 133. Jamaica, Condition of, 268. Japanese, an American's Report of the, 296, Jews of Morocco, the, 326. Japanese Women, Dress of the, 336. Joy and Praise, 415.

Ink, Cheap and Excellent, 311. Iceland, 323. 337. 345. 353. 361. 369. 379.

Kidnappers in Kansas, 20. Keep Religion Uppermost, 174. Keil your Fish, 259.
Kill your Fish, 259.
King and the Goose-Herd, 310.
Kerosene Oil, Explosion of, 314.
Kindly Reproof, 326. Kansas Sufferers, Relief to the, 327.

London, 44,
Liberian Explorations, 45.
Let Children Steep, 75.
Leganta or Lace Wood Tree, the, 79.
Lightiang, Disarming a Thunder Clond, 93. 99. 106.
Life in Switzerland, 102.
Lendon Times, how Printed, 109.
Lehigh Valley, the, 110.
Light, Userb Effects of, 111.
Limp Beans, 148, 157.
Liberia, A. Letter from, 163. Liberia, a Letter from, 163. Lindell House, the, 165. Loving Kindness of God, 167. London, Population of, 205.

Living stone Expedition, the 285. Explorations, 309. Light from Magnetism, 308.

Light from Magnetism, 308. Lloyd's, 339, 347. Light of Christ Within, 341. Liberian Cotton, 362. Leverrier on the Comet, 399. Little by Little, 404. London Yearly Meeting, 407. Laconics, Christian, 415.

Marshall, Charles; Extract, 110.

Manufactures in Manchester, 224.

Minor Effects in Money Spending, 36. Mourning Dress, 74. Motives, 78.
Memory, as Affected by Disease, 94.
Morals of Wales, 100.

Mendicancy, a Cure for, 226. Machine Made Chains, 231. Madeira, a Second, 238. Manufacturing, 238. Meetings of Friends in 1654, 244. Meetings for Business, On the Proper Qualification for Speaking in, 258. Mint, the, and its Operations, 259. Mastodon, Remains of a, 260.

Machinery, 267. Musings and Memories, 277. 284. 291. 306. 314. 322. 333. 340. 346. 356. 362. 372. 379, 387, 395. 403, 411, Morocco Leather, 286.

Microscopic Phenomenon, 308. Ministry, the Great Work of the, 316. Materials in their Invisible State, 319. Measure of Specific Gravities, 330. Migration of the Krim Tartars, 333. Migrations of the Buffalo, 335. Meteorology, 350, 355, 366, 373, 380, 388, 394, 402, 410. Maple Sugar, the Crop of, 365. Mineral Discoveries in California, 397. Mind Leavened by the Spirit of Truth, a, 413.
Marriages.—Daniel Satterthwait to Cornelia J. Hoag, 16;

Joseph Scattergood, Jr., to Elizabeth Cope, 48; Clayton Cooper to Elizabeth E. Haines, 96; George T. Satterthwaite to Sarah C. Conard, 128; John M. Smith to Lydia Inwaite to Saran C. Conard, 128; John M. Smith to Lyuk Vall, 136; Thomas Smedley to Rachel G. Preston, 144; Isaac H. Mosher to Elizabeth Hoag, 176; Oliver Parson to Ruth Anna Ely, 232; Charles M. Cooper to Hannah W. Brown; David Evans to Eliza W. House; Elliston P. w. Brown; David Evans to Eliza W. House; Elliston P. Morris to Martha Canby, 240; Abel J. Hopkins to Jane Canby; Elias Ely Parson to Margaret O. Wilson, 248; Reuben Satterthwaite to Margaret A. Stapler, 264; John W. Biddle to Mary Hewes, 298; George Haines to Edith T. Engle, 262; Dr. N. Newlin Stokes to Mar-tha E. Stokes, 344. New Light House on Minot's Ledge, 12.

Newfoundland Dog, 78. Nelson Worshipped as a Heathen Idol, 86. Nanles, 92. Neale, Samuel; Extract, 107. New Race of Men in South America, 110. Nezahualcovotl, 170. New York and Philadelphia, 171. National Suicide, a, 202.

New Leather, 243. Nertchinsk, and the Siberian Exiles, 244. 250.

Ocean, Bottom of the, 5. Oyster Culture, 11. Oil Regions of Pennsylvania, A Trip to the, 82. 90. Over Exertion, 127. Oil News, the Latest, 164. Ocean Splendors, 174. Oil Business, 207. Owen, Dorothy; Testimony Concerning, 221. Offenders, Our Duty to, 229. Ocean, the Depths of, 230. Old Age, 239. Observatory in America, the First, 255. Oil Stories, 264. Our Country and its Troubles, Letter of Stephen Crisp, Penn, Wm.; Extracts, 3. 11. 175. Perilous Adventure of Two Ladies in a Coal Mine, 6. Penington, Isaac; Letter of, 13. Preserving Shingles on Roofs, 13. Patiently Wait and Quietly Hope, 30. Porcelain, 34. Professional Singing in the Churches, Objected to by the Bishop of Ripon, 59. Photographic Printing, 60. Powerful Burning Glass, 62, Poisonous Winds of India, 70. Parsuit of Riches and Worldly Greatness, 86.

Paris, a Journey Under, 124. Petroleum, or Rock Oil Wells, 126. Present Condition of Our Country, 133. Philadelphia Passenger Railways, 146.
Peace and Good Will Essential to Happiness, 150.

Peel, Sir Robert, 155. Prospects, 157.

Poor Children, Report of the Asylum for the Instruction Passport System in Europe being Abolished, 165,

Painting a White Girl to make her Black, 172. Position in Sleeping, 173. Principles of Friends, 173.

Popery in the United States, 175. Pride, 179.

Primitive Love and Concern of Friends, 187. Platiua, Discovery of, 188. Pilgrimage to my Mother Land, 190, 196, 204, 213, 218.

Pride, Gaiety, and Conformity to the World, 206. Patient Religious Exercise, value of, 227. Paris, Density of the Population of, 246.

Plastic Material, A New, 252. Population of Russia, 259. Polycarp, 262.

Peasantry in France, Condition of the, 293. Providence, the Meaning of the Word, 294. Physical Forces, 300. 307.

Potato Disease, 303. Preservation of Fresh Flowers, 336. Pigeons, Instinct of, 340.

Prevention of Damp on Ground Floors, 343.

Poison in Finger Rings, 356. Planets, Five New, 357. Providence in Connection with Man's Situation in Life.

399.

Puzzled Wren, the, 414.

Poetry.—Original.—The Crown at the End, 4; Silent Meetings, 13; John's Baptism, "Whose Faith Follow," 124; Light out of Darkness, 141; Treasures Sought and Ottained, 164; "Thy Will be Done," 172; The Light of the Spirit, 197; Useful Anna, 276; Above the Mist, 294; Be Loving and Merciful, 292; The Widow's Meal and Oil, 316; Musings in View of the Atlantic Ocean, 364.

the Atlantic Ocean, 364.

Selected.—To an Early Primrose, 13; Dare to be Right; To the Youth, 20; Evening Song of the Tyrolese Pensants; Speak Gently, 28; The Bell at Sea; Softly into Heaven she Faded, 36; The River Path; Cheer np, 45; The Tides, 53; An Uriential Scene; "I will Bless the Lord at all Times," 68; A Woman's Song to Woman, 7; "If I have not Charity I am Nothing," 84; The Disburdening; "I have Called Thee, Thou art The Disburdening; 'I have Called Thee, Thou art Mine," 92; Mary, 100; Lines Suggested by the Hynn "I would not Live Alway," 116; Not in Vain, 141; The Wealth 1ve Got," 148; The Ambition of Virtue; Extract from Cowper, 213; Creation's Harmony; Lines by G. Dillwyn, 221; A Hundred Years to Come; Extract from Young, 228; The Ocean, 236; Aspirations Children Young, 228; The Ocean, 236; Aspirations Children and Property of the Computer of the Children of the Child tions; Childlike Trust, 244; The Ucean, 236; Aspirations; Childlike Trust, 244; The Lamp at Sea, 252; Evening Prayer, 261; "O! Fear not Thou to Die," 268; "Salute Apelles approved in Christ," 284; Gulf Weed; The Crowded Street, 292; Mutual Help; Death of a Child, 300; Jesus my Strength, 308; "Eternal Beam of Light Divine," 316; Weeping Mary; God in His Works, 333, Morning Discipline, 340; The Death of the Virtuous, 348; Losses, 357; A Little While; There be Those, 373; To Night, 381; Sweet is the Plea-sure; Thy Favour is Life, 405. Quietness in the Storm, 414.

Rowntree, John S.; Remarks on his "Quakerism, Past

and Present," 2, 22, 26.
Remarks on "A Word to Zion's Mourners." 14. Rickman, Priscilla; Testimony Concerning, 37. Rapid Increase of the Slave Population, 42. Remission and Justification for Sin. 60. Red Sea, the, 61. Restoring the Soil, 68, Railroad Progress in the United States, 92. Recent Geographical Researches, 114, 122, 130, 139, Rain, Quantity of, in the State of New York, 119. Ross, Thomas; Extract, 166. Rogers, Lydia S., 182. Richardson, John; Extract, 198.

Religious Periodical, 221. Reading to Public Congregations in Friends' Meeting Houses, 243.

Railroads in the United States, 247. Railroad Accidents in 1860, 261. Rice Plantation, a Day in a, 266. Rice as Food, 270.

Rain, the Philosophy of, 328.
"Romance of Natural History," H. P. Gosse, 334.
Reminiscences of John Randolph, 335.

Reminiscences of John Randon Rats, Sagacity of, 335. Rabbits, Imported, 340. Reindeer, Speed of the, 379. Reflectiona in the Country, 389. Religion for the Times, 414. Story, Thomas, 10.

Subalpine Railways, 19

Selected Proverbs, 31. Slave Trade, the, 37 Sayour of Life, and Gracious Language, 38, Shillitoe, Thomas, 42. Sea Reckoning, 50.

Sleeping in Meetings, 50. Smart Children, 52. Summary Punishment, 70. Scriptural Illustrations, 83. Soldering Metals, the Art of, 86, Sunsets, Two in One Day, 86. Serious Considerations, 93. Sponges, What are they? 106. Suez Canal, the Works on the, 108.

Salvation by Christ, 124. Scattergood, T., to John Pemberton, 148. Spinning Jenny, Idea of the, 162. Strange Series of Casualties, 162. Scattergood, Thomas ; Extract. 173. Silvering Mirrors, 173.

Snubhing, 146. Sugar Crop of Cuba, 179. Slaveholder's Doctrines, 180. "Silver Spring," Florida, 181. 189. Soup House, the Philadelphia, 183. Slave Trade and Liberia, 198. Spain, Population of, 198.

Sugar Duties, 221. Soap and Civilization, 226. Straw Paper, New Kind of, 237. Shillitoe, Thomas: Anecdote related by, 251. Scotch Sheep in New Jersey, 252. Shark, Catching a, 253.

Sassa Wood Ordeal, the, 254, Seasonable Hints about Personal Comfort, 269. Ship Building, 276.

Steel Pens. 277. Silence in Nature, 277. Sea. Bottom of the, 278. Small Bed Chambers, 279. Sea, the Colour of the, 286, Smoke from Gas Lights, 286. Sanitary Value of Natural History, 295, Stearic Candles, 317.

Swiss Cheese, How it is Made, 318. Signature of the Cross, 319. Statistics of Population and Religion, 332.

Speaking in Meetings for Discipline, on, 338. Sappers and Miners of the Insect World, 341. 348. Selden, the Learned, 342. Sunset. Blind to the Glories of, 343.

Tobacco, its Injurious Effects, 21. Thoughts on Company and Books, 30. Trade Lies, 42. Thrilling Scene, 46. Two Swallows, 51. To the Elect Seed of God, wherever Scattered, 52. Touching Incident, a, 55.

Toads Living when shut in Plaster for Years, 55. Tongue, Rules for using it, 63. Total Eclipse, Physical Effects of a, 68. The Right Side of Fifty, 83. Talc, 87.

Tobacco, 90 "The Spirit Helpeth our Infirmities," 103. Two Kinds of Revenge, 119. Tobacco in France, 138.

Travelling Dick, 154. Thorp, John; on the Trials of Ministers, 157. Timber, and its Decay, 171.

Tenantless Prisons, 932.1 Table Rock, Niagara; the Fall of, 175. "Tried to do Something," 251. Thought Imperishable, 251.
The Greatest Thoroughfare in the World, 292. The Peaceable Kingdom of Christ, 293. Teneriffe, to the Top of, 315. Tea Growing in Brazil, 316. Terrific Cavern, a, 319. Tender Advice, &c., for our Young Friends, 319. The Cause and the Remedy, 335.

Upas Tree Story, the Origin of, 83. Unitary Ostriches, 116. Universalism in Smooth Water, 138. Underground Population, 302.

Tobacco, a Combination against, 364. Telegraphic Feat, a, 364.

Trouble, 378.

Voracity of Ants, 13. Value of a London Dust Heap, 23. Vane, Sir Henry, 131.
Value of an Old Rope, 132.
Volcanic Eruption in Iceland, 155. Victoria Bridge, the, 235. Value of "The Friend," 254. Valley of Baca, 268. Victoria Falls, 309.

Williams, Hannah; Extracts from Her Letters, 6. 18. 34. 51. 67, 91. 107, 123, 155, 172, 247, 253, 260, 269, 282, 318, 332, 370, Woman, the True Position of, 30.

Wild and Tame, 46.
Wright, Mary, Testimony Concerning, 54.

Recollections of, 59. Wroxeter Excavation, the, 74. Wild Pear Stocks, 74. West-Town Boarding School, 76, 118. Working for a Penny a Day, 109. Waterloo, the Day after the Battle, 110. Watching unto Prayer, 119 Wafers, Manufacture of, 127. Worldly Compliance, 141. Waking up from Winter Sleep, 147. Wonders, a List of, 149. Words of Encouragement, 163.

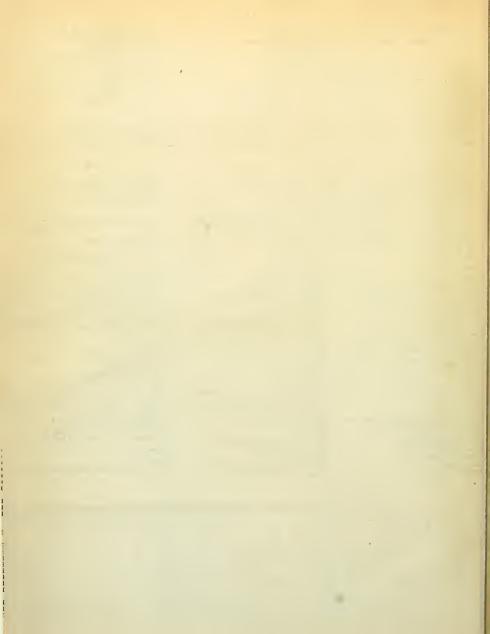

Weather Statistics, 171. Week-day Meetings, 204. Weary, a Word for the, 212. Worldly Prosperity, 223. West African Cotton, 242. Wooden Shoes, 263. War, Testimony against, 278.

Winds, and Their Causes, 303. Walrus, The, 307. Waste of Life in War, 325. Warning to the People Called Quakers, 339. Widow's Mite, the, 350, Wild Beasts in India, 357. Whale Fisheries, North Pacific, 357. Working Women of Paris, the, 396.

Work of Religion in the Morning of Life, 412.

Wanderings over Bible Lands and Seas, 412.-Years Trade, a, 261.

Zinc Nails, 246. Zeal of the Early Friends in Keeping up their Meetings,

H'R H

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, NINTH MONTH 8, 1860.

NO. 1.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

Price Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by

JOHN RICHARDSON,

AT NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

Postage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three months, if paid in advance, three and a-quarter cents to any part of the United States, for three months, if paid in advance, six and a-half cents.

Dr. Livingstone's African Explorations.

In the Geographical Section of the British Association, recently, a very interesting paper, by Dr. Livingstone, was read. We subjoin a few ex-

the Zambesi.

Many of the men are very intelligent looking, cloth," puncture is made high up in the lip, and it is gra-dually enlarged until the pelele can be inserted. frosts. There are none. Both kinds of cotton re-Some are very large. One we measured caused quire but little labour-none of that severe and the lip to project two inches beyond the tip of the killing toil requisite in the United States. The nose. When the lady smiled, the contraction of people are great cultivators of the soil, and it reLe muscles clevated it over the eyes. "Why do have the women wear those things?" the venerable chief, quantities, preparing ridges for it from three to four Chinsurdi, was asked. Evidently surprised at feet wide, and about a foot high. They also raise such a simple question, he replied, "For beauty! maize, rice, two kinds of millet, beans, sugar cane,

They are the only beautiful things women have; sweet potatoes, yams, ground-nuts, pumpkins, tomark how heads women have none. What kind become and further howen. Note Lake Newsey we men have beards, women have none. What kind bacco, and Indian hemp. Near Lake Nyassa we of a person would she be without the pelcle? She saw indigo seven feet high. would not be a woman at all, with a mouth like a and more graceful roofs than any we have seen on planted annually in the highlands, the people pre- him to the river, and wash him, fer it because, they say, "it makes the stronger with high foreheads and well shaped heads. They

It was remarked to a number of intelligent naland to wash themselves is like throwing away the show singular tasts in the astonishingly varied lives near the Shire lakelet, "You should plant only upper garment they possess. They feel cold styles in which their hair is arranged. Their bead plenty of cotton, and perhaps the English will come and uncomfortable after a wash. We observed neeklaces are really pretty specimens of work.

soon and buy it." "Surely, the country is full of several persons marked by the small-pox. On Many have the upper and middle, as well as the cotton," said an elderly man, who was a trader, asking the chief Morgazi, who was a little tipsy, lower part of the ear bored, and have from three lower part of the ear bored, and have from three to five riugs in each ear. The hole in the lobe of vineed as the total three was to five riugs in each ear. The hole in the lobe of vineed where we say that the total three trues in early income or origin, or whether it had come to the first part of the true to the ear is large enough to admit one's fine, and where we say it is the ear is large enough to admit one's fine, and where we say it is the ear is large enough to ear. If the did not know, the said, "but supposed some wear a piece of bamboo about an inch long in three acres were seen abreast of the eataracts dur- it had come to them from the English." They it. Brass and iron bracelets, elaborately figured, ing the first trip, when Lake Tamandua was dis- have the idea of a Supreme Being, whom they are seen; and some of the men sport from two to covered, though in this journey, on a different name Prambe, and also of a future state. The eight brass rings on each finger, and even the route, none were observed of more than half and chief Chinsurdi said they all knew that they lived thumbs are not spared. They wear copper, brass, acre. They usually contained about a quaried about a quarter death. Sometimes the dead came back and iron rings on their legs and arms; many have an acre each. There are extensive tracts on the their front teeth notched, and some file them till level plains of both the Lower and Upper Shire, never told them where they had gone to. This is they resemble the teeth of a saw. The upper-lip where salt exudes from the soil. Sea Island cot an inviting field for benevolent enterprise. There

Large quantities of beer are made. We found whole villages on the spree, and saw the stupid They seem to be an industrious race. Iron is type of drunkenness, the silly sort, the boisterous, dug out of the hills, and every village has one or talkative sort, and on one oceasion the almost-uptwo smelting houses; and from their own native to-the-fighting-point variety, when a petty chief, iron they make excellent hoes, axes, spears, knives, with some of the people near, placed himself in arrow heads, &c. They make also round baskets of various sizes, and earthen post, which they or rag of back? Had he not got out of the way with unent with plumbago, said to be found in the hill greater sized than dignity, an incensed Makololo In the upper part of the Lower Shire, in the country, though we could not learn exactly where, would have cured him of all desire to try a similar highlands, and in the valley of the Upper Shire, nor in what quantities; the only specimen we ob-exploit in future. It was remarked by the oldest there is a somewhat numerous population. The tained was not pure. At every fishing village on traveller in the party that he had not seen so much people generally live in villages, and in hamlets the banks of the river, Shire men were busy spin- drunkenness during all the years he had spent in near then. Each village has its own chief, and this period in the chiefs in a given territory have a bead chief, to whom they owe some sort of allegiance. The parallel of the parallel o amount chief of one portion of the Upper Shire is while others were weaving it into strong cloth in to indicate a healthy climate. For their long lives a woman. The sites of their villages are selected, looms of the simplest construction, all the processes they are not in the least indebted to frequent ab-A stream or spring is near, and pleasant shade growing country. The cotton is of two kinds—

A stream or spring is near, and pleasant shade growing country. The cotton is of two kinds—

Tonji manga" or foreign cotton, and "Tonji Makololo. An old man told us he remembered willage is surrounded by a thick hedge of the poi source suphorbia. During the greater part of the quality, with a staple from three-quarters to an repeated it; and from his appearance one could be a preparative to the control of the country through the processes. sonous euphorbia. During the greater part of the quality, with a staple from three-quarters to an repeated it; and from his appearance one could year, the inhabitants could see an enemy through inch in length. It is perennial, requiring to be retained to be retained by the statement in question, the hedge, while he would find it a difficult matter planted only once in three years. The high lands is delivered to see them. By shooting their already poisoned arrows through the tender branches, they get short staple, and feels more like wool that no cotton information, followed us about a dozen miles, and arrows through the poisoness milky juice, and inflict Every family appears to own a cotton patch, which "They have wandered; they don't know where nost painful, if not fatal, wounds. The constant is kept clean of weeds and grass. We say the they are going." "Sooid that man," said a Makodripping of the juice of the bruised branches pre- foreign growing at the Lake, and in various places lolo headman to his factorum, who immediately comvents the enemy from attempting to force his way for thirty miles south of it, and about an equal menced an extemporary scolding; yet this singular through the hedge, as it destroys the eye-sight. number of miles below the cataracts on the Lower lar geographer would follow us, and we could not The huts are larger, stronger built, with higher Shire. Although the native cotton requires to be get quit of him till the Makololo threatened to take The castor oil with which they lubricate themselves, and the dirt, serve as an additional clothing, ring of the women gives them a revolting appear ton might grow well there, as on these the foreign are thousands needing christian instruction, and ance. It is universally worn in the highlands. A cotton becomes longer in the staple. The cotton there are materials for lawful commerce, and a fine healthy country, with none of the noxious insects has been already quoted, and cites the balves of human learning, darkened the mind, and kept men with which Captains Burton and Speke were tor- two sentences from George Fox's episites to prove in the broad way; and adds, "now wait all, to mented, and, with the exception of thirty miles, the existence of "the theory that the operations of have the same spirit manifested in your underwater communication all the way to England. Let the Holy Spirit are facilitated by the entire nega-standings, which was in them who gave forth the a market be opened for the purchase of their cotton of the human reason," (p. 48.) We will Scriptures, who were come out of the broad way,—

From the British Friend.

and Present."

(Continued from page 411, vol. xxxili.)

How, in the face of these clear and express declarations to the contrary, J. S. Rowntree can post-clarations to the contrary, J. S. Rowntree can post-sibly believe and say that Fox, Penn, and Barelay to the fountain of life and light; and walking in ("more especially the two writers last named,") it, ye have unity one with another, and the owner which follows this, and part of which is "magnified the inward and spiritual offices of of Jesus cleanseth you from all sin. The know-quoted by J. S. Rowntree, is every whit as true Christ at the expense of his outward appearance, ledge of the letter which you formerly got into and scriptural as that preceding it, when not sepa for sin," is to us inexplicable. We say nothing of gave dark meanings to it, and so kept you in the heart is deceifful above all things and desperately the modesty of this attempt to impuge the vital broad way; but now wait all, to have the same wicked," and that "the carnal mind is enmity principles of these truly eminent men, without the spirit manifested in your understandings, which against God;" and therefore, as G. Fox truly says shadow of proof, but we do complain that so mischievous and baseless a charge should be alleged were come out of the broad way, holy men of God God, to guide us to wait upon God, we are still in against them and the Society, in obvious ignorance who had escaped the pollutions of the world. And our own knowledge (which knoweth not the things of their writings and of the principles they really if every particular of you know not a principle of God,) and which is brutish and sensual; and professed. Common honesty required that an within, which is of God, to guide you to wait upon he adds, what the essayist omits, "but waiting al principles, should at least be thoroughly acquainted brutish and sensual; but waiting all upon God in kept open to receive the teachings of God." The with the works he censures, and the faith he con-that which is of God, ye are kept open to receive next sentence which is explanatory of the one just demns. The essay is replete with such empirical the teachings of God. And the pure wisdom and mentioned, is omitted altogether from the essay colleagues with distorting the truth (p. 46,) be- Rowntree. cause "they did not see so clearly, that the great Mester-builder is usually pleased to employ out these fragmentary extracts, J. S. Rowntree does is the meaning of this passage, and any other con their attention from the inward teachings of that 173,) and the neglect of the culture of the under cheavenly visitant, even though it night necessitate standing in connection with religion," (p. 174.) cannot help believing that the means adopted to the abnegators of our readers whilst effect this are discretisable to the writer of this mulgators have distorted the truth?

brought to light, who are raised up to sit in hea- and negatived; on the contrary, he tells his friends venly places with Christ Jesus, and are become to wait on the Lord, so that they may have the Remarks on John S. Rowntree's "Quakerism, Past children of the day, walk as children of the day, same spirit manifested in their understandings and as children of the light, and let your light so which was in them who gave forth the Scriptures shine before men, that they may glorify your Father And the essayist himself, in pages 36 and 49, in which is in heaven. All loving the light, ye love stances Paul as an example of the effect produced as Jesus of Nazareth, and of his vicarious offering your notions and comprehensions, the dark mind rated from its context. We all feel that "the was in them who gave forth the Scriptures, who if we know not the principle within, which is o author who thus deals with great names and vital God, we are still in your own knowledge, which is upon God, in that which is of God, we shall be dogmatism; as, for instance, in page 174, we are knowledge is that which comes from above, which J. S. Rowntree then quotes from the sentence fol told that "the measure of Quakerism is smaller is to know God and Jesus Christ, the way which lowing that omitted, only a portion of it. G. Fo: than that of christianity," with many others, some of which we have already exposed. is hidden from the world; and to walk out of your says, "dwelling in that which is pure, up to God own ways, and out of your own thoughts. And it commands your own reason to keep silent, and Having thus proved the assumed fact to be base-less, it follows that all the inferences are equally commands your own reason to keep silent, and to sayist evidently relies as authoritative evidence o erroneous, and nothing more is really required to cast your own thoughts out; and dwelling in that the justice of his allegations. But why did he no be said in refutation of these assertions. Yet there which is pure, it discovereth all this. So dwelling give the remainder of the sentence, viz., "and are some incidental passages in this chapter, which in the spirit, it kepse, hall your heat to God, to welling in that which is pure, it discovereth all vous heats to God, to welling in that which is pure, it discovereth ought not pass unnoticed; a mong others is that; who he all principle have a glory for ever which welling in that which is pure, it discovered that the same of the spirit, it was not a support of the spirit of the spi in which the author charges George Fox and his The words italicized are those quoted by J. S. who earnestly strive after a holy communion with ward means in establishing the temple of true not hesitate to charge George Fox and the Society struction is not warranted, when the whole of the picty in the heart of man. Seeing that God some- with "distorting the Truth (p. 46)-excluding the paragraph is taken into consideration. It is spirit times works immediately by His Spirit, and that human reason from the exercise of its legitimate ual advice to spiritually-minded men, and from the He is able always to employ this direct spiritual prerogatives—of upholding the theory that the beginning to the end of it, there is nothing pro influence in drawing souls to himself, it was argued operations of the Holy Spirit are facilitated by the bibliotive of the proper exercise of reason, of any that it was His will principally to employ this Dieleutire negation of the human reason (p. 48)—of legitimate influence of the intellect, of mental ac vine afflatus in nurturing the christian life, to the an unhealthy disparagement of outward means in quirements, nor of the culture of the understand disparagement of instrumental and secondary the culture of the religious life (p.51)—of silencing ling in connection with religion, science, or othe means; and it has been a principal object in the the reason as well as the natural will, and selection with religion, science, or othe means; to isolate its members from the ling a very subordinate position to the intellectual apprehend, on mistaken data; and we regret that influence of aught that was supposed to divert faculties in everything connected with religion (p. an attempt should have been made in this essay t constitution of man's spiritual nature," (p. 47.) we endeavour again to exhibit the disingenuous essay; and that in thus endeavouring to set up a That is, as we understand it, the early Friends manner in which this author treats those eminent system of teaching repugnant alike to the principle distorted the Truth, because in spiritual things men whom he professes to quote, and whose ob- and practice of the Society of Friends, he has return they disparaged "instrumental and secondary vious meanings he perverts to suit his sown views, sorted to certain literary expedients, which never means"—they approved not of teaching based on If he had been desirous, fairly and honestly, to reflect credit upon an author. Still more deeply "the legitimate exercise of human reason," (p. 48). Perpresent the opinions of George Fox, he would do we regret his attacks upon such men as Fox and because the essayist has no sympathy with not have contented himself with mutilated frag- Penn, and Barelay, and his attempts to undermine "the Quaker system, which requires its spiritual ments, but would have given the whole coutext some of the great fundamental principles of the teachers to be spiritually influenced by the Holy bearing on the subject. The reason for his not Society, which have stood the test of many fier. Spirit, which the essayist irreverently terms the doing so is evident; for, had be given the sentence ordeals for the last two centuries; and which, be Divine afflatus. This is a mere assertion, unsup-immediately preceding his first extract, and the ing founded, as we believe, on eternal Truth, will ported by a titile of evidence, and no attempt is words intervening between the two, it would have we trust, survive many more, made to prove that the doctrine of the Society is disproved his own assumptions, and given increased (To be constituted). contrary to the Scriptures; if it be consistent with publicity to those good, sound and scriptural, al-Holy Writ, as we contend it is, how can its pro- though old-fashioned doctrines, with which be ob-

a market be opened for the purchase of their tool for the lumina he should be about the state of God, whilst worshipping Him in spirit and in truth

When we are alone, we have our thoughts t algators have distorted the truth? viously has no sympathy. George Fox tells us watch; when in the family, our tempers; when it is pursuing the subject, the author repeats what that "the knowledge of the letter," that is, merely company, our tongues. The Catacombs.

ages of christianity. Till recently these have been of the letters used in the inscriptions, are thought sited in his grave—and he is always at "peace"—generally regarded as presenting the whole existing to be additional evidence of its correctness. (in pace.) The survivors do not mourn his loss generally regarded as presenting the whole existing to be additional evidence of its correctness. proof of the faith and practice of the early church; source of knowledge as to render it altogether under trustworthy. The efforts made, weak and contemption faith. The catacombs are calculated to extend cross appears, though not the crucifix; and other have nevertheless had a certain influence over the general tone of thought on the subject, and have christians, it will be remembered, are called by possess it. There are also a certain number of caused many to regard the early infancy of christians, it will be remembered, are called by possess it. There are also a certain number of caused many to regard the early infancy of christians, the subject and have christians and in the categories of the carries of the control of the carries of the carri darkness. Under these circumstances, it is well been thought to indicate that their number apteurs of the presented. The temptation of Eve—Moses that attention should be called—as it has been proached at all near to what this calculation—striking the rock—Noah welcoming the return of called recently, by several publications of greater which seems fairly made—would indicate. Seven—Elijiah ascending to heaven—Daniel or less research—to the monumental remains of millions of deaths in (say) four hundred years which take us back in the most lively way, to the average population of from five hundred to seven —Jonah swallowed by a whale, and Jonah vomit-first ages of the church, exhibiting before our hundred thousand—an amount immensely beyond ed out on the dry land, are favourite subjects from and in which confessors and martyrs were almost as numerous as ordinary christians. As when graves may be exaggerated, and probably the prothe bary the description of clarks to population was, under the pethe tenting of the prothe bary the Baptist—the healing of the paralytic port the old pagan world brought before us with culiar circumstances, nunsually large; but still the of the five thousand—the raising of Lazarus—the appear dull and tame, so when we descend into hish cannot wholly mislead; and we may regard washing his hands before the people. Peter and Paul the catacombs of Rome, we seem to see the strug; it as established beyond all reasonable doubt, that, gling, persecuted community, which there, "in dens in spite of the general contempt and hatred, in bears the keys, in plain allusion to the gracious ing its heathen persecutors to the yoke of Christ.

Time was, when the guiding spirits of our Church In the next place, not only neglected the study of these precious the dangers and sufferings to which the early indirect evidence is borne to the historic belief of remnants of an antiquity, which ought to be far christians were exposed. Without assuming that the early church, which does not appear to have dearer to us than that of Greece or pagan Rome, the phials which have contained a red liquid, found differed at all from that of orthodox christendom of Egypt, Assyria, or Babylon, but even ventured in so many of the tombs, must have held blood, at the present day.—Late Paper. to speak of them with contempt, as the recent crea- and that therefore they are certain signs of martyrtion of Papal forgers, who had placed among the dom, and without regarding the palm-branch as arenaria, or sandpits of heathen times, the pre-unmistakable evidence of the same-we may find tended memorials of saints who were never born, in the catacombs a good deal of testimony con-yourselves with God's people, as the manuer of and of martyrs who never suffered. But, with in- firmatory of those writers who estimate at the some was, Heb. x. 25, and is at this day, especially creased learning and improved candor, modern highest the number of christians who suffered death among young people, the children of some Friends, Anglicanism has renounced this shallow and un- in the great persecutions. The number of graves, whom the love of this present evil world hath hurt tenable theory, and it is at length admitted univer if we place it at the lowest, compared with the and cooled in their love to God and his Truth. sally, alike by the Protestant and the Romanist, highest estimate of the christian population that is But do you keep close to meetings, both of worship that the catacombs themselves, their present con- at all probable, would give a proportion of deaths and business of the church, when of an age and catents, and the series of inscriptions which have to population enormously above the average --- a pacity proper for it; and that not out of novelty, been taken from them, and placed in the Papal result which, at any rate, lends support to those formality, or to be seen of men, but in pure fear, galleries, are genuine remains of primitive christian who assert that, in the persecutions of Aurelius, love and conscience to God your Creator, as the autiquity, and exhibit to us-imperfectly, no doubt, Decius, Diocletian and others, vast multitudes of public, just and avowed testimony of your duty but so far as their evidence extends, truly the christians were massacred. Further, the word and homage to him. In which be exemplary both condition and belief of the church of Christ in the martyr, is frequent upon the tombs; and often by timely coming and a reverent and serious de-tians were content to hide away the memorials of similar sufferers—as when one of Aurelius' victims and do what you do as to him, and he will be your their dead in gloomy galleries, deep below the exclaims-"O unhappy times, in which amid our refreshment and reward; for you shall return with earth's surface, where few eyes could ever rest on sacred rites and prayers—in the very carerns—we these. With liberty and security, came the practare in the safe! What is more wretched than our tice of burying within, and around, the churches, life? What more wretched than a death, when it which grew up on all sides; and though undoubt- is impossible to obtain burial at the hands of

time of Constantine, burying in the catacombs

where it is absent, the inscription otherwise shows portment during the assembly; in which, be not

Again, the catacombs furnish a certain amount The following is from Rawlinson's Bampton must have been on the decline, and the bulk of the of evidence with respect to the belief of the early lectures, a work we have already noticed and re-tombs in them must be regarded as belonging to christians. The doctrine of the resurrection is im the first three centuries. The fixed dates obtain- plied or expressed on almost every tombstone which The arguments hitherto adduced have been able from a certain number of the tombs, confirm has been discovered. The christian is not deaddrawn from the literary compositions of the first this view; and the style of ornamentation and form he "rests" or "sleeps"—he is not buried, "depo-What, then, is the evidence of the catacombs? despairingly, but express trust, resignation, or moand skeptics have therefore been eager to throw In the first place, it is conclusive as to the vast derate grief. The anchor, indicative of the chrisevery possible doubt upon them, and to maintain number of the christians in these early ages, when tian's "sure and certain hope," is a common emthat forgery and interpolation have so vitiated this there was nothing to tempt men, and everything to blem; and the phoenix and peacock are used as tible as they are felt to be by scholars and critics, over nine hundred miles of streets, and to contain emblems are employed, as the dove and the cock, nothing is to be seen, except a few figures of bishops are reckoned at one half the population of the city; Testament, treated in a uniform and conventional and martyrs, moving uncertainly amid the general but the historical records of the past have never way, but clearly expressive of belief in the facts early christian times which are still extant, and would, under ordinary circumstances, imply an nego in the fiery furnace-Jonah under the gourd eyes those primitive communities which the apos- any estimate that has hitherto been made of the the Old Testament; whilst from the New Testatles founded, over which apostolical men presided, number of Roman christians at any portion of that ment we find the adoration of the wise mena vividness which makes all other representations evidence of vast numbers which the catacombs fur-last supper—Peter walking on the sea, and Pilate and caves of the earth," (Heb. xi. 38,) wrought spite of the constant ill usage to which they were promise of his Master, (Matt. xiv. 19.) The paraitself a hidden home, when it went forth at last exposed, and the occasional "fiery trials" which bolic teaching of our Lord is sometimes embodied conquering and to conquer, triumphantly establish proved them, the christians, as early as the second by the artists, who never tire of repeating the type ing itself on the ruins of the old religion, and bend-century, formed one of the chief elements in the of the "Good Shepherd," and who occasionally represent the sower going out to sow, and the para-In the next place, the catacombs afford proof of ble of the wise and foolish virgins. In this way,

Our Young Friends-Keep Close to Meetings. -Be sure, that you forsake not the assembling For it is impossible to doubt that the catacombs that the deceased lost his life on account of his reweary or think the time long till it be over, as belong to the earliest times of christianity. It was ligion. Sometimes the view opens on us, and we some did of the substants of old; but let your eye only during the ages of persecution that the chrissee, besides the individual buried, a long vista of be to him whom you come to wait upon and serve,

Whatever differences may elsewhere exist among edly the ancient burial places would not have been friends or relatives? Still at the end they shine descreted all at once, since habit and affection would like stars in heaven. A poor life is his, who has and the poor meet (equally) together; for the Lord is the make of them all is the maker of them all is the maker of them all. For "The Friend,"

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES

Of Ministers and Elders and other concerned members of the Yearly Meeting of Philadelphia.

(Continued from page 412, Vol. xxxiii.) THE JORDAN FAMILY.

It is a consolatory observation, that where patestimonies which were so dear to them, yet, nevertheless, it is often so remarkably the case, that we racter the Lord Almighty gave of himself as "showing merey unto children's children of such as love me, and keep my commandments."

THOMAS AND MARGARET JORDAN.

Thomas and Margaret Jordan, of Nancemond county, Virginia, were two valuable Friends, who felt bound to endcavour, as the Lord gave them Their labours of love in this good cause were abundantly blessed, and they were permitted to see the wholesome restraints parental discipline had imposed, superseded by the more effectual and heartreaching influences of the Lord's good Spirit, controlling and directing their steps through life. Of the Lord's vineyard, we are not informed; but it their earnest labour on behalf of their children, forming services for his church and people. and being satisfied thereby. Some of the children and earnestly concerned in the love of Christ, that removed to receive the reward of faithful dedication to the Lord's service.

ROBERT JORDAN THE FIRST.

seemed to be very parent and respect to the everlasting "looked too big to enter in at the strait gate."

welfare of his children. This he expressed in "During the days of his health, he had borne a gers, especially the Lord's messengers, whom he ble minister. By him she had two children, whic treated with great respect and affection, honouring lived to maturity. He also deceased whilst her them for their work's sake. He was also charitated offspring were young in years, leaving them to her ble to the poor, and had frequent opportunities of ears. It is recorded of her, that "she discharged doing them service in free cost, in the practice of the duty of a mother, and governess of a numerous physic. As a man of trade and commerce, he had family in a becoming, steady and exemplary man-botained a good reputation in the world, and he ner." She survived her last husband more than rents have been unusually subject to the Truth in declared he had never wronged any man know-thirty years, "and was a woman endowed with a themselves, that we often find in some of their ingly in his life. In short, he was a loving hus-truly quiet and christian disposition, which seems descendants, marks of the distinguishing favours of he descendants of the distinguishing favours of he descendants, marks of the distinguishing favours of he descendants of the descendants of the distinguishing favours of he descendants of the distinguishing favours of the descendants of the distinguishing favours of the descendant of the distinguishing favours of the peu, that those who have been faithful in their day to the Lord's requirings, leave behind them works to rewards, he had the satisfaction of seeing a good name behind there works to rewards, he had the satisfaction of seeing a good name behind there.

Some departed this line to be on Loginal month, 1728, 1756, aged nearly seventy years, and left descendants bound to uphold the decrimes and live of his some seminent ministers of the good. (Crote contained.) two of his sons eminent ministers of the gospel. His son Robert, at the time of his death, had just left on a religious visit to Europe, and his son Jocan therein see the gracious fulfilment of the cha-seph had just returned from a similar engagement.

BENJAMIN JORDAN.

Benjamin Jordan was also a son of Thomas and Margaret Jordan, and was born at Nancemond, Seventh month 18th, 1674. His pious parents, who had suffered in support of the Truth, which they professed, had endeavoured carefully to refelt bound to endeavour, as the Lord gave them strain him from evil, and to educate him in the strength, to bring up their children in his fear. Their labours of love in this good cause were abun-which two themselves held. Their roddle example, which they themselves held. Their roddle example, which they themselves held. Their godly example, restraining influence, seasonable advice and exhor- The paths of the good are oft trodden in woe, tations, were sanctified, through the all effectual Sharp arrows may wound them whilst heavenward they influence of Divine grace, to him as well as several others of their large family of children. Benjamin, after that he had, through the teachings of the the time of the decease of these early labourers in Holy Spirit, attained to some experience in the work of religion, gave up much of his time, and was not until after they had seen of the fruit of devoted his talents to waiting upon God, and per-

He was much employed in the discipline, was at least were valuable members of religious Society, clerk of both Monthly and Yearly Meetings, and was not only a believer iu word, but in deed and in poor sincers should be invited to that fold of peace truth, being a good example of piety and charity, and true spiritual rest, which their dear parents to holding fast his integrity to the last. The day behad so earnestly loved, before these parents were fore his close, several of his neighbours came to visit him in his sick chamber. To one of them, who do do and definition, our provet of scorn; was in a prosperous condition as to worldly matters, and to whom, in his self-exalted state, the way of Truth second low and descinable he said. way of Truth seemed low and despicable, he said, Robert Jordan, son of the above Friends, was "Rejoice, oh, young man, in thy youth, and let thy His portion is blessing, without an alloy, born in Virginia, Seventh month 11th, 1665; he heart cheer thee in the ways of thy heart, and in Where loving and praising give sweetest employ, was, says a memorial concerning him, "carefully the sight of thine eyes, but know thou for all these." To all, who on earth in pure patience, have borne, was, says a memorial concerning him, "carefully the sight of thine eyes, but know thou for all these educated in the way of Truth, by his worthy pa- things, God will bring thee to judgment." To anrents, who lived to see the religion of his educa- other one of his visitors, who had been under setion become that of his choice and practice in his rious impressions, but had not been obedient to the mature years. In this he was preserved to the requirings of duty, he said, "Blessed are they that last, without wavering; in great peace with the hear the word of God, and do it." Another one, Lord, and unity of his brethren. In the time of who, he believed, was more anxious to obtain the his illness, which continued about two weeks, he honour of this world, than the houour which the seemed to be very patient and resigned to the will Lord gives to his faithful little ones, he told, he sweet and sensible exhortations, setting forth the testimony against making the time of a funeral a John Taylor, a high authority, in the measure benofit that would thereby accrue, in words of season of feasting, and now in the prespect of his ment of the earth, by the founders of the Great living experience. He often, in fervent prayer, de-own speedy departure, he gave directions, that no Pyramid. They determined, with great exactness given to hospitality, very ready to entertain stran-three children, she married James Bates, a valua-

For "The Friend." THE CROWN AT THE END,

"Then shall the righteous man stand in great boldness before the face of such as have afflicted him, and made no account of his labours. When they see it, they shall be troubled with terrible fear, and shall be amazed at the strangeness of his salvation, so far beyond all tha they looked for; and they repenting and groaning for anguish of spirit, shall say within themselves, This wa-he, whom we had sometime in derision, and a provert of reproach. We fools accounted his life madness and go; Bitter words of the scornful, who jeer their meek talk, And count them as fools for their pure lowly walk; But the day hastens on, soon its light shall arise, When sinners shall know, that the good are the wise; That the wicked are madmen, ne'er judging aright, Who, for moment of sin-joy, lose endless delight, And for low, trifling pleasure, which fades ere possessed Giving up endless glory, awaiting the Blessed. The scorners, sore troubled with terrible fear,

When the good in salvation's pure garments appear, In the courage of innucence cheerfully bold, Amazed at the strangeness of that they behold, And the glory that closes the humble one's day, Repenting and groaning in spirit shall say, "This is he, who our jeerings and mockings has borne, The cross of the Saviour, 'mid scotling and scorn.

A man should keep his friendship in constant repair; for As similarity of mind, Or something not to be defined, First fixes our attention; So manners decent and polite, The same we practis'd at first sight,

Must save it from declension.

An Inch .- The British inch had its origin, says living experience. He often, in fervent prayer, de-lown speedy departure, he gave directions, that no sired that they might be preserved from the vanimore than sufficient provision should be made. One tites and corruptions of this world, and that they of his brothers then asked him, "How is it with might love and fear the Lord in their youth. At thee?" He replied, "As to my eternal state, no note time he said, "o Lord! preserve my flock!—thing but well." He soon afterwards held up his let them never go astray, nor forget thee, nor one hands, and said, "Lord Jesus, into thy hands! another! O my God! held them in thy arms, that none of them be lost! Let not the enemy prevail over them."

He was favoured to be humbly thankful for the mereies shown him by his dear Savic ar from youth an married Sarah Robinson, an exemplary young up, and blessed God that be had supported him woman, who, with her mother and step-father, that to the ancients, as to require the addition of only under every dispensation of his Providence, even under every dispensation of his Providence, even until that very time.

"He was," says a memorial of him, "a man decease of Benjamin Jordan, who left her with part of the carth's axis of rotation.

ciety, depend upon the members living in the Spirit, unto this day. further openings and instruction in the Truth.

A letter written by that faithful man of God, not our lives unto death for your sakes, to gather love to Truth, by the painful and faithful labourers seen to move. thee and all that received the Truth, that you who were sent of the Lord. Therefore, in the might enjoy the presence of the Lord. And yearnings of the love of God to you, I once more of fish I beheld while diving on these banks would, their everlasting comfort, and to the confounding sent unto you. the enemies of God, who beheld their steadfast travail of our souls, and given us to see the fruit of our labour in his vineyard, and the peace and unity of his people.

"But of late, I have heard that thou, my ancient friend, Edward Nightingale and John Cox, a separating spirit, apart from the rest of Friends waters of the ocean. He gives some sketches of in the city, which casts a stumbling-block in the what he saw on the Silver Banks, near Hayti. way of many. Instead of gathering people to away; and it gives great advantage to them that to twenty in breadth. watch for evil, and is of a bad savour, and woundwhere every member has his will brought into con- with his people, as we did in those days. It was longing to some stately temple now in ruins. formity with the will of God. The strong would many years before the enemy could get any enelsewhere.

Our usefulness and strength as a Religious So- the persecutions and imprisonments Thave endured merged, with little obstruction to the sight.

those who abode in the Truth, experienced in his taken offence, because they saw there might be immense size, of variegated colours, and of the day, and the distress brought upon them by those some service for Truth, in meeting twice on the most brilliant hue.

who were taken with a dividing spirit, contains First-day of the week. It is very likely that some "The fish which inhabited those Silver Banks I standing, and entire union in bearing their faithful these lines, which in his love I am moved to send full bloom, and were of all hues. testimony, in whatever they were called unto for unto you, then shall I lament your condition, bethe truth of God. This did not only confound cause of the evil consequence your separation will inches to three feet in length. Their eyes are very God's enemies, but many were convinced, and re- produce, to your sorrow, and the wounding of large, and protrude like those of the frog. Another ceived the Truth in the love of it, beholding the luany whom God would not have wounded; -for fish was spotted like the leopard, from three to ten unity of faithful Friends, to their comfort and the which you must give an account. And before you teet in length. They build their houses like the honour of the name of the Lord; which caused lay down your heads in peace, you will remember beaver, in which they spawn, and the male or with some others in that city, do meet together in of his adventures, when making search in the deep versation, let your behaviour among men be un-spirit, which is such an evil savour in the nation, hundred feet in depth, and so clear, that the diver all men.

"Warwick, 21st of Eleventh month, 1684."

Bottom of the Ocean.

For "The Friend." hath been, and is more afflicting to me than all can see from two to three hundred feet, when sub-

"The bottom of the ocean, in many places on "Therefore, I entreat and beseech thee, my and these banks, is as smooth as a marble floor; in and fellowship of the gospel of Christ Jesus, the "Therefore, I entreat and beseech thee, my an-Shepherd of his sheep. In a spiritual body, of cient friend, with all that meet in the separation others it is studded with coral columns, from ten which he is the Head, the members will be organ-from the rest of Friends in the city, to turn your to one hundred feet in height, and from one to zed by Him. Every one will have his place as minds to the light of Christ in you, which will let eighty feet in diameter. The tops of the more signed by Him, and receive direction from Him of you see you have not done well, and with it, judge lofty, support a myriad of pyramidal pendants, each what his duty is, and power to perform it under that which hath led you to separate from Friends; forming a myriad more; giving the reality to the his bidding and guidance. As all keep their places, and return to meet with them in the city, in the imaginary abode of some water nymph. In other acting in his authority, when he puts them forth in sweet concord, love and unity of the life of the places the pendants form arch after arch, and as the work, which he appoints to them severally, blessed Truth, as in the days of old and years the diver stands on the bottom of the ocean, and there will be among them a harmonious labour for his bonour, and for one another's good, and there that in all our meetings, whether in the prison or he feels that they fill him with as sacred an awe as by unity will prevail, and the circulation of divine in the city, we never wanted the sweet appearance if he were in some old cathedral, which had long to the and life from member to member, will be exof Christ, our life, in us and among us according been buried beneath 'old ocean's war.' Here and perienced. There could be no breaking in or out to like promise, and to our comfort. As on it is there the ceral extends even to the surface of the in such a divinely organized and governed body, now with all that meet in his name, and in unity water, as if those lottier columns were towers be-

"There were countless varieties of diminutive bear the burdens of the weak, and sympathize with trance, to make a breach amongst those that pro-trees, shrubs, and plants, in every crevice of the them, and the child would not behave himself fess God's blessed Truth, to draw some into a self-corals, where the water had deposited the leastearth. proudly against the ancient, but would wait for separation, as he hath done you and many more They were all of a faint hue, owing to the pale light they received, although of every shade, and "I do assure you, it is the work of the enemy of entirely different from plants I am familiar with William Dewsbury, showing his views of the peace yoursouls. You should not have separated, but have that vegetate upon dry land. One in particular and unity belonging to the church of Christ, which kept your places amongst Friends; and not have counsel that is valuable and appropriate in this in that city, who had a love to Truth might get an found as different in kind as the seenery was varied.

day. It is addressed to Edward Nightingale, of opportunity to come to one of those meetings. It They were of all forms, colours, and sizes—from is very much to me how you let the enemy so get the symmetrical goby to the globelike sunfish; York, as follows:—

is very much to me how you let the enemy so get the symmetrical goby to the globelike sunfish;

"My ancient friend, whom the Lord counted over you, as to cause you to separate from Friends; from those of the dullest hue to the changeable worthy to receive his blessed truth with many in whereas had you kept your places in meeting with dolphin; from the spots of the leopard to the luces that city and county, when he sent forth his them, you, in time, might have seen a service in of the sunbeam; from the harmless minnow to the servants, and called me to forsake wife and chil- use the central truth of the county and the county of the county o dren, and to give up my life daily unto his will; be sure that separation neither restores any to the others like cats and dogs; one of small size resemto endure stripes and bruises in many tumults, love of Truth, nor gathers any to God, but rather bled the bull-terrier. Some darted through the with the rest of my faithful brethren, who loved scattereth and driveth some that were gathered in water like meteors, while others could scarcely be amongst many others, we counted thee worthy to be seech you, that in humiliation you wait in the were I enough of a naturalist to do so, require receive his servants, who meet together in the healight of Christ, and he will let you see how the more space than my limits will allow, for I am venly unity in the Truth; for which both thou and enemy led you out of your places, when you sepaconvinced that most of the kinds of fish which in I, with many of the servants of God, were put rated from meeting with Friends; and in yielding habit the tropical seas can be found there. The into prison, as many of his servants are this day obedience to the light, it will bring you into your sunfish, sawfish, starfish, white shark, ground shark, And the blessed presence of God kept and doth places again, to meet with Friends to your comfort, blue or shovel-nose shark, were often seen. There keep them that truly fear his name, in sweet unity and the honour of the name of the Lord, accord- were also fish which resembled plants, and remain-and peace with himself, and with one another, to ing to the counsel of the Lord in my heart, here ed as fixed in their position as a shrub. The only power they possessed was to open and shut when "But if you reject the counsel of the Lord in in danger. Some of them resembled the rose in my soul with the rest of the faithful labourers, to ue, who have not hid from you the counsel of the female watches the eggs until they hatch. I saw praise the name of the Lord, in having blessed the Lord.

W. D." many specimens of the green turtle, some five feet long, which I should think would weigh from four to five hundred pounds."-Late Paper.

1738. Forasmuch as we are called with a high - Green, the famous diver, tells singular stories and holy calling, to all holiness and purity of conblameable, and such as may adorn the gospel of Christ. Let not the vain and foolish fashions and "The banks of coral on which my divings were customs of the world prevail over you. Avoid receive the Truth, you scatter and drive them made, are about forty miles in length, and from ten sports, plays, and all such diversions, as tend to alienate the mind from God, and to deprive the "On this bank of coral is presented to the diver soul of his comfortable presence and power. Be ing to the spirits of them that truly fear the Lord. one of the most beautiful and sublime scenes the temperate and soher; shun all excess in cating and I can truly say, your meeting in that separating eye ever beheld. The water varies from ten to one drinking; and let your moderation be known unto our Late Friend, H. Williams.

the company of our friends - and ones, encouragement was found adapted to our much for society, but society may do something determined to "go down into a mine." This ide several exigencies; the close provings in our dif- for them." ferent allotments, the stratagems of our common

"11th .- What a fine, quiet, soaking rain we bave had, refreshing, indeed, to the parched phin; attended on Third-day, Sixth Street meet abson, while the Socteman was to accompan ground. The harvest has commenced in many ing. * * It was a meeting, at which a boson, while the Socteman was to accompan places. I thought, as I came home, the country table was spread with many good and salutary looked rich indeed; some fields cut and shocked, things for hungry souls. I mourned over the abdeparted at five o'clock in the afternoon, and read some lying in swaths, and some waving, near sent who belong there; the sons left in the ed the end of the mine in safety. Here an hou ready for the reaper, of bright yellow; the oats stores, &c.; many flimsy reasons assigned for the was spentin examining the coal formations and the bluish, and grass and trees a fine green. Ah! omission. Most surely, we as a people, will be subterranean chamber, and their curiosity bein were we served according to our deserts, little visited for these things, and the like cold indifferwould be left us; but our great Giver is bountiful." ence; robbing Him to whom only honour is due, Mounted on their novel conveyance, they were and not formally, but with praying hearts, and He will regard with an eye of compassion."

lately, from S. and A. R, the latter is much advancement, if faithfulness is abode in. broken; but the quiet, subdued and patient state

24th .- Speaking of some outward comforts, be thou perfect. says, "So we are cared for by the good Husband-" 28th. * * The 'leaven' of our testithe danger arrived, but their efforts were in vair man, with all our failings and shortcomings; to monies, if faithfully adhered unto by our Society, They had gone but a few hundred yards, when congregating together, unnecessarily. I do see it timonies." leads to no good."

nowing season in society everywhere almost. I do against, and keep out the spirit, and corrupt friend- so great, that it would take at least three days t believe, there is too much of a mixing with the ship of the world; and that no fellowship may be dig a passage way out; and that there was gree world in its various customs and fashious, and many held or had with, the unfruit works of darkness, danger of further falls, the earth being now looset self-pleasing things. It is impossible in this little nor therein when the world in the self-pleasing things. It is impossible in this little nor therein when the world in the self-pleasing things. It is impossible in this little nor therein when the world in the self-pleasing things. It is impossible in this little nor therein when the world in the self-pleasing things. It is impossible in this little nor therein when the world in the self-pleasing things. It is impossible in this little nor therein when the world in the matters; but I am all the time sad, almost; now looseness, excess, and unprofitable and idle dis-with no water or food, and the air so close that and then a bright spot."

- to account for being too late our holy profession.

Extracts from the Letters and Memorandums of First-day; queried, 'Wast thou not well on Fifthday?' Yes; I was well; I was hauling wheat. Our members generally there, with some of the good to hear this, there was a sound in it, that be ment Company's mines, in the Schuylkill coal r neighbours round; and truly our state was minis- tokened right zeal. I wish we could find time and gion, Pennsylvania. The younger was but eighted tered unto. In the first place, — was engaged inclination to go see our members in the right years of age, and both possessed that love of adve to show what our forefathers in the Truth were, way; it would have an encouraging effect. There ture which appears natural to a city belle when r and how much the Society fell short in the present are some of our members, who hardly feel as if lieved from the contracted and confining influence day; that had we as a people been faithful, we they were linked to society; so little noticed; I of metropolitan life. After sojourning some weel should, ere this, have possessed the gates of our might say, none; for instance,—and—, amid the wild and beautiful scenery of Woodside enemies. Then, remembering the poor, struggling and some others; they may never be able to do they became anxious for a novel excitement, are

"I want to hear from our dear friends J., and a mine they must go, and the deepest one must I adversary, suiting his balts to all ages and stations, S. E., and from you all; tolling on from day to selected for the excursion.

prowling around our habitations, until we are day. That concern is like a great machine, An intelligent and brave ready to fear we shall fall, and indeed, that we always in motion; should the mainspring cease, tical knowledge of mining is of the most thoroug are gone. Dear ____ got into the condition of then it would stop; when there is no induce-character, was appealed to, and he decided that a things, as it seems to me, and closely pressed ment offered to parents to send children, then it old drift, (a drift, reader, is an opening leading hor dwelling with our suffering Lord. He seemed to would clog. It was in the first outset, a religious zontally into the side of a mountain,) known : believe further trials than the Society had yet concern for the guarded education of our youth; the "Otto Mine," was the most suitable for it seen, awaits it; but a rising out of this low state I have desired it might be carefully kept in view proposed visit. The drift extended into the mom will come, when there will be a looking unto, and by the Yearly Meeting's Committee, the superintain a distance of one mile and a half, and had bee drawing unto, this Society. This is scarcely the tendents, the teachers and the officers in the house; worked for years. The dangers attending the er outlines of a long communication, every word to this concern." * * * * zest to the undertaking. Two young gentleme:

runs over, and is lost."

"The meeting small; well! attend faithfully and following our own ways and pleasures, proceeding merrily along, when one of the youn

"We had a clever call of a visit of one day, with their family; and I do look for a further ped, and, armed with a stone, the lady commence of mind that was to be felt in her company, and sensible he has narrowly escaped being brought outlet of the mine entered hastly and informe easily observed, was very agreeable and comfort- low, if through at all. I do desire every admoni- the Scotch guide that the earth over the passage ing to me. I remembered that these light afflictory call to us may have a proper effect: in great way had commenced to crumble.

tions which are but for a moment, work for us a mercy we are spoken to in different ways, by our This, to miners, is an almost certain indicatio far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory.' Great Preserver, in order that we may escape the that a fall will take place—the dropping pebble May she indeed realize it, is my prayer for her, as wrath to come, which will inevitably come on those being but the forerunner of the crushing rocks an who do not obey the call of 'Walk before me, and earth. The car was immediately put in motion sit down and mourn over these will not do, we will have an influence on the community at large; rumbling like distant thunder was heard—a rus must be up and be doing, for the day hasteneth," so said ——, in the conversation I had with "Seventh mo. 25th.—More and more is it needs, him, when I excused myself and family from at as the grave! ful, yea positively so, for Friends to keep the dear tending his lecture on 'slavery.' 'It is your leachildren from mixing with the multitude. I fear ven (he said) that is out in the world, and as you phenomenon—the mine had caved in. Their mule many of the young people within my knowledge are faithful, it will more and more spread and were brought to a stand, and the Scotchman, as are hurt thereby; even the children of Friends prevail; he mentioned 'war' and other of our tes- companied by the miner who had served as the

"We may reasonably expect a sifting and win- 1691. Advised in God's holy fear to watch reported that the fall of the earth and rock wa od then a bright spot." courses, mis-spending their precious time and sub-unaccustomed lungs could hardly breath it—th
"It did me good to hear that Robert had called stance to the dishonour of Truth, and scandal of heart might well quail at the contemplation of suc

For "The Friend." at meeting. Then J. reported his care of him on Perilous Adventure of Two New York Ladies in Coal Mine.

During the past summer, two young ladies fro once conceived, could not be reasoned away; in An intelligent and brave Scotchman, whose pra "Dear — supplicated afterward for the "Thomas Scattergood used to say, 'Children also from New York, volunteered as escorts, an states brought to view in the address. It was a were like a unrow-necked vessel, quickly filled.' the company was formed. It was arranged that favoured time, and more than we had a right to It is not good to pour in too fast or too much; it drift-car was to be taken to the entrance of the mine, and that this, drawn by mules and drive "Eighth mo. 18th .- Came safely to Philadel- by a miner, was to convey the party into the earth

----, with their four children, were at meeting; ladies expressed a desire to break off a piece these friends, it seems to me, are trying to do right | coal as a memento of their visit. The car was stor battering at the granite like coal. While thus en "---- has been very sick. He seems very ployed, a miner, who had been stationed at the

with the hope that the exit might be gained befor

There could be no doubt as to the cause of thi Jehu of the party, proceeded onward to make a exploration. In a short time they returned, an a condition. But female heroism rose superior t he misfortune, and the ladies of the party "stood s those who championed human fears." One of nem declared that they could "kill the mules, me places it was perpendicular, and in others it firmities of the weaker.

tabers and projecting rocks, now forcing them- for the prize of our high calling.

For "The Friend."

exercised, is every token of returning faithfulness which brought our forefathers through all their and live upon them for three days, or until they and favour, after seasons of temptation and trial, trials and difficulties, and established them as pil-und be dug out."

wherein the enemy of the prosperity and peace of lars in his house, which should go no more out? After a consultation among the miners, the Zion, has threatened to prevail over us, by the Oh! for more of a willingness to sacrifice outcotch guide announced that there was an air-exultation of his power, magnifying the difficulties ward case and luxury and our own wills, for the naft ascending from the end of the mine to the which surround our path, causing them to appear precious cause, and our own soul's sake, that there namit of the mountain, and that it was barely almost insurrountable, and our deliverance to be might afford a way of egress. Wea, what encouragement in the knowledge of the Truth, through submission he party therefore returned to the extremity of have we, in view of the continued mercy and to the Divine will concerning us, as members of se drift, and the miner who had accompanied them goodness of our God, and the fresh extension of the visible and militant church! Then we may as sent up the shaft to ascertain if it was open his mighty arm to restore us to his favour, through believe that in our associated capacity for the purthe surface. For near two hours the company the co-operation of our spirits with Ilis, who is pose of divine worship and discipline, we should xiously awaited the return of their messenger. our Mediator and Intercessor with the Father, and witness our sitting down before the Lord, to wait mber which kept its sides from falling together, trials and discouragements in many places may be, from the love of Christ, and one from another. the stones hing loose in many places, ready to yet there are still preserved in all parts of our look and that spirit be cast out by One that is mighty all at the slightest touch. But still there was a widely-spread society, those who are engaged to and able to save, even to the uttermost; and may pe of escape; and when humanity is reduced to uphold the standard of Truth; meckly and patiently He bring us again under the restoring influence of speration, feats can be accomplished which, in bearing the burdens laid upon them for the church the gentleness and meckness of Divine wisdom, the deevered the timbers around it with slime, and there are instructions of the help of those that are is "the rewarder of all them that diligently seek here they had rotted away, a soft mud oozed out stronger than themselves, seems to afford an incen- [Him," and not their own glory; who is the healer the earth. But notwithstanding all these diffi-tive to close watching and deep searching, in order of breaches and the restorer of paths to dwell in, ties, added to the danger that a falling rock to discover the direction and extent of individual who buildeth up the waste places in Zion, blessing ght wedge them in beyond the power of escape, duty and the action of the body, lest there should the provisions thereof, and satisfying her poor with d leave them to die the lingering death of being be a falling short in the discharge thereof, to the bread. ried alive, they determined to attempt the as- increase of weakness, and the discouragement of the church; which is looking for the fruits of the The party consisted of the two ladies, the two Spirit; that they may be renewedly witnessed, as atlemen who acted as their escort, the Scotch-lin earlier times, when "love, joy, peace, long-litentity, and how desirable and comfortable to a who was their guide, and two miners. The suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meckness, and the possessor. We select from the writings of dies prepared themselves by removing all their temperance," did more eminently and generally Matthew Hale his views thereupon, who thus respectively and the ascent was compared. The guide, with one miner, went first, the ward for the secret direction of Truth, and less of and of an humble man. He says: gentlemen followed, then came the ladies, and an outward looking to man, for guidance, comfort, tly the remaining miner. Painfully they toiled and help,-more of a forgetting of the things that turned to the God of glory, or in order to him.

sible for them to pass, and now drawing each regarding the cries of his poor, trembling disciples, unto the God who made them. Now, when the ser by the hand, from step to step, where the as- and that he will arise and rebuse the wind and proud man usurps that glory which is due to his at was perpendicular. Through all this, the fortise of the ladies never deserted them. They wessel, and in a signal manuer, cause a great calm; due and natural return and reflection due unto the we cheerful and hopeful, when the men who ac-affording abundant evidence that we are not for Creator of all things; takes that tribute that is upanied them were ready to despond. After saken, even though the great Master may seem to due to God, and applies it to himself; puts glory bours of almost superhuman exertion, the blue have been sleeping, and not observing the fearful out of its place and natural course, which it should appeared above them, and the fragrant air ness and distress of the poor mariners, while, in hold towards the Glorious God, as the rivers do to ed them with delight. Thank God! they were danger, almost ready to give up the ship as lost, the sea; and this usurpation, as it is a kind of re-Is not his gracious voice being heard, saying, "It bellion against God, so it inverts and disorders the But what an appearance did they present! is I, be not afraid," in answer to the cry which true and just natural course of things; and there-the findes banded their ladges, they com-adversity, wherein the church was more closely institual congruity, must needs make the condition is ded the irrole of their friends, who had suffer unto another, in the fellowship of suffering; symtan anxiety almost as painful as their own territan anxiety almost as painful as their own territan and affliction on Truth's account; seeking to proper the cached, where tearful faces welcomed them, mote one another's strength and comfort, and the its place, it becomes troublesome and disorderly; the neral being all lower, and the occasion for lower and white the control of the

might be weaned from outward dependence, and How comforting and encouraging, to the rightly made to rely solely on the Divine arm of power,

t the end of that time he came back with the re- is seeking to draw us unto us unto himself accordort that he had reached the surface with great difing to his gracious promise, that if he be lifted up, accompanied with refreshing from his holy presence, as in earlier days, before a worldly and a dividing ungerous condition. Time had rotted away the And may we not believe that, however great the spirit found entrance amongst us, separating us there moments, would be considered inpossible.

The air-shaft was less than two feet in diameter, tion, to "bear one another's burdens, and so fulfil gree, as in the churches formerly, so that we "can d rose to a height of nearly six hundred feet. In the law of Christ," the stronger bearing the inbear and have patience," and for the blessed name and cause's twas perpendicular, and in others it firmities of the weaker.

scarried up at an angle. The dampness of years

That there are individuals, as well as bodies, eye to the promised recompense of reward. He

Selected for "The Friend."

How beautiful and proper a trait is that of true

"Glory is out of its place, when it is not reward, now dragging themselves over decayed are behind, and pressing forward towards the mark, It is the natural, as well as the reasonable tribute of all His creatures, and a kind of proper reflecwes through spaces where it seemed almost im- May we not believe, that the Lord is graciously tion of the bounty and splendor of all His works m head to foot they were covered with mud has arisen from many hearts, "Lord, save or we fore, as the proud man herein walks contrary to fifth. Their clothes were in tatters, and their perish?"

The degree of outward case and prosperity enhonour me, I will homour; they that despise me, cended, and they were three miles away from joyed by Friends for many years, seems to have shall be lightly esteemed. (1 Sam. ii. 30.) And as ue, in the midst of a wilderness. But the great-proved too strong a test of our fidelity, and a much this is a most reasonable act of Divine justice, so a dauger was passed, and with a cheerfulness more unfavourable one than the days of outward there are two things, that, even upon an account of ch almost banished their fatigue, they com- adversity, wherein the church was more closely natural congruity, must needs make the condition

, the peril being all over, and the occasion for love and unity which must ever subsist among the like a bone out of joint, it causes discomposure. plasm passed, feminine delicacy resumed its disciples of Christ-among the members of the When, therefore, the proud man arrogates to himy, and those who had borne so much and so body, of which he is the exalted and adorable self glory, and intercepts its free return to the God y, sank into a swoon.—Philadelphia Press.

Head. May it not, therefore, have been permitted, of glory, to whom it belongs, glory is out of its that we should be tempted and troubled with severe place, and disorders and discomposeth the usurper trials and difficulties from within, in order that we of it, so that he grows sick of it, sometimes to ligh buildings require firm foundations.

the honour and glory which he usurps and attracts and that many of those who at one time were inthe honour and grow white ne usurps and actuated state and the state of the state o

But, on the contrary, the humble man hath these two opposite advantages:

it belongs, to its proper centre and country, namely, way; and to employ whatever influence we might to the ever-glorious God, and that ocean of goodto the ever-gorious rou, and was occasing the second resistance of the fearful assaults now mines on the grant, forbidding them to pay any mogives the man ease and quietness and composure successful resistance of the fearful assaults now mines on his grant, forbidding them to pay any mogives the man ease and quietness and composure successful resistance of the fearful assaults now mines on his grant, forbidding them to pay any mogives the man ease and quietness and composure successful resistance of the fearful assaults now mines on his grant, forbidding them to pay any mogives the man ease and quietness and composure successful resistance of the fearful assaults now mines on his grant, forbidding them to pay any mogives the man ease and quietness and composure successful resistance. gives the man ease and the state law, taxing foreign mind, for he doth not intercept the tribute that making by the spirit of the world, on the princillicense tax under the State law, taxing foreign mind for mind, for he doth not intercept the tribute that is due to his Maker, but pays it over to the right ples and practices of Friends as held by them from to him, and the State has no control over the disp owner. If he doth any good, noble, or becoming the beginning. action, he cheeks the first motion of pride and ostentation in himself, and receives not the applause of others, but directs all the praise and been heretofore afforded, and will be willing to inglory of it to that God who hath done it by him, terest themselves to extend the number of our subor in him, or for him. Not unto us, but to thy scribers among their friends and acquaintances. name give the glory. And this gives him singular quietness, serenity, and evenness of mind, because he is not surcharged with that which does not belong to him, nor under those tortures and boilings of mind which this tribute due to this Maker, raiseth, when usurped by man, to whom it belong-

2. By this humility and lowliness of mind, the soul is empty, not of what it should have, but of what it should not have; and by that means be- solution was agreed to.

To mention anything that is sacred with levity, is a certain mark of a deprayed heart, and weak understanding. A witty sneer or sarcasm, on such subjects, is a species of sacrilege, and shocks all the sensible and better parts of mankind.

THE FRIEND.

NINTH MONTH 8, 1860.

The present number commences the thirty-fourth volume of "The Friend," and we feel that at this advanced age, there need but little be said to its readers, in reference to its objects and character, as a religious and miscellaneous periodical. Through-out the whole course of its existence, the contri-butors to "The Friend" have laboured earnestly!! It is stated, that equa-lity in civil and political matters is to be proclaimed for but or to "The Friend" have laboured earnestly all Austrian subjects of whatever creed, on the anniverand conscientiously to defend and to promulgate sary of the Empeor's birth.

Advices from Constantinople to the 8th, state that and Saviour Jesus Christ, as understood and held by the Society of Friends; and to supply to our subscribers, both older and younger, a variety of Seventh month, the commotion had not subsided. Large instructive and interesting reading. While feeling hodies of fanatics were parading the streets, demanding ourselves bound to expose and to oppose the differ-the Christians who had sought refige in the cliedel. ent unsound sentiments, and inconsistent practices that have been, and still are being introduced into faiffirent parts of our religious Society, we have been solicitous to inculcate true christian charity, leave that have been solicitous to inculcate true christian charity, leave with a few of his cavalry. The rest of his ent unsound sentiments, and inconsistent practices been solicitous to inculcate true christian charity, and to draw all those who are sincerely attached to the doctrines and testimonies given to Friends, to maintain before the world, into unity and a harmonious labour for the defence of the gospel; and the support of the order and discipline instituted by the blessed Head of the church, for its operate as soon as his schemes were matured. preservation and edification.

that "The Friend" continues to meet the wants 2. The proud man is so full of himself, and of and wishes of a large body of true-hearted Friends; and which we could not defend or support, are 1850, it was about 20,000. now convinced that it was more prudent, and more conservative of the best interests of our beloved 1. He carries glory and honour to Him, to whom Society, steadily to pursue the even tenor of our society, seasuly to pursue the even tenor of our way; and to employ whatever influence we might exert, in efforts to remove those obstructions to ments of wheat were for Australia.—Col. Fremont in give us the support and encouragement which have

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

EUROPE .- News from England to the 23d ult.

raisett, when usuaped by main, who we was much needed.

substitute was much needed.

I the House of Commons, Gladstone moved for an pride, self-conceit and vain glory, that is capable of satisfaction with the Divine Goodness.

On the House of Commons, Gladstone moved for an additional vote of £2,000,000 for government requirements, by way of exchequer bills. He said this increase in the estimates was attributable to the prospects of the harvest, which, if bad, would entail additional expenditure on the government. After some opposition, the re-

The weather in France continued very variable, with P. M., R. I., for Luke Aldrich, $8, to 52, vol. 34. much rain.

It was stated, that the French government had sold to Sardinia, at a reduced rate, 50,000 rifles and a number of heavy guns, with powder and amunition, and that a further quantity would also be supplied.

The war preparations of Sardinia continued with much activity. The fortifications of Bologna have been placed in a formidable state, and Placentia, which Austria evacuated, is now a Sardinian stronghold.

Several corps of Garibaldi's forces had been landed in Calabria, where it is reported the inhabitants were in open revolt against the King of Naples, and in favour of Garibaldi. The revolutionists are said to have met with some successes. Two companies of Neapolitan dragoons had joined the insurgents. The preparations for the defence of Naples were continued. The city remained tranquil. Two thousand volunteers had been recruited in Greece for Garibaldi.

twenty churches and two convents were burnt at Balbec during the recent disturbances, and a great multitude of Christians destroyed. At Damascus, on the 27th of bodies of fanatics were parading the streets, demanding MEXICO .- The latest advices from this wretched couuarmy were nearly all either killed or made prisoners.

CENTRAL AMERICA .- The notorious Walker, with party of desperate men, having, by an unexpected move-ment, taken Truxillo, in Honduras, great excitement has been caused in that State, and the adjacent one of Nicaragua, upon which it was supposed he designed to madness, but always to distemper and discompo- ture efforts; and we are encouraged by the belief, demands for the fall trade, the rate of interest has ad vanced 1 a 1½ per cent.

Philadelphia.—Mortality last week, 240.

Census Returns .- By the census just taken, San Fran

California .- By the overland route, San Francisc dates to Eighth mo. 22d have been received. A largexport of wheat was going on at $1.50 a $1.52 per 10 issued a notice to the Chinese, who are working the go e beginning.

We trust that Friends generally, will continue to the the owners of land under our government are all the owners of land under our government are all the owners of the minerals, gold and silver contained. the soil. A question never yet determined by the S preme Court of the United States.

Oregon .- The dates are to Eighth month 15th. T farmers were cutting by far the largest and best crop wheat ever grown in the State. Rich gold mines h been discovered at Walla-Walla, and of course a ru had commenced to the new diggings.

The Virginia Canals.—The James river and Kanaw The wheat harvest had commenced in the south of England, and the crops were reported good. The west they however, continued wet and unsettled, and warm sunchine was much needed.

In the House of Commons, Gladstone moved for an additional voto of £2,000,000 for government requirethe Ohio river in eight years.

RECEIPTS.

Received from Willis R. Smith, O., $3, to 52, vol. received from Whits R. Smith, O., $5, 10 32, vol. from Jesses John, O., $2, vol. 33; from Ann Kaig N. J., $2, vol. 33; from Wm. S. Kirk, per N. K., Pa., vol. 34; from Barton Dean, O., $3, to 52, vol. 34, and what it should not have; and by what heads so both the should not have; and by what heads so both the should not have; and by what heads so both the should not have; and by what heads so both the should not have; and by what heads so both the should not have; and by what heads so both the should not have; and be should not have should not h

WEST-TOWN BOARDING SCHOOL.

The Winter session of the School will commence Second-day, the 5th of Eleventh month. Parents : others intending to enter their children as pupils, please make early application to DAVID ROBEATS, Sulintendent at the School, or JOSEPH SCATTERGOOD, To surer, No. 304, Arch street, Philadelphia.

West-Town, Ninth mo. 4th, 1860.

EVENING SCHOOLS FOR ADULT COLOURE! PERSONS.

Principal and Assistant Teachers are wanted for the schools, male and female.

The schools will open, Tenth month 1st, and conti five months; five school evenings per week.

Apply to John C. Allen, 321 N. Front street, or S. Firth street; William Evans, Jr., 252 S. Front st or Samuel Allen, 524 Pine street.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted as Teacher of Reading in the I department of this Institution. Apply to JAMES EMLEN, West Chester, Chester Co., Ps.

ALFRED COPE, Germantown, Pa. Sixth mo. 6th, 1860.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

. A Friend is wanted to fill the station of Govern-the Boys' department of this Institution. Application may be made to NATHAN SHA

cord, Pa.; Samuel Hilles, Wilmington, Del.; J Emlen, West Chester, Pa.; or Thomas Evans, Phil

DIED, at West Chester, Pa., on the 19th of Sixth URITED STATES.—New York.—Mortality last week, MARTIAS, relief to the late of New York.—Mortality last week, Our past performances must speak for our full in the worth heavy exports of species, together with the ber of Rahway and Flainfield Monthly Meeting.

THE RRIEND.

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, NINTH MONTH 15, 1860.

NO. 2.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

Price Two Dollars per aunum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by

JOHN RICHARDSON,

AT NO. II6 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

Postage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three onths, if paid in advance, three and a quarter cents; any part of the United States, for three months, if id in advance, six and a-half cents.

African Exploration.

The half century which has elapsed since the eath of Mungo Park, the pioneer of modern exoration in Africa, has been rich in men who have uvial land, whose exhalations breed one of the searches. ws of commerce: south of the equator the lines our knowledge of northern Africa. trade established by the early Portuguese ad-lect. Enriched by this useful learning, and provided with proper instruments, he entered in May, for the lakes, intending to complete the researches 1859, upon a thorough scientific exploration of the desert of Sahara. He proposes to measure the as far into the interior as circumstances should heights and distances, the oases and gorges, of that permit. sandy and sterile waste, to collect specimens of its physical geography and ethnology. At the last guishes the attempt of Albert Roseher. A native accounts he had reached a point two hundred and of Hamburg and very young, his fondness for urted danger, and often suffered death, in efforts the astronomical bearings of a number of localities. ple of his countrymen, Barth, Vogel and Overweg, Not long after the departure of Duveyrier from the all of whom have risked, and two of whom have ble-lands of that singular continent. But never capital of Algeria, Baron Krafft, a German, travel-sacrificed their lives in extending the boundaries we these efforts been so numerous and so fall of ling in the garb of a Mussulman, and under the of science. Want of wealth scened to him no incage of success, as at the present moment. It Arabic name of Hadj Skander, left Tripoli for surmountable obstacle, and, after a tedious joursomewhat remarkable, that while the progress of Timbuctoo, the entrept of North African trade, ney, he landed at Zanzihar, in September, 1858. e world has peopled America, has colonized Aus. Krafit carried with him a boat, by means of which His first design was to visit Kilmandjaro, "moments and the second alia and New Zealand, has subdued India, has be hopes to descend the Niger from Timbuctoo to arch of African mountains," in order to settle the tablished a lucrative trade with the remotest naus of the East, and has mapped the ice-bound man, M'Carthy, who still lingers to complete his summit, ascribed by some to snow, and by others arrangements in Algiers, is very similar to that to a kind of glittering stone. But he subsequently of one of the great divisions of the globe laid down by Krafft. He will endeavour to cross changed his plans, and resolved to turn his footould have remained inaccessible and unknown, north-western Africa, by way of Timbuetoo, from steps towards Nyassa, a lake of great size, and the causes of this isolation of Africa are to be the Gallic colonics on the Mediterranean to the perhaps a continuation of the most southern of the peculiar geographical formation, and Gallic colonics on the Atlantic. The governor of Speke's inland seas. He now experienced a peculiar character of the races which inha-The vast central plateau which forms the along the upper Senegal, to inform them of the ex- ble fever. But sickness failed, as poverty had done, dy of the continent, is surrounded upon two of pected arrival of a stranger from the north, and to to subdue his unconquerable spirit. Provided with triangular sides, by a broad belt of marshy, ask their assistance in the prosecution of his re-means by the generosity of a Hamburg merchant ost fatal of febrile diseases. Against this African In addition to all this, Egypt is to be the basis very teeble, for the south; and, following the line re medical science, until within a few years, has of some interesting operations during the present of the coast, reached Quilon, having examined assellingly attempted to protect the constitutions year. Guillaume Lejean, whose reputation as a on his way the lower waters of the Sufidji, a fine some proceeding inward from every point of the companies of the proceeding inward from every point of the companies of the co Africa its old impenetrable mystery. The por- from the imperial government authorize him to in which he encountered them plainly evinced his s which have been kept closed through all the push on to the long sought for sources of the anticles for the task he has undertaken. He left toric ages, by the repulsive inhospitality of man, are yielding conditions. He is likely to have for a Quilon with a native caravan, bound for Nyassa, e., and the savage barbarity of man, are yielding conditions, the British const at on the 25th of August, 1859. The leader of the the enterprise, the greed of trade, and the missing the promises, provided his government caravan, who has since returned to the coast, renary zeal of the nineteenth century. In Saharan shall consent, to go and meet Captain Speke, who, ports that Roscher had found the noble sheet, I Milotic Africa, the scientific labources of Euadopting an opposite course, purposes descending which was the object of his search, more than three have already passed far beyond the southers—the river from its head. The endeavours of these handred miles from the sea, and though carried in straces of Roman exploration; in the cast, an visuous travellers and the rapid growth of the a litter most of the way, his fever, under the healensive system of lakes has been discovered, trans-Mediterranean colonial possessions of France, ing influence of the breeze from the lake and hills, ose water will soon foam around the peaceful will result in speedy and important acquisitions to was rapidly leaving him. All who love science, sturers now lie within the domain surveyed by activity prevails. Captain Speke, to whom, and to more precise information from the intrepid young zealous travellers and fearless hunters of the Captain Burton, the world is indebted for the distraveller. t decade; while in western Africa steamers are covery of the two great lakes of Nyanza and Tan-

Some years ago Henri Duveyrier, a young and world, that one of the new found bodies of water, well educated Frenchman, began to feel an interest the Nyanza, is the fountain of the Nile; and he in African research. With an ardent enthusiasm, will attempt to make his way from the lake down tempered by unusual patience and perseverance, he the river to Egypt, meeting Lejean and Petherick set about preparing himself for an extended survey as they come from the north. Preceding Speke by of northern Africa. In France, in Germany, and some months, is an important expedition, fitted out finally in Algiers, he visited the best informed men, by the Geographical Society of Bombay, under the stored his mind with the results of their experience leadership of its secretary, - Kenelly, an exceland study, and made his tongue familiar with the lent astronomer, and accompanied by an excellent accents of the vulgar Arabic and the Berber dia- physicist. Entering Africa at Zanzibar, in the last

But both the English and Indian expeditions geology, zoology and botany, and to report upon its lack that glow of personal interest which distinfifty miles south of Algiers, and had determined knowledge induced a desire to imitate the examresident in Zanzibar, he started on foot, and still and admire a self-denying devotion to its pursuit. In the eastern portion of the continent, a similar must await, with an auxious interest, further and by the chief geographical authorities of the old eru shores of Nyasa, untrodden until to-day by panse. Entering the Zambesi, which, after cross- will remain unsolved !- The World. ing the continent, pours its massy volume of water Madagasear, Livingstone steamed up its chief tri-butary, the Shire, to its cataracts, thence accom-and the benefits it confers, as of little more value thick darkness overspread the mind. Fear and plished apedestrian journey of two hundred and fifty than a mess of pottage, should look back at the miles to its sources in Nyassa, discovered another errors, out of which their forefathers were released Lord's righteous judgment appearing to be come body of fresh water, sixty miles by thirty in ex-by the illuminations of the power of Truth mani-tent, called Shirwa, and established friendly rela-fested in their hearts, and at the seasons of hea-mained in agony, expecting the earth would be tions with the tribes along his whole route. Be-venly consolation they were blessed with, as they dissolved, the elements would melt with ferven tween the Shirwa and Nyassa, he climbed to the submitted to its humbling influence upon them. top of a lordly mountain, named Zomba, and disthe shining peak of Kilmandjaro.

In the meantime, furnished with a well freighted ing up the branches of that great river whose ganyika, in the equatorial regions, left England left bed stretches from the desert to the line, last spring for the seene of his former signal sue-land persistent Livingstone has been at work in the whose course was until recently a fertile subtoff of dispute among geographers.

He asserts, and the assertion is supported South Africa, and already stands upon the souther of dispute among geographers.

the neighbourhood of the Kunene stream; the Ivantula, having its origin in the overflow of the by the course of education, into which his father though it may not always be immediately appropriately river Kakuluval; and finally, the great inland sea introduced him, not only operated unfavorably to bended by such as are preserved by it. I we of Mouva, or Gyiva, which stretches away to the a life of self-denial, but led him into practices which educated in the way of the national church, yet north from the country of Kazembe-tambalambe, he afterwards condemned and relinquished. "In had no aversion to any class professing the chri and which may be identical with the Nyassa.

which looks to the west. The details of Du Chaillu's tages in matters of religion, as I was then circum- Friends' meeting in the county of Cumberlan bold explorations among the equatorial mountains stanced. For my father, intending me for the where I applied my mind with as much diligen are yet to be published, but the late visit of Bassidy of the law, which was esteemed a gentled as I could, to examine what I could discern in the tian to the accient city of St. Domingo, the capital profession, he first sent me to the fencing school, way. I observed they were very grave, serior tall of Congo, is full of matter interesting to the las a fashionable and manly accomplishment. Here antiquary and the ethnologist. The governor of I became a considerable proficient in a short time, gather little, at that time, either from their mann Senegambia has established a geographical comby which my mind was greatly drawn out, and too or dectrine; only I took them to be an house massion, charged with the labour of surveying and unch alienated from those beginnings of solitude mapping the whole Senegal country. This combound has been something also acquired some mission does not confine itself to the French possibility in the special country. The something is a second of the special country, and had chambers in Carlis sessions, but has just despatched two expeditions to acquaintance and society not profitable to religion; I went diligently to the public worship, especial to the country, and had chambers in Carlis the interior. But the Niver is the second of the leady I went diligently to the public worship, especial to the public worship. the interior. But the Niger is the scene of the though I was hitherto preserved from such things, to the cathedral, where, in time of public prays the interior present activity in the west. The Niger as are generally accounted evils among mankind, as soon as the creed called the Apostles' creed, it expedition, under the command of W. B. Baikie, After this, I was put to the study of the law under gan to be said, we all used to turn our faces and the command of the com sailed from England more than two years since, a counsollor in the country, thereby to be initiated, wards the east; and when the word Jesus we but overcome by misfortune, left the wreck of its with the design to be entered afterwards into one mentioned, we all kneeled towards the altar-tab but overcome by misorume, left the wreck of its with the design to be entered atterwards into one mentioned, we all it, where stood two common prays teamboat upon the hidden rocks of the river, of the inns of court, to make further progress and as they call it, where stood two common prays horar Rabba. A second has been sent out by the to finish there. But being much in the country, because the british admiralty, and at the latest dates was awaiting a favourable season to ascend the Benue, the most moderate sort of Presbyterians, I had painted on the wall, I. H. S. signifying Jer that bright of the Nicer which experience, has begin the adventage of estimate and little company.

As I was concerned to inquire more a that branch of the Niger which experience has again the advantage of solitude and little company, kind. As I was concerned to inquire more a

Itid down, the relative position of the great chain by dreams, signs, prophecy, and at other times by be very uneasy with it, and though I went ther boundless internal sea, and does not dream that on the elevated plateau ascended and measured.................all in his own experience. While he was secretly its eastern side, nearly four hundred miles to the of which, if unforseen disaster do not intervene, will looking towards the Lord, and desiring the knownorth, the heroic Roscher is at the same time gaz- be accomplished within a score of months-and ledge of his ways, he had a dream, of which he ing at its waves, and wondering at its broad ex- how small a portion of the great African problem gives us no interpretation, but which would appear

For "The Friend."

covered a curious white lichen, which at a dis-strength of mind, and from his education in the time resembles snow or marble, and accounts for church of England must have been prepossessed the earth, when immediately, though all hope wa in favour of its faith, and yet by the secret opera- gone, the sun arose as in the strength of summer In the more central regions of the south, Antion of the Spirit of Truth, he had doubts raised and all his fears vanished. He was then intro dersson, the Swede, and Ladislas Magyar, the of the scriptural soundness of some points of its duced into a verdant valley, as he thought, over Hungarian, are gradually pushing the limits of the scriptural soundness of some points of its run with fragrant flowers, where he saw your the known district, towards the equator. The for- fore he joined Friends. It does not appear that mer, in his exploration of the Kunene, had gone those doubts arose from the mere exercise of his and perfection, like innocent children; their coun from the Ondonga to a point on the Tioge, in about reason, or from any desire to be singular among tenances bespeaking a sense of deliverance from 16 deg. 30 min. south lat., and 18 deg. cast long., men, but from the light of Christ detecting those the corruption that had fallen upon them; and be where the party were attacked by fever, and the errors, and leading him out of them. He says, leader was compelled to send his servant, Percira, "I have a solid evidence to believe, that the Lord return of the glorious Light, they all rejoiced to back to the missionary station of Otjimbingue for in his great mercy and kindness, had an eye upon gether in unspeakable love. means and assistance. They were encamped among me for my good, even in my infancy, inclining my

It is probable he regarded the termination to a people styled the Ovakuangari, comprising some heart to seek after Him in my tender years. From ten thousand souls, and living totally beyond the hence I may reasonably conclude, arose that early when brought out of darkness into the marvellot territory traversed by the hardy bushmen. Ladislas inclination I had to solitude; where I sometimes Magyar has visited or ascertained the existence of had religious thoughts, and frequently read in the London with the counsellor at law, he says, "B d which may be identical with the Nyassa.

this state," he remarks, "my mind suffered many tian name; occasionally I heard several sorts, b

Less active, for the moment, are the scientific flowings and obbings, and as I grew up towards a did not fully approve any sect in all things, as operations along that long line of the African coast young man, I found myself under great disadvan considered them closely. I was occasionally at

European feet. Looking before him, he sees a of lakes ascertained, the mountains which fringe immediate revelution, which in degree he realized when the Lord began to work, all secondary lights he thought, were thrown into confusion and ob-Thomas Story was a person of extraordinary bis works. In this state he thought that he re strength of mind, and from his education in the signed all to Him, who shaketh the heavens an

It is probable he regarded the termination (light of the Lord. Having several times visite The disadvantages, under which he was placed influence of divine grace, which supersedes then that branch of the Niger which experience has again the advantage of solitude and little company, kind. As I was concerned to inquire more a combinationally proved to be the most suitable for and that innocent, so that my mind returned to its more after the truth of religion, the manner navigation. Far in the interfer, Barth reached his former state, and further search after the Truth. It most southerly point, on the banks of the Benne, and found it, at an immense distance from its mouth, of great depth and breadth.

The sources of the Nile attained, and the causes the observes that the Lord in mercy to save the office of its wonderful periodical overflow satisfactorily soul, hath in time past, as we may see in Holy laid down, the relative position of the great chain by dreams, sirron, prophear, and at other times by be very uneasy with it, and though I went ther ecremonics, which, being noticed, in a familiar conference with an acquaintance, I asked pleasantly, the art is that is that we worship towards the east? and your hearts, if they understand it; pulled up from the artificial banks, covered with why towards the altar, more than any other place, overlasting comfort.—W. Penn to his Children.

The person replied, Sure you are not so ignorant as you would make yourself seem. The Scripture says, 'At the name | The enormous and increasing consumption of oys one by one relieved of all the oysters reckoned of Jesus every knee shall bow, of things in heaters, may well awaken in the minds of the lovers of marketable, and then replaced. At other times, east, and shineth even unto the west, so shall also in regard to the salmon and other valuable species tors were worshippers of the sun and all the host sened energy of the reproductive power of the oysof heaven; and this looked very like that, and ters, but from the thoughtless greed of man, who could not certainly be grounded on that Scripture, destroys them by millions while they are multiwhich I cannot understand to signify any other, plying, or before they have attained maturity. Does than the gradual manifestation of the power and science indicate the means of repairing this wanton glory of Christ in the world. But if he should mischief? literally come from the east in an outward sense, The oysters generally spawn from June to the end ductive seed had covered the different pieces; and which, considering the revolutions of the earth, its of September, and do not leave their ova like many cables, indicated on the surface by a buoy, might relation to the sun and other planets, cannot be in other marine creatures. They incubate them on the permit them to be drawn up when it was judged the nature of things, that being west to one place folds of their coverlet, (mantle,) and among the convenient. which is east to another; yet that coming would lamine of the bronchie, (lungs.) There they remain ing. As to bowing at the name of Jesus, I under- which they may attach themselves. stand it to be in the nature of a prediction, that in which I thought all Protestants had been the smothered in the mud. roughly reformed. This a little surprised my acdancing, music and other recreations of the like account. This is understood at Lake Tusaro (be-than their ancient prosperity sort, little notice was taken for a while."

living God, that you carefully beware of all such: season.

These stakes and enclosures are arranged for demonstrated to be successful?—Ledger. and increase in gifts, graces, power and lustre, for of which it consists grows so rapidly that in two or and little."

little longer, I could not comply with several of the it is the last and unchangeable one: and blessed three years it become edible. In the work of M.

Oyster Culture.

ven, and things in earth, and things under the the bivalves a well grounded apprehension that ere earth.' And 'as the lightning cometh out of the long the demand will exceed the supply. Experience the coming of the Son of man be.

"To the first I returned, That our pagan ances sion. The failure will not result from the less ed, as at Tusaro:

tween Cumæ and Cape Misenum,) a mud-bottomed, volcanic, black, salt lake-the veritable Acheron a thorough test of his theory it appears, by a bril-God is and will be with his People.—Above all things, my dear children, as to your communion talknown period, been occupied by speaker, guided by science, can create in the bosom and fellowship with Friends, be careful to keep the unity of the faith in the bond of peace. Have ther. These stones are imitations of rocks, which a care of reflectors, detractors and backbiters, who are covered with oysters from Tarentum, so that undervalue and undermine brethren behind their each of them forms an artificial bank. Round in September, and recommends that it be delayed backs, or slight the good and wholesome order of each of these artificial rocks, generally of the diamtill February or March; because, he argues, though Truth, for preserving things quiet, sweet and honourable, in the church. Have a care of novelties, and airy changeable people, the conceited, where the oysters are. These stakes are a little ties, and airy changeable people, the conceited, where the oysters are. These stakes are a little thus makes have of fields in full germination, like censorious and puffed up; who at last have alabove the surface of the water, so that they can be ways shown themselves to be clouds without rain, easily laid hold of and removed when this is desi-and wells without water; who will rather disturb rable. There are also other stakes arranged in and break the peace and fellowship of the church, long rows, and bound together by a cord by which where they dwell, than not have their wills and are suspended small twigs destined to increase the force upon this side of the Atlantic, and the availways take place. I charge you in the fear of the number of moveable pieces awaiting the gathering have no fellowship with them; but to advise, ex- the purpose of arresting this generative dust, and hort, entreat and finally reprove them. Eph. v. 11. supplying it with points of attachment, just as a rived, the stakes and branches are pulled up, and The enormous and increasing consumption of oys- one by one relieved of all the oysters reckoned the oysters are detached by means of a hook with many branches, without removing the stakes.

To harvest oysters without destroying the young, the following process might be successfully follow-

Timber work, loaded with stones at the base, might be made of many pieces, covered with stakes firmly attached, and armed with iron cramps, &c. Then, at the spawning season, these apparata could be let down into the sea, either upon or around the oyster beds; they might be left there till the repro-

M. Coste says that, of from one to two millions not excuse our superstition, if not idolatry, in the surrounded by mucous matter, necessary to their of young oysters produced by an oyster, only from meantime before he so come; though I grant, if he development, and within which they pass through ten to twelve remain attached to the shells of their should so come, and we see him, then, and not till the embryo state. On leaving the mother, they have mother. How shall these swarming mollusks be then, may we lawfully and reasonably worship a swimming apparatus, by which they are enabled fixed on the bottom of the sea, instead of being towards the place, or imaginary place of his com- to move to a distance in search of solid bodies, to scattered on the waves? We have only to deposit, on sheltered banks, hurdles and stakes still retaining The oyster is said to produce not less than from their bark, kept at the bottom by weights, and laid the fulness of time all powers in heaven and earth one to two millions of young, so that the animated flat, so as not to interfere with navigation. The shall be subjected and brought under the power of matter escaping from all the adults on a breeding progeny of the dysters, placed below these, will rise, Christ, as the next verse imports, which is explana bank is like a thick mist dispersing from the central like a cloud of animated dust, through the branches tory of the former, viz., that every tongue shall spot from which it emanates, and so scattered by and the embryos, and will encrust every part of the confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of the waves, that only an imperceptible portion reGod the Father.' Agreeing also with what the mains near the parent stock; all the rest is dissilarge in heaven and in earth.' And, therefore, this malcules, borne about by the waves, do not meet heaven and in earth.' And, therefore, this malcules, borne about by the waves, do not meet by the drag like the sed of the sower in the ground, bowing towards a cipher of the words, Jesus the with solid bodies to which they may attach them.

Saviour painted upon a wall, whilst the heart and selves, their destruction is certain; for those which have a simple will small the waves, and the embryos, and will encrust every part of the apparatus. After remaining on it for a certain period, the young shell fish will spontaneously be delord Jesus himself saith, 'All power is given unto part of the source of the source of the superatus. After remaining on it for a certain period, the young shell fish will spontaneously be depaparatus. After remaining on it for a certain period, the young shell fish will spontaneously be depaparatus. After remaining on it for a certain period, the young shell fish will spontaneously be depaparatus. After remaining on it for a certain period, the young shell fish will spontaneously be depaparatus. After remaining on it for a certain period, the young shell fish will spontaneously be depaparatus. After remaining on it for a certain period, the young shell fish will spontaneously be depaparatus. After remaining on it for a certain period, the young shell fish will spontaneously be depaparatus. After remaining on it for a certain period, the young shell fish will spontaneously be depaparatus. After remaining on it for a certain period.

The proper of the words and the embryos, and at the embryos, and at the embryos, and at the embryos, and the embr spirit of a man is not subjected to the power of do not become the prey of the lower animals will supply the very moderate expenditure to be inhis grace, is but a mockery of Christ, a relic of living on the infusoria, fall at last into some place curred, the whole coast of France shall be converted popery, and hath some show of idolatry in it, from unsuitable to their development, and are frequently linto a long chain of cyster-banks, interrupted only in those places where there is an accumulation of The time may come when we shall depend for mud. Oysters shall swarm on every rock from quaintance at first, coming from one, in whom so our supply of oysters upon the labours of the scien- Dieppe to Havre, from Havre to Cherbourg, from little of the work of religion appeared outwardly; tific naturalist, who is acquainted with the laws of Cherbourg to the depopulated banks of La Robut as I remained in the diversions of fencing, generation in fishes, and is able to turn them to chelle; and other famed localities shall resume more

By the second report of M. Coste, made after

M. Coste protests against beginning oysters fishing

March the greater part of the young oysters will be detached.

Why may not the theory of Coste have equal able portion of our line of sea coast be devoted to the cultivation of oysters by a mode which has been

We are surprised at the fall of a high professor; For God is and will be with his people in this holy swarm of bees settle in the bushes which they meet but, in the sight of God, he was gone before; it is dispensation which we are now under, and which with, on their exit from the hive. It does, in fact, only we that have now discovered it. "He that is amongst us, unto the end of days: it shall grow become fixed; and each of the animated particles despiseth the day of small things shall fall by little For "The Friend."

Blographical Sketches Of Ministers and Elders and other concerned members

of the Yearly Meeting of Philadelphia. (Continued from page 4.)

THE JORDAN FAMILY .- JOSEPH JORDAN.

rial says, "It pleased the propitious Goodness to in this world. I say you will be able, from your nistry of the gospel of Christ.

He had an excellent gift, and waiting in fervent lieved."

exercise upon the Lord, his alone Qualifier for ser
So ha vice, he became a workman who needed not to be of different denominations. "Many have been the short systems of divinity which he declared in truly the tongue of the learned. He was "both correct and concise in speaking the word in season, he went to Europe on a religious visit, which occupied him more than three years. In that time The New Light-house on Minot's Ledge.—This a gum, completed the grinding fixtures. The bolt-he laboured in most parts of England, in Ireland, structure, which has just been completed, is empha-ling chest was about six feet long, two and a half and some places in Holland. His memorial says, tically the Eddystone of America. The time for wide, and four feet high, made of live wood punch-"At his return, which was attended with peace, he its construction has been necessarily extended, found his presence necessary, even in a temporal lowing to the very exposed situation of the rock on respect, for upon the death of his aged father, which is a built, which made it impossible in prossible the door. There was not one ounce of iron about the [Eighth mo. 3d, 1728,] he was constituted father workmen to pursue their labours continuously. of the family, his brother Robert being then absent, Sometimes in an entire year, the hours of actual on one end, made of wood-the shaft, ribs, and which trust he discharged with good judgment and labour performed were very few. It is said, that arms made of the same material; and the clot moderation. He was a steady friend, a kind neighbour, and good economist. He often intimated the work to Capt. B. S. Alexander, corps of encapacity must have been about as one to a thou although very feeble in body, he attended the are constantly above water. Heretofore these rocks

Quarterly Meeting to which he belonged, and at have proved very dangerous to vessels on the his return expressed the great satisfaction it had coast.

There is nothing that is able to appease the trough and the reconstantly above water. Heretofore these rocks ble of a wounded conscience, but the mercy of Got in Christ Jesus.

been to him, and said he believed it would be the last meeting of the kind he should ever be at. It distant. These rocks extend from three and a half proved to be according to his impression. He never left his home afterwards, except once to attend through them by which small vessels can, in fine a week-day meeting held hear his residence. The weather, pass. The water around the rocks is day before his death, to some young ministers, he quite deep, varying from five to six fathoms. said, "Mind your gifts, and the Lord will bless The work of building this light-house was com-Joseph Jordan, the third son of Robert Jordan, you, and you will be a blessing to the church. Be menced in the summer of 1855. There was forwas born in Nancemond county, Virginia, in the humble and obedient. Obedience brings sweet merly an iron pile light-house on the ledge, which year 1695. He was, says a memorial concerning peace. When you are at meeting together, if the was destroyed in a violent storm, in the fourth him, one of "the third generation who have walk- Lord should favour one of you with the word of life month, 1851. Its place has been temporarily suped in this dispensation of Truth;" his parents to preach in an extraordinary manner, let not either plied by a ship anchored on the ledge, which dis-and grand-parents having, through the Lord's of the rest murmur at it, or be discouraged, but plays two fixed lights, at an elevation of forty-five sustaining virtue, borne the cross of Christ, and rather [endeavour inwardly to] labour, [to assist] feet from the sea. There were 3514 tons of rough walked in the narrow way which leads to everlast- him or her, who is so favoured. It may be this is stone and 2357 tons of hammered stone used in ing life. He was of a sprightly turn of mind, of not thy time to speak. As thou keeps humbly the construction of the light-house, and as the build-an affable disposition, and of a pleasant, even tem waiting on the Lord, he will, in his own time, bring ling stands, it is composed of 1079 stones. waiting on the Lord, he will, in his own time, bring ing stands, it is composed of 1079 stones. thee forth in an eminent manner. So thou wilt The tower is round, and solid for some distance per, which made his company generally acceptable, thee forth in an eminent manner. So thou wilt and opened the way for his associating with many, esteemed of the better sort. But whilst he walked one degree to another. Be not very desirous of The following are the dimensions: esteemed of the better sort. But whilst he walked one degree to another. Be not very desirous of in his own will, and had not taken up the cross of speaking much at a time. Some who are small Christ, all his natural gifts and talents, which made in their beginning, the Lord makes mighty in his Height from the bottom of the lowest stone him popular amongst men, were but in his way as own time. I have a great desire there might be to the one thing needful, the salvation of his soul. a right ministry continued in the church. There About the year 1717, when he was twenty-two are many, not strictly of this fold, which in due Height of plane above mean high water years of age, Lydia Lancaster and Elizabeth Rawtime the Lord will bring in. As you come to have linson, ministers of the gospel from England, visitin experience of the work of Truth, in your own lineary, were made the instruments of good to hearts, you will be able to confute them, who him and his younger brother Robert. His memo- persuade themselves there is no living without sin be seen at a great distance. give him a signal call, which be, like Zaccheus, own experience, to confute them; then you will ingenuously made baste and with joy embraced, both the message and messenger of salvation." phet Daniel saw, cut out of the mountain, with Having, with all earnestness and with full purpose out hands, which was able to break in pieces all of heart, given up to the Divine visitation, he things contrary thereto. I am not in a condition rapidly grew in the Iruth, and very soon after, to speak much, neither is it, I hope, very need-both he and his brother received a gift in the mis-full. As you are taught of the Lord, you will have cause to rejoice in him in whom you have be-

So having completed his exhortations, and, as we believe, finished his short day's work, he, in much small poles, and covered with clap-boards. 'There ashamed. His manner was grave and modest, his resignation of mind, in the enjoyment of sweet was neither floor nor loft in it. The husk was made matter well adapted to those amongst whom he peace with the Lord, departed this life on the 26th of round logs built into the wall; the water or tub laboured, so that he had great place amongst men day of the First month, 1735, being forty years of apostolic language." Although he was not a the above Joseph, an extended biography has all and a thing they called a spindle in the upper end, scholar, as to human acquirements, yet had he ready appeared in these biographical sketches. Of Samuel Jordan, probably a younger brother, I find but little to record, save that he was eminent insomuch that sundry persons of note and good as a minister, and several times visited Friends in bad cut a buttonwood-tree that was hollow and that he should not continue long, wherefore he used gitners U. S. A., the superintendent of the sand, compared with the mills of the present age diligence to set his house in order. Some small struction. The light-house is built upon one of the time before his death, he visited the meetings of Chasset rocks, or Minot's Ledge, which lie eight relish bread baked from flour botted through Leons field them with his gift."

N. § W. from Scituate light. There are fifteen by the week hofee, his death. In the early part of the week before his death, large rocks comprising the group, and their heads

The nearest land is Scituate, which is three miles to top of pinnacle Height of focal plane above the lowest point 96 1

84 1 Diameter of third and first full course

For "The Friend." The following is a description, by the late Edward Bell, of Blair county, of the old continental flour-mill, still standing at Green and Company's forge on the Little Juniata, and the only one of eight, built prior to 1775, in the upper part of that beautiful and picturesque valley, now thickly in-habited. He says, it was a curious piece of machinery when I first saw it. The house was about twelve feet high, fourteen feet square, made of was neither floor nor loft in it. The husk was made wheel was some three feet in diameter, and splitboards, driven into the sides of the shaft, made the Of Robert Jordan, the second, the brother of buckets. The shaft had a gudgeon in the lower end, The stones were about two feet four or six inches in diameter, not thick, and in place of a hoop they He suffered persecution, but "being patient in tribulation, he had the joy of hope which affords content and solace of mind." In the year 1724, he wept to Europe on a religious religious to the wept to Europe on a religious religious to the same of the same large enough to admit the stones, and sawed or revolved. The meal trough, made out of a part of The New Light-house on Minot's Ledge. This a gum, completed the grinding fixtures. The bolt-

For "The Friend."

For "The Friend."

SILENT MEETINGS.

Shall I give way to a moment's mood, And speak the thoughts that have come to me, O God, and Father and King, I would That all our lives were nearer to thee, That we were nearer the only good, And the only peace that can ever be.

We are sinners, and sin is wrong, (Old and worn are the words I say,) We must all of us die ere long, And our souls must live in the night or day, Errors and dangers and temptings throng, And there may be need to watch and pray

Yet here I will own what our life has been,-We have scorned the world for its faith in form, Moored on a silent light within, That has kept our life from every storm, Till we hard'y counted that we could sin, Living at ease in our own reform.

We are happy, Father, we do not kneel, Poor nor naked, nor blind nor meek, With all the passion and peace we feet, All the fullness,-what shall we seek, Saving to thank thee, O thou reveal All that is sinful, and base, and weak.

And Lord, dear Lord, if our souls have strayed From the life, and the light of the christian course,-If the thankful words we have sometimes prayed, Be dark and aimtess, and have no force, O, teach us our need to be afraid-Humble our souls in a long remorse.

Take from us all that has made us sure, Let us feel our need of thee alt day long, Keep us loving, and make us pure, Pure from the silent human wrong. For we know that the world shall not endure, And the years of our trials shall not be long. Germantown, Eighth mo., 1860.

Selected.

TO AN EARLY PRIMROSE.

Mild offspring of a dark and sullen sire l Whose modest form, so delicately fine, Was nursed in whirling storms, And cradled in the winds.

Thee, when young Spring first questioned, And dared the sturdy blusterer to the fight, Thee on this bank he threw To mark his victory.

In this lone vale the primrose of the year, Serene thou openest to the nipping gale, Unnoticed and alone, Thy tender elegance.

So virtue blooms, brought forth amid the storms Of chilt adversity, in some lone walk Of life, she rears her head, Obscure and unobserved.

While every bleaching breeze that on her blows, Chasteos her spotless purity of brenst, And hardens her to bear Serene the ills of life. H. K. White.

Voracity of Ants .- Dionisio Carli, of Piacenza, North American Insects.

-and that all else, are but as filthy rags.

formerly apply myself to pray to the Lord, morning and evening, believing in my heart that it was His will I should do so. And this was my condition then: sometimes I felt the living spring open, and the true child breathe towards the Father; at ness, and only a speaking and striving of the natural part, which I even then felt was not acceptable to the Lord, nor did profit my soul; but, apprehending it to be a duty, I durst not but apply myself thereto. Since that time, since the Lord bath again been pleased to raise up what he had formerly begotten in me, and began to feed it by the pure giving forth of that breath of life which begat it, (which is the bread that comes down daily to it, as the Lord pleaseth freely to dispense it,) the Lord hath shown me that prayer is his gift to the child which he begets; and that it stands not in the will, or the time, or understanding, or affectionate part of the creature, but in his own begetting, which he first breathes upon, and then it breathes again towards him; and that he worketh this at his own pleasure, and no time can be set him when he shall breathe and when he shall not breathe, and that when he breathes, then is the time of prayer, then is the time of moving towards him, and following him who draws.

"So that all my times, and all my duties, and all my graces, and all my hopes, and all my refreshments, and all my ordinances, are in His hand who is the spring of my life, and conveys, preserves, and increases life of his own good pleasure.

"I freely confess, all my religion stands in waiting on the Lord, for the riches of his Spirit, and in returning back to the Lord, (by his own Spirit, and in the virtue of his own life,) that which he pleaseth to bestow on me. And I have no faith, uo hope, no love, no peace, no joy, no ability to anything, no refreshment in anything, but as I find his living breath beginning, his living breath continuing, his living breath answering, and performing what it cal's for-so that I am become exceeding poor and miserable, save in what the Lord pleaseth to be to me by his own free grace, and missionary, in Congo, Africa, was once sick in bed for his own name's sake, and in rich mercy. And while there, when his little pet ape suddenly jump- if I have tasted anything of the Lord's goodness, ed upon his head. He thought that some rats had sweeter than ordinary, my heart is willing, so far probably frightened the little animal, and tried to as he pleaseth, faithfully to point others to the tranquilize him, when several negroes shouted to same spring; and not discourage the least sim-end." him to get up, because the ants had entered the plicity and true desire after God in them. But house. He was then obliged to be carried into the when they have lost the true living Child, and the Lord, and to souls, I cannot but testify against 1688.

wherever I find it, as the Lord draweth forth my I think the excellencies of the following letter of spirit to bear its testimony. And this I know I. Pennington's, shine forth with unusual bright- from the Lord, to be the general state of professors ness, in contrast with the great restlessness and at this day; the spirit of the Lord is departed from man's own righteonsness of the present day: them, and they are joined to another spirit, as ponder well its meaning, weigh its spirit, watch thy deeply as ever the Jews were; and that their own heart, and turn inward and see if the teach- prayers, and reading of the Scriptures, and preachings of God's Holy Spirit are not the same now ing, and duties, and ordinances, are as loathsome that they were in 1678; and that all our devotional to the Lord, as ever the Jews' incense and sacriacts, of whatever kind, must spring immediately fiees were. And this is the word of the Lord confrom the fountain-head of all purity, to be availing cerning them-Ye must come out of your knowledge, into the feeling of an inward principle of life, "Because my not praying in my family, ac- if ever ye be restored to the trne unity with God, cording to the custom of professors, seemed to be and to the true enjoyment of him again. Ye must such a great stumbling to thee, it sprang up in my come out of the knowledge and wisdom ye have beart to render thee this account thereof. I did gathered from the Scriptures, into a feeling of the thing there written of, as it pleaseth the Lord to open and reveal them, in the hidden man of the heart. This is it ye are to wait for from the Lord; and not to boast of your present state, as if ye were not backslidden from him, and had not entered other times I felt a deadness, a dryness, a barren- into league with another spirit; which keeps up the image of what the Spirit of the Lord once formed in you, but without the true, pure, fresh life."

Preserving Shingles on Roofs.—The following article we copy from the Rural Intelligencer, as worthy of attention by those who desire to preserve the roofs of their habitations and buildings.

Some paint roof-shingles after they are laid. This makes them rot sooner than they otherwise would. Some paint the courses as they are laid; this is a great preservative, if each shingle is painted the length of three courses. But about as sure a way to preserve shingles, and that with little or no expense, is a mode recommended in a letter to us by David Hunter, of Clinton, on the 23d of Second month last. We republish so much of his letter as relates to this subject, in hopes that it may be of service to many of our readers:

"There is one thing more that nearly all people know, if they would only attend to it; that is, to sprinkle slaked lime on the roofs of their buildings on rainy days. Put it on considerably thick, so as to make the roof look white, and you will never be troubled with moss; and if the shingles are covered ever so thick with moss, by putting the lime on twice, it will take all the moss off, and leave the roof white and elean, and will look almost as well as if it had been painted. It ought to be done once a year, and, in my opinion, the shingles will last almost twice as long as they will to let the roof all grow over with moss. I tried it on the back part of my house, ten years ago, when the shingles were all covered over with moss, and they appeared to be nearly rotten. I gave the roof a heavy coat of lime, and have followed it nearly every year since then, and the roof is better now than it was then; and, to all appearance, if I follow my hand, it will last ten or fitteen years longer. The shingles have been on the roof over thirty years. There is no more risk about sparks catching on the roof than on a newly shingled roof. Those that do not have lime near by, can use good strong wood ashes, and these will answer a very good purpose to the same

This is the end of the testimony of the gospel of garden, in order to save his life, for the ants had another thing is got up in its stead, (which, though our Lord and Saviour Christ Jesus, that we may already commenced crawling on his feet, and the it may bear its image to the eye of flesh, yet is not all come to partake of his life, and that by parfloor of the room was covered with them to the same thing in the sight of God;) and where taking of it, we may live upon it, and being made height of one foot. Those ants, he relates, ate up this nourisheth itself by praying, reading, medialive to him, we shall then be made able to serve every living object within their reach; and of one tating, or any other such like thing, feeding the him; then shall we be enabled to worship him, to cow which was accidentally left over night in the carnal part with such a kind of knowledge from glorify him, and to declare of his glory, and of his stable, through which they passed, nothing but the scripture, as the natural understanding may gather power, and of his wisdom, and of his goodness to bones were found the next morning. - Jueger's and grow rich by; this, in love and faithfulness to those that are strangers to him. - Robert Barclay. performance.

to be gracious to his church and people.

enmity, in any direction, or under any covering, slave-trade?" should indeed incite us to greater watchfulness and eare, lest we be led to err on one hand or the other, mised to the righteous.

Eighth mo. 28th, 1860.

some allowance for :

The "word to Ziou's mourners," in the fifty- to resent it. Of the unselfishuess, sincerity, and horse; while for the quantity of meat they yield, first number of the last volume of The Friend, has pure humanity of the British people on this subproduced a feeling of sympathy, which seems to ject, no man, we believe, either in Europe or for butter, is fully equal in richness to the Alder-call for expression. Under an appreciation of the America, entertains a shadow of Aobt. But the prompting to such a communication, the hearts of arrangements, under which our African support proportion thinks the Brabmin cattle to be particular. many of its readers have doubtless been struck act, together with other circumstances, are such larly adapted to the Southern climate; and he with a view of its timely fitness, as an incitement as not unnaturally to suggest the possibility of expresses the hope that some of our planters, who to patience and faithfulness, affording evidence of other motives in the government than the desire to have experience in the use of this particular stock, an affectionate concern for the general welfare. suppress the trade simply. When it is pointed out will be kind enough to lay before the public the As such, it recommends itself to thoughtful and that those negroes which are captured by British results of that experience, especially in the accliserious perusal, especially by those whose faith cruisers, are not returned to Africa, but are turned, mation of this useful animal. -N. O. Picayune. may have been greatly tried, so as to cause them on the contrary, to valuable use for the interests at times to waver in doubt, respecting a continua- of British colonies, what have we to answer? It tion of those requirements by which our worthy is notorious to all the world that labour is so much ing, are generally worth what they cost. forefathers were led into great simplicity and wanted in Jamaica, that the planters there would plainness of language, dress, and demeanour, and be willing and anxious to revive the slave-trade, out of a worldly conformity in respect to worship, if they could, and are actually carrying on a trade ministry and prayer, and every other religious in coolies, which is a slave-trade under another name. Well, why should the British Government In reflecting upon the sorrowful innovations of expose itself to misrepresentation, by taking caplatter time, and their fearful encouragement, caus- tured negroes to Jamaica? An American, whose ing lamentation and mourning, many, doubtless, nation cannot possibly derive any advantage from have been led to inquire, with the prophet, "What capturing slave-ships and their cargoes, may be feelings of seriousness, and to encourage anticipability the end of these things!" and the reply allowed to ask whether the negroes taken by the tions of impending changes, that naturally awaken given to him may now be applicable; "Many shall British cruisers, are captured for the purpose of large and tried; but the suppressing the slave-trade, or of supplying the wicked shall do wickedly." Though many may wants of the British West Lodia planters. As the events, who ruleth in the kingdoms of the children wicked shall do wickedly." Though many many wants of the British West India planters. As the events, who ruleth in the kingdoms of the children be scattered from the fold of safety, in this day of British officers receive £5 a head for all captured, great trial and weakness, yet the Lord will pre-too, it is evident that it is their interest rather to The unreasoning antipathy or ferocious enmity serve those whose eye is kept single to his truth allow cargoes to be shipped, than to prevent the that formerly so generally pervaded each people and honour, not seeking the exaltation or gratifical slavers from taking them on board. But the chief towards every other, have now been mostly laid tion of self, either in opposing or encouraging evil; blot in the arrangement is the carrying of them to aside; or at least, they are not allowed to mani-but being "faithful to the Truth, and against British possessions, where labour is wanted, and fest themselves in the conduct and intercourse of error, in that living upright zeal which is of the where they are not landed as freemen, but under civilized nations. Commerce, and more widely dif-Lord's own begetting; in the meckness and gentle- obligations to work. Add to this, that the British fused knowledge, have succeeded in demonstrating ness of Christ; not mistaking the forward runnings Government, wo which Spain has bound herself the unity of man's interest, however politically and willings of the creature, for his putting forth. over and over again to put down the trade to Cuba, separated, and it is not and which has actually put down the trade to Cuba, separated, and it is contact and which has actually put down the trade to Cuba, separated, and not not contact and which has actually put down the trade to Cuba, separated, and not not contact and which has actually put down the trade to Cuba. ings and restraints, were our worthy predecessors of money as a consideration for such suppression, embroil nations in contests, destructive to their preserved from harm or offence, in times of suffering and trial, such as we of the present day know from the Court of Madrid. This is unaccountable, the being religion of Christ, are yet, we fittle or nothing of. Their mids being "kept in- The trade is carried on notoning of the sanc- from being admitted by mankind generally to reward with the Lord, in a watchful frame, they dion of Spain, the great functionaries of whose gulate their every-day life; but we believe it may were favoured to see and shun the snares of the government, and members of whose royal family, be safely asserted, that the number of its sincere enemy," not being terrified by his roarings, or se- make immense fortunes out of it. Why does not disciples is much larger than ever before; while it duced by his specious wiles, into licentiousness or the British Government insist on the execution of is obvious that it has triumphed over many false vanity, over-zeal, or lukewarmness; but were pre- this treaty? By doing so, it would be doing more principles that were once arrayed in its supposed served in purity and moderation, adorning the doc- to end the trade in African slaves, than can be support, by cruel persecution, and subverted not a trine of God their Saviour. Thus were they, and accomplished by the united exertions of the British few superstitions, once fostered among those who are some even now, kept from those extremes into and United States squadrons united; but, if in professed to be the alone true church. which the spirit of error doth lead; patiently consummentable obstacles, of which we know nothing, It is becoming more and more apparent, that, in tinuing in well doing, not taking offence because interpose in the way of this, why not cease approof suffering or trial; but patiently enduring, "as priating the captured negroes to our own use, and to a depth in parts of the human family, where, seeing Him who is invisible," and is still waiting so remove from our arrangements that which leaves half a century ago, there seemed little or no sensibe gracious to his church and people.

Our motives naturally open to the suspicion of those ble evidence of the presence of its faintest ray;
The faithfulness and reward of many, whose to whom a thoughless or mischievous section of and the expansion it is producing even there, is names might be mentioned, as standing firm in our press and politicians never omit an opportunity challenging the attention of all; and awakening their opposition to the workings of the spirit of of unjustifiably denouncing as favourable to the the fears of many, who, in their political and so-and fail of the great recompense of reward pro- of our neighbours, who has had much experience expectancy, each apprehending some outbreak, some useful suggestions. He says that Brahmin ples into collision, and light up an "irrepressible English Opinion about the Slave-Trade in cattle were first introduced into the United States conflict," that will finally break down long-establishments. America .- The London Star, the special organ of about ten years ago, and, as in the case of the lished assumptions of hereditary superiority, and the liberal party in England, defends the United mule, had to work their way into the good graces place within the reach of the lower orders of the States Government from complicity in the slave- of our people, by positive proof of their real value, people, those rights and privileges which are theirs trade, charged by the Times, and then turns upon There are no cattle, he maintains, on the face of by an inalienable title, but of which they have the English Government with some facts which the the earth, which render a profit to the holder equal been cheated and forcibly deprived, by an usurped Times ought to have meditated and to have made to these. England may boast of her Durhams, power and rank, claimed to be held by divine "But then England is accused of insincerity and question that, with high feeding, the English have ignorance and degradation, which themselves have

For "The Friend." | been left unspoken. Yet it is not for us too warmly ers to be equalled only by that noble animal, the

The knowledge and clearness bought by suffer-

THE FRIEND.

NINTH MONTH 15, 1860.

The present condition of the world is calculated, cial position, stand above the class just feeling its influence. The different nations of Europe appear Brahmin Cattle in the Southern States .- One to be continually kept in a state of suspense and in the importation of foreign breeds of sheep and within its own borders or those of its neighbours, cattle, writes us a note that seems to us to contain which must bring antagonistic classes and princi-Devons, Ayrshires, Alderneys, &c., and there is no right, and justified upon the ground of popular hypocrisy in this question, and in the United States brought their favourities to perfection, as fat cattle. mainly contributed to produce and foster. There Senate language is uttered, which had better have The Brahmins, for active work, our friend consid- is just cause to fear for the consequences that may nent, that characterize the pretended vicar of mission of christianity and civilization, to the dark hrist, his advisers and abettors, and mark with coloured children of that benighted land.

erests, at the expense of their dupes.

ttend the migthy upheaval; for though the per- United States would seem to be possessed with to remove their supposed dangers, or to revenge eption of these masses is so far improved that every mundane requisite for universal comfort and themselves on those they suspect to be their enemies. bey are rousing to a consciousness of the false happiness; and, making the profession of religion Thus party spirit and sectional strife run high, osition they occupy, and have begun the struggle they do, to have little or nothing more to ask for, breatening the most serious results; while all but grateful and humble hearts. But there are parts of our country are deservedly chafed and to value, and were designed for their enjoyment, et they see but as "through a glass darkly," and domestic circle, bringing trouble and distress into for which the whole people are more or less renow not how rightly to attain, or properly to estisate those rights, when placed within their reach. sins of a dark dye, involving all classes, more or States is placed beyond reach of the general go-The power of the Turk is fast waning; and less, in responsibility, and jeoparding, if they do not vernment, there can be no reasonable doubt, that nough the Sultan still sits upon his tottering throne marr, the peace of all, by the evil passions they had the citizens of the free States maintained a t Constantinople, it cannot be concealed even foment, the agitation and commotion they produce continued protest against it, in all its branches, in com his own fanatic subjects, that he is the mere and aggravate, and the fearful punishment they a christian spirit, acting in accordance with that gent of the great Powers of Europe; and that it threaten. We have become so accustomed to liv-protest-which it was their duty to do-both indiill not be long before he must evacuate the proing under a free and mild government; we are so vidually, and through the legislative power that inces he has, for centuries, held on that continent uniformly sensible of its existence and its power, speaks the will of the people of each State, slavery and open his dominions in Asia to the uninteronly from the protection and safety it affords in all would either have come to an end ere this, or been upted advances of christian civilization. The our religious and civil relations, that we are apt to in a fair way for extinguishment throughout the urposes for which the Mohammedan hordes were think and speak of it as a thing of course; forget whole country. But instead of acting thus, the ermitted by Divine Providence, to flannt their ting that, under the blessing of an overruling Property people generally have willingly and knowingly conjectorious crescent over so large a portion of the vidence, it is the elaborate construction of the wissented to the policy and the demands of the slave inirest countries of the earth, have doubtless been dom and virtue of a generation that has passed terest, and they are not now fondly to imagine that nainly accomplished, and the signs of the times away from among us; and that to preserve it un they can make the peculiar form of our governcem clearly to indicate, that the organization of injured, and perpetuate the liberty, security and ment, a scape-goat for their folly and their crimes. ne bold imposture and heartless tyranny it has comfort it is designed to, and has heretofore conapistry has for centuries exercised its baleful in- hearted and arbitrary men. Instead of regarding heart of the combatant for the right and the

f Europe; exempted from the enormous expendi- the people, for the purpose of carrying out their man's boasted abilities. weree, and freedom to enjoy all the blessings thus but men occupying respectable positions in society, Prince of Peace the heathen for an inheritance, avishly bestowed upon them; the people of these are ready to disregard all law and justice in order and the uttermost parts of the earth for a posses-

The circumstances to which we have thus briefly ver symbolized, is about to be broken and de-ferred, we must be grateful receivers of our mani-alluded, illustrate the observation we made in the fold blessings, and by the whole tenor of our lives, beginning of our remarks, that the present condi-It has long been obvious, that the power and au-strive to promote and diffuse the moral rectitude tion of the world is calculated to impress every repority of the Roman Pontiff, were slowly, but and practical regard for the requirements of chris-flecting mind with feelings of seriousness. The urely fading away; the effect of the "deadly tianity, which are essential to the existence and period is big with events that portend extraordi-ound" received through the reformation; but by enjoyment of free institutions. But, while arro- nary changes, near at hand; and amid the fluctuais recent futile bull of excommunication against gating great superiority as a free people, we are tions of the conflict which truth is everywhere Tetor Emanuel, Pius Ninth has conclusively shown unblushingly permitting unjust governments and waging with error, there are occasional inroads of nat the thunder of the Vatican has lost all its oppressive laws, to crush out the rights of the poor, the latter, upon ground long since conquered by errors, and that however much of ignorance and and place the persons and the lives of an innocent the former, that involve the battle-field in darkaperstition remain among the nations, over which though ignorant people, at the merey of hard-ness and gloom, and sadden and discourage the uence, light and knowledge have made sufficient slavery as a deplorable evil, to be cradicated as true. But he has studied the eventful page of the roads upon their deep and long-brooding dark speedily as the interests of the enslaved would history of his race to little purpose, who has not ess, to emancipate them from the degrading thrallousily—as did the statesmen of the revolution—marked therein, the finger of the Almighty directions beretofore attendant upon a belief, that their long indulged indolence, and love of the gold slating ultimate results; and learned that, amid the emporal and eternal well being, were in the keep- very produces, have blinded the eyes, and hardened confusion and strife of contending parties and og of one fallible man, and could be blasted at the hearts of so many, that it is now claimed to principles, He withdraws not his controlling hand, by time by his malediction. But while suffering be an institution of the Almighty, guaranteed un-num the deceit and cruelty, the harted of liberty, limited expansion by the constitution of our coun-end opposition to general educational improve-try, and the African slave-trade advocated as a worthy instruments, to accomplish his own purposes.

The mutations in society and the revolutions of States, are the results of laws that are in themeculiar atrocities the efforts made and making to It was the testimony of one of the most popular selves unalterable and harmonious. Departures uppress the rising tide of popular improvement; statesmen that America has ever produced—him- from that which is right, whether in individuals or here is danger of the common people of Italy learn-self a slave-holder—that one of the most fearful nations, must be followed by loss and suffering; ag to regard all religion as a cunningly devised evils of slavery, is its invariable tendency to call and in bringing them back to the position they able, contrived and enforced by their superiors in forth and inflame in the master, the worst passions were designed to occupy, Infinite Wisdom often ank, to exalt themselves and secure their own in- of the human heart; and in the reckless course ad- employs agents comparatively contemptible, and erests, at the expense of their dupes.

vocated, and the violent measures pursued by causes the most unpromising circumstances to work

If we turn our eyes on our own country, we see many of the hot-headed defenders of this iniquity together for their good. As in the setting up of condition of things, which while giving hope of tous system at the present time, there is ample the church of his new covenant, He chose the foolstill more enlarged extension of liberal and en and fearful evidence of its truth. From this cause ish things of the world to confound the wise; the ightened principles, is yet well calculated to awaken proceed the fierce sectional excitement, and deter- weak things of the world to confound the things ears and anxious forbodings. The rapid develop- mined party hostility, which now characterizes the that are mighty; and base things of the world, cent of the various resources of the country; the political movements in the South, while the North, and things that are despised, and things that are normous increase of population, and extension of angered by the threats and taunts it has long re- not, to bring to naught things that are; so now, tate and Territorial government, that have taken ceived, seems determined, in like spirit, to assert although those who occupy places of authority, and lace within the last half century; together with and enforce the power derived from its numerical many who are girled with great intellectual powers, the multiplication of periodical literature, and the superiority; thus arraying one portion of the Union may defy and oppose the principles and precepts. ystem of common school education organized in against the other, in bitter conflict, and threatening which that covenant enjoins, He will, either in early all the free States, are perhaps unpreced to rend assunder the hands that hold us together judgment or in mercy, overrule their mightiest ented in the history of any other nation. Freed as one people. Unprincipled men, greedy of place efforts, and extend the kingdom of his dear Son, tom the turbulence and privation of such oppressed and power, are employing the talents and oppor in a way that shall manifest the insignificance of lasses of citizens as are agitating the governments tunities they possess, in stimulating the passions of human greatness, and display the shallowness of ures there required for payment of immense stand-party measures; and this, in communities where But let none presume upon this acknowledged ng armies, and numerous wide spread fleets; with the fear of servile insurrection must always, more controlling providence of the Almighty, oducing good bundant harvests, rich mines of iron, coal, and the or less, exist, has naturally intensified the excite-from evil. Though He has wrought, and will doubt-rectious metals; a world-wide and lucerative comment, until, in many places, not merely the "mob," less continue to work, until He has given to the sion, yet does He hold every one of us to a strict accountability for our thoughts, words and actions. To each one is applicable his injunction to the kings and judges of the earth by the royal Psalmist, and the signs of the times loudly admonish us all to hear and obey it: "Be wise now, therefore, O ye kings, be instructed ye judges of the earth. Serve the Lord with fear, and rejoice with trembling. Kiss the Son lest he be angry, and ye perish from the way when his wrath is kindled but a little. Blessed are all they that put their trust in him."

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

EUROPE .- News from Liverpool to the 31st ult. Advices from Genoa to the 29th, state that a council of generals of the Neapolitan army have resolved to advise the King to leave. It is also rumored that the of-ficers of the army and navy have tendered their resignations en masse to the King.

The London Post says, the Neapolitan government has offered Garibaldi the territory of Naples, in order to prevent the effusion of blood in the capital.

The Neapolitan funds had fallen ten per cent. Garibaldi had met with additional successes in Calabria, and had been proclaimed Dictator.

The Eoglish Parliament was prorogned on the 28th. The Queen's speech says the relations of England with the foreign powers were friendly and satisfactory. She trusts there is no danger of an interruption of the general peace of Europe. She helieves that if the Italian people of Italy are left to themselves, they will settle their own difficulties. She expresses the hope that the independence of Switzerland will be maintained. She laments the atrocities committed in Syria, and signifies her willingness to concur with the other powers to reestablish order there.

The latest despatches report that the royalists have been defeated in Calabria.

It was reported at Paris on the 29th, that the Kiog of Naples had left on the previous evening in the frigate Strombli, and that the Piedmontese occupied the Neapolitan forts. This rumor has not been confirmed.

Disturbances at Naples were imminent. Appeals to the people to revolt were publicly distributed in the city.

The Neapolitan Minister of War and General Basco

had left Naples for Calabria, with six battalions, as reinforcements.

It was said that the Pope is ready to agree to the es tablishment of an Italian confederation.

The French Emperor, in a speech at Lyons, condemned the unjust distrust abroad, and declared that nothing should make him deviate from the path of justice and His sole desire was to advance the general moderation. interests of France, and he urged the people to give their attention to works of peace. He was determined that under his dynasty.

The pacific nature of this speech of the Emperor had Sheep sold at from $7.50 to $8.50.

caused an advance in the French funds.

The Paris Constitutionnel publishes an article, stating that the relations between France and Austria are excellent, and congratulating Austria on the reform tendency of its administration.

An imperial decree had been issued, opening the French ports for the admission, duty free, of all kinds of Frence ports for the admission, daty free, of all kinds of foreign grain and flour, irrespective of flag. Vessels laden with breadstuffs, will be exempted from tonnage dues. This is regarded as an admission of the great deficiency in the French harvest. The weather continued wet.

At the latest dates, all was quiet in Syria, Fund Pash: having completely tranquilized the people. He had caused the ex-governor of Beyrout to be convicted of high treason. In the House of Commons, Lord Palmerston acknowledged the services of Ahd-el-Kader in pro-tecting the Christians of Syria, and stated that the Bri-tish consul had been instructed to tender the thanks of the government to him.

Lindsay, a member of Parliament, had been authorized to proceed to Washington, to lay before the government the views of Great Britain relative to the navigation laws and belligerent rights, and enter into negotiations for opening the coasting trade, &c.

The Manchester advices were favourable. The Liver pool cotton market was unchanged. The quotations for UNITED STATES .- Census Returns .- According to the census just taken, St. Louis, Mo., has a population of 160,557. In 1850, it had only 75,000 inhabitants. In that year, the population of Chicago, Ill., was 28,620. It is now found to be 109,420. Rochester, N. Y., has a population of 48,096, being an increase of 11,693 since 1850. Berks County, Pa., has 93,974 inhabitants, being an increase of 16,843 over the enumeration of 1850. Of this increase, 7,428 is in the town of Reading. The State of Rhode Island has a population of 173,869 against 47,549 in 1850, a gain in ten years of 26,320, or nearly eighteen per cent.

New York.—Mortality last week, 514.

Philadelphia.—Mortality last week, 228. Brooklyn .- Mortality last week, 133.

New Beldord, Mass.—The assessed valention of real flow making grain. The hay crop had been much in- and personal property at New Bedford, is $23,112,000, jured by the rain. Hops also had been badly burt.

The Summer in England.—It is stated that so changes the population, than is to be found in any other city in the United States. In case of an equal distribution of property among all the inhabitants, every man, woman and child would receive a sum exceeding $1000.

The Treasury.—The Secretary of the U. S. Treasury has advertised for the reception of proposals till noon of the 22d of Tenth month, for a loan of ten millions, under the treasury note redemption act of the last Con-

Appalling Catastrophe.—On the 8th inst., about half past two o'clock in the morning, the steamer Lady Elgin, which left Chicago a few hours previously for Lake Superior, was run into by a schooner off Winetka, in Lake Michigan. There were a large number of passengers on board, including many of the citizens of Milwaukie, who had gone on an excursion of pleasure. From the state-ment of one of the survivors, it appears that at the time of the collision, the passengers were mostly in the cabin, dancing. A moment after the crash was heard, all was still, and in a short time she sunk, carrying down several hundred persons. The number of individuals on board is not known with certainty, but the following is estimated as nearly correct:-Excursion party, 300; reestimated as hearty correct. Bacteria party total, 385. gular passengers, 50; steamer's crew, 35; total, 385. Of these, but ninety-eight were saved! The Lady Elgin was a fast and favourite boat, of about 1000 tons bur-den, and had been run on the Lakes for the last nine or ten years.

The Markets .- The following were the quotations on the 10th inst. New York-The wheat market is better; the demand is mostly for export; sales of 190,000 bushels, at $1.35 and $1.37 for soft, red Western; $1.38 a $1.40 for good do.; $1.45 a $1.50 for white Michigan and Indiana; $1.60 for white Tennessee, and $1.28 for Ohio spring; sales of 121,000 bushels corn, at 68 cts. a 70 cts. for mixed, and 74½ cts. for yellow; oats, 41 cts. a 42 cts. Philadelphia—Red wheat, $1.40 a $1.43; white, $1.45 a $1.58; yellow corn, 74 cts. a 75 cts.; Delaware oats, 35 cts. a 36 cts.; New York barley, 80 cts. a 85 cts. The number of beef cattle sold at the market during the week ending Ninth mo. 8th, was with divine assistance, France should not degenerate 1848 head; a diminished supply, not equal to the demand. Prices ranged from $8.00 to $9.25 per 100 lbs.

Miscellaneous .- The Strife in Mexico .- Vera Cruz dates to the 3d, state that Miramon, after his defeat, succeeded in reaching the capital, where he was endeavouring to concentrate his forces. The Liberals were advancing upon the capital.

Walker's Invasion .- Late accounts from Honduras mention that Walker and his associates had been compelled to abandon Truxillo. He was ordered away by the commander of the English war steamer Icarus, and obeyed the summons, retiring down the coast. His force had been reduced to a very small number of men by the continued attacks of his enemies, and he had himself been severely wounded in the face.

The Mormons .- The present indications are, that this singular people have no intention of leaving Salt Lake valley. A late letter says, "They are busy erecting in every settlement substantial buildings for council houses, court-houses, meeting-houses, and school-houses. Grist and saw-mills, nail factories, foundries, and every kind of machine shop are becoming common. A few miles from the city, Brigham is laying out a nursery, with a million of trees, which he calculates will, in ten years, turn him in as many dollars. The building of the great temple has recommenced, and every spare team is bauling the massive rock from Cotton-road into the city. Of the magnitude of this edifice, your readers will form some notion from the fact that the foundation alone cost poor total universe wis the constraints and the state of the state of

Loss of Life on Mont Blanc .- Three English travellers who persisted in ascending Mont Blanc on the 15th of Eighth month, during a snow storm, in spite of the remonstrances of their guides, slid from a precipice while descending the mountain, and were killed. They had tied themselves together with a rope, for safety, at the instance of their guides, three in number, each of whom had hold of it, to assist them on their way. One of the guides fell over the precipice with them, and was also killed.

The Crops in England.—A letter, dated Eighth month 23d, written by a Philadelphian, now in England, says that the average grain crop is quite a poor one as re-spects quality and quantity. The berry was down for want of snn, and much of it could not ripen into good able has the weather been in England, during the summer, that fires in dwellings for comfort were in constant requisition, and thick winter clothing in use in the open air. Cloudy and wet weather has generally prevailed during the summer, both in England and France.

RECEIPTS

Received from Sarah Minard. Pa., $2, vol. 34; from Sarah Roberts, Ind., $2, vol. 33; from David Whitall N. J., $2, vol. 33; from Gideon Wilcox, Pa., $2, vol. 34

WEST-GROVE BOARDING-SCHOOL FOR GIRLS Situated within a few hundred yards from West-Grove station on the Philadelphia and Baltimore Central Railroad, from which place trains communicate with Phila delphia several times daily. The Winter session wil open on Second-day, 5th of Eleventh month, prox. For circulars, &c., address

THOMAS CONARD, Principal. Ninth month, 1860.

FRIENDS' ASYLUM.

Committee on Admissions.—Samuel Bettle, Jr., No. 14: N. Tenth street; Charles Ellis, No. 724 Market street William Bettle, No. 426 N. Sixth street, and No. 22 S. Third street; John C. Allen, No. 335 S. Fifth street and No. 321 N. Front street; Horatio C. Wood, No. 61: Race street, and No. 117 Chestunt street; John M. Whit all, No. 1317 Filbert street, and No. 410 Race street Wister Morris, No. 209 S. Third street; Nathan Hilles

Visiting Managers for the month .- Jeremiah Hacker

John Carter and John C. Allen.

Physician and Superintendent .- Joshua H. Worthing ton, M. n.

WEST-TOWN BOARDING SCHOOL.

The Winter session of the School will commence of Second-day, the 5th of Eleventh month. Parents and others intending to enter their children as pupils, wil clease make early application to DAVID ROBERTS, Super intendent at the School, or JOSEPH SCATTERGOOD, Trea. surer, No. 304, Arch street, Philadelphia.

West-Town, Ninth mo. 4th, 1860.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted as Teacher of Reading in the Boys department of this Institution. Apply to SAMUEL HILLES, Wilmington, Del.

JAMES EMLER, West Chester, Chester Co., Pa.

ALFRED COPE, Germantown, Pa.

Sixth mo. 6th, 1860.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted to fill the station of Governor

the Boys' department of this Institution. Application may be made to NATHAN SHARPLESS, Con cord, Pa.; Samuel Hilles, Wilmington, Del.; Jami Emlen, West Chester, Pa.; or Thomas Evans, Philad. Twelfth mo., 1859.

MARRIED, on the 29th ult., at Friends' Meeting-hous Spring Water, Winneshiek county, Iowa, Daniel Sar TERTHWAITE, of Tecumseh, Mich., to Cornelia J. Hoa daughter of Amos Hoag, of the former place.

PILE & M'ELROY, PRINTERS, Lodge street, opposite the Pennsylvania Bank.

THR RRIAND.

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, NINTH MONTH 22, 1860.

NO. 3.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

rice Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by

JOHN RICHARDSON,

AT NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

Postage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three nths, if paid in advance, three and a quarter cents; any part of the United States, for three months, if d in advance, six and a-half cents.

For "The Friend." In the North British Review for Eighth month, 60, there is an interesting article on Recent Disveries in Astronomy, some extracts from which,

iend."]
Within a few years, new satellites have been and circulating round some of the remoter planets, ile the structure and condition of the planets emselves have been studied with the improved escopes now in the hands of astronomers. No ver than fifty-eight new planets, or asteroids, as y have been called from their smallness, have en discovered between Mars and Jupiter; and, at is more interesting still, M. Leverrier, one of discoverers of Neptune, had, from theoretical ctions of Mercury, predicted the existence of a anet, or a ring of planets, between that body and sun; and M. Lescarbault has actually discored this intra-mercurial planet, while it was se of the sun.

discussing the question of its existence.
On the 2d January, 1860, M. Leverrier commicated to the Academy of Sciences a remarkle paper on the Theory of Mercury. In studythe twenty-one transits of that body over the resented, nearly to a second, by augmenting by rty-eight seconds the secular motion of the perilion of Mercury. In order to justify such an inase, we must increase the mass attributed to nus one-tenth at least of its value, which, from ty years' meridian observations, has been found tions, be the four hundred thousandth part of that of W sun. If we admit this increased mass of Veuus, must conclude, either that the secular variation the ecliptic, and the causes which produce it, as upon the sun, and traversing his disc, in a line of well established, we must believe that the excess a greater or less length. of motion in the perihelion of Mercury is due to some unknown action.

cide absolutely between these two hypotheses. I 1853 and 1855, he seldom directed his telescope wish only to draw the attention of astronomers to to the sun; but in 1858, when he had a terrace at a grave difficulty, and to make it the subject of a his command, he constructed a rude instrument, serious discussion." We must therefore, as he suggests, find a cause which shall impress upon the the angle of position; and he tested its accuracy perihelion of Mercury these thirty-eight seconds of by measuring the position of spots on the moon, secular motion, without producing any other sensi- and comparing his observations with a map of that ble effect upon the planetary system.

Mercury and the sun, the size of Mercury, situated glass about four inches in aperture, and four feet at half his mean distance from the sun, if moving ten inches in focal length, made in 1838 by M. a circular robit slightly inclined to that of Mer- Cauche, and having a magnifying power of 150 cury, would produce the thirty-eight seconds of times. The finder of the telescope magnified six secular motion in his perihelion. But when he continues. In the focus of both telescopes were placed siders that such a planet would have certainly a three parallel vertical wires, and three parallel think, will interest the readers of "The very great brightness, he cannot think that it would borizontal ones, the distance between the two outer-total eclipses of the sun.

we admit, in place of a single planet, small bodies degrees, was placed on the eye-piece of the finder, circulating between Mercury and the sun;" and he and concentric with it. The telescope had a verthinks their existence not at all improbable, seeing tical and horizontal motion, and was supported by that we have already a ring of fifty-eight such a wooden pillar with three feet, the points of which bodies between Mars and Jupiter. As these bodies rested on a frame also with three feet, and having must frequently pass over the sun's disc, he advises screws, in order to level the instrument. astronomers to search for them with care. * * * With his telescope thus mounted, and asiderations, suggested by irregularities in the tronomers had observed, among the spots that so necessary to describe, he was able to measure the frequently appear on the sun's surface, one more distance of any well-defined spot on the sun's disc round than the rest, and had fortunately recorded the fact, and the date of its appearance. They do Whenever our observer expected that the duties rying on his profession at Orgeres, a small town in glass. space between Mars and Jupiter, there might be magnifying power, when it passed over the sun on another elsewhere. But as he was then situated, the 8th of May, 1845. he found it difficult to make the necessary observa-

When he was watching the transit of Mercury over the sun, on the 8th of May, 1845, the idea occurred to him, that if there was any other planet the obliquity of the ecliptic, deduced from ob- between the sun and the earth than Venus and 15' 22.3". vations, is affected with errors by no means pro- Mercury, it ought to be seen in its passages across ble, or that the obliquity is changed by other the disc of that luminary; and that, by frequently emergence was 9'13-6", and uses wholly unknown to us. If, on the other observing the margin of the sun's disc, we ought. The sidereal time necessary

At this time it was impossible for him to justime unknown action.
"I do not intend," says M. Leverrier, "to de-1953 that he was able to commence it. Between e effect upon the planetary system.

M. Leverrier then shows that a planet between

This instrument was a telescope, with an object-

be invisible at its greatest elongation, or during most being from thirty-two to thirty-four minutes.

A circle of card-board, five and a half inches in "All these difficulties," he adds, "disappear, if diameter, and divided in its circumference to half

With his telescope thus mounted, and by the aid During the last century, various continental as- of other pieces of rude apparatus, which it is un-

not seem, however, to have suspected that it might of his profession would allow him a little leisure ssing in the form of a round black spot over the be a planet, and therefore did not attempt to trace for observation after mid-day, he regulated his it across the sun's disc, or to watch for its re-ap- watch by the sun's passing the meridian, by means The history of this discovery, if it is a discovery, pearance. The phenomenon was at last seen by a of a small transit instrument; and having adjusted one of the most curious chapters in the annals of more sagacious observer, who was able to appre-ence. It has been characterized as "the Ro-ciate its importance, and anxious to trace it to its to the sun, and, during a period varying from half ance of the New Planet;" and astronomers of no cause. This observer was M. Lescarbault, a doc- an hour to three hours, he surveyed the whole conan celebrity are now marshalled in hostile array tor of medicine of the Faculty of Paris, and car-tour of the sun's disc, keeping his eye at the eye-

the arrondissement of Chateaudun, in the depart. After these repeated surveys of the great lumi-ment of the Eure and the Loire. Having been pary, he was at last gratified with the object of his foud of astronomy from his infancy, and having, ambition. On the 26th March, 1859, about four since 1837, observed that the law of Bode was far o'clock in the afternoon, he saw a black point ena between 1607 and 1848, he found that the ob-from representing accurately the distance of the let rethe surface. Its circumference was well devations could not be represented by the received planets from the sun, he imagined that, independ-fined. Its angular diameter, as seen from the ments of the planet, but that they could be all ently of the four small planets, Ceres, Pallas, Juno, [earth, was very small; and he estimated it as much and Vesta, which Piazzi, Olbers, and Harding had, less than one-fourth of that of Mercury, which he between 1801 and 1807, discovered in the wide had seen with the same telescope and the same

The time which the black spot took to pass over the sun's disc was,

In mean solar time . . . 1h. 17m. 9s. In sidereal time 1 27 22 The least distance from the sun's centre was 0°

The distance between the points of entry and

The sidereal time necessary to describe the sun's nd, we regard the variation of the obliquity of to see the appearance of a black spot entering diameter would have been 4h. 29m. 9s.

presses his conviction that, on a future day, a black little we progress, not great matters at once." spot, perfectly round and very small, will be seen

March, 1859, and it will be possible to calculate for the blessing attends. all the elements of its orbit. I am persuaded also

"I thought of and looked some for thee at our the meeting she had felt a concern to revive the the meeting she had felt a concern to revive the the meeting she had felt a concern to revive the the meeting she had felt a concern to revive the the meeting she had felt a concern to revive the three days are the meeting she had felt a concern to revive the passage of the vineyard, planted in a fruitful hill the properties of the Mercury, and that this body is the planet, or one been comforted through the ministry of —— and fenced it, gathered out the stones thereof, &c., an of the planets, whose existence in the vicinity of ——; whose exercises agreed together. ——'s planted it with a choice vine, and when He looke of the planets, whose existence in the vicinity of the sun, M. Leverrier had made known a few concern was to strengthen some who were stripped for grapes, behold it brought forth wild grape months ago, by that wonderful power of calcula- and in prison, no light, and very little comfort, The result then was, the hedge was to be take tion which enabled him to recognize the conditions where their judgment was taken away, and were away, and it should be eaten up; the fence re of the existence of Neptune, and fix its place at ready to call all the good they had ever experi- moved, and it trodden down, and the clouds con the confines of our planetary system, and trace its enced in question; he encouraged such to hold on manded to rain no more rain upon it; that path across the depths of space.'

(To be continued.)

For " The Friend." Extracts from the Letters and Memorandums of our Late Friend, H. Williams.

time seems lengthened out, doubtless for a good and the appearance of things was so specious, and we will hear or forbear, He will be clear, and he and wise purpose. It is not a great deal we combine many voices out in the world, if a watchful faithful servants clear." municate to each other outwardly, but I believe care was not maintained, and a close walking with we are not strangers in hidden exercise. I set the good Guide, by prayer and humbling them every truly exercised soul to appear publicly, "H more value on that sort of acquaintance, yea, selves before Him, some who had set out well, ways are a great deep," while it becomes us to low and wait all the appointed time, through without any foundation, but the natural feelings of the a spirited and energetic call to the poor long, dark time, when neither sun, moon, nor sta unstable mortals. It thought we had a 'prodigal,' who had wasted his substance in riotous appear; He may be working a work in and for a good meeting, after deep wading; a fresh call, our living, feeding on that which does not satisfy, while which will not only be acceptable to Him, but r irrend thought, was sent forth to the young people, there is bread enough and to spare in the Father's dound to His glory and praise eventually, and which she believed it her duty to revive; though house, who yet stood graciously disposed to receive be filling up our measure of the sufferings of Obright. had thought for a considerable time that the way such a returning, repenting prodigal one; it was which yet remains for the church's sake. In u would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.

| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.
| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.
| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual.
| would not open for her exercised mind to be readdressed to an individual and be ye separate, touch not the unclean thing, to discern it, and strength to keep it separate from things, and a voice followed close, saying intelligible. The way was clearly opened and shown them, alloy. 'The ear tries words, as the mouth tastes by to the ear of my soul in early days, "This with very suitable encouragement, that the way of meats." the cross is the way to the kingdom; it is a safe way, and peace is the result. Oh that account of the issue of the ease of illness; my and even to this day I see no more required, b my condition."

"Eleventh mo. 8th.—I feel much for who is wading under a load of exercise, and pass-utterly unable to help ourselves."

"Our Quarterly Meeting seemed a solid time, and some suitable communications; but my feel a remarkable one; by ourselves as to any stran-lings resembled the wintery appearance without gers. Encouragement flowed to the tried, wrestling "29th.—Thy letter has been received and re doors. I was poor and destitute, yet I loved my spirit, that as sure as Jacob was blessed for with much interest. It was all touching, but friends, which seemed the only good spark left. I wrestling the whole night season, so would the do not want to complain; have more than I deserve. same concern now be blessed. Then a state was unusual moving case throughout. How dumb passing over the sun in a line situated in a plane not that it answered as face to face in a glass with connected with the foregoing. Robert pressed as comprised between $5\frac{1}{3}$ ° and $7\frac{1}{3}$ °, and that this orbit my own condition, increasingly so of latter time, I individual examination—Is it I? is it I? will cut the plane of the earth's orbit towards 183 might put a wrong construction on it, but it may might hide our states from one another, but a day we were more in earnest to hold up the "stand-mind had been buoyed between hope and fear; a sound, steady example, not many words ard," for the people to rally to.

deeply did I feel for all interested; the care-takers them to the point, in the business laid upon r "Our afflicted brother is a little better. It is a there, and her dear friends; close must the begreat and heavy affliction; may we all bear a part, reavement have proved, and caused, no doubt, been comforted and strengthened, in this my wa and as near as possible for humanity to do, make deep searching for the cause, why she, who so when I have found my exercises have been in a the case our own, so that some solid benefit may lately gladdened the eyes of her parents, should cordance with the faithful, either of the prese accrue to us; for we are all, we must allow, sadly care the family circle, for such a good reason as day, or those who have passed away. But I have account on the right standard. "Oh! I do wish for myself, that I could see and almost immediately on entering, fall sick; and the result; temptations yet await in this lone and feel more fully, the poverty and emptiness of though no doubt anxiously watched over and path, a whispering, why not do and be as other my condition."

Then the first and ear the condition is a summer of the condition of the condition is a summer of the condition is a summer of the condition. her ever-enduring home.

who is wading under a load of exercise, and passing through the dispensation of judgment and of ing through the dispensation of light one content and the large of the same final wearing out of the prepare for the same final wearing out of the prepare for the same final wearing out of the strength of these poor mortal bodies, and through the content of the lessed Redeement, where I humbly trust, this dear child, through the through the dispensation. It was a great surprise, and can be represented in the surprise of these poor mortal bodies, and through the gracious interposition of the blessed Redeement, the provided prepared to the further afflict for an entrance into the mansions of rest, the large of the same final wearing out of the gracious interposition of the blessed Redeement, the provided prepared to the further afflict for an entrance into the mansions of rest, the large of the same final wearing out of the prepared the form of the lessed Redeement, the provided prepared to the further afflict for an entrance into the mansions of rest, the provided prepared to the further afflict for an entrance into the mansions of rest, the provided prepared to the further afflict for an entrance into the mansions of rest, the provided prepared to the further afflict for an entrance into the mansions of rest, the provided prepared to the further afflict for an entrance into the mansions of rest, the provided prepared to the further afflict for an entrance into the mansions of rest, the provided prepared to the further afflict for an entrance into the mansions of rest, the provided prepared to the further afflict for an entrance into the mansions of rest, the provided prepared to the further afflict for an entrance into the mansions of rest, the provided prepared to the further afflict for an entrance into the mansions of rest, the provided prepared to the further afflict for an entrance into the mansions of rest, the provided prepared to the provided prepared to the provided prepared to the mansions of the provided p sufferings.

So, dear —, try to be travelling on, that at the and of time, having done what we could, we may be received with the answer of "Well done,"— done for these? was the query. Then R. Scotton much, and yet the very best sense is often all

After giving these results, M. Lescarbault ex- this is all that is worth our concern; by little and was concerned to address a state that was trusting in a form without the power, making a goodly ap-"12th.-Thy mournful scrap I received; were it pearance and sliding along unconcerned. It seemed in passing from the south to the north.

"This point," he continues, "will very probably appointed time, the night season; a brighter more really were, naked and bare, before the judgment be the planet whose path I observed on the 26th ment will come; faith and patience work wonders, seat." Truly, I may say, that it felt solemn alto to keep near to their dear Lord, and He in his would be a lamentable situation, should any of t own time will come, and in the twinkling of an eye, be thus left; that the clouds should be commande can change the dispensation; that these proving to rain no more rain on us. It had an alarmin seasons were among his choice blessings. To me, feeling. What will become of us, I cannot say it was plain preaching. Then addressed those of but I believe all this homeborn exercise was be younger experience, who were in danger of being gotten by the great Head of the church for H led away by some near friend, who did not intend poor, erring, backsliding, rebellious people presen "Ninth mo. 8th - My best love to S. E. Her to mislead, but who were looking out too much, yet once more to sound the alarm, that whether

-, I may say, it is not for "As regards younger days it was sealed to my understanding "24th .- By cousins M. and J., we received the either to the right or left, the monitor was at hau injunction presses for place: 'This is the way,' & "Oh! saith my soul, may the Lord so bless the I cannot be too thankful, that the rod and st . Wisdom is profitable to direct us in "Twelfth mo. 1st -Our Monthly Meeting was things, while we believe that our life, &c., are ray for me?' Then, as if there was no time to removed in the usual manner.

From the Leisure Hour.

s the operations are now so far advanced that describe. me reports of real progress have reached this ie advantages of this system over the older ones could supply. ousist simply in the possibility of boring a great Any one who has seen an air-gun in use can engines.

Such are some of the reflections naturally suguperior speed and efficiency obtained by mechani- is the moving power of the machinery connected gested by a perusal of the report alluded to, and nd our duty is, to cherish it. What could have cal, as compared with animal power. The holes with sub-alpine tunnelling. The same agency pore sensible of true prayer, nor for the moment- the operations to be carried on simultaneously at tionary engine might in this way be substituted for usness of our responsibility, who have little folks each end of the proposed tunnel, it will be under the fiery locometive. Should this idea ever be stood that the chief object gained is the abbrevial reduced to practice, it will be satisfactory to time of the that All east one danger of the iron road—that "First month, 1844.—I bear you in very tender the object gained is the abbrevial reduced to practice, it will be satisfactory to time of the that at least one danger of the iron road—that This makes the old method of mining, from fire—is done away with; while the nuisances artook, I trust, with you, according to my mea-would have extended to a period of birty-six of smoke and gas would cease to act as draware of a quiet settlement of mind, as regards that years—rather a disheartening "look-out" for some backs to the railway traveller's comfort and enrecious little belief, who was too good and too pure of the present generation; but now it is hoped joyment.

The property of the present generation is but now it is hoped joyment.

The property of the present generation is but now it is hoped joyment.

The property of the present generation is the present generation is the glorious of the present generation. The property of the present generation is the presen land of Italy to northern Europe, as it has never non has been developed-for it is not now for the ong on earth."

land of Italy to northern Europe, as it has never non has been developed—for it is not now for the "3rd.—Yesterday was your Monthly Meeting; been opened before, will be completed in the short first time brought to light—in connection with the ave thee, was remarkable, and showing the wo- Modane and Bardoneche, will be about nine Eng- as a stream of air, issuing from a reservoir, where an's faith. When the little ones are left sincerely lish miles, while that which is spoken of as init has been held at a pressure of six atmospheres, the care of our great Caretaker; and with sintended to open the communication between Italy passes into the mine, all water in its neighbourhood ore hearts we meet to worship Him, we may with all South Germany will, it is said, be sixteen suddenly congeals, or freezes, even although the ith trust. I have been thinking this evening, if miles long. It will readily be understood by the surrounding temperature be as high as 72° Fahnere was more sincerity and simplicity of heart, general reader, that the usual mode of expediting renheit. It is observed upon this point, that as would be better for us as a Society. I just now such works as these, by sinking shafts from above the great distance from the surface will render the member dear Sarah Cresson's communication to at different points, so as to allow of several gangs interior of the subalpine tunnel very warm, the in our women's Monthly Meeting, shortly after of miners being employed simultaneously, is in this injection of cold air for ventilating purposes, te 'separation.' She spoke so feelingly, 'No mat- case inapplicable, as many thousand feet of granite (which, we should have mentioned before, forms r how low we are, so that we are preserved from and other rock stand perpendicularly over the line an essential part of the plan adopted by the Piedespair.' That was a day of close besetment and of the tunnel. The expeditions mode which we montese engineers,) will have the happy effect of have described, is all the more valuable on this equalizing the temperature, as well as supplying

Some very interesting particulars remain to be ments. While so much is heard about Piedmont and rance, it may be interesting to call attention to a the chain which separates Italy from the rest of thus condensed becomes a vastly more manageable, the continent of Europe. Much interest has been and not less effective power, than the water itself atmosphere, the water was frozen and fell about in through all classes of our travelling population, and have been. To effect this, a simple yet of small balls of ice.

The great question of sub-alpine tunnelling; and fectual plan is adopted, which we shall attempt to

As to ventilation, a great deal has been written een more striking than his appeal, 'Can't thee once made, the rock is blasted, and the rubbish might be employed in many instances, in which steam is now considered indispensable. In many se, and being ready himself, broke forth in all this divested of needless technicalities, is, by parts of our own country, a water-power capable to nor interpare; one thing only, and yet, all the adoption of machinery in this grand under-possible required extent might easily be found; can be adoption of machinery in this grand under-possible required extent might easily be found; taking. By keeping this in view, and imagining while it is well worth considering how far the staope thou and — both got there, and that the space of six years.

Uses of compressed air, namely, its congealing or title ones were cared for. That account R. F. The actual length of subterraneous road between refrigerating power. It would seem that, as soon fresh air for respiration and all other requirereat work of engineering skill and art, which is tion by a Piedmontese engineer as to the possibility this in any climate, and under all possible circumkely to have a more lasting influence than any of making the water-power, which nature so abundances, it follows that a method of supplying so danly provides in the Alpine regions, perform all essential a necessary of life and preserver of the work which, in flat countries, is necessarily health in warm climates, and so acceptable and thrown upon the steam-horse. Thus, it was stated addition to comfort even in our northern latitudes, tid that "tunnels were a nuisance, and ought by that water might be employed to haul up trains must, sooner or later, attract the attention of I means to be avoided if possible," is a truth upon steep inclines to about half the height at seicnific men and of the public at large. In the nown to many a disappointed shareholder. The tained by the present carriage roads, and to pro-"Mechanics' Magazine" for 1851, there was an add millions needlessly and injuriously sunk in pel them through the tunnels, which, entering the account of a machine, invented by Dr. Gorric, of nese odious perforations, here in England, are a mountains at that elevation, would, of course, be New Orleans, by means of which water is frozen dreminiscence to too many amongst us. There very much less costly and slow of execution. A in large quantities by exposure to condensed air, the reminiscence to too many amongst us. There very much less costly and slow of execution. All in large quantities by exposure to condensed air, re, however, in the development of the great rail. very ingenious application of water has certainly in the act of its subsequent expansion. It is ay system, situations in which tunnelling becomes been adopted in the case now before us, with common and the situation of the state of the subsequent expansion. It is an ember hearing, some years ago, of something hen great mountain-ranges cross the line of route, water is not, however, the direct agent; it is emiliate this naturally occurring in a German mine, and pre-eminently so in respect of that great Al. ployed only to act as an air condenser, and the air where a rush of water and air taking place simul-

upon the presumed impossibility of ventilating a Most readers will know what is meant by a tunnel passing under the Alps; and calculations ountry, a brief notice of the matter may be according to the period of the control of the letter U. The cubic measurement of air destroyed by every loco-In common with others not in the secret, we had syphon, when in use, has its ends turned down-motive which enters the tube. It is singular that urselves formed vague, and, as it seems, erroneous wards; but in this case the bent tube, of propor any engineer should have been so ignorant of the eas of the nature of the machinery which, it was tionate dimensions, has them turned up. Into one power of Wilkinson's "iron bellows," or "steam ated, was to be employed in perforating the base end of this tube, the water from above is let fall, blower," now so generally used in blast furnaces of f the Alpine barrier dividing Piedmont from of course forcibly driving the air before it up into every sort, as to doubt the possibility of throwing rance.

* the other branch, and, its escape being prevented, by its means a stream of air into the very heart. It appears, from the report sent to the Academy condensing it. A reservoir is connected with this of the tunnel. Whatever other objections may be Sciences at Paris, by M. Manchera, a member end, which the condensed air is allowed to enter by urged against these colossal works of human skill the Bidden and days the product the product of the theory of the product of the prod the Piedmontese Parliament, that the real ope-a valve, and this is ultimately charged with air at ation of the machine is confined to the boring of "six atmospheres" of pressure, constituting a power capable of being supplied most abundantly and oles, for blasting in the ordinary way; and that fully as effective as any steam-boiler or water wheel cheaply with the "vital fluid" for any number of passengers, and any possible waste of air by the

as to what is actually doing in reference to the fulfilling her social duties. As long as her hodily prisoned on that account." * * He " left a pretty great undertaking of sub-alpine tunnels, necessary strength enabled her, she rode on horseback by numerous offspring, some of them young, for whose as they are to the completion of the European berself; but becoming feeble, several years before ternal welfare, we have great reason to believe system of iron roads, from which so much is ex- her death, she rode behind one of her servants; be was particularly solicitous. Being once very peeted in the promotion of harmony and good will "and so," adds her memorial, "continued to visit ill, while on a visit to Friends at some distance between man and man, and between nation and Friends, and attend meetings, to near the last pe- from home, he seemed most ardently to desire that nation. Mere knowledge will not do all that we ried of her time." She "departed this life in a he might finish his course among his dear children require; but free intercommunication will doubt- good old age, in the year 1708." less do much, by tending to the removal of that barrier to all improvement-ignorance.

For "The Friend."

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES Of Ministers and Elders and other concerned members of the Yearly Meeting of Philadelphia.

(Continued from page 12.)

THE PLEASANTS FAMILY OF VIRGINIA. JOHN AND JANE PLEASANTS.

John Pleasants, the first settler, bearing that name, in Virginia, was born in the city of Norwich, old England, some years previously to 1650. When he had arrived at man's estate, he was sent over to America as a factor for a merchant, and caused their labours to be blessed. Says his meafter some time took up his abode at Curles, in morial, "He was a good neighbour, a loving hus-Henrico county, Virginia. His education had, without doubt, been in the established church, but pleased the Lord to call from works to rewards in he was convinced of the Truth as held by Friends, the prime of life." He died in the year 1713, and became an honest, humble walker therein, and aged about forty-two years. suffered in support of the Truth he professed. About the year 1670, he was married to Jane, the widow of Captain Samuel Tucker, from Bristol. There was, at that time, no Monthly Meeting of Friends, John and Dorothy Pleasants, was born Ninth mo. in the neighbourhood of Curles, and probably not 3d, 1695. He was blest with a good natural unin Virginia. Being unable, therefore, to lay their intentions before a meeting of that sort, they convened a company of Friends and others, in his own deavouring to bring him up in the nurture and adthey intended marriage with each other. Having from the care and religious oversight of his parents, thus given opportunity for any who thought they had cause to object to come forward, and none ap-pearing, they some time afterwards went to a public meeting of Friends held in York county, where was preserved in outward innocence amongst men, John obtained a valuable help-meet, as respects ness before the Lord. time and eternity. She was an earnest advocate for the Truth, a practical living example thereof daughter of Robert Jordan, and a sister of Robert, in her own conduct and conversation, and was en- the eminent minister of that name, and thereby bedowed with a gift in the ministry of the gospel of the graph of the gr exemplary manner, agreeable to the principles of twenty-ninth year of his age, [1724,] he was called Truth, and were diligent in attending meetings, as to the work of the ministry. He accompanied his well those at a distance as that at Curles, in the brother-in-law, Robert Jordan, in 1725, on a relisettlement whereof they were the principal in-struments in the hand of Providence. He was a him "a hopeful minister." man so generally respected amongst his neigha life of usefulness in the community, and of faith-and particularly serviceable at that early time in a tends to confirm that his diligence and labours prolit is alleged, are taken from them by the kidnay wilderness country, the good effect whereof was ceeded from an earnest concern for the promotion yery visible in the place where she lived for a long of Truth and a right gospel ministry. Indeed he into the admission that they are runways slave time." She survived her beloved husband, and, was a man much devoted to the service of Truth, when they are taken into Missouri, and sold for although advanced in age, was very diligent in the and was a considerable sufferer for bearing his more Southern market.

JOHN PLEASANTS, THE SECOND.

John Pleasants, eldest son of John and Jane Pleasauts, was born at Curles, in the year 1671. He was early visited by the Lord's Holy Spirit, through submission to which he became convinced of the Truth, and, in the words of a memorial concerning him, "was in a good degree faithful to the measure of Grace, he had received, which enabled him to suffer persecution for the cause of Truth, and to be serviceable in his day and station." He married Dorothy Cairey, daughter of Thomas Cairey, of the county of Warwick. She proved a valuable and exemplary wife. They were concerned to govern their family of six children in the fear of the Lord, and his grace accompanying it, band, a kind master, and a tender father, whom it

THOMAS PLEASANTS.

Thomas, the eldest son of the last named Friends, derstanding, and his father procured for him the advantage of a good literary education, whilst enstore-house, before whom they made public that monition of the Lord. The advantages he derived were manifest, and although still in his minority at the marriage was solemnized. By this connection, and in a good degree of holy stability and faithful-

As he increased in age, he married Mary, a

His memorial says, "He laboured both amongst bours, that without his solicitation he was twice Friends and other people, where no meetings had chosen representative for the county." The office, been before, much to the satisfaction of all." His however, he never filled, as he was conscientiously labours were "much confined to his own country, restrained from taking the customary oaths. After where there was much need of faithful labourers. He was not discouraged at the smallness of the ful dedication in the church militant, he was called number from endeavouring to discharge his duty, to the recompense of reward, about the year 1698. as well amongst Friends belonging to the adjacent His memorial adds, "As he was much beloved, so meetings, as those at a distance, and was instru-organized band of kidnappers is at the preser he was much missed by his neighbours, friends mental in the convincement of several in the upper time keeping the coloured population of Kansas i and family." Of his widow, a memorial says, she "was zeal- two or three meetings. He wrote an episte a few cipally from among the Arkansas exiles, who, ous for the cause of Truth, and had a gift in the years before his death, directed to Friends in every few years since, were driven from that State, an ministry which was very acceptable to Friends, station, but more particularly the ministers, which which is, we believe, the first reliable information attendance of religious meetings, and carnest in testimony against priest's wages, and was once imin order that he might have an opportunity at that awful period to enforce his advices, and promote the cause of God, to which he was much devoted to the last." His death took place at his own dwelling

Eleventh mo. 24th, 1744. (To be continued.)

Selected.

DARE TO BE RIGHT. Dare to be right! dare to be true! You have a work that no other can do. Do it so bravely, so kindly, so well, As to gladden all heaven, and silence all hell.

Dare to he right! dare to he true! Other men's failures can never save you; Stand by your conscience, your honour, your faith Stand like a hero, and battle till death.

Dare to be right! dare to he true! Keep the great judgment-seat always in view; Look at your work as you 'Il look at it then, Scanned by Jehovah, and angels, and men.

Dare to be right! dare to be true! Love may deny you its sunshine and dew. Let the dew fail, for then showers shall be given; Dew is from earth, but the showers are from heaven

Dare to be right! dare to be true! God, who created you, cares for you too; Bottles the tears that his striving ones shed-Counts and protects every hair of your head. Dare to be right! dare to he true!

Cannot Omnipotence carry you through? City, and mansiou, and throne all in sight, Can you not dare to be true and be right?

Dare to be right! dare to be true! The sun may burn red, and the planets burn blue God may toss back the systems to chaos again, But his promise forever is yea and amen.

Dare to be right! dare to be true! Prayerfully, lovingly, firmly pursue The pathway by saints and by seraphim trod, The pathway that climbs to the city of God. G. L. Taylor.

TO THE YOUTH.

Selected

Ye rising youth, the hope of future times, You who have felt the cords of heavenly love, To draw and disengage you from the world, Keep near that quick ning, vivifying power, That freed from bondage Israel's favour'd sons; So shall you grow to glad paternal care, And stand as warriors in defence of Truth, On you the important cause must soon devolve: Oh! be you faithful, npright, and sincere.

That Sion thus may shake herself, and shine With the bright lustre of her ancient days.

Kidnappers in Kansas .- It is stated, that a

For "The Friend."

In looking over the "Transactions of the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania," at its session recently held in Philadelphia, we were struck with the justice of many of the remarks of the "Indiana County Medical Society." believe that the experience of physicians is almost chewing, or snuffing, it always so deteriorates the nervous system, as materially to interfere with a healthful performance of its functions in some one like the children. or more of the organs; often produces disease that undermines both physical and mental strength, and invariably renders its victim less able to throw off it imposes upon its lovers. There are serious considerations of responsibility connected with some of the views presented in this report, that ought to induce every one who has been betrayed into the habitual use of this narcotic, to abandon it at once, be drunkards at twenty-five. even though they may think they have and will themselves escape unharmed.

TOBACCO.

hereditary diseases are increasing among us, with with small distilleries, and the young men that fearful rapidity. We cannot help pausing at were raised up about them, are among the most propositious: times, and ask ourselves the question, Why is temperate in their neighbourhood; many of them this so? What is the cause or causes of this not tasting a drop. Occasionally you will meet the true knowledge of God, this is life eternal to change in the human family? No one will doubt with one addicted to strong drink; in these in know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ that there are many causes for it; but, by ex. stances you generally find that they spent much whom thou hast sent, the true and right under-amining one by one, the supposed or real causes, time in idleness, and used tobacco in some form; standing of this foundation, and ground of knowcarefully and impartially, we must say that the and had companions with the same habits. excessive use of tobacco, so common in our country for many years past, is the principal. No arti- this subject, nor in a report of this kind is it excle so injurious to the human economy is in so gene-pected; but I wished to notice it merely, that the the Son revealeth Him,' and seeing the revelation ral use—we might say universal use. The habit is subject may be taken up by those who are able to of the Son is in and by the Spirit, therefore the so common, that persons not addicted to it might do justice to one of so much magnitude. be termed exceptions. Wood & Bache, in the United States Dispensatory, speaking of the effects of tobacco, say, that 'Tobacco, when used in exduring the use of an accumulative toxic principle? following note, expressing his conviction of its truth, I think not. If the blood is not affected, why the emaciation and serious nervous derangement? Is not the blood the source from which the component parts of every tissue derives its material? modification of its elements must then modify the secretory-the nutrient, as well as the nervous ac-

Are not hereditary diseases produced by some primary modification in the constitution or elements of the blood? It is well known, that this agent will affect the system, applied locally, taken into the mouth, or inhaled into the lungs. It has proved fatal in many cases, administered in different forms. In all the defects and changes in the blood, each particle must participate, and the solids suffer in proportion to their physiological relation; hence the corresponding changes in the

The nervous derangement is another evidence being, in health and disease.

them to a process, like what the hydropathist calls is no great matter; for I act not here the grampacking, and then examine the linen. I need not marian, or the orator, but the christian; and thereoffer more.

unhealthy being, diseased, poisoned, and emaciated,

By an impartial investigation, we not only find maladies not originating from its use, than those disease produced, but morbid appetites. It is not who have not subjected themselves to the bondage often that we see a person found of strong drink, in measure, grace to be a dispenser of the same that is not a slave to tobacco in some form. In seven to ten years of age, chewing and smoking. If we watch their course, the majority of them will

Many are of opinion that it is the tasting of intoxicating drinks that makes the drunkard; close investigation will not sustain this opinion. Many Most persons are satisfied that many of the years ago, these western counties were studded

I have neither time nor ability to do justice to

For "The Friend."

Robert Barclay's Apology for the true christian cess, enfeebles digestion, produces emaciation, and Divinity, as held and believed in by the Society of general debility; and lays the foundation of seri- Friends, has always been regarded as a sound and ous nervous disorders-sometimes mental disorder, true exposition of their faith, by all the substantial closely resembling delirium tremens.' It is liable members. Some time in the past century, a Friend to disorder the digestive organs, and produce gene- loaned a copy of it to a person not belonging to ral debility. Can the blood be in a healthy state the Society, and after reading it, he returned the

> For Barclay's learned Apology is due, My hearty thanks and gratitude to you. The more I read, the more my wonder 's raised, I viewed him often, and as often praised Commanding reason through the whole design, And thoughts sublime appear in every line. Sure some diviner spirit did inspire His pregnant genius with celestial fire; In what he writes seems more than man to be, Throughout the whole of his Divinity. Long bad I censured with stupendous rage, And blamed their tenets with a foolish age, Thought nothing could appear in their defence, Till Barclay shone with all the rays of sense. No more with the censorious world I 'll sin, Condemning those who own the light within; If they can see with Barclay's piercing eyes, The world may deem them tools, but they are wise.

In reference to his Apology, Robert Barclay says: "What I have written comes more from my heart than from my head; what I have heard with of its destructive property, as the nervous system the ears of my soul, and seen with my inward eyes, the mind to a natural assent—as that the whole is is subject to influences through the blood, and is and my hands have handled of the Word of life. greater than its part; that two contradictory saydeeply implicated in all the phenomena of the living What hath been inwardly manifested to me of the ings, cannot be both true, nor both false." things of God, that do I declare; not so much re-fore in this I have followed the certain rule of the Now, the main question may be put: Can an Divine Light, and of the Holy Scriptures.'

In his address to the clergy, he says, "Your contained in the following extract from the report beget the reverse? We all know that there are school divinity, which taketh up almost a man's We certain tendencies and predispositions; and these whole lifetime to learn, brings not a whit nearer are generally inherited. Will not everything that to God, neither makes any man less wicked, or uniform, respecting the very injurious effects of impairs health, and depresses the vital organism, more righteous than he was. Therefore bath God tobacco upon the human system, and that whether favour the natural tendency? We have the law laid aside the wise and learned, and the disputers its poisonous principle is introduced by smoking, that the 'parents eat sour grapes, and the chil. of this world; and hath chosen a few despicable dren's teeth are set on edge.' We have no evi- and unlearned instruments, as to letter learning, as dence that the persons eating the grapes suffered he did fishermen of old, to publish his pure and like the children. We may venture one step further. Is not this wherewith the clergy hath clouded it, that the habit the foundation of drunkenness in our land? people might admire and maintain them. Among several others whom God hath chosen to make known these things, seeing I also have received gospel, it seemed good unto me, according to my most of our villages and towns, we see boys from duty, to offer unto you these propositions; which, though short, yet are weighty, comprehending much, and declaring what the true ground of knowledge is, even that knowledge which leads to life eternal; which is here witnessed of, and the testimony thereof left unto the light of Christ in all your consciences." That knowledge which is life eternal, and the way to obtain it, are referred to in the following

"Seeing the height of all happiness is placed in ledge, is that which is most necessary to be known and believed in the first place." "Seeing 'no man knoweth the Father but the Son, and he to whom testimony of the Spirit is that alone by which the true knowledge of God hath been, is, and can be only revealed. As by the moving of his own Spirit, he converted the chaos of this world into that wonderful order wherein it was in the beginning, and created man a living soul, to rule and govern it, so by the revelation of the same Spirit, he hath manifested himself all along unto the sons of men, both patriarchs, prophets, and apostles; which revelations of God by the Spirit, whether by outward voices and appearances, or inward objective manifestations in the heart, were of old the formal object of their faith, and remain yet so to be; since the object of the saint's faith is the same in all ages, though set forth under divers administrations. Moreover these divine inward revelations, which we make absolutely necessary for the building up of true faith, neither do nor can ever contradict the outward testimony of the Scriptures, or right and sound reason. Yet from hence it will not follow, that these divine revelations are to be subjected to the examination, either of the outward testimony of the Scriptures, or of the natural reason of man, as to a more noble or certain rule or touchstone. For this divine revelation and inward illumination, is that which is evident and clear of itself, forcing by its own evidence and clearness, the well disposed understanding to assent, irresistibly moving the same thereunto; even as the com-mon principles of natural truths move and incline

We have had no member of our religious Soci-I think it will not be disputed that the system of garding the eloquence and excellency of speech, as ety, who has so fully, and with such force and the tobacco chewer and smoker becomes saturated desiring to demonstrate the efficacy and operation clearness, set forth the doctrines of the christian with the substance; for instance, subject one of of truth. And if I err sometimes in the former, it religion, as held by Friends, and the operation of the Holy Spirit in the work of regeneration, and energetically recommended as "an incumbent duty practice had been generally adopted!" It may be the performance of the various duties in the wor-ship of Almighty God, and in the services of the quent reading of the Holy Scriptures was instichurch, as our highly gifted and honourable Friend, tuted for Yearly Meetings, 1696, and Mouthly the Society, yet he has no objection to consider Robert Barclay. However some worldly members Meetings, 1755. may now strive to lay waste the Apology, for the It is therefore indisputable, that so far from causes for his "decadence." stroy the unchangeable truths which it declares, Scriptures." standings, and contribute to their love of the things with Friends' books of the seventeenth, eighteenth unjust and unmerited reprobation. of God's kingdom, and strengthen their desires to and nineteenth centuries, but in them we have be found following the Lord Jesus, our Saviour searched in vain for "this deficiency." We have and Redeemer, in the path which he casts up. conversed with the living, and see it not in them. hardship inflicted on parties who have been dis-No work written by a Friend, we believe has been with the file success. On the contemporary owned for marrying contrary to the rules of the so instrumental in convincing others of the soundances of our faith as this has. It has been presented from all these sources of information, as well as the exercise of its disciplinary rules, the Society to men in high stations, in the different govern-from religious ministrations in meetings for worship, ments in christendom, as an official and regularly and the answers to the queries, we have derived charity and forbearance which ought to influence acknowledged exhibit of the religious principles of such information as impels us to precisely an oppolits decisions; and that in some Monthly Meetings the Society of Friends, from its rise to the present site conclusion. Whoever has read the Society's there has been a closer adherence to the letter of

From the British Friend.

Remarks on John S. Rowntree's "Quakerism; Past and Present." (Continued from page 2.)

of better evidence the author has freely availed In the Episules, written and printed, as well as istration of all laws, and necessarily arises from the himself of the oft-refuted calumnics, with which in every other official document issued by the So-imperfections of our nature; but it is absurd to the Society was assailed during the early stages of ciety, from the earliest times to the present day, contend that, because of this imperfection in adits existence. He not only charges the Society the authority of the Scriptures are unequivocally ministering them, all rules of discipline should be with undervaluing the Scriptures, but says also recognized, and passages from them are frequently either altogether abrogated, or so constructed as to that some thought "it a part of their profession to quoted in confirmation of its principles and the deprive them of all penal force. avoid the regular daily reading of Holy Scripture," advice which they may contain. (p. 54;) and that "the consequences" were "a wide-spread ignorance of scriptural truth, most tion has long been, and continues to be paid to the mate range of a church's duty to endeavour to hurtful to the growth of vital religion," (p. 175.) instruction of the children in scriptural knowledge; prevent the formation of such unions," (p. 147.) He adds: "It may easily be understood how con- and the members of the Society have been among And in pp. 152, 153, he says, "Experience might siderable was this deficiency of intelligent scriptural the foremost and most earnest supporters of the have taught the Quaker legislators of the 18th knowledge, which existed in the Society, previous British and Foreign Bible Society. to the close of the last century; at which period the daily family reading of the inspired volume the unceasing efforts of the Society to promote the cate tasks that can be undertaken, and that it is before urged upon its members the reading of the it did so, "the practice had been generally adopt- existence was in the first half century of its hismost influential proximate cause of the numerical ed." This would be, if true, a heinous delinquency cory, when, according to his own account, the decline of the Society." in any religious body, and more particularly in one Scriptures were undervalued; and again he says, ity. So serious a charge, when so confidently all years, swept away so many thousand members in leged, ought to have been supported by irrefragable reland and America, were officially recognized as English paper, in speaking of the failure in descent He seems, and may be given in a ten words. In the corridors and the generally adopted at the last tentury. So that, according to Meeting Epistles," issued by the Society in the this prize essay, the Society flourished, when the eighteenth century, "the frequent and diligent regular daily reading of the Bible was "avoided." In want of that spiritual understanding and discern- the Society having even negatively discouraged ment, with which he was divinely favoured in an the reading of the Scriptures, it has, ever since its sistencies to the judgment of our readers, we shall extraordinary degree, and because of their unwill- first establishment to the present time, considered content ourselves by observing, that after having ingness to submit to the religion of the cross of the subject as of the highest importance, and never mixed much with both the ministers and people of Christ in their own hearts as inculcated by him, ceased with apostolic earnestness to advise its other religious denominations for many years, we their shafts will fall to the ground, and fail to de- members to "a frequent reading of the Holy are most decidedly of the opinion, that, if we ex-> literature, commencing with George Fox, and concluding with Stephen Grellet, cannot but bear tion. Nay more, we admit that where the disciwilling testimony to the thorough knowledge of the pline has been administered by those members who Scriptures, which is displayed in these truly esti- were not "rightly exercised"—who were not touchmable works. Even in those of the early Friends, ed with a feeling of their own infirmities, and who which were written at a time when copies of the sought rather to execute the law than to lure back was recommended by London Yearly Meeting, acquisition of scriptural knowledge among its pre-emineutly one in which, whilst men may be and this practice has been generally adopted," (p. members, J. S. Rowntree urges "its once inade-influenced by christiau counsel, by public opinion."

which especially professed true spiritual christian- the desolating heresies which, within the last sixty reading of the Holy Scriptures" is earnestly and and was rife in heresies and declension, "when this taken, than to dispute with them.

Leaving those unsupported assertions and inconcept the ministers, there is no other religious Soand multitudes now living and of those yet unborn, With these records of the Society before us, the eiety, in which its members have a better know-will own the work, and maintain its christian doc-essayist cannot be surprised, if we differ with him, ledge of the Scriptures, or a more intelligent aptrines, as in strict accordance with the revelations when he says—It may easily be understood how preciation of gospel truths, than the members of of the Holy Sprint in themselves, and the testimony considerable was this deficiency of intelligent scriptors. We would advise our tural knowledge which existed in the Society,"—errors in the book before us, there is not one, we beloved young Friends to read the work carefully for we confess we can neither understand nor cre- conceive, so ntterly destitute of everything that is and seriously, and we believe that in the light of dit it. Nor do we know where any evidences of it requisite to command our credence, or that so the Lord, its truth will be sealed upon their under- are to be obtained. We are tolerably conversant needlessly and recklessly exposes the Society to

The Holy Scriptures.—In seeking for reasons Bible were comparatively scarce and costly, there for the alleged decadence of the Society, it is obvious to the readers of this essay, that in default with the "best of books."

J. S. Rowntree freely admits that "mixed" mar-In the Society's schools, the most sedulous atten- riages are evils, and that it is "within the legiticentury, that the direction of mankind in the affair And yet, with all this concurrent testimony to of marriage is one of the most difficult and deliquate estimate of the value of the Holy Scripture," by education, and by persuasion, it is also one in The legitimate inference from this is, that until (p. 167.) as one of the operative causes of the So-the close of the last century, the Society had never ciety's decline! which they will not be driven or dragooned. The latter was chosen by the Quakers of the 'middle Nor does his inconsistency rest here. He tells age,' and has been maintained, with little relaxa-Scriptures as an incumbent duty, and that when us that the most flourishing period of the Society's tion, to the present day. We consider it as the evidence, or never to have been made. The charge caused by a defective acquaintance with Scripture; in many of the families of the nobility, that of the is incapable of proof, and is unfounded in fact. It is a libel on the Society. Its complete refutation diately preceding, that the daily family reading of the observance of the Magna Charta, there is not is easy, and may be given in a few words. In the Scriptures had been generally adopted at the now in the House of Peers a single male descend-

(To be continued.)

It is often better to pray for those who are mis-

Missing Link.'

clay of the bricks, and the breeze is used as fuel to to the throne of the Sultan. burn between their layers.

new; everything, in short, that the householder flict but light punishment on others.

Some time to the state of feeling existing throughout Turkey already shed.

gance bear rule.

the waste paper."-Ledger.

THE FRIEND.

NINTH MONTH 22, 1860.

rel features of the dreadful massacre of the Masupposed injuries.

The charge has been publicly made, that the How deplorable it is that the policy and actious an article on the Londou poor, to the July number the details of which have been spread before the mountaineers, and had fomented the long-existing of the Quarterly Review, we clip the following ex-tract. It is a quotation from a book called "The every one capable of feeling. It has been well to bring about some disturbance that would afford known that ever since the stipulation entered into a pretext for their interference. But we have not "The contents of every dust bin in this vast by the Suitan of Turkey, in 1856, with England been able to discover any sufficient ground for this London are carried away periodically. The dust- and France, that thereafter his christian subjects grave accusation, nor could the French Emperor man receives a small gratuity from each house- should be entitled to equal rights and protection have supposed that he could interfere, without the holder, and when he has collected a cart load, he as the Mohammedans, the latter have allowed their consent and co-operation of the other great Powdemands another shilling at the gate of the Pad-long-cherished and fanatical hatred of every one ers of Europe. dington wharves, as he deposits it within their pre- professing christianity, to be greatly inflamed and ciuts. A dust heap is very valuable to the con-embittered. Wherever and whenever they could bly aware of the dreadful carnage that took place, tractor, and a large one is said to be worth four or do so, they have forcibly resisted the action of the when these poor, benighted heathen, giving loose five thousand pounds. It has to be silted, sorted "Hatti Humaigoun," as the decree of the Sultan to their demoniacal passions, were permitted by the and disposed of. We can give but a slight idea of is designated, so that in almost all parts of the Turks to fall upon the unarmed and defenceless its miscellaneous contents. Its chief constituent kingdom, it remained a dead letter. Inflamed by Marouites. Thousands were murdered in cold clement is cinders, mixed with bits of coal, from the conviction that the hated "Infidel" had tri-blood; women and children often sharing the same the carelessness or waste of thousands of servants, umphed over their head and chief, and that unless fate as their husbands, fathers, and brothers; while which the searchers pick out of the heap to be sold some decisive step was speedily taken, the power of thousands of women are said to have been sold to forthwith. The largest and best of the einders are Islam must pass away, and the followers of the fill the harems of their purchasers. also selected for the use of laundresses and braziers, "Prophet" hereafter accept toleration and protection from the bands of those they had ever looked to interfere for the protection of the professing far greater remainder is called breeze, because it is poon as accursed, the ignorant and inflatated elbristian subjects of the Sultan, he has entered the portion left after the wind has blown the cin-populace, raised the cry, throughout the land, of vigorously into measures for the suppression of der dust from it, through large upright iron sieves, extermination to the "christian dogs." They de-the murderons conflict, and to bring the aggressors

"But the heap likewise includes soft ware and so many proofs of his desire to introduce into his celling out his provinces among the sovereigns who hardware. The former includes all vegetable and government and country, some of the improvements have so long had a covetous eye upon them.

wasteful addition which the masters never knew, in Asia, arising from the constantly increasing

The Value of a London Dust Heap .-- From banon, in Syria, which has recently occurred; and French had been tampering with these ferocious

As we have before said, our readers are proba-beld and shaken elbow-high by the women who manded that the doctrine of conversion to Islam to condign punishment. He evidently fears the stand in the heap, whilst men throw up the stuff ism or death, so long carried out by the faithful result of a continued tarriance of the troops of the into the sieves. The breeze and ashes also are successors of the "Prophet," should be revived Allies in his dominion; well knowing there are sold to brickmakers, the ashes are mixed with the and enforced against all those who owed allegiance millions of his subjects, professing a common faith with them, who would be rejoiced to unite with The present occupant of that throne, had given them in driving the Turks from power, and par-

animal matter—all that will decompose. All these of civilized nations, that his orthodoxy, as a good It is a sad reflection, that there has been a geneare carried off to be employed as manure. Stale Musselman, has long been greatly doubted, and ral cry for "vengeance,—for a retribution in blood, fish and dead cats come into this list, the skins of the apprehension expressed that he was disposed for the cruel crimes of these savages—from the the latter being stripped off by the sifters, who can to embrace another faith, and permit christian in- nations professing the benign and forgiving religion sell them for 4d. or 6d., according to their colour, stitutions to break up the obstinate indolence, the of the Prince of Peace; who came to save men's white being most in request. The hardware does ancient and barbarous habits, and the blood-thirsty lives, and not to destroy them. Whether from the out merely mean broken pottery, though of this intolerance of the Turkish nation. A wide-spread promptings of his own heart, or actuated by this there is great abundance. Part of the pottery is conspiracy, embracing many of the high officers of unmistakable demonstration of the wishes of his matched and mended by the women who find it, the court and many of the principal chiefs, was christian allies, the Sultan has sent Faud Pasha, and becomes their perquisite; the rest, with the entered into; having for its objects the death or with an army, to the scene of destruction; clothed hardware in the dust heap means rags, which go to the bone when in power, should repeal the obnoxious Hatti, latter part of his commission, this minister has had boilers; old iron, brass and lead, to salesmeu of and devote his infidel subjects to slavery or death. several hundred of the more active participants in those metals; broken glass, to old glass shops; This was in last year; but its timely discovery by the massacres arrested, and by the last accounts, and compets, old mattresses, old boxes, old paids, the government, prevented its being carried into already nearly two hundred of them had sufficred old baskets, broken tea boards, candlesticks, old execution; though so extensive were the ramifical death. The Pasha of the province has been deold baskets, broken tea boards, candlesticks, old execution; though so extensive were the ramificadeath. The Pasha of the province has been defenders, old silk handkerchiefs, knives and salt-tions of the plot, and so numerous and influential graded and imprisoned; and, in the spirit that accellars—not forgetting old shoes, which go in its originators and abettors, that the Sultan was tuates man in his natural state, the halter and the baskets to the translators, who turn old shoes into obliged to overlook the guilt of very many, and in sword are likely to be sedulously employed for some time to come, in recompensing for the blood

There has been a stipulation obtained by the from mansions where recklessness and extrava- hostility of the professors of the two creeds, has Sultan, that the European troops landed in Syria, been long known; and expectation has been kept shall not remain there more than six months; and "Some of the contents are the sifter's perquisite excited to hear of some dreadful outbreak which unless there should be some extraordinary and -a certain amount of cinders and as much paper would light up a conflagration that could be extin-palpable cause for delay, Louis Napoleon will and wood as they can carry, and corks or bottles, guished only in blood. The Druses, who have hardly dare to violate the engagement. But the by which alone some boast they can find themselves figured so largely in the late murderous scenes, are result of this outbreak and interference, cannot be a shoe-leather; pill boxes also and gallipots are a tribe of heterodox Mohammedans inhabiting foreseen; and many anticipate the overthrow of their lawful property. Jewelry, silver forks and Mount Lebanon, in common with the Maronites; the Mohammedan dynasty and destruction of its spoons, and money are occasionally found, and too and repeated collisions between the two have served traditional policy, as their ultimate effect. It is often appropriated by the finder. One day, a to augment the deadly hatred that has long existed one of the inscrutable mysteries of Divine counsel, check for a considerable sum was discovered among one towards the other. It is difficult from the that the Almighty has permitted so large a portion conflicting statement made, to ascertain which were of the finest country on the earth, including the the aggressors in the present instance; but there land which he gave to Abraham and his seed for appears to be little doubt that the Druses, renew-ever, to be, for so long a period, in possession of the ediy excited by the prevalent fanatical feeling, and followers of the false "Prophet;" and the time aware that the Turkish Pasha and his subordinates may be near at hand, when He will cast them would screen, if not co-operate with them, had down, and cause the light of his glorious gospel, been for some time ready to rise upon the "chris- to shine more eminently within its borders, and the Our readers are probably familiar with the gene- tians," and revenge themselves for their real or sacred truths of Holy Scripture to supersede the culated to commend it to the benighted Musselmans; hung, and one hundred and ten soldiers shot. He had sea telegraph communication which retuses to work. colated to commend 11to the benighted Musselmans; along, and one understand the somes such a few that in their intercourse with them, they see so little display of the intrinsic power of the religion which publicly degraded at Constantinople on the 5th, by orchristians profess, to transform man from his natu-der of the Sultan. Sickening details relative to the late the cable from Malta to Corfu has also gone the way of ral condition, to enable him to curb his passions, to do justly, love mercy, and walk humbly; but are too often led to think there can be nothing divine in it, or its disciples would not live in the unrestrained indulgence of the lusts and propensities common to all mankind, when they have the power to gratify them, and show their own disbelief in its truth, by violating the precepts and practices it The ill-concealed coveting of their country by the high professing Potentates of Europe, the hatred of and wars of professing christian nations, with one another; the prevalent use of intoxicating drinks among them, from which the Turks are free; the squalid misery of their poor; must all be powerful arguments in the mind of the better class of Mohammedans, against embracing a religion which, while it sets up so exalted a a religion which, while it sets up so exalted a had visited the rebels, and been well received by them. standard, appears to him to effect so little of good, Their forces appeared to be numerous, well armed and and to tolerate so much of evil.

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

EUROPE .- News from Liverpool to the 6th inst. The weather continued comparatively fine throughout England and Ireland, and the harvest prospects were more promising.

The first street railway in England, upon the American plan, had been formally inaugurated at Birkenhead near Liverpool, and the general impression was highly favourable. Measures were about to be taken for in-troducing the system in London, Dublin, Manchester, and other cities.

The London Times protests against Lindsay's mission to the United States relative to the shipping interests as ordered by Parliament, and the Ship Owners' Society of London had passed resolutions regretting Lindsay's semi-official visit to America, and declaring that he does not possess their confidence. The Arctic steamer Fox had made a satisfactory survey of the Faroe Islands, for the proposed line of telegraph to the Western continent, and had proceeded to leeland.

Smith, Sinclair & Co., linen factors of London, bad suspended payment; their liabilities were estimated at £150,000. It was feared that their failure would lead to that of other houses in the same trade.

The Liverpool cotton market was active at a small advance. Sales of the week, 95,000 bales. The stuck in port was 1,022,000 bales.

The Manchester advices were favourable. The market was buoyant, and prices of all descriptions of yarns and goods slightly higher.

The market for all kinds of breadstuffs was dull, and and wheat, about 4d. per 100 pounds; corn was 6d. per quarter lower. Consols, 931 a 931. The revolution in Italy appeared to be steadily progressing. A Naples despatch of the 6th, aunounces the arrival of Garibaldi and his forces at Salerno. He was expected at Naples almost immediately.

Eight Sardinian war vessels were in the Bay of Naples, and it was reported that the Sardinian government was about to send a large force thither for the purpose of preventing anarchy. It was uncertain what course would be taken by the King of Naples; some reports say that he had made preparations for leaving his dominions, and others that he would await his fate in the capital. The city of Naples was perfectly tranquil.

The French garrison at Rome is to be increased by a force of 3500 troops.

Cholera was prevailing to a serious extent in Spain. At Malaga, six hundred persons were attacked in one day.

The Austrian ministry was endeavouring to induce the Emperor to take the needful steps for allaying the discontent in Hungary. An attack upon Vecetia being anticipated, the government was urging to completion the branch line to connect the Venetian railways with those of Germany. The existence of a revolutionary committee had been discovered at Verona, and the members had been arrested.

A part of the French troops which had been sent to Syria, had arrived at Beyrout.

By order of Fund Pasha, seventy individuals convictmassacres, continue to be received.

corpses remained unburied.

General Beaufort, the commander of the French forces, in a proclamation, had prohibited the Christians from renewing the conflict. It now appears pretty clearly that in the commencement of this horrid strife, the so-called Christians were the aggressors.

CHINA .- Hong Kong dates to Seventh mo. 24th, have been received, by way of California. The allied expedition of France and Great Britain remained at the mouth of the Peiho. There were 150 sail of the allies there, the troops being encamped on the shore. It was understood that the Taku forts were to be taken before any peace overtures were made. There was no further information with regard to the movements of the rebels, though the Chinese of Shanghai believed that Hong-Chew had either fallen, or was in great danger. party of five, most of whom were Euglish missionaries, UNITED STATES .- Census Returns .- The census of New Hampshire has been completed, and the total population is found to be 326,175, being a gain of only 8211 since 1850. Washington, D. C., contains 61,400 inhabitants, which is an increase, since 1850, of 21,399. The whole of the District of Columbia contains a population of 75,365. The number of slaves is 3231, against 3687 in 1850. The city of Cleveland, Ohio, has 43,550 inhabitants; its increase since 1850 is 26,516. The population of Salem, Mass., is 22,486; in 1850 it was 20,263; that of New Brunswick, N. J., is 12,156, an increase of 4,303 in ten years.

New Yark .- Mortality last week, 474.

Philadelphia .- Mortality last week, 232. The mean temperature of the Eighth month, according to the record kept at the Pennsylvania Hospital, was 73.12; the highest temperature was 94°, and the lowest 58°. The amount of rain measured was 8.40 inches. The average of the mean temperature of this month for the past seventy-one years, is stated to have been 72.69 deg.; the highest during that entire period was 77.50°, and the lowest 66°. The mean temperature of the three summer months of 1860 was 73.95°. The highest summer mean occurring during seventy-one years, was in 1828 and 1838 when it was 77.66; the lowest in 1816 when t was only 66°.

California. San Francisco dates to the 6th instant. There was $25,000 worth of silver ore shipped for New York, on the steamer of the 1st instant. The ship St. Helena had cleared for Liverpool with 24,500 sacks of wheat. The cost of sending California produce to Europe is about the same as to New York. Overland immigrants were arriving in considerable numbers. A prices declining. Flour had fallen fully 1s. per barrel, rich quartz lead had been struck in Tuolumne county, and upwards of $60,000 taken out in five days. The lead which is two inches wide, is nearly all gold .- Japan dates to Seventh mo. 22d, had been received. The American barque Pursuit sailed from Kanagawa on the 12th, with a full cargo of teas and silks, valued at $500,-This is said to be the most valuable cargo ever shipped from that port. The state of the country was peaceful. The commander of the steamer Candimurrah had made a highly coloured report of the brilliant manner in which he and his crew were entertained while in San Francisco.

Miscellaneous .- The Anthracite Caal Trade .- The shipments from the Pennsylvania coal mines the present season, had amounted, about two weeks since, to 5.519.291 tons, being an increase of 720,630 tons, as compared with the shipments of last year.

A Hard Case .- The St. Louis (No.) Express says, that H. A. Marsh, formerly of that city, has been sentenced to be hung at Camden, Arkansas, for circulating the New York Tribune, which in that State is considered an incendiary publication.

Manumission.—Dr. Thomas Butts, of Southampton, Va., who died recently, has directed in his will that all his slaves, 105 in number, shall be freed.

The Slave Trade to Cuba .- The Captain General of too be very means in his power to prevent the continisus of her disease.

nuation of the slave trade, and cautioning all the civil functionaries to use every exertion to put a stop to it.

Submarine Telegraphs.—According to the London Ob-of those who profess christianity, are so little cal- ed of having taken part in the late massacres, had been server, the Atlantic telegraph cable is not the only deep The Red Sea telegraph is out of order; the Malta and Cagliari line, of about 300 miles in length, has long been interrupted. The line to Algiers has been abandoned, its predecessors; that from Aden to Kurachee has con-At Hasleya, out of 3200 Christians, only 1400 were tributed nothing for some time past to the stock of found remaining, nearly all women and children. The weekly despatches. The failure of all these is attributed to want of knowledge of the qualities of the materials employed, and the peculiar character of the electric fluid. There has been not only insufficient experience, but a great want of care in the manufacture of submarine telegraphs, and a desire to economise expenditure. withstanding these failures, there are projects in Europe for laying down other deep sea telegraph lines, including one across the Atlantic from Denmark to America.

Received from W. D. Stephens, O., $3, to 52, vol. 33; from Amos Battey, agt., Io., for N. M'Donal, $2, vol. 33, for Russel Taber, $4, vols. 32 and 33.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

The Committee to superintend the Boarding-school at West-Town, will meet in Philadelphia, on Sixth-day, the 5th of next month, at 7 o'clock, P. M.

The Committees on Instruction and Admissions meet on the same day; the former at 4 o'clock, and the latter at 5 o'clock, P. M.

The Visiting Committee attend the semi-annual ex-amination of the Schools, commencing on Third-day morning, and closing on Fifth-day afternoon of the sama

Ninth mo. 20th, 1860. JOEL EVANS, Clerk.

WANTED.

A Female Friend to teach a family school. Address JOSEPH H. SATTERTHWAITE, Oxford Valley, Bucks Co., Pa.

WEST-GROVE BOARDING-SCHOOL FOR GIRLS. Situated within a few hundred yards from West-Grove station on the Philadelphia and Baltimore Central Railroad, from which place trains communicate with Philadelphia several times daily. The Winter session will open on Second-day, 5th of Eleventh month, prox. For circulars, &c., address

THOMAS CONARD, Principal. Ninth month, 1860.

WEST-TOWN BOARDING SCHOOL

The Winter session of the School will commence on Second-day, the 5th of Eleventh month. Parents and others intending to enter their children as pupils, will please make early application to DATIG ROBERTS, Super-intendent at the School, of Joseft Scattergood, Trea-surer, No. 304, Arch street, Paindelphia.

West-Town, Ninth mo. 4th, 1650.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted as Teacher of Reading in the Boys department of this Institution. Apply to

SAMUEL HILLES, Wilmington, Del. JAMES EMLEN, West Chester, Chester Co., Pa. ALFRED COPE, Germantown, Pa.

Sixth mo. 6th, 1860.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted to fill the station of Governor ir the Boys' department of this Institution.

Application may be made to NATHAN SHARPLESS, Concord, Pa.; Samuel Hilles, Wilmington, Del.; James Emlen, West Chester, Pa.; or Thomas Evans, Philad. Twelfth mo., 1859.

DIED, on the 7th of First month, 1860, after a shor illness, at their residence in Hesper, Winneshick county Iowa, Phebe Jane, wife of Benjamin J. Taher, in he thirty-second year. Being of a mild and innocent de portment, she was much beloved by the community is The Slave Trade ta Cuba.—The Captain General of which she lived. She patiently bore her painful sick Cuba has issued a circular, declaring it to be his intenness, manifesting resignation to the Lord's will as to the

> PILE & M'ELROY, PRINTERS, Lodge street, opposite the Pennsylvania Bank.

HR H

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, NINTH MONTH 29, 1860.

NO. 4.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

Price Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by

JOHN RICHARDSON.

AT NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

Postage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three nonths, if paid in advance, three and a quarter cents; any part of the United States, for three months, if aid in advance, six and a-half cents.

For "The Friend."

Recent Discoveries in Astronomy. (Continued from page 18.)

The letter of which we have given the substance and unlearned admiration. have allowed nine months to elapse without comciently justified by the statement that he wished to see the black spot again before he made his dis-covery public, induced M. Leverrier to set out immediately for Orgeres, to which he was accompathe greatest astronomer of the age. nied by M. Vallée, junior engineer of roads and bridges.

the transit of the planet over the sun.

break the silence which he had so long preserved. his titles.

understand why it had not hitherto been seen.

aggerated in its details, and embellished every ians; and the village doctor, in his extempore observatory, and his round black spot, appropriately a brilliant party at the house of his father-in-law, au hour and a half."

The planet, in consequence of the small radius Abbé Moigno, "so small, so simple, so modest, to feel pulses and to count their pulsations? My of its orbit, will never have a greater elongation, or and so timid, in order to understand the emotion pendulum puts the second in my ears, and I have distance from the sun, than 8°; and as the whole with which he was seized, when Leverrier, from light which it sends to us is, according to Leverrier, his great height, and with that blunt intonation more feeble than that of Mercury, we may readily which he can command, thus addressed him: 'It is then you, sir, who pretend to have observed the Such is the account M. Leverrier gave, at the intra-mercurial planet, and who have committed public meeting of the Academy of Sciences on the the grave offence of keeping your observation secret 2d January last, of his visit to Orgeres, and of the for nine months. I warn you that I have come conclusions which he has drawn from M. Lescar-here with the intention of doing justice to your bault's observations. It excited, as might have pretensions, and of demonstrating either that you been expected, the liveliest interest in Paris. Ex- have been dishonest or deceived. Tell me, then, aggerated in its details, and embellished every unequivocally what you have seen. The lamb, as time it was told, the scientific melodrame of Or- the Abbé calls the doctor, trembled at this rude geres was the only topic of converse at the seauces summons from the lion, and, unable to speak, he of philosophy and in the saloons of fashion. Gari-stammered out the following reply: 'On the 26th baldi and the weather ceased to interest the Paris-March, about four o'clock, I directed my telescope to the sun, as I had been in the habit of doing, when, to my surprise, I observed, at a small disbearing the name of Vulcan, were the only sub-tance from its margin, a black spot well defined jects of discussion, and the only objects of learned and perfectly round, and advancing with a very sensible motion upon the disc of the sun. Unfortunately, however, a customer arrived. I came was dated the 22d December, 1859, and was Leverrier was of course the lion in every gay tunately, however, a customer arrived. I came brought to M. Leverrier by M. Vallée, honorary saloon, and was obliged to recount the story of his down from the observatory, and in the incursive saloon. nspector general of roads and bridges; and he journey to Orgeres in its dramatic phase, and with unation I replied as I best could to the inquiries was led, from the details which it contained, to out the reserve which was required in his commu- which were made, and returned to the observatory. place in them a certain degree of confidence. He vication to the Institute. On one of these occa- The round spot had continued its transit; and I was surprised, however, that M. Lescarbault, when sions, when he was detailing the motives, the inci- saw it disappear at the opposite margin of the sun, ne had made such a remarkable discovery, should dents, and the results of his visit to Lescarbault to after having been projected upon his disc for nearly 'You will then have determunicating it. This delay, which was not suffi- M. Choquet, he was fortunate enough to have mined, asks heverrier, 'the time of the first and among his audience the celebrated savant, M. last contact; and you are aware that the observa-L'Abbè Moigno, who has reproduced in his Cosmos tion of the first contact is one of such extreme dethe fascinating history, as it fell from the lips of lieacy that professional astronomers often fail in the greatest astronomer of the age. For a long time M. Leverrier refused to attach tor, 'I do not pretend to have seized the precise any credit to the reports which reached him on the moment of contact. The round spot was upon the On their arrival at Orgeres, without any pre-vious notice, they found in M. Lescarbault a man of a new planet could have been kept secret for fully its distance from the margin, and, expecting who had been long devoted to scientific pursuits, nine months, and that a humble village doctor that it would describe an equal distance, I counted surrounded with instruments and apparatus of could have been the person who discovered it. As the time which it took to describe this second disavery kind, constructed by himself, and provided him director of the imperial observatory, however, tance, and I thus determined approximately the even with a small revolving cupola. He permitted it was his duty to inquire into the truth of the re-instant of its entry. 'To count the time is easy his visitors to examine in the most careful manner port; and having a personal interest in the quest to say, but where is your chronometer?' My the instruments which he used, and he gave them tion as the predictor of a planet near the sun, he chronometer is a watch with minutes, the faithful the most minute explanations regarding his works, resolved to enter upon the investigation. Lescarcompanion of my professional journeys. 'What!

and especially regarding all the circumstances of bault's letter to himself, of the 22d December, conwith that old watch, showing only minutes, dare firmed him in this resolution; and though he had you talk of estimating seconds? My suspicious are The entry of the planet on the sun's disc was a secret conviction that the story might be true, already too well founded.' 'Pardon me,' was the oot observed by him, as might be inferred from his yet the predominant feeling in his mind was uniform prophy. I have also a pendulum which nearly beats letter. It had, before he saw it, described a line mask an attempt to impose upon him, as the perseconds. 'Show me this pendulum, says Lever-fosme seconds face, and it was only from an estimate of its velocity that he deduced the to the allegation that his prophecy had been full as like thread, to which an ivory ball was suspended. ine of its entry.

The explanations of M. Lescarbault, and the simplicity with which they were given, inspired M. Leverier and his friends with the most perfect. M. Valle as a witness of the stern inquisition that the observations deserve to be added to the control of the con conviction that the observations deserve to be ad which he was about to institute. Orgeres was un- from the vertical, and counts the number of oscilwitted into science, and that the long delay in fortunately twelve miles distant from the nearest lations corresponding with a minute on his watch, publishing them arose only from a modest and station, and our travellers were obliged to perform and thus proves that his pendulum beats seconds. salm reserve, which may be expected at a distance the journey on foot. On their arrival at the house 'This is not enough,' replies the lion; 'it is one from the agitation of towns. It was an article in of M. Lescarbault, M. Leverrier knocked loudly thing that your pendulum beats seconds, but it is Commerced by Leverrier theory of the second property of the second p Cosmos, on M. Leverrier's theory of the perturbation of Mercury, that induced M. Lescarbault to opened it, his visitor declined to give his name and beaten by your pendulum in order that you may count the seconds in observing.' 'Shall I venture conds."

(To be concluded.)

From the British Friend.

Remarks on John S. Rowntree's "Quakerism, Past and Present.

(Concluded from page 22.)

days of the Society, such marriages were allowed to the 264th Epistle of George Fox as confirmatory of his views. We are unable to discover any disjoin them."

gislators" of the 18th century, or "the Quakers of tionate caution and earnest advice. the middle age," but of the 17th century-the when, according to this essay, there was no such are the conditions of happiness in married life," in are the discrepancies which have been discussed in thing as defined membership, and when "the so-lemnization of marriage in Friends' Meeting-should be specially instructed by the Yearly Meet-upon which we have been silent. Patience has it houses" was "an easy process," (p. 148.) If we ing. Does he think that "the advices," which he limits, and an "oft-repeated tale" becomes tiresom cancel the rights and privileges of membership, we very justly characterizes as "excellent in sentiment to even the best and most indulgent of readers are too obtuse to see how the power of disownment and beautiful in expression," are applicable only What has been said on the topics which have been could exist, or what "Draconian" penalties could to the unmarried,—or does he think it the duty selected for remark, is but the reflex of what might be inflicted. Whether this difficulty was felt by of a church to instruct its members in domestic "the Quakers of the middle-age," who were con- economy! cannot tell; but from what is said in this essay, we may bear, it must be admitted that the censure of are free from all that is objectionable, and white cerned in "the disciplinary revival of 1760," we infer that they first instituted a "defined mem- the Society is implied, and that this censure is do not contain much that is open to reprehension bership," and then put in full force "the penal based on a sumptions unsupported by facts. their newly-acquired rights. That, in fact, like in which parties have been disowned for marrying gious denominations, and a bankering after "syn boys in play, they set up the nine-pins for the extra press purpose of having the pleasure to knock them with the Society, it has been in our opinion, the activity," has been prevalent among some portion down again are so freely denounced in this book.

quite disposed to let it go for what it is worth.

says, (p. 152)-" Whilst the Yearly Meeting di- to be observed in conducting the disciplinary busirects certain practical 'advices' on the right per-ness of the Society :- "It is recommended unto thing of the kind in this epistle. George Fox says formance of the varied duties of life (excellent in faithful friends, to watch over the flock of Christ -"All such as go to them (the priests) for wives or husbands, must come to judgment and condemquently read in its meetings for discipline, they are diligently walk up to the testimony of the blessed silent on the subject of marriage; and in none of truth, to which the Lord hath gathered us in this to the priests to marry them; or else Friends, that the Society's published documents does it belp its latter age of the world; that so where any are keep their habitations, must write and bear testi- junior members to a knowldge of what are the confound short, weak, or faulty, they may be admost mony against them both." He then directs that ditions of happiness in married life." Without shed and sought in the spirit of love, which is the "all these things be inquired into and brought to pretending to know what the author precisely means spirit of the gospel; and divine charity, wherein the Quarterly Meeting, &c. And let all this be by "the conditions" mentioned, it is very evident mercy is not only mixed with judgment, but may done before they (or any of them) be declared as to us that the Yearly Meeting has issued many appear over all our works, that so it may be seen heathens, or written against; let them be three or more advices than the essayist has ever read;—by all, that church love abounds before church cenfour times admonished, that they may have gospel the more is the pity, for had he been really cogni- sure comes, and that a gospel spirit is the spring order, so that if it be possible, they may come to that which at first did convince them, and to repent and condemn their unrighteous doings; so cre he said, "the natural associations of the that when the said to the sai that ye may not leave, if possible, a hoof in younger Friends who attend meetings for discipline | Conclusion. - Having noticed some of the most This clearly refers to marriages which are connected with the discomment of those marry-important errors in this book, and attempted to had been effected, and points out nothing more ing contrary to rule, and with the yearly answer-correct some of its misrepresentations, we trust we than the usual disciplinary course of proceeding in ing of the harshly worded query;" as if this was have done enough to excite the vigilance of its such cases. In his Primitive Christianity Re. their only source of information, and no advices readers to induce them to pause ere they give erevexeed, William Penn says, (chap, ii see, 6.) "We and ever been promulgated by the Society on this dence to its plausibilities, or suffer their faith in the cunnot allow of mixed marriages, that is, to join important subject. Now, the fact is, that in the with such as are not of our Society, but oppose and Epistles of the Yearly Meeting, from the earliest dangerous insinuations. For one of its most chadisown them, if at any time any of our profession lines to the present—in the works of Fox, Penn, racteristic traits is, that the author insinuates more so grossly err from the rule of their communion; and numerous other writers, as well as in official than he directly asserts; and sneers where he has yet restore them upon sincere repentance, but not documents of the Society, in the "selection of ad not the courage to condemn. We have shown how vices," and in other books published by the Socie- unfairly and disingenuously he has wrested the These, be it observed, are not "the Quaker le- ty, this subject forms a prominent topic for affect plain and obvious meaning of the high authorities what the author means by "a knowledge of what principles professed by the Society. Numerous as

Whatever construction the words of the author

result of a previous indifference as to their mem- of the Society; and it appears to us that this box If the highest authorities are to be credited, bership or to an alienation from the Society. The has been issued into the world as an exposition ar there was both a defined membership and discipli-violation of these rules has frequently been pre-advocacy of these views. Such a work can scarce nary rules as to mixed marriages, long before "the ceded by a non-attendance of religious and discible otherwise than highly prejudicial to those when middle age" mentioned in the cssay, and the rules plinary meetings, and the non-observance of other leither from their youth or the lack of opportunity were substantially the same as those rules which things obligatory on membership, all betokening are but imperfectly acquainted with the principle great lukewarmness. In such instances, therefore, of the Society, and are unable to appreciate t J. S. Rowntree admits that mixed marriages are the penalty of disownment is but a very lenient beautiful harmony and consistency which they e an evil, and that it is a church's duty to endeavour measure, and, in fact, is felt by the delinquent as hibit, when considered in relation to each other to prevent them; but he does not tell us how these a relief from responsibilities which he had pre- and the close and intimate connection that exiendeavours are to be made, or what measures are viously repudiated in practice. The retention of between them and the evangelical truths promi endeavours are to be made, or what measures are viously repudiated in practice. The retention of lockween them and the evangencial truths promise to be resorted to, if these preventive endeavours such nominal members can do no good to the ingrated by our Redeemer and his disciples. Via fail in their object. He condemns disownment, dividual or to the Society, either religiously or have not hesitated to express our opinion that the because he "considers it as the most influential, morally, as it will inevitably be a cause of hypoprinciples sought to be inculcated, and the practiples are commended in this essay, are at variance with the promise cause of the numerical decline of the crisy on the one hand and of weakness on the no difficulty in counting several successive sc- Society," yet is silent as to any other disciplinary other. This, however, is only one phase of the course to be pursued. With him it appears that question. Such marriages have been contracted "numerical decline" is paramount in importance under a vast variety of circumstances, and we canto every other consideration. An "evil" must be sanctioned—a "church's duty" neglected—to prevent "a numerical decline!" This is the gist of has been oppressive to individuals and injurious to his whole argument on this subject, and we are the Society. But this, we conceive, has arisen, not from any defect in the rules, but in their improper Before concluding our remarks on this subject, administration by monthly meetings, which are days of the Society, such marriages were allowed to be solemnized in Friends' meetings "trather than the perfect the parties to the parish church," and alludes of which we have already noticed. The author following excellent rule in relation to the conduct the parties to the parish church," and alludes of which we have already noticed. The author following excellent rule in relation to the conduct the parties to the parish church," and alludes of which we have already noticed.

As we have said, we are unable to comprehend irreconcilable his opinions are with the well-known

We may be permitted to add, that in most cases ness, a longing after a conformity with other rel would inevitably lead the Society into a departure gree of personal faithfulness, and a more earnest It was, therefore, desirable to ascertain if the saheld professedly for religious worship a reading of need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in the sacred volume as a matter of form, and a sing- it: for the glory of God doth lighten it, and the ing of hymns, in which the heart, in many in- Lamb is the light thereof." stances, would have no sympathy, whilst the profession of diverse faiths, and the nominal observance of a lax discipline would open the portals of the Society for the admission of the much coveted multitude.

Sad and lamentable, indeed, would be such a "decadence," not only as it would affect the mem- Society, to hold an interview with the scientific bers of the Society, but from the effect it would have on the cause of truth and righteousness in the world, contrasted with which even the numerical Century. This interview has never been fully rediminution of its members is a matter of very little

We have no disposition, however, to deny that, as compared with some periods of its history, the present condition of the Society offers but little reason for congratulation, whilst on the other hand all earthly things, and even good men have altergeneracy.

The most potent enemy the Society has to contend with, is in its own borders. Its prosperity will and can only be promoted by its staunch adherence to its principles. Any deviation from, or abrogation of these, will mar its beauty, sap its foundations, and inevitably induce its ruin. In some things, doubtless, in which principles are not involved, its practice and customs may be imthe Rock of Ages and to be in entire harmony with immutable gospel truth, any alterations suggested by the wisdom of man, uninfluenced and directed by the Holy Spirit, would be highly detrimental.

In these as in all times, and in this as in all other religious societies, there are not wanting, unhappily, those who, like Esau of old, sell their birthrights for a mess of pottage-who tempted by riches and the delusive pleasures of the world, or ukewarm and regardless of their soul's welfare, live as without God in the world; and some who, although they may observe the form of godliness, are yet in the bonds of wickedness; but this does not militate against the principles of the Society, or prove them to be unsuitable to the exigencies of our condition. Nor does it prove even the expeliency, as advocated by the essayist, much less the early Friends," that we may render that spiritual religion which was suitable for them" equally efficacions for us.

In our opinion, the remedies proposed by the essayist for the resuscitation of the Society, are miserably deficient in those requisites which are essenial to the accomplishment of his proposed object. The adulteration of gospel truth with the devices s a better knowledge and higher appreciation of probability, as old in Japan as the bellows, to patience!

J. RICHARDSON.

The Japanese and the Ethnological Society. AN OFFICIAL REPORT OF THE INTERVIEW.

The committee appointed by the Ethnological members of the Japanese Embassy, have at last prepared their official report, and we find it in the ported in the daily papers, and we therefore make a few extracts;

THE EMBASSY TO ROME.

The subject of an embassy, alleged to have been sent from Japan to Rome, A. D. 1528, was broachwithout any governmental authority.

WHAT THE JAPANESE OWE TO CHINA.

Embassy had become indignant on their people being compared to the Chinese, we were agreeebly informants, when interrogated respecting the sources whence they originally derived tea, silk, tional prejudices, these replies are characteristic of superior minds. They were surprised on being informed that the seamen of Europe and America that invaluable gift of science to art.

JAPANESE CHEAP LITERATURE.

When asked if such books as that before us (one printed in colours, were rare, the reply wasthey were very common, "in much plenty." The report of old travellers was confirmed, that the necessity, of lowering the standard of Truth, to Japanese have what we call encyclopedias, or dic-suit the degeneracy of these times. It rather in-tionaries of arts, and collections of "manuals" as fully illustrated as any modern French series; and at one fifth of the cost, too—cheap as we may think the Parisian issues are. So far as regards the production of a cheap and useful literature, Japan may be said to have been centuries in ad-those of pure, primitive Quakerism, and if adopted, the principles of true Quakerism—a greater de- which it is, in principle and construction, allied. from that living faith, that pure and undefiled religion, that spiritual, holy communion with God, things by that "divine light and lite within," so the knowledge of the part which the atmosphere which the great and good men who instituted the much insisted on by George Fox, and which so plays in its operation. We were, however, in the Society, sought after and strove to perpetuate; many of the just of all generations have practically absence of a competent medium, unable to present and in its stead there would be "the golden call" known to be "a lamp to their feet and a light unto the of a spurious Quakerism, teaching the doctrines of their paths" in their journeys "through the wilder exchange of thought upon it, though remen in words of worldly wisdom, and in meetings ness of this world," to that city which "hath no cupping, one, of course, familiar to Matsmoto and the interpreter. The question must, therefore, be left, with many others of equal interest, till the literature and the science of Japan are opened to

JAPANESE MEMBERS OF AN AMERICAN SOCIETY.

With the view of continuing a correspondence thus commenced with the learned men of Japanwhich cannot fail to throw light on the origin of some of the prime elements of European civilization-the committee would suggest the expediency of electing - Harris, United States minister at Jeddo, Matsmoto Sannojo, Josida Sagosayemon, and Tateish Tokujuro, foreign corresponding members of the society.

An Inordiate Love for Transitory Enjoyments. -Once there was a wonderful time of gathering we believe that it contrasts favourably with other ed. Matsmoto stated emphatically, that no formal into the vineyard of Christ; but since, with sorepochs of its existence. Mutation is stamped on mission to a foreign country ever occurred previous row and lamentation it may be said, there has been to the one of which he is a member, accredited to a losing, scattering, and dwindling away in many nations in their religious experiences; we see no the United States. He observed that, some 278 places; the principal occasion whereof seems to reason why even the best of religious societies years ago, several young men, connections and have been, an inordinate love for transitory enjoyshould be exempt from days of adversity or de- representatives of three princes, visited Rome, but ments, lawful in themselves and in their places, but not to have the chief possession of the mind. When this becomes the sorrowful state of any, they cannot sayour the things that be of God, but the things As it was rumored that some members of the which be of men; and are of consequence deprived of that all-sufficient help, so to live and walk, as to answer the witness of God in others; to train up surprised at the candour and magnanimity of our their children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord; and to maintain the testimonies of Truth with a convincing strength and efficacy. So that proved, but as we believe its faith to be built on porcelain, wood engraving, paper, printing and although the form is retained in a considerable gunpowder. The answer was, uniformly, "China." degree by such, and they may also be fortified with As it seems possible, if not probable, that naviga-tion was as early developed by the islanders of fession with the primitive plan laid down in Holy Japan as by the natives of the neighbouring con- Writ, yet wanting the salt of the kingdom in themtinent, their opinion was asked respecting the ori-selves, all their pretensions without it will prove gin of the mariner's compass. The answer was nothing; yea, worse than nothing; seeing that by the same, and as promptly given, "China." In- how much they have had the opportunity of knowdicative of views and feelings untainted with na- ing more than others, by so much their condemna-

An Intelligent Elephant. - Tell my grandare indebted to the same source as themselves for children, said Daniel Wilson, writing home from India, that an elephant here had a disease in his eyes. For three days he had been completely blind. His owner, an engineer officer, asked my friend Dr. Webb if he could do anything to re-lieve the poor animal. The doctor said he would try nitrate of silver, which was a remedy commonly applied to similar diseases in the human eye. The huge animal was ordered to lie down, structs us to strive after "the earnest piety of the like this, numerous, as it would seem, and certainly and at first, on the application of the remedy, raised a most extraordinary roar at the acute pain which it occasioned. The effect, however, was wonderful. The eye was, in a manner, restored, and the animal could partially see. The next day, when he was brought, and heard the doctor's voice he laid vance of Europe. The cost of this book was about ten cents—from eight to ten cents. like a man about to endure an operation, gave a of man's wisdom cannot increase, but must deterirate religious faith, and weaken if not destroy its
As the common pump is known to be of remote, and gesture, evidently wished to express his gratiand believed to be of Asiatic origin, it is, in all tude. What sagacity!—What a lesson to us of

For "The Friend."

RIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES Of Ministers and Elders and other concerned members of the Yearly Meeting of Philadelphia.

(Continued from page 20.)

THE PLEASANTS FAMILY OF VIRGINIA.

MARGARET PLEASANTS.

Margaret, a daughter of Robert Jordan, of Naucemond county, Virginia, was one who not only had heard the call of her dear Saviour, but flatter ourselves, is no crime. I have been too had submitted thereto. She was endowed with a good understanding, and manifested a good degree of piety and humility, and was conspicuous for her the same." She then named one in particular, explainness and christian example. She was married to John Pleasants, the third of that name, who had walked in the truth, and becoming a mother, she was anxious, by precept and example, to bring up her children in the path of self-denial and dedication to the Lord's will. In the language of her memorial, "Though of a more than common tender and indulgent disposition towards them in other respects, she was very careful to restrain them from every hurtful or unprofitable thing." She was one of exemplary patience under suffering, some remarkable instances of which fell to her lot. Soon after the birth of her first child, the sheriff of the county came to her husband's house, and on account of demands for priest's wages, which for conscience' sake they could not pay, seized the very bed she was on. These trials and difficulties did not shake her faith. She was concerned to attend religious meetings whenever able. and was an example of humble waiting therein. She was diligent in the perusal of the Holy Scriptures, and very glad of the company of Friends. Her economy and diligence in her family concerns were remarkable, and her household always appeared with a becoming decency. She avoided superfluities in her house, and on her table, even when, through the blessing of the Lord on their industry, they were favoured with an affluence. She was a kind and charitable neighbour, a loving dutiful wife and a good mistress. One of her sons being absent in Philadelphia, she wrote to him, as follows, viz: "Oh! the goodness of the Almighty is those who associate with them. Keep thy place, very great every way; for which we have cause to and thou wilt be like a light set on a hill, as a bless his great and worthy name. We have as much need as ever, dear child, to look unto the Lord for help and strength every moment; for all our time is a time of need. I trust in the Lord that he is and will be with thee. The desire and prayer of thy tender mother is, that thou may abide in his blessed counsel. Then all will be well."

Her last illness was of four weeks' continuance. Looking forward to her approaching dissolution, she bore the pains of her afflicted body with christian patience, and on the 5th of the Tenth mo., 1746, she departed this life at Curles.

SARAH PLEASANTS.

tion, yet being brought to a sick bed, in view of an complete disinfection. awful eternity, she found that she had some things to look back to with sorrow and repentance. She was taken ill on the 26th of the Seventh month, 1749, being in the seventeenth year of her age. however unimportant things may appear to the During her illness, she uttered many things which human understanding, there is nothing in which struck those around her with surprise and admira- the Lord requires us to deny ourselves, however tion. On one occasion she called to several per- little it may appear, but that if we retain it, it will sons, who were with her "to view her in the bloom mar our peace, and stop our progress in the way of of youth, how changed.' Likely, in a very short life.

time, to be called to bid adieu to the world and all its enjoyments." She then was enabled to pray vocally, that when she was fully prepared therefor, she might be released. She, on one occasion, in a particular manuer, requested the physician who attended her, to observe the frailty of poor flesh and blood, and the uncertainty of life. She said, "Look on me, doctor; I am like a bud cropt from the vine before it is fully blown. Young as I am, I have something to repent of, [something] which in health and strength, we are apt to overlook, and much given to laughter and jesting, with those of my companions, who fondly embraced and returned pressing a great desire to see her before she died, that she might say how she now felt respecting this, and also because she had taken too much delight in dress. She then again addressed the doctor, and said, "Nothing else have I to charge myself with; yet, dear doctor, I find it enough! Therefore, let me prevail with thee to take warning by me. I am sensible that some things thou art in the practice of, are full as dangerous, if not more so, than those which now lie so heavily upon me. Give me leave to mention one or two of them. The word 'faith,' I observe thou often makes use of. Thou may not as yet consider the consequence of it. Also drinking, to oblige company, as thy excuse, as it is that of many others. These things thou wilt find of greater weight, when thou comes to be in the condition I now am in, than now thou may think possible. Thou wilt then surely wish they had been left undone, with all other unprofitable things." The physician was affected to weeping, and said, "I take it very kind, and hope I shall observe

She at different times had much advice to give him, which he highly valued. She one day called her brother Thomas, and said, "Dear brother, I know thy situation is very lonesome, and destitute of suitable company. I pray thee, keep as much as possible out of low company. Not the poor, do I mean, because they are poor; but the loose and vulgar, whether rich or poor; that which is of a corrupting spirit, and will tend to the hurt of guide to others, who will praise God on thy behalf." (To be continued.)

Heat and Cold as Disinfectants .- At the National Sanitary Convention, in Boston, Dr. Harris read a paper on "Heat as a disinfectant. It appeared that the boiling of clothes exposed to infection had proved an efficient disinfectant. The heating of hospital wards by common stoves to 160 degrees Fahrenheit for two days, had cradicated infection. Dr. Harris referred to his own experience in the Quarantine Hospital, and showed that the washerwomen avoided infection by boiling the clothes before washing. When this was not done, every washerwomen caught the disease. Heat ap-Sarah, a daughter of Thomas and Mary Plea-plied to clothing and rooms, had produced the same sants, who was born at Curles, about the year effects in scarlet fever and other diseases. His 1732, was a religiously minded young woman. observations had shown that nearly all fabrics would Although exemplary in her conduct and conversa- bear a higher degree of heat than was required for

It may be instructive to some to consider, that "The loved hour of repose is striking. Let us come to the sunset tree."-Notes on Germany.

Come to the sunset tree! The day is past and gone; The woodman's axe lies free, And the reaper's work is done.

The twilight star to heaven, And the summer dew to flowers, And rest to us is given, By the cool soft evening hours.

Sweet is the hour of rest, Pleasant the wind's low sigh, And the gleaming of the west, And the turf whereon we lie.

When the burden and the heat Of labour's task are o'er, And kindly voices greet The tired one at his door.

Come to the sunset tree! The day is past and gone; And the woodman's axe lies free, And the reaper's work is done.

Yes, tuneful is the sound That dwells in whispering boughs, Welcome the freshness round, And the gale that fans onr brows.

But rest more sweet and still Than ever night-fall gave, Our longing hearts shall fill In the world beyond the grave.

There shall no tempest blow, No scorching noon-tide beat; There shall be no more snow, No weary wandering feet.

And we lift our trusting eyes, To the hills our fathers trod, To the quiet of the skies, To the sabbath of our God.

Come to the sunset tree! The day is past and gone; The woodman's ave lies from And the reaper's work is done.

Homane

Selected.

SPEAK GENTLY.

Speak gently to the little child, Its love be sure to gain ; Teach it in accents soft and mild ; It may not long remain.

Speak gently to the young, for they . Will have enough to hear; Pass through this life as best they may, 'Tis full of anxious care.

Speak gently to the aged one, Grieve not the care worn heart; The sands of life are nearly run. Let such in peace depart.

Speak gently, kindly to the poor; Let no harsh tone be heard; They have enough they must endure, Without an unkind word.

Speak gently to the erring ; know They must have toiled in vain; Perchance unkindness made them so; Oh, win them back again,

Speak gently! He who gave his life To hind man's stubborn will; When elements were fierce with strife, Said to them, "Peace, be still."

Speak gently; 'tis a little thing Dropped in the hearts deep well The good, the joy which it may bring, Eternity shall tell.

Salem (Mass.) Register.

Our leisure days are the enemy's busy ones, for Satan finds some mischief still For idle hands to do.

ngagements appear in the beauty of the Spirit, makes it savoury, both to us and our hearers. vithout any mixture of the flesh, or of that weak it for service.

hought I was so; but met often with great dis-the weak part appeared again, to my shame and jection, when we are sympathizing with the true own kind, and of denunciations against those who more than of God. I also saw a danger of fall.

"To conclude: the most safe way I ever yet omparing my service and growth as a minister, of Spirits for help; that first, if it be in myself it thy forever.

"the others, that were in the work before me; supmay be removed, then the effect will cease; or soing myself (and it was self that did suppose) secondly, if the weakness or backsliding of others, with a few observations on my own conduct, atmamore eminent than they. Thus self prevailed, and be the cause of our barrenness and seeming deing at thy good; and conclude with desires, thou Gospel Ministry.

Sorrow; but my Master's kindness and gracious seed in its oppressed state, that we may patiently

This letter of Samuel Bownas, addressed to a regard was soon after evidently manifested in let- wait the Lord's time, to receive a word from him Priend on the subject of gospel ministry, is well ting me plainly see the weakness and folly of tak- fitly to speak to the present state of the people; worth reading by those who are called to that ing the honour to ourselves, which alone is due to or, thirdly, if the people's too imprudent expectawork by the Head of the church. It contains a him, when we have been drawn forth in the beauty tion of what cannot be had, nuless I am favoured pretty direct testimony against all man-made min- of the Gospel, beyond what we ourselves, or those with a superior aid, qualifying me to answer their stry, designed to gratify itching ears, or please the that heard us, did expect. Now I perceived the desires - I say, if by any or all of these causes, at ramity of the preacher, rather than to hold meet necessity of guarding against the inclinations of times, I am shut up, the best way I have ever found ngs in silence, when no one has been divinely put the flesh, which would sometimes be decking itself is to be patient in waiting the Lord's time for reorth in the work. A ministry originating in and with the jewels of the Spirit, saying, I did this, or lief. To seek it in our own time, will be but add-to not unite with the sentiments of the speaker, is ing into a formal way of preaching a form of words, found in the exercise of my gilt, is to stand up, as squally condemned by it. There are also good laulmost without variation, which, though sound, and littleregarding anything besides my opening as lean; into respecting disagreeable habits in preaching, preaching, into respect to the variation to remain any or the preaching of Divine virtue, are tasteless and any rofitable matters in my common discourse, not endeavouring of Divine virtue, are tasteless and any rofitable matters in my common discourse, not endeavouring the preaching of Divine virtue, are tasteless and any rofitable matters in my common discourse, not endeavouring the preaching the preaching the preaching the preaching the preaching the preaching a form of words, found in the exercise of my gilt, is to stand up, as a way to the year year. is though the power was in proportion to the to the hearers. The view I had of the unprofit to beautify it either in matter, tone, or address. quantity, and loudness of sound, and they were ableness of such a ministry, would have carried As I keep my place, and go on as doctrine is opened in indication of divine authority.

me too far, to my own disadvantage, had I not in my understanding, I feel at times my voice graalso been favoured with a clear prospect of the dually filled with virtue and power; and even then urnished me with an opportunity of observing the lawfulness, expediency and necessity, of speaking I find it safest not to speak too fast, or too loud. Isposition of thy mind, and gave me a small taste the same matter, or preaching the same doctrine lest I lose sight of or outrun my guide, and so lose of thy ministry, both which, under proper cultivation, I to-day, (being divinely opened and engaged therethe sight or sense of that inward strength I feltion, I think, may be improved, so as to render to,) as yesterday, though then entirely new to me; increasing in my mind. This care seems to me bee a member of good service in the body. In for nothing can be said that hath not been said, necessary to my taking the Apostle's advice, 'Let rder to which, and that thou mayest in thy public and it is the renewed evidence of the Spirit that him that ministers do it of that ability which God giveth;' this has a double signification; first, re-"Superfluous words, tones and gestures-ahs! specting the matter which we deliver: if we keep and womanish part, which, in both sexes, ought and groans-I was never under any temptation to to our openings, we shall be furnished with suitable ever to speak in the congregation of the saints, I make use of; but the impertinence of self some doctrine; secondly, the wisdom and strength of the vill give thee a short sketch of some of my hits times, to my shame and trouble, would appear, in spirit and power of the Gospel will be felt in it, and misses, when, in my youth, I publicly appeared my imprudently affecting eloquent terms and soholand, at times, by our thus going on according to a the gallery; the observation of which, I hope, lastic expressions, which seemed to me, in that the ability God gives, the very spirit and marrow may tend to thy profit and instruction, viz.

Weak state, to adorn my doctrine, and recommend of religion will appear plainly laid open to the libetter to the audience. All this proceeded from understanding of the hearers. But when we raise nouth was first opened to preach the Gospel, with- an affectation of appearing an able or skilful min- our voices, or hurry on, above or beyond that inout some degree of Divine love and virtue on my ister; a piece of unprofitable vanity; but I soon ward strength we feel in our minds, we are apt to mind, but after I was called out to the service of found it most safe and edifying, to use no more cloud our own minds, lose sight of or outrun our isiting meetings abroad, I found my mind very words but what I well understood, and could pro-guide, and then run into a wilderness of words, then barren and weak, and as I then thought, void perly apply, and that truth shines brightest in a which I have too often done, and found the consenormal parters and weak, and as I ment thought, or the first parter and weak, and as I ment though and red that I was to its lustre.

No embellishments of ours cau add quence of such imprudence, poverty and death; though even this kind of preaching is, by some leeeived, to bis great surprise; he fearing my afficiency of the property liction would be too hard for me. I had impru- and humble waiting to see my way opened, and how matter flowed from him! how full was he' (of lently thought, that having such aboundings of discover clearly the leadings of the Divine gift, emptiness and confusion, say 1,1 of power and bould be much more favoured therewith when to a degree of zeal and passion, and begun to blind zeal of the creature; the fleshly part not behoved in the service of the Goopel, disengaged threath the assembles, judging and other employments. But finding the reunfaithful, whether any such or non-three, it was I am so happy as to begin with the Spirit, and rerse, I wished myself at home again, rather than all one to me. Thus, in the dark, mistaking the follow its leadings in my ministry, I feel strength reference in which a border again, take the in, cause of that uncasiness and straitness I found in by degrees cover all my meaknesses; wisdom, illahough at times I had eminent enjoyments; but, myself, imagining myself loaded and oppressed by minating my mind, hides all my folly, so that no dark and unfaithful spirits in the assembly; after thing appears inconsistent with the beauty and warying myself with design of Providence in dealing wearying myself with denouncing judgments upon the Spirit. This is the vestment, the hus with me; and the very cattle in the field, by them, I have sat down in sadness and trouble. Urim and Thumnim, that covers the whole man reaning of their young and turning them to shift I have found this sort of preaching please that is to be covered; so that no weakness will or themselves, taught me, that it was meet I should many, and was commended, it was ever afflicting prevail or appear in our ministry. When I am se left a little to myself, and not always be kept to me, when, on reflection, I found the true cause thus conducted, (which sometimes happens) though o the breast and dandled upon the knee like an of that uneasiness was in my own breast. Yet, it I may be accounted, in my beginning, a dull, nfaut; but that it was needful I should grow and may sometimes happen, that the unfaithful may heavy, or lifeless preacher, yet I rarely miss of dvance above this infant state, to a degree more bring great grief and uneasiness upon us, and this concluding with peace and inward satisfaction; may be hard to bear; but let us take care we move and feeling the gradual increase of Divine virtue, may be nard to bear, our feet as small the patient exercise of my gift; finding myself both farmished with matter and skill to divide the Wuch I was thorough I had been a way year, a sometimes, I verily cle, because it is unsafe going forward till then.

longed to be a man; year, sometimes, I verily cle, because it is unsafe going forward till then.

bought I was so; but met often with great dis
"I have, from experience, found it my safest and word aright; both which coming from the Spirit, appointments therein, by undertaking matters above best way, carefully to attend to my gift, endea and not being the product of my own wisdom or up growth and experience; and the weak part vouring to keep my place without judging others; apprehension. I dare assume no part of that honour patiently bearing my own burden, and carnestly to myself, which, at such times, by an imprudent true of the state lers: a confidence arising in me, on imprudently enabled to address myself suitably to the Father to make thereof an offering unto Him who is wor-and rightly divide the word of Truth, so as neither converted into a blessing. As willing, dutiful la- ties and infirmities, and to increase the ardour thou thyself, nor those that hear thee, may have bour brings gladness more than sorrow with it, so thy mind, in the pursuit of divine help, of inwar cause of shame or uneasiness."

For "The Friend." The True Position of Woman.

Extracted from the late Prof. Reed's Introductory to his Lectures on English Literature.

Literature is to be employed for culture of character manly character and womanly character. homage to. Ambition, pride, wilfulness, or any danger lest the durable and precious substance ma I speak of them separately, not because it is neces- earthly passion, will but distort her being; she be lost in pursuit of the shadow. sary so to do with reference to that which is essen. struggles all in vain against a divine appointment, tial literature, but because attention has lately been and sinks into more woful servitude, and the pridrawn to the subject of the social position of wo- meval curse weighs a thousand fold upon her, and man, and there is heard at least a sound of con- the primeval companionship perishes. But bowing flicting opinions and opposing theories. Let me beneath that law which sounded through the dark-temptations.—Luke xxii. 28. say, in the first place, that I question whether it is ening paradise, she wins for her dower the only proper, or even practicable, so to detach woman-freedom that is worthy of woman,—the moral now passing, will doubtless tend to its ultimate hood from our common human nature, as to make liberty which God bestows upon the faithful and purification, as patience is allowed to have its pe it a topic of distinct disquisition; it seems to me a obedient spirit. It is from the soil of meekness feet work, until the end of "the abomination the little too much like a naturalist's study of some that the true strength of womanhood grows, and it maketh desolate," which hath been set up, and subject in zoology—the form and habits of some is because it has its root in such a soil, that it has "standing in the holy place," when the assurance other species of created things. Again, as to all controversies respecting the equality of the sexes, its fruits upon the world. Her rindence followers, thall be vernised, "Blessed is he thor relative superiority, or inferiority, I have only man from the eradle to the grave, and the sphere would." Pan. x. 2, 11 and 12; viii. 12. I believe,—in faith, in philosophy and in feeling, wrong, of it is the whole region of humanity. We marvel

I believe,—in faith, in philosophy and in feeling, are so placed and so noiseless, and penetrating into and this is what is confidently looked and waite speculations on this subject, when we have inspired the deep places of our nature. It was the sun and for, by the rightly exercised, in this "time of tro teaching, which, in a few words, if we will but look the wind that in the fable strove for the mastery, ble," wherein the enemy hath magnified himse at them, will show us the whole truth: "And the and the strife was for a traveller's cloak; the quiet and by his transforming power deceived man Lord God said, It is not good that the man should moon had naught to do with such ferce rivalry of whose feet have been turned from the true and it be alone; I will make him a help-meet for him." the burning or the blast; but as in her tranquil ing way, to follow lying vanities; whereby the "God doth not say," observes an old English di- orbit she journeys round the earth, she silently sways own mercies have been forsaken. vine, (Bishop Donne,) "it is not good for man to the tides of the ocean. be alone." "He doth not say it is not good for this or that particular man to be alone; but it is not good in the general, for the whole frame of the world, that man should be alone." Thus we find the creation of woman, and that providential law which preserves the equal numbers of the sexes, ous temptations and trials, to which the years of of which there are evident tokens; although t resting on the divinely instituted principle of comining the contradiction con panionship, not alone of marriage, not alone of reasonably inclined to learn, and to accomplish plained of by the apostle, when he and his competer and child, but the manifold companionship themselves in ornament and usefulness. To this, abouters testified to the resurrection of Christ, of woman, single or married; companiouship in-volving, of necessity, reciprocal dependence, but value and prefer company and books. Most of having nothing to do with equality, or superiority, them, perhaps, would say good company and good to the grace bestowed upon him through the rest or inferiority, on one side or the other. There is a books; and it is a delicate and very interesting rection of Christ, by which he is raised from the control of the control law of companionship far deeper than that of uni- matter to determine in what degree to discourage dead, cannot now look for the sympathy and st formity, or equality, or similarity; the law which or to countenance this inclination. It is an un-port of the unbelieving, any more than in form

Heart with heart, and mind with mind, When the main fibres are entwiced Through Nature's skill, May even by contraries be joined More closely still.*

Such was the exquisite companionship of the sexes as they were represented in our first parents, and so, however since disturbed, it remains as the ideal for all generations of men and women. There was adduced another law, when the words were pronounced to the woman: "Thy desire shall be to the point of wisdom. Mind, day by day, through are unchanged and unchangeable, so are the thy busband, and he shall rule over thee;" and all, an inward scuse respecting things, and thou dences of its aboundings; manifested by the thus dominion was mingled with companionship—mayst be favoured to perceive what thy duty calls cumspection and holy fear of its loyal subjects; thus dominion was mingled with companionshipdominion of one sex over the other, which no sophistry can evade; for it is divine, and to endure with the earth, and with the race. Having its origin in evil, it grows with evil, and the woman sinks down into the slave, and the man into her mere imbruted tyrant; but goodness can still find the beauty of the primeval law of companionship undefaced by the element of dominion; for the pen- the mind outward, instead of inward.

* Wordsworth-" The Grave of Burns."

shall the fulfilment of the law of obedience win a quictude, and sweet, enriching peace, thou may: glory of its own brighter than any achievement of conclude so much of it is good for thee; but power. It is not by clamoring for rights, it is not either of them be such, or indulged in to such by restless discontent, but it is by tranquil work- degree as unprofitably to occupy thy mind, an ing out of the heaven-imposed law of obedience, rather indispose than encourage thee in the love that woman's weakness is transmuted into strength inward recollection and meditation, thou may —a moral, spiritual power which man shall do safely conclude there is a snare in it, and there

For "The Friend." Thoughts on Company and Books.

SELECTED FROM LETTERS OF WILLIAM GROVER, 1822. of equative department of the mind, the favour speakable favour, however, early in life, to know times, when self-righteousness did also about of contrast, in which what is wanting on the one that in the silence and retirement of the mind, causing men to become vain in their imagination there is instruction and comfort to be met with, to the darkening of their minds, in whom Christian contractions are reconciled as a contraction of the mind, and the silence and retirement of the mind, causing men to become vain in their imagination there is instruction and comfort to be met with, beyond what can be expected, either from even was not the hope of glory. good company or good books. It is observable, For want of faith in this mighty and ever living by the attentive mind, that there may be an enjoy power, how many are led to forsake the stands ment of books and of company, which strengthens raised thereby against the enemy, whose flow us in the love, esteem and pursuit of this silence threaten the desolation of the church! But this and retirement; and there is an enjoyment of good the victory of the saints, even their faith, where books and good company, which weakens and en- they are made partakers of the triumph of Chr feebles the mind in its capacity to love, pursue and who bid his disciples "be of good cheer," even enjoy this profitable silence and meditation. Here, tribulation; saying, "I have overcome the worl then, dear young friend, whosoever thou art, is As the calling and power of this saving gr for at thy hands, as to thy outward, temporal, which, through great watchfulness and humil domestic, or social occupations; and then what they are brought and preserved, to the honour time thou canst properly spare for company and Truth; of whom we feel assured there yet remains books, and how much of either thou canst enjoy, a goodly number, who have not yet bowed to B with religious benefit to thy own mind. Much or kissed his image; but are standing firm in t company and many books, or much reading, have allegiance to the King of kings, and Lord of lor often a direct tendency to draw the attention of and others who are desiring and aiming to be fo e mind outward, instead of inward.

And here is the need of wise discrimination. If In view of this, there is cause of encouragem thy company, or thy reading, tends to give thee a though the enemy may seem to be gathe mayst endeavour to improve thy skill in this work, alty of dominion may, like the curse of labour, be humbling view of thyself, and of thy many frai

Patiently Wait, and Quietly Hope. Ye are they which have continued with me in m

The trial of faith, through which the church

Is it not, therefore, for the undeceiving of the who may have been, and are deluded, that t righteous are called and engaged to labour, ut whom appertaineth the promise, that they "sh: shine as the stars forever and ever?" This labo I wish to feel for young people, under the vari- of love is believed to be going availingly forwar rength from the opposite extremes of departure The man that wanderen out of the way or un-to which some are being led, through deceit and derstanding, shall remain in the congregation of tic and social relations of the people so different, the dead. An evil man seeketh only rebellion: in different widely-separated sections, that it re-raw aside; but the righteous, we are assured, therefore a cruel messenger shall be sent unto him. innot be moved, of which we have abundant evience, in the firmness of many who are continued truth shall be to them that devise good. Lord "establish, strengthen and settle" others, findeth life, righteousness, and honour. the glory of his name, and the advancement of ony and standard-bearers, upon whom the bur- own naughtiness. en of the word shall rest; whose eyes shall look wing their feet removed from evil.

or trains coming from four different directions, ness: they know not at what they stumble. riving at this point at the same time, to a second, ery day. They can be seen as they approach, ten miles in each direction, the prairies there ing a smooth, broad expanse, stretching away to e horizon without any inequalities to obstruct approach to about twelve feet of each other, as tegrity of the upright shall guide them. bugh exchanging salutations, when gracefully cking as though bowing an adieu, two of the chins go on the switches, while the other two eam away over the iron-bound prairie.—Late

For "The Friend,"

Selected Proverbs.

A man shall be commended according to his sdom: but he that is of a perverse heart, shall despised.

Correction is grievous to him that forsaketh the y; and he that hateth reproof, shall die.

He that refuseth instruction, despiseth his own il: but he that heareth reproof, getteth undernding.

A scorner loveth not one that reproveth him: ther will he go unto the wise.

Where no counsel is, the people fall: but in the iltitude of counsellors, there is safety.

the multitude of counsellors, they are estab-

He that trusteth his own heart, is a fool: but oso walketh wisely, he shall be delivered. Evil men understand not judgment: but they

it seek the Lord, understand all things. The wicked is snared by the transgression of his s: but the just shall come out of trouble.

A hypocrite with his mouth destroyeth his neighur; but through knowledge, shall the just be de-

Where no wood is, there the fire goeth out; so ere there is no tale-bearer, the strife ceaseth. As coals are to burning coals, and wood to fire: is a contentious man to kindle strife.

An angry man stirreth up strife, and a furious n aboundeth in transgression.

ill uphold the humble in spirit.

mouth.

their wickedness.

The man that wandereth out of the way of un- ral products so multiform; the habits, the domes-

s precious cause; - causing a succession of testi- them: but transgressors shall be taken in their generally the predominant active principle with all ght on; and their eyelids straight before them, not in the way of evil men; for they sleep not ex-government. From this, and from the form of our turning not to the right hand nor to the left, - cept they have done mischief; and their sleep is government and the principles that characterize it, taken away, unless they cause some to fall: for spring the party creeds and party policy, which The Illinois Central Railroad, at a place called wine of violence. But the path of the just is as which, though liable to great abuse, when kept attoon, is crossed by the Terre Haute and Alton the shining light, that shineth more and more unto within the limits prescribed by justice and sound ailroad. Every day at about two, P. M., are seen the perfect day. The way of the wicked is as dark-discretion, may he instrumental of good; by stimu-

a froward mouth: frowardness is in his heart, he incite those in the minority or opposition, to watch deviseth mischief continually; he soweth discord, with a jealous eye the course pursued by the Therefore shall his calamity come suddenly; sud- party holding the reius of government, in order to denly shall he be broken without remedy; but detect and expose whatever appears calculated to sight. As these trains arrive, their cow-catch- blessings are upon the head of the just, and the in- injure the public weal. But this competition for > Prussia, $284,000,000; Portugal, $196,000,000; Turkey, $185,000,000; Belgium, $100,000,000.

THE FRIEND.

NINTH MONTH 29, 1860.

that in order to ensure adequate protection to the they follow, are too easily influenced by the exindividual, in the pursuit of profit and happiness, citements of the day; while the politicians who and to promote the safety and well-being of asso- set up for statesmen, act in obedience to what apciated communities, it is necessary that government pears expedient for the present occasion, or to of some kind should be established and maintained. meet the popular clamor, rather than to carry Without counsel, purposes are disappointed : but In every government, each individual composing out measures based upon a far seeing system, the community, is obliged to give up a certain por-that while it promotes or secures the present well tion of the liberty which may be said to belong to being of the community, lays the foundation of him by nature, and to clothe those who are set future improvement. over him by form of law, with authority to enact and enforce regulations, which it is his duty to and low-toned morality of party leaders and faobey, so long as they do not violate the relation and vourites; the sectional selfishness and blind devoresponsibility existing between his soul and its tion to unworthy men, manifested by contending > therefore, a trust held for the benefit of the peo- promotion of his country's true interest, often feels ple governed, and is to be employed exclusively himself straightened to decide the course he should for their advantage, collectively and individually. Government thus constituted, and thus administries. This is peculiarly the case with a consistent Friend, tered, may properly be called a divine ordinance. The government must be maintained, or anarchy and as such, rightfully claims the obedience and and bloodshed will ensue; and it cannot be adsupport of all good citizens living under it.

A man's pride shall bring him low: but honour carefully eliminated and deliberately adopted, in professing that it should be carried on, so as to which clearly define the limits and prerogatives of subserve and promote the public good; each claims If thou hast done foolishly in lifting up thyself, the General and the State Governments, all their the write and the ability necessary to secure this if thou has thought evil, lay thine hand upon component parts of officers and citizens are countly end; each denies these requisits to its component to the component of the component parts of officers and citizens are countly end; each denies these requisits to its component parts of officers and citizens are countly end; each denies these requisits to its component parts of officers and citizens are countly end; each denies these requisits to its component parts of officers and citizens are countly end; each denies the component of the component parts of officers and citizens are countly end; each denies the component of the component parts of officers and citizens are countly end; each denies the component of the component parts of officers and citizens are countly end; each denies the component of the component parts of officers and citizens are countly end; each denies the component of the component parts of officers and citizens are countly end; each denies the component of the component parts of officers and citizens are countly end; each denies these requires the component of the component parts of the component component parts of officers and citizens are equally end; each denies these requisites to its opponents; bound to submit to their requirements and the while common sense may readily perceive that the A man that doeth violence to the blood of any laws enacted under them, so long as they remain policy and standard-bearers of one and all, when son, shall flee to the pit; let no man stay him. unaltered; but the people, to whom is guaranteed tried by the standard of the gospel of Christ, too Whose causeth the righteons to go astray in an freedom of thought and speech, if not satisfied generally fall miscrably below its purity and upway, he shall fall himself into his own pit. The righteous man wisely considereth the house the laws, are at liberty to dismiss them and install quires close watching to keep clear of its influence. the wicked: but God overthroweth the wicked others in their places. The country is so vast; If we are careful to act independent of its per-

Do they not err that devise evil? but mercy and of legislative enactments to meet their varied demands, and give satisfaction to all; and, with the s upright pillars, that shall go no more out. May He that followeth after righteousness and mercy, imperfection of our nature, it is hardly to be expected that such a perfect political system could be The righteousness of the upright shall deliver initiated and carried on. Selfishness, which is too classes, prompts each separate interest to urge its Enter not into the path of the wicked, and go peculiar claims upon the fostering care of the lating those in power so to act for the general wel-A naughty person, a wicked man, walketh with fare, as will secure place and popularity; while they political superiority necessarily exposes our country to the dangers which ever attend party spirit. European Delts.—The debts of the several The ungoverned passions and misguided prejudices States of Europe, at the close of Sixth month, 1860, of the people, soon convert the aims and enthusiasm were as follows:—Great Britain, $5,366,000,000; of party organizations into the intolerance and vio-France, $2,880,000,000; Russia, $1,745,000,000; lence of faction; men substitute its dictates for the Austria, $1,600,000,000; Spain, $1,050,000,000; voice of justice and truth, and laud or condemn persons and measures, as they are approved or denounced by the partisans with whom they are associated. The aspirants to office, in order to promote their own selfish views, play upon the passions of the ignorant and unreasoning, to induce them to support an administration they may approve, or to aid in hurling their opponents from office, and lifting their own tavourites into the places In all ages of the world mankind have found, left vacant. The people, as well as those whom

Amid the angry criminations, the inconsistency factions, a conscientious christian, desirous to use This authority, thus vested in governments, is, his influence for the suppression of evil and the pursue, as to the exercise of the elective franchise. ministered, unless men of some kind are chosen to In our country, where Constitutions have been execute its functions. All parties are equally loud its climate so diversified; its agricultural and mine- verting power, we find, that at best, we can select their voice and influence to elect the rulers of our country, in no way differ from those that are bind- The dictator confirmed Romano as Minister of the Ining upon us in our every-day life. Experience has ever proved, that the requirements of the moral law, are as applicable to governments as to individuals; and that the same considerations which bind each citizen to act towards his fellow with justice, love and forbearance, rest with equal force on governments, in all their conduct towards the people governed, and in their transactions with each other. With nations as with individuals, therefore, to be unjust, always is to be unwise. Presidents and Governors never will act safely; Senators and Representatives never will legislate so as to promote the real interest of the country and people, while they presume to reason and to determine upon different principles than those which the Supreme Lawgiver has laid down for the regulation of the conduct of each one of his fallible creatures; and we may be sure they will always miss of the good professed to be aimed at, while the fiscal year ending Sixth mo. 30th last, show that the course of the government they control, contravenes total exports of the country during the year, amounted course of the government they control, contravenes the immutable decrees of their Creator.

each other. The issues involved in the contest, A further classification by articles gives the following appear likely to affect the policy and well-being of result the country for a long time to come, especially upon the subject of slavery. While Friends will individually exercise their discretion as to voting at all, or to which candidates they will give their support, it will be a great preservation to their equanimity and influence for good, to keep out of all party
The total exports of 1858-9 amounted to $356,789,462, spirit and party associations. The counsel given | including $63,887,411 in specie; the imports were $338,by S. Crisp to Friends of his day, when the same kind of excitement was rife in England, and the freedom and immunity from suffering of our religious Society, seemed likely to be materially affected by the success or defeat of one contesting party or the other, may be profitably acted upon now: "And when you see divisions and parties, and rendings in the nations, and rumors and tempests in the minds of the people, then take heed of being moved to this party, or to that party, or missioners of Public Buildings acting under authority of delphia several times daily. The Winter session was recorded to this party, or the courselling the Legislature of the State, have decided to locate them open on Second-day, 5th of Eleventh month, prox. giving your strength to this or that, counselling the Legislature of the State, have decided to locate them this way or that way; but stand single to the Truth of God, in which neither war, rent or division is. -Take heed of that part in any of you, subject to the approval of the City Councils. The offiwhich trusts and relies upon any sort of the men of ciat census returns show a population in twenty wards this world, in the day of their prosperity; for the same party will bring you to suffer with them in the time of their adversity, which will not be long The steamer John L. Stephens sailed on the 11th, with after; for stability in that ground there will be none. $1,009,000 in gold, and a quantity of silver ore. The But when they shall say, Come, join with us in Marposa gold mines on J. C. Fremont's grants are understand to be religiously to the stability of the st this or that, remember you are joined to the Lord by his pure Spirit, to walk with him in peace and righteousness; and you feeling this, this gathers out of all bustlings, and noises, and parties, and tumults, and leads you to exalt the standard of truth and righteousness, in an innocent conversation, to see who will flow unto that."

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

EUROPE .- News from England to Ninth mo. 13th. The weather continued fine; the barvest in the southern counties was nearly completed, and the result ex-ceeded expectations. The barvest was progressing in the more northern counties, with encouraging prospects.

The intelligence from Italy was important. The King of Naples quitted the capital on the 6th, in a Spacish vessel, for Gaeta, a fortified seaport, in his dominions, about forty miles N. W. from Naples. There was some doubt as to his ultimate place of refuge. The Queen of A number of valuable buildings were burnt; total loss, Spain had offered him an asylum, but it is stated that $200,000.

but from among very incompetent instruments, to the cabinets of Vienna, Munich and Dresden have ad-

The principles that should govern all, in giving and sking of Italy, and consigned the fleet and the terior, and appointed persons to fill the office of Director of Police, Minister of War, and Minister of Justice. General illuminations had taken place. After the flight of the King, a great rise took place in the public funds.

Garibaldi had found an immense quantity of war material, and a large amount of money in the bank.
Insurrections had broken out in the Roman States, and the Papal government was in great consternation. The Sardinian troops were advancing through Tuscany and the Romagna, to be in readiness to enter the Papal States. It is believed the attitude of Austria will be purely defensive, as long as her Italian frontiers are not invaded.

The Liverpool cotton market was active, at advanced rates. Breadstuffs dull. Consols, 931.

MEXICO .- The latest accounts state that a force of 20,000 Liberals was marching on the capital, where President Miramon, with 7500 men, had furtified him-self. An attack was expected on the 8th instant.

UNITED STATES .- The Foreign Trade, -The official tables of the foreign trade of the United States for the to $400,167, 461. The imports amounted to $361,797,-209. The exports are classified, as follows. Specie, At the present time, political excitement runs $56,916,851, American produce, exclusive of specie, high, and parties are more than usually hostile to $316,220,640; foreign produce reshipped, $27,000,000.

Cotton	$191,806,555
Vegetable food	25,656,494
Animal food, hides and wool	20,206,265
Manufactures	35,454,644
Tobacco	15,906,547
Produce of the forest	11,756,000
Specie	56.946.851

including $63,887,411 in specie; the imports were $338,786,130. The foreign commerce of the United States has doubled within the last ten years.

Census Returns .- Complete returns make the population of Boston, Mass., 177,902; in 1850, it was 138,788. Louisville, Ky., has 75,196 inhabitants; in 1850, there were 43,190. St. Louis, Mo., has a population of 161,-000; in 1850, it was 77,860. Cincinnati has 158,000 inhabitants; Providence, R. I., 44,914; Rochester, N. Y., 48,096; Trenton, N. J., 17,206.

New York .- Mortality last week, 480. Philadelphia .- Mortality last week, 188. The Com-

upon Penn Square, and have awarded the contract for their erection to John M'Arthur, Jr. The buildings are to be of Pennsylvania white marble. The contract is of the city of 473,197; the estimated population of the four remaining wards is about 110,000.

California .- San Francisco dates to the 12th instant. derstood to be yielding large returns. A camel express was about to be established between Los Angelos and Fort Mahone.

New Orleans .- On the night of the 22d, a fire broke out in a large liquor store, and communicated to the adjoining property, much of which was destroyed. The explosion of the spirits caused a house near to fall with a heavy crash, burying from forty to fifty persons under the ruins. The number killed was not certainly known. Thirteen dead bodies were found the next morning. Storm in the Gulf.—The late equinoctial storm was very violent in the vicinity of Mobile. About a third part of the city was flooded, causing a loss of about a million of dollars. A number of vessels were wrecked or damaged, and a considerable number of tives lost. Pike's Peak .- From Sixth mo. 7th to Seventh mo. 26th, $202,169 in gold was sent from the Pike's Peak mines. by express, eastward. Discoveries of silver continue to be made, which promise to yield well.

Fort Smith, Ark .- On the 20th, a fire broke out in this town, which destroyed the post-office and 4000 letters.

Miscellaneous.- Walker's Expedition. - This band o marauders, after their departure from Trusillo, wer but from among very incompetent instruments, to the cabinets of Vienna, Municu and Dresden and not in Spain. marauders, after their departure from Truxillo, wer attain the high object which should ever be kept Garibadi entered Naples on the 9th, and was received approved to the 9th, and was received arms of the 1st of sentenced to be shot, and, it is supposed, have been al ready executed. The remainder of the party, about seventy in number, were permitted to return to the United States, under the promise never to engage again ia a similar enterprise.

First American Cotton in England .- It has been state as an historical fact, that the first export of cotton from the United States to England, was in 1784, when a vesel arrived at Liverpool with eight bags of cotton, part of the cargo, and that it was seized by the Custon house officers under the conviction that it could no have been the growth of America The Vine Disease in France.-The wine crop of France is very poor this season, and, it is supposed, it will fa short of the last one. Vines are all affected by the oidium, especially in the south of France, and the grap-are all nearly destroyed. In some places sulphur h: been successfully used in destroying the disease.

RECEIPTS.

Received from Jehn Fawcett, agt., O., for Saml. Dixo Israel Wilson, and Sarah Hole, $2 each, vol. 33, for Jo Taylor, H. W. Harris, Reba. Woolman, Jos. Winery, a: Stacy Cook, $2 each, vol. 34, for John Leech, $2, to 2 vol. 34; from Jesse Hall, agt., O., $2, vol. 33, for Dav Binns and Jos. Walton, $2, vol. 33, for Ann M'Brit $2, vol. 34, for Peter Thomas, $2, to 44, vol. 33.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

The Committee to superintend the Boarding-school West-Town, will meet in Philadelphia, on Sixth-d:

the 5th of next month, at 7 o'clock, P. M.

The Committees on lustruction and Admissions m on the same day; the former at 4 o'clock, and the I ter at 5 o'clock, F.M.

The Visiting Committee attend the semi-annual amination of the Schools, commencing on Third-c morning, and closing on Fifth-day afternoon of the sa

JOEL EVANS, Clerk Ninth mo. 20th, 1860.

WANTED.

A Female Friend to teach a family school. JOSEPH H. SATTERTHWAITE, Address Oxford Valley, Bucks Co., Pa.

WEST-GROVE BOARDING-SCHOOL FOR GIR Situated within a few hundred vards from West-Gr tation on the Philadelphia and Baltimore Central R road, from which place trains communicate with Ph The Winter session

For circulars, &c., address THOMAS CONARD, Principa Ninth month, 1860.

WEST-TOWN BOARDING SCHOOL.

The Winter session of the School will commence Second-day, the 5th of Eleventh month. Parents others intending to enter their children as papils, please make early application to DAVID ROBERTS, Su intendent at the School, or JOSEPH SCATTERGOOD, T surer, No. 304, Arch street, Philadelphia.

West-Town, Ninth mo. 4th, 1860.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted as Teacher of Reading in the I department of this Institution. Apply to MERC OI THIS INSTITUTION. Apply to SAMUEL HILLES, Wilmington, Del. JAMES EMLEN, West Chester, Chester Co., P. ALFRED COPE, Germantown, Pa. Sixth mo. 6th, 1860.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted to fill the station of Govern the Boys' department of this Institution.

Application may be made to NATHAN SHARPLESS, cord, Pa.; Samuel Hilles, Wilmington, Del.; J EMLEN, West Chester, Pa.; or THOMAS EVANS, Phil Twelfth mo., 1859,

> PILE & M'ELROY, PRINTERS, Lodge street, opposite the Pennsylvania Bank

HRRND

RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, TENTH MONTH 6, 1860.

NO. 5.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

rice Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by

JOHN RICHARDSON.

AT NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

Postage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three onths, if paid in advance, three and a-quarter cents; any part of the United States, for three months, if id in advance, six and a-half cents.

For "The Friend." Recent Discoveries in Astronomy. (Concluded from page 26.)

" This is all very well for the chapter of time,' ot, you require a good telescope. Have you one?' es, sir, I have succeeded, not without difficulty, ivation, and suffering to obtain for myself a escope. After practising much economy, I purased from M. Cauche, an artist little known, ough very clever, an object-glass nearly four thes in diameter. Knowing my enthusiasm and poverty, he gave me the choice among several cellent ones; and as soon as I made the selecn, I mounted it on a stand with all its parts; d I have recently indulged myself with a revolthe observation itself is concerned; but I want dness to examine more narrowly, and you will leaving the patients under his care.

asuring the distances of these points from the seen upon the sun.

vertical, and the angles of position, which he did tempt to deduce the planet's distance from the sun intra-mercurial planets. from the period of four hours which it required to describe an entire diameter of the sun. The doc-instances in which her observations have proved but not being a mathematician, he had not succeeded; and that this failure was the reason why forms of sidereal groups and planetary bodies as he had delayed the aunouncement of his discovery. observed in another, and the astronomical tables Leverrier having asked for the rough draught of of the present day have thrown into the shade the these calculations, the doctor replied, "My rough calculations and predictions of earlier times; but draughts! Paper is rather scarce with us. I am we have no instance in which the discovery of a a joiner as well as an astronomer. I calculate in primary planet, or even of a satellite, has been long my workshop, and I write upon the boards; and the subject of doubt or of controversy. Such a when I wish to use them in new calculations, I re- case has now occurred, and one which may long "This is all very well for the chapter of time," more the old ones by planing." Our visiting, how remain a source of disquiet, personal, if not nays the doctor; but in order to see so delicate a ever, the carpenter's shop, they found the board, tional, in our planetary annals. with its lines and its numbers in chalk still unob-congratulated Lescarbault on the important discovery which he had made. Anxious to obtain some mark of respect for the discoverer of Vulcan, Leverrier made inquiry concerning his private characsee the original memorandum which you made The minister, in a brief but interesting statement tronomers of the age had forefold its discovery. of his claim, communicated this request to the Emmall square of paper, which I generally throw justly due to him. His professional brothern in just published in a Danish journal a severe critical pour when it is of no further use, yet it is Paris were equally solicitous to testify their reciem of the letter of M. Lescarbault and the calsible I may still find it. Running with fear to gard; and M.I. Felix Roubaud, Legrande, and culations of Leverrier. Connuissance des Temps, he finds the note of Caffe, as delegates of the scientific press, proposed 20th March, 1859, performing the part of a to the medical body, and to the scientific world in made by Leverrier, or any French astronomer. *

Since the first notice of the discovery of Vulcan, the loss exists it greedily, and, comparing it with Hotel de Louvre, on the 18th of January. A in the beginning of January, 1860, the sun has better which M. Vulcan has been proposed to the proposed of th

Upon the supposition that the black spots seen by the systems of parallel axes we have mentioned, upon the sun by the astronomers above mentionand the divided circle of card board placed upon ed are bodies between Mercury and the sun, M. Wolff is of opinion that the observations can only Leverrier next inquired if he had made any at- he reconciled by the admission of at least three tor confessed that he had made attempts to do this, false, or her observers faithless. The telescopes of

When the astronomers of the Old and the New World, and especially our distinguished friends be-When this cross-questioning, which had lasted youd the Channel, were rejoicing in the discovery an hour, was finished, Leverrier was convinced that of a planet in the very presence of the sun—a disan intra-mercurial planet had really been seen, covery predicted by one French astronomer, and and with a grace and dignity full of kindness, he confirmed by another, and one likely to suggest some new phase in the condition of planetary life, -when this excitement was at its height, the fortunate astronomer decorated with the legion of honour, and the salous of fashion instinct with ter, and learned from the village cure, the juge de scientific life,-an eminent astronomer, and that g platform, and a revolving roof, which will paix, and other functionaries, that he was a skilful astronomer, a Frenchman, has presented himself up he in action. The lion went to the upper pry, and satisfied himself of the accuracy of the tement. 'This is all well,' says he, 'in so far Rouland, the minister of public instruction, the decovery with dishonesty, and impugn the very theorems. coration of the legion of honour for M. Lescarbault, retical principles on which one of the greatest as-

"It is very easy,' answered the doctor, 'to say peror, who, by a decree dated January 25th, continue Brazilian government, and himself the discourse want it; but though this note was written on learning terms and the Brazilian government, and himself the discourse want it; but though this note was written on learning terms and the Brazilian government, and himself the discourse want it; but though this note was written on learning terms and the Brazilian government, and himself the discourse want it; but though this note was written on learning terms and the Brazilian government, and himself the discourse want it; but though this note was written on learning terms and the Brazilian government, and himself the discourse was a second to the Brazilian government and himself the discourse was a second to the Brazilian government and himself the discourse was a second to the Brazilian government and himself the discourse was a second to the Brazilian government and himself the discourse was a second to the Brazilian government and himself the discourse was a second to the Brazilian government and himself the discourse was a second to the Brazilian government and himself the discourse was a second to the Brazilian government and himself the discourse was a second to the Brazilian government and himself the discourse was a second to the Brazilian government and himself the discourse was a second to the Brazilian government and himself the Brazilian government and himself the discourse was a second to the Brazilian government and himself the discourse was a second to the Brazilian government and himself the discourse was a second to the Brazilian government and himself the discourse was a second to the Brazilian government and himself the discourse was a second to the Brazilian government and himself the discourse was a second to the Brazilian government and himself the discourse was a second to the Brazilian government and himself the discourse was a second to the Brazilian government and himself the discourse was a s M. Liais, a French astronomer in the service of

To this remarkable paper no reply has yet been letter which M. Vallee had brought him, he similar offer had been made to him by his profes- been anxiously observed by astronomers; and the laims: But, sir, you have falsified this obvarion; the time of emergence is four minutes late.' It is, replied the lamb. 'Have the lis simple and retired habits, and the difficulty of explored with equal care by telescopes of high that the four minutes is the error of my watch, ulated by sidereal time? 'This is true; but the year of the interesting documents which we have atlants been excluded from the tube of the telescope tempted to analyze and abridge, excited the greatest as well as the eye of the observer; and yet to ensation in every part of Europe; and the records planet has been found. This fact would entitle us easation in every part of Europe; and the records planet has been found. This fact would entitle us ensation in every part of Europe; and the records planet has been found. This fact would entitle us easation in every part of Europe; and the records planet has been found. This fact would entitle us ensation in every part of Europe; and the records planet has been found. This fact would entitle us easation in every part of Europe; and the records planet has been found. This fact would entitle us ensation in every part of Europe; and the records planet has been excluded from the tube of the telescope. leaving the patients under his care.

The interesting documents which we have at has been excluded from the tube of the telescope too, of all ranks, whether occupying well-furnished distance, or even if Leverrier or Adams had an-Satisfied on this point, Leverrier then wished to observatories, or supplied only with a telescope and nounced it as the probable result of planetary person bow he determined the two angular co- a darkening glass, have been watching the little turbations. If the finest telescopes cannot rediscoinates of the points of contact, of the entry and planet during the time when it was likely to pass ver a planet that has a visible disc, with a power ergence of the planet, and how he measured the over the sun. No re-discovery of it, however, has 5 of 300, as used by Liais, within so limited an area and of the arc which separates these two points, yet been made; but very interesting cases have as a circle of 16 degrees, of which the sun is the searbault told him that this was reduced to the been found in which a round black spot has been centre, or rather within a narrow belt of that circle, we should unhesitatingly declare that no such planet exists; but the question assumes a very different aspect when it involves moral considerations. If, after the severe scrutiny which the sun and its of Mercury which rendered it probable, may be prescribed. otherwise explained. Should this be the case, we sometimes disturbed the tranquillity of science.

habits and fashions thereof, not suffering the spirit the present. Oh, that all might be awakened to a topher treated on that of Nicodemus coming b of the world to get over them, in a lust to be like true sense of their spiritual condition, while time night, for fear of the Jews.

unto them, in things useless and superfluous; lest it is allowed. 'It is a fearful thing to live, and it is The man was sensibly reached, and my desired upon them by giving a little way to it, till it is fearful thing to die' (unprepared.) I on to for him was, and is, faithfulness to manifeste leads them from the simplicity and plainness that know how it is my pen will run this way; but am truth and to his duty. He offered his house to C becomes the gospel; and so from one vain liberty somewhat eased thereby." to another, till they come to lose the blessed liberty "21st .- We hear our dear friend C. H. has a the world's spirit, and grow up into the liberty of The call to the highways and hedges seems to be turning, C. seemed much relieved, and especiall the flosh, with the lusts and concupiscence thereof, going forth, and, I believe, there is a fresh invita- rejoiced in believing the way was open for or as too many have done.

finest varieties of earthenware. It is composed of our favoured Society."

* * conversation, but yielding to a little intimation a very pure, white clay, called kaolin—derived "26th.—I think often of thee, and thy many stillness, comparable to the cloud that was the si from the decomposition of feld-par-very finely cares and concerns, as far as I know them; beside of a man's hand, a shower was poured forth wil divided silica, prepared by crushing and grinding this, there is a sympathy with unknown and hid-life and power, truly. Thus, again and again, the calcined flints, and a little line. The utmost pains den exercises; with a sincere desire that thou and Lord was good to us poor things, and we have nare taken to thoroughly incorporate those ingred. I, with those nearly connected with us, may withing to pay with. May a ready obedience I dients, and to avoid the introduction of particles of ness the blessing of preservation, which, in all yielded." On Fourth and Fifth days, attended our Selection of the consistency and appearance of dough, is then hindering, trying, unthought-of, unlooked-for trials and Quarterly Meeting. In our Fifth-day meeting the consistency and appearance of dough, is then hindering, trying, unthought-of, unlooked-for trials and Quarterly Meeting. potter's wheel, or in moulds of plaster of Paris, into the mind for breathing after our daily food, are so fare and preservation of our Society in its prese ware-dried and baked in a kiln or oven for a pe- abundant, that I find without great watchfulness, peculiar situation. In the last meeting, Ali riod of about forty hours. The porcelain in this I am traversing a barren desert where no refresh- Knight was concerned to speak of the burt v bibe water, and even allow it to filter through its be still watched in his insinuations, and the contain many sentiments and views correspondit surface. This difficulty is remedied by covering 'blessing of preservation' still extended, it may be to the friends, and yet in other parts are entirely the ware with a glassy coating called a glaze, which well." the ware with a giassy counting cauca a giaze, which wellgenerally consists of a more fusible mixture of the same materials as the porcelain itself. These, in a state of fine powder, are made into a cream with water, and into this the ware is dipped for a moment and then withdrawn; the water sinks into its three o'clock, and wished public notice given—he giving all up. We had not, I think, before hea substance, leaving the powder evenly spread upon came; the house was full, having extra benches, the matter treated of in this way in meeting, the surface, which, when submitted to a moderate and we had a good meeting. Next afternoon she was helped to manage it well. I travail heat, fuses, and forms a uniform, vitrous coating, to Norristown, to one appointed for him ter, with her in near feeling, from a trial of this kir I ornamental porcelain, the designs are printed or As we came into the town, a great bell was ringno ornamental porceium, the designs are primed of As we came into the town, a great one was ring to a single and a rate beeft agree with various metallic ing in the steeple of the house, (the meeting was We shall, indeed, have to do better, or we shall oxyds, which develope their colours only after held in the basement story of the Baptist meeting; sifted out, for this kind of reading is opening t fusion with the ingredients of the glaze. Much house;) when we entered, a pretty large company way to a relish for the sounding brass and t beautiful work of this kind is now done in this were collected. When seated, and I saw cousin J., it inking cymbal, while it renders tasteless the pi country.

our Late Friend, H. Williams.

from the usual solar spots, shall be seen on the getting up, after the succession of thoughts, &c., a fear seized, why, 'the Truth will suffer!' wher solar surface, we will not dare to assert that it does did much interest me, it seemed like reading over an involuntary breathing of 'Lord, help us,' cam not exist. We cannot doubt the honesty of M. my own case, morning by morning. The intrusion into my mind, and dwelling quietly under this Lescarbault; and we can hardly believe that he of unwelcome thoughts on my most sacred modificating of solemnity, which seemed to me prevail was mistaken. No solar spot, no floating scoria, ments, is a grief and affliction that I did not know ing, fear, slavish fear, vanished, and the meeting could maintain, in its passage over the sun, a circular and uniform shape; and we are coming towards was very quiet, and crowned with the presence of cular and uniform shape; and we are confident that the evening of our day; I am concerned how we no other hypothesis but that of an intra-mercurial shall auswer: many weaknesses, shortcoming, so, then I had no right sense of it. A whip of planet can explain the phenomena seen and men omissions and commissions are mine; when I am sared by M. Lescarbaul —a man of high charac- weak, then the enemy is strong. I am not always and inviting communication with life and power ter, possessing excellent instruments, and in every able to remember that help is laid on One that is I do not know how better to describe it than dis way competent to use them well, and to describe mighty." I crave the sympathy and aid of thy the Presbyterian minister, who, after meeting, in clearly and correctly the result of his observations. spirit and of dear —— is, so that my way may be troduced himself to Christopher as such, acknow clearly and correctly the result of insopervations spint and of dear special spint and of dear spint and dear spint

I felt much for -1058. Advised to keep under the leadings and threatening aspect; but from thy letter yesterday, tion; what his real character is, I do not know guidance of the Spirit of Truth in their outward there seemed reason to trust it would pass by for but likely, as Nicodemus did, so would he. Chris that is in Christ, into which they were in a mea- minute to come within the limits of Abington Quarsure redeemed, and fall back into the bondage of ter to hold meetings, principally for other people. be a very interesting period in our Society; thought on many accounts, discouraging; to see anything like 'a standard-bearer' giving out, in any accounts, discouraging; to see anything and so lose both their name and place in the Truth, tion to many amongst us; to me it does appear to fashioned upon a peculiar kind of lathe, called a and difficulties that crowd in, calculated to unfit jug ---- was engaged in testimony for the we condition is technically termed "biscuit," and is ment is Some of us here seem to be led sustained by reading publications of conspicuo compact and solid, but so porous as to readily im- about and instructed: if the are a-enemy can only persons of other religious denominations, while brother J., and M. M.; these along side of C. as fitable reading of the Holy Scriptures and go

For "The Friend." helpers, and myself near; the feeling was humili Extracts from the Letters and Memorandums of ating, and the query, 'Has it come to this?' tha we should be exhibited here, facing a large and vicinity will undergo before, and after, and during his total eclipse in July, no planet shall be seen; letters by ——; they were truly acceptable; thy audience, (for I had ventured to cast my eye over and if no round black spots distinctly separable awaking up 'wide awake,' at that early hour, and the company,) humiliating, yes, and abasing, and had distilled as the dew.' I observed the ma "Your afflictions have caused near feeling of during the time C. was engaged, (for he sat di must refer the round spot on the sun to some of sympathy, and I have out of great weakness de-rectly before me,) he was much affected and bro those illusions of the eye or of the brain, which have sired you might be strengthened to bear it pa- ken; it may be said, he shed many tears, leaning tiently, trusting a blessing is in it, though unseen. on the top of his umbrella. He is a young man ; the complaint wore a I should say, not over thirty-five, without ostents and welcome, when he came again, but C. informe him, he did not know that he ever should con

again, "When we got into the carriage, and were re

Porcelain .- The name porcelain is applied to the like 'a standard bearer' giving out, in any part of evening; the greater part was spent in suitab by men. It contains no lesson, showing God sees much concerned to keep our places and act up-our actions and will reward accordingly. I believe rightly. 'A word to the wise is sufficient.'" t indispensable that such lessons and hints should ecompany early instruction. Not finding anything of this in thy book has surprised me, and I cannot lual. I can speak from experience, and need im- tive loss of property, and even of life.

prove even in old age.

ing. Near the close, dear --nyself paid for coming, if I should then return seen by quoting the account given of it by a local poard the ship; many Friends attended there. tected."

sustomed to sit, plain before me."

atterly, and whether Best Wisdom may see meet ginate? What the green fat of the turtle is to the blackened as closely to resemble smut, or soot. We t would be very little. We make mistakes by as a touch, and I would advise thee to see for thyating ourselves above our deserts, and so sit down self, and to be quite satisfied; then I am easy thou ries of the afflicted and poor in our land have doing, and will hurt thyself and the one thou may and have seen no lesson which would draw the to give the alarm at the approach of the enemy; attention of the learner to believe in an after-state, we have watchers through jealousy, and they are or believe the good actions and deeds recommended listeners and whisperers; I meet with them, but it would at all affect his future well-being, but only is best to be wise and harmless. Do let us try to s a moral good, and to be thought well of here do nothing against the Truth; while we be very Incendiary Mice.

Mice, aptly described by Johnson as being the on that account recommend it. Though Comly's "smallest of all beasts-little animals that haunt nay have some words in spelling repeated, and houses and corn-fields," are usually considered s greatly to be preferred."

"Second mo. 22d. * * I often think, if boards, cupboards and boxes, and other trivial n the moment of trial and vexation, we could stop, depredations. We shall find, however, by a furand not speak until the right time, how much heart- ther investigation of facts, that mice, powerless as ourning it would save us. The tongue is a trouble- they may seem to be of producing evil on a large ome member to a headlong and unguarded indivi- scale, may, nevertheless, cause a large and destruc- of these little animals.

n a glass with that of thy poor mother's case, was the locality of the fire in this case—a chest of nued nibbling was sufficient to ignite the matches; was the locality of the fire in this case—a chest of nued nibbling was sufficient to ignite the matches; the local property of the pro came down to see, both ministered to the people; it occurred in a chest of drawers. What renders neous combustion are not present in a match box.), in a close manner, touching upon the rending it so mysterious is the fact, that for many weeks and the many weeks and dividing spirit in church and state. I spoke past there has been no light, or fire of any description, in this apartment. The fire originated in a poisonous paste, and to impress upon them the

what of his exercised spirit and sorrowful turn of premises would be safe, for the smoke engendered eaten.

To remises the attitude in which he was active would be such in quantity and quality as to insure early detection.

books, which have been penned in the savour of to finish the work or prepare through further bap- alderman—what curry and rice are to the Indian— or wood, it is a great tax upon our feelings; we are among the rich blessings of our heavenly well known partiality is taken by the commonly awe endeavoured to do what we could, but it is Father to the poor and needy."

Bather to the poor and needy."

"Third mo. 3d.—It is a nice matter, in this day, name of "vermin poison, now extensively sold under the neutrinous of the principle of which is phosphorus. This is one are right hard and close; accusing the true seed in himself, and in the exercised ministers, self evident from its smell, its being luminous in the needs of the families of being undeserving, &c.; able to judge of fitness of communications to the dark, the manner in which it burns, and the phosund so excusing themselves from helping the chil-company ministered unto; in short, to live in the phoric acid produced by its combustion. A thin tren; I do not understand that kind of talk and life, that the life in public communications may layer of this, spread upon bread and butter, and put cting—if the best of us had just what we deserved, answer to the life in us. I do believe, it is as quick in the neighbourhood of its holes, will lure the unsuspecting mouse from his ordinary cheese or candle diet to the poisoned and invariably fatal bait elf-satisfied by our finely polished stoves, and should encourage or discourage, but not to go at We have watched its effects: at first it appears warm fires, and plentiful tables. I believe the the instigation of another; that is a poor way of to act as a narcotic, or stupefying agent; the mouse walks and stumbles about, unbeeding the presence eached the ears of the Most High, and I should be sent to. Faithful, clear-handed, clear-sighted of man: it seems intoxicated. Death, however, eally tremble to be found using the part which Friends may be a great blessing one to another. soon follows, and upon examining their bodies a belongs to the poor."

'They who feared the Lord, spake often one to few minutes afterwards, evidence of extensive inside a line of the bodies is to be found. We have seen rats similarly under its influence, and detected the same post mortem appearances.

We will now adduce another fact, as bearing considerably upon the subject under investigation. Some few years ago, a fire originated in a cupboard very mysteriously. Satisfactory and conclusive evidence was given at the time, that no lighted candle or fire had been in the room for months. The shelves of the cupboard, the floor and the ceiling of the room underneath were burnt, when, fortunately, discovery took place, and the ravages of the flames were stopped. As we have before explained, had the sthers not pronounced rightly, yet, as regards the as being merely mischievous nuisances, whose sole fire originated in a closed drawer, it must soon have essons for young readers, in my opinion, his book destructive propensities are directed against candle been stifled; but the mischief could extend, and did, to greater lengths, in an airy and large cupboard. All that was found were the remains of a lucifer match-box, and the ends of a few burnt matches. Evidence of the existence of numbers of mice was apparent, from the great quantity of the droppings

It is hardly necessary to state that the power of We find, by contemporary journals, that in the ready iguition possessed by lucifers, is derived, "26th.—I came to the city in the car yesterday. bed-room of a certain individual, a fire is suddenly amongst other things, principally from phosphorus. Attended Sixth-Street Meeting: a quiet, solid sit- found to be raging—an odd circumstance, consider- In all probability, the mice endeavoured to get at - spoke to a ing that no light or fire of any description had been the contents of the box, attracted by the smell of owly proved condition, answering as face to face in the apartment for some time; but still more odd this phosphorus; the friction caused by their conti-

The explanation appears to us to be more crelosed, I quietly left the house; rested and took

at the time of its occurrence.

"E. Lewis, of Broadheath, discovered a fire

at the time of its occurrence.

"E. Lewis, of Broadheath, discovered a fire

at the time of its occurrence.

"E. Lewis, of Broadheath, discovered a fire

at the time of its occurrence.

"E. Lewis, of Broadheath, discovered than the spoiling or destruction of a few books in a louse.

Our Carolina friends D. and A. C., whom which is enveloped in the most profound mystery; drawer, and all the elements necessary for sponta which is enveloped in the most profound mystery; drawer, and all the elements necessary for sponta the spontaneous combustion; for the incendiary aims at more than the spoiling or destruction of a few books in a louse.

Our Carolina friends D. and A. C., whom which is enveloped in the most profound mystery; drawer, and all the elements necessary for spontaneous combustion; for the incendiary aims at more than the combustion; for cel easy they go on their embassy, desiring the chest of drawers, the contents of which (lace and necessity of extreme circumspection as to where some volumes of the ("Illustrated London News") they place this bait. Being usually-as, indeed, is some volumes of the ("Illustrated London News") they place this bait. Being usually—as, indeed, is "This morning, at eight o'clock, they went on were burnt or damaged before the fire was de-ordered in the directions for its use—spread upon thin bread and butter, children would, if they got and — went, but I felt most inclined to It would not be the object of an ordinary incen- at it, eat and be poisoned. Cats, dogs, pigs and tay in — 's nursery and hear those dear little diary to burn a few books. A fire lighted in a poultry would devour it and die. Nor must we 10ys and their sister their Scripture lessons, and drawer and that drawer subsequently closed, could forget that an animal dying from being thus poiben read the second number of T. Scattergood's but smoulder and smoke, and expire for want of air soned, and caten by another, would prove equally using which I cannot read without shedding to support combustion. This smouldering might deterious to the latter; in the same manner that unny tears; so much feeling is couched in the destroy, as it actually did in this case, the contents partridges, killed by eating wheat soaked in arsecount, and knowing him as I did, and some- of the drawer, but the flames would not extend; the senic, would prove poisonous to man or beast, if

To the uninitiated we may here observe, that wheat is usually "dressed," as it is termed, with paste, bury the carcuse; don't throw it carelessly of mind in me, I could not sleep, night or day, with away. We cannot advocate this system of poison- any comfort, till I went and carried it back, and and it made me a long wilderness travel. But m ing vermin, for several reasons. As to the cruelty left it where I was sure it would be found by the gracious Father did not forsake me. He again of causing a painful and lingering death, we will owner. Then I enjoyed comfort for my obedience visited me, and made me sensible of my loss, an say nothing. But—and this is important—the pointerin, and [the anguish I had endured] was a favoured me with his presence. I all along ha soned animal frequently crawls away to its hole warning to me ever afterwards. My father and kept steadily to meetings on First days and other to die, where its putrefying carcase may, in hot mother were careful to make me go to meeting, days of the week, and now again I made som weather, be productive of disagreeable effects in the which was never disagreeable to me. Many times progress in religion." way of steneb, while fever, of a low typhoid, and beholding the gravity, solid behaviour, and the exceedingly dangerous nature, is often engendered plainness of garb Friends appeared in, I thought by breathing and living in an atmosphere tainted they looked beautiful, even before I was convinced

For "The Friend."

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES

Of Ministers and Elders and other concerned members of the Yearly Meeting of Philadelphia.

(Continued from page 28.) JOSHUA BROWN.

The following account has been principally abridged from the memoirs, journals and other papers left by our Friend, Joshua Brown. Although not in the exact order as to time, it is now introduced into our series, as the materials for preparing it are complete, whilst some sketches which should precede it, cannot as yet be perfected.

"I was born on the 5th day of the Fifth month, 1717, at West Nottingham, in the county of Chester, and province of Pennsylvania. My parents were religious persons, who professed the Truth, and endcavoured to bring me up in that way. My grandfather, James Brown, came from England, and first settled at Burlington, in New Jersey, and afterwards [about 1683] at Marcus Hook, in Chester county, in Pennsylvania.* There my father was born. When Nottingham was settled, [1702 -1703], my grandfather removed there, taking my father with him. My mother was born in Scotland. When twelve to fourteen years of age, she was, with many others, forcibly taken, carried on board a ship, and brought to Pennsylvania. She was here sold as a servant to Caleb Pusey, near Chester, and served her time out. [During this time she probably became convinced of the Truth of the principles professed by Friends, and was received as a member amongst them.] When free, she married William Coles, and settled at Nottingham. [Her husband in a few years died, leaving her a widow with two children.] Some time after my father married her."

From the accounts preserved, it appears that Joshua received a religiously guarded education, and that his father was careful that he should have such instruction in reading, writing and arithmetic, as should qualify him for filling the station in life. for which he was designed. The God of his father watched over him in youth, and the guidance and instruction of the Holy Spirit, were mercifully granted him. He says, "In my tender years, I felt the Lord's goodness in reproving me when I did that which was wrong, even before I distinctly knew what it was, that was working in my mind [to bring into] a conformity to his holy will. One instance I am free to meution. When I was seven or eight years of age, I was sent by my father on an errand to a smith's shop. [Whilst there] I saw a small knife, which pleased me, and I was tempted to take it. I carried it home, and was tempted confess that it offends the eye more than the palate. or knew anything of it, yet when I came coolly to

In the event of any animal dying from eating this think of it, the witness of Truth begot such horror
ivelihood, and was blessed to live well. by breathing and living in an atmosphere tained toty looker beauting, even state with decayed animal and vegetable remains.—Religious Tract Society.

The BLLL AT SEA.

The dangerons islet called the Bell Rock, on the coar principle in myself. The Lord who was pleased to principle in myself. The Lord who was pleased to preserve me from being guilty of gross evils, fa was so placed as to be swung by the motion of the voured me with tenderness of spirit. Though the waves, when the tide rose above the rock. natural propensities of youth were often seen in me, yet the Lord begot an aversion to drinking to excess, which I saw many guilty of.

"When about sixteen years of age, I had the small-pox, which reduced me very low, so that few expected me to live. The Lord however mercifully preserved me, so that I came to a state of health again. Soon after this, our worthy Friend, Elizabeth Levis, came on a religious visit to Nottingham and the meetings adjacent, and by her labour of gospel love, my mind was much reached, and greatly humbled through the power of truth attending her ministry. I was made sensible of the need I had of knowing a real change from the propensities of nature, and the work of the new birth [going on.] I was much concerned that I might not be deceived in a matter of so great consequence. She was at West Nottingham meeting which I also attended. Her labour there was as the clinching of the nail. Her testimony went forth in life and power, and it brought me into great searching of heart, that I might adopt right principles. Though I had been educated in the way I now profess, yet I was desirous that my religion might be the religion of my judgment. order that it might be so, I furnished myself with books containing the principles of several other societies, and read them without prejudice. I also got Robert Barclay's Apology, which gave me full satisfaction. I was never more capable of judging of the doctrines of Truth, than in this, the time of my humiliation. I was very desirous I might not receive any point of faith, not consistent with the purity of the doctrine of Christ, delivered in the Holy Scriptures. I much desired to be a true disciple, and in order thereto, I often retired alone, and poured forth many tears with supplications to the Lord, that he would lead me, and direct me aright. In this state I was engaged to attend religious meetings as they came in course, and often found meeting-days long a coming. I always had a love for meetings which now was much increased. In this time of the Lord's favour to me, I had a clear prospect, that if I was faithful, I should be follows on a subject of much interest: "There favoured to receive a gift, to minister to others.

some improvement for several years, yet afterwards judiciously to improve and adorn the house, an suffered loss, by not living near enough to that, the ground around it, they are in effect paying the which I knew had convinced me of duty. Thinking children a premium to stay at home as much all was pretty well with me, I grew more easy, yet possible, to enjoy it; but that when they sper my heart was always desirous that I might be a money unnecessarily in fine clothing and jewels real christian.

Gatchell, of East Nottingham. She proved a ten-tention, and make the most display." to conceal how I came by it, and to tell a lie, and der, affectionate wife, and, in time, became truly a religious woman. At the time I married her, she father settling me in West Nottingham, gave me a thy friends.

have eaten of such black bread, and feel bound to say I found it. Although no one ever discovered piece of land, on which I lived upwards of twent

"I had suffered loss in my religious progress

THE BELL AT SEA.

When the tide's billowy swell Had reached its height, Then toned the rock's lone bell Sternly by night.

Far over cliff and surge Swept the deep sound, Making each wild winds dirge Still more profound.

Yet that funereal tone The sailor blessed. Steering through darkness on With fearless breast.

E'en so may we, that float On life's wild sea, Welcome each warning note Stern though it be.

F. Hemans.

Selected. SOFTLY INTO HEAVEN SHE FADED.

Softly into heaven she faded, As the star when more appears, While we stood in silence round her, Gazing at her through our tears. Death, she said, had not a shadow; All the vale was full of light;

And she left us smiling sweetly Bidding us a last good night l Saying, as she kissed us fondly, "Do not drop for me one tear, Jesus, Jesus stands beside me, I am safe while He is near."

She is gone, and I am lingering In this weary world of ours, Bearing on my beart the ashes Of affection's broken flowers; Ever longing to be with her, In that better home above, Where the heart rejoices ever In the deathless bonds of love; For a moment death divides us, But, when I have crossed its gloom, I shall then be resting with her, Ever, evermore at home. Salem (Mass.) Register.

Minor Effects in Money-Spending .- A corr spondent of the American Agriculturist writes: one thing I would be glad to see more parents u "I went on in a very humble manner, and made derstand, namely, that when they spend mone for their children, they are paying them a premiu "When near the age of twenty, I was married to spend their time away from home; that is, to Hannah, the daughter of Elisha and Rachel those places where they can attract the most a

Be kind to thy friends, that they may contin was much in the air, but abhorred gross evils. My such; and to thy enemies, that they may become

^{*} James Brown was a single man, when he removed from England. He afterwards married Honour Clayton, a daughter of William Clayton.

ove and mercy of God in Christ Jesus, passed

Lewes, in the county of Sussex.

The decease of her last surviving parent occur- spoken. ed only a few months before her own death, and and her affections set on things above. She sought to this call. co commune in secret with her God, and closely to scrutinize her thoughts, words and actions; she obpreserved in the early warmth of her first love.

She possessed a loving, tender heart, ever ready o extend the hand of help to those who asked or Lord.

In her thirty-eighth year, she first appeared as a place of watering." nor did He in whom she confided, leave her to her- low-professors in Ireland. self, or require at her hands what He did not grant strength to perform.

She was frequently engaged in the exercise of frame of her mind :-

of her faith in the propitiatory sacrifice and atoneand affectionate invitation to her hearers to love ward work of grace in the soul.

Selected for "The Friend." others beyond our boundary, shared and acknow of thy love always burning on the altar, that all Meeting, concerning Priscilla Rickman, de-her christian counsel, her faithful yet gentle ad-ceased. may become a burnt offering to thy praise."

"Tenth mo. 20th, 1857.—My spirit craves on monitions, or the lively exhortations in which she When contemplating the character of those was wont in word and doctrine, and also by her behalf of the religious Society of which I am pri-round that they were followers of a crucified Sa- of being prepared for its termination. The coarse will and to do of his good pleasure." language which had called forth her exercise, Our beloved departed friend was the daughter ceased at once, and before separating each indivi-

She visited, with the cordial unity and concurdmost her whole life was spent under the paternal rence of Friends, and generally in company with whichever way it might be. her sister, Rachel Rickman, many parts of Eng-much of her thought, under an apprehension that have nothing left to wish."

Although eminently cheerful in her disposition strength for it, physically or spiritually, may now by her never-failing Friend and Almighty Helper.

And deportment, ever ready to enter into all the be granted I cannot see. May the good Shepherd Her strength gradually declined until the evenrational enjoyments of a large and energetic fa-graciously watch over and preserve his flock of ing of her death, when the family was gathered in mily, and throughout her life an ardent admirer of every class in that part of the fold, and in an espe-the beauties of Creation, yet her Bible, and books cial manner my heart goes forth to my fellow-of a decidedly spiritual character, very early be-members in religious profession. May He keep those present of the words of the patriarch, "The came her favourite study, combined with the practithem as the apple of the eye, may He bind them to bouse of God—the gate of heaven." It was a seatice of daily private retirement to wait upon the a reception of his counsels and his guidance, may son of prayer and praise. He lead them in and out and continually to the

The few following extracts from her memoranda

her gift, and her words were accompanied with Twelfth mo. 26th, 1840, being about the time of unction and weight, meeting the witness in many her first speaking as a minister. "Be ye clean

Monthly Meeting who have not, along with many pure incense unto Thee continually. Keep the fire cient slave material to convict any one of them.

4 Testimony from Lewes and Chichester Monthly ledged the sweet influence of her cheerful piety, impurities may be consumed, and my whole soul whom we regard as having, through the boundless life and conversation, to invite all to follow Christ vileged to be a member, that it may be kept in the An instructive instance of her devoteduess and secret place of the Most High, and thus abide unhrough death unto life, and who had been in good simple dedication once occurred when she was der the shadow of the Almighty. May the princineasure enabled, whilst on earth, to walk worthy travelling with two of her friends in a railway car- ples and testimonics thereof, be upheld in faithfulof the name of a disciple of Jesus, how forcibly are riage with a rough and boisterous company, whom ness and integrity by those who profess them. ve reminded of the truth, that by the grace of God she was constrained in the love of the gospel to May they be bowed in true lowliness before the hey were what they were. We see that they were address, reminding them that whilst they all were Lord, that through boundless and condescending hereby redeemed from the spirit of the world, led travelling together upon the same journey they mercy, it may again become strong for his name on in their heavenward journey, enabled to over- were also travelling upon another journey of much and cause, out of the nothingness of the creature, some their besetting sins and to manifest to all more importance, and pressing upon them the need hringing praise unto Him who can enable both to

Her last illness was long, and her decline very gradual. It was borne with great patience and of John and Sarah Rickman, of Wellingham, near dual acknowledged with gentleness and gratitude resignation; she felt its termination to be very unthe words which were thus shown to have been fitly certain until a short time before her decease, and on one occasion, conversing with a friend, she very simply said that it seemed very pleasant to her

On another occasion, at much later period of She had the advantage of a very guarded eduland and Scotland, almost universally including ber illness, she repeated, "A foretaste of heaven, nation, under the influence of parents whose care the families as well as the meetings of Friends, how sweet it is;" and upon several messages of the may truly be said to have been to educate their She would after a "LLL". t may truly be said to have been, to educate their She would often say, "If I have a service, it is to love being given her from distant friends in acbildren in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. individuals, my heart goes out to each;" and ma-knowledging their kindness, she replied, "I would At about the age of twelve years, it was very by were the precious seasons with very lowly and send love to all, for I love every body, but I have perceptible, that her heart was given to the Lord, hidden ones which resulted from her faithfulness not strength to particularize." During a trying paroxysm of her decease, in reply to an expression For several years, Friends in Ireland claimed of sympathy she said, "I am very comfortable, I erved much simplicity in all things, and as she a general visit to them would be required of her, A few hours before her death, recurring to her idvanced from childhood to youth, was remarkably and this feeling was confirmed on her attending early life, she said, "It was in my thirteenth year the Yearly Meeting in Dublin, in 1852, allusion to I found my Saviour. He has been with me at my which is made among her memoranda, as follows: life long, and I have loved him, and endeavoured "I feel inclined here to record an impression to serve him, and he is with me now." She reneeded it. Self-denying, a true sympathizer with that has dwelt upon my mind, that, all unworthy traced with a heart full of gratitude and praise, all, she came to esteem it a pleasure and a privil as I am, it may be my call to spend a little time and as one then unbound in spirit, and on the conege (using the language of an apostle,) to wash the in Ireland, the attraction to my friends in that national men. in Ireland, the attraction to my friends in that national men. in Ireland, the attraction to my friends in that national men. in Ireland, the attraction to my friends in that national men. in Ireland, the attraction to my friends in that national men.

During its continuance, and unperceived by all, her purified spirit passed the boundary of earth, to minister, and in the prospect of this solemn en Although the fulfilment of this embassy of love be, we reverently trust, forever with her Lord, angagement, she was deeply humbled before her was eventually prevented by her declining health, other added to the great multitude which no man Lord, feeling herself as one of the very least in the yet it appears from her further memoranda that can number, of all nations and kindreds and family of Curist, and many were her fears lest she her heart was completely dedicated to the service, tongues, who stand before the throne, and before should enter on the work unbidden; but after and we trust that her exercise of mind and even the Lamb, clothed with white robes, and palms in obeying what she believed to be the voice of her this record of her gospel love and solicitude may their hands, crying with a loud voice, and saying, Master, her mind was relieved, serene and peaceful, be grateful and profitable to many of our dear fel- Salvation to our God, which sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb forever aud ever.

She died on the 30th of Tonth month, 1859, in have been selected as characteristic of the habitual the fifty-seventh year of her age, and was buried at Lewes on the 4th of Eleventh month, ensuing.

The Slave Trade,-It is remarkable, if we may that hear the vessels of the Lord,' is a command believe the current rumours of the day, how the Whilst she gave clear evidence of the soundness which is often brought to my remembrance, but slave trade is progressing. It is stated that a when I look within and see and painfully feel how regular flect of vessels clear from different ports ment made by the Lord Jesus Christ, on the cross, much remains that has not passed through the fire, of the United States at the same time, and that for the sins of the whole world, a more frequent chast it seems an awful thing to raise a finger in any distributed among them are stores and water to tracteristic of her gospel ministry was a very simple service, however small, for the dear Master." fit out two or three of them for slavers, and that "First mo. 'sth, 1842 .- My mind has of late when the coast is clear, they all combine to aid him, their dear Redeemer, with the whole heart, been greatly tried by impatience. O thou Gra-the selected vessels in receiving stores and slaves and to submit themselves unreservedly to his in cious One, who wast meek and lowly, be pleased with the greatest possible despatch. By these in thy merey and power to subdue this evil tem- means, seven or eight vessels may be all engaged There are probably none within the limits of this per, and to sanctify my vessel, that it may offer up in the slave trade, without having on board suffiDruses and Maronites.

by themselves, but approved by the Turkish go- of religion and humanity.-Late Paper. vernment. They are an exceedingly brave and warlike people, numbering about one hundred thousand souls. They occupy forty large towns in the southern portion, and on the western slope of had its origin among the Monothelites, who, having discipline, and with which he desired they should been condemned by the council of Constantinople treat one another, when different sentiments apalso a college at frome on the catalance and day.

Clergy. They number about one hundred and day.

"Dear Friends,—In Christ, in whom we have of cattle, than this reciprocal toilet of the tongue about the catalance and day.

"Dear Friends,—In Christ, in whom we have of cattle, than this reciprocal toilet of the card and the catalance and the catalance are considered." we might add, a cowardly people.

arisen which has assumed such vast proportions as dominion. For truly Friends, love gathereth into and cattle. It removes all filth from the skin the present one. It seems to be a war of extermilove, and edifies the body of Christ, and let nothing which is apt to accumulate in stables, unless cur nation, and accompanied by atrocities that make be done with strife, but in love, to the glory of rying is attended to daily. The skin is constant the blood run cold. The advantage is altogether God, and in the name of Christ, and in his power; throwing off effete matter, which collects around the collects are collected to the collects around the collects around the collects are collected to the collects around the collected t ou the side of the Druses. They have laid waste so that you all may see and feel Christ among you, the roots of the hair, and stops up the pores, unless the whole country with fire and sword, destroying ordering you all to his glory with his wisdom, it is in some way removed. The tongue does this every Christian village they could find, and nurvelevery Christian village they could find the country of t This completes the destruction of the Christian meetings; but that the Life and Seed may reign regularly, because he is more frequently exhibite power, and makes Lebanon truly a desolation. in you all, and so the Lord may have the glory of in the presence of his owner, and the cleanliness of llow many mission stations have been swept all, and ye may all have comfort in Him your Head, the carriage, and of the clothes of the family, de utterly away, and how much missionary labour Do not strive much with unruly talkers, but keep pend somewhat upon the condition of the skin c has thus been brought to naught, we have not yet

The painful interest excited by the butcheries in winked at, or been unable to prevent. We are strife among you, but dwell in love; for he tha Syria will naturally give rise to a desire to know not among those who have ever believed in the tole- dwelleth in love, dwelleth in God; so God who i something more of the parties engaged in this fero-rance of the present Sultan, or that Mohammedan-love, is to be your salvation. Condescend to the cious internecine warfare. These parties are the ism is a whit more liberal now than it ever was, meek, and to every appearance of the Lord God Druses and Maronites. Both the origin and the But even supposing this to be the case, ought a and make every one's condition in the Truth you religion of the former are involved in considerable government to be longer tolerated that cannot or own. In that you will depy yourselves, and be mystery. They derive their name from Moham-will not control its own subjects—a government come all to all in the Truth, so that none may be med Eben Ismael, surnamed El Drusi, a follower that will permit such atrocities as those we have for Hakem, who is supposed to have founded the just witnessed? It is a question of humanity, and blind caused to wander, but be directed into the sect in the eleventh century. To this Hakem they not of diplomacy. We believe it was a grand right way; and all as the tender plants may grov sect in the eleventue century. The parameter of the mistake in the Allied powers, to use the mildest together, as the Lord's planting, and he watering beity. They regard him as the Creator of all possible term, to prop up usin he despotiate them, and giving the increase and growth to hit things, the only Lord of all, and the final Judge of permit it to bear such fruits in Syria. Our own sistence of the property praying, nor fasting. They drink wine, eat pork, ries have been insulted and maltreated, and our and allow marriages between near relatives. They citizens, who traverse that country more and more may be kept peaceable, in the wisdom of God, tha have many singular rites, known only to the initiated. And this is about the sum of our know
The only way to improve the condition of things! ledge of their religion, which has nothing in com- is to get rid of the Turk altogether. We hope it there be no harshness or fierceness, but mecknes mon with that of either Mohammedans or Jews. will be done, and that the Eastern question will They are governed by an Emir or Prince, chosen again arise, and this time be settled in the interests

> For "The Friend." The Savour of Life and Gracious Language.

The prevalence of Divine life and love amongst Lebanon proper, and eighty villages in Anti-Le- Friends are remarkably enforced in the epistles of bauon. Besides this, there are upwards of two George Fox. He was a zealous man against every hundred villages occupied by a mixed population attempt to disturb the order and harmony, which of Druses and Christians, and scattered through he sought to build up in the church, but the meekness and gentleness which he inculcated and press-The Maronites are a sect of Christians which ed upon Friends in conducting their meetings for in the seventh century, found a refuge in Lebanon, peared, are very conspicuous. In those meetings,

Cattle's Tongues-Curry Combs.—The tongu
They took their name from John Maro, their first when subjects of general interest are introduced of a cow or ox is suggestive. It is armed with bishop. In the twelfth century, they renounced for deliberation, and all, who are divinely anointed compact bed of spines, very rough to the touch the opinions of the Monothelites, and were received and put forth in the work by the Head of the and adapted to a variety of uses. With this pli into the church of Rome, making it, however, as a church, have the right to speak to the business, it able member, it draws grass between the teeth fo condition of acknowledging the supremacy of the is important to pay christian respect to the feelings (chopping, and all other articles of food when ne pope, that their religious tenets and rites should of one another, to guard against all interference be respected. Their Church Constitution reseming with the rights of others, and the improper use of limbs of trees for fruit, or in reaching over wall bles that of the old Greek Church. They are still the time of the meeting. No safe conclusions can and fences after forbidden crops. The tongue i nominally connected with Rome, and the Pope pays be expected, where attempts to act are made in a also used in disturbing the hair and skin on a the expenses of their public worship. There is wrong spirit and manner. The following conveys parts of the body within reach, and the inaccessible also a college at Rome for the education of their an excellent savour, and appropriate counsel to this parts of the head are curried by mutual accom-

Between the Druses and the Maronites there meckness, and kindness, and sobriety must wear upon their own skins. It is said by old hostlers

the wide destruction which it has either directed, lamps trimmed and burning; and that there be no and mildness, and gracious language, which wil edify and season the hearers, and be of a good sa vour. This will honour the Seed, Christ, fron whence grace and truth cometh, and will be to your comfort, and show forth whose children you are; for as Christ said, 'Blessed are the peace makers, for they are children of God.' Therefor all do this work, that you may have this blessing And so with my love to you all that are convinced of God's truth, as though I named you all; and all to dwell in love; then you all dwell in God, a I said before; and so the Lord God Almighty pre serve you all in Christ your Sanctuary. Amen. "Kingston, 7th of the Ninth mo., 1683.

Cattle's Tongues-Curry Combs .- The tongu until now) many villages scattered throughout Lepeace, parity, holiness and righteousness, you must banon, and have two hundred convents for men and women. They are a peaceful, and perhaps Righteousness, holiness, and purity must wear and winter, when cattle are kept in stalls, with thei outlive all that is contrary to it; and patience, and heads confined, so that they cannot use their tongue has always existed the most intense hostility. This out passion, envry, strife and wrath, high-minded that a good currying, brushing and rubbing down hostility has frequently broken out into open warness, and lottiness and wrath, high-minded that a good currying, brushing and rubbing down hostility has frequently broken out into open warness, and source, and wrath, high-minded that a good currying, brushing and rubbing down hostility has frequently broken out into open warfare, which has raged to a greater or less extent is dietr, the holy men and women must not strive. However this may be, there can be no doubt that and with varying fortunes. But never has a war but be gentle to all; and in that alone keep their it greatly promotes the comfort and health of horse learned.

Will overcome and wear out all that is contrary to animals, are sadly neglected. It is not unfre arrest particular attention, and undoubtedly lead Christ Jesus, who is over all, the first and last. In stable in the spring, with a thick plaster of filt to the gravest consequences. It has been particible so were and Spirit live and walk, that you may upon their hams, the accumulation of a whol pated in largely by the Moslem authorities, and all be trees with fruit, and wells with water, and the Turkish government is directly responsible for have bread in your own tabernacles, and your own husbandry of the owner. All these animals man es in the spring .- Agriculturist.

Selected for "The Friend," Letter of William Grover.

eplanation of my views concerning the investigadered as mysterious; and which I should gladly for the reception of them. spress in such a manner as would tend to thy itisfaction.

Unerring Wisdom, that the mind should be sat-sence which constitutes a court. fied about these things, by the exertions of its = vn powers; but that He has wisely reserved to mself the communication of this satisfaction, disnsing it to the minds of his creatures, when, how, id in what degree he sees meet, from time to ne. It seems that a real progress in divine knowdge is very differently to be attained and expeill, and of divine things.

us, we may rather feel disposed to leave it, of observing minds multiplied, and through the It is undoubtedly true, that the tendency of an to reason, search, and contrive concerning medium of language, communicated their thoughts knowledge in the several branches of science or est their pleasure at the use of the eard and curit. Thus thou wilt perceive that the religion of one to another. Whether this was the origin of one to another. Whether this was the origin of one to another. Whether this was the origin of one to another. Whether this was the origin of one to another. Whether this was the origin of one to another. e young stock will come as regularly for their as in Him are hid all the treasures of wisdom and or not, we do not pretend to decide, but we may time, into such degrees of knowledge in divine served by the minds that have preceded it, and sures of heavenly mysteries, but as the mind be- creatures. on of certain points which have often been con- comes through true obedience, refined and prepared

The most insignificant cottage of a true christian I am inclined to believe that it is not the design may be called a palace, since it is the king's pre-

FRIEND. THE

TENTH MONTH 6, 1860.

There are perhaps few, if any, who, when lookenced, from what may generally be expected and ing back over the seenes of their past lives, are sired by mankind. If any man will do his will, not conscious that, in the difficulties they have had shall know of the doctrine. (See John vii. 17.) to overcome, and the trials they have had to en-It is very gratifying to the natural mind, to have dure, while passing through those seenes, they have is to be anticipated from stated exhortations devery full and comprehensive view of the subject felt their native energies cramped, and their capareligion, at the beginning of the work; but the city for endurance enfeebled, by an early educa-ligion of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ aption more or less defective. Experience of the guage, and accompanied with a serious manner, if ars to be very differently intended to be opened practical business and general sims of the society the child is daily and hourly exposed—at study or the mind; beginning, frequently, with a little in which it has been their lot to move and mingle, at play-to the contaminating influence of corrupt the or manifestation of the divine will, as to has shown them how great is the loss they have associates when abroad, or to see when at home, in me point or part of duty. And as obedience is sustained, for want of the early and more comelded to this small manifestation, let it be re-plete development of their intellectual powers and tates of truth and love, or the lessons of humility ecting whatsoever it may, greater and greater moral faculties, whether that want was owing to and peace, habitually set aside for the indulgence grees of light and of strength are afforded, to their own negligence in improving the opportunities of pride and evoretousness, or other selfish passions flow on to know more and more of the divine afforded them for learning, or to the injudicious or land pleasures. Where this is the case, the discontracted system of teaching, under which the cernment of the child will soon detect the contrast

This is very humbling to the natural mind, which season of their youth was allowed to pass away. between the instruction he occasionally receives by ould willingly be getting on faster; but the real, the extent and scope of all that is truly comthe book or the lecture, and those lessons taught wine manifestations of light and of life must be prehended by the term education, is too little unbim by the constant force of example; and will umbly waited for, and the mind clothed with rederstood or kept in view. As applied to the train-hardly fail to draw the conclusion, that while the rence and fear, lest it get on in its own wisdom, ing of children, it properly includes the whole lauded truths of the former are very well to put id mix something of its own with the communi-system of precept and example, together with the on for show, the practical incitements of the latter, tions of divine light and life; for it is well to impress, through accidental influences, by which are more applicable to the occurrences of everymember that "in Christ (the Word) was light, an immortal being, in the earlier stages of its exday life.

d that light was the life of men." Now, as the istence, is indoctrinated with the principles, iniind is really favoured to believe that all good tiated into the knowledge, and moulded into for the extraordinary discoveries in science, and mes from God, and that its own conceivings and habits, which, by their joint action, are to form his the happy application of those discoveries to the archings, in its own wisdom and strength, will character through all after life. We are hardly improvement and development of domestic and d in disappointment, and short of that clearness aware how little originality belongs to us indisocial life, than it is for a general diffusion of devidence, which truly satisfies, it is brought vidually, and how much we are indubted to those scholastic education among the lower classes, in to a humble, waiting state; as anything is made above and around us, for the character and tone of most Protestant countries, and the urging of it in a humble, waiting state; as anything is made above and around us, for the character and tone of most Protestant countries, and the urging of it in a humble, waiting state; as anything is made above and around us, for the character and tone of most Protestant countries, and the urging of it in a humble, waiting state; as anything is made above and around us, for the character and tone of most Protestant countries, and the urging of it in a humble, waiting state; as anything is made above and around us, for the character and tone of most Protestant countries, and the urging of it in a humble, waiting state; as anything is made above and around us, for the character and tone of most Protestant countries, and the urging of it in a humble, waiting state; as a supplied to the character and tone of most Protestant countries, and the urging of it in a humble, waiting the character and tone of most Protestant countries, and the urging of it in a humble, waiting the urging of the character and tone of most Protestant countries, and the urging of it in a humble, waiting the urging of the urging of the urging of the urging the urging of the urging sweet, substantial something will attend it, which nate ideas has been a subject for dispute among mingling in what is called "refined" society. But the exertions of the mind, in its own wisdom metaphysicians, and some have contended for a while we fully approve of a truly liberal education, d activity, cannot afford. And as this comes to revelation from Omniscience, of the first correct we apprehend there is a great fault committed by really known and believed, a fear possesses the knowledge obtained by his creature man. Be parents and others having the control of children, ind of entering into abstract speculation concern-this as it may, it is probable the mind of any one, in too much forgetting or undervaluing the infinitely g divine things; preferring rather to wait in if left altogether to itself, unaided by anything important fact, that the ductile and impressible unlity and reverence upon God; not doubting but the senses connected with his physical organiminds entrusted to their training, belong to active the will be pleased, if we yield obedience, day zuton, would find all its ideas confused and cancel countable as well as intellectual beings; and that, day, to the manifestations of his light in our seent. The intellectual powers of a mind so sit- therefore, it is of at least as much importance to nds, to make to us such discoveries as He judges uated, unless aided supernaturally, would be develosatisfy themselves whether the system of education st and most suitable for us. Now, as the Holy Scriptures are read in this upon it by those objects in the world in which it accordance with the principles and precepts of sposition of mind, depending upon God, through lived, that forced themselves upon its attention, christianity, illustrated in the consistent conduct of spirit of Christ in the soul, for the opening of through the medium of the several senses. Hence, christian preceptors, as it is to know that it ement to our understandings, we may, I believe, until experience had supplied a criterion or stand-braces the means for developing the various faculen be sweetly refreshed, comforted, and ediart, the knowledge supposed to be obtained eadle ties of their children, while acquiring a knowledge d, even in reading a very few verses. And if not be pronounced true or false. This ignorance of sound literature, and the cultivation of a chaste meet with anything which is not quite clear and uncertainty would be relieved as the number and correct taste.

arding, as for their food. It is an excellent me- knowledge, so, as we are brought into a state of safely say that the benefit of a good education in od to tame heifers that are to bear their first cal- true waiting and dependence upon Him, and upon our day, results from communicating to the mind of the manifestations of his spirit on the soul, we are a child, as it is capable of receiving them, the cor-in the way to be rightly introduced, from time to rect ideas that have been accumulated and prethings, as is truly best for us, and best adapted to fortifying it with the principles of right and wrong 1803, Sizih mo. 3d. * * * I have repeatedly the state of our minds; and that it is not consisad in view the expectation I gave thee of a little tut with divine wisdom to communicate the treathe government of his fallible and accountable

Our words and our actions speak forth the character of the thoughts that occupy the mind, and the principles or feelings that govern the heart; and these external manifestations of what is passing within, impress themselves, more or less, on the minds of those who observe them. Hence the early education of a child has its source in all those of its kind, with whom it is associated. The deepest impressions are made when the observation of what is taught arises spontaneously, without being prompted by authority; and that knowledge is most readily acquired and most tenaciously retained, when the understanding is addressed through the feelings.

If these things are true, and we think they must be admitted, it is easy to perceive how little good livered on set occasions, however fraught they may

The present age is perhaps not more remarkable

It is undoubtedly true, that the tendency of ing pleasurable emotions from higher and more for the right performance of their own part in its refined sources, than those which minister to sen-daily progress at home, but they would feel it to sual gratification. This is certainly a great good, be a great privilege to be able to avail themselves and should be highly prized; especially when con- of the schools provided in the society, where their trasted with the ignorance that allows the mind to offspring, while receiving scholastic instruction, may find little or no entertainment at home, and urges become theoretically and practically acquainted the unenlightened sufferer, in seeking relief from with the principles and testimonies we profess, and mental vacancy and indolence, to plunge into fri- be imbued with a love for them. While wealth, volous amusements or degrading dissipation.

and man in his domestic and social relations, are exposed to the influence of low-toned morality, not such as ordinarily make demands for their just may meet the wants of those parents among us, and happy performance, upon high mental cultiva- who really appear to admit of no more worthy objects tion and extensive literary knowledge, so much as in life; but let those parents once be brought rightly upon firmly fixed principles of christian love and to see and to feel the high and heavenly character truth, and a well established habit of conscien- offered for attainment to every human being, to promptings of self-indulgence.

the great value of a liberal education in the com- that the wisdom of the schools, with all its true mon acceptation of the term; nor yet as attributing and fancied worth, sinks into insignificance, comto religious instruction-invaluable as we think it pared with the possession of those religious princiis-the power of bestowing upon its recipients the ples and virtuous habits, that contribute to the forcapacity rightly to estimate, and consistently to ap mation of such a character. ply on all occasions, the requirements of truth and and by the all-powerful aid of that free gift, child- the care of their consistent fellow-professors. ren may be preserved in innocency, amid the infectious atmosphere of wicked associations, or brought out of evil, even after its indulgence has been confirmed by the power of habit. But we believe the sober reflection of all rightly minded persons will lead to the conviction, that in the education of the infant man, obliged as he will be, should life be prolonged, to enlist in the harassing warfare incident to it, nothing is of so much importance as to implant in his mind the seeds of virtue, and to cultivate those peace-bearing dispositions, which will prove a strong defence in the hour of combat, and aid him amid the distracting cares of the afterseason of his existence, in performing aright the duties which appertain to his condition, as a respon-

But cannot the two kinds of education be combined, and cannot the high capacious powers which lie folded up in the mind of the child, be developed and stimulated by the acquisition of a liberal literary education, while at the same time he is trained in a knowledge and practice of the simple truths of the gospel, exampled by those who are striving dition. to walk consistently with the rules of moral rectitude they teach, and in good measure sheltered from close and hurtful contact with vicious companions? We have no doubt of it; and we think that the children of Frieuds are pre-eminently blessed with the offer of these advantages. We fear that the peculiar value of the schools provided by the society, or conducted under its auspices and supervision, are not sufficiently estimated by many of its members. Some are caught by show in the variety of branches said to be taught in other seminaries, and some deceived with promises of turning out scholars, proficients in what claims the title par excellence of accomplishments; and which, if acquired at all, are too often obtained at the expense of more substantial and more useful learning, while the children are exposed to the liability of imbibing defective religious opinions.

impressed with the high objects of education in its very of a new forest of mammoth trees, on the eastern

hterature, is to enlarge the sphere of intersection and extend sponsibility that attaches to them as delegated extend a distance of eight miles, embracing a vast num action, to increase habits of reflection, and extend sponsibility that attaches to them as delegated ber of trees, exceeding thirty feet in diameter, and three the powers of ratiocination; thus offering the shepherds of the lambs of the flock, they would not means, and multiplying the opportunities for draw- only keep a more vigilant watch over themselves, largest matured, is one hundred and twenty-three fee lous amusements or degrading dissipation.

But the avocations of life and the interchange of list the energies, and provoke the emulation of all the services and courtesies called for between man classes, schools of high literary pretension, but to the United States as a remedy for the social and poli tiously substituting their requirements, for the which the apostle alluded when he addressed the believers as "called to be saints," and they will be We wish not to be understood as depreciating prepared to subscribe to the truth of the opinion,

We would that these considerations would induce righteousness; or to clothe them with the beautiful the members of our religious Society universally, to ornament of the christian graces. That Divine entrust the tuition of their children to the teachers grace which bringeth salvation, can alone do this; employed in seminaries provided by it, and under

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

EUROPE .- News from England to Ninth mo. 20th. The weather having been more unfavourable for the crops, breadstuffs, which had declined in prices, have again advanced. The Liverpool quotations of American flour were from 28s. 6d. to 31s. 6d. The Manchester advices were favourable. The cotton market was steady. Consols, 93\frac{1}{4} a 93\frac{3}{8}.

The news from Italy is important. The threatened invasion of the Roman States by the Sardinian army, had taken place. The Sardinians took Perugia after a severe contest, and made fifteen hundred prisoners, in-cluding Gen. Schmidt. The citadel of Spoletto had capitulated, and the garrison of 600 men were taken pri-The Sardinians had also occupied numerous other places. It was rumored that Gen. Lamoriciere and the Papal troops under his command, have been defeated with great loss by the Sardinians.

It is stated that the Emperor of France had used every exertion to prevent the invasion of the Roman States; the governments of Russia and Prussia had also protested in the strongest terms against the invasion by Sardinia. Count Cavour has issued a note explaining the new attitude of Sardinia. The relations between France and Sardinia are stated to be in a critical con-

Garibaldi was understood to be exclusively occupied in organizing a large army and navy. There were indi-cations that he contemplated an attack upon Venetia.

A Russian envoy has arrived at Vienna, with a formal invitation to the Emperor of Austria to visit Warsaw, for the purpose of meeting the Emperor of Russia.

Several officers of high rank had been shot at Damascus, for participating in the massacres of Christians UNITED STATES.—Cutifornia.—The San Francisco dates are to Ninth mo. 15th. The Washoe mining accounts continue favourable, but are a mere repetition of former accounts.-The receipts of ore at San Francisco continue large, and there seems to be no doubt that when the necessary works are erected for extracting the silver at the mines; the yield will be sufficient to form an important item in the treasure products of the world.—A new woollen factory is nearly completed in San Francisco, being the second establishment of the kind that has been erected within about fifteen months. The manufacture of blankets and other coarse woollen fabrics is proving highly lucrative .- Several apparently well authenticated statements have recently been pub-We fully believe, that were all our members duly lished in the San Francisco papers, announcing a disco-literature, is to enlarge the sphere of intellectual more elevated signification, and with the great re- borders of Tulasse county. The group is represented to in circumference.

New York .- Mortality last week, 413. The assesser valuation of real and personal estate in this city, for the purposes of taxation the present year is $550,078,778
The taxahle property in the entire State, including the city, is valued at $1,419,155,520.
Philadelphia.—Mortality last week, 206.

Brooklyn,-Mortality last week, 122. More Annexation .- Late accounts from Jamaica represent the industry of the Island as in a languishing state and property much depressed in value. The Jamaica papers are discussing the policy of annexing that colon tical evils under which it is suffering. Miscellaneous. - The Walker Expedition. - A Britisl steamer has arrived at New Orleans, with a remnant of Walker's party, and news that he was executed on the 12th iost

Coal Oil.—The number of coal oil companies and firms in the United States, is said to be fifty-seven, the works being principally situated in New York and Bos ton, in the valleys of the Ohio and its tributaries. Beside these, there is a number of smaller establishment. for its manufacture in Philadelphia, Baltimore and othe places. The quantity of coal oil produced is estimated at 30,000 gallons per day, or nine millions per annum The capital invested in coal oil works and cannel cos mining, is stated to be about $4,000,000. Beside th oil thus obtained, a large quantity is furnished from th petroleum or oil welis. Extensive as the business ap pears, it is probably yet quite in its infancy.

Foreign Immigration.—The number of European im migrants landed at New York since the commencemen of the year, a period of nine months, is 79,363. In th corresponding portion of 1859, the number was 58,544 Capture of Slavers.—A brig called the Storm King was captured off the Congo river by one of the U. Seruisers, in the Eighth month last. She had 619 ne groes on board, who were landed at Monrovia. On the same day the ship Erie was captured by the U. S. steam ef Michigan, and taken into Monrovia. The Erie have over 800 slaves on board.

The Weight of Men.—It is stated that 4369 men habeen weighed at the Mechanics fair in Boston, and that their average weight was 146 lbs, 13 ounces. The mean weight of men in Belgium is 1401 pounds.

WANTED.

A Female Friend to teach a family school. JOSEPH H. SATTERTHWAITE, Oxford Valley, Bucks Co., Pa.

WEST-TOWN BOARDING SCHOOL.

The Winter session of the School will commence of Second-day, the 5th of Eleventh month. Parents an others intending to enter their children as pupils, wi please make early application to DAVID ROBERTS, Super intendent at the School, or JOSEPH SCATTERGOOD, Tree surer, No. 304, Arch street, Philadelphia.

West-Town, Ninth mo. 4th, 1860.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted as Teacher of Reading in the Boy department of this Institution. Apply to SAMUEL HILLES, Wilmington, Del.

JAMES EMLEN, West Chester, Chester Co., Pa. ALFRED COPE, Germantown, Pa.

Sixth mo. 6th, 1860.

Twelfth mo., 1859.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted to fill the station of Governor

the Boys' department of his Institution. Application may be made to NATHAN SHARPLESS, Con cord, Pa.; Samuel Hilles, Wilmington, Del.; Jams Emlen, West Chester, Pa.; or Thomas Evans, Philad.

DIED on the 25th of Ninth month last, after a shr though painful illuess, JACOB T. LUKENS, in the fifty-fif-year of his age; a member of Horsham Particular at Ahington Monthly Meeting.

PILE & M'ELROY, PRINTERS,

Lodge street, opposite the Pennsylvania Bank.

FRIEND.

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, TENTH MONTH 13, 1860.

NO. 6.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

Price Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by

JOHN RICHARDSON,

AT NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

Postage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three onths, if paid in advance, three and a-quarter cents: any part of the United States, for three months, if aid in advance, six and a-half cents.

For "The Friend."

Heary Hall. ished his course in peace, and with a lively hope just in his commands; and if I am finally enabled everlasting life through Jesus Christ his Lord, to triumph, it must be through my continuance in the street, I gave way to some noisy and improper ying a little before his death, "I do not trust in the highway cast up for the redeemed to walk in." life of dedication, but in the Lord's mercies."

The experience of such a man speaks in authodition of mankind; the religion of the gospel remains unchanged and unchangeable, having its miral in the British navy, who always retained an origin in Hin, "with whom is no variableness, nor shadow of turning." Man and his works may be to promote any of his children who would enter altered and improved, but not so with the religion the king's service; but my grandfather and his after the Sarving in the special consistence of the sarving that a service consistence of the sarving that are sarving that a service consistence of the sarving that are sarving to the sarving that are sarving to the sarving that are sarving to the sarving that are sarving to the sarving of the Saviour; it is a finished work, perfect and sons preferred pursuing their avocation, consistimmutable. This fact gives additional value to the ently with the pacific principles which they proexperiences of those who have been its humble, fessed." sincere and faithful subjects, and makes them wayveller to the end of time.

I have thought it might be interesting as well as rative of the baptisms and exercises, by which he never been effaced; and often has it revived in was gradually prepared to receive the Lord's gifts, my remembrance, and been of use to me in my as well as the successive steps in his spiritual pro-There are probably many of the readers of gress, by which he grew from the state of a child The Friend," who will remember the individual, to that of a young man, and a strong man in my religious experiences, being then probably not hose name stands at the head of this article. Christ, until he became an elder worthy of double more than seven years old; and though my views noured and beloved by others for his work's to be a great work, and the preparation therefor, school, where I attended.

ke, he felt himself an unworthy and unprofitable an humbling operation, I feel willing to transcribe random and remarks, written at differents would not indulge me in it, they being the new sheet a canont nearing for his at-regioning being in the strength and consolution induced as sine was watening by his bed-shock, the did not lose sight of the fact that others are deemption of their souls, even to a complete over-afraid to die. This being reported to me, I was showing forth by a consistent life the excellence whether this will lever be my happy experience, I I was not so good as he thought me, but I resolved the principles and testimonies of the religious know not; but this I know, that as far as I have found him condescending and had done.

He thus notices his parentage, viz. :-

nversation, Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, to-were respectable members of the religious Society tuition, were careful to cherish this feeling, and of Friends. My paternal grandfather followed the lead their infant minds into the paths of piety and ventions of modern times, which have done so business of a sea-captain, for a livelihood, as did virtue, there would be more sons and daughters ach to improve the civil, social and material con- also his father, who had the training of Charles found walking thereiu. A neglect of this religious

When he was about six years old, his father remarks, which will be useful to the heavenward tra- moved into the city of New York, and soon after, being at a meeting for divine worship, where a woman Friend was powerfully engaged in the minprofitable, to bring into notice some of the events istry, Henry's mind was deeply affected. "Her in the life of Henry Hull; and to revive his nar- words," says he, "made an impression which has passage through time."

"From this period I date the commencement of e was indeed a man to be remembered—not for bonour, and a pillar in the church, to go no more were imperfect, corresponding to my childish years, out. He thus prefaces his memorandums, viz.:— yet desires were raised in my heart that I might be the thing the complete when the present of the many many youth derived satisfies better that some I saw, who spoke had words and dement, with meckness, humility, and dignified it in from the perusal of the writings of religious behaved naughtily. I loved to attend religious ntleness, which, with other christian graces, persons, wherein their experiences of the tender meetings, yet dreaded to go there or to school, as dealings of the Almighty by his Holy Spirit, are there were then but few Friends in the city, and traction upon his society. In his estimate of described, and have thereby received some encour- my garb distinguishing me as one, the boys in the mself he was specially modest-not in word agement to submit to his refining power, by which street would call me Quaker, and use other reviling erely, or from voluntary humility which even the I have been brought to advocate the cause of reli-language. This was especially the case when the oud heart may assume or put off at pleasure, as gion, and labour for the promotion of Truth and scholars went to meeting in a body, walking two its its aim; but his whole life testified that while righteousness in the earth. And having found this and two, as was the practice at William Rickman's ruth, he was firm in maintaining it, and devoted ferent times, and also to record some occurrences concerned to keep their children from following the uch of his time, talents and means to its ad- from recollection, with desires that the reading of vain fashions of the world. This, I think, was the mement; yet he was no sectarian or dogmatist; them may encourage others to pursue the path in means of preserving me from improper associations it, clothed with christian charity and forbearance, which I have endeavoured to walk, and to feel the and some idle amasements, which might have been hile he stood unflinehingly for the right, he same tender solicitude for the welfare of those who very hurtful to me. I cannot say that I was clear inced toward those who differed from him, a may come after them. For truly no earthly enjoy- of the company of all, whose example was injurinit of love and tenderness which not only sought ment can afford the comfort and satisfaction which out, nor of indulging myself at times in foolish ouvince and gather them, but won their esteem, is considered an around the comport and satusaneous mercous, nor of indusing mysen as since it nomine considered an id-opened their hearts to receive his admonitions, Lamb of God, who taketh away the sins of the orderly boy, both by my elder friends and my world. Their life and peace are in him, and they school-fellows. One of the latter being taken sick, and while he wished a candid hearing for his af-rejoicing being in the strength and consolation mother as she was watching by his bed-side, that of the aforesaid lad near, and thought she observed "I was born at or near Harrison's Purchase, in my foolish conduct, at which I was so distressed, "I was norn at or near Harrison's Furenase, in my rooms conduct, at which I was so distressed, attive language to survivors, and conveys lessons which that the survivors of encouragement, of comfort, or of of Third month, 1765. My father was Tiddeman that I sought a place of retirement, and weigh bit instruction, of encouragement, of comfort, or of of Third month, 1765. My father was Tiddeman that I sought a place of retirement, and weigh bit that I sought a pl duty leaves them exposed to the force of tempta- goods in his window at fabulously low prices, to ments, having many dishes on their tables? At through with many sorrows."

(To be continued.) Trade Lies.

will not, utters a deliberate lie. If he make the (British) Mercantile Circular. assertion, with the mental reservation that "all the colours will vanish under the process," it is still a lie; and, even if he is doubtful on the point, it is equally so, because he attempts to make an impression on the mind of his customer that may be nent of Europe, met with a woman at Kiel, with brought forward more difficult for me to clear adverse to the truth. The tickets, with minute whom he had the following conversation, which, to her full satisfaction: 'But what does your & figures and hair like strokes, too often exhibited I think, may be interesting to the readers of "The ciety do with those who live, and furnish the in windows-the calling prints "Hoyle's" which Friend: are not Hoyle's, and flannels " real Welsh" which are not real Welsh, and the like, are lies of too gross livealid, I ventured to make her and her husband rich because they are coverous? Do your me a character to require a word of comment.

category of lying. The publisher who appends satisfaction. It would almost appear as if she had members; for such I consider them according critical notices of reviewers to his list of books, previously known of my intention of coming to the account you have given me of what your pr leaving out qualifying passages, lies. So does the Kiel, and as such had been storing up questions to ciples are, and, if lived up to, will lead to the preshopman who purposely conceals defects—the maput to me respecting the members of our Society, tice of.' It was trying to me to converse so lo nufacturer who sends a 34 inch cloth for what is us practices, and on various religious subjects together, and I was obliged to return home, he usually 36 inches wide—and the shoemaker who Although, in my present state of bodily health, I ing done my best to satisfy her inquiring inin false labels, must be condemued by all as unadul- that I knew not how to refuse doing my best to terated lying; but it is said by some whose moral answer her inquiries. In many respects, the inperceptions are not very clear, that to label a 200 formation she had received respecting our principard reel of cotton. "Warranted 300 yards," is ples and practices, was very erroneous, but which not wrong, because it is generally understood not she acknowledged I had been enabled to clear up to measure what it is called. Then why is it done? to her satisfaction; and that I had removed from Why not label it 200 yards, which is the truth? her mind sentiments which she had imbibed unfa-Simply because there are those who do not under-vourable to our religious Society; especially an stand it, and, placing reliance on the dealers, pur-opinion that we had no regular ministers amongst chase it for what it is called. Lies consist, not in us. On returning me my certificates, she said, she the verbal utterance, but in the idea they are in- bad not only read them with attention, but with tended to convey. The footman, who says that his pleasure, being fully satisfied that these reports were mistress is "not at home," although he utters a not correct, and in observing the watchful care, the verbal falsehood, is not really guilty of lying, for society exercises over its ministers; she added, it is a mere polite form of expressing her wish not 'From the account you have given me of your printo be seen, and is recognized in high life as such. eip'es and practices as a society, it appears to me It is, however, an immoral custom, as it familia- you come the nearest to the first christians, of any rizes the servant with a tampering of truth.

is substantially a lie. Horrocks is an eminent professors of the established religion, who ealled manufacturer of calicoes. Another man of the themselves Protestants, attended play-houses, dancesame name might start a manufactory of similar houses, and card-parties, on the sabbath-day; there goods, but of an inferior quality; and the trades-man who assured his customer that a roll of his selves Methodists in this place, who protested calico was Horrock's make, would be uttering a against these practices of the members of the estalie which at the same time would be verbally true, blishment; but I observed these Methodists inhis intention being to impress the buyer with the dulged themselves in eating and drinking beyond idea that it was from the loom of the famous Hor- what I consider true moderation allows, also in rocks-the Horrocks par excellence.

wearing of imitation jewelry is a lie; the physician people of the world, aiming at great business to get prevails in England that in the New World, b who directs his servant to call him out of church riches. I also met with some Roman Catholics, liant hues of the bird take the place of the power who directs his servant to can min out of canten friences. I also net with some noman cannotes, man the bird take the pince of the pinc tion, liable to be drawn away by the influence of induce the supposition that all his wares are sold their houses furnished after the manner of the tion, name to be drawn away the inherites of the evil example and their own corrupt inherites in the tension of the control of the property of tious light-placing packages outside the door ad-inquirer looked for an honest answer to her pla dressed with aristocratic names—and a thousand questions, and for the moment was reduced to other false actions which might be cited, are all state of awful silence. I however replied, 'I hop It is a vulgar fallacy, that lies are only lies when acted violations of the truth; and although they I am safe in saying we still have preserved among spoken. Some persons even assume that lies are are looked upon by the commercial world as very us, as a religious Society, those of whom it may not lies if uttered to push the sale of merchandise venial peccadillos, are really as much lying as the said, they are endeavouring to be found walking -at least, that they are only "white lies." The most deliberate verbal falschoods; and so long as the path of true self-denial and the daily cross, essence of a lie consists in the attempt to deceive—this systematic deceptiveness characterizes the Eng-in making a false representation. Whatever be lish tradesmen, the sneer which the first Napoleon amongst us, who are sorrowfully departing fro the motive, if it involves deception, it is a breach of the moral law.

There can be no doubt that the shopman who would be indicative of our greatest national glory again queried, 'Are these departures mostly will be under the moral law. asserts that a print will wash, when he knows it to wit, universal national industry. - Lilivall's those who have joined your Society by what y

For "The Friend."

Thomas Shillitoe.

Thomas Shillitoe, while travelling on the contia visit; she spoke English well; with them I spent ings for discipline, as you call them, discoun suc Concealment of the truth comes under the same about two bours, to my own, and, I believe their, which you say is the ease with other disorder supplies Northampton made for "bespoke" boots. felt unequal to much exertion of this sort, yet so but as her store of inquiry was not yet exhaust. The sale of adulterated goods, or articles with fully convinced was I of the purity of her motives, she engaged my company for the next day." I have heard of in the present day; but when I It is possible also to speak a verbal truth which was visiting at a watering place, I observed the dressing themselves, having their houses furnished, Lies may be acted as well as spoken. The and conducting themselves in other respects like the call convincement, or such as were born members I did not feel myself under difficulty in making reply, as it is obvious this departure is to be fou amongst those who have had a birth-right: tl matter being so far set at rest, another query w houses, and dress after the manner of the wor "Third-day, to comply with the request of an and those who aim at doing great business to ;

> Rapid Increase .- Mr. Gallatin, after the m careful researches, makes the whole number slaves imported into the United States up to 1 suppression of the slave trade in 1805, not to ceed 300,000, and - Cary, including Louisian states it at 330,000. In the year 1790, the fi census took place:

> 1790 - The slave population then num-697,6 hered 59,5 Free coloured Aggregate of African extraction 1800—Second census gives slave population 110,0 Free coloured 1,006,9 1850-Last census the number of slaves 2,204,0 428,6 Free coloured > 2,633,7 Whole number It is estimated, that the census of 1860 will give less than 4,500,000 for the coloured popu tion of the United States-an increase perfec unknown in the history of the race.

> An English Mistake .- A very unfounded not

A Bottle Department.

rother at Sheffield.

he text for a brief discourse.

mount and direction of movement at any particu-crooked route-often, doubtless, a very crooked of marine as directed. shore it may be thrown? "Well," says some in- between England and New York, they have a ten- crossing it. genious individual, whose name has not been handed dency to effect a landing about the Scilly Islands, lown to posterity, "let us write a few words on a or on the Cornwall or Devon coasts. If our arctic although the details of the voyage are yet unknown. tides, and winds could be known. Thus the Australian fisherman picked up a bottle

ing bottle-voyages. For a period of thirty or forty interval which had elapsed between the immersion —it is a most destructive and devouring thing. years previously, the newspapers had occasional and the finding of the bottle. A correspondence, paragraphs to the effect that a bottle had been which followed the publication of the chart, ren-

From Chambers' Journal forever. If it be really picked up and opened, the fulfilled. In one instance, the commander of the contents may be unreadable by the finder; or he Chanticleer threw a bottle overboard in the Atlan-In the mouth of May, 1859, a South Austra- may not care about it; or he may be too poor or tie; it was picked up by a peasant on the coast of ian fisherman saw a bottle washed ou shore near too ignorant to forward the paper to the required Spain four mouths afterwards; he kept it two he mouth of the river Murray. He picked it up, destination. Any one of these contingencies may mouths, not knowing what to make of the matter; und found it quite incrusted with small shells. On happen. Still, good may result from a collecting it passed into the hands of a more intelligent Spapering the bottle, a piece of paper appeared, on of those papers which do come safety to hand, which a few words were written, to the effect that even if they be only one in a hundred. So Comb by whom it was forwarded to the secretary of the he writer was on board a ship coming from Liver | mander Beeher thought, and he carried out his admiralty. Sometimes the object of the writer plan in an ingenious manner. In order to keep was evidently a useful one—that of contributing near the Cape de Verd Islands; that the paper, his plan within practicable limits at first, he conhis nite towards a history of the winds and waves; nelosed in a bottle, was about to be east into the fined his attention to a portion of the Atlantic while others displayed mere vanity and waggery, ea; and that the finder of the paper, whoever he Ocean. He laid down a chart ou Mercator's pro- the paper being filled with odd scraps of verses and uight be, was requested to send it to the writer's jection, extending from six degrees south latitude jokes. If there was a request that the paper other at Sheffield.

to sixty-three degrees north latitude; and from should be sent to the admiralty, foreign officials

Let us make the singular voyage of this paper, the coasts of Europe and Africa on the east, to displayed readiness in complying with the request; those of North and South America on the west. and even if the parties concerned were only moving That light, solid bodies, floating on the surface This chart he caused to be engraved, to the size of in private life, the same thing was often courtcously f the ocean, will move hither and thither by the about eighteen inches by twelve. On it he laid done. Thus, a bottle was picked up on the French action of ebb and flood tide, we all know; that a down a sort of history of every bottle-voyage of coast, near Bayonue, which had been thrown into trong wind will have the same effect, irrespective which authentic information had come to hand, the sea nine months before, by a passenger on ftide, we also know; and sailors know, if lands- He made a black spot to denote the place of the board the merchant-ship Lady Louisa. The writnen do not, that there are moving currents in the ship when the bottle was thrown into the sea; an ing within directed that the paper should be sent cean, independent both of winds and tides. But other spot to denote the place where the bottle was to the passenger's brother, to a particular address t is not known, until after long-continued and picked up; and a straight line connecting the two at Woolwich; and after passing through many arefully made observations, what is the average He would of course have preferred to trace the hands, the paper was transmitted by the minister ar place. In all probability, he was no very pro-ound philosopher who first conceived the idea of this was precisely the kind of knowledge which he treasury for narratives of these bottle voyages; esting this matter by watching floating bodies on did not possess, and which, indeed, was the very and the number increased so fast, that Commander he surface of the water; it was rather the man-problem to be ultimately solved. One hundred Becher deemed it desirable to revise in 1852 the er of realizing the idea, than the idea itself, that and nineteen bottles had their voyages and travels chart which he had prepared in 1843. He added leserves notice. A glass bottle, or a metal vessel put into print in this way. Very curious it is to sixty-two to the former number, and rendered his haped like a bottle, will sink in water if left open, see the lines of route as thus marked out. Some—chart a much more fully occupied piece of paper the specific gravity of glass and metal is let the actual course have been what they may—than before. Again did the contributions accumulated the specific gravity of glass and metal is let the actual course have been what they may—than before. greater than that of water; but if the bottle be display a tendency from eat to west; others as late, and again was the engraver set to work; for ecurely corked and sealed, it will float, on account decided a leaning from west to east; and each is in 1856, Commander (now Captain) Becher caused of the interior being filled with air instead of water, a member of a group pretty constant in its travel- a third edition of the chart to be prepared. A Let us suppose that a passenger, on the way to ling characteristics. For instance, most of those Mediterranean series was also commenced in 1853, Australia, throws such a bottle overboard: unless which were thrown into the sea near the north- and beginnings have been made for an Indian and t strikes against a rock, it may float about for a west coast of Africa were, if found at all, discovered Pacific series; but for a long time to come the ong period of time. But how is the thrower ever on the shores of some or other among the West Atlantic will be the chief scene of bottle-voyaging, o know whither the bottle will float, or on what India Islands. If set afloat anywhere on the route owing to the large number of ships that are always

(To be concluded.)

the stormy seas of Greenland, there was a fair zeal for God and his gospel, which is nothing else the right plan is hit upon. If the finder be good-chance that it would land somewhere on the but our own tempestuous and stormy passion. True patured enough to respond to the appeal, and, Orkneys or the Hebrides; on the other hand, some zeal is a sweet, heavenly, and gentle flame, which moreover, make a record of the when and the of the bottles appear to have made most eccentric maketh us active for God, but always within the where of the finding, he may render it certain that voyages; and it was evident that much had yet to sphere of love. It never calls for fire from heathe bottle has performed a long and curious voyage, be learned, before the varying effects of currents, wen to consume those that differ a little from us in their apprehensions. True zeal is a loving thing, This bottle chart attracted a good deal of at- and makes us always active to edification, and not which had for two years been knocking about the tention among nautical men. It was rendered to destruction. If we keep the fire of zeal within seean, and must, under any circumstances, have more useful by several pages of appended text, the chimney, in its own proper place, it never doth ravelled many thousand miles, let its course have giving the chief particulars of each bottle-voyage— any hurt, it only warmeth, quickeneth, and ensuch as the name of the ship, the signature of the liveneth us; but if once we let it break out, and Seventeen years ago, it occurred to Commander person who cast the bottle into the sea, the date, eatch hold of the thatch of our flesh, and kindle Becher that the Natical Magazine might be made the latitude and longitude, the place where, and our corrupt nature, and set the house of our body he vehicle for a systematic record of these interest, the time when, the bottle was picked up, and the on fire, it is no longer zeal-it is no heavenly fire

A Jug an Emblem of the Human Heart. picked up," containing such and such items of dered evident the fact, that large numbers of these The jug is a most singular utensil. A pail, tumbler uformation; and the question arose, whether these erratic bottles are always floating about, having a or decanter, may be rinsed, and you may satisfy ecords, collected and tabulated, might not in much greater chance of being lost altogether than yourself by optical proof that it is clean: but the ime give useful information concerning the cur- of ever coming to hand. A surgeon on board an jug has a little hole in the top, and the interior is reuts, tides, and winds of the ocean. Each reIndiaman stated that he three bottles overboard all darkness. No eye penetrates it—no hand ord, it is true, is subject to possible calamities, every day during the voyage, each bottle containmomerous and varied. If the bottle be not well ing a paper with a memorandum such as the putting in water, shaking it up and pouring it out, orked and scaled, water will enter, and bottle and above averted to; so far as he knew, very few of if the water comes out clean, you judge you have paper will go to the bottom. If it strikes against those bottles reached the hands of persons who succeeded in cleaning the jug, and vice versa. a rock, its fate is equally disastrous. If it floats took any farther interest in the matter. Some- Hence the jug is like the human heart. No mortal to some shore, it may be at a spot where it escapes times the bottle, or its paper, had much to go eye can look into its recesses, and you can only human observation for a year or more, or even through, before the wishes of the writer could be judge of its purity by what comes out of it. For "The Friend."

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES

Of Ministers and Elders and other concerned members of the Yearly Meeting of Philadelphia.

(Continued from page 36.)

JOSHUA BROWN.

Joshua Brown being once more carnestly engaged in humbleness of heart to serve his God and Saviour faithfully, soon manifested such consistency of conduct and religious stability, as to justify his several others appeared in like manner. It seemed meetings, though I thought I made slow progress. In the Teuth month, 1752, I was again appointed

he sat in meeting, his mind was baptized into the Amen!"

settled about Hopewell, in Virginia, and having the approbation of the Monthly Meeting I belonged to, I set out the 18th day of the Eleventh month, 1756, from my house, in West Nottingham, and pany with Martha Mendenhall and a young woin the scale, till they are driven into the public il rode to Sadsbury week-day meeting. I went that man named Elizabeth Walker, to John Menden

The state of the s night, and lodged with Joseph Haines, a Dutch- hall's. He had at that time a fort built about his The list is further swelled by that numerous class man, who had married a kinswoman of mine. On house, it being in the time of the Indian war. As who, born in a respectable sphere and well educ the 19th, went to Lampeter week-day meeting, and we came from Hopewell, we had ridden by places ted, sink into degradation from the sheer love sat with Friends mostly in silence.* Rode from where the Indians had burnt some houses. We display and the vanity of living beyond their mean Lampeter to Isaac Whitelock's, in Laneaster-town, where I remained all First-day, the 21st, when I faction. Here, Thomas Carleton met me. We had woods. My mind was much distressed about it a solid [religious] opportunity in Isaac Whitelock's and I thought I could much more freely lodge i family, several other Friends being present, after the woods, than in the fort. When we came t which we left Friends of Lancaster in much affection, Thomas and I travelling on towards New-coming out of the fort. He had been carryin berry, in York county. That night we lodged at a tavern, and on Second-day, the 22d, we had a meeting among Friends at Newberry. From theme creating and went, hoping it might be be we rode to Thomas Headles, and lodged. On the 12dd, we had a meeting at Warrington, which was friends in placing him on the most important appointments in religious meetings. On the 16th day dined, and had a comfortable sitting in his family, ing of distress, as I had had before. Although we of the Fourth mouth, 1744, he was appointed with John Churchman and others, to pay a visit to the families of the Monthly Meeting. This committee Huntington, from which we rode to Alexander Underwood's, were not in a fort, we were at a fort-builder and lodged. On the 24th, we had a meeting at Warrington, which we rode to Jacob Beal's, above-mentioned fort for safety. After some stond under annountment to held but way mind was selflicted as the local of the safety was the same force. stood under appointment for more than three years, and lodged. On the 25th, we had a meeting at we went to bed, but my mind was so afflicted an visiting as occasion seemed rightly to open for it. Monallen to some satisfaction, and dimed at John distressed that I did not sleep any that night. I Joshua says, "I visited Friends' families pretty Mickle's. That night we rode to John Everit's, the morning we had a sitting in the famility, and generally. It was a time of some improvement to and, on the 20th, had a meeting there, in which feeling of their situation, which was very afflictin. me, and I was sometimes concerned to speak a few we witnessed the Master's kindness. From thence, They with others had dependence on the arm words in the families, in great fear and dread." A we write set the haster's simulates. From the detailed in the were detailed in the families, near Monaquey, flesh to support them, and had in some sort, le report of the labours of the committee was made in Maryland, and, on the 27th, had a meeting that holy arm of Power, which ought to be or to the Monthly Meeting, Ninth month 16th, 1747. there, in which we had some service. Here we dependence. We went back to John Mendenhall Joshua says, "Soon after this, I was concerned to met with our Friends, Grace Croasdale and Sarah and thought to have had a sitting with him and I appear in public meetings with a few words, in Keery, and had a meeting together. They were wife. We did join and sat down with them; b great humility of mind. About the same time on a religious visit to Triends in this place, and in his, the darkness that seemed about them; dark several others appeared in like manner. It seemed some parts of Virginia. We rode in company with ness that night be felt. As it had the name of some parts of Virginia. We rode in company with a time of favour to us in East Nottingham Meet-them to Mary Janney's, in Virginia, where we fort, many soldiers were there gathered, drinkin ing. I continued to speak a few words in public lodged. On the 28th, we had a meeting at Goose and behaving very rudely and wickedly. We calk Creek, in which we were favoured. After calling him and wife out of doors, and had something to see William Hatcher, we went and lodged at say to them. We then left them, and rode abo with others on a visit to Friends belonging to East Mottingham. I attended to [the appointment], and at David Potts'. From thence we crossed the lodged." went through, to a good degree of satisfaction."

Shanandoah river to the house of John Vestal.

On the 18th day of the Third month, 1753, as Here my companion and self, with several others, he sat in meeting, his mind was baptized into the who had accompanied us, lodged on the floor, the low condition of things amongst them, and also in Friends having no heds for us.* On the 30th, we square miles, having increased three-fold since the other parts of the church militant, and in a sense rode to Hopewell, and lodged at Isaac Hollings- year 1800; and bricks and mortar still invaof the power and subtilty of the unwearied enemy worth's, near Winchester, in Virginia. There were and capture the green fields. The population of righteousness, he felt constrained to offer the following prayer: "Gracious God, thy penetrating eye beholdeth nel George Washington, who had been condemned the many snares the adversary hath laid to bring to imprisonment for six months, because they were withstanding the enormous wealth of the metropoli thy spiritual Israel to naught. Grant, O God! not free to bear arms. During that time they had it is recorded in the report of the Registrar Gen that we may often sit at the gate of thy presence, suffered much threatening and hard speeches, and, ral, as a remarkable fact, that "one in six of the as Mordecai of old did at the king's gate, in humion on one or more occasions, had been taken out to lity of mind, waiting for admittance before thee, be whipped. This was not however done. The tutions—a work house, hospital, asylum or priso that we may entreat for preservation. That so in great Master had preserved them in faithfulness, Nearly one in eleven of the deaths, is in a wor, the strength of thy might, we may defeat the counand they had thereby gained the favour of the house." This shows that poverty tollows close sels of the evil one, who, like proud Haman of old, officers, so that they had allowed them to live [the the heels of wealth, and fastens on the multiture of the country of the countr hath sought the downfal of thy spiritual Israel. latter part of their six mouths amongst their with relentless grasp. Every sixth person dies Grant that those who are sleeping as in their friends. The time that they had been condemned pauper or a criminal! Can this be said of an arrange of the condemned pauper or a criminal can this be said of an arrange of the condemned pauper or a criminal. palaces, like Queen Esther, thinking themselves for, was now out, and they requested me and my other city on the globe? And how great a num in safety therein, may be awakened from their companion to go with them [Twelfth mo. 1st] to ber there must be who barely manage to escal lethargie drownienes, and become petitioners for see if Colonel Washington would discharge tom. this fate. The severe competition for subsistent their own, and our, preservation; so that we, being We readily granted the request. Their steadiness and wealth which characterizes London life, is heard of thee, and preserved by thy power, may, and innocent behaviour had gained the favour of terrible ordeal for any human being to pass throug as the Jews of old, ascribe thanksgiving, and ho-the chief officer, so that he was very pleasaut, and and thousands fail in the attempt, crushed beneamour, might, majesty, and dominion unto thee; discharged them. This is great encouragement for the golden Juggernaut. It is now notorious, say to whom be it rendered now and forevermore, any who may meet with the like trials, to stand a London paper, that in the large establishmen faithful, and bear a steady testimony to the peace- where some hundreds of assistants are employe "Having felt a draft of love to visit Friends able doctrine of Christ, which, I believe, will, in the great majority of them are broken down trade the Lord's time, be more generally exalted.

> a meeting at Hopewell, and after it, rode in com- the less fortunate, gradually sink lower and low where the Indians had burnt some bouses.

* His original minutes say, "They were very kind, but had no bed for us to lie upon. Some part of the night we through this wretched vice, and it is added the holded in the fields have and the real by the first. * His rough minute; say, "For the most part, pr. achisle. We slept but little; but through merey, caught in more than ordinary degree." Ledger. through this wretched vice, and it is added the most of this number were "originally respectable to cold, and went cheeffully on the next day."

attended meeting there, which was to some satis- expected we must lodge in a fort, or lie in th twenty-seven miles to Isaac Hollingsworth's, ar

(To be continued.)

week, half by birth and half by immigration. No who leave the world, die in one of the public inst men, crushed by the competition of capital. Eve "On the 2d day of the Twelfth month, we had these occupations are obtained with difficulty, ar We display, and the vanity of living beyond their mean It is on record, that out of 8000 convicts who have in more than ordinary degree." Ledger.

Liberian Explorations.

te climate refreshing and salubrious; the soil as val sees, I think the settlers would soon find them-ch and unsurpassed, and the natives peaceful, selves in a very prosperous condition.

early all swallowed up by the sea.

Anter a sojourn a cosperation, the curve of the property of the interior.

358, on a journey into the interior, accompanied "The Mauni kingdom is situated about one hunmplexion.

sited by him:

"The most important tribes in the interior of country." iberia are the Condors or King Boatswains, Barrough sheer necessity. Taking all things in con- have had intercourse with foreigners. leration, it is my opinion that the Condors will "In regard to the social intercourse and the the first to embrace civilization.

tribes in their neighbourhood are in favour of such thren of the Caucasian; and that there are white as manifested several, which have proved emiger, ground-peas, and unsurpassed for the produce most woolly-headed negro that ever sweltered entity significant and useful. Recent intelligence ion of cotton. 3. One-third, if not more, of the one at the burning rays of an African sun."— om that prosperous and progressive common forest of Barlain consists entirely of camwood. 4. Ledger. ealth has furnished the reports of the explora- Any quantities of iron may be purchased at the ons of James L. Sims, who has returned from a market-place at a very reasonable price, and it urney into the interior east of Liberia, far beyond might be made a special article of trade, and er territorial and political jurisdictions. He rep-enough might be purchased with ease, to supply the esents the country as beautiful and productive; wants of the Republic, at least. With these ad-appy and industrious.

J. L. Sims is a native of Virginia. He removed tity of cotton raised by them, which is woven into cloth. Cloth is the only article of trade produced 1852, to Liberia, from Manchester, in that State. cloth. Cloth is the only article of trade produced te became very popular in Africa, and has always by the Bousas. These cloths are brought from seen noted for his courtesy and intelligence. At Bousa, on the backs of slaves, and are disposed of ne expiration of a year's residence in his adopted for calicoes, guns, powder, salt, etc. This is anand-during which he was engaged in the grocery other proof of the advantages an American settleusiness-he returned to the United States. The ment in the interior would have; for it is hardly essel in which he embarked, was wrecked, but to be supposed that the Bousas would prefer going ter much delay and trouble, it made St. Thomas, to the trouble of converting their cotton into cloth, est Indies, whence J. L. Sims took passage in a carrying it to the beach, a distance of three hunip to Newport, R. I., and then to New York, dred miles, when, if there was an American set-hiladelphia, Baltimore, and to Richmond. Having settled his father's estate-whose death to the settlement, and dispose of it for the same as the occasion of his visit to America—he pur- articles; and, besides, this would be an encouragenased a stock of goods, and proceeded to Liberia, ment to them to enter into the raising of cotton on nding in July, 1854. The former were des- a larger scale. We have no conception of the uched by the brig Harp, which went ashore in amount of cotton that could be purchased in Bousa ont of Monrovia, and were lost or much damaged. in one year. The longest tobacco I have ever seen, hey were not insured, and his means were thus I saw at Souloang. And as very good tobaceo has been produced on the St. Paul's river, I have no Alter a sojourn at Cape Mount, he started from doubt but that as good tobacco as any in the world

y twenty-seven natives, and provided with articles dred miles interior of Barlain; I made special indoulated to enable him to travel among the abori- quiries about this place from persons living there, nes. He succeeded admirably in his mission, and and others who had visited it. Musa-du is the turned in the following October, in good health capital; the present king is named Vai-Mani or is now in the service of Vice-President Yates, vey-Mami. Musa du is said to be a city several wing charge of one of his farms on the St. miles in circumference. A Veyman who had visited aul's river. J. L. Sims is about twenty-eight both Musa-du and Timbu, the capital of Futa, said ears of age, tall and thin, and a dark-brown that Musa-du was the largest. The Mauni peop e raise a great many horses and cartle, which they We give an extract from his journal. It is a bring down to Barlain for sale. There are no trees ir specimen of the style of his entire report, and in Manui; the whole country is prairie; for fireesents the character of the tribes and country wood the people have to substitute cow-dung, and a kind of moss which grows abundantly in that

"As regards the religious and moral character ins, Bousas, and the Mauni people. As regards of the interior natives, it is useless to comment. e Condors, owing to their savage and warlike However, I will make a few remarks. About oneode of life, a careless observer would, without third of the population living within five hundred sitation, pronounce them to be ready and fit only miles of the coast, are Mohammedans, and one-r destruction. But I am of a different opinion, half of that number are hypocrites; the rest are hey are a powerful tribe, and are feared and Pagans, all of whom, however, have some idea of spected for hundreds of miles around. Their a Supreme Being, whose dwelling place is known esent degradation is owing to the avaricious to Himself alone; and whose auger, when kindled, aracter of some of their chiefs and headmen, may be appeased by sacrifices, the shedding of he most of them are friendly towards the Libeins, and embrace every opportunity to imitate whose vicegerents or representatives are the greedized habits; they are in favour of the Libe gree men. All this is well known to most people.

In building settlements in their country, and the morals of the interior natives are far superior by submit to the rule of their tyrannical chiefs to those of the natives living near the beach, who every-day habits and customs of the African, I "The Birlains are decidedly a superior tribe to believe the whole continent to be synonymous, y in the immediate vicinity of the Republic. From the information given of the moral character, ney are an agricultural people, and punish idle- the manners and customs of the people of Africa, ss as a crime. Theft is a capital crime. They, by travellers and traders, an unprejudiced person 2, are anxious for an American settlement to be can but allow that Africa is Africa all over-tablished among them; and that a settlement in Moors, Arabs and Negroes; and that a Guinea relain could not fail of success, is incontestible, Negro, one free from the contamination of foreigners, several reasons. 1. The Barlains and other is no lower in the scale of humanity than his bre-

In the development of traits which contribute to a scheme. 2. The soil is of extra fertility, well men in America and Europe, who can do things ational greatness, the young Republic of Liberia adapted to the raising of sugar-cane, pepper, gin-with as much brutal apathy as the blackest and

THE RIVER PATH. No bird-song floated down the hill,

The tangled bank below was still No rustle from the birchen stem.

No ripple from the water's hem.

The dusk of twilight round us grew, We felt the falling of the dew;

For, from us, ere the day was done, The wooded hills shut out the sun.

But on the river's farther side We saw the hill-tops glorified .-

A tender glow, exceeding fair, A dream of day, without its glare.

With us the damp, the chill, the gloom;

With them the sunset's rosy bloom;

While dark, through willowy vistas seen, The river rolled in shade hetween. From out the darkness where we trod

We gazed upon those hills of God.

Whose light seemed not of moon or snn. We spake not, but our thought was one, We paused, as if from that bright shore

Beckoned our dear ones gone before; And stilled our beating hearts to hear

The voices lost to mortal ear ! Sudden our pathway turned from night;

The hills swung open to the light; Through their green gates the sunshine showed

A long, slant splendor downward flowed. Down glade and glen and bank it rolled;

It bridged the shaded stream with gold; And, borne on piers of mist, allied The shadowy with the suglit side!

"So," pray we, "when our feet draw near

The river, dark with mortal fear, And the night cometh chill with dew,

O, Father !- let thy light break through ! So let the hills of doubt divide, So bridge with faith the sunless tide!

So let the eyes that fail on earth On thy eternal bills look forth;

And in thy beckoning angels know

The dear ones whom we loved below." J. G. Whittier.

Selected.

CHEER UP. Never go gloomily, man with a mind! Hope is a better companion than fear, Providence, ever benignant and kind! Gives with a smile what you take with a tear. . All will be right,

Look to the light,-Morning is ever the daughter of night, All that was black, will be all that is bright, Cheerily, cheerily, then ! cheer up !

Many a foe is a friend in disguise. Many a sorrow a blessing most true, Helping the heart to be happy and wise With love ever precious, and joys ever new. Stand in the van, Strive like a man! This is the bravest and cleverest plan, This is the bravest and eleverest pun., Trusting in God, while you do what you can, Cheerily, cheerily then! cheer up! Tapper.

How swift the torrent rolls, That hastens to the sea How strong the tide that bears our souls On-to Eternity!

Thrilling Scene.

rounded by Fire. Two Men Consumed.—A cor- when it was almost cut through, then it began to eled in the records of history; but the influence or respondent writing from Barclay's Fort, New Mex- bear plenty of fruit." This explanation affording civilization upon certain races of animals is mor ico, under date of Seventh month 9th, says, "A a striking illustration to his mind, he went home obscure, and has not been taken cognizance friend, just arrived from Santa Fe, states that four comforted and instructed; saying he had learned Mexican herders were driving a herd of cattle more in these circumstances than from all the know something about the civilization of individua through the mountains north of that place, a short books he ever read-" Whom the Lord loveth, he time since, when the following incident occurred, chasteneth." which I give as I received it.

"The mountains were on fire at the time, but thinking the way clear before them, they proceed. Scotland lately, J. R. Macdougall from Flor A few steps only were taken, when their nerves became contracted with the intense heat, their limbs comrades heard the dying groans of their companions, the wild bellowing of the herd, as they wildly from side to side, eagerly seeking that which they dare not hope to find, and already suffering, ney dare not hope to hud, and already suffering, in anticipation, the agonies of a death too fearful to think of when a buge real based the Late Paper. to think of, when a huge rock barred their way, and they saw with a thrill of joy, that a small spring of water gushed out at its foot. Hope revived within them at the sight, and with an energy, such as the emergency only could inspire, they improved the few remaining moments ere the flames should reach them, in preparing to resist them. Everything combustible was removed, until the increasing heat forced them to desist, then inserting some dry branches in the crevices of the rock above the spring, they saturated their blankets with water, and spread them out upon them, and scating themselves under their shelter, continued to apply the water as fast as their scanty supply permitted.

" Ashes, coals, and burning branches fell thickly around them, and their hopes fluctuated rapidly between hope and despair, as their chances of escape increased or lessened. Moments seemed lengthened into hours, and doubtless more than the agonies of death were passed by these poor herders, ere hope ripened into certainty, and they at a recent Tract Society meeting, said: "The tions of a modern would lead him to, that, we secret conflicts of mind, and had to meet with ma- years ago could not understand one of us, and we "Wild fowl," he says, "are rare at Rome, being insults which profligate men offer to piety; and could not make ourselves understood by him. But seldom met with except in cages. They do us that under these trials, he was one day walking in Confucius wrote six or seven hundred years before crow," he preceeds to remark, "nor do they remarks and the seldom met with except in cages. the Physic Gardens, where he observed a very fine Jesus Christ, and his language is read, not by fifty semble domestic fowls in appearance, but approapomegranate tree, cut almost through the stem, or sixty millions who understand the English lau-nearer to the African bird.* Many other par strong that it bore nothing but leaves. I was Four Mexican Drovers and their Cattle Sur-therefore obliged to cut it in this manner; and

ed up a valley until they found their way barred made an interesting statement as to the steps which by an impenetrable wall of fire; in alarm, they had been taken to spread the Bible in Italy. He hastily retraced their steps, in the vain hope that began by noticing the great change which had escape might still be possible. But alas! they taken place in Italy—last year, people were impriwere too late; fire had closed the avenue by which they had entered the valley, and a broad belt of comparative freedom. The demand for the Bible, and now they enjoy they had entered them on every side, the area of and for evangelical treatises in Florence and over which was rapidly diminishing every moment. The the whole country, was so great, that two depots long drought had rendered the rubbish and under- had been opened in that city, and neither the one growth below as dry as tinder, and the flames lick- nor the other had been interfered with by the Goved them up with fearful rapidity, and springing ernment, and privately there had been every encourupward, caught the pine leaves above, glossy with agreement given for the establishment of such things, rosin, and then leaping from tree to tree, formed a They had also established two schools, one for boys billow of fire awful to behold. The affrighted herd, and another for girls, and this was a most imporbellowing with fear, dashed through the flames; tant branch of their work, as all who knew the the most of them escaped, badly burned, but some Italians considered that they would have much perished. Two of the herders attempted to follow more success with the rising than with the adult them; but who can breathe in such an atmosphere, generation. They employed a number of colporwalk on burning coals, enveloped in flame, and live ! teurs, and they had several gratifying instances of to appeal to modern records, of what tame anima the blessings which had attended the circulation of the Bible. The colporteurs met with no opposition Both these means of investigation are open to u refused to perform their office, and they sunk from the people, but only from those dressed in a shricking on a bed of fire, never more to rise. Their little brief authority, such as the prefects and delegates. He alluded with regret to the divisions which existed in the Protestant Church at Florence, dashed through the sea of fire, and the roaring and which had done a great deal to retard its progress, erackling of the flames, as they came surging on-ward, and maddened by despair, they dashed basis, with elders, deacons, and evangelists, had basis, with elders, deacons, and evangelists, had been established. The statement was listened to the world's history, are able to determine; how knew that they were indeed saved as 'brands from Chinese are a proud nation, and naturally enough. the particulars not established by later observe the burning.'"—Late Paper.

> The Amount of Hay Required for Cows-the Cost of Mill: - Otis Brigham, of Westborough, Mass., after seventy years' experience in farming, says, in the New-England Farmer, that good cows will eat, on an average, 20 pounds of hay per day, when giving milk, and 15 pounds when dry-not by guess-work but tested by actual weighing for months at a time. Then it is easy to calculate the cost of milk. In the neighbourhood of New York, the average value of hay is one cent a pound, and the quantity of milk not over six quarts. At 51 ceuts a quart it will pay the hay bill and one cent a day over. If other feed is given, the increase of milk must pay for that. The manure will be worth at least the cost of attendance and milking. If the milk is worth more than 31 cents, it gives a profit, and if less, a loss.

Their language has existed four thousand five tions, made in a very particular way, one might lead to the control of the language has existed four thousand five tions, made in a very particular way, one might lead to the language has existed four thousand five the particulars not established by later observe the burning.'"—Late Paper. Their language has existed four thousand five tions, made in a very particular way, one might l It is said of the well known Richard Cecil, that guage is a language of yesterday. A person who Fowls, both wild and tame, were known, according to the control of the well known Richard Cecil, that guage is a language of yesterday. A person who Fowls, both wild and tame, were known, according while he was at college, he had many deep and lived in the Island of Great Britain eight hundred to Varro, in the Roman poultry market of his tin pointegrands of "Siry," said the gardener, on his guage, but by five hundred millions of the human inquiring the reason, "this tree used to shoot so race. What a wonderful power!"

Wild and Tame.

The influence of civilization upon man, is chron perhaps so much as it deserves. We all of a pets: it is not to that class, however, that I direct my remarks. What my observations would espe cially point to here, is the series of gradual an The Bible in Raly.—At a meeting held in more occult changes which have been brough about in the course of hundreds, sometimes thor sands, of years, and by virtue of which the cha racteristics of a race are so modified, that we los all cognizance of the wild progenitors from whic the members of it have descended. Already th domestic cat has afforded the readers of "Th Leisure Hour" one example of what is mean to be conveyed. Another case of similar impor is furnished by the dog. Less obscure, but sti well marked, are the cases of modified race, th change due to civilization, furnished by the pi the sheep, the cow, and, perhaps, more than al the domestic barn-door fowl.

There are two ways of testing this no less difficult than interesting subject. Firstly, in son cases, historical records exist of what the charac teristics of certain animals were, in ancient time when the process of reclaiming them first began secondly, the naturalist has it often in his powe as respects the common barn-door fowl: supposthen, we examine them. When barn-door cocl and hens begau to be so inconsiderate as to abai don their native forests, and, for the sake of little good living, to lay eggs and get fat for tl benefit of their civilized but gormandizing protein ever, as regards those pioncers of civilization, th Greeks, testimony enables the inquirer to form pretty accurate guess. In neither the "Iliad," no the "Odyssey," does old Homer say anythin about cocks and hens, which is strange, if he reall was cognizant of their existence. Getting up mornings by times to mingle in the fray, as th Homeric heroes are represented to have done, who more natural than the assumption that cock-cro should have been the signal. Neither docs Hesic (another very old Greek author) say anythis about them; but, in addition to the "Iliad" ar the "Odyssey," Homer is the reputed author another poem, the "Batrachomyomachia." any rate, whoever the author of it, that poem wil a long name is a very old composition. In domestic fowls are not mentioned.

Next we take a long jump indeed-from Homand Hesiod to Varro, who wrote about forty-fivears before Christ. He gives us some very d tailed and particular statements about the cocl and hens of his time; but they are statements: The Chinese Language-Sir John Bowring, apparently at variance with what the proconce

^{*} Known to us moderns as the Guinea-fowl, or pintac

ite; but the reader will probably have begun to equine troubles lain athwart his shoulders, and mals in question by the hard names which natu-ne of those fatal explorations up the Niger, which culinary repute.

d clucking hens, who go pecking away in modern Tartarian steppes.

astantinople do not excel in that line; and, as and accordingly God has supplied them. the progeny of tame dogs allowed to run wild, plars respecting these wild fowls does Varro nar-mornings; so he escapes a large per contra of British Museum. Without particularizing the ani-lose who took part in it; and the survivors were are perceptible in the American continent. I need arise of the following kind: -How would a wild duced to an almost unexampled condition of hardly remark that, before the Spaniards set their sheep manage with no kind shepherd at hand to affering and prostration. In order to recruit their conquerors' feet upon American soil, horses, goats, see to the wool toilette? On this point the halfay to touch the little volcanic island of Anna- the dog alone has never totally escaped from man's lambs, and the wool continues growing for a peono, in the Gulf of Guinea, they not only found fellowship and congenial domination. As regards riod; but mark now the curious result. If the plentiful stock of good poultry, but became ac- that other companion of man, scarcely less inti- shearer comes before a certain period, and shears own by Varro. According to the testimony of horses, totally wild, roam at this time over the shearer so far neglects this operation, that a certain te natives of the little volcanic island, at a period pampas and llanos of both North and South Ame-time, a little too long, clapses, off falls the wool of some twenty years before the advent of Captain rica. The soil and climate of North America its own accord, a crop of hair takes its place, and llen, a few cocks and hens, escaping from an are probably no less congenial to the horse than wool never grows on the hairy part again. nglish ship, took to the woods, and, huding cir- those extensive plains in Central Asia, from which What can be more beautiful than this illustratustances congenial to their natures, multiplied the equine race is supposed to have ramified, tion of the way in which the Almighty modifies the ceedingly. Now, twenty years is no long time, Probably the wild American horse has all the characteristics of a race in favour of mankind?

parently, to work out changes in the organiza-characteristics of the originally wild stock; there. The young lamb with woolly fleece would seem to on of a race; but, strange to say, it was a period fore, any peculiarity of type recognisable in the one, say mutely, and once for all, "Wild or tame? ng enough to have degraded (if the term may be we may expect to be recognisable in the other, which is it to be? Take your choice, but choose ermitted me) once civilized English baru-door Well, what facts does testimony supply in this at once."

bilar import, that the barking of dogs is also a whom the ability to hear quickly, and to remain unforgiving.—Religious Tract Society. guage of civilization. The wild dogs of Aus-wide awake, is a matter of the utmost consequence. lia never bark; the half reclaimed dogs of To such a pig, prick-up ears are a sort of necessity, America presents sheep and bullocks for the y soon lose their barking power altogether. A naturalist's investigation, under the somewhat rare , however, I may here remark, seldom runs and very interesting condition, of neither quite wild d, if he can help it. To the majority of aui-ls which man reclaims, making them compa-passing from civilized back to savage life, is not ns of his steps, and denizens of his fields and wrought out, but is yet in a state of transition. ne, civilization is a lot chequered to them with Before more specially pointing out what has hap-ispect that, by no possibility, could a wild bird, upon his convenient back, by the perhaps too ex-ralists apply to them, it will be enough for my awing the characteristics of form as described by acting biped. Then, woo to the civilized bird or purpose, it the reader observes that certain sheepy-arro, get modified by eviluization into an ordinary beast, good to be cooked and cated! Dogs, I think, looking animals are there to be seen, sheep-like in old or not bear of the civilized bird or purpose, and the cooked and cated! Dogs, I think, looking animals are there to be seen, sheep-like in old or not bear of the cooked or here. Yet, curiously enough, the strange have a particularly happy lot of it. To them the form, face, horns, and, in short, everything save stimony of Varro has been confirmed in a very change from savage to civilized life brings with it the one characteristic of wool. Glancing now the few or no disagreeables—save, perhaps, when fate metal eye far away from the staffed skins of the ways—ways—their lot amongst matrices of that British Museum, and contemplating all the solicits. In the year 1842, Captain William Allen led central flowery land, where puppies are held in tudes of which sheep are the objects, by reason of their fleece-considering how those warm coats of st a blight on the memory of that ill-fated reon. The expedition proved mortal to about half and wildness have wrought out upon animal races, learned for to prevent ill results—a new room and the memory of that ill-fated reon the memory of the memory of that ill-fated reon the memory of the memory o rengta, the survivors were ordered to the isles of pigs, dogs, sheep and a few other animals, were wild sheep of America furnish an instructive lessension and St. Helena; but, happening on their strangers to that continent. Of these, I believe son. Their lambs have wool like any civilized inited with a fact of great interest to the natu-list; confirming, as it does, the statements hauded it is far otherwise. Hundreds of thousands of grow, lengthening to maturity. If, however, the

wis back to the level and the characteristics of matter? We will see. Don Felix Azara, I believe, Passing now from sheep to cows, just conteme wild fowls described by Varro. Not only had was the first to notice the circumstance that, plate the enormous quantity of cows' milk cone cocks ceased to crow, having adopted a cry of amongst these wild American horses, there is sumed by human beings, and how freely cows eir own, but, in form as well as colour, the ordi-hardly a black, grey, piebald, or sorrel-coloured supply it. But this facility of milk-yielding is a ry type of common barn-door fowls had become individual to be seen. They all present the uni-characteristic impressed on the species after many dely departed from. Fortunately, and to place form type of brown short hair and black manes centuries of contact with humanity. The halfe testimony beyond any reasonable doubt, Capt. and tails. So far as the testimony of the natural- wild cows of America yield milk, indeed, for their llen and his surviving associates were accompanied list just mentioned goes, the presumption is indi- lown progeny, but they have very little to spare cated that brown, with black manes and tails, was besides. Neither the Spaniards at home, nor the In this way Varro and Captain Allen, between the colour of original wild horses—the very colour descendant of Spaniards abroad, are much of a em, undoubtedly prove the strutting chantieleers stated by Pallas, as belonging to wild horses of milk-loving people; but whenever a travelling milk-lover wanders amidst the half-wild cows of m-yards, to trace their pedigree back to the The American descendants of tame pigs run certain parts of America, he finds it no easy matld fowl common enough in the forests of Bengal, wild illustrate, in their own personal characteris- ter to get a little of cows' milk. The animals is judeed, is just the pedigree naturalists had ties, the mutation of type which an animal species have lost the function of continuous supply. To ade out for them; but so apparently profound may experience. Not only have the wilding pork-finish our account of tame animals run wild in e the differences between the form and colour of ers lost their slow, slouching gait, and become America, I may remark, that only the goat and two, to say nothing about the fact of tame veritable wild beasts of the forest—that might the donkey have grown handsomer for the change eks crowing, and the inability of wild cocks to have been expected—but their colour is invariably which has come over their fortunes. As to the rform the vocal feat, that ordinary people might black, and their ears, instead of being pendulous, even been beld excused for not implicitly believing as is the case of tame pigs, prick up and stand brighter; and, who would have thought it? the statements of the naturalists.

And here, writing about the vocal powers of the case of the case of tame pigs, prick up and stand brighter; and, who would have thought it? the statements of wild donkey actually seeks out the wild horse to the farm-yard, with no enemy to fear, save the do battle with, fighting, I am bound to say, most ilized chanticleer, it strikes me as a curious cir-butcher (whom he never learned to fear,) and treacherously—the very reverse of all that is noble nestance that he should learn his song in cap-lity, and that he should forget that accomplish-hearing was of no particular disadvantage to him, fully. In short, the wild dookey seems to be a nit when consigned to the woods again. Not securious is it, as well as a matter of precisely to shift for himself the best way he can, and to a three same time more treacherous, resentful and

> They that soar too high, often fall hard, which makes a low and level dwelling preferable.

THE FRIEND.

TENTH MONTH 13, 1860.

It is particularly gratifying to us to find an inod and evil. If the horse, wild running in Tarpened to both these races, I would just, in passing, creased interest taken in our Journal, by Friends in steppes, be innocent of bruised oats and direct the reader's attention to a series of animals in different parts of our widely extended Society, un mashes, physic when he is out of sorts, a of the sheep tribe, the skies of which are stuffed and to note that whatever fears or doubts may table-roof over his head, and curry-combing o' and preserved in the zoological department of the have been in the minds of some, whose good opinion and assistance we value, in relation to its firm paring to attack the Neapolitan troops. The Sardinians flour. The ship Locket, for Melbourne, sailed with 900 and consistent support and defence of the truths continued their advance in the Papal States. The fort-have passed, or are passing away.

As private emolument is no object in the publication of "The Friend," we may be allowed to say that we think its more widely extended circulation, especially in newly formed families and among the younger members of the Society, is certainly of importance in this reading age, when the press teems with periodical literature, much of their families a weekly visitor, which supplies interesting and instructive reading, and inculcates sound christian morality, and a correct taste. We think we may claim these traits for "The Friend," and appeal to its completed thirty-three volumes, as evidence of the justness of the claim.

There are other considerations which should influence our members to a more general diffusion of protest against the invasion of the Roman States had fluence our memorrs to a more general variety of the new process against Austria will not interfere at present un-such a journal. There is comparatively little now reached Paris. Austria will not interfere at present undone in bringing forward, and making our young people familiar with the writings of our early Friends, and holding up their clear and evangelipeople familiar with the writings of our early

Military operations in Syria would commence after the Priends, and holding up their clear and evangelible to tweether. Achmet Pacha, Osman Bey and Mustapha cal views of the doctrines and testimonies which gay, who betrayed the Christians at Hasbeyr, and Oswe, as a Society, and individually, are called upon man Bey, who commanded the troops during the masto maintain. "The Friend," by extracts from, and to maintain.

The French addition of these works, frequent comments on, portions of these works, contributes to creating and maintaining a know-naual six months' furlough being given on the lat of ledge of, and taste for them. There never was a Tenth month. time in the history of our religious Society, when there was a greater necessity to keep its doctrines and testimonies before the members, as set forth approved by it, and to point out and warn against leave Rome. modifications of, and innovations on them, than the present. Our Society is participating in the spirit of change and unsettlement that pervades all, or nearly all other religious bodies, and which may be said to be one of the characteristics of the age proceed to Naples. in which we live. Its faith and discipline have been and still are assailed, and it is an indispensable duty resting upon every member, and especially upon those who desire that it may pass through the ordeal without betraying the one, or compromising the other, to give his and her help and strength towards their support and defence.

The Contributors to "The Friend" are desirous to perform their share of this duty, and to prompt $2000 and two years' imprisonment. Chamberlain, the and encourage their follow-members in the good work; and they appeal to their readers everywhere and however situated, to lend a helping hand thereto. These know-many of them from over thirty-three years' observation-in what way and spirit this duty is performed by the contributors, and we trust their common interest in this common cause will unite us together in the support and circulation of our Journal.

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

EUROPE.-News from Liverpool to Ninth mo. 27th. The Queen of England embarked on a visit to Prussia on the 23d ult. She was accompanied by Lord John Russell, who, it is stated, will have a conference on political matters with the Prussian Minister of Foreign Af-

The Liverpool market for breadstuffs was firm, with an advancing tendency. The quotations were as follows—American flour, 28s. a 31s. 6d.; red wheat, 11s.; white, 12s. a 13s. 6d.; yellow corn, 36s.; white, 38s. a Consols, 931.

Four submarine cables between Valencia and the 1slands of Majorca and Minorca, and thence to Barcelona, have been successfully laid.

sacks of wheat, 4000 sacks of oats, and 4000 quarters o of the gospel as held by our religious Society, fighting, and was occupied by the Sardinian troops. The intervals. The Sardinians had occupied the forcess of Liverpool, with 15,000 sacks of wheat and 68 bales of Cartillan. The official Roman journal contains a notel wood. The allowed the forces of Liverpool, with 15,000 sacks of wheat and 68 bales of Cartillan. annonade of Aucona by land and sea, was continued at The official Roman journal contains a note from Cardinal Antonelli, claiming assistance for the Papal cause from the Catholic Powers. The Garibal-dians had met with some reverses near Capua, losing about 200 men. Garibaldi has issued a fresh proclamavery desirable; and to ask our agents and sub- tion, the tone of which indicates that he will join the scribers to renew their efforts to effect it. It is Sardinian troops at Rome, and begin his march against Venice. Four thousand Papal troops capitulated on the 19th ult., but Garibaldi conceded to them the rights of the press teems with periodical literature, much of prisoners of war, and consequently they will all return which is of a doubtful, if not a manifestly injuri- home. The antagonism between Garibaldi and the ous tendency, that Friends should introduce into Piedmontese government still remained. The King of Naples publishes a decree at Gaeta, ordering a state of siege to be raised in all the provinces where the revolutionary struggle exists, and cashiering all the officers of the marine as guilty of treason, except those on the one vessel which went to Gaeta. The Republicans are gaining ground in Naples and an influence over Garibaldi. Cardinal Sporsa has been expelled from Naples by the cwt.; a few extra bringing $9.25; of sheep, about 650 dictator's government.

her own time of attacking the revolution.

sacres, were shot at Damascus on the 8th.

The French Moniteur de l'Armee says, there is no-

Considerable uneasiness was felt at Paris, lest a collision should occur between the French troops at Rome and Garibaldi's legion. The hope that more serious complications of the question may be avoided, is chiefly in their original purity and integrity, in the works founded on the expectation that the Pope will shortly

The Sacred College is exerting its influence to induce him to seek an asylum in Spain or Austria.

If the Pope departs, and the French follow his example, the Sardinians will at once occupy Rome. It is said that Victor Emmanuel has determined to

UNITED STATES .- The Slove Trade .- The fact is notorious, that a great number of American vessels are engaged in this nefarious business, and also that they are generally fitted out in New York, and sail from that ton, M. D. port without hindrance or molestation. The United States vessels on the coast of Africa, occasionally capture a slaver. One such, the Orion, was recently sent into Boston. The captain (Morgan) was tried, not for the highest penalty punished by death, but he pleaded guilty to a less offence, and was sentenced to a fine of mate, was sentenced to two years, and the second mate, Dunham, was senteuced to one year and nine months' surer, No. 304, Arch street, Philadelphia. imprisonment.

Imprisonment. New York.—Mortality last week, 422. Under five years of age, 191. Natives of the United States, 263. Philadelphia.—Mortality last week, 219. Under five years of age, 105. Natives of the United States, 168. The last weekly statement of the banks of this city presented the following results. Capital stock, $11,790,675; due depositors, $16,879,463; circulation, $3,005,854; specie on hand, $4,561,947; loans, $28,113,980.

Schuylkill County, Pa. The population of Schuylkill county has increased, since 1820, as follows: Population in 1820, 11,339; 1830, 21,744; 1840, 29,053; 1850, 60,713; 1860, 92,002.

The Rocky Mountains .- Captain Reynolds, of the U. S. army, who has just returned from an exploits, of me c. s. army, who has just returned from an exploiting tour in the Wind river country, reports having discovered a pass, twenty five hundred feet lower than any heretofore known on the line of the Bocky mountains. It is in about the 40th parallel of latitude.

California.—San Francisco dates to Ninth mo. 22d.

The steamer Uncle Sam sailed for Panama on the previous day, with 204 passengers and $1,130,000 in treasure. The steamer John L. Stephens which left San Francisco on the 11th, had not reached Panama on the 29th ult. It is feared some disaster had befallen her. She had on board 230 passengers and $1,009,000 in Italian affairs are unchanged. The Garibaldians had gold.—The barque Mary Agnes sailed on the 20th for concentrated on the heights of Volturna, and were pre-

The barque What Cheer, for Melbourne, carrie out 6000 sacks of wheat and oats, and 4000 quarters of flour. The barque Johanna Still sailed on the 22d fo wool. The clipper ship Pamphero has cleared for New York, with 14,500 sacks of wheat, 9000 hides, 350 bale of wool, and other articles of merchandise. The export of wheat and flour from San Francisco since Sixth mo 1st, equal 172,000 barrels of flour. The ship Davi Brown is loading with wheat for Liverpool, and will sa brown is meaning with wheat to Liverpool, and win sa, by the close of the week, carrying 1800 tons.

The Markets.—The following were the quotations of the 5th inst. New York—The demand for wheat good sales of 180,000 bushels, at $1.45 for prime whit Michigan; $1.37 a $1.40 for white Ohio, $1.25 for Mil-wankie club, and $1.18 a $1.20 for No. 2, Chicago spring rye, 79 cts.; barley, 84 cts. a 86 cts.; cora, 70 cts. a 7 cts. Philadelphia—White wheat, $1.45 a $1.50; Pean sylvania red, $1.30 a $1.32; rye, 77 cts. a 85 cts.; corr 73 cts. a 74 cts.; oats, 36 cts. a 37 cts. The market wa well supplied with good fat cattle. The offerings amouned to 2266 head, which brought from $7.00 to $9.00 pe were sold, at from 8 cts. to 9 cts. per pound, dresse and 4½ cts., live weight. Corn-fed hogs sold at $8.00 $8.75. Baltimore—Flour, $5.62 a $5.75; red whea $1.30 a $1.36; white, $1.40 a $1.60. Cincinnati—Flour $5.00 a $5.10.

RECEIPTS.

Received from E. Haworth, for J. Ballard, O., $2, vo 33; from P. P. Dunn, N. J., $2, vol. 34; from Sl. Chac bourne, C. W. $2, vol. 33; from Joshua B. Pusey, Pa $2, vol. 33, and for Sarah Harry, $2, vol. 23, for Miffli Cooper, T. Cooper, G. W. Cooper, and Thos. H. Whi son, $2 each, vol. 34; from Ellwood Comfort, Mich., p. M. Comfort, $4, vols. 33 and 34; from S. Hull, lo., $ to 27, vol. 34.

FRIENDS' ASYLUM.

Committee on Admissions .- Samuel Bettle, Jr., No. 14 N Teath street; Charles Ellis, No. 724 Market stree William Bettle, No. 426 N. Sixth street, and No. 2. S. Third street; John C. Allen, No. 335 S. Fifth stree and No. 321 N. Front street; Horatio C. Wood, No. 6. Race street, and No. 117 Chestnut street; John M. Whi all, No. 1317 Filbert street, and No. 410 Race stree Wistar Morris, No. 209 S. Third street; Nathan Hille Frankford.

Visiting Managers for the month .- John C. Allen, Jol M. Whitall, and William Bettle.

Physician and Superintendent .- Joshua H. Worthin,

WEST-TOWN BOARDING SCHOOL.

The Winter session of the School will commence of Second-day, the 5th of Eleventh month. Parents at others intending to enter their children as pupils, w please make early application to DAVID ROBERTS, Supe intendent at the School, or JOSEPH SCATTERGOOD, Tre:

West-Town, Nigth mo. 4th, 1860.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted as Teacher of Reading in the Boy department of this Institution. Apply to

Samuel Hilles, Wilmington, Del. James Emlen, West Chester, Chester Co., Pa. Alfaed Cope, Germantown, Pa. Sixth mo. 6th, 1860.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted to fill the station of Governor the Boys' department of his Institution.

Application may be made to NATHAN SHARPLESS, Co. cord, Pa.; Samuel Hilles, Wilmington, Del.; Jam EMLEN, West Chester, Pa.; or THOMAS EVANS, Philad. Twelfth mo., 1859.

MARRIED, on Fourth-day, Tenth month 3d, 1860, Friends' Meeting-house, East Whiteland township, Che ter county, Pa., JOSEPH SCATTERGOOD, Jr., of West G shen, Chester county, to ELIZABETH, daughter of Day Cope, of the former place.

PILE & M'ELROY, PRINTERS, Lodge street, opposite the Pennsylvania Bank.

THR RRIEND

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, TENTH MONTH 20, 1860,

NO. 7.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

Price Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance. Subscriptions and Payments received by

JOHN RICHARDSON,

AT NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS.

PHILADELPHIA.

Postage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three onths, if paid in advance, three and a-quarter cents; any part of the United States, for three mouths, if aid in advance, six and a-half cents.

For "The Friend,"

Henry Hull. (Continued from page 42.)

William Rickman, whose school in New York lenry Hull speaks of attending, was a valued and onourable minister of the gospel, who made a regious visit to Friends in America, in the years rist our Lord.

Henry Hull's narrative proceeds, viz:

"The power of heavenly love wrought early doctrines of the gospel. on my mind, begetting a dislike to evil practices the summer season, I was sent into the country, presses himself, 'Christ in you the hope of glory.' e in his fear, and partake of his favour, teaches the denying of all ungodliness and worldly the chambers of death.

lusts. I construed this, as though something would "We are the descendants of Adam, who, through seeing Eye continually beheld me.

"Samuel's want of experience caused him to run $18, 1819 and 1820, and died in 1840, in the to Eli when the Lord called him, being a stranger inety-fourth year of his age. He was born in to the Divine voice; and my ignorance left me in ingland, and, when about fourteen years old, was a situation somewhat similar, so that I did not conaced apprentice in the city of New York, where sider the uneasiness I felt and the desire to hide e passed about twenty-six years of his life, during my conduct, as proceeding from the reproofs of considerable part of which, he taught a school for Divine grace. But, although I long remained in a or company was very pleasant to me. About the spiritual appearance of Christ to the soul; when her chickens under her wings, and ye would not.'t initial year of my age, I had a severe illness, by as the holy.' Word white did a quick and hopwerful, "It is evident, therefore, that those opinions are uited. I was reduced very low. I noticed the land sharper than any two-edges word,'t appears fall could not and deceiving, which induce people to xious solicitude of my parents on my account, unto them, as he did unto Saul, whilst he was a think that the work is accomplished by Christ's d my heart was tendered with the evidences of persecutor of the disciples of our Lord. When sufferings on the cross merely, without their endeaor love to me, thinking myself unworthy of it. Saul knew who it was that thus pierced and smote vouring to follow him in the way of redemption, as ther my recovery, I continued in delicate health, him, and gave up in obedience to his requirings, He they have him for an example. Through him, the dt the airly the city being too oppressive for me became to him and his fellow labourers, as he ex- quickening Spirit, man has access unto the Father, mbled alone among the forests and over the merits of the Redeemer; yet if they do not obey one; - and of whom the apostle John saith, 'Whoen fields, indulging my contemplative turn of him, but live and act in opposition to his teachings, the ned so, industing my contemplative turn of him, but live and act in opposition to his teamings, soever shall contess that Jesus is the Son of God, and the places of them, that they persecute the God dwelledth in him and he in God? 'He that the proving and rocks, and birds, were the his way, yet ignorant that redemption was obtained because of the proving and the proving a state of the state of the proving and the proving a state of the state of the proving a state of the state med to reflect upon the infinite wisdom of the under condemnation for transgression; and as a our hearts are sincerely directed to him as the eat Creator, and desires increased that I might faithful witness, teaches children, even in their Emmanuel, God with us, and living under his en his fear, and partake of his favour.

"Notwithstanding this, the evil example of rude able examples set before them, instead of evil, join-that God is love, and he that dwelleth in love, duct. I heard the doctrine held up by the minis- grace, they would, I believe, be more likely to ters of our Society, that the grace of God which choose the ways of piety and virtue, than the more bringeth salvation appeareth unto all men, and frequented ways of the wicked, which lead down to appear to condemn me, and make me unhappy for disobedience, fell; and 'are by nature children of my evil conduct, and sometimes after I had done wrath, even as others;' and if we continue to diswrong, and was willing to think my actions were obey the voice of the Lord, which teaches us 'to not very bad, I would presumptuously say to my-do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with self, 'now if the Almighty is offended with me, I [God,' we shall become as some in the apostles' days, wish I could feel his inward reproof;' thus willing who 'were dead in trespasses and sins,' walking to justify myself by my own hardness of heart, according to the course of this world, according to while at the same time I was afraid my parents the prince of the power of the air, who worketh in should know of my conduct lest they should correct me, for they had taught me to do better. I to Divine instruction, spring all the evils that are sought therefore to hide my conduct from them; in the world, and the prevalence of evil examples but knew not that it was indeed the good Spirit of is such as to draw away the minds of young peograce who enlightened my understanding, so far to ple, as with 'cords of vanity;' pressing them on-see the evil of my ways, as to make me wish to ward as a mighty torrent that cannot be resisted hide them from man, not considering that the all- by the strength of man. 'But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, saith the apostle, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ; by grace ye are saved.'

" Here we see the infinite condescension of Divine Goodness, who declares by his servant, the prophet Ezekiel, 'Have I any pleasure at all that the wicked should die, and not that he should reriends' children. His humble christian walk, his state of ignorance, yet in process of time I came to turn from his ways and live?' 'The wages of sin ensistent example and pious care, were blessed to know the voice of heavenly Wisdom. Eli instruct- is death,' but life is obtained through Jesus Christ, any of his pupils, and to Henry Hull among ed Samuel how to answer the Lord's call, and by who was sent as a light to enlighten the Gentiles, e number. He was favoured with a peaceful obedience he became an eminent Ser in his day; and for God's satvation to the ends of the earth, do happy close to his long and useful life, retain—land this induces me to think it right for parents [But if men hate the light, because their deeds are But if men hate the light, because their deeds are g his faculties clear to the last, and with a firm and tutors to use great simplicity of language when evil, and will not come to it or have faith in it, but t humble assurance of salvation through Jesus instructing children, and to teach them to live in continue in their ways, they are circumstanced as the fear of the Lord, though their capacities may Jerusalem was formerly, when Christ, in his exponot be so matured as to comprehend the sublime stulation with her, says, 'O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, thou that killest the prophets, and stonest them "For want of this knowledge, many are mere that are sent unto thee, how often would I have d wicked words, whilst I loved good people, and professors of the letter, while they deny the power, gathered thy children together, as a hen gathereth who is 'faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and netines to my uncle Matthew Franklin's, at white methods are the most standard and the configuration of the most standard and past to design and sometimes to my uncle Joseph Hull's, er, may satisfy themselves with a belief in an im- precious experience to have faith in Jesus Christ, Peach Pond, in Dutchess county. Here I often puttative rightcoursness, and say much about the libe Son of God, who said 'I and the Father are soever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God.

d wicked boys, by degrees, drew me to join with ed with pious labour by parents and guardiaus, to dwelleth in God, and God in him. Christ is then, we in folly, and I often sinned, and feit great train up children in the fear of the Groot, and turn to us, the way, the truth and the life, and we witten the content of the

is not found, nor any ravenous beast; a way so that bell sounds at his season, and tells how our —Has it never occurred to you when standing be plain, that the way-faring man, though a fool, may sentinels defend us. It rang when the Amazou side a pond in early spring, that there was some not err therein; and by which 'the ransomed of was on fire, and chimed its beroic signal of duty, thing paradoxical in the fact of frogs and toat the Lord shall return and come to Ziou, with and courage, and honour. Think of the dangers crawling at the bottom, and never once rising t songs and everlasting joy upon their heads—they these seamen undergo for us, the hourly peril and the surface to breathe? They are animals with the contraction of the surface to breathe?

times I left my playmates, and spent my time in wreck .- Cornhill Mag. reading to my aged grandmother, by which means I early read Sewell's History of the rise and progress of Friends, as well as other books of a similar character, which had a good effect upon my

"I was often tendered at the recital of the cruel sufferings, inflicted upon those who stood faithful to the testimonies given them to bear for the Truth one early endeavour to form it for the reception early endeavour to form it for the reception the land newt disappear, the possibility of living the agreement of the agent of would be absorbed in serious meditation, and a belief was gradually settled upon it, that if I lived a system of glad tidings; and doubtless, the less to be a man, I should espouse the cause for which they suffered. But the instability of human nature was evinced in my subsequent conduct. These seasons of tender visitation were soon forgotten, and by associating with wicked boys, I found my inclination to evade the cross increased, and it became very unpleasant to me to be called a Quaker. I avoided the use of the plain Scripture language of thou and thee, and much wished to change my dress so as to conform to the custom and fashion pensities, which have caused me much conflict. and toads; and the reason was made clear to of the day; but in this I was not indulged by my parents, they being careful to keep their children plain while young, and not to suffer them to attend places of diversion, which care I believe was of use to us, though we thought at the time that we were hardly dealt by." (To be continued.)

Sea Reckoning.—In a voyage to America some nine years since, on the seventh or eighth day out from Liverpool, Captain L-came to dinner at eight bells as usual, talked a little to the persons right and left of him, and helped the soup with his accustomed politeness. Then he went on deck and was back in a minute, and operated on the fish, looking rather grave the while. Then he went on deck again; and this time was absent, it may be three or five minutes, during which the fish beef. Say ten minutes passed—I can't tell, after mends his tender offspring to the protection of his nine years. Then L-- came down with a pleased and happy countenance this time, and began to carve the sirloin. "We have seen the light," he said. "Madame, may I help you to a in Meetings .- Dear Friends, keep your meetings little gravy, or a little horse-radish?" or what not. in the fear and name of the living God; and be the risings become more frequent, till in the I forget the name of the light, nor does it matter. very diligent in waiting upon him in his gifts: It was a point of Newfoundland for which he was give not leave for your minds to wander, and none where she was, that between soup and beef the for surely, it is even a shame to us that this thing, captain had sighted the headland by which his to wit, sleeping in the assemblies of the saints, course was lying. And so through storm and should be found among any of us: truly, Friends, darkness, through fog and midnight, the ship had this very thing oftentimes greatly burdeus the seed keep the members together in a blessed cone pursued her steady way over the pathless ocean of God in the hearts of many of his children;— and communion, which is esteemed by the apo and roaring seas so surely, that the officers who wherefore, watch and war against it, and wait to the more excellent way, excelling other gifts where sailed her knew her place within a minute or two, feel him in yourselves, to quicken both soul and hody pass away; but charity, that is the love of G and guided us with a wonderful providence safe on in the work, worship and service of the living God; from which our christiau and brotherly affect dence for us. While we sleep, their untiring watch- amongst us. - William Bennit. 1668.

walk in the highway of holiness, where the unclean fulness keeps guard over us. All night through, shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall fice away. watch, the familiar storm, the dreadful leeperg, the lungs, and in summer live mostly on land, perist sighing shall fice away. "The condemnation I felt for evil was great, and the sailor has to climb through icicles to bend time to time; yet during the whole winter, la and I clearly saw, that I must forsake evil comthe stiff sail on the yard. Think of their courage autumn, and early spring, they pass their time upony if I ever became what I desired to be. Someand their kindness in cold, in tempest, in hunger, der water. Puzzled by this fact, we applied to

> Selected for "The Friend." Letter of J. G. Bevan.

"1806. Eleventh mo. 25th .- It is indeed no small charge to undertake the direction of the infant mind; but then I believe there will be no of the gospel. The gospel, as the word imports, is the youthful mind is contaminated with those things, which are opposite to the gospel spirit, the gladder will its tidings be, when it unfolds its treasures, as above water. As the season advances, the wat reason advances. I have no cause to blame any newt also feels the need of occasionally quitit one but myself, for any of my failures; yet, I the water, and he will lie basking on the bit think, had I always been in very early life, (for I was not under my mother's eye,) with such as them- the water as the coolness of evening descends. selves lived in the love, and under the power, of keep him under water for many hours in the l the gospel, they might have restrained some pro- weather, is to kill him. It is the same with fre Anger and impatience are very early discoverable by the experiments of W. Edwards. He fou in children. Love and calmness are their natural that as long as the temperature of the water antidotes; and these may consist, if needful, with no more than fifteen or sixteen degrees abo sufficient firmness; and firmness, when children see, freezing point (47°-48°), frogs will live the who as they soon can, that it is used in love, tends to year round, without once rising to the surface. increase it in them; whereas, foolish indulgence is this condition they breather only by the skin. the parent of vexation on both sides. The grand has shown the relation which surface-respirat thing is, to dwell, (ah! I do not speak as having bears to pulmonary-respiration in these anima attained,) in the go-pel spirit one's self, and to feel its incalculable benefit; and then, strong will be bonic acid, and absorbs sufficient oxygen, to supp the motive to cherish it in the lambs under one's all their needs of languid life at this temperatu care, and fervent the breathing to its divine Au- No sooner does the temperature of the water ri thor, for assistance to train up minds in which He than the vital activity of the frog increases; a will delight to dwell." Lines 4 to 8 of page 129, with this increase there is a greater need of oxyg Book of Extracts, express something of the matter. [They are, "There were of old, those who brought children to Christ, in the days of his flesh; and now the religious parent can breathe no warmer upon to do their work; they cannot do this we aspiration for them than when he spiritually com-Lord.") that a living sacrifice from his own Spirit we may springs, shall endure forever. This envieth By this little incident (hourly, of course repeated, offer unto him. For his worship is a living wor- vaunteth not, boasteth not itself, and seeketh and trivial to all sea-going people) I own I was ship, and performed in and by his living Spirit; in its own, but is patient, beareth all things, suffer immensely moved, and never can think of it but which let us wait diligently upon the Lord, and a lall things, and veatcheth not with an evil eye; which a heart full of thanks and awe. We trust preparation we shall witness thereby; and feel our lives to these seamen, and how nobly they full and epity his presence, and be edified, collivened, dear friends, hold your fellowship one with fill the trust! They are, under heaven, as a provi- and warmed thereby, though no words be heard deeper for us. While we sheen, their untings watch. amongst us.—William Rennit 1669.

Respiration of Frogs in Winter and Summe: zoologist for an explanation, and received in rep one of those explanations with which the majori of mankind are willing to be content, namely a r statement of the fact in different language. O own experiments and observations gave no expl We found, for instance, the two species newt-land and water newt-behave very diffe ently. Both have gills when young, and lungs under water disappears; the animal quits the w ter forever; and you meet him on your stair-ca: while his companion, the water newt, is still in t aquarium, and only occasionally thrusting his hestone or wood for hours together, descending in and he finds that the skin exhales sufficient c a greater production of carbonic acid-in otl words, a greater energy of respiration, for wh the skin no longer suffices, the lungs are cal in the water; and if the frog be prevented fr rising to the surface, it is prevented from breathi and it perishes. We see this in spring. The f or newt occasionally rises, to expire carbonic ac Wandering Minds, Drowsiness, and Sleeping and absorb oxygen by its lungs. It then di under the surface again. As the season advance weather the frog lives chiefly on land, and newt also is forced to expose itself to the air Physiology of Common Life.

1705. It is our earnest desire, that above Friends hold fervent charity in the body, that For "The Friend."

f Him who careth for the sparrows, to write my- we had no right to expect. the end of this life, I ask no more of these &c., &c. It is all comfortable, and like a brook by hings; feel very different about them, to what I the way. sed to in gone-by years; am glad I can say I think o, it is very comfortable to be easy in our feelings. down the evil seed."

re mourners, and true watchmen and watchiven to rebuild even through rebuke like this, things right. What do these feeble Jews,' &c. So let us not "There is something very good in - meeting.

aptisms deep and oft: my whole heart is filled since." ith desire for her help and safe-keeping; her buffert, too, in tribulation. Remember my love Meeting; had the company of our friend icing!

that time."

Churchman. I do sincerely desire the preserva- handed. Amongst our favours, and not the least, ion of all in the right line."

was that thou and ——, after all you have passed thirty years since my dear husband's déath; to "The time for writing a few lines has again through this long winter, should be permitted to look back, it seems as if it could not be so long. ome, and I am quite able, through the kindness gladden our feelings with your company, a favour He escaped from much trouble and suffering by legree of thankfulness to my heavenly Father for able, letter was received, when not looking for it. If allowed to have admittance where he is, oh, l, and as much as any for the 'severe.' If food a lathought of many things on perusing it; 'As face what more need mortal want. Think of me, and not raiment and a home of my own be allowed answers to face,' &c.; 'Deep uttereth unto deep,' desire good for me when able."

e over-much discouraged; strength for the day, I I never was more sensible of it in any meeting, athered, to the strengthening and help of some than a little encouraging, that in this day a solid their little hearts He only knows who "holds the oor, untoward, wayward youth. Her way in the meeting should be held, and not depending on inisterial line there at W., of latter days, seems outward ministry; no public Friend belonging to The next day came, and with it they saw the

"Eighth mo. 1st .- Attended Goshen Monthly reatly comforted, in being able to feel where she the young people to come, taste, and see for them, and see her safe, that to write would be a poor selves, that the Lord is good. His first concern from day to day, yet it is dragging work : how- mento Bee.

"Fifth month .- I feel, my dear friend, as if I ever, we get little for complaining; and when I Extracts from the Letters and Memorandums of wanted to write a line to thee; we have so many think of my good-for-nothingness, I say, what could our Late Friend, H. Williams.

"Third mo. 8th, 1844.—I feel as if I ought to that unworthy as we are, we had such a favoured of things in Society and out of it, I say how can acknowledge thy visit; it has been seasonable, meeting, so sensible an evidence that the great any one feel cheery? Truly, the land mourns. erviceable and truly acceptable. We ought to be Head of the church was caring for us. I felt a But I think, my best friends never felt nearer to hankful we are helped along, from time to time, hope that many solitary and tried souls would be me than they do in these days; and I often think is we are such poor unworthy creatures. I want strengthened and encouraged; truly, it is good for it a favour to feel, in the life, a unity with living hou should look sharp with thy best eye, and then us to meet together on these occasions, as well as souls. It makes me care less to live by conversing, to be drawn from thy judgment, there is that in our little meetings, and there wait in all humibat can direct to a hair's breadth: -so said John lity and lowliness where the food convenient is great propriety, and use and comfort too.

"To-morrow, the sixth of Ninth month, will be his early removal, and was blessed with a sight elf, which this day a week since, I could not very "Seventh month.—I have but little time to say and evidence of a safe entering into rest and peace, rell, if at all do. . . . Think I can say, I feel a thy truly welcome, and for many reasons accept "Many conflicts have been mine since that day. "Many conflicts have been mine since that day.

Two Swallows, in looking about for a place "I had a pleasant visit from -, and his two to build their nests, discovered a cosy little nook ny faith increases, as nature fails. Any one might very well-behaved children. Parents cannot be- in the rear part of the cabin of the steamer Young ay, there was a natural cause for this; well, be it gin too carly, nor be too vigilant to meet and keep America, which was lying moored to the old hulk at the corner of K street, and forthwith commenced eside these outward good things, to have those "25th.—I can truly say, I feared the great ob their labors; the female flying to and fro, carrying bout me studying my comfort all along; I cannot ject would not be attained, in going to meeting to straws and sticks and feathers, and the male bird, rant more, except a glimpse, now and then, of my day; so weak, I felt scarcely able to raise a peti-standing like a master workman, oversceing the job, ood Guide with the 'crook of his love' to steer tion for help; yet heavenly regard was near; and lending his aid in placing and completing their y, that that which remains of labour, any way, ability was afforded, and we were favoured with a tiny homestead. The first day saw the foundation or the best of causes, may be going on, and I lively meeting, very quiet indeed. or or of their home well laid, and the happy hirds rested and in my allotment, though in a little, simple miles to meeting. It will require faith and patience from their labours that night, and finished it, persometimes to accomplish it, and perseverance too; haps, in their dreams. The next morning, bright but He who is strength in weakness, and helps us and early, they were again at work as buy as eople; 'the golden wedge,' and 'Babylonish gar-when we cannot help ourselves, I do hope, will be indirectly the polynomial of the four of seven came, the int, with other wrong things, for which there near.'' "29th .- We must all try to do our part to have steamer, nest and all, en route for Marysville. The comen: but the enemy has entered, and will lay the dear children rightly instructed; then we may frightened birds chirped, chattered, and flew back aste much good; but, I have a sure hope, I with more confidence hope for help, even for grace, and forth, but the captain never heeded their cry, hink, that the ruins will be viewed, and strength It is a great blessing, 'early grace;' it puts wrong On went the boat, and away went their new made home. It was a clear case of squatterism, but they were sensible birds, and knew they would be " plucked" if they went to law, so they quietly ully believe, will be furnished for those who are taking it as a meeting. There is truly a living submitted to their hard fate, and after following reparing for the work. The account of dear S. Emlen's exercise was though a solid few of this class; but young Friends returned to the old hulk. That was a sad day for poving; surely not to be lost, but after many days and even children, solid and settled. It is more the little couple, and what thoughts crowded on be generally close and searching; her secret this meeting, I think, since ---- 's death, now long steamer come back to the landing, and the nest they had partly built still undisturbed. With merry chirpings of delight they began again their task, only to be again anguished on the morrow by ber. If I knew how to write a suitable letter who ministered in Truth's authority. He was the departure of the steamer, and gladdened on the her, I would, but, I think, I see she has better favoured with counsel and encouragement, suiting succeeding day by its return. Thus it has contiomfort, and I am measurably satisfied, nay, different states, with an affectionate invitation to really comforted, in being able to feel where she the young people to come, taste, and see for them nest is not yet completed. They are kept in a , and see her safe, that to write would be a poor selves, that the Lord is good. His first concern ibstitute for this. This secret unity and sym- was earthly-mindedness, the effect of it justly loss; but they do not despair, nor have they sought athy how precious, whether in suffering or re- shown; then the reverse, the effect of that also another and more secure place for their domicil. set forth. On arising a second time, addressed a But, strange to say, they have actually learned to "13th.—Do send me some good report of mat-rightly concerned number; was very encouraging recognize the steamer, and watch for her coming, rs and things, either in doors or out, of meetings to these; alluded to the 'Lo heres!' and 'Lo and meet her at the bridge above the city, to wel-Friends; should like to hear something from theres! hut this class moved not; they had built come her back to her old moorings. How it will H., as well as any one, and her clever sisters on Christ the Rock, and could not be moved; were be when the nest is finished and the eggs are laid, ad good old-fashioned mother. I had a very enabled to see the snares and the gins, by which od meeting, at their meeting, when last in the our adversary draws away the unwary."

1. I thought, though dear T. Scattergood, R.

1. "Ninth mo. 5th.—I received thy truly feeling the voyage to Marysville, and the father accompany ones and other valiants were removed long since epistle, but have not yet felt as if there was much her, travelling backward and forward as dead heads on the church, yet others were diere; and I said to send thee in return, except the above acknow—or whether theirs will be "broken up" by the up heart, the Lord continues to be good to his ledgment; so low has my spring become, that "irrepressible" divorce and desertion, as hundreds tople. I was strengthened and encouraged un-drought is all around; and I seem moving like a of other families have been in California, we shall and of "deep searching of heart," yet I trust that on their strength in the Society,) says, "I had to lay "I would say to every parent, especially to all these things will yet be overruled by the Most things open, as led to it by the git—that the great every mother; tell your children pleasant stories High for good; many of those worthies gone before, Head of the church would render unavailing every If in the country, be not too careful lest they ge have left on record many things for our instruction, offort to new model us as a Society," and that He a little dirt upon their hands and clothes; earth i that we should not faint, nor grow weary, although would "renew us in the original character of our very much akin to us all, and in children's out o we may be as "pressed beyond measure." Our Society;" her declaration continuing nearly four door play, soils them not inwardly. There is in I valued Friend John Griffith, after alluding to the hours. Also to a Friend in Ireland, who had been low state of things in his day, and the exceeding one of the chief of a body of separatists, and with many discouragements of that time, records, (to whom she had once been "sweetly united" in the substance, and heget a kindness for our poor re strengthen our faith,) "I am fully persuaded cause of Christ, she says, "There is in this Yearly lations, the brutes. our Society will not cease to be a people, nor the Meeting, much remaining to be done away, before "Let children have free open air sport, and fea glory ever depart therefrom wholly, as it did from we are prepared to assume the lustre which at not though they make acquaintance with the pige the dewish, and in a great degree the lapsed christracted the minds of many in our early times. I the donkey, and the chickens; they may forr tian church," and that there would always continue believe the Divine hand is upon us in this day, for to be raised up within our borders, Calebs and the great end of refining the gold that has become familiarity with all that love to court them-dum Joshuas, Priscillas and Aquilas, to maintain and dim, and the most fine gold that is changed; may animals love children, and children love them. cient ground, and to expound to the uninitiated, we be willing to bear our allotted portion of exer-"the way of the Lord more perfectly;" those "to cise and suffering, keeping our habitations in world's language obliterates in the elders. It is c "the way of the Lord more perfectly;" those "to case and suffering, keeping our habitations in words singuage onliterates in the edges." It is contend for the faith once delivered to the saints, the truth," &c. 1839. So that whateve turnings more importance than that you should make their and to maintain the same with the doctrine and and overturnings may be permitted by the Lord's wise; that is, book-wise.

To the Elect Seed of God wherever Scattered.

It is not principles resulting therefrom, so eminently revived by the lord's wise; that is, book-wise.

It is not represented by the Lord's wise; that is, book-wise.

Substitute that is, book-wise.

Substitute that is, book-wise and the lates, perfectly the lord's wise; that is, book-wise.

Substitute that is, book-wise. kingdoms, before mankind in general will submit kind that might prevent the Most High from using never shut their doors upon you, and point wher to the yoke of Christ, and learn of Him who is us as his chosen vessels of mercy, love, and grace, they would have you go." meek and lowly in heart. To be of the kingdom to his degenerate, but not cast-off people: for it of Christ we must be meek and lowly, men of sor-rows and acquainted with grief, first for ourselves, fined, that have passed through the furnace, and and then for others, and not as those whose hopes become as gold, pure gold, seven times purified, are only for the things of this world. Oh! my having passed through the furnace prepared for Friends, it is the attraction of the cross, that is so us, that we are meet for the Master's use. I some-other. Be not like those, of whom the prophe much wanting. If I be lifted up, (said the Savi-times fear that many are held by the enemy, and complains, "Report say they, and we will report our,) I will draw all men unto me." It is the prevented from usefulness in their day and gene-but when you hear a thing tending to the defams ame willingness to be drawn, that Elisha mani-ration, by looking too much at the dark or shady tion of any, inquire of the reporter, whether I fested, when the prophet Elijah cast his mantle side of things, ready to despair, magnifying the has acquainted the person affected thereby will upon him, and he gave up all and ministered unto power of the enemy. Are our enemies more nume-him, that is lacking. It is not by ansterity, severity rous than in the day of early Friends? Is not the or any coercive measures, it is by the drawings and same strength vouchsafed to us? Was the Captain nocent be injured thereby. Endeavour to put sweet heavenly influences of a dear Saviour's love, of our salvation ever foiled in battle? Why was speedy stop to all such wicked practices and work is sweeter than "the sweet influences of Pleiades," that which cannot be gainsaid, nor resisted. The he that telleth lies, shall not tarry in my sight." (and stronger than) "the bands of Orion." It was dear Saviour promised his disciples, to give them this holy anointing that was so much experienced, a power and wisdom which none of their adversa-One, that was so eminently the crown of all their simplicity of Christ. assemblies, as well as a ministry of light, life and Barre, East Shelby, Ninth mo. 29th, 1860. power, which dispelled the clouds and darkness from the minds of their hearers; and as darkness its ancient faith and principles. Sarah (Lynes) child three years old -nay, five or six years old Butterflies, by W. S. Coleman.

To the Elect Seed of God wherever Scattered. Yearly Meeting, 1838, (immediately after the semake not bodily strength. Let there be nursery We live in a day and time of close proving, ession of the Beaconites who had counted greatly tales and nursery rhymes." Oh! the meltings, the breakings, the drawings of it the apostle said, "If the Lord be for us, of darkness, justly condemnable, not only in the a Saviour's love; may we then, my dear brethren who can be against us." Is not the Lord's power authors, but the encouragers thereof. "He th and sisters, seek for this holy influence, this which infinite? Shall any be too wise for the Truth? worketh deceit, shall not dwell within my house bus noly anomaly many and the state of caterpillars, ever on the alert, wingit after his ascension on high, when so many "be- last it not been evidenced by thousands in different about in the shape of a small black fly, in sear (lexed," "were pricked to the heart," and said, ages, and is it not the same now as ever? There of an exposed and defenceless caterpillar. Havin "men and brethren, what shall we do?" It was is also a danger at this time, and I fear many are selected her victim, she pierces his body with a sha this sacred effusion, that caused all of them, "to beguiled by a notion, that the mere belief of certain cutting instrument she is armed with, and in the be of one heart and of one soul," so much so, that principles, doctrines and testimonies, is vital chris-"no man counted aught that he possessed his own," tianity; not but that these may be correct; yet it is little at this treatment, but seems to attach litt but they "thad all things common." Oh, happy days! absolutely necessary that the Spirit of Christ rule importance to it. Meanwhile, his enemy repea no grovelling, earthly, nor yet contentious hearts, within us, that all selfishness and self-will be brought her thrusts till some thirty or forty eggs, germs. They were enabled to bear each other up, and to down, and the meek, lowly, gentle spirit, even as the destroyers, are safely lodged in his body, at give themselves one for another. And how was this that of a little child be put on, which will enable us his doom is certain beyond hope. The eggs quick again made manifest in the early days of our pre- "to bear all things, believe all things, hope all hatch into grubs, which begin to gnaw away at the same that the content of the same that the same t decessors. It was truly this unction from the Holy things," that so we may testify for the Truth in the unhappy creature's flesh, thus reducing him grad S. C.

Grubb, writing to a Friend, of her visit to London -be taught? Strong meats for weak digestions

"There is a language among them which th

The Black Fly .- A deadly enemy to the who ally, but by a profound instinct keeping clear the vital organs, as if knowing full well that t creature must keep on feeding and digesting too, from the minds of their hearers; and as darkness Smart Children. — A writer in Blackwood's their own supply would speedily fail; as usure flees before the sun, and the cold and chill of win- Magazine thus discourses on the habit of trying while draining a client, keep up his credit with t ter is dispersed thereby, even so now, may each of to stick "book larnin" in the heads of children world as long as they can. Weaker grows the us wait for, and be faithful to, the light of the Son | while they are yet "babies." terpillar, as the gnawing worms within grow strough God in our own hearts; there is no other way. "How have I heard you, Eusebius, pity the poor er and nearer maturity. Sometimes he dies a cate of God in our own hearts; there is no other way.

"How have I heard you, Eusebius, pity the poor er and nearer maturity. Sometimes he dies a cate Satan and all those whom he has darkened, flee children! I remember you looking at a group of pillar; sometimes he has strength left to take t before the light of Christ. We have many and them and reflecting: 'For of such is the kingdom chrysalis shape, but out of this he never comes repeated testimonies and declarations, by many of of heaven; and turning away thoughtfully and butterfly; the consuming grubs now fluish vitour most favoured ministers, that the Lord would saying, 'Of such is the kingdom of trade.'"

"A child of three years of age! What should a out soon, black flies like the parent.—British and all, turn to pupe in his cupty skin, and confrustrate every attempt to draw the Society from "A child of three years of age! What should a

THE TIDES.

Selected.

he moon is at her full, and, riding high, Floods the calm fields with light. he airs that hover in the summer sky Are all asleep to-night.

here comes no voice from the great woodlands round That murmured all the day; eneath the shadow of their boughs, the ground

Is not more still than they. ut ever heaves and moans the restless Deep;

His rising tides I hear, far I see the glimmering billows leap; I see them breaking near.

ach wave springs upward, climbing toward the fair Pure light that sits on high-prings eagerly, and faintly sinks to where The mother waters lie.

pward again it swells; the moonbeams show, Again, its glimmering crest; gain it feels the fatal weight below. And sinks, but not to rest.

gain and yet again; until the Deep Recalls its brood of waves; and, with a sullen moan, abashed, they creep Back to his inner caves.

Brief respite! they shall rush from that recess With noise and tumult soon, and fling themselves, with unavailing stress, Up toward the placid moon.

restless Sea! that in thy prison here Dost struggle and complain; hrough the slow centuries yearning to be near To that fair orb in vain.

The glorious source of light and heat must warm Thy bosom with his glow, and on those mounting waves a nobler form

And freer life bestow. ben only may they leave the waste of brine In which they welter here, nd rise above the hills of earth, and shine W. C. Bryant. In a serener sphere.

Selected. O, ye children of affliction! know Yours is no despicable lot. E'en He Who died that ye may live, that ye may reign, Embraced affliction, and conversed with grief; A servant's form assumed, though Lord of all; And led to glory, through a suffering path. If ye wish to share His kingdom's bliss, See that a portion of His patient mind Be yours. Let no repinings pass your lips, Or even enter your well-guarded thoughts; But take the cup His sovereign wisdom gives, And say, or strive to say, "Thy will be done."

tarch, and other ancient authors, speak of nations distant Azores.

From Chambers' Journal. A Bottle Department.

(Concluded from page 43.)

Some of these bottles make very long voyages, spot no one can tell.

savans, and others, that the voyages of the bottles whence the ship had sailed five months before. are often too capricious to render much scientific service; and they appeal to the bottle-chart for system. All we have to guard against is, hasty many curious instances of this. Some authorities inferences from the details of any particular voyassert that there is a current to the east from La- age. Captain Beecher remarks, in connection with brador and Newfoundland towards the British Is- one of his charts: "The uniformity in the direc-The Idea of Fire among the Ancients,-Ac-lands; yet Sir John Ross asserts, that in 1818, he tion of the courses between the points of departure ording to Pliny, fire was for a long time unknown threw into the sea twenty-five copper cylinders, and arrival, is very remarkable in most parts of to some of the ancient Egyptians, and when Euxo- when his arctic ship was about entering Davis' the chart. In the equatorial regions, and in the dus, the celebrated astronomer, showed it to them, Strait; and not one of these floating cylinders was more northern latitudes, when the effects of the they were absolutely in raptures. The Persians, Phoenicians, Greeks, and several other nations, peared to him somewhat incompatible with received formity of direction is remarkable; as also the acknowledged that their ancestors were once without oncloss. In 1819, two bottles were thrown out on out the use of fire; and the Chinese profess the one day from the Newcostle; one was picked up on the eastern limits of that stream. So that in same of their progenitors. Pompanius, Mela, Plu- on the coast of Ireland, and the other at the far- many parts of the ocean before us, a good guess kind are also attested by several modern nations, are not capricious at all; but depend on physical been successful." The admiralty share this opi-The inhabitants of the Marian Islands, which were causes which, though not well understood at predictor in 1551, had no idea of fire. Never sent, may by and by, be rendered intelligible by Queen's ships to launch a bottle occasionally. was astonishment greater than theirs, when they these very voyages themselves. One or more of of the thousands—uay, millions—of heer-bottles, saw it on the descent of Magellan on one of their Ross' cylinders may, for anght we know, be at this pale-ale bottles, wine bottles, brandy bottles, pickle which swept it round to Ireland; for it is known that some of the bottles take remarkably circuitous routes, according as they are caught in particular currents. Thus, a bottle was thrown into the sea and, considering the circumstances, often in a short from the Prima Donna ship in 1850, off Cape space of time, though in other cases the period has Coast in Africa; it was picked up on the coast of extended over several years. As we have already Cornwall; and from the course of the various curremarked, however, both time and space are left rents, it is believed that this bottle had been first very vaguely determined, for there is a great doubt carried south by the Guinea current, then west by whether the bottle will be picked up just when it the equatorial current, then north-west into the Gulf has concluded its voyage; while the route followed of Mexico, and then by the Gulf Stream to Cornis in almost every instance, much longer than a wall. Many singular examples are on record, tendstraight line between the two points. So far as ing to show that, on an average, there is an eastconcerns the measured distance in a straight line, ward movement of the surface-drift in the northern we find instances of 690 miles, 2020 miles, 2260 part of the Atlantic, and a westward in the tropimiles, 3600 miles, and 3900 miles. The bottle cal part. The Corsair threw out two bottles in found on the Australian coast in 1859, adverted 1838; one was picked up 160 miles off, the other to in our opening paragraph, must have made a 250 miles, but both had followed nearly the same voyage of very many thousand miles, for the edi- general direction. The Blonde, already mentioned, tor of the Nautical Magazine, judging from the threw out two bottles in 1826, within five days of known directions of currents, inferred that it had each other; one was espied fourteen years afterbeen carried from the Cape de Verd Islands east- wards, and the other nearly sixteen years, but both ward or south-east by the Guinea current, then nearly on the same part of the French coast. The westward by the equatorial current, then along the Alexander threw out two bottles on the same day American coast by the Brazilian current, then in 1818; both were found fourteen months afteracross the South Atlantic, eastward towards the wards on our western coasts. When Captains Col-Cape of Good Hope, and then across a wide stretch linson and M'Clure started for Behring's Strait in of ocean to Australia. In 1858, a bottle travelled 1850, in search of Sir John Franklin, they both from Manilla to the Moluccas, about 1000 miles, threw bottles into the sea while sailing down the in six months, showing that there are pretty active Atlantic: the bottle from the Investigator (M'Clure) influences at work in those seas, even without al- was launched on the 22d of February, about 600 lowing for any unknown sojourn of the bottle on miles north of the equator; that from the Enterthe shore. This sojourn is indeed sometimes a long prise (Collinson) was launched nearly at the equaone. A bottle from the Thunder, in 1847, was tor, on the 3d of March. After voyages of 186 nearly three years before it was picked up; one and 367 days, respectively, these bottles were from the Lark, in 1838, four years; one from the picked up almost exactly at the same spot on the Manning, in 1810, five years; one from the Lady Honduras coast. The Wellington threw out two Louisa, in 1830, nine years; one from the Sym- bottles in 1836, on two consecutive days: one was metry, in 1825, ten years; one from the Carshal- found nine months afterwards, the other, not till ton Park, in 1827, eleven years. The most length- after four years; but this was due to the fact that ened delay ever recorded, was that of a bottle from the second bottle happened to reach the same coast the Blonde, which, thrown into the sea on the 23d at a spot very little frequented. The direction of of September, 1826, on a voyage from Liverpool the current, or at least of the surface-drift, was to New York, was picked up on the French coast very singularly shown by the voyage of a bottle in on the 15th of June, 1842-nearly sixteen years 1842. A ship left Thurso with Highland emigrants afterwards. How long it had remained in that for Canada; when 1500 miles out, a bottle was launched; and this bottle found its way to a part It has been contended by some persons, seamen, of the coast within two miles of the very port

Few persons now doubt the usefulness of this might be made at the direction which a bottle who, at the time they wrote, knew not the use of But it is very fairly contended, on the other would take when committed to the sea. So far as fire, or had but just learned it. Facts of the same hand, that these so-called "capricious" voyages the surface-drift is concerned, the experiment has islands. At first they believed it was some kind moment snugly housed in some creek or cove bottles which are taken out annually by ships leaver of animal that fixed to and fed upon wood. The among the scantily inhabited Hebrides. Of the ing our shores, any one is suitable for this purpose, inhabitants of the Philippine and Canary Islands two bottles, one of which travelled to Ircland, and if properly secured; but Cartaiu Fishbourne, of the were formerly equally ignorant. Africa presents, the other to the Azores, both may have travelled hydrographer's department, has suggested a better even in our own day, some nations in this deplotogether to the last-named place, where one ran arrangement for those who really wish to regard ashore, while the other got into another current this matter as one of scientific interest. He sugintroduction of oxide of arsenic into the inquis glass customed to entertain with songs and the initiation of oxide of arsenic into order that they may be of theatrical performances. When upon on of Not long after their return to England, in 181 more visible while floating. He also advises that, these errands, she was met by the late Sarah Stewhen a bottle is picked up at sea (not on the shore), phenson, a minister in the Society, who late the page in entered into the married state, wi it should be opened, the paper read, and another hand upon her arm, and with great solemnity adpaper inserted with it, stating the particulars of dressed her in these words,—"Be thou faithful the death of her second husband, our dear frien the finding; after which the bottle is to be again unto death, and I will give thee a crown of the sealed, and thrown into the sea at once. If this was the sealed, and thrown into the sea at once. If this was the sealed and the sealed, and thrown into the sea at once. If this was the sealed and the sealed and readers eight or nine years ago. It is known that Shortly afterwards she accepted an invitation to of the prevalence of that love which is a distin rerunana and isagens. On the 27th of August, her similiness, and of the goodness and forcer with Scripture, and with devi 1851, (so said the Times, on the authority of an ance of the Lord towards her. After a free fitoual poetry, which she had great enjoyment in American newspaper), Captain d'Auberville, in severe conflict, she was enabled, with the eye of the Lamb of Boston, picked up a floating faith, to "behold the Lamb of God, that taketh substance on the African coast, opposite Gibraltar, away the sin of the world," and was strengthened in the unwearied enemy of souls; but when, through the was so covered with barnacles and sea-shells to enter into solemn covenant with the Lord. that its nature could not at first be determined; Although thus awakened to the best interests of her spirit, her contribed heart breathed forth de that its nature could not at first be determined; Although thus awakened to the best interests of her spirit, her contrited heart breathed forth de but on closer scrutiny, it proved to be a small codar her soul, our friend had still much to content with; sires for restoration, through her Saviour, to the leg. When opened, the keg displayed within it a Sbe gave up many vain and frivolous pursuits, yet processed in the content of the love of gay attire was still indulged in; but lice, especially in an evening, to wait in retire continuing to be followed by "the reproofs of inment covered with very old writing, which none on struction," both in her own heart, and under the At some of these essaons, her spirit was so closed board could read. A merchant at Gibraltar, how- "ministry of the word," she was at length enabled engaged with her Lord, that she was often ne ever, deeiphered it, and found that it purported to to make a final surrender; and it became her wave when a stranger entered her little parlour be written by Christopher Columbus in 1493; that carnest and adding desire "not to be conformed and one who was sometimes privileged to be wit the ship was in a dreadful storm between Spain to this world, but to be transformed by the renow-her, asys that the sense of the overshadowing of and the Azores; and that Christopher Columbus in 15 mg of her mind. She continued to attend our the love of God. to he felt on these accessions we interesting, that one yearns to believe it true. A House Monthly Meeting.

In 1779, she was married to John Witchell, and panted.

A Testimony of York Quarterly Meeting, concerning Mary Wright, deceased. Our late beloved friend, Mary Wright, was the daughter of James and Elizabeth Bishop, of Edin-

London, where she obtained a situation as a millipreviously existed. She performed, with the unity and said, "I must wait patiently; I am ready, nor. During the few succeeding years, her vola- of her friends, more than one extensive visit of public disposition led her to take delight in dress, in Gospel love in North America, and was diligent in dress, and in the company of young attending her Yearly Meeting, not shrinking from persons as thoughtless as herself; yet she was often the long and difficult journey, on horseback, from fravoured with the tendering visitations of her hea- look to Baltimore, of which Yearly Meeting to was gently released from its long probation,—we wantly Father's love, through the convictions of the Western States then formed a part. Holy Spirit.

some members of our Society residing in a neigh- all, maintained great cheerfulness of spirits, and She died on the 14th of Third month, 1859 bouring house, and frequently in her leisure, visited was sweetly prepared to sympathize with, and to and was interred in Friends' burial-ground a introduction of oxide of arsenic into the liquid glass customed to entertain with songs and the imitation herself had been comforted of God.

were done three or four times in succession, three to understand the meaning of this singular saluta meeting-house. She esteemed it a great priviles or four points in the track of the bottle would be tion. She had paid so little attention to her Bible to be thus enabled to attend meetings with much made known, and a rough approximation to its as not to know that the words were a text of regularity, and to enjoy frequent opportunities curve of movement might be made. So far as we Scripture, and she was ready to conclude that the seeing her friends, whose best welfare lay ver can detect, by examining the chart and records, person who had so accested her, was not in her near the heart. During her protracted old ago this ingenious suggestion has not yet been acted on right mind. Nevertheless, an impression remained in 1493, Columbus, when near the Azores, encoun-accompany her friends to one of our Meetings for guishing mark of true discipleship. The chic thered a dreadful storm; and it is stated in an old Worship. On this occasion the word presents of the discount of the word presents of the discount of the word presents of the discount of the word presents of the ministry was losely applicable to her condition, setting the word of the word presents of the ministry was closely applicable to her condition, setting the word of the word presents of the word parchment, enclosed it is a keg or small wooden with tender exhortations to embrace the mercy feer Lord, and carsestly did she entreat her younge cask, and cast it into the sea—hoping that the docu- offered in Christ Jesus, and faithfully to follow him. Friends to devote themselves to his service. He ment might reach the hands of his joint sovereigns, Her soul was greatly humbled under a feign femomy, which was retentive to the last, was refricted and Isabella. On the 27th of August, her sinfulness, and of the goodness and forbear and the Azores; and that Christopher Columbus ing of her mind. She continued to attend our the love of God, to be felt on these occasions, wa had determined to throw the decomposition of the determined to the turies and a half unseen on the African coast; but a few year's later they settled in Edinburgh. Durtill, we ask, where is the keg, and where is the jug her residence in Scotland, she was brought into loved friend became blind; this affliction she bor parchment? There are persons in Europe who deep exercise of mind, under the belief that it was with much patience, although she greatly felt the

the United States. The early portion of their six- within about two weeks of her death. teen years' residence in America was spent at Her last illness was short. During its cours. Frankford, near Philadelphia; and it is believed she continued to manifest her interest in the eter burgh, and was born there on the 31st of the that there Mary Witchell was recorded as a min- nal welfare of those around her, and on the day instructions made a deep impression on her mind, the places where they sojourned, she was instru- the close, she unexpectedly awoke from a slumber When about fourteen, she left home to reside in mental in establishing meetings, where none had which it was supposed it would have been her last London, where she obtained a situation as a milli- previously existed. She performed, with the unity and said, "I must wait patiently; I am ready."

Whilst in London, she became acquainted with jected to much temporal vicissitude, but through blood.

gests that the bottles should be made white by the the young people of the family, whom she was accomfort others, with that comfort wherewith sl

One of the most remarkable examples on record, that she was unable to shake off, and she had no of the industrious occupation of her time, of the not of the voyage, but of the finding, of a floating longer the disposition to amuse her young compamessenger, occupied the attention of newspaper nions as had been her wont. of the fulness of the blessing after which her sou would almost give its weight in gold for such a precious testimony of the great navigator.

Selected for "The Friend."

Selected for "The Friend."

Selected for "The Friend."

Selected for "The Friend."

Selected for "The Friend." In 1802, John and Mary Witchell removed to our religious meetings and to minister in them, til Twelfth month, 1755. Her parents were Presby-terians; and though her father died when she was. In common with other new settlers, our friend only nine years old, his devotional spirit and pins had frequent change of residence, and in some of estern States then formed a part.

While residing in America, our friend was sub-loved them, and redeemed them to God by his ards of fifty years.

rigin of the diamond has been a subject of much and filled the room with his sobs." urious speculation, inasmuch as the circumstances ond is burned, a minute yellowish ash is left, hich generally possesses a yellowish structure. ir David Brewster, who has given much attention the subject, is inclined to the opinion that the iamond is a drop of fossilized gum, analogous in ome respects to amber. The diamond is remark-oly indestructible, and is not acted upon by any lvent; neither is it affected by heat alone-since are form of carbon, or, in other words, to manu- the cross to cease. cture diamonds, but all without positive success. French chemist succeeded, after long-continued oltaic action, in depositing at one of the terminal oles of a galvanic battery a quantity of carbon in e form of minute microscopic grains. These grains ppeared to be octohedral crystals, and were caable of cutting and polishing diamonds and rubies; ey were actually themselves diamonds.

hey are beneficial in all chronic diseases con- ter broken in presence of a commission ad hoc," ected with breeding, and have a marked influence a chronic cough and broken wind. They are rviceable in diseases of the skin, and in combinaon with oats, restore a worn horse much sooner an oats alone."

A Touching Incident.-Incidents are not rare

cocess of its formation. The structure of the dia- His mother and father may both be in the grave- ence of slave-trading from the port of New York:
conditable, however, furnishes us with some posi- yard yonder. Dear child! he has nothing but "In the first place, I ask your attention to proofs ve information on the subject, and indicates that his own little hands by which to work his way in of the fact that the slave trade is being actually is a product, either directly or indirectly, of the the world. Speak kindly to him. Perhaps some prosecuted from the port of New York, in this section. Thus, diamonds have been day an orphan may walk the earth whose name your diocesan limits and jurisdiction. and inclosing vegetable matter, and, when the dia- and yours shall spell alike .- Christian Secretary.

1700. Keep all your meetings, as well those for those set apart entirely for the worship of God, in of ignorant, harbarous and heathenish Africans, when the problem is it affected by heat alone—since of the map be heated, when removed from the access of power stand fast in righteous judgment over all the interior, and distributed among the cotton r, to a white heat, without injury. In the open unruly and disorderly spirits that would break in plantations. A fleet of vessels, fitted out in the ports of New Orleans and New York, is engaged converted into coal, or carbonic acid gas. Many us, as well as over all those that seek to lay waste in the prohibited traffic, and barraccoors and depots atempts have been made to fuse or crystalize some the testimony of Truth, and cause the offence of have been established in the several large towns

Toads Living when Shut in Plaster for Years. neighbouring planters.
"M. Seguin," says the Medical Times and "A correspondent of The New York Times, Gazette, "wishing to asertain what amount of truth writing from on board the United States ship Portsthere is in the marvellous tales told of batrachians mouth, on the coast of Africa, under date of Debeing found living within the substance of stones, cember 20, 1859, says: has undertaken some experiments upon the matter. ence it has been interred, though incorrectly, that He enclosed some toads very firmly in plaster and the coast of Africa, has not been altogether thrown Medical Qualities of the Carrot. - Stewart, in broken some of these blocks, and has found a cer- are generally from New York, cleared from the s excellent work on Stable Economy, says: tain number of the toads alive. One of the animals Custom House, bringing all the appliances of the Not only do carrots give strength and endurance had remained thus deprived of air during ten trade with them, and manacuvring about on the sound horses, but also give recovery and health years, another twelve, and a third fifteen years, coast under various pretences and disguises of twelve, and as M. Seguin is legal traffic.'

aps none so good. When first given, they are very old, and fears that these two blocks may be rictly diuretic and laxative, but as the horses lost to the purposes of science, he offers them to capture of the brig Tavernier, of New York, by secome accustomed to them, these effects cease to the Academy of Sciences, in order that it may Her Majesty's ship Viper. It affords a glimpse of produced. They also improve the state of the hereafter test the truth of the phenomenon. M. the character of the traffic, as prosecuted from this in. They form a good substitute for grass, and Flourens announces on the part of the Academy its diocese. He says: a excellent alterative for horses out of condition. willingness to accept them, intending, after a verifio sick and idle horses they render corn unnecessary, cation of the dates of sequestration, to have the plas-

THE FRIEND.

TENTH MONTH 20, 1860.

In the convention of the Protestant Episcopal nong the poor and down-trodden in society, of Society of New York, held in the city of New e true marks of manhood. Many a poor, bare- York, in the latter part of last month, John Jay, oted and ragged boy, carries within his bosom a grandson of the distinguished John Jay, of the thus described by the same writer: c true elements of affection and kindness; and Revolution, brought forward a series of resolutions, ere these boys allowed a fair opportunity with to the effect, that their bishop be requested to adtiously yet boldly in, anchor, and in two or three e more wealthy and favored class of children, dress a pastoral letter to the members of his diocese, hours are filled with negroes, who are carried off ley would rise to eminence and renown. The "in reference to the African slave trade, as now to them in canoes. The refractory ones are claplimits and jurisdiction of this dioces; "warning stupefied condition they are carried on board, the people against being engaged in "this wicked stowed in a sitting position, with the knees drawn traffic;" that he "elergy" be recommended to up so closely that they can hardly breathe, much ulidren in charge of the Children's Aid Society, presch "against the wickedness of the slave trade less move. New York, were arranging for removal to the as now prosecuted in this diocese;" and that the 'Now, their sufferings become dreadful, horriest, a boy was observed folding with great care "laity" be recommended to exert their influence ble—indeed language is incapable of describing or sold cap, having previously taken out of its lin- to "stay the further prosecution of the traffic within imagination of sketching even the faint outline of g a small piece of faded calico. "John," called the limits of this diocese."

eeds, on the 20th of the same; aged a hundred by; it's a part of her dress which I cut off when explanation or defence of them, they were "laid ad three years; an acknowledged minister up- she lay dying in the garret in ——street." The upon the table" by an unanimous vote. Subsequestion and the answer were too much for the lit- quently, J. Jay brought the subject again before tle fellow, and putting the strip under his shirt, the convention, and availing himself of a previous Origin and Properties of the Diamond.—The next to his breast, he buried his face in his hands, decision of the body, that a member might speak prior to offering a resolution, he delivered an ad-Man! woman! whoever you be, speak tenderly to mirable address to his fellow delegates, from which ader which it is found in nature afford no clue to the that boy across the way. He may be an orphan, we take the following extracts relative to the exist-

"The St. Louis Intelligencer, published in a slave State, says:

"'The re-opening of the slave trade is an acgood order, charity, and christian discipline, as complished fact. At this very time, cargoes his love and in the name, power, and peaceable from Congo and Ashantee, are being landed in the Spirit of his dear Son Jesus Christ, which is the inlets and creek-mouths of the gulf coast of Floalone true authority of all our meetings; for with rida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas, out Him we can do nothing. And in his blessed (I shall refer again to Texas presently,) driven into near the Gulf, where the freshly imported negroes are confined until they can be disposed of to the

"' The few months' experience we have had on left them for years in the middle of these blocks away. It has thoroughly convinced us that the of factitious stone. At various intervals he has whole coast is, we may say, lined with slavers, who

"The writer proceeds to give an account of the

"'The brig Tavernier had nearly 600 slaves on board of her when captured. Most of them were mere children from eight to sixteen years old, with some women--all naked. When visited by the officers of the ship, although in better condition than when captured, the scene was frightful-some were dying, many sick, all miserable and suffering from the effects of cold, damp night-air, producing bronchitis and cough. The officers were so horrified that they desire never again to look upon such

The modus operandi of shipping the negroes is "' On the night determined on, they sail caua dimly floating fancy of what their condition is. readed calico?" "Please sir it is not greased, it to have produced great excitement in the conven- all that I have to remember my dead mother tion, and without allowing their author to speak in ing, in order to make room—the hold becomes a perfect charnel-house of death and misery. . . . Ophthalmia breaks out-every new case is thrown overboard, under the supposition that the disease is contagious, and those who are dying, meet the same fate. This is no fancy sketch; only the other day a remarkable instance of it came under our own observation." "The New York Evening Post published a list which I hold in my hand, prepared by one of its correspondents, "South Street," under date of July 28, 1860, of eighty-five slavers, under the American flag, from February, 1859, to July, 1860, derived from New York and English journals, a large portion of which sailed from New York. And another city journal, in commenting upon it, said : " The conclusion is inevitable that this trade is at the present moment more active and more productive of profit to those engaged in it than in any former period, and that its management is concentrated in our own city.2

"The New York daily World, of July 31, 1860, remarks: 'The fact that nearly a hundred slavers have been fitted out from this port within the last eighteen months, ought to arrest public attention.

"In the Senate of the United States, Mr. Seward, in a debate on the African slave trade, declared that the trade was 'an American trade, carried on from ports of the United States, acquiring slaves in Africa, and selling them either in the United States or Cuba.' He said further, 'the root of the evil is in great commercial cities, and, I frankly admit, in the city of New York.' And he added, 'I say, also, that the objection I found to that hill (a bill he had introduced for the more effectual suppression of the traffic,) came not so much from the slave States as from the commercial interest of New York'

"Mr. President, I will not pursue this point; I do not suppose there is a sane man in this house, who can doubt, upon the evidence I have adduced, bers of Congress. that New York is, as the London Times declares, 'the greatest slave-trading mart in the world;' and they have the distinct assurance of our distinguished Senator, that the chief opposition to legislation for its suppression came not from the South, but from the commercial interests of this citythis seat of the Episcopate of New York.

"I repeat his remark, for it disposes at once of the objection that by acting against the slave trade we would be meddling with the institutions of other dioceses, and shows that the African slave trade has become a diocesan institution peculiarly

"I might multiply similar proofs. I might refer you to the almost daily rumors in our papers of the slavers that leave our ports-of the charges of complicity made against the marshal and his aids-of the straw bail accepted by federal commissioners-of constant acquittances of slave traders pronounced by judicial officers. I think it unnecessary, and pass to the question,

"What is the duty of the church touching the New York slave trade?"

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

EUROPE .- News from Liverpool to Tenth mo. 6th. The chief items of interest relate to Italian affairs. is stated, via Genoa, that Garibaldi announces a victory along the whole lines, and that the royal troops were being pursued. A Naples despatch of the 2d states, that the Papal troops were repulsed from Gasertie, and surrounded. The Garibaldians made 2000 prisoners. It is reported that Garibaldi has invited Victor Emma-by the King and government of Piedmont, and calling and finally sent by the American Consul to Key We on Europeans for assistance. He deprecates the policy in the U. S. steamer Orsasder.

Onnel in Texas.—Oapt. Eckels, of the Topographic once quit Rome. Ancona capitulated on the 29th; was ten miles distant. Lamoriciere was a prisoner of war with all his troops. Some of these reported victories, it is said, lack con-

There was great dissatisfaction in Naples and Sicily with some of Garibaldi's appointments, and much confusion prevailed. The cholera in Malaga, Spain, caused 637 deaths, from Eighth mo. 1st to Ninth mo. 5th last. The population of Malaga is about 105,000.

in port, 835,000. The Manchester advices continued favourable. The quotations of breadstuffs, as follows. American flour, 29s. 6d. a 31s.; red wheat, 11s. 8d. a 12s. 6d.; white wheat, 12s. 6d. a 14s. per 100 pounds; yellow corn, 36s. 6d. a 37s.; white, 38s. a 40s. 6d. per 480 pounds.

The London money market was unchanged. bullion in the Bank of England had decreased £387,000 during the week. Consols, 931 a 933

United States.—New York. — Mortality last week,

35. Under five years of age, 181.

Philadelphia.—Mortality last week, 238. The largest vote ever polled in this city was given at the late elec-The vote on the Governor's ticket was, for Foster, tion.

42,119; for Curtin, 40,223; total, 82,342.

Louisville, Ky.—The official census returns for this city show a population of 70,172, including 5401 coloured persons

Annapolis, Md .- The census shows a population of 4658, including 475 slaves and 1056 free coloured per-

The Elections, in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana, all show Republican majorities in those States. In Penn-sylvania, Curtin, the Republican candidate for Governor, has been elected by a majority of over 30,000. The same party has a majority in the State legislature, and has elected at least eighteen out of the twenty-five mem-

Loss of an Ocean Steamer .- On the 6th inst., the steamship Connaught, on her voyage from Europe, when about 150 miles from Boston, sprung aleak in the engineroom, and in spite of the great efforts of all on board the water gained rapidly; in a short time it was disco-vered that the vessel was also on fire, and the captain immediately lowered the boats, and filled them with passengers. A small brig, which saw the signals of distress flying, bore down and rescued the entire crew and passengers, about 600 persons in all. The Connaught was an iron steamer of over 4000 tons burden, and nearly new. Vessel and cargo, a total loss. The Suffering in Kunsas.—In consequence of the extreme and wide-spread suffering from the failure of the crops in that territory the last season, the President and Secretary of the Interior have been appealed to, in order to obtain a postponement of the land sales, which were shortly to take place. The subject, it is said, will re-ceive the consideration of the President.

California .- San Francisco dates to Tenth month 3d. have been received. The export demand for wheat continued good; price, $1.50 per 100 pounds. ship Sonora sailed on the 1st, with $935,000 in gold. ship Sonort sailed on the 1st, with SN50,000 in goal, year, with a sail of the Monthly Meeting of Friends of Phil and $24,000 worth of silver ore. The total exports of the Monthly Meeting of Friends of Phil gold from San Francisco, during the year, and up to the 15th ult., were $29,08,1198, which is $5,193,179 less a filligent attender of meetings both for worship and the 15th ult. were of meetings both for worship and the sail of the 15th ult., were $29,681,195, which is $5,193,179 less than in the corresponding portion of 1859. The steamer John L. Stevens arrived safely at Panama. Her voy-age had been delayed by an accident to her machinery. Miscellaneous.—A Profitable Patent.—Howe's sewing machine patent has been extended by the Commissioner of Patents, for seven years. The value of this extension to the patentee is variously estimated at from $500,000 to $700,000 for the whole term.

The Slave Trade.-Late advices from Havana mention that on the 1st inst., a Spanish man-of-war steamer discovered a vessel ashore near Sierra Movena, which proved to be the American screw steamer City of Norfolk. She had landed, on the night previous, 800 ncnuel to Naples, to assume the reins of government, and groces from Africa, about half of whom had already been that he would retire to his home. The Pope has issued disposed of. The remaining negroes, together with the an allocution condemning and protesting against the crew, were captured. The latter were sent to Havana, sacrilegious attack made on the property of the Church of Europeans for assistance. He depresses we provide that the Catholic princes would come to his assistance. Napoleon had replied to the Pope, sustaining the policy of leon had replied to the Pope, sustaining the leon had replied to the Pope, sustaining the leon had replied to the Pope and for six days, in the heat of mid-summer, the came Spann has peopless are holding or a congress or one and not six days; in selection that shader, see case the holding owers. It is stated, that a commonitation from did not have a drop of water. On the day that was the Pope has reached Paris, in which he declares that was discovered, they indicated by their increased specific productions on interfere against Sardinia, he will at 1 that they were approaching water, though the state of the production of the pro

> The First Snow .- On the night of the 14th inst., snc fell at Mauch Chunk, Pa., to the depth of two inche At Binghampton, N. Y., the fall of snow was about thr inches in depth.

New Planet.—Chacornai, of Paris, has discovered, the constellation of the whale, another new planet of the ninth or tenth magnitude, the fifty-ninth of the group

Death of a Tennessee Hermit .- The M'Minnville (Tenn The Liverpool cotton market was buoyant, with a slight advance. Sales of the week, 111,000 bales. Stock West, at the age of seventy-eight. He was a soldier New Era, mentions the death, on the 23d ult., of Daoi the war of 1812, but for many years past had lived the hollow of a large poplar tree, in the opening which he had fitted a rude door, and supported himse by the manufacture of chairs, boxes, cider mills, &c.

A Good Law .- The last legislature of New York pas ed a law that no person having a husband, wife, chil or parent, shall, by will, give more than one half of h property to any benevolent, charitable, literary, scie tific, religious or missionary society, association or co poration, in trust or otherwise.

RECEIPTS

Received from Smith Upton, agt., N. Y., $2, vol. 3 and for P. Upton, A. M. Underhill, Mary Wing, and H. Griffen, $2 each, vol. 34, for H. Bedell, $2, to 17, vol. 35, for P. Griffen, $2, to 27, vol. 35; from Mead Atw ter, agt., N. Y., $2, vol. 33, and for A. Boone, Willia Brownell, and Levi H. Atwater, $2 each, vol. 33, for I Fuller, Joshua Haight, Katy Haight, and Abm. Deut $2 each, vol. 34.

WEST-TOWN BOARDING SCHOOL.

The Winter session of the School will commence of Second-day, the 5th of Eleventh month. Parents at others intending to enter their children as pupils, w please make early application to DAVID ROBERTS, Supe intendent at the School, or Joseph Scattergood, Tre. surer, No. 304, Arch street, Philadelphia.

West-Town, Ninth mo. 4th, 1860.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted as Teacher of Reading in the Boy department of this Institution. Apply to

SAMUEL HILLES, Wilmington, Del. James Emlen, West Chester, Chester Co., Pa. Alfred Core, Germantown, Pa.

Sixth mo. 6th, 1860.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted to fill the station of Governor the Boys' department of this Institution.

Application may be made to NATHAN SHABPLESS, Co. cord, Pa.; SAMUEL HILLES, Wilmington, Del.; JAM. EMLEN, West Chester, Pa.; or Thomas Evans, Philad. Twelfth mo., 1859.

DIED, on the 13th of the Ninth month, in the eightie ear of his age, Joseph Rakestraw; an esteemed met cipline, and was, it is believed, concerned to be made true partaker of the benefits thereof. He was a man an innocent life and conversation, and, by his circumsne walk, had gained the respect of both Friends and othe to whom he was known. Though his decline was gr dual, he was spared much acute suffering, and we b lieve he freely resigned himself to the will of the Lor In this sweet frame of mind, he quietly passed away, th giving evidence to his bereaved friends that his end w

---, on the morning of the 5th instant, REBECCA CRESSON, daughter of Joseph and the late Mercy Creson; a member of the Monthly Meeting of Friends Philadelphia.

PILE & M'ELROY, PRINTERS, Lodge street, opposite the Pennsylvania Bank.

THE HRIRND.

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, TENTH MONTH 27, 1860.

NO. 8.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

rice Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by

JOHN RICHARDSON.

AT NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

Postage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three onths, if paid in advance, three and a quarter cents; any part of the United States, for three months, if id in advance, six and a-half cents.

For "The Friend."

Heary Hull.

(Continued from page 50.) There are many others beside Henry Hull, who ve experienced that a plain dress and the plain iguage have proved as a hedge about them, conom evil. Irksome as the parental restraint in se particulars has been at the time to the unortified will, years of experience under the teachirse of feeling in the matter, and raised a tribute gratitude to those who would not yield to the ir ground against indulgence in gay and fashn to rise up and call those blessed, who thus encampments. bed their wayward inclinations.

iverer of Israel.

It is not for finite reason to presume to argue inst these things, and because it has pleased lude to greater sufferings. heavenly Father to reveal the great truths of istian redemption, to diminish by contrast with se, and affect to despise and ridicule, his com-found the cross in dress and language, one that the floor, in passing about on the common business must be borne, if they had any hope of wearing of the family. We procured an old house at the crown; and being faithful in this, has not only Ridgefield, in Connecticut, which, though built for yielded them enduring peace, but opened the way a dwelling, had been occupied as a barn, and for further disclosures of their Lord's will, and He moved there in the fall of the year. Here my has clothed them with strength, as a fruit of their mother and seven of her children spent the winter, obedience, by which they have been enabled to run mostly without the company of my father, who was with holy stability and joy in the further ways of necessarily absent, attending to his business. his requiring.

Henry Hull writes :-

the usual mode of conducting trade, by which he our own labour; and not having been accustomed became involved in difficulties. Being anxious to to the use of the axe, we made out but poorly. secure the moneys due to him, in order that he We struggled along through the winter, and conmight meet his engagements, his time was so occu- stantly attended Friends' meeting at Peach Pond, buting in no small degree to their preservation pied that he had little opportunity to watch over which at that time was pretty large on First-days; his children; and our mother not having the same and before spring, my father purchased a farm and authority over us, we took great liberties, going mills in the town now called Stanford, about when and where we pleased. The city at this forty-five miles from Ridgefield, to which we coms of Divine Grace, have changed the whole time was crowded with soldiers, newly raised to menced our removal, as soon as the roads became oppose the British ministry in their attempts to tax settled. the colonies, and I was delighted with the sound call forth the commands of the Most High, soldiers, rioting and living in wantonness, were, of arrived in safety at our proposed habitation.

ngs will not be likely to meet with acceptance, tants retired into the country, among whom were me, both in mercy and in judgment. e simple and scemingly unimportant injunction my father and his family. Young as I then was, "In the Fourth month, 1777, I arrived with my Moses, "Put off thy shoes from off thy feet," the situation to which we were reduced, had an father's family at Stanford. The country then bumbling effect on my mind. We sailed up the presented a wild and uncultivated appearance, only er the Lord's chosen people out of Egyptian East river to Sawpit, and from thence some of us a small part of the land in the neighbourhood be-udage, and equally obligatory; and had Moses went on foot to Purchase, where my nucle Joshua ing cleared, and many of the fields enclosed with sumed to disregard it, there is no probability Franklin lived; and I well remember the sympathe the logs which had been cut off of them. There would ever have been honoured as the servant thy manifested by some of the inhabitants on the were but two families of Friends near us, viz., he Most High, to stand unawed before the proud road, who called us into their houses to rest, and Benjamin Hoag and Paul Hoag from New Engpots of the earth, and to become the mighty offered us refreshments. The recollection of these land, and most of the other inhabitants were of the eyes, our flight from New York being but the pre- held about four miles from us, in a log-house be-time, and then my father hired part of a house, in from their first settlement here, and were truly as which we lived but a few months in the year 1776, a nursing father and nursing mother to many who nds in minor affairs. Such cast opprobrium on when a battle was fought by the contending parties were brought forth in religious services. I can Holy Scriptures and their inspired writers, and at White Plains, and the American forces under bear testimony to their worth from the fresh real and the danger of being found "fighters against day."

General Washington being routed, we were obliged membranee of their pious and affectionate care over the control of their pious and affectionate care over the control of their pious and affectionate care over the control of their pious and affectionate care over the control of their pious and affectionate care over the control of their pious and affectionate care over the control of their pious and affectionate care over the control of their pious and affectionate care over the control of their pious and affectionate care over the control of their pious and affectionate care over the control of their pious and affectionate care over the control of their pious and affectionate care over the control of their pious and affectionate care over the control of their pious and affectionate care over the control of their pious and affectionate care over the control of the control of the control of their pious and affectionate care over the control of the c to seek a more retired dwelling-place, our house me, kindly, though prudently noticing me in my those members of our religious Society, who being so filled with sick and wounded soldiers, that first coming forth in the ministry.

have been most devoted to do the Lord's will, have we were obliged to step over them, as they lay on

" I was in the twelfth year of my age, and being of a delicate constitution and tenderly brought "The difficulties which preceded the war of the up, I found the fatigue and hardship we had to American revolution, had now commenced, and as endure, very trying to my nature. Although we they increased, our situation became more exposed had the means of purchasing fire-wood, yet the to danger. My father was extensively engaged in men in the neighbourhood being mostly engaged in mercantile business, importing goods and selling the war, we could get little more than what my them to his customers on credit, which was then

"A few days before our family were ready to wing of the natural mind, but steadfastly stood of the drum and the martial appearance of the take their departure, the British troops landed and soldiers. I eagerly sought their company, and burnt the stores collected by the Americans at able attire and address. Many have had occa- often spent most of the day in the barracks and Danby, as well as the town, after which they pro-Amid the corrupting examples ceeded up the country within a few miles of us, so which I there found, I lost ground in best things, that we were apprehensive of being prevented from It is not unusual to find these testimonies designand being fired by the kindling flame of strife, was following our goods, which had been sent forward to das small matters; and we have no disposing at times ready to regret that I was too young to to our new residence. We staid one day, anxiously n to magnify them beyond their proper importake a part with my countrymen, being as thought awaiting the approach of the army, whose progress ce. But the Bible assures us in several places, less respecting the unlawfulness of wars and fight- was marked by rapine and bloodshed; but they they are not too small to claim the notice, and ings, under the christian di-pensation, as the poor took another road, and on the day following we ough his inspired servants, and we have signal the fate which awaited them. Most of the poor is a place in which I have seen much to admire, ook of his hot displeasure against those who fellows with whose company I was so much taken, and have passed through many scenes, of a pleas-ked themselves in ornamental apparel. No were soon after killed in battle, or taken prisoners ing as well as peculiarly painful nature, and I ng can be small, which the Almighty ordains; and thrown into jails, where they died miserably. purpose to record some of these in my simple style, if we disregard the expression of his will in "It being apprehended that the British would that such of my descendants as survive me, may the least matter, our compliance in greater storm the city of New York, many of the inhabi- know how marvellously the Lord hath dealt with > calamities has often caused tears to flow from my rougher sort. A small meeting of Friends was longing to Paul Upton, who, with his wife, Phebe "At my uncle's we found an asylum for a short Upton, have been valuable members of our Society

Friends; and they would often gather together of people not of our Society attended them, and the with soon. The slittude of Lebanon is near the house, before the meeting time, and engage the work of Truth prospered. Some who had been of in disputes about the war, sometimes with high oppressors of Friends, and others who had been of travellers, to have snow on its highest mountains words and angry looks; but when the appointed bad conduct, became serious, joined the Society, all the year round. hour came, Phebe Upton would come to the door and continued to be useful members. and inform them; upon which all controversy is the Lord's doings, and marvellous indeed.

mentioned, and felt an interest in them, yet the sheep. impropriety of such engagements just before sitting of religious feeling.

several years from attending meetings, having so the Lord, and invite them to come and partake events during centuries of past history. Down those rugged declivities the myriads of Senna with in former days, that perhaps few went to them "Whilst under the preparing hand for the min cherib rushed in tumultuous array, flushed with after this, it increased so rapidly, that Friends built God is a God of order, and leads out of all conof the creek. From this a meeting was set off and upon a hill, which cannot be hid." held at the house of Obadiah Gifford, at Little Nine Partners, and in a few years, another branch was established at Crum Elbow.

"About the sixteenth year of my age, I was again favoured with serious impressions. My father had come forth in the ministry, and we began to have the company of Friends who were trawelling in the service of the Gospel; and beholding heart-siekening accounts—is taken from the proof Like the Jews, they are expecting a Messiah, we the seriousness of their demeanour and the sacri- sheets of the forthcoming number of the Cornhill is to be this said Hakim the Second, and who fices they made in these acts of dedication to the Magazine, published by the Harpers.] cause of religion, together with the great sufferings of Friends, by reason of rapacious men who distrained their property, because they would not violate their peaceable testimony, my heart was deeply affected. I thought of what I had read when a child, of the sufferings of Friends in the beginning, and my judgment was convinced that those who furnished wood for Solomon's temple. The ecdar ago by the celebrated Emir Bechir, a great prin stood faithful now, were upon the same foundation; has failed nearly from the land, but the fir-tree is among the Marouites, but an unchristian man. T and that wars and fightings were in opposition to yet a refuge for the stork. Lebanon is the nucleus embers of that long-slumbering feud have now, I the precepts of the Go-pel, which teach us to do of all the mountain ranges which from the north, some underhand means, been fanned into a flat unto others as we would have others do to us.

much actuated me at the commencement of the mountain-ridges, and the superior altitude of Le- Okals and the Jakals-or the learned and the u war-my love for Friends increased, and I de-banon, are particularly striking to travellers ap-learned. To the Okals are intrusted all affa lighted to go to meetings. Several young Friends proaching either from the Mediterranean in the connected with the political and domestic econor raw, rustic-looking people, most of whom were not their company at our meetings, and large numbers central summits of which are capped with clouds, would cease, and the company sit down with ap- I saw that I had lost ground, and bewailed myself picturesque than the Lebanon. As the traveller would cease, and no company in the Father of met- as one astray in a waste howing wilderness. I mounts higher and higher, the scene opens out a parent reverence to wnit upon the Father of met- as one astray in a waste howing wilderness. I mounts higher and higher, the scene opens out a cise. There is good reason to believe, that many was afraid to be alone, or in the company of good lew and magnificent prospect. Ever and anon cise. There is good reason to believe, that many was afraid to be alone, or in the company of good of these persons were sinecre-hearted, for some of people, for I thought they could discern my situa. Druse families or Maronites are seen travelling them who were not then members of our Society, tion, and would reprove me; and indeed their very downwards towards the Beyrout markets, carrying afterward joined in religious fellowship, and became looks seemed to administer reproof to me. So with them the rich produce of the soil; the huge united in bearing a christian testimony against war, sensible was I of the loss I had sustained, that I logs of timber which obstruct the mountainous asby patiently suffering the spoiling of their goods. was ready to conclude I should never obtain for cent give rise to many unchristian exclamations. When I consider that our meeting was then mostly giveness; but in process of time I felt a secret hope Here and there also are Druse ladies, with the held in silence, and look at the wide spreading of raised in my soul, that, like the predigal, I should preposterous horn on their heads, wors sideways, the Society in those parts and elsewhere, and the be received into favour, for which I was very and which reminds one of the horn of the rhinocenew meetings set up, I am bound to say, Surely it thankful, and a belief arose in my heart, that one ros; indeed, if a Druse lady were spitefully inthe Lord's doings, and marvellous indeed.

day I should bear a public testimony to the good-clined to charge one, ram-fashion, the assault might will frequently listened to the di-putes I have ness of Israel's Shepherd, who eareth for the lost prove dangerous. When, after hours of toil, the down in meeting, appeared great; and although, I delighted to be in their company, although the seen the silvery, calm waters of the Mediterranean, through adorable mercy, all were not carried away natural diffidence of my disposition prevented me only undulating in little blue curves here and there, from the fear of the Lord, yet there is reason to grow the fear of the Lord, yet there is reason to apprehend that many were must be them. It is but justice to the memory of my father to say, sage; and I now often admire at the confidence of cool looking Taurus, always crowned with snow that I never knew him to be present at any of some of the young people, when I observe their for Nearer, is one vast extent of vegetation, plains or them; he was a man of sound discretion and exemplary in his conduct and conversation, even before he was evidently brought under the government God, which overflowed toward my fellow-creatures, trees. The ascent from the celebrated codars is so that it seemed as if I could lift up my voice like amidst perpetual snows; but once accomplished "I do not think I derived much benefit for a trumpet, to declare unto others the goodness of we gaze upon a grand panorama, the scene of great

It is not considered by the second of the se from them, choosing rather to be rambling about was designed as food for my own soul to live upon, exulting in the promised spoils of Tyre. Through with idle boys. The meeting, however, increased, which it is to be feared some have done to their these passes the Crusader chiefs led their deluder and the house becoming too small to accommodate own great hurt, compassing themselves about with hosts; and up them soon may clamber the Zouave those who met, it was removed to Elijah Hoags, sparks of their own kindling, and in the end have and Chasseurs of France, to revenge the bloodshe and was held in his barn during the summer, and had to lie down in sorrow. Such do not profit the of Christians. Stout British arms and hearts, an in his dwelling house through the winter. Soon people, but run into disorder and cause confusion. cordial British sympathy, are there also. the stone-house now called "the Creek Meeting," fusion and mixture, into beautiful order and harwhich was the first settled in Nine Partners, west mony, so that his church becomes 'as a city set to others as we would have others do to us. south, and east, converge towards this point, and again.

For "The Friend."

THE DRUSES OF MOUNT LEBANON.

"I now lost that martial spirit which had so it overtops them all. This configuration of the had lately come forth in the ministry in a lively west, or the desert in the east. The appearance of the mountain territories belonging to that se manner, and others who were more experienced, presented is that of a clouded ridge stretching They are essentially the peace-makers between or

"The meeting was attended by a number of travelling to and fro in that work, we often had from north to south as far as the eye can see, the

No country in the world-not even excepting "In taking a retrospective view of my past life, Switzerland-is more rich in the sublime and the highest summit is attained, then indeed the pro-"My love to my friends increased greatly, and spect is sublime. Far as the eye can reach are

ORIGIN OF THE DRUSES. The Druses are said to have derived their nam from Druzi, who was possibly a tailor, or a troze as they are now called; many Eastern surname finding their origin in the occupation or calling c the founder of the family. This personage lived i [An exchange paper states, that the following the eleventh century, and preached the divinity of account of the Druses-of whose barbarous cruelty Hakim, a Caliph, whose reign was long and mor to the Maronites and murderous assault upon the strously iniquitous, but who is adored as a god b missionaries and their families we have had such the Druses, and looked to as their future delivere advent will be from China, through India, Belo chistan, Persia, and over Central Asia. They a also said to worship a calf, in remembrance bot Lebanon or Libanus-signifying white, from of the Egyptian god Apis, and of the golden ca snow (the Arabs call milk and curds leban to this worshipped by the Israelites; but they conceal the day)-is the most elevated mountain-chain in rites of their religion. This tribe, which was por Syria, celebrated in all ages for its cedars, which erful in the last century, was decimated sixty yea

The Druses are divided into two classes, t

marriage, or for buying and selling; they are, to and some walk about, while others are squatted a man, bold and venturesome soldiers, always in upon the floor, and all keep chatting and laughing the van in the battle-field. In former days, this incessantly. With the lovely scenery around, the Emir Beechir was wont to invest the most learned crimson tints of the setting sun reflected on the of the Okals with a cloak of honour, conferring on snow-capped hills, and the varied and picturesque him the title of Sheik of the Okals. The Okals were presumed to practise the most strict morality, and their conduct was generally exemplary. They practised the most rigid self-denial; some devoting themselves to celibacy, others turning anchorites, and retiring to secluded Holowas, or Hemulages, where, despite the severe cold experienced in winter, a mat was their bed, a stone their pillow, and a coarse woolen garb, girt round the waist with a leathern girdle, their only garment; a little dry bread, twice a day, being their only food. They assume the greatest humility, by returning courteously the salute of the poorest peasants; and they are held in the highest respect by all classes, unwillingly submitting their hands to receive the kiss of veneration. In this respect their humility contrasts not unfavourably with the haughty bearing of the Christian priests, who extort such tokens of respect as their rights. The Holowas, inhabited by that sect of Okals devoted to perpetual celibacy. are situated on the summits of some of the loftiest mountains, commanding noble and extensive views; they are surrounded in the immediate vicinity by well cultivated lands, their own property, and the proceeds of which are devoted exclusively to charity. Some of these Holowas are dedicated to Job and others of the old prophets; and in one, at a place called Nehor, in the district of Shoof, there is a lamp kept burning night and day.

THEIR RELIGION.

Of the religion of these people little or nothing is known-indeed it is a mystery. Those that have lived longest amongst them have not been able to obtain any satisfactory information on the subject. A Frenchman, who was originally in the household of Lady Hester Stanhope, and had, therefore, many means and opportunities of intercourse with the Okals, was very near acquiring the secret of the Druses' creed. By long and friendly intercourse with one of the Okals, he at last succeeded in persuading him that he was a veritable disciple, thirsting after a knowledge of the myste ries of Hakim, and the day and hour had been ap pointed when he should be initiated. The weather was unpropitious; but despite of wind and rain, hail and snow, the inquisitive Frenchman started off at midnight on foot, and traversed the mountain-passes alone. Weary, and wet, and nervous, he reached the indicated Holowa an honr or so before daybreak, when his spirits revived upon finding the old Okal ready to receive him. His initiation into the deep mysteries of Druseism was about to commence, when the small oil lamp burning dimly, and the Okal's evesight being bad, he requested his disciple to snuff it with a pair of seissors; unhappily, in complying with this request, the Frenchman extinguished the light-a terrible omen, in the estimation of the Okal, who at once renounced all former promises, and for no consideration could be induced to initiate the disappointed Frank.

The Druses meet every Thursday evening for devotional purposes at their Holowas, on which occasions, during the earlier part of the evening strangers, and even Europeans, are admitted; the Koran is also read, as a blind to any Mohammedan spy who may chance to be present: sweetmeats and dried figs are ranged in saucers on the floor. But little or no attention is paid to the readers, who are for the most part lounging upon the floor. Con- last word.

tending parties, and go-betweens in negotiations for versation on common every-day topics never flags; costumes of the different groups, the scene constitutes a strange and striking tableau. At a later hour of the evening, the devotional business commences in earnest. The doors are suddenly closed, all strangers and Jakals ejected, and the Okals enter into the mysteries of their creed-guarding with Freemason-like precaution all avenues leading to the Holowas, by sentries well armed and equipped.

ORDER OF OKALS.

It is most remarkable that amongst the Druses and in a country like Syria, where the generality of native Christian women are almost secluded from society, and held in the utmost contempt, the order of the Okals should be open to persons of both sexes-women as well as men belonging to it. This is so utterly at variance with the practices of all other Oriental people, including Christians and Jews, that it seems like some germ of past civilization still springing up amidst a field of rank superstition and ignorance. Yet such is known to be a fact by those who have resided longest amongst them, and whose position and character are a guarantee as to the truthfulness of the statement. At the Okal meetings the public and private characters of individuals are freely commented upon; indeed they form a kind of Druse senate, for concerting and arranging all things requisite for the general weal of the clan. Very strict and very rigid are the laws of initiation to Okalship. It is indispensable, as a first step, that the aspirants should leave off all display in apparel, and henceforth be clad only in the roughest material. They must entirely and forever, abandon the use of wines, spirits, and tobacco-the latter a very severe self-denial to a people who, almost from their infancy, are addicted to a free use of the aromatic weed from Latachiathe famous Abou-Reah, the father of essences from Gibili. They must undergo a probation of two years, (similar to deacons in the church,) during which interval their behaviour is narrowly watched to see that they are possessed of firmness and perseverance, and that their moral conduct is irreprehensible. During this period they are inculcated with a profound sense of the immense importance of secresy in connection with the order. In Oriental metaphor, an Okal will exclaim, whilst presenting one of them with a fig, "This is religion, not a fig;" signifying thereby, that as the fruit once swallowed will never come to light again, so they that accept and imbibe Druse secrets, must never suffer them to appear before men, but faithfully conceal them in the recesses of the heart, and treasure them as a gem of priceless value. If at the expiration of the germ of probation the Jakals have satisfied the consciences of those who have scrutinized their every action, and secretly dodged their footsteps, they are then permitted to attend the Holowas, and remain during the earlier portion of the service. They obtain, however, but a faint nocond year, the men assume the white turban, as the emblem of faith and purity. And so, by degrees-" shua, shua," as the Arabs say-by little and little, according to the zeal displayed and the deportment of the Jakal, he is ultimately metamorphosed into the Okal.

(To be concluded.)

For 44 The Friend P

The remembrance of our late friend, Mary Wright, when in this country, revived by the testimony concerning her in the last number of "The Friend," is particularly pleasant to some, who then had the opportunity of knowing her. Her ministry in which she manifested a lively concern for the spiritual welfare of the flock, in the inward work of Truth upon the heart, by the regenerating power of which they should be made sanctified members of the church and body of Christ, gave evidence of her christian experience, the authority of her services, and of what she believed was indispensable to prepare the soul for union and communion with God through our Lord Jesus Christ. At a meeting in Philadelphia, perhaps towards the close of her tarriance in this country, she was engaged in preaching the gospel, in which she impressively made use of the Psalmist's description of the church of Christ, and the invitation to come unto Him. "Hearken, O daughter, and consider, and incline thine ear; forget also thine own people, and thy father's house. So shall the King greatly desire thy beauty, for he is thy Lord, and worship thou Him." "The King's daughter is all-glorious within; her clothing is of wrought gold. She shall be brought unto the King in raiment of needle-work ?

Her animated countenance and voice, with the solemn, earnest manner in which she addressed the meeting, seemed to carry home the important doctrine of the purity and holiness that Christ's companions and members are to be brought into; the ffect of which, enforced by her fervency of spirit, has not been effaced from the memory of one who was present. To have evidence of her preservation in the Truth, to the age of more than a hundred years, is very precious; and while it shows the unfailing mercy of the Lord our God, and the possibility of holding out to the end of a long life, through faith and watchful obedience to bis will, it affords encouragement to old and young to keep hold of the shield of faith, and their confidence in Him, who found them in their lost estate, and said unto them, Live. May the humility and perseverance of such a beloved Friend, be an incitement to our dear youth, to choose the Lord for their portion, and to love and serve Him faithfully; and also cheer many aged ones who are patiently waiting for the coming of their Lord, to hope to the end for the crown of life in store for them.

The experience of his preserving power, to guard us from the snares, with which a crucl enemy is constantly seeking to effect our destruction, and to have a place given us in the Lord's house, are among the highest blessings that can be conferred upon an impotent, responsible creature, and which should call forth our watchfulness and prayer, and humble gratitude to our compassionate Father in heaven. The inspired prophet says, "Behold, O God, our shield, and look upon the face of thine anointed. For a day in thy courts is better than a thousand. I had rather be a door-keeper in the house of my God, than to dwell in the tents of wickedness. For the Lord God is a sun and shield. The Lord will give grace and glory; no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly. tion of what they bave yet to learn. On the se- O Lord of hosts, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee."

The Bishop of Ripon, of the English church, objects to professional singing in churches. He has just addressed a letter of remonstrance to an incumbent in whose parish the announcement had Humility seeks neither the first place, nor the engaged to sing on the re-opening of his church. He writes strongly against the practice.

Photographic Printing.

paper before the American Photographical Society, tion for all. lescribing a remarkable machine, the invention of even the "lightning" printing press. of either, in plate-printing or lithography. The one of them the Grand Ganges, eight hundred and expense of engraving may be dispensed with, and ninety miles in length. Attention was then called The lecture was replete with valuable informathe negative come direct from the artist's hands, to the markets of immense extent being opened just tion to the extending commerce of the world; add-(or from nature, through the camera,) drawn upon when the supply by manufacturing skill far exceeds ed to this, the fact that the illustrations and remarks a prepared glass, from which, in the course of a every present demand, and requires just such re- were from the lips of one who had travelled over few hours, the plates for a large edition may be sources as China, India, and Persia are bringing the greater part of the countries alluded to, renprinted, each one a perfect duplicate of the original forward. The central portion of the Persian Gulf, dered the lecture at once interesting and familiar.

The Commerce of the East.

tion of the Kane Monument Association, was de- as San Francisco is to Shanghae? The speaker from the Mediterranean to the Persian Gulf. hered by Captain W. F. Lynch, United States made a comparison of the air lines east and west Navy. His subject was "The Commerce of the from London to Sydney, and from San Francisco to India, discovered by the daring of Hippalus, the Pacific? He then called attention to the rivers of Truths. commander of the Egyptian vessel; the route China and India; the Yangtse Kiang rising in through the desert by the Romans, who extended Thibet, passing near the Irawady and the Pegu, it to China. The vast territorial resources, com- which flows south through Siam and Burmah; and merce, and commercial importance of China; its the sources of the last interlacing with those of the chonour of God and welfare of his people, they immense population of 350,000,000; the restless Bramahpootra, which empties into the Bay of Ben diligently watch over one another for good; and activity and industry of the people; their prone- gal, side by side with the river Ganges. The where any weakness or unfaithfulness, touching any ness to traffic, and who give employment to more speaker asked how long before produce instead of branch of our christian testimony, appears in any than 150,000 tons of American shipping, and from descending will ascend the Yangtse Kiang, the making profession with us, let such be timely and whom in 1856 we bought 40,000,000 pounds of Irawady, and the Pegu, and, crossing the navigation to the result of the stirred with the result of the res whom in 1856 we bought 40,000,000 pounds of Irawady, and the Pegu, and, crossing the navigatea. He then referred to the efforts of Russia to ble waters of India, be conveyed to the Bay of Bendivert the Chinese trade, and those of England to gal or the Arabian Sea? He spoke of Kurachee, monopolize it. England, he said, commands the its selection by England as its commercial entrepot, monopolize it. England, he said, commands the its selection by England as its commercial enterpos, south-west and eastering state of the China Sea, by the innes of telegraph and railways, completed and its nest, and reared its young in the letter-box of her possessions of Singapore and a part of the innegrificent island of Borneo. Hong Kong, an is-land at the entrance of Canton river, is a part of Gulf. When, he asked, reaching the head of the to deposit letters, and the postuants daily calls to the English domain. England has been successful gulf, shall it continue up the circuitous channel of take them, the bird is not disturbed. Sometimes in monopolizing the trade of Canton river. In the the Euphrates, or, turning to the left, be disemthe postman has taken the letters from the bird's rivalry between Russia and England, our sympa- barked at Grane, and, crossing Arabia in a direct back.

bisected by the east and west lines from New York The second course of lectures under the direc- brought as near the cape of eastern commerce thies should be with the latter power in her efforts line, be embarked at El Arish, or Jaffa, for Lonto break down commercial restrictions in China; don, Liverpool, or New York? He then alluded In the Scientific American of Ninth month 8th, in doing this, she has sought no immunities for her- to Grane, its commercial position and its deep and it is stated that G. H. Babcock recently read a self, but claimed and obtained an equal participal capacious harbour, equal in extent and facilities to that of New York. He also alluded to the cer-The approaches made by Russia toward India. tainty of a line from San Francisco to Japan and Charles Fontayne, of Cincinnati, which produced —During the last fifteen years, that power has China, and in connection with it a Pacific railroad. photographic pictures with a rapidity, exceeding seized upon and obtained Manchooria, which in He urged the necessity of further exploration in territorial extent is equal to Great Britain, France, Arabia, with a view to develop its resources and In the first place, a photographic negative is Germany, including Austria and Turkey in Eu-commerce; to search out the ruined cities and the produced on a glass plate. Against this, a slip of rope, all put together. Russia has built her Pa-line of ancient wells which marked out each day's prepared paper is closely pressed, on which the light shining through the negative, almost instant the hight shining through the negative and the Arabian desert, the character of the chine, by the turning of a crank, immediately released with the success of French engineers in digging artesian the chine, by the turning of a crank, immediately released the same than the following through the present and the same that the success of French engineers in digging artesian the chine, by the turning of a crank, immediately removes this, replacing it with another blank to be acted on in the same manner. G. H. Babecek exlig Cosseck settlements, and the building of wellsbitted to the society a sheet, containing about three in the desert of Tartary, Russia has laid of or wellsence on the study of the transportance of the Arabov sheet, the society of the hundred pictures, produced by this machine at the dation for connecting Balk or the Oxus with Cabul, tine, the increase of the population in Jerusalem, rate of twelve thousand an hour. This was done one of the principal tributaries to the Indus. The the measures taken by the Turkish government for by means of concentrated light—twenty-five hundered and hour, being the rate under the direct rays ful resources of Hindostan, its fast increasing comments of the sun. "This," observes the writer, "topens merce, its 200,000 tons of shipping in the commerce, its proposed in the navigation and the fully Land, and the connection and the connection of the Holy Land, and the connection are the first of the Holy Land, and the connection of the Holy Land, and the Land of the Holy Land, and the Land of the Holy Land, and the Land of the Holy Land of the Ho consequence of the time and expense of printing, as of the Ganges, its four thousand miles in operation, of present and coming events with the prophecies ordinarily practised. The illustrations for a book, and under contract its twelve thousand miles of of the Bible. In the development of commerce, having all the exquisite beauty and perfection of railroad, contracted for by seven chartered comthe great East is to be reconstituted. He closed the photograph, may be turned out by the use of panies, under the guarantee of the government, at his lecture with an earnest appeal to American enthis machine, with a rapidity wholly undreamed an estimated cost of $200,000,000; and its canals, terprise to engage in this work, and thus add new

The lecture was illustrated by a large Oriental to Shanghae by the eastern route, why not now a map, twenty-seven by twenty feet, on which were mart of commerce with which New York would be drawn the established and projected routes to India by railroad, with a line of proposed exploration

Remission and Justification from Sin .- As we East, its Developments, and the probable Effect of to Shanghae-the last by much the longest-the are only justified from the guilt of sin, by Christ Hose Developments on the Great Fature of the probability of the Asiatic trade of Europe passing the propriation, and not by works of righteousness Holy Land." The lecturer, in introducing his directly over this continent; for if the western that we have done; so there is an absolute necessity. subject, gave a very interesting account of the ori- route were adopted, European trade with Asia sity that we receive and obey, to unfeigned repentgin of the art of navigation, traced up from the would proceed via Panama. The speaker then re ance and amendment of life, the holy light and gan of the art of bayingation, takes the properties of the floating tree of the Phonician, to the raft, the galferred to the steamer Spread Eagle having, last Sprint of Jesus Christ, in order to obtain that reley manned with oarsmen, and the ship propelled summer, ascended the Missouri river upward of mission and justification from sin: since no man by sails, to the maritime commerce which sprung three thousand miles, to within a short distance of can be justified by Christ, who walks not after the from the art of navigation. He traced the progress the navigable waters of the Columbia; that by the Spirit, but after the flesh; for whom he sanctifies, of that commerce with the East; the Arabian last accounts a wagon road from stream to stream them he also justifies. And if we walk in the light, caravan in the dawn of history, the trade carried was nearly completed. He asked how long before as he is in the light, his precious blood elementh on by the Phenicians via the Elanitic Gulf of the the wagon road would be succeeded by a railroad; us from all sin; as well from the pollution as from Red Sea, the change effected by the founding of and how long, therefore, before the Miscouri would the guilt of sin. (Rom. iii. 22-26; chap. viii. 1, 2, Alexandria, the shortest route from the Red Sea be the transportation route for merchandise to the 3, 4; 1 John v. 7.)—William Penn's Cospet > 1734. We earnestly exhort all Friends and brethren, that under a living concern of spirit for red up to their duty.

Bird's Nest in a Letter-Box .- A bird has built

For "The Friend."

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES of the Yearly Meeting of Philadelphia.

(Continued from page 44.)

JOSHUA BROWN.

ear me company, but the weight of such a service at Hopewell. I informed William what I had in ou our way to John Hough's. ouraged it. So we came away without engaging how Friends lay, and we could get any one to show passing along, and resignation to his Divine will; n that service. I was fearful of entering on so us the way from house to house, we were willing praised be his holy Name forevermore, reighty a service on the feeling I had of it, [with to make trial. He gave us the account, and on "On the 28th, in company with Francis Hage, ut the fellow feeling of these Friends.]

ould see nothing but the mountains behind me. visited the families of Jacob Barrett, David Ruble, of my family lived. The next day I rode home." remembered the prospect I had at Hopewell, and Niebolas Haushaw, Thomas Reece, John Haushaw elt the terrors of the Lord for disobedience. That and Jeremiah Archer. That night we lodged at ifternoon we went to William Farquar's at Pipe John Ridgway's. On the 16th, after a sitting in sexused, and the surrender of the will be accepted miles to Crooked Run, where we visited Thomas In November, 1836, the temperature of the atmosphere deed. On Second-day night they lodged Sharp's family, and then lodged at the house of sphere being 82, that of the water between 17 at Mordean Friec's, and on Third-day, the 15th, and Thomas In November, 1836, the temperature of the atmosphere being 82, that of the water between 17 atmosphere being 82, that of the water between 17 atmosphere being 82, that of the water between 17 atmosphere being 82, that of the water between 17 and those of Alexander Ogilby, William Brauson, 106. He says, "we found my wife and family well, Robert M'Coy and John Painter, and returned to which was cause of thankfulness to the Author of ler house to lodge. Here I was obliged to leave all good. My not performing a visit to the faminy companion, who, by a fall, was disabled from lies of Friends at Hopewell, was an exercise to my travelling. Benjamin Thornberry, who had been must be respected as the heir: for all respect shown years after, when I paid them a visit.

id not so much lie on him. As he was older and view in coming there. He rather discouraged it, "Now I can say with thankfulness, that though

"After this, I continued at home, attending visited the families of Thomas Ellis, Jonathan meetings for worship and discipline as they came Perkins and Simeon Taylor, and went to widow in course, and minded my business and outward Brook's, near Hopewell, where we lodged. On calling, that I might support my family reputably. the 23d, we visited the families of Thomas Taylor, My endeavours herein were blessed. On the 7th Anthony Moore, Hugh Haines, Lewis Neale, Joday of the Twelfth month, 1758, I left home in seph Lupton, and lodged at Jonathan Perkins. On From Isaac Hollingsworth's, they rode to Johaving been appointed by our Quarterly Meeting the Lupton's, where, on First-day, the 5th of to pay a visit to Friends at Hopewell, in Virginia. welfth month, 1756, they had a meeting. From It was a difficult time with Friends at that place, the 25th, I attended Hopewell Monthly Meeting, hence they rode to Hopewell, and attended the yet as I still felt an engagement to visit their fami where were several Friends from Fairfax Monthly lonthly Meeting, where some service fell to their lies, I gladly closed in with the request of the Meeting, who had come to assist them in the manhere. Joshua writes thus, "Whilst I was at Quarterly Meeting. We went the first-day to ageneus of the affairs of Truth. I lodged at Willopewell settlement, I was much exercised, and Henry Wilson's, in Baltimore county, Maryland, liam Jollif's, after visiting his family. On the toften opened in my mind to visit the families of where we lodged. The next day, the Student Bernet Wilson's, in Baltimore county, Maryland, liam Jollif's, after visiting his family. On the voter of the property of t o have it, and seemed to be hedged in as between lodged. On the 9th, we reached William Farquar's widow Southerling and Jonathan Taylor, and then countains, and yet at meetings I was favoured. I at Pipe Creek, and the Ivit, attended meeting after a ride of fifteen miles, Samuel Pearson's, at offered my companion, Thomas Carleton, how I there. On the 11th, we went to John Hough's at whose house we lodged. On the 27th, crossing the left. He said, if I believed it my duty, he would Fairfax, and, on the 12th, rode to William Jolliff's Shenandoah, we visited Samuel Brittain's family auch more experienced then I was, his remark saying, they had lately had a visit, and that it I had to pass through various trying dispensations and discouraged me. I also informed Isaac Hol- would take me a long time to perform it. I told in performing this visit, having to beg entrance ingsworth, an experienced minister, who lived him I had come a great way in a belief of duty, from house to house, yet the great Master was here, of my exercise of mind, and he rather dis- and if he would be so kind as to give me a plan pleased to favour me with faith and patience in the 13th, we began our visit at George Ross' family, I went to Goose Creek meeting, and thence to his "On the 7th of the Twelfth month, we rode to be undertaking to show us where Friends lived house. The 29th, was spent in visiting Friends Abraham Haines', about sixteen miles, and, on the We that day visited Samuel Littler's, Thomas about Fairfax. On the 30th, my companion, Richth, rode twenty-six miles to John Hough's. On Berry's, and Henry Recee's. At this last place, ard Buller, met me at Fairfax Monthly Meeting, he 9th we attended Fairfax meeting, and at John we met with several Friends belonging to Hopewell which was a comfortable season. We, from thence, Hough's, after dinner, had a satisfactory time in meeting, with whom we had a solemn uniting sea- turned homeward, four miles, to John Poulteny's. hen went to widow Mary Janney's, one mile, where we lodged, and had a sitting in her family encouragement at each place, the Master being miles to William Farquhar's. The next day, First o satisfaction, some others being present, and she pleased to favour us measurably with his presence mo. 1st, 1759, we rode to Yorktown. Here we aving some hopeful children. On the 10th, we from house to house, enabling me to speak to the met Israel Pemberton, who had been industriously et out for Manoquasy, fifteen miles, and reached states of the families. On the 14th day we visited employed in getting goods over the Susquehanna to by meeting time. After sitting with Friends George Hollingsworth's family, and attended Hope-on the ice, in order to create a friendly correspondere, we went on to William Ballinger's, and well week-day meeting. After this, we visited the dence with the Indians, who had been killing the odged. On the 11th, we had a meeting at Bush families of James Barrett and John Barrett, and back inhabitants; came over the Susquehanna on breek, twelve miles from Manoquasy. My mind then went to lodge with Benjamin Barrett. On the ice; called at Isaac Whitelock's at Lancaster, vas exceedingly distressed in this meeting, and I the 15th we had a sitting in the family, and then and thence to a house in Little Britain, where some

(To be continued.)

The Red Sca .- Dr. Baist has lately com-Creek, seventeen miles. On the 12th, being Se- his family, we visited the families of George Follis, municated to the Geographical Society of Bombay, we rested.

My mind continued ex- the widow Merchant, William Hiatt, Jacob Chansome careful observations on the temperature of seedingly distressed, so I spent that day as much dler and Robert Stewart. We lodged at George the Red Sea, without doubt the warmest body of llone as I could, walking by myself in the woods, Ross'. Ou the 17th, being the first day of the week, water of its size, on the earth. We are told that considering what I had better do; I was fully con we sat in Mary Littler's family, and then attend exactly in its centre lies a watery region of terrible vinced that I ought to have staid and visited the ed Hopewell meeting. We dired at Mary Bal-heat. This seat of high temperature is situated in amilies of Friends at Hopewell, but knew not now linger's, and then crossed the North mountain to a tract rich in volcanic indications, and between what was best to do. That night I slept little, and the house of Sarah Howard, a widow. On the 18th, 14° and 21° north latitude. Even in the winter whilst in bed, told my companion my situation. we had a sitting in her family, and those of William months, the water is seldom less than 80°, reaches we concluded to go back to Hopewell, and engage Pearson, Jesse Pigh, Thomas Pugh, John Rogers, attains to 90°. September, however, is the season orm the service, my mind was relieved, and in the mountain to Mary Ballinger's. On the 19th, we of greatest warmth, the temperature of both air morning we went to the meeting at Pipe Creek, which was satisfactory."

Kisted her family and those of Jacob Jenkins, and water rising in that month above blood-heat. Thomas Batt, Philip Batt, Edward Messer, Willard At this time, a person leaning over the bulwarks finding his mind continued easy, notwithstand-liam Lupton, and John Lupton, with the last of of a vessel whose deck has been lately cooled by a ng all he had suffered about Hopewel, he the next who n we lodged. On the 20th, after visiting shower of rain, experiences a feeling like that of lay set off homeward, hoping that he might be Richard Fawcett and John Fawcett, we rode twelve holding the head above a kettle of boiling water.

mind, and I was not clear thereof, until about two in company with us as pilot since we left Mary to that birth, puffeth it; but the true birth is low Ballinger's, continued with me. On the 22d we in heart .- Stephen Crisp.

For "The Friend."

The Currant,-Propagation, - The currantbush is a shrub easily propagated from cuttings, cuts should be performed with a sharp knife, so velation. But there is an impassable distinction world, the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eye ar that there may be nothing ragged or bruised about between the spiritual knowledge and the literal, the pride of life, colipsed the brightness of the hot, in a shady place, and watered with rain water and revelation of God's Spirit, shining in and ope- of the Holy Spirit; and though unsubjected by in dry weather, until they have got shoots several rating on the heart, enlightening and opening the crucifying power, think they believe in Christ: that has stood in the nursery two years, and plant God, and know Him to dwell there. it where it is to stand, taking care that it has only one stem, and allowing no limbs to grow nearer one stem, and allowing no limbs to grow nearer sential doctrine. Hierom says, "The law is spirit-shall enter into the kingdom of beaven; but than six inches of the ground. The bush is pruned ual, and there is need of a revelation to understand that doeth the will of my Father which is in her every year, so as to be kept thin of wood, the mid-it." "So great things," says Athanasius, "doth ven. Many will say unto me in that day, Lore dle being kept open, and the limbs extended, and our Saviour daily; he draws us to piety, persuades Lord, have we not prophesied in thy name, and i when these get to about three feet in length, all unto virtue, teaches immortality, excites to the de-thy name have east out devils, and in thy name the last year's shoots are at the proper season cut sire of heavenly things, reveals the knowledge of done many wonderful works? And then will monly too much neglected in culture, and are suf- plainly affirms, "That men know that Jesus is the any to be in, when the end comes. fered to be overrun with grass and weeds, and Lord by the Holy Ghost, no otherwise than they will be any to be in, when the end comes. to become crowded with suckers and numerous taste honey, know that it is sweet, even by its probables. Inferior fruit is always the result. In-per quality." Luther avers, "This is certain, that closure now embraces 10 acres of ground, bein stead of allowing numerous shoots to spring up no man can make himself a teacher of the Holy 1000 feet by 500 in extent; the massive wal from each root, it is a frequent and successful prac-Scriptures, but the Holy Spirit alone." "No man enclosing the grounds are built of limestone, an tice to train them to a single upright stem, to the can rightly know God, or understand the word of are 20 feet in height, by 3 feet thick, within whice height of a foot, at which point the branches are God, unless he immediately receive it from the Holy are the buildings where branches of industry as anade to radiate on all sides, in an upward direcSpirit. Neither can any one receive it from the earried on by contractors, with the labor of the ton, so as to form a handsome spreading top. In this way, air and light are freely admitted, and hinself; and in this experience the Holy Ghost the service of the State, of which 139 are employe the fruit is not too much crowded upon the bushes, teacheth as in his proper school, out of which in the manufacture of carpets, 103 manufacture.

Another plan has been pursued by an eminent school, nothing is taught but mere talk." Melanesaddlery hardware, 57 making various kinds of the state of grower of fruit, and which is said to have resulted thou says, "Those who hear only arroutward and intelligence the production of currants of very superior qua-bodily voice, hear the creature. But God is a 3d cabinetusakers, 67 making tools of various lity. As a good deal is known to depend on the Spirit, and is neither discerned, nor known, nor description, 108 in the manufacture of Buckey. manner in which the bushes are treated, especially heard, but by the Spirit; and therefore to hear the mowing machines, cradles, rakes, &c., and 138] during the ripening of the fruit, the bushes are voice of God, to see God, is to know and hear the the shoe department. pruned at the usual season of midwinter, shorten-ing the last year's shoots to an inch or an inch and perceived." a half. Next summer the plants show plenty of fruit, and at the same time throw out strong shoots, seek our divinity merely in books and writings, is power, that it has not only served to concentrate As soon as the berries begin to colour, the summer to seek the living among the dead; we do but in the rays of the sun, but the attention of the learner shoots are cut off to within five or six inches above vain many times seek God in these, where his societies in England. Its diameter is three feet the fruit. Sun and air thus get free access, and truth is too often not so much enshrined as en-more of the vigour of the plant is directed to the tombed. Seek God within thy own soul. He is steel, flint, and even platina, are melted by it in fruit, the berries being found to be not only of best discerned, as Plotinus phrascth it, by an in- few seconds. Nor is the diamond able to resist it higher flavour, but of extra large size .- N. Am.

spirits of many to their very end.

or short pieces cut in the spring from shoots of the asserted in the Holy Scriptures, than the imme-best and truest knowledge of God, which is wrong last year, and in most cases it is preferable to have diate revelation and guidance of the Spirit of Truth, out by the labour and sweat of the brain, but th a joint or two of the former year's wood at the yet nothing is more disregarded and even ridiculed which is kindled within us, by an heavenly warm bottom of them. A proper situation for planting by some professors. How many consider them in our hearts." "There is a knowing the tru them is the borders of a garden, where they may selves christians, who are evidently strangers to it, as it is in Jesus, as it is in a Christ-like natur have the benefit of the manure and culture annually and appear to disbelieve its existence at this day, as it is in that sweet, mild, humble, loving Spirit bestowed upon that part, which will make the berthough in the primitive church, none were judged Jesus, which spreads itself, like a morning suries large and the juice rich. Take the most luxu-christians but such as had the Spirit of Christ, and upon the souls of good men, full of light and if riantslips or shoots of a year's growth, set them lived under its teachings and preserving power. It profits little to know Christ himself after t singly in the ground about eight inches deep, and the apostle says, "But ye are not in the flesh; but He gives his Spirit to good men, the not less then twenty-four inches distant from each in the Spirit; if so be, the Spirit of God dwell in searches the deep things of God." Again, "It other. They never fail of taking root, and gene-your. Now, if any man have not the Spirit of but a thin airy knowledge that is got by me rally begin to bear in two years. They should be Uhrist, he is none of his." "For as many as are speculation, which is ushered in by syllogisms as ran't begin to bean in Wo years. They should be Units, are is note of ins. They are the sons of demonstrations; but that which springs forth fro out nearer the ground than six inches. An aere God." Many, in these days, who make high protuce godness, as Origen speaks, brings such a d planted with currants, and well cultivated, would fession of belief in Christ as their Saviour, plainly vine light into the soul, as is more clear and co probably yield on an average a quantity of fruit show that they are not daily actuated and led by vineing than any demonstration." sufficient to make several hundred gallons of wine. his Spirit. They shut their ears from hearing, and They require an improved soil, clayey, and their eyes from seeing this inward guide, for fear christianity, Friends were raised up to call the person somewhat moist. It should be well dug up two of the yoke and cross which he requires to be ple to the light and Spirit of Christ revealed in the feet deep; then set the thrifty sprouts of last year's borne, and are therefore strangers to it. Such beart, that they might be made by obedience to i growth at the depth and distance apart already must be ignorant of the true and saving knowledge true disciples and followers of the Lord Jesus, are mentioned, and cutting off the tops so as to leave of God, and of Jesus Christ whom he has sent, or many were gathered to his inward teaching, ar but three or four buds above the ground. The this knowledge is acquired without immediate re- made an army in his cause. But have not the either wood or bark, and a good time for taking the heart-saving and the head-knowledge. The day amongst us, and settled hundreds upon the off cuttings is that of the breaking up of the frosts, last may be obtained divers ways, but the first in lees, so that they reject the light, and are no They should be planted where the region is very no other way than by the immediate manifestation practical unbelievers in the immediate revelation inches long. A common practice is to take a bush understanding, purifying the soul that it may see their Saviour. All of us have need to search an

the Father, inspires power against death, and shows profess unto them, I never knew you; depart from the father, inspires power against death, and shows profess unto them, I never knew you; depart from the father, inspires power against death, and shows profess unto them, I never knew you; depart from the father, inspires power against death, and shows profess unto them, I never knew you; depart from the father, inspires power against death, and shows profess unto them, I never knew you; depart from the father, inspires power against death, and shows profess unto them, I never knew you; depart from the father is the father, inspires power against death, and shows profess unto them, I never knew you; depart from the father is the fathe tellectual touch of Him. We must see with our One weighing ten grains, after having been expose eyes, and hear with our ears, and our hands to the leus for half an hour, was reduced to si 1710. Let the christian duty of visiting the sick must handle the Word of life—to express it in grains. During this time, it opened and follates be timely remembered and practised; it having John's words. The soul itself hath its sense as like the leaves of a flower, and emitted whitis often left comfort, ease, and sweetness upon the well as the body. Therefore, David, when he tumes. When closed again it retained its form would teach us to know what the divine goodness and polish.

is, ealls not for speculation, but sensation : " Tas Although no christian doctrine is more plainly and see that the Lord is good." That is not t

After the darkness of the apostacy from spiritu see in the light what manner of men we ar Testimonies of ancient writers confirm this es- "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord Powerful Burning-gluss .- An Islington artisa A writer concerning book-divinity, says, "To has contrived a burning-glass of such extraordinar Blunching Celery with Sawdust .- A corresndent of the London Gardeners' Chronicle remmends the use of sawdust for blanching celery, he finds it to answer the purpose better than y other material, and is especially valuable for ys: "Having had some trouble in the winter of 57 in keeping late celery from rotting in a new chen garden, where the soil was very retentive d damp, and the plants earthed up in the usual d find that it answers perfectly. Last winter, the late celery was earthed up with sawdust, and kept quite sound till the Fourth month, and no igs or insects attacked it under ground, the head ing very solid, clear, and crisp, and well-flavoured. and some doubts that the sawdast from resinous es might give the celery a disagreeable flavour, t on trial I found this not to be the case, and the wdnst is now taken indiscriminately from the v-pits, where different kinds of trees are sawn up. fore the late severe frost occurred in the Tenth oth, I had just finished the earthing up of all late celery with sawdust, and I find it is now nderfully fresh, the frost not having penetrated through the surface to the hearts. Another respondent recommends charred earth in preence to sawdust, "as it will not only answer the rpose as well, but will allow the rain water to colate more freely to the roots of the plants, d be of infinite service to a soil of a damp, retive nature." The sawdust, he thinks, will ince an injurious growth of fungi in the soil.

Many contentions arise out of sheer misundernding. Disputants often become metaphysical cording to the explanation given by the Scotch-n, who said:

"Why, ye see, metaphysics is when twa men are king thegither, and the 'ane of them dinna ken at he is talking aboot, and the ither canna uustand him."

Drs. Chalmers and Stuart must have been "wee ' metaphysical that day they got into a controsy about the nature of faith. Chalmers, comled at length to leave his friend, said :

"I have time to say no more; but you will find views fully and well put in a recent tract, called fliculties in the way of believing "

"Why," exclaimed the astonished Dr. Stuart, hat is my own tract! I published it myself!' That man was surely wise who prefaced every bate with, "Gentlemen, define your terms."

During the peninsular war, an officer of artillery d just served a guu with fatal precision against ody of men posted in a wood to his left. When the increase of all. Duke rode up, after turning his glass for a mont in the direction of the shot, he said, in his

"Well aimed, captain; but no more; they are own 39th!'

This sad blunder has been repeated too often the armies of Jesus. With what fatal frequency we great guns of the church, which might have tered down citadels of Satan, been misdirected inst christian brethren! There are surely riltries enough in the world to shoot at, without ing into each other .- S. Colley.

rnings, and directions, and consolations, the fluence, Friends were comforted together."

A correspondent says, "The Yearly I

Rules For Using the Tougue.

member." Our own experience accords perfectly with the statement, and observations on the tongues of others have satisfied us of the fact. We think the country; and a few of the younger members late crops, to be kept during the winter. He the following rules, if carefully followed, will be yet been perfectly tamed:

1. Never use your tongue in speaking anything but the truth. The God of Truth who made acted at the first sitting, a communication from one nner, I have since used sawdust for the purpose, the tongue, did not intend it for any other use. will not work well in falsehood-it will run into such inconsistencies as to detect itself. To use the organ for publishing falsehood, is as congruous as ern States, in reference to the location of their right the use of the eye for hearing, or the ear for smell-

2. Do not use your tongue too much. It is a kind of a waste-gate to let off the thoughts as they collect and expand the mind; but if the waste-gate attention to the state of the subordinate meetings is always open, the water will soon run shallow. Many people use their tongues too much. Shut the gate, and let streams of thought flow in till the mind is full, and then you may let off with some effect.

3. Never let the stream of passion move the tongue. Some people, when they are about to put this member in motion, hoist the wrong gate—they forty men and women, most of whom had sepa-let out Passion, instead of Reason. The tongue rated from Red Cedar Monthly Meeting in Iowa, then makes a great noise-disturbs the quiet of the neighbours, exhausts the persons' strength, but does the disownment of a Friend, condemnatory of the no good. The whirlwind has ceased, but what is course then taken by them.* The most or all of the benefit?

enough to move the wheel to any purpose, before was not justifiable, yet as Indiana Yearly Meeting you open the gate; or, plainly, think before you had become identified with the separatists in Ohio,

5. Never put the tongue in motion while your respondent has his in motion. The two streams will meet, and the reaction will be so great, the words of neither will reach the other, but come back in a blinding sprinkle upon himself,

6. See that your tongue is hung true before using it. Some tongues, we have observed, are so hung, that they sometimes equivocate considerably. Let the owners of such turn the screw of meetings to proceed in treating with, and if they conscience until the tongue moves true.

7. Expect that others will use their tongues for what you do yours. Some claim the privilege of was evident that the meeting was not prepared to reporting all the news, and charge others not to take such a step. do so. Your neighbor will not allow you to monopolize the business. If you have anything to be School Committee brought the meeting under exerkept secret, keep it yourself.

this world, in these changeable things that will that meeting; it being remarked by one who had pass away; but let your faith stand in the Lord had considerable acquaintance with the subject, God, who changes not, that created all, and gives and had made close observation, "that where any

THE FRIEND.

TENTH MONTH 27, 1860,

Two short obituary notices, received ten days

OHIO YEARLY MEETING.

There is not a nobler sight in the world than an mation respecting Ohio Yearly Meeting, and rejoice ed and experienced christian, who, having been to learn that it was held to satisfaction. Both sit- worthy as we are of the least of the Lord's mered in the sieve of temptation, stands forth as a tings of the Meeting of Ministers and Elders are cies, the ancient wing of his goodness was mercipairmer of the assaulted -testifying, from his own represented to have been "seasons of the extension als, the reality of religion; and meeting by his of divine regard, and through its solemnizing in-opened on Second-day, the 8th of the present The tongue is called in the Bible "an unruly month. It was thought to be not quite so largely attended as last year, owing, in part, to the prevalence of epidemical disease in some portions of may have remained at home, on account of its found of great use in taming that which has not being the week of the State election. The Representatives all answered to the call of the clerk.

In addition to the usual routine business trans-It of the Quarterly Meetings was read, calling the condition of its members settled in the more westof membership. The subject was given to a committee to report to a future meeting.

The former clerk and assistant, were continued in their respective stations; and after giving solid and members, as represented by the answers to the Queries; a communication, which had been laid upon the table, was given in charge to a few Friends, who, after examination, reported it might be read, which was accordingly done. A correspondent says, "The communication was signed by forty men and women, most of whom had sepaon account of the proceedings of that meeting in 4. Look into the pond, and see if there is water come sensible that the course then pursued by them they did not think it right to look towards a reunion with that body, and asked the Yearly Meeting of Ohio to take their situation into consideration. Much feeling on their account was elicited by the reading of their paper, but the meeting did not see its way to move further in the case at this

> A proposition was made, that the Yearly Meeting should issue a minute, advising its subordinate persisted, in disowning those who separated from it in 1854; but after a full and free discussion, it

The reading of the Report of the Boardingcise on the subject of the education of the children of Friends, and that that interesting institution 1676. Let none strive nor covet to be rich in should receive the fostering care of the members of of our members had gone to other seminaries, not under the care of Friends to finish their studies," he did not remember an instance in which they "had retained an attachment to the principles of our religious Society." The meeting closed its session on Fifth-day evening.

Our correspondent remarks, "Friends generally parted under an increase of the feeling of brotherly ago, have been mislaid at the printer's office, and love one towards another, having cause to acknowcannot be found. We would be obliged by the parties interested forwarding us other copies. declining, and we think the number that would now look towards such a measure, is very limited," and From different sources, we have received infor- that he would be deficient in performing his duty, did he not acknowledge his conviction "that un-fully spread over the meeting during our being together. To Him only be ascribed the praise."

^{*} We understand the charge against the Friend disnence, Friends were comforted together."

A correspondent says, "The Yearly Meeting "smaller body," in New England, -Ed. Friend.

On the receipt of the printed minutes, we will lay such parts of them before our readers as are of general interest.

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

UNITED STATES. - The Ten Million Loan .- The bids for the new loan of ten millions of dollars were opened on the 22d instant. There were about forty-six bidders for various amounts. The aggregate of the offers exceeding the ten millions by about half a million. The premiums offered are much smaller than heretofore. They were from par up to 1.45 premium.

New York.—Mortality last week, 414. Natives of the Richmond, Va .- The late census shows a population of 37,968. This is an increase of 10,398 since 1850, when the population was 27,570.

Charleston, S. C .- The census returns makes the number of white inhabitants amount to 23.327-an increase in the last ten years of 3315; the number of slaves, to 13,606-a decrease of 5926; and of free coloured, 3257, a decrease of 184; total of white and black, 40,848.

Pennsylvania .- At the late election for Governor of Pennylvania.—At the late election for Governor of the State, 492,060 votes were polled, which is the largest aggregate vote ever given in Pennsylvania. The L45 train to the city, if there are passengers. largest previous vote was at the Presidential election in Small packages for the pupils and others left at 1856, as follows: Buchanan, 290,710; Fremont, 147,- Friends' bookstore, No. 304 Arch street, before twelve 1856, as follows: Buchanan, 230,710; Fremont, 147,-510, Fillmore, 82,175; total, 460,395. In the next Legislature, the House of Representatives will consist of 71 Republicans, and 29 Democrats; the Senate, of 27 Republicans, and 6 Democrats. The Congressional delegation consists of 20 Republicans and 5 Democrats. The Republican majority in the State on the vote for members of Congress is 48,825; on the vote for Governor, it is 32,092,

Oregon .- On the 2d inst., the Legislature elected two United States Senators. J. Nesmith and E. D. Baker were chosen; the former for six years, and the latter for five years. Nesmith is called a Douglas Democrat, and Baker a Republican. An emigrant train of 19 men and 27 women and children, was attacked by the Snake Indians, in the neighbourhood of the Salmon Falls, and the entire party, it is believed, were killed, except one man, who effected his escape.

California .- San Francisco dates to the 10th, by the overland route. On the 8th, the telegraphic communication between San Francisco and Los Angelos was inanourated. The line is to be continued further east, as on the 9th. Her freight consisted of quicksilver, wool, bides, and 21,000 sacks of wheat.

Miscellaneous .- Earthquake in Canada. - About ten minutes before six o'clock, on the morning of the 17th. an earthquake occasioned alarm over a large part of Canada. It was also felt in the State of Maine. No serious damage was done by it, but the motion was suf-

Even Handed Justice. - According to late Russia " Criminal Returns," it seems no less than twenty-three hereditary nobles, thirty-nine persons of rank, enjoying what is called "personal nobility," and twenty-two ecclesiastics, were among the convicts of last year, and they were punished as though they had been the meanest villains in the land, so impartially are the scales of justice held in that despotic realm. The Tea Trade .- During the year ending Fourth mo.

30th, 1860, there were exported from China to the United States, 31,661,426 pounds of tea; the export to Great Britain, for the same period, was 78,416,052 pounds.

The Survivors of the Revolutionary Army.—A late letter from the U. S. Commissioner of Pensions says, there are now but eighty-nine survivors of the army of the Revolution, whose names were placed upon the rolls for pensions.

Egyptian Metal Foundry Brought to Light .- Mariette. an eminent Egyptian antiquary, says: "The excavation made at Memphis has brought to light a metal founder's work-shop. We have already discovered his tools, about forty pounds of unrefined silver, gold medals, twenty silver medals never seen before, and other objects destined to the crucible."

A Noble Park .- Gen. Harding, a wealthy man, residing near Nashville, Tenn., has a park of 800 ncres, in which are 300 deer, 30 buffalpes, and a herd of elk.

A Swift Boat .- The steamer Daniel Drew, a few days since, ran from New York to Albany, a distance of 156 miles, in 6 hours 50 minutes, actual running time. This shows a sustained speed of nearly 224 miles per hour.

RECEIPTS.

Received from John King, N. Y., $2, vol. 34, and for Saml. Simkin, jr., and Francis Armistead, $2 each, vol.

WEST-TOWN BOARDING-SCHOOL.

The Winter session of the school will commence on Second-day, the 5th of the Eleventh month. Pupils will be cooveyed from the city to the Street Road station on the new Philadelphia and West Chester railroad, where United States, 270.

Philadelphia.—Mortality last week, 202. Natives of school, on the arrival of the 7.45, 10, and 200 than partial philadelphia. The Cattle market, the last Second-day, the 5th, and Third-day, the 6th. The partial week, was dull. Beeves sold at from $7.00 to $8.50 senger depot is at the carne of Thirty-first and Market week, was dull. General Philadelphia. The Market street passenses the school. Bargage may be sent. conveyances will be in waiting to take them to the school, on the arrival of the 7.45, 10, and 2.30 trains on to the depot, corner of Eighteenth and Market streets, or to the passenger depot, West Philadelphia. If sent to the depot at Eighteenth and Market streets, it should be there an honr before the departure of the trains. Tickets will be furnished by the ticket agent at the depot, to such pupils as have been regularly entered, which with the stage fare from the station, will be charged to the pupil at the school.

The stage will connect with the early morning train o'clock on Sixth-days, will be forwarded to the school. Letters are to be forwarded through the post-office, directed to West-town Boarding-School, Street Road P. O., Chester Co., Pa.

Teuth mo. 23d, 1860.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted as Teacher of Reading in the Boys department of this Institution. Apply to Samuel Hilles, Wilmington, Del. James Emlen, West Chester, Chester Co., Pa. Alfred Cope, Germantown, Pa.

Sixth mo. 6th, 1860.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted to fill the station of Governor in the Boys' department of this Institution.

Application may be made to NATHAN SHARPLESS, Concord, Pa.; Samuel, Hilles, Wilmington, Del.; James fast as practicable. The ship Hornet cleared for New York EMLEN, West Chester, Pa.; or Thomas Evans, Philad. Twelfth mo., 1859.

DIED, at her residence in Westmoreland, Oneida Co. N. Y., on the 20th of Fourth month, 1860, ELEANOR M PECKHAM, wife of Samuel Peckham; an esteemed member of New Hartford Monthly Meeting, in the forty-ninth Spirit which gave them forth, when we read them, we very of her age. She was early made acquainted with should understand them to our profit." She bore be serious daunge was one of it, of the motion was sus-ficient to shake down old chimneys, and cause the fall of plastering in many of the houses. Even Handed Justice.—According to late Russia "Ori.—she experienced its blessed and peaceful fruits; being preserved from falling into many of the snares and temptations incident to youth. As she continued faithful to the manifestations of Trnth, with which she was favoured, she found it her religious duty, to adopt the plain Scripture language, about the fifteenth year of her age, while attending school with those who knew but little about such exercises. The cross was great, but as she yielded obedience, great was the peace she enjoyed. She also felt constrained to lay aside all su-perfluity of apparel, believing that Truth leads its followers into plainness, simplicity, and circumspection of dress and manners. Continuing faithful to the requisidress and manners. Continuing faithful to the requisi-tions of the Holy Spirit, as manifested in the secret of her soul, she united in religious fellowship with the Society of Friends, about the twenty-third year of her age. and was enabled to live a careful and inoffensive life. clothed with a meek and quiet spirit. She was a firm believer and supporter of the ancient principles and testimonies of the Society of Friends, was exemplary in the attendance of religious meetings, and in her solid, quiet waiting therein. She was several years afflicted with a hard cough, and at times suffered greatly from soreness and appression, which terminated in consumption. As their labours and their works do follow them." the earthly house of this tabernacle gradually gave way she felt an increasing concern to know of having a build ing of God, not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

At one time, when speaking of the approaching change she said, "If I knew I should be happy, if I could fee the assurance I want to feel, if I knew every thing was ready, I should not care how soon the time comes. have nothing to trust to but the Lord's mercy." getting up on the morning of the 15th of Fourth month she was much exhausted, and said, "I cannot last long if I do not get better; I may not live a week." He husband being much affected, she said, "Don't mourt for me, but give me up, and be company for each other (meaning her husband and only surviving daughter; these are strong ties; we have lived together, (referring to her husband,) nearly thirty years, and Samuel, [he husband,] has done all he could for me." She express nnsoand, I has gone an necond for me. She express ed much feeling for him, and gratitude for what hat been done for her. At another time she said, "The Saviour knows what is best for us. He is all love; he knows our weaknesses and infirmities; he knows on sincerity. I am willing to suffer until it is ecough; desire not to complain." 16th. Feeling herself fast sin 16th. Feeling herself fast sink ing, she said, "This is a solemn time; there are many strong ties; and then to think 'as the tree falls, so to be ready, this is the greatest of all. I have de sired, from my youth, to do right, to live as I ought but in looking back, I can see many misses; our Savionr is able, and, I hope, willing to forgive. 'He willeth not that any should perish, but that all should retura, repent and live.' He is all goodness and mercy without him we can do nothing; he is all in all." the 17th, being very weak and oppressed for breath, she said, "When the right time comes, I am willing to go said, "When the right time comes, I am willing to go I hope there is nothing in my way; if there is, I don' see it. I hope my work has kept pace with the day. I lis a great thing to be prepared to die. I don't want am to think I am better than I am. I am a poor, weak crea ture; it is all of his mercy; all good comes from him He gives the ability; He looks at the sincerity and tenderness of the heart; He is just and holy; He is all lov and mercy. I can resign all to him. I am willing to go at any time; his time is the right time." After ma ny other expressions, she observed, "I see my Saviou coming nearer and nearer. His love is great; it fills m heart; I am a poor creature, all weakness; I never wa more sensible of it, although I have often felt it so; it i all mercy; I have no merit of my own; I take nothin to myself; let him have all the praise." A little after "I feel such love in my heart; I believe it is a little taste of what is to come. I long to go and be at rest; loog more and more to go. Oh, the Saviour's love. love my frieads; oh, I love my friends; but there is love beyond this. I want to be remembered to all m absent friends wherever scattered, that inquire after me and tell them I hope to meet them in that better laud I want every thing done, that I may not have anything to do, but to die. I have nothing of my own to dependent, it is all through Christ. When I was a child reading of the sufferings of the Saviour on Calvary, for ns, interested me very much, and often, through life, i reading the Scriptures of Truth, I have felt that love t flow in my heart, that I never felt in reading any other writings. I believe it was a measure of that love that gave them forth; they are a dead letter of themselves but if we lived close to the mark, and looked to the sufferings, which were great, with christian patience auresignation; often saying, "I am willing to suffer; I fe until the 20th, when she gently passed away, leaving t survivors the consoling belief, that she has entered inte a glorious immortality. -, at the residence of his son-in-law, David Peck ham, in the town of Westmoreland, Oneida county, N. Y on the 24th of Fifth month, 1860, JOSEPH POWELL, the eighty-second year of his age. He was a member of Western Monthly Meeting and Le Ray Quarterly Mee ing, and for many years stood in the station of an elde He was an example of christian simplicity, plainness as meekness, and was concerned to unhold the doctrin and testimooies of our religious Society, in their simple city and purity. Without much disease, he gradual wasted away, and quietly breathed his last, retaining h mental faculties to the end. In the decease of this de Friend, the society of which he was a member, has lo a pillar, that will not readily be supplied; his family, kind and affectionate husband and lather, and the con munity in which he lived, a good neighbour and frien-"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord fro henceforth, yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest fro PILE & M'ELROY, PRINTERS, Lodge street, opposite the Penusylvania Bank.

HRIEND.

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, ELEVENTH MONTH 3, 1860.

NO. 9.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

ice Two Dollars per aunum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by

JOHN RICHARDSON.

T NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS.

PHILADELPHIA.

'ostage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three aths, if paid in advance, three and a quarter cents; l in advance, six and a half cents.

> For "The Friend." Henry Hull.

(Continued from page 58.)

with them.

rit in us; who is given to lead into all truth. dard.

He will reveal himself more and more fully, take His unwillingness to permit my attendance at weeksafely in the pathway of peace.

We have no disposition to undervalue human instrumentality in the religious training of the gious persons in families where there are young youth. It is the duty of parents earnestly enjoined children, is often attended with very injurious conin our excellent discipline, diligently to instruct sequences to their tender minds. Parents who are their offspring in the doctrines and precepts of re- desirous of training up their offspring in the fear of ligion as set forth in the Holy Scriptures, and in the Lord, should exercise great care as regards those the approved writings of the society. When this they employ. I well remember the corrupting is properly done, it is a great blessing, to the chil-conversation and conduct of some who were endren; and we would encourage all heads of famimy part of the United States, for three months, if lies in so good a work, and to seek for divine abi-gether ignorant of what was passing. The sons of lity to do it rightly.

let none overlook the important fact that the agency ticular manner exposed to contamination, many of of man alone cannot do the work, let him be ever that class being of the lowest grade, and hardened so full of Biblical knowledge. If our children have in wickedness The religious experience of Henry Hull, in his any true religion, it must be the work of the young to know who it was that was thus deal- things which please and develop the imagination tuition of tender children. One of this description, ember that we cannot of ourselves think a good heart-changing religion, which only is the fruit of would beat the boys unmercifully, while his own

k, or say, or do, must be the work of the Holy of nearly all their personal property, and some have suitable teachers, appears to be generally times where they had large herds of eattle, the last gaining ground. low important then that children should, from cow was driven away. But even wicked men reney, be taught to give the most scrupulous at-ion to these inward manifestations, and impli-were such as had indulged too freely in political come to the house. I immediately went, and found to obey them, as the tender pleadings of a disputes and conversation, while the oppressors several Friends there, who proposed a religious iour's love, and the only way in which they were evidently more favourable toward those who opportunity with the family. When I found what grow in vital practical religion. It is equally meddled not with the prevailing contentions, but I was wanted for I felt disturbed in my mind, that ortant that no course of instruction in religious patiently and quietly suffered as the peaceable folmy father should call me from my work, upon, as should be adopted, the tendency of which lowers of Him, who said, 'My kingdom is not of what I then thought, such a trifling occasion, and do not substitute something else for these this world." The collectors would frequently go I could scarcely speak pleasantly to the Friends. hings of the Holy Spirit, and to turn away the away without taking anything from such; and But soon after we sat down together, the power of union of the child to some other and inferior when compelled to distrain, they manifested much Truth spread over us, and the Friends were enareluctance.

brist. It was the concern of some of old, and ing me instructed in the business, engaged a man on the solicitude of my dear father for my ever-Saviour owned it, and put his hands on the who understood it; but there being little oppor-lized, and blessed them. But He is no longer tunity of choice, the person he hired was very ob-by present in his bodily appearance among jectionable in point of morals, and I was greatly ened state of mind I was in, when I went into the , and the only way in which the little ones exposed in his company. He was, however, soon room, my heart was humbled; and I entered into them in his arms, and bless them, and lead them day meetings, was the only difficulty I met with from him.

"The practice of employing immoral or irreligaged in my father's business, when he was altofarmers who are left to labour with the workmen, In the performance of this great duty, however, without the presence of their parents, are in a par-

"It is no less important that in the education of thful days, is much like that of many others. Holy Spirit in them, and care is necessary that we children, suitable teachers should be sought for, a grace of God begins to work in the heart at a do not in any way draw them from His teachings Greatly have the children, in many parts of the yearly period, resisting the indulgence of the to ours, and substitute a system of knowledge of country, suffered from the want of this care; too ward and corrupt propensities and passions of sacred things acquired by study and human efforts, many being more anxious to obtain a teacher at a an nature, reproving and condemning their ingraph of His living heart-changing work in the soul. In graph of this structure, and encouraging and comforting the mind this day when literature and science are making services may cost a little more; and heece some well doing. This is the commencement of the great advances, and mean are cultivating their minds k of restoration, and many have felt it when to an extent heretofore unparalleled, while the kind, have been entrusted with the oversight and and the tastes, are multiplying around us, it be- who had been a soldier in the British army, was An attentive and pious observer will often percomes the christian to be especially and differently employed in the neighbourhood where I lived, and oseasons when the Divine Witness is thus plead watchful, lest, by little and little, a mere intellect from him I derived much of my small share of with the little ones; and, by seeking for best ual and sentimental religion, beautiful in appear-school learning. He would often leave his pupils, may be made useful in encouraging the mind ance, and speciously attractive in its forms, but under the care of one of the elder boys while he ive diligent heed to Him, who is at work in it, destitute of vital power, should push aside, and spent his time at a tippling-house with his drunken implicitly to obey His leadings. When we take the place of, that humbling self-denying, and companions, and returning to the school intoxicated, ight, or breathe a holy desire, and that the the Spirit of God, and alone will find acceptance age of God cannot be perceived by the natural in his sight. The narrative proceeds: but are foolishness unto him; it is plain that

"The revolutionary war continuing, the sufferings
tever that is really good, we are enabled to of Friends greatly increased. They were stripped Friends are now more careful; and the concern to

"While at work one evening in the cloth-mill, bled to speak so plainly to my situation, that my he truly pious parent can desire nothing more "My father built a fulling-mill, in order to fur-spirit was broken into tenderness, and when I left estly for his child than that it may be brought his me with employment; and with a view of have the house, tears flowed from my eyes. Reflecting now be brought to Him, is by turning to and dismissed, and I was thrown into other company, solemn covenant with the Lord, that if he would ing with his spiritual manifestation in the the man who next took the mill, had an interest pass by my offences, I would endeavour to be to the they must find and know Him, if in the proceeds of ny labour, and kept me very inindful of his favours, and walk more worthily. He is known by them, and as they diligently closely at work, early and late, to which I quietly At another time, my mother reproving me for e to cultivate an acquaintance with him there, submitted, being desirous to learn the business, levity, I replied to her in rather unhandsome terms, at which I saw she was grieved. This so many witches round a mystic incense-pot, and in the pride of strength and health, and the fi done so much for me.

the Beloved of souls was pleased to renew the of fers of his love in my heart, and I was filled with Lounging in their gateways, the Sheiks accost his hand, the Sheik himself is not more impatie joy and rejoicing. Thus I continued through the every passer-by, their conversation being chiefly for the commencement of the game than is the fie time of my apprenticeship, which being expired, I limited to agricultural matters; for both Druses steed he bestrides, who paws the earth, and sni undertook the management of the business myself, and Maronites are, strictly speaking, an agricul-the air with dilated nostrils. Suddenly there rid diligently attending meetings, sometimes walking tural people and hewers of timber, though they forth from the ranks a challenger, who leans slight lock, of Marlborough. The first time I saw her, I tions that the Scotch are mystically related to them, sibly checking its speed, and in the act of where thought she was the person with whom I should be and profess the same secret faith. Another curious ing, throws the diereed with his full force at t willing to spend my days, but being young, I was fact that it is well to bear in mind, is the uncheek opponent he has selected, and immediately after not hasty to move in the matter, but frequently ed disgust and horror the Druses displayed on wards putting his horse to its utmost speed, gallo contemplated upon it, and at times felt humble bearing of the atrocities committed by the Indian back to his own party, pursued by some other o desires, that if it was right, I might have her for sepoys: one chieftain even went so far as to volun-ponent. The dierced thus delivered, derives a my companion, and that the Lord would prosper teer his services to help in quelling the rebellion; ditional impetus from the swift curve made by t us in the undertaking. In the year 1785, we took yet to these people are attributed crimes equally horse in wheeling abruptly round, and it cu each other in marriage, under a sense, I trust, of revolting. When casual European travellers stum-through the air with a whiff like that of a she the importance of the solemn compact; the meet-ble across them, their conversation takes a wider The pursuing horseman from the opposite side was greatly tried with a spirit of unbelief, and the British, and openly express their gratitude; of dexterity that would do credit to any acroba sometimes was near giving up to close in therewith, many of them having been in former times saved hanging over by the horse's neck, and dodging fro but being blessed with a pious wife, she proved a from exile and death through British agency. true help-meet to me, both in my religious progress and in the cares of life. Few men have been more blest in this respect than I was."

(To be continued.)

For "The Friend,"

(Concluded from page 59.)

Druse Sheiks.

The habitations of the Sheiks of the Lebanon consist of large masses of buildings, erected upon a somewhat similar principle to the model lodginghouses in London, and with an eye to mutual security, comfort, and protection. They are, in short, ranges of barracks, wherein each Sheik occupies two or more apartments according to his sent a more picturesque or striking tableau than vents bloodshed. After about three hours, bo means, and he dwells there with his wife and fa- the gathering of these mountain chiefs and their horses and men are fairly knocked up; and o mily. Happily for themselves, they are a people followers. The sublime mountain scenery around; liged to relinquish the sport. There are mat wholly unacquainted with the European luxury the snow-caped hills gleaming with gold and anecdotes of the strength and dexterity of the of suites of elegantly furnished apartments. The scarlet in the sun's bright rays; the purple and celebrated diereed-throwers. One, named She bouldir of the Shelk's wife is the family sleeping crimson hues of the firmament flecked with silvery Hottar Amul, is said to have sent a dejerce apartment, where, in the absence of anything more clouds; the azure titu of the distant mountains through a two-inch deal-board. His father we degant, a pile of mattresses and pillows (which contrasting with the deep brown hue of the amerer the best horseman in all Syria, and it is told will be spread out upon the floor to sleep on at hills and the emerald carpet spread over the Meidan him, that on one occasion, being present at a Me night) serve as a substitute for more costly divans by the ever-bountiful hand of nature-all these dan at Grand Cairo, Mahomet Ali bantered bi or chairs. The Sheik himself holds his morning combined form a beautiful picture; which is ren-levée out in the open court-yard opposite his house dered more brilliant and animated by the groups strength, who was the champion of the Meida in fine weather; and in winter, within the single of richly dressed horsemen, and superbly caparisalle de reception, where the visitors congregate soned steeds-the handsomest of men and the no- The Sheik accepted the challenge, stipulation affected me much, so that I wept to think how discussing more tobacco-smoke than anything else. enjoyment of the exhilarating breeze, which thoughtless I was, fearing I should be cast off by Opposite to these dwellings are their respective cooled by the snow, and rendered fragrant with the the Almighty, for my ingratitude to her who had Meidans or "lunges" for horse exercise, where the seents of the wild shrubs and flowers. All the very favourite game of the djereed is practised, combined render the scene a magnificent and sp "From the time of the afore-mentioned oppor- To the gateway, in summer, as in the days of Job rit-stirring spectacle. tunity in the family, the work of religion seemed and David, resort the great, the wealthy, and the The Sheiks and their principal attendants wi to take root in my mind. I could not take the indolent, accompanied by their male children; for intend to take part in the sports, congregate he liberties I had formerly done in vain and idle con-these are a glory and a pride in their eyes, and at an early hour; and though the sight is a cor versation, but seriousness covered my mind for ma-blessed is that man supposed to be, even to this mon one to the natives, it invariably attract ny months, and I was glad when the meeting-day day, who has his quiver full of them. Amongst a crowds of spectators. The horses are put into the came. I remembered my former covenants, and people that are continually at feud with their neigh- requisite paces to get them into good breath, the wept in secret at the remembrance of how often I bours, or with aggressors from the plains, every riders poising their diereeds, and practising the wept in secret at the remembrance of now one in louis, or with aggressors from the plants, every freders possing their detrects, and practising of had broken them. Frequently, in the silent hours additional arm that can wield a weapon, offensive fling of the arm, to prepare for the contest. Aft of night, when all nature seemed slumbering, I sat or defensive, is, as a matter of course, an acquisition and a sum and a sum and a sum and a sum and a source of anxiety, than a bout a quarter of an hour's practice, the horsem mortal was so miscrable as myself. Yet I had an incumbrance and a source of anxiety, than a opponents on either side being on the field, and to prove the context of the medical practical description. very often been favoured with the sweet incomes of been sadly illustrated during the recent massacres, sport of the day commences. The djereed is heavenly love, which I had slighted, running after for the assassins made a point of destroying every long stick, about an inch in diameter, and a ya the follies incident to youth. At other seasons, male adult and infant, while the women were left and a half in length, but blunt and round at be four miles over the mountain; and I was often much comforted while we sat together, and could plowshares. Resembling as they do, in some release to my employment rejoicing.

"In the eighteenth year of my age, I became claus and mountain homes, it is not very singular traversing about two-thirds of the Meidan, acquainted with Sarah, daughter of Edward Hal- that they themselves should be imbued with no- abruptly wheels his horse to the left, without se ing being favoured with the overshadowing of Di-vine goodness.

"For nearly two years after our marriage, I Sheiks. The Druses have a decided preference for lites, who avoid the blows aimed at them, by fea horses, to the rearing and training of which they the diereed by the left hand in the full velocity devote great skill and pains; and they treat them its flight. Soon the mélée becomes general, at with the utmost kindness and consideration. They presents a most exciting spectacle to those not a use little of the whip, and less of the spur; and tively engaged in it. Men on foot find ample at never goad their steeds to vain exertion, nor un-fatiguing occupation in supplying the riders wi necessarily expose them to damp or cold. Indeed, djereeds. they are essentially a horse-loving people; and of all the manly games in which cavaliers delight, our blows are sometimes exchanged; the combatan none surpasses the Meidau.

SHEIK GAMES AND HORSEMANSHIP.

to these Sheiks' houses; and few things can pre- such occasions, however, prompt interference pr round a brasier of burning charcoal, looking like blest of steeds-curveting and prancing to and fro however, that he should not be held responsible f more than the rider's foot presents itself to his o pouent. Sometimes the pursued will sudden The Druse Sheiks are noted for their breed of wheel round, and with consummate address, sei In this game of the Meidan, severe and dange get angry, and throwing away their djereeds, dra The Meidan is usually opposite to the entrances their swords, and fall to fighting in earnest. ny consequences; and then riding boldly into the and many: better so, said I, than to be luke-fitay, after a few harmless passes that were skil-warm." better so, said I, than to be luke-and, I believe, it was honostly offered. But we illy parried, he delivered his djereed with such ess and half-frantic steed has been seen tearing

For " The Friend,"

Extracts from the Letters and Memorandums of our Late Friend, H. Williams, er with intelligence of your welfare, and informng how your afflicted parent is faring, that I am The opening of the passage afforded relief to me, to hurt the tender vines, there will be no fruit. and some encouragement, who have lately had too "I want us in our different allotments, and very great Helper of all. There are so many discour- something which ought to die; and the sooner the aging things in our poor little meeting and circles, better for us, if prepared we see to it.

conforted to-day in reading Francis Howgill's pre-diction in the last number of 'The Friend:' it is Thou wilt not love me, if I continue this strain and for a moment. Nicholson, of Perquimon Co., N. C., which have been inserted from week to week.

with a little sense remaining of good at home, in of the present session, and would encourage you ing as Friends' children ought to be dressed.

your situation, on account of your father's [J. H.] with you; they will help, and it will be best to will be cherished by those alive in the Truth, and protracted illness, my sympathy for him and those mention to them such things, one and all, that have the school retained on its original ground. about him is awake. That light and peace should crept in through some of the girls, such as plait. "At our afternoon meeting Seventh-day, our being received into glory, - waited patiently through Do all you can now, while the committee are with say as a servant formerly, "Unless the Lord had the remaining conflict of nature. I seemed to read you, and during the session, as wrong things apand thought I could see clearly how it was with pear, at once call on the girls, and with the help of "When I said my foot slippeth, thy mercy, O Lord, J. H.; patiently waiting: no doubt with me, but a lear ——, in a proper manner, have it put app." Had this not been the case, I should safe entry into the port of rest will be granted, it will save much trouble, and the comfort you will not care to tell my friends that a concern which orce at the retreating cunuch, that it entered his strangers; we are weak, when left to ourselves; young people do not get ready to come up to our ack between the shoulders, and came out at his two gone, who helped bear the burden. It is a help, the cause will suffer, and others will take our reast. There is rarely a Meidan without some low time in Society; there is need for every one places and our crowns; and we be altogether left ound or other being inflicted, and the horses are to look to the principle, or they will certainly be in weakness, darkness and dismay: for these things, fentimes greater sufferers than the men; a rider-blown away: to find ourselves rooted and grounded I feel truly sad often, and want we may lay hold in that, we need not fear storms nor any assaults of the little strength left." cross the Meidan with a djereed sticking up from of the cunning adversary, trying to deceive; so let us see to it. Time is precious; we all stand and to get thy letter, also to hear you all keep well, accountable. When I think of these things, other it is the greatest thing next to the immediate prebusiness seems small and of less moment. I would sence of best help, which, I trust thou hast a share none just now.

"The specimens thou showed me were mode- feelings and good fruits will follow. nuch indebted. This is truly a season of proving; rate; thou thought it better to let them do it than o doubt but that those of his children who watch excite feelings which did more harm than the lit- an interesting concern; if well managed, it will ith him, feel the necessity of lending the aid of the foxes.' I thought it over and over, and if I had prove a blessing to our children. I look back heir spirits, that his faith fail not; according to written under the fresh feeling, it would have been with great comfort to the days, when I was a child ny measure, my sympathy is awakened, and de-better done. Thy view of the subject, I appre-there." ires raised that he may be supported to the end. | ciated, but have not been able to make it fit in "To-day, our meeting rather fuller than often, with that restraint over inconsistencies, which omitted in its proper place.

The account was set before us of the disciples be-Friends recommend. I would by no means lay "Left home on Sixth-da ng tossed with tempestuous seas, and the Master rude hands on these (as many would think) innout assaying to go unto the Master, and seeing the to do right things rightly, preserve the feeling, and vaves boisterous, he began to sink; here faith yet convince the judgment. Thou doubtless re-much of an eye to the boisterous waves; if sink- especially at West-Town, not to get into an easy, ng be the consequence, great need to look to the clever, well to look at, way of doing; keeping alive

"Eleventh month .- Our Quarterly Meeting -no have, as a meeting, many low, poor times. If the he glad to send you some good tidings, but have of, though the path is so closely beset with cares. . . . Under the proving dispensations allotted, "I have often recurred to our conversation a I do sympathise with thee, and desire patience may "Enth mo. 13th.—Thou hast been so very little before I left thyroom to set out home, where continue to abound, and that thy head may be kept ind since my indisposition, in putting pen to pan we were speaking of the 'fancy-work' made by the above the waves, 'then thou will never drown.' critically an one of the continue to above the waves, 'then thou will never drown.' Continue to 'bake the little cake first,' then good

"The School Committee met to-day. That is "The account of the Yearly Meeting in 1844,

"Left home on Sixth-day morning the 12th of Fourth month; felt as if many home-cares were eing seen walking on the waters; Peter desiring cent pastimes, and excite feelings worse than the wrapped about me, though disposed of them so as e would bid him to come unto him, which he did, 'little foxes.' Yet dear ---, is there not a way to feel pretty easy. Came safely to brother B.'s. After dinner, I took up the fourth number of Friends' Library,' containing the account of our ailed; but in great kindness a helping hand was members the conversation; look it over, and please dear departed Friend, Thomas Scattergood, and ent; with this query, 'wherefore didst thou doubt?' call to mind, that if the 'little foxes' are suffered read with interest his deep wading and trials in and around London, where he had been a long time. I was glad of having the back-parlour pretty much to myself, while the front one was occupied by many Friends, who had come to attend the Yearly Meeting. I was thoughtful whether it appeared selfish to sit thus alone; soon found it needful to that my mind has not been high nor proud; trust "The heads of our mothers in the Truth, are retire to my bed to rest; there I remained till near am willing to be low, 'if so be, there may be hope.' now laid low, who did faithfully stand against the evening; my mind very quiet and thoughtful on "Beside what strength I found at meeting, I was showy fancy work at West-Town; that I remember, my own account, respecting attending this annual meeting, solicitous not to forget myself, not even seasonable; and then those accounts of Thomas all y burdens."

Nicholson, of Perquimon Co., N. C., which have "Dear Friends,—To all the rightly-exercised An exercise pervaded, on account of the teachers and care-takers of the scholar girls at use of the plural language among some of the "So if a little is gained here and there, so that West-Town. I feel concerned for the right setting scholars; also the dress of some of them not bemaybe, I may be sustained to the end, that I die in your great charge, to endeavour to join hand was believed that this of drawing little by little and heart in laying hold on wrong things; an such move the says and and heart in laying hold on wrong things; an such move the says as are not proper and suitable to be allowed school, would, if not discouraged, be a real hurt to things as are not proper and suitable to be allowed school, would, if not discouraged, be a real hurt to things; and the says are not proper and suitable to be allowed school, would, if not discouraged, be a real hurt to the says are not proper and suitable to be allowed school, would, if not discouraged, be a real hurt to whereby I felt again introduced into some sense of at West-Town. You will have some women Friends the Society, eventually; but I hope that a concern be his experience after desertion and a withdraw ing of the hair, combing and fixing each other's dear friend, Sarah Emlen brought her concern when a little more bodily suffering is over. I seem the when the bar when the summer of the summer o letter from —, last evening. Says, 'she has to received an acknowledgment from —; there her family was poor in Manasseh, and she, the least struggle hard for her life;' 'her enemies are lively seemed a good deal of feeling in the meeting on in her father's house, yet through mercy had been sustained. It left a precious feeling over the meet- and again, on a subsequent date, during a thunderpress themselves, a committee was appointed to difficulty.—Recreative Science. prepare her a certificate."

The Physical Effects of a Total Eclipse.

ably, the sky assumes various colours, the landscape ness and affection. has an unnatural, gloomy look, whilst the darkness is totally different from that at night. Every thing appears to change its colour and appearance. In the animal kingdom, cattle return home or congregate together in the fields; horses in vehicles have been recorded to have remained motionless, and could not be induced to stir; dogs howl, fowls return to roost, bees return to their hives, birds cease singing, and rooks fly back to their rookeries animals and birds being evidently terrified, and conceive that night has suddenly returned upon them. On the reappearance of the sun, the birds resume their songs, and cocks crow incessantly as in early morning. During the eclipse of March, 1858, I witnessed, on the central line of eclipse at Isham—the position which I selected for observing this eclipse from-rooks returning in pairs, one after the other; and on the increase of light, those that had not reached the rookery were seen to turn round abruptly in the air and retrace their flight to the fields they had previously left. The telegraph posts on the railway were not visible at the distance of a quarter of a mile; whitewashed houses had a decidedly warm yellow look, and the people, who were congregated together in great numbers, did not speak a single word, a death-like stillness prevailing. Crocuses closed their blossoms, the air became cold and more humid, and the wind, which was blowing briskly, became almost motionless. To ascertain the direction of the wind, I had taken a light silk flag which was flying at full length until the time of greatest obscuration, when it was observed to be lying close to the flag-pole. Many of these particulars were further verified in the neighbourhood of the Highland House Observatory, by those whom I had left in charge. Flowers closed, turkeys ran home from the fields, fowls went to roost, peacocks flew into the trees, cows came to the gates of the field awaiting to be fetched home, and ducks wandered about the grass in search of snails, as they do at dusk hour, whilst hares rose from their forms. A person ploughing could not see the end of the furrow one hundred yards off, and another who had tried ineffectually to light his pipe with a common match on account of the strength of the wind, said that at the time of greatest darkness he had not the slighest difficulty. A fox-hunter described that he was hunting, and the scent very good until the centre of the eclipse, when all scent vanished, and the sport had to be relinquished. In the eclipse of 1858, at the time of the greatest obscuration, the darkness was not felt to be nearly as great as was expected, especially to those who had no means of testing it accurately, and the reason of this is very easily explained. The sky was overcast, consequently the pupil of the eye was much dilated, and therefore enabled to take in a much larger surface of what small amount of light remained; and it must be borne in mind that this was an annular eclipse. Had the sky been cloudless, the pupil would have contracted, and the loss of light consequently rendered much more perceptible. As a practical proof that there was a considerable amount of darkness, the indices of some delicate thermometers could not be read without the aid of a lamp;

ing, under which much unity and sympathy was storm, when it was remarked by several persons that felt and expressed very generally, so much so, that the darkness was greater than in the eclipse (and our friend - compared it to a sky without a indeed it really appeared to be so,) nevertheless cloud. After full time allowed for Friends to ex- the delicate instruments could be read without any

How guarded should we be when we speak to the unhappy, whose sorrow and dejection are apt The aspect that nature puts on is remarkable, to interpret into an unkind and bitter sense, every The distant prospect becomes contracted consider- expression that does not breathe the greatest gentle-

> Selected. AN ORIENTAL SCENE.

While "Fanny Forester" sat by the bedside of her dying husbaad in India, she composed a poem entitled "Watching." It is one of the most exquisite pictures of an Oriental scene ever painted.

Sleep, love, sleep! The dusty day is done.

Lo! from afar the freshening breezes sweep, Wide over groves of balm, Down from the towering palm, In at the open casement cooling run, And round thy lowly bed, Thy bed of pain, Bathing thy patient head, Like grateful showers of rain, They come; While the white curtains, waving to and fro, Fan the sick air; And pityingly the shadows come and go, With gentle human care. Compassionate and dumb.

The dusty day is done, The night begun: While prayerful watch I keep, Sleep, love, sleep! Is there no magic in the touch Of fingers thou dost love so much? Fain would they scatter poppies o'er thee now; Or, with its mute caress, The tremulous lip some soft nepenthe press Upon thy weary lid and aching brow; While prayerful watch I keep, Sleep, love, sleep !

On the pagoda spire The bells are swinging, Their little golden circlet in a flutter With tales the wooing winds have dared to utter, Till all are ringing, As if a choir Of golden-nested birds in heaven were singing; And with a lulling sound The music floats around, And drops like balm into the drowsy ear; Commingling with the hum Of the Sepoy's distant drum, And lazy beetle ever droning near, Sounds these of deepest silence born, Like night made visible by morn; So silent that I sometimes start, To hear the throbbings of my heart, And watch with shivering sense of pain, To see thy pale lids lift again.

The lizard with his mouse-like eyes, Peeps from the mortise in surprise At such strange quiet after day's barsh din; Then holdly ventures out, And looks about, And with his hollow feet Treads his small evening beat, Treads his small evening near, Darting upon his prey, In such a tricksy, winsome sort of way, His delicate marauding seems no sin. And still the curtains swing, But noiselessly; The bells a melancholy murmor riog, As tears were in the sky: More heavily the shadows fall Like the black foldings of a pall, Where juts the rough beam from the wall; The candles flare With fresher gusts of air; The beetle's drone The needed account of the needed at the need

Selected. "I WILL BLESS THE LORD AT ALL TIMES."

O thou whose bounty fills my cup With every blessing meet, I give thee thanks for every drop, The bitter, and the sweet.

> I praise thee for the desert road, And for the river side, For all thy goodness bath bestowed, And all thy grace denied.

I thank thee both for smile and frown, Both for the gain and loss;

I praise thee for the future crown. And for the present cross.

I thank thee for the rod of love, Which stirred my worldly nest, And for the stormy cloud that drove The flutterer to thy breast.

I bless thee for the glad increase, And for the waning joy, And for this calm and settled peace, Which nothing can destroy.

Restoring the Soil.—Among the mysteries Nature's work, an incident of Cheshire farmin related at the meeting of the New York Sta Agricultural Society, by J. Stanton Gould, is exceeding interest.

Cheshire, as everybody knows, is the most dis tinguished in the kingdom for the richness of i dairy products, and the farmers believe it is owin to the fact that they returned to the earth all tha the earth gave, as the reward of culture, except th milk. Of that they formed the delicious produc so identified with their name all over the world o good eating. Superb, indeed, were their field: They looked like the plains of the land that spreaout to sight when the river was passed.

But with all this richness of appearance, th dairy product of Cheshire grew less, and as it England the aid of science to agriculture is no deem unworthy, the savans were consulted. They like sensible men, looked closest at that which was taken away, and they discovered in this that which the milk needed-the phosphates-and they recommended an application of bone dust to the lands Then orders went out for the terrible riches o. battle-fields, and the bones that whitened themmonuments of great men, as the world calls them -were brought over to England, peaceful England over whose Edge Hill and Marston Moor the deep grass had grown.

And those bones anticipated their destiny of dust, and were scattered over the meadows of Cheshire, and in a short time the riches of that country was the fat of land. Then some men thought of the strange steps in that history—of the food that when those bones were knit together in all the parts of the human structure caused their increase, and by what wild war of endurance and death they came to be the source of that which had been their own formation. Thus in the circle, the man living and dead, goes from participation in the life above the earth to the scarcely less mysterious life beneath the earth.

Profitable and Safe .- To be bowed down under a sense of our infirmities, is profitable to the best, and safe at seasons for all; and whilst we may look upon these dispensations, as some small proof that we are not left without chastisement and fatherly correction; they turn out not unfrequently, to be the forerunners of further displays of mercy, and wholesome preparatives for usefulness and enlargement. We often mar the benefits that are in store for us, and the intended effects of our trials, by too great eagerness for deliverance.-

Wherever a diminution takes place of the relivable Rock, was greatly lessened in many. Addived, and stood up upon their feet, an exceeding glously experienced members of a meeting, it must verse opinions on the subjects of worship, ministry affect with sadness, those who are left, if and prayer, have been latterly set affoat, and a re-established in its former vigour they retain a love for the cause of truth and right constant practical reliance upon the guidance of and beauty, must come to the light of Christ, wait cousness, and are properly sensible of the great-the Holy Spirit in the decisions of the church, and upon the Lord to show them their condition, wheness of the work of salvation. The society of simi- in the administration of the discipline, have been, ther they have forsaken the Fountain of living lar purified spirits, has a cheering influence upon it is to be feared, much lost sight of, in many waters, and have hewn to themselves broken ciseach other. The recollection of beloved Friends places. Different views of proposed measures have terms that can hold no water: whether they have residing within convenient reach, having constantly been taken by members, who profess the original been attempting to steady the ark, or to defend the in view the glory of their great Creator, walking faith, which have produced alienation, and abated Truth in their own wills and strength; or whether by the same rule, and minding the same thing, is the love which ought to subsist among brethren, they have been despising the just conclusions of the a source of comfort and support, often without any and has become another cause of weakness in the body, and the men-servants and maid-servants who outward channel of knowing one another's thoughts. society. There is a communion in spirit, and a strength in glad the city of God. In these reflections there is and reign in his church, and in his people indiviconsolation, and the recollection that association dually, yet much unsettlement remains. Selfistate of a little child; led about by the hand of with each other is easily attained at any time, often life, as the Head of the church may see fit to call gether as an outward bond. and anoint for the work to which He allots them. In how many meetings is it difficult to find those, who have been made wise in the things of the hea- from seeing the heavenly excellency of the Truth, venly kingdom by obedience to the Truth, ready to be placed in the stations of elders and overseers where they are wanted.

members, who, had not that heresy divided and bers individually must come back to the true faith they dig around it, and cultivate the soil as far scattered the Society, might have been planted in and foundation; not in opinion only, but in bring- from the trunk as the roots are supposed to extend. the house of the Lord, and flourished in the courts ing forth the fruits of the Spirit, and fulfilling the We have heard old farmers assert that, in their of our God. Not only have they been scattered, great commandment, "Thou shalt love the Lord opinion, the roots of the apple-tree extend out as but it is to be feared that not a few have been all thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, far from the trunk as do the limbs of the tree. This most irretrievably poisoned in their principles. Be- and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength; is admitting a great deal, for many farmers go on fore Elias Hicks could make a thorough inroad on and thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself;" the supposition that the roots are not half as long the peace and harmony of the Society, many of the which can only be done through obedience to the as the branches; therefore they dig a small hole in substantial ministers and elders had been removed manifestations of the Holy Spirit in the heart, and a grass field, as large as a wash-tub, and expect a by death. Emigration to the west had also thinned the offers of saving help from it to the soul. When tree to thrive and make limbs, when the roots have out the members in some places, and as the aged all are brought and abide here, the doctrines which no chance to extend and obtain nourishment from and experienced ones died, the rising generation the Lord opened to Friends in the beginning, will the soil. We find in our own orchard, set out but were left more exposed to his sophistry, to the love be made plain, and accepted, and defended, and seven years ago, that the roots of the trees now of novelty and change, and the desire to throw off lived up to, in the love of Christ and by the obe-extend from tree to tree, twenty-five feet apart. the restraints, maintained by the faithful adherents dience of faith. Then the same christian unity The ground has been tilled ever since the trees to the christian principles and order, which had existed from the rise of the Society. They then the healing waters will close up the wounds which to contend with the green sward. It is folly to wanted a government of their own, with an "un- the world and the devices of Satan, and the de- set trees of any kind in sward land. Digging shackled ministry," and liberty unrestrained to ceivableness of unrighteousness, operating through around the trees a few feet will not answer the purhold and advocate such opinions as they might pretended reformers of faith and practice, have pose. When you set a tree, let the roots have choose, and a course of conduct that would accord the first their inclination, without being subject to dis. No contrivances of man whatever, will restore Plousylman, eighinary restrictions. This libertinism gave a great health and brotherly union to the diseased body. shock to the society, which had for nearly two He who brought us together out of various denomhundred years been almost universally bound to inations, can alone do it by the working of his pattern. Art thou a warm and active christian? gether in unity of faith, and a general diffusion of mighty power; as the prophet saw in the vision of condemn not him whose endowments may be more love and kindness towards one another. Some the dry bones, representing the condition of the placid and contemplative than thine. He who other doctrines were also spread, which those who house of Israel; when "the bones came together, now creeps as a small, in humble silence, may by stood upon the ancient ground, could not approve, bone to his bone, and the sinews and the flesh came so that the society was still further divided; while upon them, the skin covered them above; and as thou art. "Many that are first, shall be last."

For "The Friend." | a spiritual exercise for preservation on the immo- he prophesied, the breath came into them, and they

the remembrance that they have the same cup of increasingly alive to all these causes of difficulty, religious principles. All that have departed from suffering to partake of, the same constant need of and are gathering more into the quiet habitation, a humble abiding in Christ, not taking up the keeping a single eye to the Rock of defence, the from the strife of tongues, being brought to see that cross, even to what worldly wise men esteem little same divine love at times shed abroad in their all must come back to the only safe ground of re-things, and denying self, must renounce their own hearts, and access to the same river that makes liance upon the Lord alone, to know Him to rule will and imaginary wisdom, and by the transformsatisfies the mind without immediate intercourse, the exercise and judgment of sound, experienced Him, that they may grow to the stature of a per-This is a fellowship which true Friends enjoy, known members, are too much indulged by some, affect feet man in Christ Jesus.

by the sanctified in Christ Jesus in precious de ing their vision and safety, and standing in the We believe there are spread through all parts grees; but where the number of this character is way of our restoration to poace and harmony, and of our religious Society, living members, many of lew, and they are necessarily far distant, the the right support of our ancient testimonies. Have whom are plunged at times into great distress for strength and comfort derived from the countenance not the results of divisions of meetings been suffi- the degeneracy of their people; and the Lord is and religious help of such, must be much withdrawn, ciently tested to show, that instead of refining the enabling them to put up their prayers to Him for While we mourn to see our beloved Society di- Society, and enabling it to uphold with more effect themselves and their brethren. And we trust that minishing in number in any place, we greatly want the doctrines of Truth, and the fruits of a gospel He has, in his mercy, begun once more to preach to see those we have in membership, more redeem-spirit, every additional division weakens it, and good tidings to the meek, to bind up the brokened from the world, becoming more deeply inte- those engaged in producing them; and puts further bearted, to preclaim liberty to the captive, the rested in their own salvation, more weighty in spi- off the probability of recovering its former strength, opening of the prison to them that are bound. He rit, more expanded by experience in divine things, and the sweet unity and fellowship it mostly en will comfort all that mourn, give beauty for ashes, and preparing to be pillars in the church; so that joyed, before any attempts, either by Elias Hicks the oil of joy for mourning, and the garment of they may be fitted for judges and counsellors, or any other, since his death, were made, to change praise for the spirit of heaviness. In his time, elders and overseers, and ministers of the word of the compact of gospel principles, which held it to these shall build the old wastes, they shall raise up have blinded its members, so as to disable them alicn shall be ploughmen and vine-dressers. and of walking in the pathway of holiness, and prepared them to adopt strange views, it is plain, more of the spread of apple tree roots. We somethat before the Society is restored, the causes of times hear people say that these roots spread out as The Hicksite separation drew off many young our degeneracy must be removed, and the mem- far as the limbs. Therefore, when they set a tree, have patiently borne suffering for their Lord and Although there are evidences that not a few are his cause, in conscientiously adhering to all our

the former desolations; and strangers shall be If the love of the world, its maxims and honours brought in to feed the flocks, and the sons of the > Apple-Tree Roots .- Farmers ought to know a chance to spread, or you lose your labour .-

It is not right to judge of another by thine own are certain days in which, however hard and vio- he hath given, will he pay him again." lent the wind may blow, little or no dust accompanies it; while at other times every little puff of air or current of wind raises up and carries with it clouds of dust, and at these times the individual particles of sand appear to be in such an electrified condition that they are ever ready to repel each other, and are consequently disturbed from their position, and carried up into the air with the slightest current. To so great an extent does this sometimes exist, that the atmosphere is positively filled and circumstance of with dust, and when accompanied by a strong palace of the latter. wind nothing is visible at a few yards, and the sun at noon-day is obscured. This condition of the atmosphere is evidently accumulative, it increases by degrees till the climax is reached, when, after a certain time, usually about twenty-four hours, the atmosphere is cleared, and equanimity is restored.

Dust columns appear under a similar condition quiet days, when hardly a breath of air is stirring, and the sun pours down his heating rays with full force, little circular eddies are seen to arise in the atmosphere near the surface of the ground. These increase in force and diameter, till a column is formed of great height and diameter, which usually remains stationary for some time, and then sweeps away across the country at great speed, and ultimately, losing the velocity of its circular movement, dissolves and disappears. The author had seen in the valley of Mingoehav, which is only a few miles across, and surrounded by high hills, on a day when not a breath of air stirred, twenty of

The author then spoke of the simoon, that deadly wind, which occasionally visits the deserts of Cutchee and Upper Scinde, which is sudden and singularly fatal in its occurrence, invisible, intangible, and mysterious. Its nature alike unknown, as far as the author is aware-to the wild, untutored inhabitants of the country which it frequents, as to the European man of science, its effects only are visible-its presence made manifest in the sudden extinction of life, whether of animal or vegetable, over which its influence has extended. The author gives the results of his information respecting the simoon as follows:

1. It is sudden in its attack.

2. It is sometimes preceded by a cold current of air.

3. It occurs in the hot months-usually June and July.

4. It takes place by night as well as day.

5. Its course is straight and defined.

6. Its passage leaves a narrow "knife-like" tract. 7. It burns up or destroys the vitality of animal and vegetable existence in its path.

8. It is attended by a well-marked sulphurous

9. It is described as being like the blast of a furnace, and the current of air in which it passes is evidently greatly heated.

10. It is not accompanied by dust, thunder, or lightning.

to bear in mind, that none are intrusted with renewed dedication in the labour and suffering they were an upright, a spiritually minded, a zeal-riches that they may indulge themselves in plea-necessary to bring about the good, designed to be out, and a humble people, living in watchfulness sures, or for the gratification of luxury, ambition, accomplished thereby, by Him whose mercy is over and prayer; and in their assemblies for divine or vain glory, but to do good and to communicate all his works.

The Poisonous Winds of India .- At the last thereof; by which the afflictions of the distressed meeting of the Meteorological Society of London, will be mitigated, and even outward substance renea paper was read on dust storms and dust columns, dered a means of laying up a good foundation and the simoon, or poisonous winds of India, by against the time to come: "For he that hath pity II. Cook, M.D. The author remarked that there upon the poor, lendeth to the Lord, and that which lordors. The first is the benumbing, paralyzin > in the Dardanelles, on his way to Constantinople, rightly laid upon them, had they become true an instance of this kind occurred, and it formed one of the topics of conversation for some time after. One day, the grand chamberlain, the func-tionary charged with the supply of bread to the capital, received a summons to attend the grand vizier; and surrounding himself with all the pomp and circumstance of his office, he repaired to the

"Why is the bread so bad?" asked the great

Turk, with the laconism of his race. "Because the harvest has been bad," was the prompt reply.

speaker continued: "Why is the weight so short?" On this point the answer was not so ready; inof electrical disturbance or intensity. On calm, deed, a good excuse was impossible. The minister did not dare to deny the fact, and tried the policy of extenuation. "That," he said, "may have happened in one or two instances out of the immense number of loaves that it does not occur again."

No more was said. The grand chamberlain, dismissed, left the palace with his train, and was returning home in great state, when an executioner, sent after him from the vizier, overtook him in the street, and without a word of parley, struck off his head, in the midst of his followers. For three days his body lay in the public thoroughfare where day who have the these columns. These seldom changed their places, or but slowly moved across the level tract, and they never interfered with each other. a penalty.

> prove of and consent to the marriage of their may number among its members; and it may be children, so this meeting doth earnestly desire that largely engaged in building up a system of religion Friends' children would consult and advise with that will enable it to maintain an imposing array their parents and guardians, in that great and of works, and so far accord with the maxims and weighty point so essential to their happiness and fashions of the world, as to make it popular among comfort, before they let out their minds, or do en- a class, that would be christians without bearing tangle their affections. The too frequent examples the daily cross; so that it may suppose itself to that have happened to the contrary, have caused be "rich and increased with goods, and to have lamentation in honest parents, and great affliction need of nothing," and yet, in the sight of Him to themselves.

THE FRIEND.

ELEVENTH MONTH 3, 1860.

When recurring to the beautiful harmony and christian zeal which characterized the religious sent broken ranks and isolated members, and the

We think that the history of our religious Sc borders. The first is the benumbing, paralyzin, influence they have had upon very many, who wer thereby rendered unfit for, and indifferent to the Summary Punishment .- While Howard was performance of the duties that would have been members of the militant church; and the other is the ambition they have finally awakened in the hearts of many, claiming to be interested in the Society's welfare, to make it rank high among the denominational churches, by an increase of its power through numbers and mental culture.

In proportion as the members have approximated to the world, in their habits and associations, and accustomed themselves to draw their strength and enjoyment from its turbid streams, the deceiving spirit has led them to conclude that the ability of the Society, and its opportunity to do good, would be Apparently satisfied with this answer the first consonant with the position for respectability and learning it could assume in the world; and that this is to be attained, by the multiplication of means for enlisting the members in so-called religious activity, in diffusing a knowledge of the Scriptures, and labouring in the cause of philanthropy and benevolence. As this delusion has gained ground, the doctrine of the immediate guidance of the Holy required for so large a city; but care shall be taken Spirit, and the absolute necessity for its qualifying power in every act of worship, and for conducting the affairs of the church, has been more or less rejected or lost sight of, and many of the humbling, self-denying testimonies which Friends were raised up to maintain, have been lightly esteemed or entirely disregarded.

It is very natural for us all to desire, that the religious Society to which we belong, and to which our forefathers have belonged, should stand high in the estimation of all men, and be considered as influential for good in the world. But let us not forget, that a church may be apparently strong from the number of its adherents, and the men of 1723. As parents have a natural right to ap- intellect and learning, and the men of wealth, it who "walks in the midst of the golden candlesticks," it may be "wretched and miserable, and poor and blind and naked."

How far this may have been, or now is the condition of the religious Society of Friends, it is not for us to say; but we think it must be granted by all, that it has not kept faithfully in the "good old way," in which it ran with alacrity, when blessed with the dew of its youth, and its dependence for Society of Friends, in its earlier days, and con-strength and guidance was more continually and trasting its then flourishing condition with its pre- unreservedly upon the secret revelations of the will of its Almighty and Omniscient Head and great lapse, in many places, from a faithful sup-port of the doctrines and testimonies it is its duty tively illiterate, despised, and without worldly polish to maintain, it is very natural for its sincere lovers or influence. Its most zealous and highly gifted to feel, as though nothing but increased degeneracy members, were often shut up for months and years could be anticipated, as the final result. But there in noisome dungcons and prison-houses, while their are considerations which ought to modify such a families were obliged to struggle for the bread conclusion, and to console the true mourner for the necessary to support life; so greedy were the ruth-1757. Those in affluence especially ought ever afflictions of his people; while they animate him to less hands stretched forth to despoil them. But worship and for transacting the affairs of the church; their motives and objects were misreprethe great influence they obtained, notwithstanding and support of the Truth. the world heaped upon them persecution and conmade them "the light of the world;" and as a city set upon a hill, that could not be hid.

But how is the gold become dim! how is the most fine gold changed!

However, many may seem disposed to doubt or to deny it, or may glory in the cunning workmanship eprosy of Naaman, and restored his flesh like to be right, are as nothing compared with paying into that of a little child.

May not then the present divided condition of o be watchful over our own spirits.

vere treated as factious, and as troublers of the divisions that have sprung from the same root.

empt. Keeping close to their crucified but all-con-spared, much crimination and obloquy-from them under a proper sense of their own weakness quering Captain, and bearing his cross daily, He abroad and at home—escaped, could these two and unworthiness, and their entire insufficiency of meetings have laid aside their scruples and con-themselves to contend with the difficulties, and to indifference, for the future, this painful subject; bers with distress and anxious concern, under a of their own hands as the means of restoration, firm conviction that the best interests of the So-afforded them, to labour to prevent the spread of here is but one way, by which the Society can be ciety they dearly loved, were directly involved in these innovations within their own borders; their prought back to its original standing and har- its clear exposition and right settlement. But this having been set apart by the other Yearly Meetmony; and that is "not by might or by power, immunity from the trials these meetings have long lings, and epistolary intercourse suspended, may but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hosts." All had, and now have to bear, must have been purother means, however specious their appearance to chased by a sacrifice of principle; a conscious and he eye of human wisdom, and however plausible wilful departure from what they believed to be the he reasoning, by which they may be recommended path of known duty; and surely no true Friend, as adapted to the circumstances of the times, or no worthy representative of those noble Quakers be peculiar condition of the members or meetings, who counted bars and bolts as jewels, rather than but his rejection and humiliation did not prevent will no more bring us back to original purity, and violate their consciences, but would feel that all Him who saw his sufferings and knew his integrity, renuine religious exercise and authority, than the the difficulties and privations that may be permit- from employing him in bringing about his own purvaters of Damascus would have washed away the ted to attend their faithfulness to what they believe such a price.

The course, then, taken by these two meetings he Society, if allowed to have its proper effect being in maintenance or defence of principles, which pon the members who are really attached to its all true Friends believe to be of vital importance loctrines and testimonies, in turning them to the to the well-being, and even the existence of our Lord, help in bringing it back to a state of more religious Society, nothing ought to be done by them deliver themselves in their own time, and by their godly zeal, and a more practical adherence to its from their continued consistent support as heretofore. ardinal doctrine of the absolute necessity for the We know there are not a few of the members of direction, the authority and the help of the Holy other Yearly Meetings, who have entire unity with temptation to swerve from purity and uprightness; Spirit, in everything pertaining to the salvation of that course; and who confidently trust that by he soul, and the performance of all religious acts? these meetings faithfully maintaining the position t certainly may; and will, if it humbles our pride, assigned them, they may be instrumental in stay-condemned; or by gradually sliding into a prac-lestroys our self-reliance, drives us to where ac ing the tide of change and defection that is so tided disregard of the same testimonics which some epitale prayer is wont to be made, and helps us fearfully undermining the original character and other Yearly Meetings appear, by their decisions, religious standing of the society, and in finally unit-Especially should it make the members of Ohio ing all its consistent members in the support of its and Philadelphia Yearly Meetings mindful of their faith and discipline. It is of little consequence esponsibilities, in these respects, to themselves, to what may be said in derogation of the motives that trying position. Doubtless their members would part in enabling these meetings to bear their testiejoice, if it were rightly changed. But the train mony against the spread of unsound sentiments, f events which has resulted in this position, inter- and a course in violation of the acknowledged prinupting epistolary correspondence, had not its ciples of our church government. Most of them rith any compromise of the doctrines, or departure unjust accusations of being influenced by ignorance, rom the discipline of the Society. Believing that by envy, by jealousy, or by self-righteousness, can taith and its principles of church government do them no harm; nor should they influence those ave been violated, and their existence endangered, who are striving to walk in their footsteps. Time hey have frankly said so, and pointed out where has established the correctness of the judgment ons, and to do what they could to preserve their der the guidance of divine wisdom, dictated that the numerous points and interests, both as to wn members, and if possible, the whole Society, judgment. Witness the authorized abandonment doctrines and discipline, upon which they still on the devastating consequences their unrebuked of plainness in speech, behaviour and apparel; the agree? We trust not. bleration must inevitably produce. But, unhap-open admission of mixed marriages; the cultivaily, the ear was not open in other Yearly Meet-tion of music; the free mingling of members with Meeting in the society, there are yet preserved g, to hear their warning voice, or to listen to others of different religious persuasions in Bible those who are sincerely attached to its original ueir pleadings to look upon this important and readings and expositions; the unrebuked attend- principles and testimonies; and who, like themceply affecting subject in the light in which it ance, in many places, of members who take part in selves, are longing for a brighter day, when these resented itself to them, and, as brethren of the directing the affairs of the society, at meetings for principles and testimonics shall be more faithfully ame bonsehold of faith, to unite in probing the stated prayer; and other departures which we need supported by all who bear the name of Friends: anse of disunity and division to the bottom, and not name, and which, alas! have become so family should we become entirely alienated from our aring that which let and hindered, removed out liar, as to excite little attention among many of the brethren of those meetings, we shall mar our own f the way. On the contrary, these two meetings members; and beside these, the separations and peace and religious standing, and greatly injure

The contemplation of these departures, and the shurch, the power and presence of their great scuted by many, misunderstood, and resented, as popularity of the system, which initiated and sanc-Lawgiver and King were patiently waited for, and though they aimed at something else than what tions them, is saddening and discouraging. But sensibly known and felt. Here was the secret of they declared to be their sole object, the defence if this, and the consciousness of the responsibility of the position they occupy, by humbling the members Much unmerited reproach might have been who have openly taken a stand against error, bring victions, and quietly acquiesced in treating with extricate the church from its lapsed condition, so that they, individually, and the Yearly Meetings which, for years, had clothed the minds of their to which they belong, shall be led to apply, in livmost dovoted, and most deeply experienced mem- jug faith, to the only and all-sufficient Source of help; and under the ability and authority thus result in good to the whole body,

The brethren of Joseph took offence at him, because he narrated to them a true vision; they called him a dreamer, and consigned him to a pit : poses, and making him the instrument to save those who conspired against him, with their families, from perishing in the time of famine. Let then each member, according to his and her measure. seek to be clothed with that meekness and patience, which will enable them to bear the labour and privations of the prison-house; without seeking to ervent piety and religious watchfulness, more that will compromise those principles, or derogate own contrivance. Wait with resignation for the summons of the king; striving, in the meantime, to maintain a constant watch lest they give way to or to let the testimony of Truth fall from their hands by a tacit compliance with that they have openly condemued; or by gradually sliding into a practical disregard of the same testimonies which some to have virtually set aside.

It is thus that we can readily understand how a great good may be finally educed from the present broken ranks of the society, and the posihe whole church, and to its adorable Head. Those prompted the good men and women, who first tion of those two meetings, which are supposed by ucctings occupy a peculiar and, in some respects, pointed out the cause for, and took a prominent their fellow members to have been unnecessarily sensitive and alarmed about the doctrines and discipline of the society. But we are equally convinced that no good can arise from Friends allowing their minds to become soured towards, or rigin with them; nor can they be justly charged are now gathered to their everlasting reward: the estranged from those of their brethren, who, they are sincerely persuaded, have, in this dark and cloudy day, withdrawn from a consistent support of some of our important doctrines and testimonies. They may feel it a close trial to suffer by the hands of their fellow members, for what they believe to be he violations existed, and the dangerous conse-instead of events with the subjects referred to; and the the truth, and for conscience sake; but shall they uences necessarily resulting therefrom; informing course of events within the society at the present allow feelings of estrangement and dislike to take heir brethere why they felt it laid upon them to day, is strikingly illustrating the clearness of spi-the place of former love and fellowship, so that estify against these manifest and hurtful innova- ritual vision and the nice discernment, which, un- they shall gradually become entirely forgetful of the cause we profess to espouse. Rather let us act

apostle to declare to his brethren, " My heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saved. For I bear them record that they have a zeal for God, but not according to knowledge." Thus endeavouring to keep the unity of francs, and an increase in the bills discounted of nearly the Spirit in the bond of peace among ourselves. and not faltering in rightly contending for the faith once delivered to the saints, we may "stand fast in one spirit, with one mind, striving together for the faith of the gospel;" and patiently wait and quietly hope for the coming of the day to our poor, chastened Society, when-her wounds being healed and unfeigned love restored-the command will go forth, "Arise, shine, for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee."

The following notice has been handed to us for insertion in "The Friend," and at the same time we have had an opportunity to peruse a letter from a Friend in Indiana, who speaks from personal knowledge, confirming the truth of the accounts published in the newspapers, of the starving and suffering condition of most of the inhabitants of the southern section of Kansas. In those settlements where there is food enough for those ordinarily residing in them, famine threatens them in dren from less favoured portions of the country, There appears to have been an almost entire failure of crops, owing to the long continued drought, and the pasture having been destroyed, the cattle are dying in large numbers. There are members of our religious Society residing in the territory, attention and liberality of our readers.

As Friends are no doubt aware, there is a great amount of suffering in Kansas, in consequence of the drought which desolated so large a portion of that territory, during the summer months. It is proposed to to a responsible Friend there, some supplies of clothing, &c., which he will distribute principally among members of our religious Society. Any donations of clothing or money sent to SAMUEL R. SHIPLEY, 112 Chesnut street, Philadelphia, or to Elliston P. Morris, Germantown, will be forwarded as above stated.

Tenth mo. 29th, 1860.

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

EUROPE .- News from Eugland to the 17th ult. The Liverpool cotton market was active, with an advance of 1-16d. a 1d. per pound. The Manchester trade report states, that the market for yarns had an improving tendency, while that for cotton cloths was steady. Ing tengency, while that for cotton cioths was steady. American flour was quoted at from 28s. to 30s. 6d.; red Western wheat, 11s. 6d. a 12s. 6d. per cental; white Southern, 14s.; yellow corn, 36s. 6d. a 37s.; white, 39s.

The Sardinian Chamber of Deputies has voted to an nex Southern Italy to Piedmont, the vote being nearly unanimous. Cavour urged the matter in a strong speech, in which he declared that Rome is to be the capital of ed formal protests against the Sardinian invasion of the Kingdom of Naples. The Russian ambassador at Turin, Angeom of Anpies. The Russian amoussacior at Turin, it is said, will demand his passports, if no attention is paid to the protest. The great Powers, except England, had signified to the Turin Cabinet the non-recognition of the blockade of Gaeta. Victor Emmanuel was to en-ter Naples on the 17th. He had already entered the Neapolitan town of Guilannove, amid the enthusiastic cries of the populace.

The King of Naples has a large and well disciplined army, which remains faithful to his cause. He commanded in person at the battle of Volturno, exhibiting great and unexpected bravery. The engagement was a sanguinary one, several thousand men being killed and wounded on both sides. The King's troops at first overpowered the revolutionists, but were finally driven back in accordance with that Spirit which prompted the army in this engagement to have been 4500 men, while 22 in Wales; 121 in Scotland; 123 in Ireland; and 11 that of the Royalists was not so great France is stated to have supplied Sardinia with 50 000 muskets, and eleven millions of percussion caps.

The monthly returns of the Bank of France show a decrease in the cash on hand of ninety-one million twenty-nine millions.

A vote on the question of annexation to Sardinia was to be taken in Sicily on the 21st ult. The Roman Journal announces that the sum contributed by the faithful in aid of the Holy See, was 1,600,-000 crowns, and that it had all been expended.

The continued preparations for war by the Austrian government had given rise to a report that a forward movement was in contemplation.

The London Globe asserts that Austria's preparations were caused by the threats of Garibaldi, and that she has no aggressive intentions.

Advices from China state, that the allied troops had reached the Peiho, and established camps at Pehtang.

At the departure of the mail, the allies were opposite the Taku forts, where the Chinese had made preparations for resistance. The forts were to be attacked on the 15th of Eighth month.

Shanghai was attacked by the rebels on the 18th of Eighth month. The rebels were repulsed.

UNITED STATES. - The Kansas Land Sales .- Notwithstanding the urgent solicitations for the postpouement of the Kansas land sales, in consequence of the present consequence of the influx of men, women and chil- distress in that territory, the Secretary of the Interior has not regarded it as proper, under the existing laws, to recommend the President to allow the sales to be post-

Ohio.—The population of this State by the late census, is said to be 2,555,982. The increase since 1850 has been nearly 600,000.

Delaware .- According to the census returns, this State who, in common with their fellow settlers, are likely to suffer severely. We commend the subject to the subject The increase in the population since 1850 is 19,815. The number of slaves has decreased 485.

New York .- Mortality last week, 390.

Philadelphia.—Mortality last week, 228. The new tur-bine water wheels, now being constructed in this city, for the extension of the water works at Fairmount, will be the largest ever made in this country, each of them being nine feet in diameter, two feet more than the one now in use at Fairmount. It is calculated that the three new wheels will force as much water into the reservoir as the eight breast wheels and the turbine, just doubling the capacity of the works.

The Markets .- The following were the quotations on the 29th ult. New York-Sales of 190,500 bushels of pupil at the school. wheat, at $1.75 for white Michigan; $1.44 a $1.48, fair to good white Ohio; $1.32 a $.134 for red Western and State; oats, 38 cts. a 39 cts.; yellow corn, 72 cts. a 73 cts.; mixed, 68 cts. a 69 cts. Philadelphia—Red wheat, $1.32 a $1.33; white, $1.40 a $1.50; yellow corn, 72 cts. a 73 cts.; oats, 35 cts. a 36 cts. For some time past. the market for beef cattle has been well supplied, and prices have had a downward tendency. Such has been the case the past week, the supply being beyond the demand. The offerings this week amounted to 2603 head of fat and stock cattle, and the former sold at from $7.50 to $8 25 per 100 lbs. act, that is 45 lbs. off every 100 which the beef may weigh upon the hoof. This is a decline of about 25 cents on the 100 lbs. for the best stock. The stock cattle which are mostly bought for grazing farms In which he deceared and Rome is to be the capital of stock cattle which are mostly bought for grazing farms United Italy, which, he hoped, would eventually include in New Jersey, sold at from $2.50 to $3.00 per 100 lbs.

The Russian and Prussian ambassadors have present-white, $1.45 a $1.65; yellow corn, 66 cts. a 68 cts.; white, 71 cts. a 73 cts.

Slaves Emancipated.—The Paris (Ky.) Citizen says— Noah Spear left here the other day for Xeuia, Ohio, taking with him a family of valuable negroes, consisting of a man, his wife, and two children, whom he has emancipated and handsomely provided for. He purchased them an excellent farm, at a cost of nearly fifty dollars an acre, gave them a wagon and pair of mules, a large quantity of provisions, &c. This is the second lot of negroes, N. Spear has taken to the same place.

Miscellaneous .- The Population of Spain .- A late enumeration shows that Spain has 15,464,000 inhabitants. The four largest cities are Madrid with 281,170 inhabitants, Barcelona with 183,787, Seville with 112,529, and Valencia with 106,435.

Newspapers in Great Britain and the United States. to Capua. The Paris Patrie states the loss of Garibaldi's There are at present 411 journals published in England; in the Channel Islands. There are thus in the whole United Kingdom, 688; while in the State of New York alone, there were in 1858, 613. Pennsylvania had 418; Ohio, 393; Massachusetts, 225; Illinois, 221; Virginia, 138; Missonri, 103, and the remaining States and Territories, 1643.

News from the Hayes Arctic Expedition .- The United States vice-consul at Copenhagen, Denmark, furnishes the gratifying intelligence that an "official" package from Dr. Hayes, commander of the Arctic expedition, had been received by one of the Royal Greenland Company's vessels from Upernavik. This assures the friends of the expedition of the prompt arrival of Dr. Hayes at the port nearest the field of his labour.

Superiority of American Ships .- The clipper ship Lightning, built by Donald M'Kay, in Boston, Mass., for Bain's line between Liverpool and Australia, has beaten every ship on that route. In 14 voyages out and back, her average time was only 77 days, the shortest passage being 63½ days, the longest 88 days. The American built They found the northern and southern forts evacuated, ship Red Jacket is also very fast, and is in the same and attacked the Tartar camp, when the Chinese fled in line. In 17 voyages her average time, out and back, was only 80 days.

RECEIPTS.

Received from Thomas Lee, Pa., $2, vol. 34; from J. Huestis, agt., O., for Burwell Peebles, $2, vol. 34; from Geo. M. Eddy, agt., Mass., $2, vol. 34, and for Benj. Tucker and Saml. Tucker, $2 each, vol. 34.

A Stated Meeting of the "Female Society of Philadelphia for the Relief and Employment of the Poor," will be held at the House of Industry, No. 112 N. Seventh street, on Seventh-day, Eleveuth month 3d, at half past three o'clock. JULIANNA RANDOLPH, Clerk.

WEST-TOWN BOARDING-SCHOOL.

The Winter session of the school will commence on Second-day, the 5th of the Eleventh month. Pupils will be conveyed from the city to the Street Road station on the new Philadelphia and West Chester railroad, where conveyances will be in waiting to take them to the school, on the arrival of the 7.45, 10, and 2.30 trains on Second-day, the 5th, and Third-day, the 6th. The passenger depot is at the corner of Thirty-first and Market streets, West Philadelphia. The Market street passenger railroad cars pass the depot. Baggage may be sent to the depot, corner of Eighteenth and Market streets, or to the passenger depot, West Philadelphia. If sent to the depot at Eighteenth and Market streets, it should be there an hour before the departure of the trains. Tickets will be furnished by the ticket agent at the depot, to such pupils as have been regularly entered, which with the stage fare from the station, will be charged to the

The stage will connect with the early moroing train from the city daily, (except First-day,) and also with the 1.45 train to the city, if there are passengers.

Small packages for the pupils and others left at Friends' bookstore, No. 304 Arch street, before twelve o'clock on Sixth-days, will be forwarded to the school. Letters are to be forwarded through the post-office, directed to West-town Boarding-School, Street Road P. O., Chester Co., Pa.

Tenth mo. 23d, 1860.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted as Teacher of Reading in the Boys department of this Institution. Apply to

JAMES EMLEN, West Chester, Chester Co., Pa. Alfred Cope, Germantown, Pa.

Sixth mo. 6th, 1860.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted to fill the station of Governor in the Boys' department of this Institution.

Application may be made to NATHAN SHARPLESS, Concord, Pa.; Samuel Hilles, Wilmington, Del.; James EMLEN, West Chester, Pa.; or Thomas Evans, Philad.

Twelfth mo., 1859. DIED, on Fourth-day, the 24th inst., MARY N. SMITH, in the seventy-seventh year of her age, widow of the late Stephen W. Smith, of this city. PILE & M'ELROY, PRINTERS, Lodge street, opposite the Pennsylvania Bank.

THE FRIEND.

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, ELEVENTH MONTH 10, 1860.

NO. 10.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

ice Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by

JOHN RICHARDSON.

T NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

ostage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three nths, if paid in advance, three and a-quarter cents; any part of the United States, for three months, if d in advance, six and a-half cents.

> For "The Friend" Henry Hall.

(Continued from page 66.)

In the year 1786, he commenced recording some of the deep exercises and conflicts of spirit he sy, superficial character, which is without tribu-ions, in which the will of man has as much ency as the Divine will, and the daily bearing reason, and reaped poverty.

y clothed his spirit, formed one of its loveliest passion.

I most attractive ornaments.

se who do so,"

'19th. During the forepart of the meeting this per soul; blessed be the name of the Lord.

in humility, then levity prevails, and I seem to soar forth. But when I came to meeting, and saw my away, not knowing whither. Whom have I to look former young companions, a fear seized me, and I unto for help, but thee only? Thou knowest I am again gave way to reasoning, so that I returned no longer safe than while on the watch—keep me home in great distress of mind. sensible of this, I pray thee, and suffer me not to go astray-grant me the favour of thy presence, during the fore part of it, I seemed quite insensiand that my affections may be loosened from tem- ble of any good, when a Friend stood up and spoke

"Fifth month 2d. This day the love of God and man, saying, 'Thou art in great danger of being the love of the world, have alternately been pre- lost in thy rebellion.' Great, indeed, was the consented to my mind, with an intimation to make my sternation I was thrown into; a trembling seized election between them. What is poor man if left my frame, which I endeavoured to hide, but could to choose for himself. O Lord! I pray thee, leave not, and Friends who sat near me noticed my sitme not—thou knowest what is best for me, better uation.
than I do for myself. I desire to cleave close unto "Iu" spot or blemish.

"7th. Staid away from meeting for too light a y active in such a religion, find very little in it tions! now as fresh and lively as the flower in the my mind in an extraordinary manner with his love, verse to its inclinations, and go on in it smoothly field; to-morrow, withered and faded away! Thus and spreading over it a sweet calm. Then I saw even with pleasure; but all the while "the it has been with me for years; at times filled with clearly that it was required of me to kneel down ong men armed may keep the house and his heavenly love, then poor, ah, poor indeed, even and publicly acknowledge the goodness and the inds, be at peace." Such was not the religion of when my desires have been to do right. Art thou, vincible power of God, which causes the tall cedars ary Hull. Many were his struggles, and deep O my soul, serving a hard master? No, this state to bend, and the sturdy oaks to bow; and being I sore the provings of his faith; yet they tended of poverty is the result of thy disobedience. I fully sensible of the mercy of God from the love purify and to establish ou the immoveable Rock, have partaken of too many mercies to think the which then filled my heart, I was made willing, the humility, and cheerful gravity with which Lord is an hard master. He is a God full of com- and falling upon my knees, uttered with an audi-

We shall give a few extracts from his diary, viz: Westbury, on Long Island, about one hundred ble to the natural man, was the ushering in of 1786, Third month 16th. This day I have en-miles from home, I heard of a melancholy accident peace and joy to my mind. Language is insuffied my twenty-second year. I have not been which had occurred in our neighbourhood, by the cient to set forth the sweet serenity I partook of ly sensible of the favours of the Lord to me, and explosion of gunpowder, killing a Friend, and infor several days; it seemed as though I had betimes a fear fills my mind, that it he should cut juring other persons. The remembrance of my thread of my life, and number me with the dear wife and child, and the reflections on this sad my sorrows and perplexities behind me. My work ent dead, I should not be admitted among the event, raised fervent desires, that I and my family was pleasant, more so than ever before, and I now seed. Great indeed are my trials, but my faith may so live as not to fear death. O, Lord God concluded I had got to the end of my tollsome enewed, that the grace of God is sufficient for Almighty, I pray thee; in the riches of thy mercy, journey through the wilderness, and had entered. May I love the Lord more, and be thankful lay thy hand upon me, for I have need of thy the heavenly Canaan. But, alsa! I found I had the least of all his manifold favours. But, alsa! I found I had the least of all his manifold favours. 17th. At our Monthly Meeting, the advice be in thy hand, that I may serve and worship thee had greater trials yet to endure than any I had

s, that they should patiently wait and quietly "In the autumn of this year, I penned the fol-be. O that I may be one of the number of lowing remarks, the exact date, I cannot now give, it being mislaid. "Of late I have suffered much, for not giving and lost the enjoyment I had known, even that peace publicly to advocate the cause of Truth. It which the world can neither give nor take away." arning, I sat destitute of good. Fears arose in up publicly to advocate the cause of Truth. It mind that a Friend spoke too harshly to the was the cross I stumbled at, reasoning myself into part of the meeting proved a heavenly and was too great for me. I thought I had rather die temptation. bscd season to me, several Friends being en-ged to speak in a manuer which relieved my mind, and I was ready to conclude I had been under a delusion in thinking myself called to the favour; but in consequence of indulging my na-*24th. I have not been sufficiently engaged in work. But through the renewed mercy of my God, tural reluctance to stand as a spectacle in meetings, king to the Father of mercies, although I trust I was enabled to say that I truly loved him, and I was left for a time in a beclouded state, and lost a altogether unmindful of his favours. O, Lord was desirous to serve him; and after a close con-all enjoyment of heavenly good, as well as the con-

me off-thou seest my instability-one day bowed and be obedient, if the command was again given

"A few weeks after this, as I sat in meeting, poral, and placed on heavenly things.

Of the situation of the children of Israel, in their Fourth month. Attended our Monthly Meetjourney through the wilderness, showing that ing, which was a memorable time, the spirits of through disobedience, many fell and perished. many present being tendered under the powerful Suddenly a voice intelligible to my inward ear, and living ministry of John Storer, from England. sounded in my soul, as if it were the voice of a

"In this awfully awakened state, the language sed through." His religion was not of that thee-O when shall I come before thee without of my heart was, Lord, do what thou wilt with me, I am willing—Come life, or come death, I will give up all for thy sake, and to be received again into thy favour.' And the Lord, who is not slow "11th. This day renewed my resolution to serve to hear, nor yet in showing mercy, condescended the cross and the warfare against sin in every "11th. This day renewed my resolution to serve to hear, nor yet in showing mercy, condescended upe, are shunned. The natural mind may be the Lord my God. But what are all my resolute to appear as a morning without clouds, comforting ssion.

"24th. While attending our Yearly Meeting at Oh! then, inexpressibly precious, yes, inconceivaco by a ministering Friend to those under trial, acceptably.

"In the autumn of this year, I penned the follows display of Divine power that humbled and succeptably."

"In the autumn of this year, I penned the follows display of Divine power that humbled and hence that follows the property into chedience and the peace that follows the property into chedience and the peace that follows the property into chedience and the peace that follows the property into chedience and the peace that follows the property in the property into chedience and the peace that follows the property in the property is a peace that follows the property in the property is a peace that follows the property is a peace that the property is a peace that follows the peace that the property is a peace that the peace t heretofore known. Notwithstanding the marvelbrought me into obedience, and the peace that followed my submission, I again got into reasoning,

"Deeply sensible of my frailties and folly, I fear Jth. There needs a care that they are not driven the conclusion that I was the least qualified of any I have not been enough guarded and watchful. our meetings by needless severity. The lat- that ever appeared in meetings, and that the work O Lord, I pray thee, leave me not in the hour of

His Journal then continues, viz:

"I did not suddenly lose the sense of Divine d Almighty, be pleased to pity and not to cast flict of spirit, I covenauted that I would give up fidence in Divine power, with which I had been like the breaking forth of the sun at times during without his favour I cannot enjoy any real satisfac- our cotemporaries, that wild seedlings, general a cloudy day. I was at these seasons made seosi- tion, even in the midst of temporal blessings, known as perry trees, make the best stocks tele of the offers of pardon, on condition of future Awake, O my soul, unto righteousness and sin no standard pears. Some six years ago, the write obedience. But I reasoned against light and con- more, that with the saints, thou mayest feed on the transplanted about one hundred and fifty of the religion was a cheat, something invented by design in newness of life, thou mayest worship the Lord ing men to captivate the simple. I read the Scrip-tures in a disposition to ridicule them, and sought "Wisdom is justified of her children." But older portious of the country, where the pear h to get rid of all my whims, as I was willing to call who are her children? Surely they only, who are been cultivated, these seedlings are often found them. But blessed be the name of Israel's Shep- endeavouring to do justly, to love mercy, and to considerable numbers in neglected pastures a herd, I was followed with the reproofs of instruction; and the remembrance of my past enjoyment are the works of the infinite and incomprehensible them. The smaller ones may be grafted as so in the assemblies of the Lord's people, now in the Creator; great are his mercies to the intelligent as they are set out. The larger trees, three incl days of my rebellion and poverty, caused me to feel part of his creation, and manifold the blessings be or more in diameter, are best transplanted in t his chastisements more keenly.

"My life became a burden to me, and I was at times afraid to be alone, lest I might do myself some mischief; at other seasons I spent great part to think of these things, and no longer be living the desert air. A day or two spent in transplanti of the night alone, meditating on my past condi- carelessly. tion and present forlorn state. It was during some of these solitary hours, that I was again made sensible of the renewings of Divine visitation, by which my hard heart was broken, and I wept much. By little and little, I recovered that some in Germany and even in France, that dark death of friends, is so general, that those who ne covered with trees, I saw a large one that had been dient servants, I do not forget myself, who am public opinion, to subvert this custom, and with so struck by lightning. I sat down under it in silent wading along in a path where there are many success. But the change did not last long, a meditation on the power of the electric fluid, think-hindering things. But I have a hope that the Lord the practice of putting on mourning is now as geing it but a common accident from natural causes, will yet favour me with a more willing mind, and eral as ever before. But there are really ve and that it was well I was not there at the time suffer nothing to prevent me from obeying his holy serious objections to it. the tree was struck. As I thus sat, all my commands; for truly, I love the ways of the Lord, thoughts were stayed and brought into subjection, better than I do the ways of man. 'I had rather and an awful silence prevailing in my soul, a lan- be a door-keeper in the house of the Lord than to guage intelligible to my mind, proclaimed within dwell in the tents of wickedness.' me, 'Thou sees how awfully powerful the lightning is,—thus, as in the twinkling of an eye, I could deprive thee of thy existence.' I was struck with mendable zeal for the sacred cause of religion, those to whom the expenses of sickness at an azement, and as I walked home, pondered what They far outstrip me, at which I do not murmur, sideration, the confusion and incongruity of turni Almighty, I felt a degree of reverence spring in joice to find that the Lord is raising up standard ing up the hours which should be sacred to sole my heart, as also of gladness, in thinking I was bearers in Zion. May I take heed to my ways, and grief, by talk about dress, is exceedingly under the control of the control blood; and feeling myself to be a poor creature, I us are found spending our time unprofitably." resolved to seek afresh the favour of Him who is infinite in power and goodness.

"In our religious meetings, my mind was now sensible of receiving instruction from Him who is Wroxeter, England, have been carried on with dreary waste of black, expressive of unmixed, to the Teacher of bis people, and the Teacher of vigour and success. In one of the rooms recently less, inconsolable sorrow. For this reason it wo teachers, qualifying servants and hand-maideus to opened, a parement of small white tesserre was seem, that if we are to wear any peculiar costu-serve him in the ministry of the Gospel. In this found. On opening a large square apartment, it to signify we have been bereaved, numitigate weighty work I again engaged, about two years presented the appearance of having been the work-black is most inappropriate, and fails entirely after my first appearance, and having now fully shop of a worker in metals. On the sill lay a express the emotions with which the christi given up to it, I appeared pretty often in our meeting at the Creek, in Nine Partners. The meetingnear them the fragments of a small earthen tessel, house was large and frequently crowded, and which had probably contained the money, and had crape about the hat—why should not some simi though I often felt much reluctance at standing up, been dropped by some one who was carrying it emblem of sorrow answer every purpose in the dr yet considered that the intent of speaking was to away. The uncovering of the room containing the of woman? A band of crape, perhaps across to be heard, and therefore, endeavoured to speak so forge, &c., has been continued, and several new bonnet—a cloud of black lace resting upon a plainly and audibly as to be heard by all. Now features have been brought to light. The renaius half-covering the more cheerful colors of the tri I again became a happy partaker of sweet peace of another furnace have been found, and from ming. "Deep mourning," as it is called, does and satisfaction in the Lord's work, yet not without some fragments of material which have been picke I express the christian view of death. It is, in fa interruption; as the following extracts from my up, it now appears that it was the workshop of an too dismal and hopeless for any form that hase diary will evince, viz:

by indisposition, and have felt but little of the Fa-men are now partly employed in preparing the his sorrow, and never suggesting hope or couse ther's love. Having heard of a public appearance ruins for the meeting of the British Archæological tion. Why then should it be worn? The he in our meeting, but little expected, my own situa Association at Shrewsbury, which will begin on does not need to aggravate its grief by continu tion has been feelingly brought to my view, with Monday, the 6th of August, and will, on one of mementos of it, and the truly bereaved never des stowed upon them by him. How presumptuous is that man who can partake of these, and forget the gracious Giver! May the inconsiderate be awakened should not suffer them to waste their sweetness up

"Second month 17th, 1789 .- In looking over hence .- American Agriculturist. our religious Society, there appears an encouraging prospect, notwithstanding the backsliding of some. Many are awakened both in Europe and America; sombre garments as an exhibition of grief for t confidence I had lost in Divine power and the su-perintending care of the Most High, over man. people in bondage. When I contemplate these en- Twenty-five or thirty years ago, an attempt w "On one occasion, as I was walking over a hill couraging prospects, and the examples of the obe- made by some excellent clergymen and leaders

I had heard; and believing it was the voice of the but am glad to see the work prosper, and rethe house of death into a milliver's shop, and breat forsake my foolish consultations with flesh and ance before thee. I am grieved that so many of press grief; but is it necessary to parade our gr

(To be continued.)

enameller. Among the objects found within the last been taken by the religious element. It is of a "Twelfth month 14th, 1788.—Confined at home few days, is a well-preserved steelyard. The tendency, by continually reminding the mourner fervent desires that the Lord will not forsake me. the days of the meeting, visit the buried city of to make an ostentatious display of their sorre Some suppose that I have forsaken him, but the Uriconium, and be conducted over the exavations, on what account treat can the wearing of mouru Lord seems not as man sees, he looks at the heart by Mr. Wright in person.—London Time. be justified!—Christian Advocate.

favoured; yet not without intervals of sensibility, and knows that my desires are unto him, and that Wild Pear Stocks.—We see it noticed in one we have are from these wild seedlings. In t and grafting, will yield abundant fruit a few yes

Mourning Dress .- The practice of putting before the world? And is grief the only feeling the christian over the grave of the departed ? we put nothing upon our garments to signify chi The Wroxeter Excivation.—The excavations at tian faith, hope and consolation. It is only Insects on Trees.

rm like a snake's egg, and which ordinarily begin are also used for killing them.

arnish, impervious to water.

bark, they will not kill the tree. Smoking the pointed knife, chisel, or gouge, and a small wire Canker Worms .- The canker worm, where it tree with tobacco, mixed with a small quantity of to probe if they are deep in the tree, they are readily revails, is one of the most destructive insects which brimstone, is sometimes found to kill these insects, destroyed; or the trees may be washed with lye, fests fruit trees. It is believed by many to be pro- and does not appear to injure the leaves or stems, care being taken first that the following points be ale has wings, but the female has none. These injurious to fruit trees are green and black, small tree are thoroughly eradicated by cutting them eposit their eggs. The eggs hatch about the time cherry, are especially infested with them. They that the lye wash be applied twice in the season, ie trees put forth their leaves, and the worms im-multiply with wonderful rapidity. It has been at such an interval as shall embrace all the eggs cen leaf, so that the trees frequently have the ap-might be the progenitor of six thousand millions, washings be repeated for two or three seasons, or rnish, impervious to water.

Lice.—These insects are in form like half a morning before they get out of their nests, and wipe ernel of rye, but not more than one twentieth so them off clean, web and all together, and crush the tree. They resemble blisters, and are simi- reached by the hand, use a conical brush, attached ers contain from ten to thirty nits or eggs each, in Spirits of turpentine, oil, and some other substances, medical means.

hich is generally most plain to be seen between of the earth, the eggs being no larger than the head brain.

e tenth and twentieth of June, and continues of a pin; that the eggs are hatched out in a little Let ove fatal to the tree. One of the remedies recom- year he is found up eight or ten inches higher than the world. ended consists in washing the trees, in the month where he commenced; and that in June of the aced from the eggs of a moth or bug, of which the The two kinds of lice which are found to be most attended to, viz: that all grubs existing in the ngs having continued under ground during winter, soft insects that appear suddenly on the young out with a knile or narrow chisel, or destroying ass up the bodies of the trees in the spring, and, shoots of the trees, suck their juices, and conset them with a flexible barbed wire; that the trees awling toward the extremities of the twigs, there quently arrest their growth. The apple, pear, and are thoroughly scraped before the wash is applied; ediately commence their ravages, attacking every estimated that one individual in five generations deposited, or the grubs hatched; and that the carance of being burnt. One of the most import. Tobacco juice, as well as the smoke, will destroy until the insect has wholly disappeared. Peach at means of preventing the ravages of these worms multitudes of them, if a little skill be exercised. and nectarine trees are liable to great injury from to keep the females from ascending the trees to y their eggs, and for this purpose various methods are been devised. One of these methods is callfoliage and thrift of fruit trees; but that known as matter ozing from the trunk or the surface of the terring—which is done by applying strips of the American tent caterpillar is the one that com-ground. The best and probably the only effectual nen or canvas cloth, about three inches wide, mits such general and extensive devastation in remedy is thought to be that of scraping the earth ose about the tree, filling all the crevices in the orchards, especially in particular seasons. The from about the tree, and then with a knife to folarly with clay mortar before the strips are aphorate with clay mortar before the strips are aphorated. On these strips the tar is laid with a brush, branches of the trees. These remain in that state (tion, and destroy it. As the insect merely connd the operation repeated every night, commencing until the following season, when they are hatched in fines itself to the bark, its destruction is very easy. ie work as early as the ground becomes thawed the latter end of May or beginning of June. Each It rarely occurs that trees are completely dethe spring, and continuing it till some time in ringproduces three or four hundred caterpillars, and stroyed by this insect, unless they are small. The une. On the lower edge of the canvas some kind these weave a sort of web to live in. They should borer also attacks the quince tree, and various f a rope or raw material is bound, in order that the be thoroughly cleared from the trees before or at means have been suggested and tried to prevent ar may not drip or run down the bark of the tree, the time of hatching. A little practice readily enthe injury. Incasing the lower part of the trunk another method to prevent the insects rising is that ables one to perceive the little knobs of eggs near in a box of coal dust, pulverized blacksmiths' cinference are streaming air-slaked lime around the trees to the the end of the twigs, and to cut them off and burn ders, tar, or unleached ashes have been tried with istance of three or four feet, the ground being first them. Every one of these little knobs is an embryo various degrees of success. But Thomas, an exug and made smooth. Three hogsheads of lime lest of caterpillars. They hatch simultaneously perieuced judge in such matters, recommends direct propriated according to this plan, are found to with the opening of the buds; and if not before attack as the best method. According to this plan, a sufficient quantity for sixty trees. Sometimes removed, the white spider-web down which the the soil should be scraped away from the trunk to has been found beneficial to make a close fitting young worms thickly wind about their nest, even a depth of two or three inches, and then out in all of the plan of boards around the base of the tree, and in the short space of a day or two, greatly facilitates with a knife lengthways, and not across the bark sep them covered with tar. A circular leaden their ready detection. Of course, it is much easier where it is possible to avoid it, until the insects are cough filled with oil, and placed around the tree, to rid a branch of a nest when only the hundredth found. The operation should be repeated once a found advantageous. According to some ob- of an ounce in weight than after the size has greatly week for several times, as there are generally a revers, this insect will in some cases rise during increased. The foliage of the trees is in many number in each tree, and some are almost certain e late autumn and winter months. The eggs are instances almost entirely caten up, when a little to escape the first examination. Afterwards the id in clusters of sixty to one hundred in each, care would almost entirely have prevented it— wounded parts should be coated with a suitable used to each other and to the bark, by a grayish for the insect may be easily killed if taken when composition, as a mixture of tar with other or

Let the Children Sleep .- We earnestly advise rge, with the flat side sticking to the smooth bark them under foot. If there are any that cannot be that all who think a great deal, who have infirm health, who are in trouble, or who have to work r in colour to the bark of the tree. These blis- to a pole, which will take them off pretty well. hard, to take all the sleep they can get, without

We caution parents, particularly, not to allow hatch toward the last of May, and finish about Borers.—The borer in an insect which perforates their children to be waked up of mornings—let e second week in June. The nits produce white and enters the wood of the tree, at or a little below nature wake them up, she will not do it premature-nimalculæ resembling lice, and being so small that the surface of the earth. It is generally supposed ly; but have a care that they go to bed at an early ey are hardly perceptible by the naked eye. Im that the apple-tree beetle, or borer, the parent of hour; let it be carlier and earlier, until it is found ediately after they are hatched, they open the the grub or larvae—in which stage the mischief that they wake up themselves in full time to dress usage at the end of the blister, and crawl out on done by the insect is produced—makes its ap- for breakfast. Being waked up early, and allowed bank of the tree, where they remain with but pearance on the stage in June; and about the first to engage in difficult or any studies late, and just ttle motion about ten days, when they stick them-of July she is in the habit of making provision for before retiring, has given many a beautiful and lves fast to the bark of the tree and die. From her offspring; that she usually lays her eggs, ten in promising child the brain fever, or determined is little careass arises a small speck of blue mould, number, on the body of the tree, near the surface ordinary ailments to the production of water on the

Let parents make every possible effort to have bout fifteen days. It then gradually wears off more than eight days, when a white maggot ap their children go to sleep in a pleasant humor. otil the old carcass appears, which by this time pears; that the maggot or grub burrows in the Never scold or give lectures, or in any way wound formed into a new blister, and contain the spawn bark of the tree, and proceeds no further the first a child's feelings as it goes to bed. Let all banish r nits. These blisters have the effect of prevent-season; that during the second year he bores into business and every worldly care at bed-time, and g the circulation of the sap, and sometimes they the body of the tree, upward; that in the third let sleep come to a mind at peace with God and all

June, with lye or brine, made by dissolving one third year he or she comes out of the tree fully Be Silent.—It is a great art in the christian wart of salt in two gallons of clear water. Al-winged, when she is ready to lay more eggs. Many life to learn to be silent. Under opposition, reough the small branches cannot be cleansed in trees in different parts of the country have been bukes, injuries, still be silent. It is better to say is manner without much difficulty, still if the destroyed by this insect. A large number of the nothing, than to say it in an excited or angry manody of the tree, together with the branches near pests may be got rid of by digging round the trees, ner, even if the occasion should seem to justify a body, are kept clean until there comes a rough clearing away the earth, and then with a sharp degree of anger.

For "The Friend." West-town Boarding-School,

Surely, this is a vineyard of the Lord's own planting—and not only so—but he has from time a rising generation, in which description I include dition. The first, which is described in the apoto time smiled upon it, and mercifully granted its all who have not attained to middle age, and feellyptic visions, as the Tree bearing all manner caretakers ability to perform good service there. ing a renewal of that cordial interest in their truit, whose leaves are for the healing of the 1 It has been a signal blessing to many hundreds highest well-being, which has been often peculiarly tions, is the true emblem of Him who is of our children; and although it may have to awakened on behalf of a wide circle with whom I immediate Author of soul, restoring virtue; the pass through dreary seasons, I would not have have been personally acquainted, I believe myself whom are hid all the treasures of wisdom a discouragement to creep in, but go to work with warranted to address the present salutation to a knowledge." The latter, having its growth in mittees, superintendents and teachers conscien- sent medium. tiously solicitous for the eternal as well as the temwould almost say dangerous period of their education reference to endowments, natural and spiritual, sion of that which is spiritual, or is so pervert its properties of their education, than the advantages here present. Some among them, of whose progress from infancy by the inventions of men, as to examplify some ed? Parence, on the look out for schools for their to maturity I have been an interested witness, have thing of that mixture of good and evil which is ples being combined with educational advantages Jesus Christ. -is it an evidence of a lapse of religious concern? determine.

his unmerited mercy, prepare the hearts of sons truth, but because they knew it, and that no lie is them to be, even as "spirit and as life." It is and daughters to come up for acceptable service of the truth." in this portion of his vineyard-that they would sustaining it. What is wanted more than any getter in my name, there am I in the midst of evil propensities of fallen nature, fitting the mi thing else, is an unquestioning, unselfish dedica-them," will not be wanting to extend a portion of for nothing higher than a participation of the

has become a hardened criminal might have been channels inferior to those who denominate them-saved to society by a little tender sympathy and selves "earthen vessels;" for his power, though discriminate kindness in the beginning of his vicious secret in its operation, is as efficient as ever in con-life. Few men have grace to act like the broker verting the water into wine, if the vessels prepared diversified character than has been already a in the following incident, but success would follow to contain it are filled according to his purpose and dressed, dangers and temptations are manife often such kindness. It is easy to ruin, and it is command. Without the communication of this and multiform; yet merciful preservation free easy to save a young man. One of the leading brolliving virtue, the purest elements of human instruction may be witnessed, by all who have tast kers of New York had a young man in his cuploy. Ition, comparable to elementary water, would re-The vast amount of money in his hands was a great main like water still, capable of supplying natural unto Him, as unto that "Living Stone, disallow The vast amount of money in his hands was a great man like water still, capanic of supplying match at the first control bim. Small sums were missed day but not spiritual wants.

The writer would willingly draw the attention to Him who has been revealed in their soul as to charged with the peculation. The broker showed importance of their continually seeking a great match that class of readers she is addressing, to the Way, the Truth, and the Life—the only st charged with the peculation. The broker showed importance of their continually seeking a great match at the same of the control of the same of the same of the control of the same smallest sum of money; the young man stammered proportionable, and in some degree, antecedent seek and wait for his appearance, but quickened and confessed. "Now," said the broker, "I shall to an expansion in the branches, the latter will this good Word of Life, may such desire to be on not discharge, I shall not dishonour you. I intend infallibly wither and become fruitless, and will be tinually fed with the sincere milk of that present the same of the same to keep you, and make a man of you. You will be susceptible of restoration to vitality only by some Word, both as immediately and instrumenta a vagabond if you go along in this way. Now let humilating process, comparable to that of being administered, that they may grow thereby; a me see no more of this." He went to his work. Let down even with their parent stem, as to the may they be no further solicitious for strong the did not disappoint the confidence. He did honour very ground; whereas if the root is suffered and meat, than as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, than as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, than as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, than as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, then as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, then as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, then as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, then as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, then as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, then as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, then as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, then as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, then as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, then as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, then as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, then as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, then as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, then as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, then as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, then as it is afforded them according to the suffered and meat, the suffer to his employer. And the other day he was inducted encouraged to shoot deeply downward, so as to de-appointment of Him, who "feeds his flock like into one of our banks in an honourable position, and rive its nourishment from the well-spring of Divine shepherd; gathering the lambs and carrying the his employer became his bondsman to the amount. Life, the plant of the Lord's right hand planting in his bosom, and gentyl leading." along those of $10,000. Had be conducted as some would will be preserved green and fruitful in its season, whose hearts are raised living, though feeble chave done—sent the boy away, proclaimed his able also to sustain, without injury, times and dissires after the knowledge of Him and His tuth in the State Prison, and been sent to his tomb in beat. the garb of a convict. But a young man was rescued from ruin who had been placed amid the will be the difference between speculation and extemptation of money, and for a moment was over perionce, even among those who may have been most intrepid action, and the most implicit fait come. - Presbyterian.

a great deal.

Selected for "The Friend." An Address to Young Persons.

renewed energy, trusting confidently in the arising still wider range of the same class, and to solicit unregenerate nature, is characterized only by the Lord's power, when he will come again in their attention to those sentiments and subjects knowledge which is held in a state of disobedien his immaculate love for his erring but repentant which from time to time have been impressed on and of alienation from "the law of the Spirit children, to heal their bruises, and to give them my mind; not, I apprehend for my own sake only, Life in Christ Jesus," and therefore is product strength for the varied services required of them, but for the especial purpose of extending or con- of corruption, sin and death. When this Institution is watched over by com- firming their important influence through the pre-poral welfare of the pupils, what more could be states, stations, and circumstances which are com-sidered as any part of this forbidden fruit, and asked for our children, during the auxious, and I prehended under this division of our society, as also such literal knowledge is maintained to the exc children, should go there and examine for them- themselves become heads of families; yet are they distinguishing property of the Tree of Knowled selves, to properly appreciate all that has been not less surely among the appropriate objects of Heuce the letter of Scripture, or the more li done, and is still doing for the health, comfort and that religious solicitude, which has been often readvancement of the pupils. Why should parents vived in my heart for their growth "in grace and necessarily comprehending essential goodness, grow indifferent about the necessity of select exam- in the saving knowledge of our Lord and Saviour, good in its appointed office, as a medium to conv

I leave it with you and your heavenly Father to those of whom the Apostle John observed, that he holy influence, the letter of Scripture will cease It is my fervent desire that the Lord would, in "wrote unto them not because they knew not the present the words of Christ, as he has declar freely enlist in his cause, and lend their aid in disciples, "Where two or three are gathered to life, may prove to be that food which nourishes his blessing to any number, whether few or many, things which will perish with the using; and let who are collectively engaged in promoting the ing it destitute of that which only can sustain a The Broker and his Clerk .- Many a man who knowledge of his truth, though conveyed through satisfy an immortal spirit.

Corresponding with these distinct characters, equally desirous of entertaining a right theory, since there are none so fearless as those who had The Tree of Life and the Tree of Knowledge, originot light enough to see their danger; and none his primeval state-the latter furnishing a test his obedience-are virtually accessible to the re Beloved Friends .- In turning my view towards somed race during their present probationary or

It is not assumed that the simple, literal knoedge of that inspired record which Divine wisd-I am duly aware of the great diversity, as to has committed to a portion of mankind, is to be or spiritual nurture and intelligence under the il I have a consoling hope that among this number, minating influence of the Holy Spirit, by which this sense that "the letter killeth, but the Spi The writer believes that He who declared to his giveth life." Knowledge maintained without t

Ignorance.- Ignorance is often the source of t It is better to live on a little, than to outlive on ually placed in Paradise, the former representing confident as they who have not sufficient knowled great deal.

It is better to live on a little, than to outlive on ually placed in Paradise, the former representing confident as they who have not sufficient knowled to discover their own errors.

not himself, neither did according to his will, shall be room enough to receive it." be beaten with many stripes." If we were but ignorant of our duty, how much better it would be for us; yet strange enough we plead good desires, we see the need, we feel our duty, and yet hold back. If we would help ourselves out in our faithlessness by any other considerations, such as fear, doubt, unfitness, want of time, &c., we should remember these considerations come too late, after we know we ought to do a thing.

It may be the words are felt and said oftentimes too lightly, it may be they are sometimes acted upon too hastily; but that they are oftener said as an excuse than as a resolution all will acknowledge. To be sure, we may embarrass our occupations with many imaginary duties, but there is a proverb that is excellent as a straightener, and that is "Duties never conflict." Often some seemingly important thing to be done is a species of self-indulgence or self-activity, while the little domestic care, the act of kindness or affection, is the duty of the hour. It is dangerous in such cases to judge according to seeming or inclination; self is so apt to be wrong, it serves as a rule sometimes to choose what denies self. Then again, the inertness of our natures has to be combated; we must beware lest we be bcguiled into ease; grow quite comfortable in our listlessness; we must remember with fear how numberless may be our sins of omission, and that we shall be accountable for them every one.

Yet after all, one and one only test is sufficient: "In which shall I please my Guide?" What pleases him, I ought to do, it is my duty: for the rest he will provide. The thing is to be thorough in thus referring, that there may be no waste: thorough, first in the inward keeping of the heart with all diligence, and then in the outward deeds; for from the heart are the issues of life.

For as our first duty is toward Him who gave us life, so nothing can be duty that hinders our "drawing nigh unto Him." "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength." Yet how many are mourning over their weakness and know this remedy and yet seek it not. Oh how different would we be as Christians, how would our light shine among all professing Christians, if each and all, we were faithful in our own hearts to what we know we ought to do! How would we go from strength to strength, and how would our strength be all of Him, the only sufficient source; and looking to Him who has promised "I will guide thee with mine eye," the inquiry in devotedness of beart, would be, "Lord what wilt thou have me to lo ?" There would be no hanging back, no pressfering of all the gifts to the Giver, that by His paptism of fire, all the dross and tin and reprobate ilver should be purged away, and by the renewng of His spirit they should be made fit for His

Ah, we know enough. What we need is that coming unto Christ our Redeemer, in and by His power, that "He may thus thoroughly purge the and is open five evenings in the week, from seven to Heaven is like a grain of mustard seed, or a little being free,) are about three hundred dollars, and if "I Know I Ought to."

Then why not do it? Why is it that with most raged, by too great expectations. A little gleam of taken to engage teachers, and open the school. A unaccountable reasoning we acknowledge we ought light, a little sense of pardoning love, a little faith co-operation is solicited from the friends of the to do a thing, and wrap that very confession about to support in trial, a little pointing of duty, are blacks, and particularly from those resident in the us as a sort of excuse, and rest there, never grow-rich, unmerited mercies, and the same wisdom that State of New Jersey. Contributions will be received ing from knowing to doing. When we know what now withholds, now gives, will in the fullness of by John M. Kaighn or William B. Cooper, Camden, we ought to do, there is no excuse left: for "that time, as "all the tithes are brought into His store- N. J.; George J. Scattergood, Fifth and Callow servant which knew his lord's will and prepared house," "pour out a blessing that there shall not hill; J. Wistar Evans, 817 Arch street; William

For " The Friend " Camden Evening School for Colonred Adults.

Many Friends in Philadelphia are aware, that there is an evening school in this city for the free instruction of coloured men and women, under the care of an association of Friends. It was started about thirty years ago, in Willing's alley, and was at first taught by the members of the association in rotation, but this plan not being found to answer very well, annual subscriptions were solicited from interested persons, and regular teachers were engaged for the session. Through some vicissitudes, the school has been steadily maintained from year to year, and a large number of persons who scarcely were acquainted with their alphabet or the first elements of arithmetic, have been taught to read the Bible, and to keep their own accounts; acquirements, rudimental as they may seem to us, which must have proved of exceeding benefit to them. Having been aroused, too, to a realizing sense of the advantage of education, many have doubtless taken care to send their children to the schools provided for them, (of which there are four under the care of members of our Society,) and it is believed, that the result is a sensible improvement, both social and moral, among our black popula-

The object of this article is to call attention to a new field of labour, which has lately opened for the same association. In the neighbourhood of South Camden, N. J., numerous coloured families are settled, among whom recently a spirit for self-improvement has been awakened. They have begged sufficient means to erect a small school-house. in which the children are taught in the day-time by a coloured teacher, whose salary is paid from the public educational fund of the place. But many of the parents and others of the adult population having never had any opportunity of school learning, are desirous of attending an evening school in the same house, and after making several futile efforts in other directions, they applied recently to the above-mentioned Philadelphia association, to help them. A committee was deputed to inquire into its feasibility, who appointed a meeting with the black people, where upwards of one hundred of both sexes were present, and gave in their names as intending to avail themselves of the benefit of such a school, should it be started. The members of the association sympathize with the effort, and although they are aware of the disadvantages atng away from the "openings" of Truth, but an ofthe river, and would prefer that it could be managed by citizens of Camden, yet they are willing to incur the increased responsibility, provided the means can be obtained. The estimated expenses of a session of five months, (the rent of the building

Evans, Jr., 252 S. Front street, Philadelphia; Chas. Albertson, Germantown, Pa, or by any other member of the association.

Selected.

A WOMAN'S SONG TO WOMEN.

Pull the needle, swing the broom. Tidy up the litter'd room, Patch the trowsers, darn the shirt, Fight the daily dust and dirt: All around you trust your skill, Confident of kindness still.

Stir the gruel, knead the bread. Tax your hands, and heart, and head ; Children sick, and household bungry, (Though some thoughtless words have stung ye,) All are waiting on your will, Confident of kindness still.

Never mind the glauce oblique, Never cause of coldness seek, Never notice slight or frown, By your conduct live them down : All at last will seek your skill, Confident of kindaess still.

Lift your beart, and lift your eyes, Let continual prayers arise; Think of all the Saviour's woe, When he walked with man below What poor sinners sought his skill, Confident of kindness still.

Sing the song, and tell the story, Of the Saviour's coming glory, To the children whom he blesses, With your guidance and caresse Who for all things wait your will, Confident of kindness still.

Feed the hungry, and the weak, Words of cheer and warning speak. Be the angel of the poor, Teach them bravely to endure; Show them this, the Father's will, That they trust his kindness still.

Look for nothing in return, Let not wrath within you burn ; Gratitude may be your lot, Then be thankful; but if not, Are you better than your Lord, Who endured the cross and sword, From those very hands whose skill Waited ever on his will?

Noble is a life of care, If a holy zeal be there; All your little deeds of love, Heavenward helps at last may prove, If you seek your Father's will, Trusting in his kindness still.

F. L. B. Washington, D. C. Sunday School Times.

It wins my admiration, To view the structure of that little work, A bird's nest! Mark it well within, without. No tool had he that wrought, no knife to cut, No nail to fix, no bodkin to insert, No glue to join; his little beak was all, And yet how neatly finished! What nice hand, With every implement and means of art, And twenty years' apprenticeship to boot, Can make me such another?

What is the christian's course? The Scriptures say, "Brighter and brighter, to the perfect day."
His warfare is within. There unfatigued,
His fervent spirit labours. There he fights, And there obtains fresh triumphs o'er himself.

^{*} The adult school is at present located at the corner of Raspberry and Aurora streets, near Ninth and Lucust. loowed, that "He may tous thoroughly purge the land is open five evenings in the week, from seven to loor of our hearts, gather the wheat into His gar-inee, and burn up the chaff with unquenchable his "We need that willingness to be, and that shillity to do what He wills, which are alike of thim. But let us remember that the kingdom of seeing old and young bending over their books.

of safety? stances, to be descending to contrivances and ima- and division. ginations of their own; the fearful result of forremissness or a false charity, till the precious prewhich is the bond of peace, nor to experience the | yield did not exceed two hundred gallons per acr serving spark of living faith has become almost extruth of this declaration in its beauty, "One is owing to the prevalence of rot; and in Tennesse, thete, we are by no means exempt from falling into your master, even Christ, and all ye are brethren."
Georgia, and South Carolina, it was very much re error and danger in the opposite direction, unless The lamb-like nature of the Prince of Peace we dwell strictly on the watch-tower. Though it is must of necessary for the living members to stand firmly of every true Christian, breathing peace on each coming covered with vineyards. One vine-grower against those innovations, if, as we believe, it has and good will towards men; and this will prevail in The lamb-like nature of the living members to stand firmly of every true Christian, breathing peace or earth coming covered with vineyards. One vine-grower against those innovations, if, as we believe, it has and good will towards men; and this will prevail in The lamb-like nature of the level of the living members to stand firmly of every true Christian, breathing peace or earth coming covered with vineyards. One vine-grower against those innovations, if, as we believe, it has and good will towards men; and this will prevail in to examine our own motives. "Examine your- the church. selves, whether ye be in the faith; prove your ownselves. Know ye not your ownselves, how that Jesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates? And endeavour to ascertain the origin and tendency most of the large dogs, the Newfoundland permits keeps humble and lowly: and being kept in the of every thought, word and deed. Here we shall be the lesser dogs to take all kinds of liberties without cross, it will bring you to lay aside every weigh are his servants, to whom we give ourselves up to times the little conceited animal presumes upon th obey. If servants then of One who was meek and dignified composure of the Newfoundland dog, and We are prone to notice the conduct of others, lowly of heart, we shall find ourselves imbued with in that case, is sure to receive some quaint punish and rigidly to scrutinize every act of our friends, patience, long suffering, kindness and gentleness, ment for his insolence. The story of the big do as well as to make unwary remarks immediately with the other works of the Spirit, which will have that dropped the little dog into the water, and res affecting the welfare of individuals, without suffi- a restoring tendency, under the benign and pro- cued it from drowning, is so well known, that i cient investigation into the nature of the circum- tecting care of the Good Shepherd of Israel; for it needs but a passing reference. But I know of a do stances attendant.

is well to remember this declaration, "and other belonging to one of my friends, which behaved in any, if not to the most of us, more narrowly to!

In must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and endurance by the continued annoyance, it took the investigate our own motives, when about to express they shall be one fold and one Shepherd." It is little tormentor in its mouth, swam well out t our sentiments liberally and unreservedly in re- possible, however, by neglecting self-examination sea, dropped it in the water, and swam back again spect to the acts of others. Does our object for and an honest scrutiny into our motives, that we Another of these animals belonging to a workmarthis sort of conversation, have its origin in chris- may profess to support the ancient principles very was attacked by a small and pugnacious bull-dog tian kindness, having the desire to relieve or pro- irigidly, while our actions partake of the works of which sprang upon the unoffending canine giant teet from error or misapprehension? or does it the flesh. Here hardness ensues and bitterness of and, after the manner of bull-dogs, "pinned" his arise from those low, grovelling propensities of our spirit increases against those who do not harmonize by the nose, and there hung, in spite of all endea fallen nature, which strive to afflict and injure, with our views; and instead of viewing those who are not shake it off. However, the big dog hap and that rejoice in iniquity, rather than to shelter are mistaken with compassion, and a desire for pened to be a clever one, and spying a pailful the seattered of the flock, endeavouring to restore their restoration, an unkind and unfeeling carriage boiling tar, he bolted towards it, and deliberated all who may have wandered from the eternal fold and demeanour so far prevails towards them that the lowered his foe into the hot and viscous material safety? common courtesies of life are almost excluded. The bull-dog had never calculated on such a recep
The signs of the times portray a departure from This spirit, instead of proving au antidote to the first principles, a relapsing from christian zeal and separating tendency of unsound doctrine and other bearing with it a scalding memento of the oc integrity; and the members of our once awakened innovations, only serves to widen the breaches and casion. - Rutledge's Natural History. and favoured Society appear, in too many in- to consummate and extend the spirit of alienation saking their first love, instead of waiting patiently and trouble, what other can we do than, as help- the present year. It is stated that there are no stating their first cover, listeau or water, part or more war other can be do not always a heart of the present year. As a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, and the present year the present year. As a scale to present year, and the present year the present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year, as a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year, as a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year, as a scale to present year. As a scale to present year, as a scale to present year, as customs of the world appears to be sorrowfully seeking to learn of Him who will teach us of His whole State, which is much above the usual average obtaining, depriving many of the members of a ways and lead us in the paths of righteousness; per-living exercise and a right concern for the strength-mitting Him to have the entire rule and government twelve years, the average yield for the Ohio valle ening of the stakes of Zion and the enlargement over our conduct. Unless this is the case with us is two hundred gallous per acre; on well cultivate of her borders. If, for want of watchfulness,—individually, we cannot expect to partake of the vineyards, in favourable positions, three hundre ease, worldly favor and prosperity may prove a true communion with the just of all generations; gallous, which is about the average product if fatal snare to many, by lulling into forgettulness, neither to realize a living in the unity of the spirit France and Germany. In Missouri and Illinois the been for want of a close and strict attention to the the end over the wild and the devouring nature, with the grape. In regard to the variety, the Co great Teacher of his people, that those breaches The wrath of man never wrought the rightcoaness tawba suffers greatly from untimely frosts wheneve and rents have been made in our Society; it becomes highly important, that we humble ourselves ciency of the impulsive and excited feelings of our ject to disease have already been partially tried, an Restorer of paths to dwell in, and strive to be imade peace. The Pharisses made broad their physical tawba, Cape, or Isabella. The Delaware is the bucd with heavenly virtue; evincing it in our daily lateries, and held forth many imposing claims to best; the Venango, the Herbmont, the Diana, an intercourse; and endeavouring to put on and exemplify true charity, which is the bond of percondemn the simple and plain teachings of the perior quality; and it would seem a matter of fectness, in all our movements. If this is not our blessed Jesus, the Lamb of God, who taketh away wisdom in the planting of new vineyards, to intre leading engagement, however carnestly we may the sins of the world. Hence the great necessity duce several varieties in about equal proportion proclaim the correctness of those glorious and undersides of a frequent examination, whether we are instead of planting exclusively the Catawba, as we tading gospel truths, so beautifully illustrated and moved in society matters by the meek, the lowly, have been too much in the habit of doing. In this set forth by Fox, Penn, Barclay and others, it can and the restoring spirit of the dear Master, living way there would be a chance of securing a crop c avail us nothing. Unless we can show forth a as on the Lord's holy mountain, where nothing can one or more kinds in seasons when others fail.measure of the same humility, christian kindness hurt nor destroy, or whether, like clouds without Exchange paper. and godly zeal, which actuated those faithful co-workers in the Truth, what will the most preten-pestuously driven by angry feelings and the untious efforts and testimonies, do for us? They can subjected will, which are incapable of bringing in the pure wisdom, and it will teach you what t have no more power than sounding brass or a the returns of permanent peace and quietude of do is all things. Walk in the light, and there wi tiukling cymbal. How necessary, then, frequently mind, or of promoting the prosperity and unity of be no occasion of stumbling and falling; but be and division.

Ledyard, Cayuga Co., N. Y., Tenth mo. 21, 1860.

Seeing that our beloved society is in confusion crop in the United States will be an abundant on Press Forward in the Straight Way .- Dwe ing disobedient to the light, then there is stumblin and falling down. Every one mind your own cor dition and your growth daily: press forward i The Newfoundland Dog .- As is the case with the straight way, and so be kept in the cross, the led often to this query, Do we pursue our present showing the feast resentment; and if it is worried is do the Master's will, and to stand or pestered by some forward purpy, looks down is set before you; that you may so run as to obtain acquitted in the Divine sight? remembering that we with calle contempt, and passes on its way. Some-the crown—Richard Farmsworth. In a recent debate in the English House of Com- viz: mons, the fact was stated that in Lancashire there are co-operative cotton mills of which laboring men the treasurer's account, and report to a future sitvery flourishing and well conducted. One concern of this kind was mentioned as having 1,900 mem- treasurer, viz: pers, all workmen, which had a capital of $220,000; nembers; another, commenced in 1844, which beso fewer than 2703 members and a capital of 135,000. Many more of these undertakings were n existence, to which were attached reading rooms, ibraries, maps, globes, telescopes, microscopes, and ther scientific apparatus of the most recent con-

There has recently been presented to the Mueum of the Medical College, Mobile, a beautiful Friend to be appointed in his stead. pecimen of the legatta, or lace-wood tree. The arge enough to serve as a small handkerchief. It the name of a Friend for that appointment. an be washed and ironed like ordinary muslin. The ree is a native of the West Indies, and is very rare.

ig among this portion of the inhabitants, at the ormal appointment of the Christian Prince, as the accessor to their cruel, persecuting Queen.

THE FRIEND.

ELEVENTH MONTH 10, 1860.

We have received a printed copy of the Minutes ie following extracts:

t Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends, held at Mount Pleasant on the 8th, and by adjournments, to 11th inclusive of the Tenth month, 1860.

The Quarterly Meetings have all forwarded their ports, by which it appears their representatives in is meeting are:

ho, on being called, all answered to their names. A certificate was received from Goshen Monthly leeting, Chester county, Pa., for our beloved riend Phebe W. Roberts, a minister, bearing date is meeting; also a certificate for our esteemed riend Ann Cope, from Bradford monthly meeting, teemed Friend Ebenezer Worth, companion to ciencies, care has been extended. e same Friend, the two latter being in the station Elders: their company is satisfactory to this uarterly Meeting, in relation to the rights of our embers who have removed or may remove beyond yours are used to end them. e limits of this meeting. The following Friends

English Cotton Mills Owned by Operatives .- relieved from their present embarrassed condition, but more faithfulness in the support of these testi-

The following Friends are appointed to examine

By a minute from the meeting for Sufferings, we mother doing a business of $470,000 with 500 are informed that George Smith, a member of that degree observed. meeting, appointed by the Yearly Meeting, requests an with twenty-eight members, who subscribed five to be released from that appointment, on account cumstances of those who appear to be likely to collars each, and at the end of fifteen years had of age and infirmity; the representatives are de- require aid have been inspected and some relief sired to confer together and propose to a future afforded; they have been advised and assisted in sitting, the name of a Friend to be appointed in such employments as they are capable of, and due his stead.

William Heald, on account of age and infirmity, requests to be released from being correspondent for Middleton Monthly Meeting; the representatives and propose to a future sitting the name of a ries; except a few of our members have attended

The meeting is informed that by the removal of eculiarity of it is in the fibrous nature of the bark, the correspondent of Flushing Monthly Meeting, thich is about an eighth of an inch thick. From that meeting is without a correspondent; the rephis bark has been dissected more than twenty coats resentatives from Short Creek Quarter are desired fapparently real crape or lace-most of them to confer together and propose to a future sitting

The representatives are desired to confer together and propose to the next sitting the name of punctual in complying with their engagements, and a Friend to serve this meeting as Clerk the present The Christians in Madagascar. - Late accounts | year, and one to assist him, and also the names of these respects, care has been extended to them. om this island state that there was much rejoic- two Friends to serve as messengers to the Women's meeting.

Then adjourned to 11 o'clock to-morrow.

Third of the week and ninth of the month .-The meeting gathered at the time adjourned to.

Joseph Hobson, on behalf of the representatives, reported that they had conferred together, evince to those who will not be reclaimed, the spirit and that most of their number were united in pro- of meekness and love before judgement is placed posing that the two Friends now at the table, be upon them; some of the reports state that those continued to fill their respective places the present who have separated from us are not included. year, the rest of the representatives submitting thereto, which was accepted by the meeting, and the Yearly Meeting of Ohio, from which we take George Gilbert was appointed Clerk, and Robert H. Smith to assist him.

That they also agreed in proposing that the same Friends should be appointed messengers to tuition of teachers in membership with us. the Women's meeting who served last year; therefore, Elisha Holling-worth and Joseph Wilson are re-appointed to that service.

The consideration of the state of society was now entered upon by reading the queries and the answers thereto, from the Quarterly Meetings, and the following is the summary of the answers, viz:

1st .- All our meetings for worship and disci- Agreeably to adjournment Friends met. of 8th month last, liberating her to attend pline have been attended, and generally by the greater part of the members, though some are rearing date 5th of last mouth, as companion to viour therein generally avoided, except some inthe past year, twenty-seven schools taught, excluir Friend Phebe W. Roberts, and also one from stances of sleeping; the hour of meeting nearly sively under the care of Friends, some for the e same meeting, bearing the same date, for our observed. In some of the above cases of defi-terms of 6 months and some for 3 months each other in a good degree becoming our Christian pro- go to school. fession; tale-bearing and detraction are discouraged A reference was received from Short Creek by most, though one report says not so much as clusively. would be best; and when differences arise endea-

3d. - Many Friends endeavour, by example and classes of schools. e appointed, in conjunction with a like committee precept, to educate their children, and those under women Friends (if they think right to appoint their care, in plainness of speech, deportment, and except to family schools; three of which only are e,) to take the subject into consideration, and if apparel, to guard them against reading permicious reported to this meeting, though these are nearly way opens for it, propose to a future sitting some books, and from corrupt conversation, and encour- all represented to have been receiving instructions ay by which our subordinate meetings may be age them frequently to read the Holy Scriptures; at home.

monies is desirable.

4th .- Except one case of vending, Friends appear clear of importing, vending and distilling, are the owners, which they manage successfully ting, the state thereof, what sum, if any, they may and (with a few exceptions) of the unnecessary use themselves, and which, as paying speculations, are think necessary to raise the present year for the of spirituous liquors; mostly clear of frequenting use of this meeting, and the name of a Friend for taverns, or attending places of diversion; in some of the above cases some care is reported to have been taken; moderation and temperance in a good

> 5th .- The necessities of the poor, and the circare has been taken to promote the school education of their children.

6th.-Friends appear to bear a faithful testimony against a hireling ministry, oaths, military from Salem Quarter are desired to confer together services, clandestine trade, prize goods, and lottemeetings where a hireling ministery is maintained; and one report states that a few of its members have dealt in gift book stores, in which cases some care has been extended.

7th.-Friends appear careful to live within the bounds of their circumstances, and avoid involving themselves in business beyond their ability to manage; generally just in their dealings, and where any give reasonable grounds for fear in 3th .- Friends bear a testimony against slavery; those under our direction who have had their freedom secured are suitably provided for and instructed in useful learning.

9th .- A good degree of care is taken to deal with offenders seasonably and impartially; and to

ANSWERS TO ANNUAL QUERIES.

1st .- No new meeting settled.

2d .- Some encouragement has been given to schools for the education of our youth under the 3d .- The queries addressed to the Quarterly, Monthly, and Preparative Meetings, are read and answered therein, nearly as directed. Jonathan Sharpless, an elder and member of Providence Monthly Meeting departed this life 20th of First month, 1860, in the 93d year of his Then adjourned to 10 o'clock to-morrow.

Fourth of the week and tenth of the month .-

The Quarterly Meetings have all forwarded reports on education in primary schools, which being miss in this important duty; unbecoming beha- now read it appears that there have been, within

That within our limits and attached to this 2d .- Most Friends maintain love toward each meeting there are 1,123 children of suitable age to

361 of these have attended Friend's schools ex-

519 have attended district schools exclusively. 133 are reported to have attended different

104 have not been going to school the past yesr, proportion of the children of Friends have been proved. taught in schools under the care of the society, accompanied with desires that Friends would more Short Creek Quarter, produced the following, generally encourage the schools under care of the which was satisfactory and adopted by the meetsociety, as heretofore recommended, and Quarterly meetings are desired to send up to this meeting, next year, explicit accounts thereof.

Then adjourned to 2 o'clock to-morrow after-

Fifth day afternoon.-Friends met as agreed upon.

Flushing Monthly Meeting, being introduced through the meeting for Sufferings, was read to application may be made for the setting up of any our edification and comfort, and was directed to be returned to that meeting.

School produced the following Report:

From the minutes of the acting committee we find that the amount charged for board and tuition closing the way for further correspondence and refor session ending Third month 15th, 1860, for an ligious fellowship with us, we deem such a course average of about sixty-seven pupils, is $2,680; Expenditures, $3,203 13; balance in favour of the order that the way may be clear for the setting up square mile. school for session, $218 41. Amount charged for of such meetings in the west. board and tuition for session ending Ninth month 6th, 1860, for an average of 213 pupils, $745 54; making [with other receipts] a total of $1,781 28. unable to agree upon any name to fill the vacancy Expenditures, $1,591 25; balance in favour of the in the Meeting for Sufferings. school for the session, $190 03; balance in favour of the school for the year, $408 41. For improvements and repairs, $138 01. Repair account-Received for the purpose of repairs expressly, from proved, and he accordingly appointed to the service. Friends of Ohio Yearly Meeting by subscription, Address, East Fairfield, Columbiana County, Ohio. from Third month 18th, 1858 to Third month 2d, 1859, $511 73; since that date from same source, reported they were united in proposing the name $63 86; from Friends of Philadelphia Yearly of Isaac Mitchell, for correspondent for Flushing Meeting, $488 30; from general cash of the Monthly Meeting, which was satisfactory, and he school, $66 01; making, $1,129 90. Expendi-appointed to that service. Address, Flushing, Beltures from Third month, 1858, to Third month 2d, mont County, Ohio. 1859, $493 62; from Third month 2d, 1859, to Sixth month 7th, 1860, $636 28; making, close, solemnly concludes, to meet again if permit-$1,129 90.

By an examination of the finances of the school, it appears that there is due the Institution, believed to be collectable, $1,070 73; cash on hand, $281 55; produce of farm, $450; stock and provisions, $455; making, $2,257 58. That The slock in port was 172,000 bales. The market for there are debts due to sundry individuals including interest, to the amount of, $2,501 78; balance of indehtedness, $244 20, subject to the addition of a few small bills not yet presented.

The committee propose to the Yearly Meeting that the sum of $300 be raised the ensuing year, to assist in relieving the Institution from the embarrassment it is labouring under for the want of available funds.

Meetings for worship continue to be held in the Institution as heretofore.

ASA GARRETSON, Clerk.

Tenth month 16th, 1860.

Which Report was satisfactory, and our Quarterly Meetings are desired to raise and forward their respective quotas to the superintendent of the

The committee continued last year to raise money to reduce the indebtedness of our Boarding School, report that they have raised the sum of $135 45, which has also been paid into the hands of the superintendent.

The committee to settle with the treasurer, made the following report which was united with, and the Friend therein named is appointed treasurer.

Sorrow was feelingly expressed that so small a last year were read and their proceedings ap-

The committee appointed on the reference from ing, viz:
The committee on the reference from Short

Creek Quarterly Meeting, agree to suggest to the Yearly Meeting:

That in future all our Monthly Meetings be placed on an equality, in relation to the care of our members who have removed or may remove A memorial concerning Abigail Wilson, from beyond our limits, and that they be encouraged to move in accordance with our discipline, whenever King of Hungary. meeting. And believing as we do, that the separation in 1854 was a violation of our good order The committee having charge of our Boarding and discipline, and Indiana Yearly Meeting having acknowledged said separatists, and by its subsequent action identified itself with them, thereby of tobacco in France twenty per cent and the closing the way for further correspondence and religious fellowship with us, we deem such a course to be necessary, so long as such a correspondence of the State is 81,255 square miles, so that the pre-[with other receipts] a total of $3,421 56. is continued with the separate meeting in Ohio, in sent population is not much over two persons to the

Signed on behalf of the committee by * The representatives now report that they were

The representatives from Salem Quarter proposed the name of Israel Heald, for correspondent for Middleton Monthly Meeting, which was ap-

The representatives from Short Creek Quarter

The meeting having now brought its business to a GEORGE GILBERT, Clerk. ted so to do.

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

breadstuffs was quiet, and previous quotations harely maintained. Consuls, 923 a 92

The Emperor of Russia, the Emperor of Austria, the Prince Regent of Prussia, together with Prince Gortschakoff, Count Rechburg, and other prominent ministers. had held a conference on European affairs at Warsaw. The conference was in session several days, and adjourned on the 26th ult. The French Emperor received an autograph letter from the Emperor of Russia, explaining the nature of the Warsaw meeting, depriving it of any significance hostile to France.

The affairs of Italy were without material change. Garibaldi's forces had been successful in several encounters with the troops of the King of Naples.

Victor Emmanuel was expected to he in Naples on the 28th. His proclamation of the vote of Naples for an-noxation was to be made on the following day. The vote of Sicily was almost unanimous in favour of annexation to Sardinia. Garibaldi has officially announced that he would lay down the dictatorship on the arrival of Victor Emma-nuel. It is supposed that Garibaldi will be offered the rank of Prince and General after the annexation of the kingdom of Naples has been effected.

The Pope has assured the representative of France at Rome, that he has no intention of leaving. The Sardinian troops were encamped at Pieti, ten leagues from Rome.

The text of the Russian note to Sardinia protesting Lukens, grand-daughter of against her course in the affairs of Italy, and ordering fourth year of her age; an her legation to retire, is published. It is very strong in and Particular Meeting, Pa.

The Prussian dispatch, relative to the invasion of the The minutes of the Meeting for Sufferings since Papal States, is also published. It censures the action of Sardinia, and rejects Cavour's justification, but does not threaten any active hostility on the part of Prussia.

The Spanish embassy has been withdrawn from Turin. The Austrian demonstrations on the Italian frontiers were increasing. There were 100,000 Austrian soldiers in Venetia, but it was believed Austria would not engage in hostilities unless an attack was made on Rome, or Venice was threatened.

The Austrian official gazette publishes a reform manifesto from the Emperor. Many sweeping changes in the constitution are proposed. Legislative power is only to be exercised henceforth with the co-operation of the Provincial Diets. The Court of Chancery is restored in Hungary, and other important concessions are made in that province. The Hungarian Diet was to be convoked without delay, and the Emperor will then be crowned

The population of Russia by a recent census is found to be seventy-nine millions. It is asserted that Russia has positively refused to enter into any engagements with Austria, which might lead to war.

The Papal Nuncio had left Paris, in ohedience to orders from Rome. An imperial decree raises the price

Philadelphia.—Mortality last week, 226.

Cotton by Railroad .- Cotton is now being carried by rail, from the Mississippi to the Eastern States. The Illinois central railroad recently concluded a contract to convey 2000 bales of cotton from Cairo to Chicago. Illinois, whence it will be forwarded to the New England States.

Steamboat Explosion .- The boilers of the steamboat H. W. Hill exploded a few days since, while on her trip from Memphis to New Orleans. Thirty-nine persous were killed, and from fifteen to twenty were scalded.

New Haven, Conn., has 40,477 inhabitants, including 1200 students. In 1820, the population was 22,533 The capital of this city invested in manufactures, is $4,016,965; the number of operatives employed is 7222 annual value of goods made $8,724,000. The carriage making business gives employment to 1596 persons, who are paid $707,930 in wages. The vehicles made in one year are valued at $2,228,000.

RECEIPTS.

Received from Jos. Snell, agt., Pa., $2, vol. 34, and for Aaron McCarty, C. Elwood and Geo. Schill, $2 each, vol 34, for Sarah Winner, $2, vol. 27, for M. Battin, $5, to 27, vol. 34; from Hannah Roberts, Pa., $2, vol. 34 from Geo. Harrison, agt., Eng., £19 0 0, for subscription for vols. 32 and 33.

WANTED.

A Female Friend to teach a family school.

Address, Joseph H. Satterthaite Oxford Valley, Bucks Co., Pa.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted as Teacher of Reading in the Boys department of this Institution. Apply to SAMUEL HILLES, Wilmington, Del. JAMES EMLEN, West Chester, Chester Co., Pa. ALFRED COPE, Germantown, Pa.

Sixth mo. 6th, 1860.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted to fill the station of Governor the Boys' department of this Institution.

Application may be made to NATHAN SHARPLESS, Con cord, Pa.; Samuel Hilles, Wilmington, Del.; Jame Emlen, West Chester, Pa.; or Thomas Evans, Philad. Twelfth mo., 1859.

DIED, on the 16th of Eighth month last, PHEBE, relic of the late George Roberts, in the seventy-seventh year of her age; a member of Gwynedd Monthly meeting, Pr.—, on the 12th of Tenth month, 1858, PREF LUKENS, grand-daughter of the above, in the twenty fourth year of her age; a member of Horsham Mouth!

PILE & M'ELROY, PRINTERS, Lodge street, opposite the Pennsylvania Bank.

H'R, HN)

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

OL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, ELEVENTH MONTH 17, 1860.

NO. 11.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

e Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by

JOHN RICHARDSON.

NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

stage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three hs, if paid in advance, three and a-quarter cents; y part of the United States, for three months, if in advance, six and a-half cents.

> For "The Friend." Heary Hull.

(Continued from page 74.)

thoughtful reader of modern religious litera omoting religion, and as proper and necessary

a well ordered family, there are services albrobably no little injury be done.

and husband. Those who thrust themselves fitably and acceptably, in his fear. den into religious activity, however great the

Desirous of doing something which bears a religious prived of the society of Stephen Hoag, a young man aspect, and which will commend them to themselves whom I highly esteemed. He was received into our and to others as religious persons, they may "kin Society by convincement, and had appeared as a dle a fire of their own, compass themselves about minister several times in our meetings; and being with its sparks, and walk in the heat and light of generally beloved, his death had an awakening the fire they have kindled;" and yet there may be checked, his death had an awakening the fire they have kindled;" and yet there may be checked in the control of the state of mice and earnest were my desires to have it accomband—ye shall lie down in sorrow." External performances may be very correctly gone through upon me, particularly a precious wife, with whom by those whose hearts have never been changed. They may assume to instruct others in religion, and we spent our time very pleasantly together. when they have never learned of Christ themselves, She was of a pious turn of mind, and our enjoyor are even disobedient to his requirings. Hence ments were increased by the opportunity of readthe impropriety of making such things a test of religious to books, the tendency of which, was to giou, for it settles persons at ease in the idea of their baying attained, when they may need to be My business was small, but I was contented. In s of a benevolent or religious character. In all incited to faithfulness in all the Divine requisi-but my happiness did not continue as it might have reases it is made the test of growth in grace tions, even to the smallest particular. But let it done, if I had not launched out into greater business. dourishing vitality, as regards both congrega-and individuals.

ever be borne in mind that religion is an inward work; a work of the heart, and not of the head; pray the idea of discriminating as to the preparation and that to live and walk in the Spirit, with Christ, look upon me from heaven, thy holy habitation, for comprehends its essence. There may be a great gog in such activity, seem to be much overand thus suffering great loss—becoming lean and thy service. Condescend to baptize me, and rethe great aim appears to be, to set all to dwarfab in a spiritual sense, instead of grøwing haptize me, that I may be prepared to serve thee who are willing, and to represent such work in grace and daily waiting on the Lord, and in acceptably, for then art worthy—Amen. wardly watching against sin, so as to be perfecting holiness in His fear. the period for being shown unto Israel is fully come | One, 'Thy will, not mine, be done.' rist's church is no less under his government then "a man's gift maketh room for him," whatoyed as he is filling the station, and perform government of the great Giver, who will always he service assigned him by the heavenly help every obedient servant to occupy the gift pro-

These reflections have arisen, while reading the warmth of natural emotion, from feelings ble obedience to the Divine will the rein. The narupathy and kindness, or from a desire to do rative holds out encouragement to all the sincercpersons may engage in works ostensibly re- hearted, not to be cast down unduly, nor yet to s, and evince much devotedness and perseve- give out, if they seem to themselves to be of very may be the mere prompting of the natural mind. "About this time," says H. Hull, "I was detaught the very first lessons in christian knowledge. the season of fulling, I was employed in my shop, can scarcely fail to be struck with the pront position and great importance, which the chird from the discharge of any duty assigned it by the Head of the church. We would rather have I believe there were few happier men than myself;

uals; or the no less important considers danger of turning from this inward work, which is rects pleasing to my natural inclination, and which whether there is any gift at all—or whether crucifying to self, and attended with many humiliadividual is called and qualified by the only ations and mortifications; and substituting for it Cast me not off, I pray thee, O thou holy One, uate authority, the divine Head of the church, the more easy routine of specious religious activity, but enable me to dedicate my all unto Thee and and thus suffering great loss-becoming lean and thy service. Condescend to baptize me, and re-

"Ninth month 5th, 'Lord, what is man, that thou art mindful of him, or the son of man that There is room in the church for the exercise of thou visitest him !' I am not worthy of the notice el to each member, to be performed in the pre-central define and way, and all regulated and con-to dispense to his servants, and there is no short-that I have a little confidence given me to look up the will of the ruler of the household. Does or stinting on his part. What is wanting is, unto Him, and ask for his help to enable me to ch member should assume to choose his own humble submission to those fiery baptisms which persevere in the way that is well pleasing unto Him, , and to engage in it when and as he pleased, purify the soul, and prepare it for the reception of and not to run in the ways of my own choosing. her qualified or not; it is easy to see that con the Lord's gifts. Where these baptisms are pa- May all that is in me he so humbled and reduced, and disorder would be the consequences, tiently endured, until the times are fulfilled, and as that I can truly say, in addressing the holy May all that is in me be so humbled and reduced

"Sixth month 11th, 1791. Although I have idding than is such a family under that of ever that gift may be; and a door of usefulness in the ad, and each member of it can only be rightly church is opened to him, under the leading and also bound to declare, that it is dangerous to tame per with his mercies, by living in idleness, unmindful of how much we owe him. We have need to watch daily and endeavour to keep the fire kindled n our hearts, that we may manifest a holy zeal for the Lord and his cause; and there is also a care t and variety of their performances, or howthey may be applicated for their usefulness through which he passed—his great caution lest to be maintained that we do not compass ourselves elf-sacrifice, are in dauger of being met by he should run unhidden into religious performances, with sparks of our own kindling. I had rather be > afflicted, be pleased to remember the poor Africans, whom professing christians are holding in slavery.

"Eighth month 18th and 19th. Attended our in them, and yet there may be no religious little use; but patiently wait the Lord's time, and Quarterly Meeting, and was comforted in the belief or principle involved in the matter, and endure His parging until He sees it is enough, so life, that there is a revival of ancient zeel for the imay be wholly beside the proper business they will not fail to become, and to be kept, fruit-limited or or clustration discipline. Near the individuals employed in them. The effort bearing branches of the true Viue. the impressions made on his mind were such, that he believed it right to declare, as the word of the -I will thin them-I will thin them.

"23d. O that I may be more redeemed from the world and its spirit, and be enabled to look up timbers eight or ten feet square at the base, slightly from their confluence the flats are low, in ma unto God with greater confidence in times of diffi-inclined towards the top, enclosed at intervals by places swampy and covered with a heavy groculty. I am now tried with the loss of property, horizontal frames, the whole forming a truncated of beach, maple, elm and oak timber. Here yet not so much, I think, for this, as from the appreheusion that I have not done as I should. On the purpose of guiding and raising the rods to rently pits for the collection of the surface of Lord, be pleased to pass by my offences, and re- which the "drill" is attached. ceive me into thy favour again.

this pinching time, when trials assail me, which drive along the river bank give evidence that we water standing in them covered with a film of not only put my patience to the test, but my faith are now amongst "the oil." In a distance of From the mounds at their sides in many creature as I am, should be favoured with Divine -of which one had their pumps in operation then which is pumped daily from 18 to 21 barrels of light, illuminating my mind to see the nature of three days, and others were preparing to fit up. Within 175 feet of it another well was sunk prayer, and how it is to be acceptably put up to The "surface indications" here consist of per boring which at a depth of 143 feet a stream prayer, and how it is to be acceptably put up to the God of my life.

there was a united labour to encourage all to guard Gordon's run, and other ravines in the neighbour- It then nearly ceased and the drill was resorted ings for Divine worship.

of my attention.

being almost wholly engrossed in attention to my reached by boring, worldly concerns. When Balaam went forth to The "wells" he keep pressing on.

worthy to receive his continued mercies, me, and if my heart is not right before thee, cleanse is no doubt but the product of the wells would, in around them. thou it. Let not thine eye pity nor thy hand many cases, be largely increased. spare-I long to stand approved before thee, and to be preserved from disgracing thy holy cause.

gagement among Ziou's children, but I had scarcely of the "judications" for the entire distance, and the quantity of oil. About 4 P. M., its breath strength even to rejoice thereat. In returning home, has many "borings" in progress along it; but, as stopped. A period was put to its flow, as well I stopped to see a poor widow's son, who was badly we did not visit them, we have no personal know- to some bright hopes that had gushed respons wounded, and left them all the money I had with ledge of their success. me, and though but little, yet it afforded me satisfaction.

engaged in my workshop, and assure me that if I make their appearance—and here we are, on Oil flowing with diminished force for a short time, a live in his fear, and serve him, I shall not want for Creek, in the heart of the region. Here we talk from information since received, I learn that it a provider."

(To be continued.)

capning rather than wisdom.

A Trip to the Oil Regions of Pennsylvania. Starting from Warren, we descend the right by his "bales." Lord, 'The people are too many-I will thin them bank of the Allegheny river about twenty miles to Tideout, and here first encounter the "derricks" -a frame structure composed of four upright feet wide. Between them for about half a n

Their elevation and peculiar appearance make "29th. O Lord, I pray thee, leave me not in them conspicuous, and the number in view as we deep, and although seen at a very dry season, l also I desire in humble dedication of heart to about two miles, dotting both sides of the river, stances, trees of great age are growing, giving pr rve thee.

"Ninth month 1st, At our mid-week meeting, 1 commencing almost daily. At the time of our locality was the seene of busy "operations in o felt it to be cause of thankfulness that so poor a visit, five of them were in oil sufficient for working colation of oil through the gravel that lines the oil was struck, which rose to the surface, and "7th. Attended our Preparative Meeting, where river shores, small springs in the river bed and on about two weeks flowed 12 barrels of oil per d against a lethargic and drowsy disposition in meet-ling hills. At some points along the shore, the for the purpose of sinking deeper. In about sand and elay saturated with oil has a dark brown feet a erevice in the rock was pierced, and the 9th. Felt renewed encouragement to trust in colour; and the gravel compactly cemented, forms gushed out, filling the pipe (5 inches diameter): God, with a hope that I shall be careful not to a hard concreted mass, all emitting the peculiar spouting three or four feet above it. Buckets suffer my temporal concerns to engross too much odour that distinguishes petroleum and coal oil.

forgiven my sins, and partaken of the Lord's mer- tory to boring, the water that came in brought oil was soon checked by driving a plug into cies, yet to day I suffered my natural temper to with it oil equal to about a quart per bucketful. top of the pipe, permitting the escape only rise into anger, and this without any real cause. Except, however, as an "indication" the surface what could find vent through the openings in Othat I may find a place of repentance for my folly. oil is not relied on, it is only found in paying joint about three feet from the top, and through "13th. Too little sensible of my folly yesterday, quantities in the underlaying rocks, where it is erevices around the plug.

curse the Lord's people, and the angel met him about 300 feet. Oil in sufficient quantity for were among the crowd of admiring spectators v with a rebuke, he said if his going offended the pumping is generally found at from 150 to 200 witnessed its wonderful performances, and or Lord, he would return. But, alss! he loved a re- feet—but two or three wells have gone beyond the mented thereon with theories more marvellous the ward, and went forward. I fear it is thus with latter depth without finding it; but, as much the the fountain before us. The flow from the v me: the riches of this world look desirable, and I largest number have not yet reached it, no one can was intermittent, after a few moments rest-ap. say what the grand result at Tideout will be. A rently to recover breath-a violent rush of gas a 14th. Felt a humble hope that the Lord will few weeks more will show whether the majority oil would occur, hissing through the cracks of again pass by my offences. O may I be found will be a success or a failure.

"22d. Worldly mindedness prevailed over me, ing the only well yet in operation, it was impossi-then gush with renewed vigour, and thus boil in our meeting to-day, and I was very dull and life to ascertain its yield with accuracy, but it is for several minutes would seem to exhaust it heavy. O how conhanting is the world, and how safe to put it at seven harrels of oil per day. The and take a breathing spell preparatory to anot its profits load us as with thick clay. What ad-pump showing 3 per cent, of oil and 97 per cent, wa- desperate attempt at escape. heres to me may not prove a hindrance to another, ter—the latter very salt. The pump, however, but it greatly retards my progress heavenward. did not exhaust the well, and if the defective ma-would contain ten or twelve barrels, and from "Tenth mouth 2d. O, thou who knowest the chinery that we noticed throughout the region, as two men were steadily dipping the oil with bu hearts of all men, be pleased to look down upon well as at this point, was replaced by better, there ets, and filling the barrels that covered the ground the property of the

From Tideout, the river that flows almost due was the stock of a small hand pump, by means south for about 15 miles, and then slightly south which a boy would pump out the water. The p "12th. At meeting there appeared a living en- of west to Franklin, is said to exhibit more or less portion of water did not appear to be one-eig has no reason to boast of either corn, wine or oil, the twenty-two hours' run; which, together w "14th. Blessed and adored forever be the great we reach Titusville, 15 miles distant, in the south-what was lost at the start, made a yield in the south-what was lost at the start, which was lost at the oil—smell oil—live, move and have our being in repeats the eruption—in one case yielding 30 b oil. "Indications"—"strikes"—leases"—"smells" rels in two hours. During all this eccentric p rel." A well and its owner are both estimated by On the same flats there are several other b

the "barrel"-just as a Southern planter is val-

About a mile south-east of Titusville are the fo of Oil Creek-each branch of which is some f they have been sunk through the loam to the gra beneath; some of them are yet three or four

On this ground is a well 118 feet deep, fi Within 175 feet of it another well was sunk barrels were brought into active use; but desp my attention.

In one case, in attempting to reach the rock by all exertions, it is estimated that 20-some so 12th. Notwithstanding I have so often been a shaft through the gravel of the river bank, prepa-30-barrels of oil were lost. The rapid flow

This vein of oil was opened about 6 P. M. on The "wells" here vary in depth from 120 to 24th of July. We visited the well next day, : joint, and spouting in jets from around the p Owing to the imperfect arrangements for gaug- six or eight feet high. It would partially subsi

Inserted in this pit, and extending to the botto in the breasts of anxious operators. One hunds Leaving the river, and crossing a country that and fifty-three barrels were filled with oil duri Knowledge without justice ought to be called side, and the only measure of quantity is the "bar- furnish its regular flow.

Above Titusville many wells are in progress, aminations have been made to the sources of his flock.

| Creek, but the result does not appear to have | I have en very favourable. Not having visited that had literally to lay it down in the contest. rt of the region, we are unable to speak of it th certainty. It does not have the reputation the portion below. Down Oil Creek, working wells are numerous, d those in progress much more so. The ones in eration are of various depths, from 70 to 300 t, and they yield from 5 to 20 barrels of oil per y. The valley of the stream is studded with m through its whole extent to the Allegheny er, (about 15 miles from Titusville,) but the ound is not all equally profitable—in some places ere are barren tracts—but in many localities by are generally successful. As we approach the

On the Allegheny river, both above and below mouth of Oil Creek, wells are numerous and d to be generally successful, especially in the inity of Franklin, 7 miles below, but we did not it them for want of time.

(To be concluded.)

it. of water.

For "The Friend." Scriptural Illnstrations.

Dr. Thompson, who was for many years a misnary in Palestine, in his interesting work ealled The Land and the Book," gives some striking only to call forth furtations of Scripture. In speaking of the orto bring up the untains of Lebanon and the numerons flocks of its cries in death." ep, under charge of shepherds, which are seen re now, as in ancient times, he says, "I never e over these bills, covered with flocks, without ditating upon the Good Shepherd when he puth forth his own sheep, goeth before them, and y follow bim." (John x. 4.) This is true to letter. They are so tame, and so trained, that leads them forth from the fold, or from their uses in the village, just when he pleases.

As there are many flocks in such a place as s, each one takes a different path, and it is his siness to find pasture for them. It is necessary, refore, that they should be taught to follow, "No, sir, I am on the right side of fifty." I not to stray away into the unfenced fields of n, which lie so temptingly on either side. Any that thus wanders, is sure to get into trouble. e shepherd calls sharply from time to time to uind them of his presence. They know his ce, and follow on; but if a stranger calls, they p short, lift up their heads in alarm, and if it is beated, they turn and flee, because they know the voice of a stranger. This is not the fanciful tume of a parable; it is a simple fact. I have de the experiment repeatedly. The shepherd es before, not merely to point out the way, but see that it is practical and safe.

O feet, none of them have anything but the sur- with these savage beasts. And when the thief and disastrous gas .- Tropic. robber come, (and come they do,) the faithful shepherd has often to put his life in his hand to defend

I have known more than one case, in which he

A poor faithful fellow last spring, between Tiberins and Tabor, instead of fleeing, actually fought three Bedouin robbers until he was hacked to pieces with their khanjans, and died among the sheep he was defending.

Some sheep always keep near the shepherd and are his especial favourites. Each of these has a name to which it answers joyfully, and the kind shepherd is ever distributing to such, choice portions which he gathers for that purpose. These are the contented and happy ones.

They are in no danger of getting lost or into mischief, nor do wild beasts or thieves come near er, similiar remains of old works are visible as them. The great body, however, are mere whirligigs, the forks, and one well, gauged in that vicinity, intent upon their own pleasure or selfish interests. nished 20 barrels of oil. This well is 118 feet They run from bush to bush, searching for variety p, and yields about 6 per cent. of oil to 94 per or delicacies, and only now and then lift their heads to see where the shepherd is, or, rather where the general flock is, lest they get so far away as to oe easion remark in their little community, or rebuke from their keeper. Others, again, are restless and discontented, jumping into everybody's fold, climbing into bushes, and even into leaning trees, when they often fall and break their limbs. These cost the good shepherd incessant trouble.

Then there are others incurably reckless, who stray far away, and are often utterly lost. I have repeatedly seen a silly sheep or goat running hither and thither, bleating piteously after the lost flock, only to call forth from their dens the beasts of prey or to bring up the lurking thief, who quickly quiets

The Right Side of Fifty .- If christians oftener cherished the hopes of the apostle, and felt, like him, that to die is gain, they would talk like -Venn, in the following aneedote:

It is said of the humble - Venn, in one of his exeursions to preach for the countess of Huntington, y follow their keeper with the utmost doeility. that he fell in company with a person who had the appearance of a parish clergyman. After riding some time together, conversing on different subjects, the stranger, looking in his face, said:

"Sir, I think you are on the wrong side of fifty." "On the wrong side of fifty!" answered Venn.

" Surely," replied the elergyman, "you must be turned of fifty.

"Yes, sir," added the christi in veteran," but I am on the right side of fifty, for I am nearer my erown of glory."

Happy that person who can thus feel; who has the right to believe he is nearer his crown of glory. How feelings like these would cause us to rejoice of death exists in Java; it is termed the Valley of combs! Pray give us a light!" Some matches He is armed, in order to defend his charge, and Poison, and is filled to a considerable beight with and candles were let down, and one of them baving this he is very courageous. Many adventures carbonic acid gas, which is exhaled from crevices struck a light, said: "We know our way now; h wild beasts occur, not unlike that recounted in the ground. If a man or any other animal culture we will go out by the door in the Rue Notre Dame David, 1 Dan. xvii. 34-36: and in these very ters it, he cannot return; and he is not sensible of des Champs!" and they went away. Shortly after, untains; for although there are now no lions his danger until he feels himself sinking under the four men, pale and haggard, presented themselves c, there are wolves in abundance, and lee- influence of the atmosphere which surrounds him, at the guard-house in the Rue de Fleurus, and reds and panthers exceedingly fierce, prowl about the carbonic acid, of which it chiefly consists, rising lated these facts. Having told their tale, the poor se wild wadies. They not unfrequently attack to the height of eighteen feet from the bottom of the unen were of course warmly congratulated on their flock in the very presence of the shepherd, and valley. Birds which fly into this atmosphere drop escape from a dreadful death, and they, on their tunus be ready to do battle at a moment's warning. down dead; and a fivel thrown into it, dies before have interest to their graphic reaching the bottom, which is strewed with car to the officers who removed the slab.

zs in progress, of various depths, from 100 to descriptions of the downright and desperate fights cases of various animals that have perished in the Fright in the Catacombs of Paris.

The estacombs of Paris extend beneath a considerable part of the Faubourg St. Germain, and especially the rues St. Jacques, de la Harpe, de Tournon, de Vaugirard, the Theatre de l'Odeon, the church of St. Sulpice, the Pantheon, Valde-Grace, the Observatoire, etc., and they go beyond the fortifications to Monrouge. In them, as is known, are deposited the bones which were collected from the different burial-places of Paris, on the suppression in the time of the Revolution, of cometeries within the walls; and these ghastly objects are piled up in such a way as to form galleries or streets, which extend for miles. It is recorded, that at different times numerous persons have lost their way in these dreadful regions, and have died of hunger and

From a French paper we learn that four men have recently escaped, almost by miracle, from this terrible death. M. Katery, one of the keepers of the eatacombs, having oceasion to change a lock of the door of one of the galleries, went, on the previous afternoon, to the spot, accompanied by a locksmith named Chabral, that man's apprentice of the name of Moron, and M. Ozanne, an architect's pupil. Incredible to relate, they took only one candle, and did not even place it in a lantern, and, more extraordinary still, did not carry with them any matches. No sooner had they reached the door where the job was to be done, than a sudden puff of air blew out the light! Under the guidance of Katery, they attempted to find their way back; but notwithstanding his minute knowledge of the road, they went astray, and spent hour after hour in going up one gallery and down another. In total darkness, they could not find any clue to direct them to an outlet, and the further they walked, the more desperate their situation appeared to become. At length, after several hours spent in pacing up and down, they were completely ex-hausted by fatigue and terror. Then Katery had a happy idea: " 'Let us shout for help," he said; perhaps we may be heard !" They did shout, but for hours more, their cries remained unheard, amid the din of the noise above. Nor was the night more favourable, as few persons pass through that part of the city at night. At length, towards ten o'clock in the morning, a journeyman printer named Phillippart, employed on a journal, was returning to his residence, 10 Rue Duguay Trouin, near the Luxembourg, and, when near his door, it seemed to him that he heard eries of distress from under the earth. At first he fancied he was labouring under an illusion, but on listening, he distinctly heard human voices from below an iron slab which covers an orifice opening into the catacombs. He summoned some police officers, and they, hearing

How feelings has these towns, and our salvation the same cries, caused as year by year passes away, and our salvation "Who are you down there? and what are you do an away to answer ing ?" asked one of the officers; and the answer Origin of the Upas Tree Story .- A real valley was given : "We are four men lost in the eata-

Selected. ("IF I) HAVE NOT CHARITY, I AM NOTHING."

Oh! Charity, thou holiest thing! How praised in word, how scorn'd in deed; While still thy precepts cherishing, We give to them but little heed, And (saddest truth,) do those who bear The christian's name, this error share.

Peace was the Saviour's last bequest, To all His followers left below; But do they seek to attain that rest Of spirit, that He will bestow? 'Tis passing strange to see such strife, "Love is the only sign of life."

But severed sects, (oh! sight of shame!) We see with wrath and clamor rife; Each party blends the Saviour's name, With this unhallowed earthly strife. As the 'the Lord of love and peace, Had aught to do with scenes like these.

Hast thou not said that love, O Lord ! Is that which must thy followers prove; So stands it in thy written word That cannot change—the law of love Within the heart, and on the lip, The badge of true discipleship

How can we hope that war's dread strife Shall cease—the scabbard veil the sword; When still round all our daily life, Ever its spirit walks abroad; Let but that spirit cease to breathe, And then the sword itself will sheathe.

But while our judgment proudly sits, As the' it could not sin or err; We may condemn, where God acquits, Destroy, where He delights to spare; Sternly we judge with bounded view, Father! we know not what we do.

If we could read the inmost heart We should be slower to condemn; More likely that our tears would start, Than bitter, scornful words for them Who err-nor say as we do now. Stand off, I'm holier than thou !

He did not thus who came of old To bind the bruised and broken soul, To seek the wanderer from the fold, To make the sin-sick spirit whole; Who called all to share His rest, The haven of a Saviour's breast.

The monarch on the throne of state; The wretch who home or friend knows not; Statesmen who bear an empire's weight; The peasant in his lowly cot; The noble in his marble hall; We know that Jesus loves them all.

None are so high, but that His care, Guards them, and wraps them round about; None are too low His love to share, And who art thou this truth to doubt? He died for them who e'er they be, And He has only died for thee.

Thou caust not harm thy brother's cause Before God's bar—deem'st thou that He To carry out His holy laws Needeth or asketh aid from thee? What were thy doom from hand's divine, Were thy God's judgments harsh as thine?

Judge us not as we judge—we pray— Oh! Father! from such doom we shrink; If thou shouldst mark our erring way If thou shouldst mark each broken link In the great chain of right, as we A brother's sins and weakness see,

If thou shouldst mete to us alone The mercy we to others mete, We dare not come before thy throne, It is no more a mercy-seat-How could we in thy presence live; Did'st thou forgive as we forgive?

Far wilder waves than those Thou trod In Galilee, around we see?

Walk o'er their crest, oh! Son of God! And lay the tempest-then may we In the calm hear thy voice, now drown'd By passion's waters raging round.

Yet may we thankfully believe, That as the restless sea will wreathe Its snowy foam, its billows heave, While all lies still and calm beneath; So 'neath this wilder storm's dread swell Some walk in calm, immovable.

Their faith by scorn is never shown, By gentle words and deeds 'tis proved; Still blessing all, and judging none;
These are the Saviour's "own beloved"
They eye not with pharasic pride The brother for whom Christ has died.

The pure in heart to whom is given, The promise that we yet may trace; It is not crowns and thrones in heaven But they shall see their Father's face; Casting away their own work's dress, Clothed in Christ's robe of righteousness.

To Him who felt temptation's might, To Him who knows we are but dust; To Him who reads the heart aright, Whose judgment cannot err-the Just, Let us leave all-to mercy true, Knowing how much we need it too.

The Eye.

cated, and to be educated slowly; but if educated which are millions of miles away; and so far i fully, its powers are almost boundless. It is as-suredly then a thing to be profoundly regretted, king said: "It is not satisfied with seeing." that not one man in a thousand develops the hid-only physical conception of limitless infinity is den capacities of his organ of vision, either as regards its utilitarian or its æsthetic applications, the farthest star. The great majority of mankind do not and cannot see one fraction of what they were intended to see. ed. The future it car not pierce; but our eyes The proverb that "None are so blind as those that never lifted to the ght heavens without be will not see" is as true of physical as of moral vi-visited by light which left the stars from which sion. By neglect and carelessness, we have made comes untold centuries ago; and suns which ourselves unable to discern hundreds of things burned out zons before Adam was created, which are before us to be seen. Thomas Carlyle shown to us as the blazing orbs which they v has summed this up in the one pregnant sentence : in those immeasurably distant ages, by be "The eye sees what it brings the power to see." which have survived their source through all How true this is! The sailor on the look-out can time. see a ship where the landsman sees nothing; the How far we can thus glanee backwards alon Esquimaux can distinguish a white fox amidst the ray of light, and literally gaze into the deepest white snow; the American backwoodsman will fire cesses of time, we do not know; and as little a rifle-ball so as to strike a nut out of the mouth we tell how many ages will elapse after our s of a squirrel without hurting it; the red Indian torch is quenched before he shall be number boys hold their hands up as marks to each other, among lost stars, by dwellers in the sun most certain that the unerring arrow will be shot between the spread-out fingers; the astronomer can that we acquire our most vivid conception of w see a star in the sky, where to others the blue ex- eternity in the sense of unbeginning and unend panse is unbroken; the shepherd can distinguish time may mean. the face of every sheep in his flock; the mosaicworker can detect distinctions of colour where thus triumph over space and time should hold others see none; and multitudes of additional ex- place of honour among the senses. Of all the amples might be given of what education does for racles of healing which our Saviour performed the eye.

Now, we may not be called upon to hunt white death, none seems to have made such an imp foxes in the snow; or, like William Tell, to save sion on the spectators as the restoration of sign our own life and our child's, by splitting with the blind. One of the blind whose sight was our own lite and our calités, by spitting with the blind. One of the blind whose sight was an arrow an apple on its head; or to identify a stored by Christ, triumphantly declared to stolen sheep by looking in its face, and swearing doubters of the marvelousness of the miral to its portrait; but we must do every day many "Since the world began, was it not heart things essential to our welfare, which we would do any one opened the eyes of one that was the agreat deal better if we had an eye trained as we blind!" The perplexed though not unfaitful J readily might have. For example, it is not every inquired: "Could not this man, which opened was that explain the property of the pro man that can hit a nail upon the head, or drive it eyes of the blind, have caused that even this straight in with a hammer. Very few persons can should not have died?" And the opening of draw a straight line, or cut a piece of cloth or pa-per even; still fewer can use a pencil as draughts-witness it now. To the end of time men will man; and fewer still can paint with colours. Yet knowledge that He who formed the eye justly assuredly there is not a calling in which an edu-clared of it, that "The light of the body is cated eye, nice in distinguishing form, colour, size, eye;" and all tender bearts will feel a pecu distance, and the like, will not be of inestimable sympathy for those whom it has pleased God service. For although it is not to be denied, some eyes can be educated to a much greater tent than others, that can be no excuse for any neglecting to educate his eye. The worse it is, more it needs education; the better it is, the u it will repay it.

To describe the mode in which the eye sho be trained is not my purpose: and it would be . to attempt a description of its powers when e cated to the utmost of its capabilities. But let before parting with it, notice that in all ages, by all peoples, the eye appears to have been most honoured of the organs of the senses. It owed this, doubtless, largely to its surpas-beauty, and to the glory with which it lights the countenance. But it owes its place as qu of the senses mainly to the fact, that its empir far wider than those ruled over by its sisters. ' ear is fabled to hear the music of the spheres, in reality, is limited in space to those sounds wh the earth and its atmosphere yield, and in time the passing moment. The starry abysses for it silent; and the past and the future are equ

The nostril, the tongue, and the hand are si larly bounded, perhaps even more so; but the so triumphs over space, that it traverses in a ment the boundless ocean which stretches bey The eye was intended by its Maker to be edu- our atmosphere, and takes home to itself s rived from the longing of the eye to see farther t

And its empire over time is scarcely less bor

It is most natural, then, that the eye which we except the crowning one of resurrection f quite shut out."-Dr. Wilson.

For "The Friend."

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES

Of Ministers and Elders and other concerned members of the Yearly Meeting of Philadelphia. (Continued from page 61.)

JOSHUA BROWN.

ble him "to bear this trouble the better."

1759, he effected it. He appears to have remain-alone then. His answer showed plainly that he which was, with the peace of mind I enjoyed, great ed at home during the rest of that year; but, on the lst of the Third month, 1760, he set out for "On the 9th, I had a meeting there; a few thor of all good for his many mercies." religious service in Delaware and Maryland, hav- Friends and some others. I showed them the ne- On the 22d of the First month, 1761, a close his children. George accompanied us to Chester ly Meeting, had some service, and rode to Joshua meeting. On the way thitter, we called to see Vansant's, where my companion, Isaac Williams,
6. Should sleep in separate beds, on hair matSouthey Mifflin, who was in a distracted condition. left me. On the 13th, I pursued my journey into tresses, without caps, feet first well warmed by quiring, which was hard for him to give up to. He longed at Samuel Manager as sompanion, I set off on the body.

Seemed glad to see us. We lodged at Abraham the 14th, with Jacob Johns as companion, I set off on the body.

The seemed glad to see us. We lodged at Abraham the Lawiston, and rode as far as Samuel Spencer's,

7. Should be compelled to be out of doors for Milton's, and, on the 4th, rode to Chester meeting for Lewiston, and rode as far as Samuel Spencer's,

7. Should be compelled to be out of doors for Therein I had to set forth the loss sustained by in Sussex county. On the 15th, rode to Samuel the greater part of day-light, from after breakfast river, and rode sixteen miles to the house of Mary attended Cold Spring meeting, wherein I had some Wright, widow. On the 5th, we had a close and service, and then rode to Joseph Palmer's, six excresing undown continued to the service of the services of the services. urge the necessity of a right belief as respects the fast, and continued to do so all night. In the to both; it is of great importance. ministry of the gospel, for want of which many gross errors had prevailed. Setting out for Tucks, we stop at Nathan Mainer's, and refreshed ourselves and horses, and then rode down to James Motherkill, but could reach neither. On the 17th, Kemp's, about twenty miles. On the 6th, we had we rode about twelve miles towards Matherkill, dangerous. What you have to do, do it, and be a meeting at Tuckahoe, to which many Friends and had difficulty in obtaining quarters in a pub- done with it. partial judgment of their own selves, and their own a meeting with a few Friends there to satisfaction, mixed lovingness and affection—Hull's Journal of state to prevail. I had likewise an earnest exhor. We lodged at Jacob Johns' at Little Creek. On Health.

William Troth, and, on the 7th, had a meeting at under the gospel, above the preceding dispensations. Choptank. In this meeting the necessity of rege-neration, the work of the new birth, was spoken to, I rode to Fenwick Fisher's at Duck Creek. On and the danger of depending on any ceremony or the 22d, attended Monthly Meeting there. It was outward observation, or anything short of a puri- to me a close afflicting season, and I had to enjoin fied state. That might we rode to Joseph Barchii's, and lodged. On the 8th, rode to the hay side, doing unto all men, as we would be done unto. We lodged with John Kemp, who was a slavelholder. Our Yearly Meeting had made a move unto be on account of the unjust practice of keep-On returning to his residence, our friend found that none should buy or sell slaves. Our landlord ing slaves, which prevailed among some of them. that his daughter Sarah, who had been but a short was not well pleased with what the Yearly Meet- 1 stayed here until the 23d being First-day, and time married, was dangerously ill, and she soon ing had done. I showed him my sentiment which had some service there. After meeting, rode eighafterwards departed this life. This was a sore af- was, that Friends should not only abstain from teen miles to John M'Cool's, at George Creek. On fliction to the affectionate father, yet he informs us buying and selling them, but should set free those the 24th, had a meeting there, and then rode to that the comfort he inwardly experienced in the they had in possession. He said, 'Thou talks of Wilmington, twenty-five miles. On the 25th, I had retrospect of his late journey was such, as to ena-setting them free; my negroes wont go free. I will a meeting at Wilmington; on the 26th, at New call them and ask them before thee.' I told him Castle, which was satisfactory. I called to see He had been for some time preparing to remove if he would give them freedom if they would ac- John Lowdon, and then rode home thirty-five miles. his family to Little Britain, in Lancaster county, cept it, he might call them. He said no! he would I was out nearly four weeks, and rode about three Pennsylvania, and in the beginning of this year, not set them free. I told him he might let them hundred miles. I found my wife and family well, ing been liberated therefor by Nottingham Month- cessity there was of confessing Christ here on earth, trial came upon our Friend, in the death of one of ly Meeting. Isaac Williams was his companion of a diligent adherence to the gift received that we dissons, who was suddenly killed by the falling of during the most of this journey. The first day might be enabled rightly to confess him, and point a tree. Joshua was from home at the time the they rode down to Thomas Browning's, in Kent ed out the danger of not believing in his spiritual accident occurred, which occasioned the shock to county. The next day, being the fifth of the week, appearance. We returned to Joseph Barcliff's, be sensibly felt by his wife, who was in a delicate they attended the meeting at Sassafras. Here, and, on the 10th, had a meeting at Thirdhaven, state of health. He writes, "She was preserved says Joshua, "I had to recommend that disposi- In it I had to set forth through the similitude of a through this trouble to my admiration, but it was tion of mind in the multitude, which drew the com- well instructed builder, the necessity of laying a greatly afflicting to us both, and brought us to a passionate regard of the blessed Saviour to feed good foundation, [spiritually] and carefully build- close examination, why it was suffered to come them in a miraculous manner. This represented ing thereon. I also spoke concerning the Serip- upon us, and greatly humbled us." typically the spiritual condition, which may expect tures, and the way they must come to be opened, his feeding; a sense of want, a lumble desire to that we might be profited by them. From thence follow him his requirings. The meeting was to we rode to William Wilson's, and lodged, and, on satisfaction. Lodging at Joshua Vansant's, we the 11th, had a meeting at Marshy Creek. I had rode next morning, the 3d inst., to Cecil, twelve in this meeting to set forth the excellent privileges years old. miles, and had a meeting with Friends there. we enjoyed under a good king and a mild govern-Here I had to recommend a solid consideration of ment; in being permitted to think for ourselves in the solemn meeting before the great Judge of quick matters of religion, save as respects the imposition and dead, and the way whereby they might witness of the clergy. This was opened, and also how to a happy resurrection. Showing them that the Lord judge of the true ministry, by the motives inducing will be clear of the blood of all men, and that they men to undertake the office of preacher. After will be left without excuse. We dined with George meeting, called at William Wilson's, and then rode Razin. Before leaving his house, I found my mind twenty-four miles to Isaac Turner's, in Queen and others came. In the meeting I had to set lie house. On the 18th, we pursued our journey, forth the evil tendency of knowing men in judg- and with a good deal of fatigue to ourselves and kindly, and when really needed, firmly—no more, ment, and judging partially, even in civil affairs, horses, we reached Benjamin Waring's at Morher- 12. By all means, arrange it so that the last his unsearchable wisdom, to deprive of sight, and tation to the youth to mind the gift that was in the 20th, we had a meeting there, in which I had for whom in this life "Wisdom is at one entrance them. From the meeting, we rode to the house of to set forth the extraordinary privileges we enjoy satisfaction, and I was truly thankful to the Au-

(To be continued.)

Rearing Children.

1. Children should not go to school until six

2. Should not learn at home during that time more than the alphabet.

3. Should be fed with plain substantial food at regular intervals, of not less than four hours.

4. Should not be allowed to eat anything within two hours of bed time.

5. Should have nothing for supper but a single cup of warm drink such as very weak tea of some engaged to drop some caution and advice to him and Ann's county. On the 12th, attended Cecil Month-kind or cambric tea, or warm milk and water, with one slice of cold bread and butter-uothing else. 6. Should sleep in separate beds, on hair mat-

It appeared to arise from the weight of some re- the three lower counties of Pennsylvania, and the fire, or rubbed with the hands until perfectly quiring, which was hard for him to give up to. He lodged at Samuel Hanson's at Little Creek. On dry; extra covering ou the lower limbs, but little profession without possession, which appeared to Rowland's, in Lowistown, where we had a small until half an hour before sun-down, unless in damp, be their state too generally. We crossed Chester meeting in the evening. On First-day, the 16th, raw weather, when they should not be allowed to go outside the door.

8. Never limit a healthy child as to sleeping or eating except at suppor; but compel regularity as

11. Never speak harshly or angrily, but mildly,

12. By all means, arrange it so that the last and how much more evil in religious matters, and kill, about twelve miles. On the 19th, on our way words between you and your children at bedtime particularly [warned them] not to suffer a selfish to Little Creek, we stopt at Ezekiel Knox's, and had especially the younger ones, shall be words of unThe Art of Soldering Metals.

This is one of the most necessary and universal manipulations connected with several of the some that the joint is not so strong. mechanic arts, and a knowledge of it is also very importance in soldering, it is necessary that the it, binding by means of fine wire will be found powder; the coppersmith and tinuan apply sales faished at a lower temperature than the metal be faished at a lower temperature than the metal to be joined; were it otherwise, the heat would freched to be joined; were it otherwise, the heat would freched to be joined; were it otherwise, the heat would freched to be joined; were it otherwise, the heat would freched to be joined; were it otherwise, the heat would freched to be joined; were it otherwise, the heat would freched to be joined; were it otherwise, the heat would freched to be joined; were it otherwise, the heat would freched to be joined. quendy injure or destroy the article under manipulation. It is also generally desirable that the being moistened with the solution, the wire supsider should be similar in color to the metall ports are to be arranged so as to hold the pieces.

The Pu one part of lead. Where the most fusible solder may be filed or scraped away with a knife. possible is required, the compound should consist of three parts of tin to two of lead.

something to assist in the fusion of the metal, which will also vary with the composition of the solderis know as the "flux." In using soft solder, either borax being used with several kinds of hard solder. common rosin or chloride of zinc, are generally The use of the blow-pipe will be generally necesused as fluxes. To prepare the latter, a wide-mouthed bottle is half filled with hydrochloric acid, of the soldering bolt being insufficient; but soft and into this is thrown a few fragments of zinc; solder will generally best serve in all the operations this should be placed in the open air until efferves- of the amateur. Hard solder for brass is made cence has ceased, as the fumes given off will be with eight parts of copper and one of zinc. The found noxious in a room. To be assured that no copper is first melted in a crucible, the zinc in the free acid is left, a few pieces of zine should remain meantime being heated. When the copper is undissolved. The preparation is then ready for use, melted, the hot zine is thrown into it, and the cruand will keep good for any length of time.

of the article. Suppose two pieces of lead are to twigs of a birch broom are held over the waterbe joined; the ends of both are to be well cleansed and the metal, passing between them, is divided by scraping or filing; one of them is then covered with a little powdered rosin, and a small piece of the making hard solder, it should be orne in substitute to mind that it is harder and less faisb'e in proporcoat the whole of the cleansed metal.

soldering; it may be effected either by a blow-pipe brass is first melted, the tin then added, and lastly soldering; it may be enceted either by a now-ppe prass is first merce, the first men ancet, and many or the "soldering-rion." The latter consists of a the zinc, which should, as before described, be prepiece of copper attached to a piece of iron, which is held in a wooden handle. Its end, for use, agitated, it is to be granulated and cooled, as beshould always be tipped with solder. To effect for described, this, the copper should be filed clean and heated;

The parts to be joined are to be scraped or filed its end should then be rubbed on a piece of sal-perfectly clean, and a portion of the flux—borax. The flame of gas, where available, will be found itself. very convenient, being comparatively free from smoke and giving great heat.

In this case the trouble will be a little less, and the oxyd, bright, smooth and level. The contact of useful to almost every amateur mechanic. Its na- pieces of metal in firm contact during the process the points of union. The exclusion of air is effected ture consists chiefly in joining the edges of plates of soldering. They may sometimes be held suffi-in various ways. The locksmith encases in loam of metal—principally tin and lead—with a softer ciently firm by the aid of a small vice. In other metal than themselves, so as to form a close and cases, slightly riveting previous to soldering, will ject to a soldering heat; the silversmith and brazier perfect union. As a general principle of primary be desirable; or, where the circumstances admit of mix their respective solders with moistened borax to be joined. To meet these requirements, various firmly, and a few fragments of solder being laid ness .- Then, the things of this world were of kinds of solder are used in joining different metals; on the joint, the heat of a flame or soldering bolt small value with us, so that we might win Christ, the simplest to manage is known as "soft solder." being applied, the solder will run and attach itself and the goodliest things of the world were not Various recipes are given for making it. It is to all the metal to which the chloride of zine has near us, so that we might be near the Lord, and usually composed, however, of one part of tin, and been applied. After cooling, the superfluous solder

Various kinds of hard solder are used, their composition varying with the metal to be joined, In all soldering processes, it is necessary to add and the colour thus rendered desirable. The flux cible being covered up, the whole is shaken to-The exact method of procedure in effecting a gether. In a few minutes it is poured out into a joint will much depend on the shope and nature vessel of cold water. In order to granulate it, the and gave us credit amongst men .- William El-sufficient heat, when the solder will run over and tion as it contains more copper. A somewhat softer and more fusible hard solder is made of six There are various modes of applying heat in parts of brass, one of zinc and one of tin. The ammoniac. On applying it to the solder it will at dissolved in water being commonly used-added, once be coated. Care should be taken in the subwith a grain or two of the solder: the whole is, sequent heating not to burn off this tinned point, then to be submitted to the flame of a blowpipe, or it will be necessary to repeat the process. Just until it runs. A well soldered joint, managed in less than a red heat will generally be sufficient. this way, is often little less strong than the metal solder will more rapidly flow; but it is thought by air must be excluded during the soldering, because it is apt to oxydize one or the other of the surfaces, In some cases difficulty is experienced in holding and thus to prevent the formation of an alloy at

> The Pursuit of Riches and Worldly Greatthe Lord's truth outbalanced all the world, even the most glorious part of it. Then great trading was a burden, and great concerns a great trouble; all needless things, fine houses, rich furniture, and gandy apparel was an eye-sore; our eye being single to the Lord, and the inshining of his light in our hearts, which gave us the sight of the knowledge of the glory of God; this so affected our minds, that it stained the glory of all earthly things, and they bore no mastery with us, either in dwelling, eating, drinking, buying, selling, marrying, or giving in marriage; the Lord was the object of our eye, and we all humble and low bcfore him, and self of small repute: ministers and elders, in all such cases, walking as good examples, that the flock might follow their foot-steps, as they followed Christ in the daily cross and self-denial, This answered the Lord's witness in all consciences,

> Two Sunscts in One Day .- One of the finest sights Professor Steiner, the æronaut says, that he ever saw, was the view he had of two sunsets. while on his balloon trip from Milwaukee, recently. He was at a certain altitude the first time when he saw the sun go down upon Lake Michigan, and then descended to the waters of the lake. Afterwards he commenced rising very rapidly, and soon reached such an altitude that the fiery orb again began to rise, apparently, from the western waters, and ere long he was once more in full sun-light. Then, as he descended again, the sun sank beneath the waters a second time, thus affording two sunset views in a single day. The professor says, as the sun appeared to rise the second time,

Nelson Worshipped as a Heathen Idol,-A let-Solders must be selected in reference to their ter from Hayti says-" Among the Acul mountains appropriate metals. Tin plates are soldered with there has been found, in an old house, a bust of To return to the joining of the lead. If any an alloy consisting of from one to two parts tin, Lord Nelson. It is of white marble, somewhat part of the scraped metal becomes smoked, it will with one of lead. Pewter is soldered with a more stained by time and neglect. Nelson is represented be necessary to throw on such part a little more fusible alloy containing a certain proportion of bis- in his costume of admiral, and bears on his breast powdered rosin, and the heat again applied, using, muth, added to the lead and tin. Iron, copper and five decorations. One in commemoration of the if necessary, a piece of brass or copper wire to brass are soldered with spelter—an alloy of zine battle of Aboukir, has the inscription: 'Rear Adspread the softened solder over the part. If the and copper in nearly equal parts. Silver is sol- miral Lord Nelsou of the Nile. Another medal smoking is not considerable, this will be sufficient, dered, sometimes with pure tin, but generally with bears the words: 'Almighty God has blessed his but sometimes it may be necessary to begin afresh, silver solder—an alloy consisting of five parts of Majesty's glory!' This bust, interesting in its archeaining off and reseraping the smoked part, again silver, six of brass, and two of zinc. Zinc and historical association, was found on an adding fresh rosin and solder, and applying heat. lead are soldered with an alloy of from one to two altar devoted to the fitish worship, where for half a When a coating of solder is applied, whilst it is parts of lead with one of tin. Platinum, with fine century, it has been reverenced as the Deity of still soft, it is to be rubbed with a piece of cloth, gold. Gold, with an alloy of silver and gold, or the Mountain Streams. The name of the sculptors and all but a thin film or coating is to be removed. of copper and gold, &c. In all soldering processes were 'Coale and Lealy, of Lambeth.' Thus, for The process will be very nearly the same if chloride of zinc be used as the flux instead of rosir. surfaces to be united must be entirely free from worshipped as a heathen idol."

An Address to Young Persons.

(Concluded from page 76.)

vital principle may freely flow, and all the func-tions of the animal economy be properly per-deepest darkness and captivity towards the restostate of a deformed body; in which the operations than pristine spleudour and extension.

these are combined in a proportionable degree, than "Christ, the Son of the Living God," comparatively infantile, as well as in a more ad- heaven. vanced stage, who are far from designing to re-eased to be the intimate companions of his most scourged and crucified the Lord of glory.

ribulated path, would they have been likely to par-hus abridged, and themselves accordingly de- resurrection, shall never die the second spiritual until a dense population, with accompanying factard from "vessels unto honour," that is, of espe- death.

Selected for "The Friend." | eial service for the Master's use, "to vessels unto teachers, in the simplicity of a rightly prepared sisting in the world, though not constituting even unfolded to their view-truths of the deepest intebeart, that good ground in which the seed of a presumptive proof of equality of their respective rest and most consolatory influence, which though the kingdom takes deep root and becomes fruit principles, may be considered as the natural result hitherto unknown to them, will assuredly repay the ful, may be compared to the human frame in a of the state of the Christian Church, as being yet most earnest pursuit and highest cost which the state of perfect organization; through which the in a wilderness travel, and having been subjected formed ;-whilst an ignorance of such import ration to that light and liberty which distinguished ant truths and facts as it hath pleased Divine its first establishment; and which in the final re- and without price." Wisdom to impart by instrumental means, or a union of all its living members, however at present partial, erroneous, and distorted apprehension of separated and distinguished from each other, will them, resembles the enfeebled and unhealthful again shine forth and enlarge its borders, in more of an mal life must be much obstructed; and But while that diversified state of the church in this: When I have a subject in hand, I study it which is incapable of maintaining the vigour that exhibits unquestionable evidences that He who is would be necessary to its full usefulness, though it the God and Father of all the families of the is admitted that a vital principle may subsist and earth, continues to sanction his true children, under pervaded with it. Then the effort which make, every denomination, by enabling them to produce the people are pleased to call the fruit of genius, circulate therein after a less perfect manner.

Thus a form of sound doctrine, as well as a fruits unto holiness, and in many instances to be- It is the fruit of labour and thought." form of sound words, which is earnestly recom- come instrumental in turning others from darkness mended by an apostle, becomes truly desirable, to light; so this diversity may be rendered, under pressed him to speak on a subject of great import-But though Gospel views of Gospel truths are pre- His gracious superintendence, subservient to va- ance: "The subject interests me deeply, but I cious, a Gospel spirit is yet more so; and where rious purposes of His wisdom and goodness. It have not time. There, sir," pointing to a huge pile remains, however, to be a point of true wisdom for of letters, on the table, "is a pile of unanswered even in youthful disciples, they become fortified those who are seeking "Him of whom Moses in against invitations and examples of less consistent the law and the prophets did write," to weigh the the session, (which was then three days off.) believers, tempting to "go away" from Him, who motives which may influence their conduct, as in have no time to master the subject so as to do it to their spiritual preception, both by external and the balance of the sanetuary, in order that in justice." internal manifestations, has been thus revealed as changing from one profession to another they may baying the "words of eternal life;" and who, they find good ground to believe they shall experience do much to awaken public attention to it."

therefore "believe and are sure," can be no other an assending, instead of descending the ladder,

"If there be so much weight in my wor which in a spiritual sense, still reaches from earth you represent, it is because I do not allow myself To be induced to turn from Him in this his to heaven, and which none can truly a cend but as to speak on any subject until my mind is imbued spiritual appearance, has happened to many in a they are conducted by Him who came down from

nounce his authority, or to cease to be his true dis- those whose spiritual ears remain stopped to the ciples; but they appear to prefer, and accord-voice of the true charmer, and whose spiritual ingly to obtain a more distant station from their eyes continue so blinded by the god of this world blessed Teacher, than that to which they have as not to behold Him of whom it is said, "sweet been primarily invited, by their birth-right in a is thy voice, and thy countenance is comely?" society, which has been raised up in an especial Surely nothing is available unless He who miracuake in an equal degree of that distinguished glory into heaven, where he sitteth "on the right hand which was promised to such as continued with Him of the Maje-ty on high," and from whence he shall is termed the "French chalk" by the tailors, who It like manner, however diversified may be the ver liveth to make intercession for us," so will be use it as a substitute for chalk. It is now extended to the control of the control of the work of the control of the co work assigned to us, an inealculable loss will be in- also arise in the hearts of those who are willing to sively used in the manufacture of fine soaps, and zurred by those, who in their confidence of natural open the door unto him, and will cause them to as an anti-frictionist on heavy machinery, and wisdom, reject their proper place amongst the nu. know that he is indeed "the resurrection and the wagons and carriages, moistened with oil. In the ucrous vessels that may be needed for different life," in whom those who believe though they vicinity of next guidence with oil. In the ucrous vessels that may be needed for different life," in whom those who believe though they vicinity of next guidence with oil. In the ucrous vessels that may be needed for different life," in whom those who believe though they vicinity of next guidence with oil. In the ucrous vessels that may be needed for different life," in whom those who believe their proper was not considered with oil. In the ucrous vessels that may be needed for different life," in whom those who believe their proper was not considered with oil. In the he Divine Master be thus frustrated towards made alive; and those who live and believe in expense of transportation would leave no profits to thers, but their own sphere of usefulness may be him through this experience of the power of his the miner, and it must, therefore, remain unused, it is therefore to such as are in any degree made dishonour," that is, of contracted and inferior im- sensible of their state of alienation from this saving portance in his sight, should be even condescend knowledge, that the writer would thankfully hold Those who have received these truths on the to retain them in any part of his spiritual family. forth, it so enabled, a hand of help; if only by authority of iuspired witnesses and commissioned The diversity of religious professions now sub-persuading them that there are treasures yet to be possession of them may require: yea such are the boundless love and mercy which offer them to our acceptance, that their purchase, to which we are graciously invited, is declared to be " without money

> Genius and Labour .- Alexander Hamilton once said to an intimate friend: "Men give me some eredit for genius. All the genius I have lies just profoundly. Day and night it is before me. I explore it in all its bearings. My mind becomes

> D. Webster once replied to a gentleman who letters, to which I must reply before the close of

"But, Mr. Webster, a few words from you would "If there be so much weight in my words as Demosthenes was once urged to speak on a great But what can be said effectually to and sudden emergency. "I am not prepared," said he, and obstinately refused.

The law of labour is equally binding on genius and mediocrity.

Be Still and Quiet, and Join not with Parties. -My advice and counsel is, that every one of you, unner, to manifest and testify the realities of his immediate presence, power and government in the soul.

who love and believe in the Light, be still and quiet, immediate presence, power and government in the soul.

who love and believe in the Light, be still and quiet, and side not with any parties; but own and soul. It is indeed a consolatory truth which was ut- eyes and ears of the spiritually blind and deaf to against the evil in all, wherever it appears; not tered by the Gracious Master, to those of his dis-behold and to receive the wonderous things of his like the children of this world, warring with carnal ples who told Him they had forbidden one who law. Then will even such as these perceive that weapons against flesh and blood, to destroy men's followed not with them, when Jesus said: "For their former apprehensions of Him whom they are lives; but like christians with spiritual weapons, bid him not; for he that is not against us is for now favoured to know as "the chiefest of ten thou-warring against spiritual wickedness, and all sinis." Yet, if on hearing this encouragement on be- sand," had been no less erroneous than the appre- ful fleshly lusts, which war against the soul: not half of more remote followers, those disciples had hensions of the infatuated Jews, who, when they striking at creatures, but at the power that captichosen to decline the post to which they had them saw Ilim in his humiliated appearance on earth, vates the creatures; that so the creatures may be elves been preculiarly appointed, would they have did not desire Ilim, considering "his visage was redeemed from the bondage of corruption, into the seen privileged to see and to hear those things which many prophets and righteous persons had in the sons of men," a description which was rain desired to see and to hear? Or had they indeed verified respecting Him, by those who shall ye have peace with God, and true unity with all who are of God .- Alexander Purker, 1660.

Tulc .- A mountain of pure talc exists in Chero-every day's experience, that steady attention to matters of detail lies at the root of human progress; and that diligence, above all, is the mother of good luck. Accuracy is also of much importance, and an invariable mark of good training in a man. Accuracy in observation, accuracy in speech, accuracy in the transaction of affairs. What is done in business must be well done; for it is better to accomplish perfectly a small amount of work, than to half-do ten times as much. A wise man used to say, "Stay a little, that we may make an end the sooner." Too little attention, however, is paid to this highly important quality of accuracy. As a man eminent in practical science lately observed to us, "It is astonishing how few people I have met in the course of my experience who can define a fact accurately." Yet, in business affairs, it is the manner in which even small matters are transacted, that often decide men for or against you. With virtue, capacity, and good conduct in other respects, the person who is habitually inaccurate cannot be trusted; his work has to be gone over again; and he thus causes endless annoyance, vexation, and trouble.

THE FRIEND.

ELEVENTH MONTH 17, 1860.

We must once more request those who are so kind as to furnish us with selections for the columns of "The Friend," to state explicitly, either on the selection itself, or in a note accompanying, whence the extract is taken.

It is at all times grateful and encouraging to receive evidences that "The Friend" obtains the approbation of its subscribers and readers. Evidences of this kind which have been offered to us of late, lead us to hope that our Journal will continue to extend its circulation, and thereby increase its usefulness.

From a communication which has recently come to hand, we take the following:

The appeal in the sixth number of the present volume of "The Friend," to the agents, subscribers, and readers of it, to encourage a more free circulation of it, setting forth the benefit that may accrue from it, especially to our younger members, I did very much nuite with, and desire we may do what we can, and "lend a helping hand thereto." In a letter received from a correspondent, dated Ninth mo. 13th, 1860, he says: "I wish we could obtain for 'The Friend' a more extended circulation. It is calculated to interest and attach the younger members of a family in and to the society to which they belong. It would also be useful to such as would desire their children brought up in attachment to our principles." have desired especially, that it could be more freely circulated in other Yearly Meetings besides our own. SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

EUROPE.-News from Livernool to the 2d inst.

The cotton market was active, and prices had advanced \d. a \daggerad, under the influence of a speculative demand. American flour was quoted at 30s. a 32s. real Western wheat, 11s. 6d. a 12s. 4d. per 100 lbs.; Introduced into the Boas of Representatives, and made Southern, 12s. 6d. a 13s.; white, 12s. 9d. a 14s.; yellow the special order of the day for the 20th inst, which incorp. 3bs. 3bs. 6d.; white, 40s. a 4bs. The market for structs in Senators and Representatives in Congress breadstuffs was firm but quiet.

The Value of Accuracy—It is the result of a total for the current year not far from £10,000,000— hoped the efferrescence will subside, and calmer and the entire produce of the year's income tax. Consols, wiser counsels prevail.

92% a 93.
The German journals are unanimous in pronouncing the Warsaw meeting a failure. The monarchs and the ministers had several interviews, but did little more than exchange opinions concerning the state of Europe. A treaty was drawn up, but not signed, because the sovereigns and their ministers could not come to an understanding in matters of importance. Russia is exceedingly desirous of regaining her position on the Danube, and doing away with the neutrality of the Black Sea. The Russian minister, however, failed to convince the Prussian and Austrian statesmen, that it would be advantageous to all parties, if the treaty of 1856 were subjected to a revision.

Prince Metternich had explained to the French government the present policy of Austria. The internal reforms would be carried out in all sincerity, and as regards external matters, she will maintain her line of defensive policy. Her present armaments and concentration of troops in Venetia are for no other object than repelling any attack.

Austria considers the assembling of a Congress as useless, unless the great Powers agree beforehand on a common programme, of which there is little likelihood.

It was reported that the Austrian envoys had notified the Emperor, that unless the warlike preparations of Piedmont were discontinued, and the Hungarian legion disbanded, Austria would immediately commence hostilities.

The result of the voting in the kingdom of Naples on the question of annexation to Sardinia was as follows: two provinces which had not been heard from, not beiog included in the returns. For annexation, 1,102,499; against, 9371. Garibaldi had gone to the head quarters of the King ; their military operations are now combined, and they were preparing for another battle with the King of Naples. Capua had been definitely occupied by Garibaldi's troops. It was announced on the authority of saw united in promising assistance to Austria, if she to Liverpool, $d.

were attacked by Sardinia. It is officially stated that Spain is resolved to observe strict neutrality as regards the affairs of Italy. The government of Morocco has asked for a longer delay in the payment of the war indemnity.

Very active warlike preparations were going forward in France, but the Minister of Foreign Affairs has pronounced against France taking part in any new con-flict between Austria and Sardinia.

The London Times makes no comment on the French intervention at Gaeta, and the Paris journals had not vet adverted to the subject. The Times considers that unless some unforeseen event occurs, a few days must suffice to drive the Bouron sovereign from Gaeta.

UNITED STATES .- The Presidential Election, held last weck, resulted in the choice of electors, a large majority of whom are pledged to vote for Abraham Lincoln as President, and Hannibal Hamlin as Vice President, of the United States. The vote by which the Republican electors has been chosen, having been confined almost exclusively to the free States, is regarded as sectional in the South, and caused by animosity to the institu-tion of slavery. Hence great dissatisfaction and angry excitement is manifested in several of the Southern States. In South Carolina, the popular feeling appears to be in favour of an immediate secession of that State from the Union. The Legislature has passed resolutions by an unanimous vote for the calling of a convention next munth, to decide this momentous question. In Georgia, also, there are indications of an unwillingness to submit to Lincoln's election. A resolution has been structs the Senators and Representatives in Congress from that State to resist the counting in the electoral breadatuils was irm but quet.

The latest advices from China, report the capture of college, of the votes of the States which have nullified the Pelino torts by the allies, who lost from 400 to 500 the fugitive slave law. The Honse has also, before it, men in the engagement. The allies occupied Pien-Tsin.

A return has been made at the war-office, which Union, and provides for calling a convention to ratify shows the smast that have been voted by Parliament to the excession. These threatening indications extend to meet the expenses of the war in China. These make up wiser connsels prevail.

New York.—Mortality last week, 321, being 75 less than in the previous week.

Philadelphia.—Mortality last week, 189; of diptheria,

Baltimore.-The census of Baltimore shows a population of 214,037, of which 2213 are slaves. The number of dwellings is 28,151. There are 1146 manufactories, producing $500 and upwards. The increase of population in the last ten years is 44,983, while between the years 1840 and 1850 it was 66,741.

The City of Wheeling, Va., has a population of 14,314, whereof 31 are slaves; Ohio county, including Wheeling, has 22,695, whereof 100 are slaves.

Hops .- The value of the hop crop of the United States, this year, is estimated at $4,000,000—nearly all in Otsego, Oneida and Madison counties, N. Y.

Quick Transportation.—Geo. Little, of Chicago, Ill.,

recently shipped a cargo of wheat from that port for Liverpool, by way of the river St. Lawrence. The grain was received at Liverpool in twenty-five days from the day of its shipment at Chicago. Free Negroes in Maryland .- At the late election in this State, a vote was taken on the law passed by the Maryland Legislature to compel the free coloured population to hire out, on certain conditions. As far as appears, the law has been voted down in every county, where it was submitted for popular approval. Baltimore county gave a decided vote against it.

The Markets.—New York—The money market has become much more stringent, not in consequence of any actual scarcity of loanable capital, but from the disposition of some of the lenders to be alarmed with fears of a disruption between the North and the South. following were the quotations on the 12th inst. in good demand; sales of 230,000 bushels, at $1.30 a $1.32 for red State, and $1.32 a $1.34 for red Western; $\tag{5}\tag{1.22} for Chicago spring; barley, 70 cts. a 80 cts.; oats, 37 cts. a 38 cts. Philadelphia—Red wheat, transfer stodeps: It was satisful out the authority of CS, organization and the state of the sta bidden the bombardment, and had placed four ships of arrivals of heef cattle continue large; sales at from $7.00 the line before Gaeta, with orders to prevent an attack to $9.00 per cwt. for fat cattle, and $3.50 a $4.50, live the line before Gaeta, with orders to prevent an attack to $9.00 per cwt. for fat cattle, and $3.30 a $4.50, live on that fortress by the Sardinian admiral. An engage—wight for stock cattle. Bullianer—Red wheat, $1.30 ment took place on the 20th ult., between a detachment a $1.37; white, $1.45 a $1.65; yellow corn, 70 cts. a of the Sardinian army and the royal forces, in which the '12 cts; white, $1.45 a $1.65; yellow corn, 70 cts. a latter were defeated, leaving a great number of prisoners in the hands of the Sardinians.

The Paris Presse asserts that the sovereigns at Warm-Flour, $5.62 a $5.75; corn, 70 cts. a 75 cts.; middling cotton, 11 cts. a 11½ cts.; freights on cotton

RECEIPTS.

Received from John Peckham, R. I., $3, to 27, vol. 34, for Rath Foster, $2, vol. 34; from George S. Passmore, Pa., $2, vol. 33; from Susannah Marriott, N. Y., S2, vol. 34; from Geo. Smith, Pa., $2, vol. 34, for Abm. Smith, Ind., and Heory Cope, Io., $2 each, vol. 34; from Jas. Austin, agt., Mass., for Eliza Ann Easton, $2, vol. 33, and for Benj. Gardner, E. F. Gardner, and E. B. Paddock, $2 esch, vol. 34.

FRIENDS' SCHOOL AT GERMANTOWN.

Wanted at this Institution a Female Teacher, a member of the Society of Friends, competent to give instruction in the usual branches of an English education. Apply to Sarah Ann Fell, Rebecca B. Cope, Beulah

S. Morais, Germantown, Philadelphia, or to AMY AL-BERTSON, at the school, adjoining Friends' Meeting-house,

WANTED.

A Female Friend to teach a family school.

Address, Joseph H. Satterhaite, Oxford Valley, Bucks Co., Pa.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted as Teacher of Reading in the Boys department of this Institution. Apply to SAMUEL HILLES, Wilmington, Del. James Emlen, West Chester, Chester Co., Pa. Alfred Cope, Germantown, Pa.

Sixth mo. 6th, 1860.

DIED, in this city, on the 30th ult., JOSEPH K. POTTS, in the seventy-second year of his age; a member of the Western District Monthly Meeting.

PILE & M'ELROY, PRINTERS,

Lodge street, opposite the Penusylvania Bank.

THE PRIEND.

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, ELEVENTH MONTH 24, 1860.

NO. 12.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

'rice Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by

JOHN RICHARDSON.

AT NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

Postage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three onths, if paid in advance, three and a quarter cents id in advance, six and a-half cents.

> For "The Friend." Henry Hull.

(Continued from page 82.)

e inducement to the whites to increase the num- ments. r of their slaves. Lord, have mercy upon blacks ey reached! I long to have my mind more and great number of advocates who have appeared in ore redeemed from the world, that I may leave behalf of their cause, will open the way for some cheerfully if called away therefrom; yet I think relief, am also willing to live and suffer, if thereby I "T ur to trust in the Lord, and walk in true humi- vineyard."

y before him."

some of my business.

small fulling mill, it furnishes strong evidence of great tenderness of conscience, and of narrow scru- curing her much respect and attention where she tiny into the secret motives and workings of the travelled, she was weak enough to be carried away heart, that he should have guarded so vigilantly by vain imaginations and carnal reasoning—slight-against the approach of the enemy in that quarter, ing the advice of her friends, who loved her, and Looking at the vast extension of business which saw the danger she was in. Several years before has taken place in our times, the keenness of com- she quite fell away, I had tears on her account, petition, and the eager desire to secure a large having frequently been in her company, and had troffic, is there not reason to fear that many visited opportunity of seeing the temptation to which she minds have almost insensibly been drawn into the was exposed. 'Let him that thinketh he standeth, popular current, allayed the uneasiness of a ten- take heed lest he fall." ler conscience, by pleading the example of others any part of the United States, for three months, if and an imagined necessity, until they have become day, had a sweet time in humble contrition before so absorbed in their worldly concerns that they the Father of mercies, and received strength to ask can spare little or no time for better purposes; for the greatest of blessings, viz: true faith. have gradually lost the inclination as well as the fitness for usefulness in religious society, and are dual retreat from much business. in imminent danger of reaching that state, in which The reader will have noticed in the last number, the cares of this life, the deceitfulness of riches, town, where are several professors of Truth, who memorandum respecting a remarkable communiand the love of other things, choke the good Seed, have greatly cumbered themselves by the love of tion of a prophetic character made by David May we not trace to these causes much of the the world, and the inordinate pursuit of riches. nds, at Nine Partners Quarterly Meeting, iu weakness and degeneracy apparent among us, and The meeting was a time of trial, but afterward we ghth month, 1791. Its apparent fulfillment speed-lament that there is not more of that living faith had a select opportunity with some of them, in followed. Under date, Tenth month 15th, in a God, which overcomes the world, and enables to trust all to his providential care, devoting to his.

"15th. Had the company of Richard Titus, a mi-"15th. Received affecting intelligence of great blessed cause and service our lives, and everything bister from Long Island, whose awakening testimoortality in the city of New York, and of an in- we possess. Were the kingdom of God and his ny brought me into serious reflection upon the prerrection of the coloured people in one of the West rightcousness sought first, and with earnest dili-sent struction of mankind,—which, if duly considered in Islands, where several members of our Sottom rection of the west sought first, and with earnest dili-sent struction of mankind,—which, if duly considered its structure of ma wn. I feel for them and their families; but have less of its best and brightest days would again ap pestilence prevails in some places, famine and the ey not contributed to the calamity, by encour- pear, it would once more arise, shake itself from sufferings attendant on war afflict others, the naing the trade to those islands, which has been the dust of the carth, and put on its beautiful gar- tions of Europe being generally engaged in a de-

d whites !- How great are the cruelties prac- of the enslaved and oppressed Africans, has much ed amongst mankind, and to what a pitch have occupied my attention, and my hope is, that the

"The beginning of the year 1792, was to me a ay be useful to my fellow-mortals. good time. I had an opportunity of accompanying "19th. Poor indeed, and almost insensible of a Friend, who was visiting families in our part, and od, yet a hope revives, while I am writing, that was also favoured with the company of many other

y before him."

"In the year 1793, I travelled some short jour-baxenly favour, I asked for strength to walk more "27th. Felt the influence of a worldly spirit at neys within the compass of our Monthly Meeting; uprightly than I had heretofore done, that so I eeting; and fear I shall lose ground unless I give land also accompanied Haunah Barnard to some of might enjoy these favours more frequently. the adjacent towns in Connecticut. She had passed "28th. My morning prayer was, that neither through much exercise of mind to prepare her for telligence of the death of that dear and eminent means. All morning prayer was, that neither through much exercise of mind to prepare her for telligence of the death of that dear and eminent hese nor any earthly enjoyment might be able to hear the more of God, and referred in the work of the ministry, and evinced much observant of Christ, Daniel Offley, who died in Phiniparate me from the love of God, and zeal for the cause of religion. Although she ladelphia, of the malignant fever raging there. The lived forty miles distant from where our Monthly embeddence of him is precious to me, his ministry having been instrumental in turning me into travelled some long journeys in the work of the lowest all chings, if I have this day suffered my gospel.

"21st. Received accounts of the death of two more ministers in Pennsylvania, and that two hundred persons were buried in the city in one dax—specified much the properties of the control of the contro ay thee, suffer me not to accomplish my designs cause, she fell away, and caused Friends much dred persons were buried in the city in one dayay use, suner me not to accomplish my designs cause, she fell away, and caused Friends much dred persons were buried in the city in one any—leave me not to grope in the dark, lest I stumble, imbibing and promulgating principles in-my mind much affected under the consideration, dail."

An instructive feature in these memorandums is propagated, denying the literal accuracy of some New York, viz: 'Seenes like the present, destroy e watchfulness they evince lest a worldly spirit part of the Holly Scriptures, and rejecting the doc- our relish for earthly enjoyments and the pursuit ould obtain accordency, and his mind become trines of the divinity and atonement of our Lord of wealth, in which I fear we have both been too sorbed in temporal pursuits. When we could be a source of the divinity and atonement of our Lord of wealth, in which I fear we have both been too

"Being a woman of high mind, and her gift pro-

"Sixth month 28th. Near the close of this

"Seventh month 5th. Took measures for a gra-

"9th. At a meeting with a Friend at Philipsstructive war, and confusion and bloodshed prevail-"Twelfth month 31st. The affecting situation ing in some of the islands by fire and sword, in the hands of the blacks.

"Eighth month 3d. My health not good, but I think relieved from much worldly mindedness, being made willing that the glory and beauty of the world should be stained in my view, and my mind more engaged in pursuing heavenly treasure. "28th. The cares of this life engaged my attention this day, yet not so, but that through marvellous condescension, I had a sweet time in spiritual am not wholly cast off-I will therefore endea- precious Friends, who were labouring in the Lord's communion with Him, who is the Alpha and the Omega-the praise is due to him. In this time of heavenly favour, I asked for strength to walk more

"Ninth month 18th. Received the affecting insorbed in temporal pursuits. When we consider and Saviour Jesus Christ, for which she was dis-at his business consisted in the management of a owned from society.

some years back. No earthly good is equivalent but two or three sections are used, attached to a hand are doubtless yet in operation, but what the to the loss or diminution of that peace and calm- rope for the remainder of the distance, but this capacity is for a regular business cannot yet be tol tion to religious duties.'

"27th. O Lord! I have need of thy help to bear up my soul, and keep me from sinking, the hearings and it may be well imagined that each spring, when the ground was wet and the spring ness of my heart is so great. And why it is so, I successive pumping is anxiously matched for "indi-flush. Many of the latter are now dry, or running known to If it be for my further refinement, good extions." A "smell" is quite an event, and the with greatly diminished flow; and, inasunch is thy will, O Lord! I am thankful that then art appearance of oil on the water brought up by the mindful of me. Have mercy upon me, I pray thee, and set me in a place where I may praise thee. I am willing to leave all, and follow thee in the way of thy requirings. Although the cross has been in my way, so that I have not at all times given up, thou knowest I have not withheld through wilful disobedience. I know myself to be a poor weak latter is necessary when the water is salt. They The same rate is paid for driving and boring o creature, a mere worm in comparison to many of are about two inches inside diameter. There is the pipes as for drilling rock. The cost of a we thy servants, whom thou sendest forth on thy errands. O be pleased to forgive all my short comings, purify me in whatever way thou, in thy wis- of very small diameter, thus reducing the capadom, seest fit, that I may be received into thy city of the pump below that required to clear and buildings ready for operation, is $1200 favour, and be qualified to serve thee, who art for the well of water. It then becomes necessary to $1500, depending of course chiefly on the dept ever worthy.

favour and help at meeting; and agreeable news This is done by means of a "seed-bag"-a leather operate one night and day. received from Philadelphia, that the fever is abat- sack 18 or 20 inches long, surrounding the pump ing. In this month I visited the families of Friends, stock and filled with flax-seed. When wet this soil, but most of them by lessees of the "oil pri and others who attended our meeting at Stanford, swells and effectually closes the aperture around the lege," who pay a royalty of from one-fourth und held in my father's house."

(To be continued.)

Tobacco-We find that the pupils of the Poly-place the seed-bag very near the bottom. technic school in Paris, have recently furnished some curious statistics, bearing on tobacco. Dividing the gines of from three to five horse power. All those we day, with a ten-barrel well, even after paying a re young men of that college into groups, the smokers noticed were made in Buffalo, and a more miseraof five-eighths, an operator can make a very han and the non-smokers, it is shown that the smokers ble set of machines could not easily be turned out some thing of it. In fact it is hard to imagine a have proved themselves in the various competitive of any shop than most of them in the oil region business wherein an investment of $1500 will examinations, far inferior to the others. Not only in are the examinations, on entering the schools are the smokers in a lower rank, but in the various ordeals of the small engines so well made in Philadelphia; they have to pass through in a year, the average and he will be a public benefactor who accomrank of the smokers had constantly fallen, and plishes it. not inconsiderably, while the men who did not smoke enjoyed a cerebral atmosphere of the clearest into a tank holding from 400 to 800 barrels. kind .- Late Puper.

A Trip to the Oil Regions of Pennsylvania. (Concluded from page 83.)

The process of obtaining oil may be generally described as follows :- Where an alluvial deposit of any considerable depth covers the rocks, cast rary character. The derrick is boarded up and forms hill. iron pipes 5 inches inside diameter and 1 inch the pump-house. One frame shanty covers the thick, in sections of ten feet, are driven with an engine, and another the tank; and as this is also carboniferous slates and shales of the cadent a ordinary pile driver, and the enclosed material re- a lumber region, the cost of the building is slight. vergent series of Professor Rogers, many of whi moved by use of drill and sand 3 pump—the sections of pipe are turned smooth 3 or 4 inches from about 20 miles (16 from Titusville) over very bad to the north and north-west, and it is among teach end, and when the top of one section is driven roads to the nearest station on the Sundry and vergent shales and their interlaying sandstones the nearly to the surface, a wrought iron band 6 inches Eric Railroad. Some of it descends the Allegheny the oil is found. Their dip is to the south-ea wide is shrunk on, the lower end of another section river by keel-boats during low water, and by steam with a general trend to the south, and the flow inserted, and a continuous tube thus formed, ex-tending to the rock. The length of piping varies No reliable account is known of the quantity follow their direction. from 20 to 100 feet. The greatest depth in wells produced up to this time, but it may, I think, be It a remarkable fact, that in the entire rep visited by us was 98 feet.

When the rock is thus reached, or when it approaches the surface so that no pipe is required, it rels, and is rapidly increasing by the opening of now rapidly becoming an item of great important is bored by a heavy cast-steel drill, with a bit 4 new works. It sells at the well at from 19 to 20 and this does not lessen the necessity of a thorou inches wide, I inch thick, and the edge very obtuse, cents per gallon, according to cost of transportation.

The rod to which the drill is attached is usually in Experience seems to indicate a diminution of is too extensive to be disposed of by a mere visit the top of the derrick, before described, is a pulley, the abundant supply to newly opened wells, greater and scientific associations of Philadelphia to used for raising or lowering the drill. In some than the subterraneau steams can maintain.

comfort and satisfaction on my employment for cases, instead of a rod the entire depth of the well, plan is not generally preferred. A sand pump, or sheet iron tube about four feet long, with a valve the early wells of large yield that are now din ness which flow from a faithful and upright atten- plan is not generally preferred. A sand pump, or in the botom, is used to extract the material from nished, were opened during the last winter ar pump is hailed with delight.

The region is now well supplied with drillers and their tools; and wells are usually sunk by contract. obtained in the well, a pump is inserted formed of Drilling, $2 per foot for the first 100 feet, and 2 gas pipe or copper tube, as may be desired—the cents per foot added for each additional 25 fee much want of economy in availing of the small 200 feet, with 40 feet piped, would therefore space at command, the valves in many cases being about $563. shut off the water that enters the upper part of the The latter may be assumed as the cost of a 20 "Eleventh month 17th. A season of renewed well, and of course all the oil that accompanies it. feet well. A working force of three men w pump, which then only operates on what enters at the old leases, to five-eighths under recent ones, the bottom of the well. In some cases, owing to favourite localites; many of them are sub-let two is kept well filled, to allow the oil and water to separate. The latter is allowed to escape through hills with the outcrop of the coal strata, and c a fancet near the bottom; the oil is drawn off by off by the deep ravines of the intervening was one at the top, put in barrels, and is ready for the courses; in addition to which their flow would market.

No better field is now open for the introduction

All the works around the well are of a tempo-safely assumed at 8000 barrels.

sections of about 12 feet in length, the lower one generally of iron, and the remainder of wood. the flow at many of the wells now worked, espe- and it would be much easier to undertake a relia generally of iron, and the remainder of wood. They are connected by screw and socket, and rall that were 30, 50, and some over 100 barrels thousand local details of mines, works and penerally worked by band, with the aid of a daily at the start, are now down to a regular yield ductions, than to obtain complete geological spring-pole—two, frequently three men at a drill; of 20 barrels and under. It would, therefore, statistical information of this opening oil regular through sometimes a steam engine is used. At infer that the quantity brought out is temporari reduced by this cause.

The laboratorics that furnished the stock now c

The cost of a derrick is from $20 to $30. Cas When sufficient oil to justify working has been iron pipe delivered, about $2.50 per foot lines

The entire expense of a well, with machine

A few wells are owned by the proprietors of t the small capacity of the pump, it is necessary to three times, so that an operator's profits are n in all cases as large as they look. The worki The pumps are worked by portable steam en- expenses do not exceed one half barrel of oil p

The source of these subterranean oil streams also a matter of doubt. They are attributed many to the great Appalachian coal basin, who north-western rim they border; and are suppos The water and oil pumped from the well pass to have their origin in the coal that caps the hig It lands, extending from McKean to the south-we Were this so, it should be found escaping from t against the dip of the entire geological formatic thus refuting the belief that water will not flow

It is much more probable they result from t Most of the oil goes to New York ; it is hauled are highly bituminous. These have their outerc fely assumed at 8000 barrels. On the State Geological Survey, but a single it.

The daily yield cannot now be less than 500 bar-dental allusion (Vol. 1, p. 583) is made to what dertake it. It is understood that an applical titute for that purpose; but surely Philadelphians to transact the important business thereof in harill not wait until all the credit, as well as pro- mony." t, resulting from opening a new source of State ealth is appropriated by others, before they wake a consciousness of its importance? By all means, t one competent to the undertaking be sent out collect all reliable data; he can add something our seientific knowledge, do much for the deelopment of a new but fruitful field of industry, nd, if he escape the oil fever, will be more formate than most of those who have visited the land a staff to lean on. f Petroleum.

For "The Friend." extracts from the Letters and Memorandums of our Late Friend, H. Williams.

ority. The neglect of week-day meetings by ome was shown to be the result of not keeping the ght thing uppermost. Our aged friend my Father, who is in heaven, the same is my alone. other, and sister, and brother;" " ye are my bref this, but it was not the true unity.

ireling ministry, was very feelingly spoken to; not be supplied; so in faith let us rest it. at any should grow weary of our little silent at any should grow weary of our little silent "My mind will visit thee in the cabin, in thy ectings, and be willing to sit under a man-made little bed-chamber, and in every turn, as far as I ather a remarkable communication from - o much on the Saviour.

g of the youth, that plainness of speech, behaviour eir children and to prepare them for the school, one more glad out of thy own dear family." a preper and suitable manner.

The conclusion of this, our yearly meeting was Extract from a letter written shortly after the were needful: a good sound one.

Third-day Morning.—The queries and answers the Divine sanction vouchsafed in the meeting in wilt possess all things. ere all read and considered. Suitable advice on which thy concern was considered, did exceedingly Thou hast doubtless prious subjects was handed forth in life and aucomfort and console me, and I did not doubt but passage over the great commended to seek first the kingdom of God dured and borne, will be meted out, both on the crew were so prompt at the word of command, and nd the righteousness thereof and all things need- water, and on entering on thy mission. According free from improper expressions, that it really did d would be added; that godliness with content- to my small measure, I do crave thy preservation one's heart good to see them, and to be among the ent was great gain; we brought nothing into this and patient abiding under the close provings and, honest hearted tars. orld, and we could carry nothing out; with more very likely, new exercises; as Friends and others at was excellent and to the point; and encouare differently circumstanced in different places aged concerned Friends to speak in love to those and countries; but to dwell with the seed, which, [[time of the riot] and but ten cabin passengers; ho are remiss. Several Friends were concerned I think, in many places is much out of sight, will so that any one of us could be as retired as we this subject and spoke to it in a lively manner, be no easy task; while they who may be (at times) wished; and oft was my little eup so filled to the On the subject of love and unity, — set forth thy caretakers, as thou art passing about, are brim, that I was glad to retreat into my state-room to only true ground on which it could be main-dwelling too high. Oh! have a care, dear Sarah, of to pour it out. Ah, how does the sensible presence ined: "I and my Father are one;" "continue rising with the light stuff of the day; thou who of the dear Master assuage all our griefs and priin my love that ye may be one, even as I and hast been from thy youth to the present time, marvations; and in every situation gives peace and ye father are one." The necessity of keep-vellously helped through and over uncommon hard glow—not seeking our own honour, but the slips, trials, bestments within and without. When our little bark reached the wharf, there about and instructed, fitted and qualified by the was, as is always the case, a great bustle, each fore. He who puts thee forth can make all up; The attendance of some under our name on a thou wilt not now be suffered to need what caninistry, supported by pay, while He whom we can see thee in my mind's eye, with a hope of all - was earnest for a more lively zeal God-wards, land again, unless I should be removed. Somend did encourage all to be careful in attending times, I think my way is so hedged up and weak-ectings. She is aged, and very lively in best ness so attends, that though I have out of the abundance of my heart offered thee the little con-Fifth-day Morning .- Attended - meeting; solation which seemed with me, together with a , hint to be careful of one thing in particular, as if rested sweetly. em. We could not lean too little on man, nor feeding the flock. This is a hard day; I am trying to bear it as well as I can; if favoured with as been, or is to be made, to the Smithsonian In- presence of the Great Head of the church, enabling link, ever since thy feeling and comforting letter was put into my hands; but from various causes it has hitherto seemed to have been impracticable.

Reply to the foregoing.

I tell the truth and without flattery, that thy Yearly Meeting .- "Sarah Emlen had an excel- pithy letter has been my constant companion over lent certificate; no superfluous words, but all that sea and land, and that very many times have I recurred particularly to the twenty-third line, and "We had a very good [select] meeting Fourth- many a time have its contents been a help and a day morning. I said to dear Sarah, she would strength to me; and this may be an encouragement look back to this Yearly Meeting with interest. to thee, though coming from one of the least and "Yes, spiritually,' was her answer, 'it will be like the hindermost of the flock, to discharge faithfully every debt, however small it may seem, to the To S. E. before leaving on a religious visit to poor and needy; and thus wilt thou out of thy Great Britain and Ireland.—"I feel as though I poverty' and 'nakedness' and 'blindness' and could not let thee depart without a fresh testimony 'many fears,' and sometimes sorrowful heart, be of my sincere love for thee, and concern for thy made to rejoice, and though 'very poor,' yet thou comfort both of body and mind. The evidence of wilt make others rich, and having nothing, thou

Thou hast doubtless heard long since of my good comfort and console me, and I did not doubt but passage over the great deep. I shall ever esteem thou rejoiced that a oneness of feeling prevailed. it a peculiar favour. Not a sail did our elever Now the time is drawing nigh for thy embarking, captain ever have to reef, from the time we left Cape it may be that a foretaste of hard things to be en- May till we were in sight of Liverpool; and all his tion, &c. A silent, hidden seed, was sweetly Great Head of the church for his service and caring for themselves. There I stood, gazing; ldressed : also — addressed these, "who hath work. It has been secretly my sineere desire every face and every object new and strange; till elieved our report, and to whom is the arm of that He may continue to be thy leader, the lifter pretty soon a gentle squeeze of the elbow caused be Lord revealed;" described the union between up of thy head out of low seasons, which I have me to look round, when I saw to my relief and joy, brist and his followers, "whosever does the will no doubt will be the case, as thou lookest to Him two nice, plain looking lads, the elder who had hold of me saying, "we are -- 's sons; mother As regards a companion, this does not so very has been down several times since the vessel was ren if ye do whatsoever I command you." It much discourage me. From the first, my faith has in the river, but as it had not come she sent us as shown very plainly, there might be a unity out been, thou would be cared for everyway as hereto- with her love, and wishes thee to come to our fithis, but it was not the true unity.

There were one hundred and fourteen in the

This again filled my heart to the brim; I was not long getting into the carriage, nor long going through the tedious, dark, gloomy looking streets of Liverpool before I was welcomed by

But how I felt is not for my pen to describe; rofess to serve is able to teach his people himself. being well, and of seeing thee face to face in this not a word could I utter. She kindly belped me up stairs, and after giving me many assurances of her sympathy, and that her home should now be my home, she left me; of which I was glad, that I might give full vent to my heart. After tea I began to feel better; went to bed and slept and

But oh, what a contrast does the busy scene of commending, not to trust to or lean on man; I knew something, yet poverty and nakedness and But oh, what a contrast does the busy scene of that by so doing, if such as were leaned on stumblindness attend thy friend, and many fears on my such a city afford, and the one we had just left, led and fell, the consequence was, we fell with own account and on account of some who stand where we had only the quiet and beautiful bosom of the ocean before us and on all sides, without noise of whip, or horse, or wheels; and we On Fifth-day afternoon, had the report of the ability to keep a clear conscience, shall be con-seemed to be the 'lords of all we could survey.' carding-School, and the right governing and train-tented, without expecting to do much or any good. Now, as in a moment, we were lost in the crowd of "I have no claim, I know, on thy time or on human beings. I think a person must experience ad apparel should be seen there. Parents were thy care, yet if thy mind inclines to write to me, I something of the kind, to form an adequate idea of articularly enjoined to be careful to encourage shall be very glad to hear how thou fares; no the effect of such a transition. The next day, in company with our friends, went to Lancaster Quarterly Meeting. I felt hardly fit to go, but my friends seemed to think a little change would be blid; and with becoming weightiness and dignity with slarge gathering separated, after sitting five ays, wherein Friends were refreshed with the lawe determined to write unto thee with pen and ment. It fell to my lot, to remind some present, and so forth for their children, it was vastly the construction of railroads at the South, is that the claim of occupying the most beautiful site it more important they should instruct them how to they were built on the cash plan. labour for that bread which cometh down from heaven, &c.; and some relief was afforded to my poor overflowing mind by returning thanks for my safe arrival, and [petitioning] that the angel of His presence who had been with me, might overshadow up with the cross, his burden loosed from his shoulmy beloved ones at home.

There is a spirit in this land that is trying to insinuate itself into the church, and would fain persuade the Daughter of Zion to believe that " more liberty is now granted to her children than could have been in the beginning; that this is a different age of the world, and a different state of the church and of things altogether." And these things bring the living members into great straits, and cause them to go heavily on their way. We are not to remind the children of the danger of love of dress, &c., "for their minds are not in such trifles." We are not to tell them that " Foxes have holes and the fowls of the air have nests, but the Son of Man hath not whereon to lay his head," "because they have a little fur about them."

I have ventured to tell some, that I hope we shall not lose the Quaker badge. And yet among all this " light stuff" there is that which is excellent; things that are true and just, and things that are lovely, and of good report; so if there is any praise, or any virtue, we ought to think on these things. But that the chaff will be sifted out, without a 'grain of the weighty wheat falling to the ground,' I have not a doubt; and the testimonies of Truth given this people to uphold, in the face of the world, will be supported by others, who will come in by convincement. How many, very many times, have I thought of late of the centurion's conversion, and how our blessed Redeemer should have marvelled at his faith, and said, 'many shall come from the east and west, and shall sit down with Abraham and Isaac and Jacob in the kingdom of heaven. But the children of the kingdom shall be cast out into outer darkness.' If this should happen to us, as a people, through unfaithfulness, what a mournful thing will it be. S. EMLEN."

Railroad Progress in the United States.—The Railway Annual for 1860 states that in nine years, or from 1850 to 1859, the railroads of the United States have increased from 7,355 to 27,944 miles in length. In this period the increase in the New England States amounted to 62.74 per cent., while in eight of the Western States the increase was

1,201.41 per cent. At the same time the former gained in population 16.12 per cent., and the latter 46.22. The total cost of the roads up to 1859, amounted to $365,-451,070, of which large sum it is supposed onethird has been wasted in construction. At this time there are 28,000 miles of finished roads in the United States, and about 16,000 either under construction or projected, requiring $400,000,000 for their completion. It is estimated, however, that many years must elapse before sufficient capital can be diverted from other objects, to carry them through. In the meantime, many projected in a spirit of rivalry to other roads will be abandoned. It is calculated that 20,000 miles of railroad are sufficient to do all the business of the country at the present time, and that 8000 miles have been constructed in part in rivalry to other roads, which have proven a dead loss to stockholders, and in the main will pass into the hands of the bondholders. The average cost of railroads business, watch over their own spirits, that no inper mile in the New England States has been $36,decent warmth get in, whereby the understanding 328; in the Middle States $40,019; in the Southmay be hurried, and hindered from a regular judge bet to attract the attention of its finny fellow ern States $22,906; and in the Western States $36,- ment on the affairs of the meeting.

that while they were so careful to provide bread 333. The reason assigned for the cheapness of

"THE DISBURDENING."

"So I saw in my dream, that just as Christian came

Lay down thy burden here; With such a weary load Thou canst not climb you hill, You steep and rugged road.

'Tis rough, and wild, and high, Thickets and rocks impede; Scant resting-place between, How canst thou onward speed?

Lay down thy burden here, Poor weary son of time; So shall thy limbs be strong, So shalt thou upward climb.

The sun is hot, no cloud To shield thee from his ray, It scorches up thy strength, Stay now, poor climber, stay.

Thou breathest hard, the drops Are on thy burning brow ; Try not another step, Lay down thy burden now.

So shalt thou climb you hill, Up to its steepest height; Like eagle of the rock With easy, joyful flight.

So shalt thou hear the toils Thy God appoints to thee; So shalt thou serve thy God In happy liberty.

Selected. "I HAVE CALLED THEE, THOU ART MINE."

Here I find, what long I've sought, Cooling draught, with healing fraught, Flowing free from Fount Divine, "I have called thee, thou art mine."

Jesus, grant Thy kind control, Visit, cleanse, and make me whole; Bid me not this pledge resign, "I have called thee, thou art mine."

While I read Thy death for me, Through my tears of love, I see This, the sweetest word of Thine, "I have called thee, thou art mine."

If I weakly dare to sigh For Earth's pomp and vanity, Thou dost speak—no more I pine, "I have called thee, thou art mine."

Wanderer oft, do I desire Israel's token, cloud or fire? This I have, my constant sign, " I have called thee, thou art mine."

Has my spirit faithless grown? One assurance, one alone, Bids me all my fears resign, "I have called thee, thou art mine."

When, with God's Elect, I stand, Sword of Truth in ready hand, On my Banner's folds shall shine, "I have called thee, thou art mine."

When Death, at the Outer Gate, Summons brings, for which I wait, Let me hear from Lips Divine, "I have called thee, thou art mine." S. P. D. Salem, Mass.

Europe. The city stands on the north shore c the bay of the same name, and is built at the bas and on the slopes of a range of hills, which hav the general form of an amphitheatre. Its chie edifices are a cathedral, built on one hundred gra nite columns which belonged to the temple c Apollo; the churches of the holy apostles, built o the ruins of a temple of Mercury; San Pauo Filippo Neri, Spiritu Santo, and San Martino ; th royal palace—the whole palace used as a record office; the Pelazzo degli Studii Publico, whic contains the Borbonico Library, museum of ant quities, &c. Naples was the usual residence of the sovereign, seat of an archbishop, and of th central administration of the kingdom, and has commercial tribunal, arsenal, and cannon-foundry ship-building yards, and a royal marine hospita Its university, occupying the old college of th Jesuits, has fifty-four professorships. It has a episcopal lyceum, medico-chirurgical school, vete rinary school, deaf-mute Institution, royal militar school, schools of design and music, an observator a botanic garden, and a mint. It is the centre all the learned institutions of the kingdom, an has four public libraries, and many public schools but education is of the lowest kind, and not generall diffused; an exchange, ten theatres, among which the opera, San Carlos, is one of the largest in Italy The charitable establishments comprise hospitals fc the sick, aged, and foundlings, but its streets are notwithstanding, infested with mendicants of all age and both sexes. The Marinelli, a long open bead beyond the Castel del Carmuno, was formerly the abode of the Lazzaroni, a class which has lost it distinctive features, and the term is now applied to the fishermen. There are sixty charitable institu tions, comprising hospitals for the sick, (sometime with 2000 patients,) blind, aged, poor, and th orphan. Its manufactures are gloves, soap, per fumery, silks, artificial flowers, corals, earthenware hats, carriages, &c. It has royal type-foundries and iron and glass works. It is the first port of the kingdom; its harbor is formed by a mole, whic extends from the centre of the city into the bay Naples was founded by the Greeks, who called i Parthenope. Virgil studied here; the city, enlarge by Adrian and Constantine, was sacked by Be lisarius in 536; peopled successively under th Normans, the emperors of Germany, and the king of Spain. It has often suffered from earthquake and from eruptions of Vesuvius. The French too it in 1799, and again in 1806. Joseph Bonapart was made king of Naples, but was replaced b Murat in 1808, and the latter was driven from i by the Austrians in 1814. Naples was the seen of an outrage in May, 1848, when it was plundereby the Lazzaroni, and 1500 lives were lost. Amon the numerous objects, of interest in the vicinity of Naples are Vesuvius, Pompeii, and Herculaneum and the Isle of Capri, in its bay. Its population in 1857 was 419,850, excluding a garrison of abou-20,000.

Naples,-Naples disputes with Constantinopl

How the Japanese Fish .- In walking alon the banks we came upon a man fishing in a mos peculiar way. He was perched on a low bridge leading over a stream that joined the canal. first I thought he had hooked an enormous fish but on closer inspection found it was merely live decoy. Its dorsal fin was laced to two smal 1724. Advised that Friends, in meetings of sticks, one on each side; from these it was tethered The man held a small arrow-pointed trident, with e same system is not applied elsewhere.

For "The Friend."

en swallowed up in the mighty deep. But they to lay down their heads in peace. d suffered, and were made willing to obey his mmands. I have no doubt we shall witness deep ffering, before we will be willing to become faithl cross-bearing followers of the lowly Jesus; but t a place of diversion and mirth.

nich he dexterously struck any large fish that out their earthly sojourn. Alas! how would such India, where the lightning is awful and the thunder me wondering at the antics of the tethered decoy. groan in spirit, and be ready to cry out to their terrific, has in cholera an ever present scourge, he whole apparatus was so simple, that I wonder offended Creator to forgive their sins, and remem- while California, where the thunder gust is unber their iniquities no more, and to grant them a known, has been pronounced the healthiest climate little time longer that they may live to his glory in the world. and honour, and make amends for their past lives; It is remarkable that large cities enjoy an al-Serious Considerations.

but it is too late, they have not served Him in their most perfect immunity from danger to life by light-lives, and they must then share the rich man's ning. This remark applies as well to American as ad our Creator is watching over us day by day, fate, who fared sumptiously every day; but when to European cities. Between 1800 and 1851, not ad knows which of us is engaged in this work, in he was done here, his happiness was ended forever, a single death by lightning is recorded as having cordance with his divine will. The glorious orb and misery was his portion. How much better is occurred in Paris, while throughout France, from day rises at his command, and pursues its it for us all to be willing to suffer with the people 1835 to 1852, the annual number of deaths from args through the vast expanse. Do we let it go of God for the little while we may be continued the same cause, was 72. In 1835 the number awn without bowing in humble supplication before this side the grave, and to have a well grounded killed was 111. During 30 years, in which hope of being admitted into those glorious man 750,000 deaths occurred in London, two only had g thereof; knowing that we could not do with sions, where the wicked cease from troubling, and been produced by lightning. Twenty-five per It the light to cheer us on our way? Do we try the weary are forever at rest. Yes, at rest with cent. of all the deaths from this cause happen to live soberly, righteously and godly, in humble Him, who has led us safely along through life, and persons under trees. From this data it is evident bmission to Omnipotent power? Oh! the glo- through the dark valley and shadow of death, to that lightning finds more victims in the open counbus crown that is laid up for those that follow on where we need not the light of the sun, nor of try than in cities. There are definite reasons for the footsteps of our dear Redeemer, without the moon, for the Lord God and the Lamb is this immunity enjoyed by citizens. Large towns rning to the right or the left, or listening to the the light thereof. It is a time in both church and are made up of lofty buildings, multitudes of which bere's, and lo there's, or taking up a rest in state, that calls loudly for more faithfulness to the are covered with metallic roofs, from which tin or rthly enjoyment, or following the vain fashions Truth, more diligence, more willingness to give up iron gutters lead off the rain water. They contain the world. When the sea was divided for the our natural desires and propensities, and to follow many churches, most of which have ostentatious ildren of Israel, they passed straight on without in the footsteps of our worthy predecessors, who spires armed with lightning rods. Private dwelrning either to the right or the left, according to found by experience that all must be in submis- lings are protected in the same way, so that the e commands of their great Leader. Had they sion to the will of Him, who led them, and fed them, city in reality bristles with metallic points, each of rned to the right or the left, they would have and fitted them for his kingdom, and enabled them which, presented to the thunder cloud, discharges Columbiana, Co., Ohio, Eleventh mo. 12th, 1860.

Lightning-Disarming a Thunder Cloud.

we could gain the whole world, and lose our own lightning are annually increasing in number, not-laboratory, but rapidly enough to mitigate its intenuls, it would profit us nothing. If we accumu-withstanding the multiplied precautions taken to sity. When the bolt does fall it lights on some one riches, and live in the indulgence of all our guard against them. But it may well be doubted of these multitudinous points, which thus performs sires, joining in all the frivolity of the world, and whether they occur more frequently in proportion its wonderful office of carrying the explosion harmtending places of diversion,—which too many do, to the increased population than in former years, lessly off.

There are now so many newspapers in the rural districts, that every local incident of the kind is ravages of lightning have so multiplied within avenward? if they do not, let us do nothing that quickly caught up, put into print, and sent off on twenty years, that thousands have in consequence il retard us in our christian course, for heaven is its travels. It must be to the modern thoroughness adopted them. Formerly, the only person who unwith which they are reported by the local press, dertook to put up a conductor was the blacksmith. We cannot commence our heaven on earth, by that the idea of their increased frequency is to be Many times when applied to be had no suitable ving ourselves up to these things; which at best attributed; for a careful record kept by Mr. Melatrial, and was compelled to forge a claumsy eld but momentary pleasure, and when it is riam, of Brooklyn, shows that there is but little rod, containing three times the quantity of iron me, what anchor have we for our never-dying annual variation in the number of these casualities.

If we have not treasure laid up in heaven, inche facts not away, when our health and abilieth fadeth not away, when our health and ability to be secured. Such a fixture necessarily costs so esent world; will it not be heart-rending to before. During the many years of observation much as to prevent many householders from prove nothing but never-ending misery to look for which this gentleman has devoted to the phenome- teeting their buildings. Farmers, it is true, freurd to? We cannot always be inhabitants of this na of lightning, he says that no case of death has quently supplied their barns with conductors; yet ord. Therefore, let us all be entreated to pre-ter for a never-ending eterrity while God, in his in a house or building having a metallic roof. He fact that barns were certainly destroyed more fre-tethless mercy, affords us health, strength, and are the intelligent reader can be at testimony to the stellar forms are the intelligent reader can be at restimony to the stellar forms. The first that property are the intelligent reader can be at restimony to the fact that barns were certainly destroyed more fre-tended by the first that property are the intelligent reader can be at restimony to the fact that barns were certainly destroyed more fre-tended by the first that property are the first that property are the intelligent reader can be at restimony to the fact that barns were certainly destroyed more fre-tended by the first that property are the intelligent reader can be at restimony to the intelligent reader can be at restimony to the fact that barns were certainly destroyed more fre-tended by the first that property are the intelligent reader can be at restimony to the intelligent reader can be at restimony to the fact that barns were certainly destroyed more fre-tended by the first that the first property are the intelligent reader can be at restimony to the intelligent reader can avenly joy, that are vouchsafed to those who are steamers, or in vessels furnished with metallic con-immunity is owing to the increased facilities enperpared to meet the Bridegroom of souls. It is ductors, continue to enjoy complete protection from joyed by the community for obtaining conductors, orethan language can express, and if there is any death or injury from lightning. So also with those Now, instead of going to the village blacksmith, be thing as heaven upon earth, it is witnessed at in ordinary buildings furnished with proper content is proved by the community for obtaining conductors. It is ductors. It is ductors, and is ductors to the lightning-rod pediate comes to the farmer's aclose of one whose day's work has been done ductors. Mr. Meriam thinks that thunders and door, displays a light, neat, artistic article, which the day-time, and the soul is prepared to leave lightnings are engaged in other labours than those he sells at one-third the price the blacksmith and the source is prepared to the control of their usually recorded as lightning incidents. Distant charged, and, being provided with staples, points, vation. But that hour, how awful must it be thunder, for instance, will curdle milk and stop the and ladder, puts the rod upon the house immethe unprepared, when death summons them from fermentation of brewer's yeast, while active light diately, the whole cost being only a few dollars, was to rewards! They must then obey the ping putrefies the fresh meat hanging on the and moves off to repeat the process on the adjoinandate of the Judge of the just and unjust. They butcher's stall. The potato rot will yet be identiing farm. It is well known that these pediars a no longer neglect his commands as they have fied as the result of electrical influences. Discasses have traversed nearly every State in the Union, a no longer begiete ins commands as may have the dashed resolvent and above the long of the done in the course of their lives, no rescape in the buman system have long been suspected of and that they are doing so while we write. They are doing so while we write. They are doing so while we write. They are long they are long they are long to the long that they are doing to they are long to the long to the long they are long to the long to the long they are long to the long to the long they are long to the lon we and honour him, and to proclaim glad tidings gravated by this mysterious agent of the Almighty. Dusiness has been done in this line, that a dozen the earth, but they have almost forgotten the God from leship; they have almost forgotten the God from the process of the state o silently but surely, a portion of its destructive energy. This vast array of conductors grouped up within a limited area, must, of necessity, carry off the electricity of an overhanging cloud, not, it is The remark is often made, that casualities by true, as rapidly as it is generated in Nature's great

tom they were bound to love and serve through- lightning are active, these scourges are unknown. with which these men have canyassed the country

buted. It is true, that an enlightened public senti- within the bounds of true moderation, no fault things contrary to such as are already received : ment has demanded more generally than twenty would be found with them." years ago, an increased protection from the ravages of lightning, but these men have ministered to it by or decide such things? Certainly not those who however small in themselves, such things are to I bringing to every man's door the protection he was gratify a high, vain spirit, in using such things as judged and condemned? consequently, thouganxious to secure. It must be evident, that at grieve faithful Friends, and who have themselves finery and fashions are by some accounted small. least nine-tenths of these pedlars were the merest known but little of the work of Truth upon their things, yet as they have been testified against b mechanics that could be set to work at such busi- hearts. The most proper outward judges in those the apostles, and also by our elders, through the ness; that though they knew how to drive a staple things, are rather such as are spiritual men, whose Spirit of God, they are accordingly to be judge and screw up a joint, yet that they were utterly eyes are single to the Lord, and whose bodies, as and condemned." ignorant of the whole theory and science of elec-saith Christ, are full of light. These, as the apostricity, and that when they did put up a conductor dewrites, judge all things, but themselves are feel bound to bring up their children according correctly, it was altogether an accident. The judged of no man, that is, of no carnal man. Such our religious principles, but who find their difficu owner left everything to the pedlar, and the pedlar are good examples to the flock of God, and having ties increased by sentiments of active member put up the rod, not in quantity or position as true nothing in view but his honour and the good of treating plain dress and language as of no accoun science would have dictated, but as he found it souls, may be safely followed, and we are bound to and to be left altogether to the whims of self-suff most conveniently and most quickly to be done, submit ourselves to them. As to those objectors cient men and women, who know little of bearing A ride through any part of the country will satisfy not seeing evil in these things, or being convinced the cross to their own wills and propensities, the intelligent observer, familiar with the duties a of this or that, it may be said of them, 'They see-they love the Lord above all, doing his will, I conductor is intended to fulfil, the dangers it is to im, see not, neither do they understand,' and it will will enable them to bear the cross in all thing avert, and with the rules to be observed in erecting be long ere they, while they continue in this spirit, and they will grow in grace, and receive from He it, that the whole business has been entrusted to can rightly see the things that belong to their peace, the reward of curiching peace, ignorant men. Most unfortunately, those who and safety, and growth; and it is preposterous in bought the rods were themselves too ignorant to them to pretend matter of conscience, to wear gay correct the blunders of those who put them up. clothing. Yet, in spite of these mistakes, they have given a "I suppose none who plead for, and wear such measurable protection to thousands of houses, fine and fashionable things, as grieve faithful many of which have received a shock on their Friends, will pretend that they are more spiritual blundering conductors, and found safety in them. (To be continued.)

For "The Friend." Be not Conformed to this World.

heart, in that which is not corruptible.

members cavilled at this testimony, which real and heard, and seen in me, do; and the God of seized upon a molar, it accomplished its work un Friends bore at that day, as well as at this time, peace shall be with you." and strongly pleaded for what they termed their "Paul recounts unto them his own experience in were hardly more than thirty practising dentists that any dimunition of casualties must be attri- plain Friends differ from each other, and kept that 'when any shall arise to teach and practi or see further into the things of God, than the apostles did, or our first elders have done; neither that the Holy Scriptures do justify them in the practice of such things. If this be granted, which, I think, cannot be denied, it follows, that as the True religion consists in the kingdom of God be- apostles and our elders were more spiritual, and ing set up and established in the heart. Nothing from the movings of the Holy Spirit advised to unholy and contrary to his will can be tolerated plainness, they, together with those who follow where he rules and reigns. It is the pure in heart their example, are in the right, and those on the that see God, and hold communion with him through opposite side are in the wrong. As to the objec-Jesus Christ our Lord. These are changed by the tion of things being small and trivial, and that rewashing of regeneration, in obedience to the Divine ligion does not consist in plainness, I have already will, and in the state of new-born babes, are led allowed that religion does not consist therein, into deep humility before Him, and into simplicity [merely,] yet as proceeding from a sincere mind, of heart and spirit, and in outward things, not seeking great things for themselves, but daily desiring gion, or the Holy Spirit would not have led the that they may be more and more brought into the apostles in their day, and the elders in our day, so image of the dear Son of God, which was lost by repeatedly to press plainness. And indeed the transgression, and cannot be recovered but by his wisdom of God is great, as seen by those who walk transforming power. As the inside is made clean, in the light, in leading our first elders into plainthe outside will also be regulated by Divine grace. ness, and out of the fashions and ceremonics of the From the Spirit of Truth, the apostles of Christ ad world." Robert Barclay says "that there is no vised the believers not to be conformed to this world, greater property in the church of Christ, than pure not to fashion themselves according to their former unity of spirit, which yet admits of different growths lusts, not to adorn themselves with outward adorn and measures, but never contradictory ones. And ing, and costly array, but in the hidden man of the to preserve this unity and oneness, the apostle Paul repeatedly recommends the church to be all of one The same Holy Spirit led our first clders and mind; speak the same thing; to be of one accord, fathers in the church out of the changeable fash. and perfectly joined together in the same mind and ious of the world, its corrupt customs, language, judgment, and that there should be no divisions finery, superfluity of apparel and furniture, and to among them. They were not only to be advised, testify against them as not proceeding from the governed, and obedient to the apostles and elders, Dentistry. — Few persons realize the rapi Spirit of Truth, but from the vain unsettled spirit but they were also to follow their example. 'These growth of dentistry as a profession. Forty year of the world, as they most certainly do. Some things which ye have both learned, and received, ago doctors officiated as tooth-pullers, and if deca christian liberty, to act in these respects as they the way of righteousness, and his pressing on to this country. Ten years after that, the invention pleased, but finally they dwindled away, and came perfection, to the mark for the prize of the high artificial teeth had given such an impetus to 1 to nothing. Joseph Pike, remarking on some of calling of God in Christ Jesus; and says, 'Let us profession that the thirty had increased to 20 the objections of more professionalists, says, "As therefore, as many as be perfect, be thus minded; In 1542 it was estimated that there were 1400; it to that frivolous objection, that plain Friends do and if in anything ye be otherwise minded, God 1848, 2000. In 1850 the census reported 292 not all go exactly alike in these respects, they shall reveal even this unto you. Nevertheless, practising dentists, and at the present time there never desired nor pressed a precise conformity in whereunto we have already attained, let us walk must be at least 5000. American ingenuity for every trivial thing, provided there was a care and by the same rule, let us mind the same thing, since superseded the artificial text which were tenderness preserved to keep from edging towards, Brethren, be followers together of me, and mark true, and confirmed by God's Spirit in the hear

Memory as affected by Disease .- A gentlema of Brooklyn, who was once waylaid by robber and almost killed, afterwards recovered his physic. health, but his mind was much shattered. H seemed to have forgotten every thing he learne during his life, and began to learn his letters again as if he were a child. The sounds of his voice, it said, constituted his chief source of amusement.

Dr. Beattic relates the case of a gentleman wh in consequence of a blow on the head, lost h knowledge of Greek, but did not appear to hav lost any thing else.

Dr. Abercrombie also relates a case of a lad who, in consequence of protracted illness, lost th recollection of a period of about ten or twelve year but spoke with perfect consistency of things : they stood before that time.

Some ten years ago a young man residing i Northern New-York, after having made conside able progress in Latin, as well as in the Englis branches, received a kick from a horse over th left eye, which rendered him senseless for son days. On recovering the use of his faculties, h memory was found so much impaired that he ha forgotten all his knowledge of Latin.

In other cases, disease, particularly fever, cause a quickened mental action. Flint, in his Recollections of the Valley of th Mississippi, says that, during the derangemen occasioned by a violent fever, his memory was mor than ordinarily exact and retentive, and that I repeated whole passages in the different language which he knew, with entire accuracy; this he was unable to do on recovering his health.

or copying vain and foolish fashions; and if the them, which walk so, as ye have us for an exam-objectors differed from plainness, only so far as ple.' R. Barclay observes largely upon these texts, from 250,000 to 5,000,000. For all these grine

s we cannot find occupation, and a large portion warded the genius and industry of the people, exported. The capital employed in this single throughout their broad domain.

auch of industry is upwards of $500,000. A It is true, there has not been universal happiness, responsibilities, and showed their gratitude to their ld per annum.

THE FRIEND.

ELEVENTH MONTH 24, 1860.

de of existence, and without imposing any spe-l obligation upon us. Thus, long continued en-Since these Un governmental power and control, exercised either ong us, except in its simple but effective provias for protecting each individual while performhis duties to his Maker, to his family, the relius society to which he may belong, and in the ious benevolent enterprizes in which his fellow-n may require his aid.

Since the close of the revolutionary war-about enty-seven years-there has occurred comparaby little to retard or disturb the peaceful and sperous course of our country. The war of been hundred and twelve—wicked and desctive of human life as it was-was of short duion, and its disturbing effects were felt but little, ay from the northern frontier and the seaboard, riculture, manufactures, foreign and domestic amerce, have each yielded a rich reward for the our bestowed upon them, and have been purd according to the option and capacity of every n greatly improved by methodical cultivation, gely increasing its annual yield; mines of valities for rapid and extensive transportation have ngle firm in Philadelphia use 700 moulds, pro-because sin has made sad inroads among us; and Almighty Benefactor? We rejoice in believing zing 9000 different shapes and styles of teeth, where sin abounds among a people, suffering and there are thousands of righteous men and women sting upwards of $18,000. Of platina alone, misery, its bitter but natural fruits, will inevitably throughout the land, who, having experienced the ounces are used a month, simply for pins to be produced. Poverty and crime have each number the land, who, having experienced the sten the teeth in their places. This firm manu- bered their victius, especially in the large cities, by in the fear of the Lord, and striving to fulfil their ctures 180,000 finished teeth per month. The thousands, deriving the most of their recruits obligations to their country, by promoting the welulue of gold foil it sells amounts to $109,200 per through the active and wide-spread agency of in- fare—both temporal and spiritual—of their fellow. country use no less than $2,500,000 worth of evils, not only has a general and becoming liber religious profession, are the salt of the earth, and rality afforded the necessary pecuniary means, but their restraining preserving influence, is felt for the Spirit of Him who came to seck and to save good by all those around them. Their number is that which is lost, has softened and expanded the probably far greater than is known to any but the hearts of thousands of christian men and women in Searcher of hearts, and doubtless their prayers and the different religious denominations, inciting them their alms-deeds ascend as a sweet memorial before to seek out their suffering fellow creatures, to in- Him, and draw down his divine regard. But, as vestigate the causes and extent of their wants, and we have before said, there are very many of both give them present relief; and also to devise and sexes, sunk in wickedness of various kinds, who fill It has been remarked by both the moralist and bring into action means for their permanent help, our almshouses and prisons, and are kept in ree poet, that the true value of blessings conferred, and to elevate them from the low estate into which straint by the law alone; and there is no lack of not known or properly estimated until they have they have fallen through sickness, want of employ-others, who although not looked upon as depredaon withdrawn. Their uninterrupted enjoyment, ment or evil habits. Education has been very tors upon the public, or offenders against the laws, o generally betrays into forgetfulness of their be-generally placed within reach of the poor as well are yet very far from being virtuous citizens; their g a gift from the Source of all good; and while as the rich, and above all, various efficient mea- "way," though more concealed, being "an aboninewed from day to day without any striking ex-sures for extending a knowledge and promoting the nation to the Lord." There are also great deparasion of divine power, or necessary effort of hu- influence of the benign precepts of the gospel, have tures from justice and equity, which, from their pean agency to retain them, we soon learn to look been carried into effect; under a conviction that the culiar character, and the manner in which they are on them as things of course; as circumstances dreadful consequences of sin must be suffered in connected with the operations of the government, conditions which appertain to the sphere in every community, so long as religion is not per- or the conduct of its controllers, may be properly nich we move, or the country in which we live; mitted to change the corrupt heart, and to bring considered as national sins. Conspicuous among be received as a right, inherent to our particular mankind universally under the government of the these, is the exterminating policy long pursued to-ment of peace and plenty under a government dence and took their position among the nations of beings as chattels, with no more legal rights than at respects the liberty of its citizens, and affords the earth, their population has increased with aston- the beasts which perish. Official corruption has ery one security in his private rights, and facili-ishing rapidity, and now numbers near thirty mil-hecome so glaring of latter years, and of such fress in the prosecution of all his reasonable engage-lions, being nearly ten times as great as it was sequent occurrence, that the public mind seems to nts and enjoyments, is a blessing of immense venty-five years ago. In addition to the natural have become so far vitiated by it as to be willing ue, to attain or perpetuate which, the christian linerease, which, owing to the healthfulness of the to uphold men in office whose infidelity to the trust ilosopher and philanthropist have striven in every climate and the facility with which the necessaries reposed in them cannot admit of a doubt, or whose descrive any hut which may be possessed so long of life are procured, has been large, tens of thoularge, tens of thoucomplicity with fraud is clearly demonstrable.

I so undisturbed, as to be overlooked as a divine sands of men and women, attracted by free instiLegislative enactments, involving the interests, peour or altogether undervalued. We fear that this is too generally the case with crossed the broad Atlantic yearly, and spread large portions of the inhabitants, are not unfrepeople in these United States. The presence themselves over our widely extended domain; quently the product of bargain and sale, carried bringing with them whatever of wealth they pos on in various ways by those on whose behalf the the State or the United States, is hardly felt sessed, the habits and artistic skill, and too many official or legislative services are required. We of them, the vices and follies of the old world. eannot shut our eyes to the fact, that so gross and Our country has sent forth its invitation to all, of obvious has this profligacy become in the Federal, every land, who wished to leave their native homes, and some of the State governments, it has ceased to come and partake of the rights and privileges to call forth public indignation; indeed it hardly of her citizens, and repose in safety beneath the creates surprise. We merely refer to these things, broad ægis of her national power; and when we without wishing to dwell upon them; they are reflect upon the great diversity of the hundreds of causes for shame and fear; and have called forth thousands of people who have availed themselves of humiliation and grief in those who recognize in the the invitation; their discordance as to language, edu-cation, moral and religious principles, their modes of tions of their country, blessings dispensed from the acting and living, and their ideas respecting govern- Divine bounty, and reflected, that for all these things, ment; and that with all this heterogenious mass nations, like individuals are accountable, and are poured in among us, year after year, there has been liable to have them withheld, in punishment for no serious interruption to the peacefulness and well- their persisting transgression. being of either the Federal or the State governments; Again and again has the rod of correction been and that this tranquillity and law-abiding has been applied, though in unmerited mercy, we have been maintained without standing armies or sanguinary beaten as with few stripes. The pestilence has enpunishments, we are led, almost irresistibly, to the tered some of our cities, at different times and in engaged in them. In those States where the acknowledment, that the blessing and the control- widely separated sections of the country, and hurtern of slavery has been abandoned, the soil has ling power of the Dread of nations, and the Pre- ried thousands to the grave. The early or the server of men, have been eminently extended to latter rain has been withheld, in some districts, us as a people, and that we may unpresump- and the ground has refused to yield her increase; or is kinds have been opened, and their rich con-tiously believe it to have been his design, that these when the growth has been almost perfected, and to brought forth for the service of man; ample United States should display to the world the safety the husbandman has rejoiced in the prospect of his and happiness of a people, who lived according to teeming fields, storm, frost, rust, or armies of desprovided; the electric messengers traverse the the requisitions of the christian religion, and have troying insects have been sent to prostrate his hopes,

dear Son.

wards the aborigines of the country; and the sys-Since these United States declared their indepen- tem of slavery, which holds four millions of human utry in every direction; and prosperity has re- been brought into the peaceable kingdom of His and spread ruin and want, in places that had been boasted of as the granaries of the world. These self-exaltation, and to teach us our entire dependmiles ence upon Him who holds all that we enjoy in his almighty hand. He saw that in our prosperity, and our making haste to be rich, the people were forgetting him and his righteous law; were glorying in what their own hands could do, and practically disbelieving that He exercises control in the themselves, exist only by his good pleasure. But have we learned the lesson He has condescended to set before us? have the people broken "off their sins by righteousness, and their iniquities by showing mercy to the poor," that so there may be "a lengthening of their tranquillity." We 11,000 of the Bourbon troops were taken prisoners. fear not; and the signs of the times proclaim the continued displeasure of Him, who said of his favoured people of old, "if they break my statutes favoured people of old, "if they break my statutes tor Emmanuel had not yet entered the city. The vote and keep not my commandments, then will I visit in the kingdom of Naples was as follows:—for annexatheir transgressions with a rod, and their iniquities with stripes." Ten years ago, who would have believed that these United States would so soon throw down, and much damage done. It is thrown down, and much damage done. It is peneved that these United States would so soon thrown down, and much damage done. It is surmised see the permanency of their Union, and the stability that the French Emperor is wavering in his Italian policy, of their power iminently endangered? that the mad schemes, the wicked sophistry, and the fanatical cant of interested and unprincipled partizans, would Large have so stirred up the passions of the inhabitants of some States, as to precipitate them into secession, stopped. Great enthusiasm prevails in the Marches and and urge them to seek to break up and destroy the system of federative government, under which the whole country has advanced with such rapid strides to power, and witnessed such general prosperity in all its branches? This, however, is now the case; and three for Douglas. All the remaining free States and it is well for all of us to take such a view of are for Lincoln, making in the aggregate 180 votes, or our critical position, as will bring us to feel that, if 28 more than the requisite majority. our beloved country is to be rescued from this impending and tremendous evil, if, as a people, we are to be held together by the bonds of fraternity, ridge, Douglas and Bell, and retain our high position among the nations of Maine.—In this State, 93,070 votes were polled, of the earth, it will not be by the crocked policy or which Lincoln received 57,393, and 35,677 were divided the earth, it will not be by the crooked policy or cunning devices of noisy politicians whatever their creed or organization, nor yet by military or naval power, but by the renewed favor of our long suffer- 5873; Lincoln, 2294. ing Creator, who alone can restrain the wrath and self-destruction of man. His favour and merciful interposition are to be sought for and obtained by doing justly, loving mercy, walking humbly before is 1,347,000, being an increase of 346,742 in ten years. him, and by fervent prayer. No great good is to be expected, merely from the ascendency of this or that were 344 in number. The census returns, complete, exparty, nor can it be effected by wicked men in unsupported in the complete of the com party, nor can it be effected by wicked men in un-righteous ways. Great principles are at stake, and consequence of the revolutionary movements in the blessings of incalculable worth are in peril. It will not do for Government to fold the hands, and sit idle, while the work of destruction goes on; but no measures that exclude a recognition of our duty to God, sures that exclude a recognition of our duty to God, of deaths in this city, for the first half of the year, from and our obligation to obey his law, to do unto others | First month 1st to Sixth month 30th, inclusive, amountas we would have them do unto us, can produce per-manent settlement and peace. Every member of the community is personally interested, is found yealled are 89,978 dwelling-houses in Philadelphia, and 586,034 if she was admitted into rest, it would be through mer upon to use his and her influence, to turn back the inhabitants. There is strong reason for believing that and not of any merit of her own. Her sufferings can stream of corruption that is creeping over the land; the census has been very imperfectly taken, and that in to identify the political principles and actions of the same of the wards, especially, the number of residence is remarked to her, that many poor creatures would generate that that returned.

Georgia.—The financial condition of this State appears to be prosperous. The receipts into the State appears to be prosperous. The receipts into the State appears to be prosperous. The treasury, during the past year, were $1,433,330, and the time accribing it all to mercy. She patiently waited to ourselves, nor visit our sins with his righteous disburements, $1,179,110. The total amount of prosperous disputements. How are the members of the highly personal prosperous on the tax digest for the year, amounts that if her continuance here would be of any her travered society of Friends ($1,112,110. The $1,123,112,110. The $1,123,1 favoured society of Friends fulfilling their duty in these respects?

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

EUROPE .- News from Liverpool to the 7th inst. The Liverpool market for breadstuffs was dull, at a small decline in prices. Cotton also had declined $\frac{1}{6}d$. a $\frac{1}{4}d$. Consols, 93 a 93 $\frac{1}{6}$.

The telegraph cable to connect Singapore and Ran

In London, the demand for money was full, but there was no pressure. There is some doubt whether the bank will raise the rate of interest.

After the capture of the Taku forts by the allies, negotiations were opened with the Chinese. The latest despatches from Shanghai say, the negotiations were not progressing satisfactorily.

The harvest had been nausually late in the British government of the world, and that governments Islands. On the 1st instant, there was still wheat uncut is not the list instant, there was sain wheat during in both England and Ireland. The hay crop was abundant, but inferior in quality. The potato crop was deficient, and not equal in quality to the produce of other years. The season has been remarkably cool and wet.

The despatches from Italy report further successes of the Sardinian troops. In an engagement on the 3d inst., large body of the Neapolitan troops remaining outside of the forts at Gaeta, have sent proposals of surrender to the Sardinians. Garibaldi remained at Naples. Vic-

In France, there have been destructive inundations in several of the departments; many houses have been and may perhaps yet interpose in favour of the King of Large quantities of stores and war materials have arrived at Rome for the use of the French army. The enlistment of foreigners for the Papal army has been Umbrie, in favour of annexation.

UNITED STATES. - The Presidential Election .- Partial returns from Oregon and California show that those States have probably chosen Republican electors. The vote of New Jersey will be divided-four for Lincolu

Pennsylvania .- At the late election, 474,518 votes were polled, of which 268,518 were given for Lincoln; the remaining 206,000 votes were divided between Breckinamong the other candidates. Maryland .- In this State, 92,441 votes were given, viz: for Breckinridge, 42,497; Bell, 41,777; Douglas, Delaware.-The vote in Delaware was as follows Breckinridge, 7344; Bell, 3868; Lincoln, 3826; Douglas, 1069; total, 16,107.

Indiana.—The population, by the census of this year, New York .- The interments in this city last week amounting to a panic, and making it almost impossible to borrow money.

Philadelphia.—Mortality last week, 200. The number to $672,322,777, which, if divided among the entire white population of the State, would make an average of about $1200 for each individual. The Legislature has passed a bill appropriating one million of dollars for the purchase of arms and military equipments. Decline in the Price of Slaves .- At recent sales of slaves at auction, in Alabama, the prices brought were from 30 to 40 per cent. below the ruling rates of last winter.

Manumission of Slaves.—Daniel Sidener, of Fayette county, Ky., manumitted eight slaves in the Probate Court at Cincinnati, Ohio, on the 12th inst. Hayes' Expedition.—Dr. Wm. Longshaw, Jr., of Mass., lessons were doubtless intended to bring down our goon, was about to leave England. Its length is 1300 who went out in Dr. Hayes' expedition as surgeon, has arrived home, and reports the officers and crew all well He left the vessel, after her arrival at winter quarters When he left, she was frozen up, and would be compel led to remain there until next summer.

WEST-TOWN BOARDING SCHOOL.

A Stated Meeting of the committee, who have charg of the Boarding-School at West-town, will be hel-there on Fourth-day, the 5th of Twelfth month, at 1 o'clock, A. M.

The Committee on Admissions meet at 8 o'clock th same morning, and the Committee on Instruction, a half past 7 o'clock on the preceding evening.

The Visiting Committee attend at the School on Se venth-day, the 1st of the month. Eleventh mo. 22d, 1860. JOEL EVANS, Clerk.

FRIENDS' SCHOOL AT GERMANTOWN. Wanted at this Institution a Female Teacher, a mem ber of the Society of Friends, competent to give instruc tion in the usual branches of an English education. Apply to Sarah Ann Fell, Rebecca B. Cope, Beula S. Moaris, Germantown, Philadelphia, or to Amy Ai Bertson, at the school, adjoining Friends' Meeting-hous

WANTED.

A Female Friend to teach a family school.

Address, Joseph H. Satteathaite, Oxford Valley, Bucks Co., Pa.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend is wanted as Teacher of Reading in the Boy. department of this Institution. Apply to SAMUEL HILLES, Wilmington, Del. James Emlen, West Chester, Chester Co., Pa. Alfred Cope, Germantown, Pa. Sixth mo. 6th, 1860.

MARRIED, on the 15th inst., at Friends' Meeting-bous at Cropwell, N. Jersey, CLAYTON COOPER, of Camden, ELIZABTH E., daughter of Isaac Haines, deceased, DIED, on the 12th of Seventh month, at the residen of her son-in-law, Joshua L. Harmer, near Moorestow RUTH W., widow of the late Jacob R. Brown; an esteem member of Chester Monthly Meeting, New Jersey, in t fifty-fourth year of her age. As her close drew ne the calmness of her spirit bore evidence to those arou her; of the peaceful prospect that awaited her; and that state she very quietly passed away, we belie to join the just of all generations, in those mansions everlasting rest, whose walls are salvation, and who gates are praise.

—, at the residence of her son, John Vail, Belm county, Ohio, on the 28th of Ninth month last, Hann, relict of the late Benjamin Vail, in the eighty-seco year of her age. She was an esteemed elder and me ber of Plainfield Monthly and Particular Meeting. Thou long deprived of the privilege of mingling with friends, in consequence of indisposition, she neverthel manifested a lively interest in the welfare of socie She bore a lingering illness with remarkable patien evincing that her hope and trust were in the mercy God in Christ Jesus. She was deeply sensible of own insufficiency, and remarked to those about her, t many wearisome days, and restless nights. On it be remarked to her, that many poor creatures would g to survivors, she was willing to suffer, "if not, I lou go to everlasting rest." The constant direction of mind seemed to be towards the Source from whence our blessings proceed, so that it was a privilege to w by her; her last expression was, "I want living wat Those who mourn for her, have a lively hope that has been permitted to enter into the rest prepared the righteous, having, as we humbly trust, come to grave like a shock of corn fully ripe.

PILE & M'ELROY, PRINTERS,

Lodge street, opposite the Pennsylvania Bank.

HR RVD

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, TWELFTH MONTH 1, 1860.

NO. 13.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

rice Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by

JOHN RICHARDSON.

AT NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

Costage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three nths, if paid in advance, three and a quarter cents; any part of the United States, for three months, if d in advance, six and a-half cents.

> For "The Frieud." Henry Hull.

(Continued from page 90.)

Having passed through the necessary preparay baptisms to fit him for an instrument of good others, it was his concern to observe and practhe lesson conveyed by the divine declaration, Behold I lay in Zion for a foundation, a stone, a ed stone, a precious corner-stone, a sure foundan: he that believeth, shall not make haste." ndation, even Christ Jesus, and to be subject to swill, ordered and governed by Him in all things; patiently waited the divine command, and his t in the ministry of the gospel being acknowiged by the church, he was engaged to travel in exercise of it beyond the limits of his own arterly Meeting.

and these Friends, he remarks:

Scabrock, he says:

"I had to controvert an opinion that was spread-close of the meeting, I expressed my satisfaction all my fears were dissipated, and my mind became in having their company, and requested them to as quiet and resigned, as though I had been in my attend in the afternoon, and to invite their neigh-bours. We accordingly had a very large com-pany, many of whom, it was said, had never be-fore been at a Friends' meeting; and although the subjects of ministerial communication were doc- with a few others, newly convinced, keep up the trinal, there appeared no dissatisfaction, the meet-ing ending under a precious solemnity, an evidence the first of the African race I had taken by the of the love of the heavenly Father, vouchsafed to hand as a member of our Society.

Again, he remarks:

Richard Dame, where we sat nearly an hour in ing up with these words, 'It is a common saying, silence. The expectations of the people were that the world is full of fashion, and preaching and great, for word had gone abroad that a boy was praying have become very fashionable in our day; to preach, and I was sensible my friends were although it is not my intention to rank them with looking too much for my appearing, as very many the vain and foolish fashions of the world, yet there not of our Society were present. I was reminded is reason to fear, some enter upon these engageof the time when the host was encamped against ments, without a valid commission for so doing. Israel; and there seemed an anxiety in the minds I then proceeded to set forth the difference, beof some of my friends, comparable to what there tween those who were really called by Christ to was when David was about to engage the cham-pion of the Philistines, and Saul clothed him with never known either the preparation or the call. sove all things he was engaged to know his own his own armour. I felt as if this was put on me, Whatever the effect may be, I believe the opening nding to be upon this precious stone and sure but like David, I found it would not do. My spirit was in Divine wisdom, and the help dispensed to was mercifully brought into a hely calm, and I me, from heaven, for I had words given me to my was willing to be a spectacle to the people, and my humble admiration. mind at length became invested with a concern,

"Harmonious labour in the Lord's cause pro- with two young women, who had neither father nor the Lord, who is a place of sure defence, and as sed a love for each other, and the meeting ended in mother living. I was comforted in observing their the shadow of a mighty rock in a weary land, he isfactorily. Being the youngest amongst them, commendable appearance and conduct, and under-graciously supported me, and the language of mey was mostly silent, except at the public meeting isotod they were very diligent in the attendance of spirit was, 'Good is thy will—if thou seest men. First-day, which was largely attended; and meetings, and in other respects were precious ex- that my labours should now terminate, theu know-Divine help afforded to the humble labourers, amples to youth who have had greater privileges. est what is best for me.' In a few hours my fever s known by me to my admiration. The meet- I love my young friends, but have been at times left me, and next day we rode to Falmouth, and was frequently spoken of afterward as a pre- grieved at seeing the raw and uncouth behaviour the following day being their Monthly Meeting, I us one, and all the praise was and is due to our of some, and the no less unseemly affectation of sat during the time of worship, but my fever com-From the Yearly Meeting they proceeded to visit gion were wanting. Oh! that the youth might be lings, at our kind friends John and Lydia Win-tuy of the constituent branches. Respecting one persuaded to fear the Lord, and thus escape the slow's. I was now compelled to relinquish travelsnares of death."

be, and the nature of true faith in Christ, were to be sick at. I, however, got to bed, pensive and fence in the testimonies I have had publicly to bear, arry set forth, and the people invited to submit lew in mind, and to add to my affliction, a violent being desireus to conduct myself as a servant of him in his spiritual appearance, so as not only gale of wind arose in a few minutes after all Christ, not seeking to embellish my ministry with believe in his outward coming, in the prepared blew off a part of the roof, while the rain dedy, in which he came to do his Father's will, but seended in torrents. My fever was very high, and my message to the people respectfully, they being o to know him, as the apostles and primitive bewers did, to be 'Units in them the hope of glory' meriful interposition of Him who, for the relief of my not of our Society being present, and feel- his poor disciples formerly, arese and rebuked the to see me while contined here. He had been very ing love to flow in my heart towards them, at the winds and the waves, saying, 'Peace-be still,'

"A meeting having been appointed for next day, feeble as I was, we attended it; and I felt the "We had a large meeting at the house of goodness of the holy Helper of his people; stand-

"At the close of the meeting I was scarcely able which produced a willingness to appear as David did, with the sling and the stone. Forever blessed the the name of Israel's Helper, he was with us, and the spirits of the Goliaths were measurably and the spirits of the Goliaths were measurably In the Sixth month, 1794, he set out on a visit humbled; and there seemed a union of heart Jeremiah Hacker and wife being about to leave New England, and attended the Yearly Meet- among the different professors, to offer up praises me, I was brought very low-many discourageat Nowort, where he met with John Simpson, and thanksgivings to the Lord Almighty, and to ments presenting, with the probability that I might miel Mifflin and Joshua Evans. Of this meet crave the continuance of his regard toward us. "On our way from thence to Berwick, we dined tender connexions. But, blessed be the name of others; while the graces and charms of true reli- ing on again, I was obliged to return to our ledgling, and was brought very low in body, but was After a favored meeting at Winthrop, he con-tenderly cared for by my host and hostess. Havthrough these parts, that atonement being made tracted a severe cold, followed by pains and fever ling at length recovered my strength, so as to be the sins of mankind, through the one great which rendered travelling difficult. He remarks: able, I attended Falmouth Meeting, where my impring, viz. the sufferings and death of Christ on "We, however, got to Green, and put up at a pressions were not of a very pleasant character. every intensity of the sum of the commendable zeal for spreading the principles of me, I found peace." Truth. His company was particularly agreeable As his health returned, he was diligent in at- But I believe a visitation of tender love is extende sires to proceed thither by the nearest route, and "We arrived at Newport previous to the open- of all our sure mercies would be graciously please way. Next day attended Sandwich meeting, nessed by the truly baptized members of Christ's ceeded on my way to attend the Quarterly Meet where many Gospel truths were declared in the church. hearing of the people. At the close, a Baptist "After the Yearly Meeting, we crossed to Conani-comfort and edification—Friends parting in mucminister cavilled at what I had said, and went into cut Island, where we had a good meeting; then to love and tenderness toward cach other, and drink to do the will of their heavenly Father.

rent thankfulness, for the favours vouchsafed to to assist them." me through the journey; and that Infinite Good-ness had been mindful of my beloved wife and a preacher among those who had separated from a compliance therewith; yet too often they are children, during my absence, so that I found them I friends in Philadelphia, known by the name of driven off from the Society, and the appearance of in health, and my desires were, that I might enfree Quakers. He had taken a voyage into these friends quite lost among some; my heart wa deavour to live worthy of such favours. After my parts for the purpose of discouraging Timoth moved with pity toward them, and I thought I wa return, I was reduced very low by sickness; but Davis from returning back to the Society of made willing to pay them another visit." was favoured to feel the answer of well done good Friends. Timothy was once a favoured minister and faithful servant, as respected my labours; but in the Society, but had separated from it, and I saw that I had been too anxious to return home, drawn many away with him; but being made senand that it would have been better for me not to sible of his error, he had offered an acknowledg- thou want charity to thy neighbour; for wher kind in accompanying me through the wilderness than from wilful disobedience, upon resigning my-away, are still exposed to trouble, particularly the journey in the eastern part of Maine, evincing a self to return and finish what might be required of dear youth, who are left to wander in the wilder to me, a young traveller, and his conversation on tending his own meetings, and in the spring of to them from on high, and in the meeting we ha religious subjects instructive."

1795, feeling it required of him to finish his reli-there, a good degree of its precious influence was "In consequence of my late sickness, travelling gious engagements in New England, he prepared lest, and strength given me to testify against the was very difficult for me; but we found good ac- to obey the call. "The prospect of the undersomeometers at Sandwick, where we were kindly taking," says he, "together with the reluctance I and they were invited to the heavelly Father received. One Friend, at whose house we were, felt at leaving my precious family, at times almost house, where they might receive forgiveness and entertained us with a great deal of conversation overcame me; yet I dare not give up the attempt. plentiful supply of spiritual bread." about the disputes he had had with priests and My uncle, Paul Upton, concluded to accompany Again he writes: professors, and the victories he had obtained over me, and after an affecting parting with my dearest them in argument; which to me was very unpleased connexions in life, we rade to Salisbury, where I which was larger than usual, and the testimony cann, as I saw the man valued himself on his sug-slept sweetly all night, a favour I had not egjoyed posed abilities to foil his opponents; whilst he was for some time, which with the peaceful serentity that away from the sure foundation; while a stream cannot be sure foundation; while a stream cannot be sure foundation; while a stream cannot be sure foundation; which with the surface of the surfa unwilling to come under the government of the covered my mind as I rode along, was a confirma- consolation flowed to the mourners in Zion. Prince of peace. I left the company, and sought tion to me that my movement was in the counsel of retirement, looking toward home with strong de-leave the rest of the meetings which I had had in ing of the Yearly Meeting, in 1795, which we to remember my beloved family left behind, an prospect. But strong as these desires were the attended; and the sight of many dear Friends love of my beavenly Father was stronger, filling with whom I was acquainted, as ruly comforting being renewelly enabled, through holy help, t my heart, and turning it toward Gilmanton, to and reviving, and I was bowed under a sense of commit them and myself to the Lord's keepingwhich I gave up and concluded to proceed that the preciousness of that fellowship which is wit- I worshipped in reverence before him, and pro

a train of reasoning to prove water baptism an or- Westport, South Kingston, and Perry, and on the thought I had never before so fully enjoyed th dinance of Christ, demanding my assent to his following First-day visited the Indians who reside sweetness of christian brotherhood. positions, without giving me, or any other Friend, at Charlestown. Being directed to one of their "I thought much of returning directly home an opportunity to reply to him. I turned to the clders, to consult about holding the meeting, I told but could not feel quite easy to do so, althoug Friend who was to accompany me, and inquired him we were strangers, visiting our friends, and I my beloved family, and in an especial manner m the route we were to go; upon which the preacher thought I felt love enough for the Indians to induce little children, often occupied my mind. Viewin stopped. I then turned to him, and observed I me to come and have a meeting with them, and their helpless, dependent condition, and the man had no inclination to dispute with him, for two that if they were free to meet us, and sit down in dangers to which they were exposed, my feeling distance to ride that evening; and the other was, opportunity with them. He replied, he was very but after reviewing the motives who had a peculiar free and willing, but wished the meeting to be put in leaving them, my mind became calm; and con way of darkening counsel by words without true off until next day, that more general notice might templating the help I had hitherto experienced from knowledge; to dispute with whom, was to little or be given, as they were scattered in the woods, a the merciful Helper of his people, enabling me t no advantage; and I apprehended it would be the number of miles round. As there were meetings stand as an advocate for him and his Truth in the case now. I afterward understood, the man was of Friends coming on, which we wished to attend, assemblies of the people, and that at times he have case now. I already at all understood, the man was of Friends coming on, which we wished to attend, assembles or the people, and that at times he had of a contentious disposition. To be ready at all we could not wait; but I proposed that notice unfettered my mind from earth and earthly object times to give the sincere inquirers a reason for the should be given for a meeting at one o'clock, which hope that is in us, is necessary and proper; but it was done, and the love of the heavenly Shepherd with an eye of faith, in his majesty and purity, the is also a part of true wisdom, to guard against controversy with contentious persons.

"At Gillmann we had a cond weating means the control of t "At Gilmanton, we had a good meeting, many jects were brought before their view. Several of and goodness, when I know that he regards eve professors of different societies attending; where I them expressed their satisfaction, particularly their twas led to speak of the nature of a free gospel elder, who said he believed the Lord had sent us ministry, and to show that, although those who had to visit them, and hoped we would come again. with me whatsoever seemeth good unto theespent much time and money in obtaining an edu-After leaving them, I was led into a train of recution at colleges and academies, might plead that flections on the present and past situation of the
as an excuse for taking pay for preaching, yet such poor natives who inhabited this land before the children in some places I had visited, was presented only were true ministers, as had been taught in the Europeans came among them, when the seas, the to my view; their parents anxiously grasping after school of Christ, and been called by him. These irvers and the forests afforded them a plentiful the treasures of this world, for purposes of earthly were bound to obey the charge of their Divine supply of food; but now, by the encroachments of aggrandizement, while they neglected to train u Master, 'Freely ye have received, freely give;' the whites, they are mostly driven back, to inhabit their dear off-pring in the fear of the Lord, or t and it became unto them as their meat and their the distant and desolate wilds of America; and ink to do the will of their heavenly Father.

"From Gilmanton we proceeded toward home, straits and difficulties. Certainly we who inhabit as it is in Jesus, and brought up in great ignorance." on reaching which, my heart was bowed in reve their former ample possessions, are in duty bound and rusticity, and the parents having settled into have returned so soon,—but as my omission was ment, condemning his conduct, and was re-instated they are not both together, they are both want more from a fear of running where I was not sent, in membership. Many of those whom he led log.

ness of this world, as sheep having no shephere

"On First-day we were at Long Plain meeting

"Whilst in these parts, my spirit was poure forth in humble desires, that the everlasting Fathe ing at Portsmouth. This meeting was held to ou lifeless formality-though they may endeavour t

Flatter not thyself in thy faith towards God,

Lightning—Disarming a Thunder Cloud.

(Continued from page 91.) Although Franklin identified the flash from a over some new locality, there to let loose the unexunder-cloud as electricity, yet it was reserved to pended remnant of its wrath. ndrew Crosse to dissect the cloud itself. By a nost elaborate arrangement of metallic wires, he explore the mysteries which are locked up in the ucceeded in obtaining an insight into the tremen thunder-cloud, has yielded no practical result. The ous composition of a thunder-cloud, such as the science of protecting human life from lightning reheap and temporary apparatus of Franklin was mains precisely where Franklin left it. His single acompetent to afford, and such, indeed, as his mind discovery placed it, at a single bound, in the front ever contemplated. Frankliu resolved the grand rank of the definite arts, and we know no more now wroblem, while Crosse added the details. He than he taught us a century ago. His first lighttretched a vast net-work of wires across the tops ning-rod he put upon his own house, in Market f the trees composing a large forest, and so insu-street, Philadelphia. This rod descended to the ated them as to prevent a dispersion of the fluid, second story window, where it entered the cham-those wires were feelers thrust out to gather in ber of the philosopher. Here, being disconnected rom distant clouds and fogs a more terrific volume the distance of a few feet, the intervening space were attached to iron-wires running from post to f electricity than human temerity had ever ven- was occupied by a string of bells. At the approach ured to collect, so that it might be examined at his of a thunder-cloud the same disturbances were noeisure in the laboratory. This was a chamber with ticed and recorded, which A. Crosse has so claboun arched roof, filled with voltaic batteries, electric rately caused to be repeated. The bells were rung poles which supported it were non-conductors; it ars, galvanic piles, and other paraphernalia of the by the electricity as it passed in a silent stream was, therefore, the spot on which lightning would lectrician. Subtle streams of the mysterious fluid through the rod to the earth. It is curious to note towed in in silent but ccaseless currents, piling up how absolutely perfect in all its details this wonittle mineral fabrics, and fashioning the obedient derful discovery came from Franklin's mind. He side poles, and from this point the lightning flew tons into exquisite crystalizations. Here, too, has given in his own brief directions not only the over the whole net-work of wire, thence down the ts fiercest wrath might at any moment be develop- germ of his great invention, but a specification so strings, vines and poles to the earth, but shattering ad, for this net-work of wires poured its perilous minute and accurate that the advancing science of some seventy of the latter into splinters, tearing terretions into a large brass conductor fixed and an entire century has been unable to improve on it. many of the vines up by the roots, and utterly densulated on a table. When these accretions be. In his Poor Richard's Almanac for 1753, he pubstroying all the rest. The defect of this othercame dangerously great, a contrivance permitted lishes the following: him to turn off the current, and discharge it into the earth without entering the chamber. An ar- NING.—It has pleased God, in his goodness to man- but it furnished no discharging points. Had the rangement of balls enabled him to detect the small- kind, at length to discover to them the means of latter been present, the vices would have been est quantity of electricity in the atmosphere. These securing their habitations and other buildings from but little injured. If there had been no net-balls gave token of an approaching thunder-cloud, mischief by thunder and lightning. The method work of wire, the destruction would have been long before it made itself known to the multitude, is this: Provide a small iron rod (it may be made confined to the single pole on which the bolt had Spark following spark, and explosion succeeding of the rod-iron used by the nailers,) but of such a falleu. explosion, rapidly repeated, and increasing in en- length, that one end being three or four feet in the ergy as the commotion gathered force, enabled the moist ground, the other may be five or eight feet ought to be better understood in this country than adventurous observer to look into and dissect the above the highest part of the building. To the it is, seeing that it lies almost in a nut-shell. Lightcloud, and to listen to its language, in his chamber, upper end of the rod fasten about a foot of brass ning obeys one unvarying law—it uniformly follong before those outside could distinguish even its wire, the size of a common knitting-needle, sharp-low the best continuous conductor—but no conmuterings. As the margin of the approaching end to a fine point; the rod may be secured a pool one, unless it is cloud overhung the net-work of wires in the tree—the house by a few small staples. If the house tops, a spark was seen, a detonation heard, and or barn be long, there may be a rod and point at afforded by broken or otherwise defective rods. A these flashes and explosions were repeated at inter- each end, and a middling wire along the ridge from flash takes the rod, and follows it to where the vals. A pause ensued, and then the apparatus gave one to the other. A house thus furnished will not break exists, then finds its next best conductor forth another set of sparks and snappings, but dif- be damaged by lightning, it being attracted by the within the building, immediately opposite the spot fering from the first, which were negative, while points, and passing through the metal into the where it discovered the break, crashes through the these were positive. After a second pause a more ground without hurting anything. Vessels also wall perhaps where the family are sitting, and energetic display succeeded, but of negative electricity, to be succeeded by another display of positive in the in masts, with a wire from the foot of the by tortuous channels, the stove-pipe, the gas-pipe, tive. Then followed a more numerous and brill reaching down, round one of the shrouds, to the liant succession of flashes, announcing that another water, will not be hurt by lightning." zone of vapour was sweeping by, to be followed, These directions are correct in every particular mere traps to bring lightning into a house, instead after a brief interval, by a corresponding zone of but one-and that is, they seem to contemplate the of keeping it out. They are the most dangerous positive electricity. As the cloud drew nearer, the intervals of repose became shorter, and a stream of added that the number of points on which the numerous crudely written paragraphs are constantly living fire was seen to pour from one conductor to shock might fall, and the number of outlets through affoat of houses being damaged, though provided the other. When the centre of the cloud stood which it might be discharged into the earth, should with rods, yet it may be assumed as absolutely the other. When the centre of the cloud stood directly over the tree-tops, the effect was awful. The wires, plunging into the electric atmosphere which invariably precedes and surrounds a thunder-cloud, sucked out the lighting from its very offert, and simple as they are, they have been the means plus of receiving and discharging points. But, brief and simple as they are, they have been the means plus of receiving and discharging points. But, brief and simple as they are, they have been the means plus of receiving and discharging points. But, brief and simple as they are, they have been the means plus of receiving and discharging points. But, brief and simple as they are, they have been the means plus of protection developed by Franklin remains statt death being in every explosion to him who impradently approached too near. This terrific it is only when they have been violated and and sea, and sund, and all that is needed to secure perfect immunity from danger, is a strict adherence to what the lighting of the free sembletion of the forces embodied in the collude on. chibition of the forces embodied in the cloud continued for a longer or shorter period, according to the magnitude of the storm and the consequent school-house had been struck and nearly demolish integred examined, and if found defective, put in arrangements with the former half. Gradually the two points he recommended. Being supplied with section which goes into the ground, has not rusted languid flash and snap announced that the disturb- two outlets, and the rods connected by another rod ance had ceased, and that the storm was travelling across the ridge-pole, the discharge, intense as it was, would have been instantly broken up and distributed from one rod to the other, diluted as it were, over a great surface, and being thus divided into two streams, each having only half the destructive energy of the original, would have passed off harmlessly by two discharging points into the earth. Such a rod would not have cost the school committee more than $6, yet it is probable not more than one school-house, or church, in five thousand, is provided with this cheap and reliable protection. A striking illustration of this occurred at Cooperstown, in New York, in Seventh mo., 1859. A hop-yard, at that place, covering 31 acres of ground, had the vines supported on strings, which post. These wires were connected by other cross wires, forming a sort of metal lace-work overhead, but having no outlet to the earth. The wooden play the most riotous havoe. A thunder-cloud coming up it let fly a single bolt on one of the outwise excellent arrangement must be obvious-it "How to Secure Houses, &c., From Light- held up to the bolt a multitude of receiving points,

This dangerous but really successful effort to

The theory of a thunder-cloud and a conductor, and plastering. Defective rods of any kind are disturbance of the electrical equilibrium. As the ed by an explosion of extraordinary energy, and perfect order. The joints should be seen to be excited vapours rolled by, the explosions diminish-teacher and scholars knocked senseless on the floor, ed lose and tight, for continuity is indi-pensable to ed in number, and a series of twin cruptions alter. Such a rod as Franklin describes would have eds. If the winter's storm has bent that part nating with periods of repose, showed that the lat-fectually protected the building and its inmates. ter half of the cloud corresponded in its electrical The shock would have been received on one of the down and straightened. See, also, that the lower off, as is often the case; and this thorough examination should be made every year.

(To be concluded.)

I have just parted with my endeared niece, I cherish the hope that we have been favoured to encourage each other, in our desire to be submissive learners in the school of the Redeemer, and to possess an increase of that availing faith, which is the root of holiness in all its branches, working by love, to the purifying of the heart. I hope I do not presumptuously express my thoughts on this important subject, or on that of prayer. I have pondered it much, and this morning it has opened to my view, that to manifest by consistency of conduct, that we live in the spirit of prayer, may have an influence on those around us, which we are not conscious of, though our family and connexions may not see us on our knees, nor witness our supplications in secret, when the door being

With regard to thy last communication, I have thought that when manifested duties succeed each other, how unspeakably great is the mercy that gives the willing mind in the day of power! In this the subjugated heart has nothing to boast, but shut, we bow low at the feet of the Redcemer.

peace and salvation.

I am daily conscious of diminishing powers, but continue to wrestle for patience; and in unison with, or in answer to the prayers of my endeared and in the other tells his friend that though his relations, I experience the Comforter to be my help eyes and my shield. MARY CAPPER.

The Ear.

We know far less of the ear than of the eye. The eye is a single chamber open to the light, and we can see into it, and observe what happens there. But the ear is many-chambered, and its winding tunnels, traversing the rock-like bones of the skull, Beethoven, the musician, who in the prime of life are narrow, and hidden from us as the dungeons of had the misfortune to lose his hearing, and could there were two prisoners, and one of them was a castle are; like which, also, they are totally dark. Thus much, however, we know, that it is in the the senses which remained. Gloom, anguish, and to three months' imprisonment. It is a very reinnermost recesses of these unilluminated ivory vaults that the mind is made conscious of sound, years onward to the tomb. Into these gloomy cells, as into the bright chamber of the eye, the soul is ever passing and asking for constituted. Milton was a man of serenely cheernews from the world without; and ever and anon, ful, versatile temperament, and of unusual mental present mining, agricultural, and trading interests men listened in silence and darkuess to the utterance of oracles, reverberations echo along the of his blindness, be could gratify to the full his convicted at Haverfordwest for attempting to conresounding walls, and responses come to the waiting spirit, whilst the world lifts up its voice and speaks to the soul. The sound is that of a hushed voice, God. a low but clear whisper; for as it is but a dim shadow of the outer world we see, so it is but a table, and fitful in temper, and even before his deaffaint echo of the outer world we hear.

counterpart of the human voice; and it is a sorer thus no other outlet for his genius; and his religious sights on which they gaze.

Those who are born, or early become deaf, are far more isolated all their lives from their hearing may be fitly regarded as furnishing characteristic God or the world; but stay till the man comes to a neighbours, than the blind are from those who see. examples of the relative severity of blindness and parting road; God calls him this way, and the The blind, as a class, are lively and cheerful; the deafcass, when they beful those who once saw and deaf are shy and melancholy, often morose and heard. We should every one of us, I suppose, master, he follows religion, and lets the world go;

sympathy the deaf are almost totally cut off; his a matter of universal experience, that we can whilst the blind, excused from many duties which more easily and vividly recall and conceive sigh the seeing only can discharge, are peculiarly free than we can recall and conceive sounds. It cos to indulge in gossip with their more favoured neigh- us no effort to summon before us, even though de Letter from Mary Capper, in her Bighty-fifth Fear. bours, and can largely exchange opinions with titute of the painter's gifts, endless landscape them. Moreover, the blind can scarcely fail to find cities or processions, and faces innumerable; be their own tastes suited in some portion of the talk even rarely endowed musicians can mentally repr of their neighbours, and may thus gratify their duce few, comparatively, of the melodies or ha inclinations to a considerable extent; whilst the monies they know, if debarred from uttering the deaf, unless they have a great aptitude for such vocally, or through some instrument-Dr. Wilson occupations as employ the eye and the hand, are far more narrowed in their circle of studies, and much more solitary than the blind. No one has illustrated this so touchingly as Dr. Kitto in his striking book on the lost Senses, when referring to his never having heard the voices of his children : " If there be any one thing arising out of my condition which more than another fills my heart with grief, it is this; it is to see their blessed lips in motion, and to hear them not; and to witness others moved to smiles and kisses by the sweet peculiarities of infantile speech which are incommunicable to me and which pass by me like the idle wind."

And a similar difference appears, though to a less extent, between those who have lost sight, and those who have lost hearing, after having enjoyed them. Milton, in one of the noblest passages of the Paradise lost, bewails his blindness; but in a may persevere in lowly obedience, whether secret passage stil nobler, he rejoices at what is left to conflict be the alloted portion, or a chastened joy or recall those two sonnets unsurpassaed in our marthenshire assizes in Wales, Baron Bramwell, in language, in the one of which he answers the ques- addressing the grand jury said: tion he has raised:

"Does God exact day-lahour, light denied?"

"Their seeing have forgot: Nor to their idle orbs doth sight appear Of sun, or moon, or star, throughout the year,-Or man or woman; yet I argue not Against heaven's hand or will, nor bate a jot Of heart or hope; but still bear up and steer Right onward.

find almost no alleviation of his misery in gratifying often the blackest despair, darkened all his later markable circumstance, that the three western coun-culture, so that he had many things to fall back upon in the way of work and pleasure; and in spite entire population, and that is a woman who was passionate love of music, and sing his immortal ceal the birth of her child, the other prisoners being song; moreover, he was full of faith and trust in strangers."

Beethoven, on the other hand, was wayward, irriness came on, afflicted with gloom. Music was the Such, then, is the ear; and it is in some respects one and only art for which he cared, and in its solithem he belongs while they walk together; but let a more human organ than the eye, for it is the tary channel he poured forth all his soul. He had affliction to be cut off from listening to the tongues faith (I do not refer to his doctrinal belief, which is the dog's master. So, at times, will of our fellow-men, than it is to be blinded to the was that of the Church of Rome, but to his personal you and the world go hand in hand. While a trust in a Saviour) was not strong.

But conceding all this, those two mighty masters

MARY.

BY ALFRED TENNYSON.

Her eyes are homes of silent prayer Nor other thought her mind admits But-he was dead, and there he sits, And He that brought him back is there.

Then one deep love doth supersede All others, when her ardent gaze Roves from the living brother's face, And rests upon the life indeed. All subtle thought, all curious fears.

Borne down by gladuess so complete, She bows, she bathes the Saviour's feet With eastly spikenard and with tears. Thrice blest whose lives are faithful prayers,

Whose loves in higher love endure; What souls possess themselves so pure, Or is there blessedness like theirs?

"I have really no materials whatever for mak ing a charge to you. I may say of this count what has been said of a country, 'Happy is tha country which has no history;' and I may now say happy is that country which has no materials fo a charge to its grand jury. The clerk of assize tells me that it is an unprecedented state of thing: -that it has never been before known, that the county of Carmarthen has not had a single prisoner, nor a single cause for trial at the assizes. In Cardiganshire there were two prisoners committed Contrast with Milton an equally great genius, for two offences, and they were strangers to that ethoven, the musician, who in the prime of life county and to South Wales. In Peubrokeshire acquitted, and the other convicted and sentenced ties of South Wales, comprising an extensive district, No doubt, as men, they were very differently with a large population, varying in their habits and -have furnished only one criminal out of the

No man can Serve two Masters .- " When you see a dog following two men," says Ralph Erskine, in one of his sermons, " you know not to which of and the other another way, then you will know, man may have the world and a religious profession, too, we cannot tell which is the man's master, usariate say and menancony, other moreos and please. The should every one of us, suppose, master, he notices the suspicious; and naturally so, for our interest in prefer the lot of Milton to that of Beethoven, and but if the world be his master, then he follows the each other far exceeds, and ought to exceed, our find it more easy to console a blind painter than world and the lusts thereof, and lets God, and coninterest in the world, and from all this human a deaf musician. I speak thus because I presume science, and religion go."

For "The Friend."

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES Ministers and Elders and other concerned members of the Yearly Meeting of Philadelphia. (Continued from page 85.)

JOSHUA BROWN.

ld, and yet that a mere faith in him, which pro- nesses of the baptizing power of Christ, which fenders, than from the argument of its opposers.

duced no good works in the believer, was not suffi- would thoroughly cleanse them from all dead works, cient for salvation. On the 6th, in company with and prepare them for his kingdom; warning them Joseph Potter, he set off down the coast, lodging against depending upon any outward ceremonics, that night at Tom's River. On the night of the or baptisms in water. That night he went to 7th they lodged at the house of Samuel Andrews, James Cooper's, and on the 22d he attended a attending the week-day meeting at Little Egg meeting at Woodbury Creek. Here he found him-Joshua Brown, after this journey, continued Harbour next day. Here his labour in the minisself led to open the fall of man, and the way tout home, diligently attending to his domestic try was to show the need there was of abiding whereby the state of primitive purity might be and religious daties, until towards the close of the lunder Divine direction in our daily walk, that we tained. He was led here also to caution his hearers ext year 1761, when, with the approbation of his might be enabled thereby to bring forth stones of not to depend for salvation on the righteousness of riends, he visited the meetings belonging to some memorial which would prove to the advantage of Christ being imputed to them, unless they had ex-t the Quarterly Meetings in Jersey. Leaving those amongst whom we had our conversation in perienced through the operation of his Holy Spirit, one the 22d of the Tenth month, he rode to the world. On the 9th, in company with must be heart cleansed from sin. After meeting, he amuel Levis's at Kennett, about thirty miles. He Belangee and Thomas Ridgway, he rode over and rode to Haddonfield, to the house of his kinsum 178, "The extremity of rain was such that night through about seven miles of Salt Marsh, crossed Ebenezer Brown, where he rested on the 23d. Ou nd ext day, that I did not move till the 24th." Little Egg Harbour River, and then rode to Japhet the 24th, after attending meeting at that place, he, he freshet in the Brandywine was so great that Leed's, at the upper part of the Great Egg Hare was detained several hours, but at last crossing bour settlement. Here, on the 10th, he held a Thomas Evans, a valuable minister of the gospel, be rode to Philadelphia by way of Chester, menting to the ferry-house on the Delaware, he found in the description of the description of Evesham, where they met with Grace Fisher, of young man intending to cross the river and go the Holy Lawgiver, and a non-conformity with the Philadelphia. With Grace Fisher in company, be tout ten miles beyond. Joshua joined with him, world and its ways, and incited his bearers to attended Chester Meeting, and then made the best ad although it was night by the time they reached labour that they might witness a being transformed of his way homeward. He says, "I rode on this to green they rode on "to a place called through a renewal of the mind. After meeting, journey six hundred miles, and was from home five lorestown, near Chester Meeting, and lodged at with the same companions, he rode to Gideon weeks and one day. I found my wife well, but in enjamin Heritage's." He had travelled forty-Scull's, at the lower end of Great Egg Harbour, trouble of mind, because one of our daughters had re miles that day. The next day John Cox, a On the 11th, it being the first day of the week, he gone out in her marriage in my absence. This rother of the young man who had accompanied had a satisfactory meeting there, which was gra- was cause of much trouble to us both. Yet I was im from Philadelphia, joined him, and they rode ciously owned by the Lord's good Spirit. Under notwithstanding, thankful to the Great Master, wards Shrewsbury, stopping for the night at a a precious feeling of that presence, in which is life, who had been with me and preserved me to return vern in Freehold. Leaving Freehold early in he felt bound to encourage those assembled to to my own habitation." ne morning of the 26th, he rode to Shrewsbury labour after a renewed hope of eternal life, and to the Quarterly Meeting of Ministers and Elders, set forth that the way to attain it was through selfie next day he attended the Quarterly Meeting denial, and a bearing faithfully the daily cross. rode through "Brunswick town" to Nathan wich, he was led to set forth the only way of cities than in the country. thon's house. The next day, Eleventh no. 1st, lattaining a peaceable possession in the Truth.

was again at Shrewsbury Meeting. In this Lodging with William Bradway, he next day attention of the state re, in which he set forth the great blessing en-ed through the coming of Christ in the flesh a meeting near by, in which he was concerned to I his propitiatory sacrifice for the sins of man- exhort those gathered to labour to be made wit-

(To be continued.)

Geography of Consumption.—Consumption orior Discipline, and on the 28th their closing meet. After the meeting, accompanied by Gideon Scull, ginates in latitudes—from the equator, where the g for worship. After meeting, leaving John Joseph Mape and Richard Dele, he was ferried mean temperature is eighty degrees, with slight filliams, with whom he had lodged at Shrewsbury, over the Great Egg Harbour River. That night variations, to the higher portion of the temperature re rode eight unlies to the house of Nathan Tilton, he lodged at the house of John Willets, and the zone, where the mean temperature is forty degrees, en the 20th, in company with Benjamin Shotwell, next day had a meeting at Cape May. Here he with sudden and violent changes. The opinion, a rode thirty miles to Benjamin's house. On the lad to encourage his hearers by showing that long entertained, that it is peculiar to cold and both be attended Woodbridge Meeting, wherein he Satan's power was limited, but the power of God humid climates, is founded on error. Far from this und it his place to recommend "an awful attender on God, and a seeking to him for wisdom" way the Lord operates to save the children of men, conclusion, that consumption is more prevalent in hat afternoon he had a meeting at Rahway, in convincing the understanding, wooing and inviting tropical than in temperate countries. Consumption hich he was led to set forth the christian's pro-them to come unto him, but not forcing any into is rare in the Arctic regions, in Siberia, Iceland, ess, and the difficulties attending it. He returned his service. After lodging at Isaac Townsend's, the Faroe Islands, the Orkneys, Shetlands, and Benjamin Shotwell's that evening, and in the the next morning he rode ten miles to a meeting Hebrides. And in confirmation of the opinion that orning had a meeting at Plainfield. At this at Millisent Townsend's, which was held to satis- it decreases with the decrease of temperature, it is eeting he was concerned to show how desirable it faction. After meeting, with Joseph Townsend he shown, from extensive data, that in Northern as for brethren to dwell together in love, as love started for Greenwich, and reached the house of Europe it is most prevalent at the level of the as the mark of discipleship. That night he spent Joseph Reeve late at night, having ridden nearly sea, and that it decreases with increase of elevation the house of Elijah Pound, and the next day lifty miles. On the 14th, in the meeting at Green- to a certain point. It is uniformly more fatal in ward attention to Him to know his will. He had which were to recommend those there, to wait for are sometimes our best friends, and tell us useful so to show the need there was of receiving imthe arising of life in an immediate, not instrumenttruths; and then we should amend our faults, and truths; and then we should amend our faults, and

truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and
truths; and then we should amend our faults, and truths; and then we should amend ou ligious opportunity in the family of Joseph War- Thomson's, at the glasshouse, at the head of Allo- such persons are to be considered as diseased in ll, and was constrained to show forth to his way Creek. Near by, on the 16th, he had a their minds, and ought to be prayed for. They are ildren the danger there was in pride, and to re- meeting, in which, after setting forth the goodness to be pitied; and I might as justly be angry with mmend a state of humility. On the 3d he was of God in sending his Son into the world to redeem men, who are diseased in their bodies." And it is Shrewsbury Monthly Meeting, in which his mind man out of the fall, he warned his hearers of the testified of Herman Boerhaave, a great and good s covered with sorrow, under a sense of the un-danger there was of depending on an imputative man, that "he never regarded calumny and dethfulness of many of those present. Their righteousness, without having witnessed a purificatraction; nor ever thought it necessary to confute ertine spirits caused a feeling of death and transpirits caused as feeling of death and transpirits caused as feeling of death and transpirits caused as feeling of death and the first state of the state of the feeling of the Holy Ghost. Going do not blow them, will go out of themselves. The bouse of his old friend, John Williams, on the onto Salem, he attended the Quarterly Mergis surest remedy against scandal is, to live it down, he rode with Thomas Tilton, jr., to his father's there, which held three days. On the 20th, he by perseverance in well-doing; and by praying to use, at Squan. On the 5th he had a meeting had a meeting at Pilesgrove, after which he rode God, that he would cure the distempered minds of Truth often suffers more from the heat of its de-

Life in Switzerland.

who live in the country. Especially is this the amazement. case in the weaving of silk. All those beautiful These are light and tasteful labour.

First, you must see the weavers, who wear a of the Alps. white linen cap, ornamented with glass-beads on both sides, and tied under the chin with a velvet ribbon. A short, blue jacket, with light blue bodice, on which appears the letter V, wrought, or and heing sensible of the miserable condition of formed with coloured velvet ribbon. What the formed with coloured velvet ribbon.

The house is of two stories, built first of timbers, and then a wall of coarse bricks or stones, covered with plaster. On the first floor are a sitting-room, two small rooms, and a kitchen. These are finished with panels, painted light green, looking beautifully the afflictions of Joseph;" and when the gracious gray old temples, and sent out to all the tribe store of potter's work, veneered and painted, and ple," &c., they are evidently asleep in a spiritual cannot be supplied fast enough, though a Bible wrought into three walls, so as to spread its genial sense. Yet I remember that there are many un-These stoves are everywhere at the North, and the holy sight; whose tents are goodly; whose in all ages. It went with the Jews into Palestin dwelling-places are beautiful; whose fortification it invaded Greece Rome and all the State of the and day, but require much wood, and in the mild is the fear of the Lord; whose language is, "Walk weather of spring or autumn not very economical, about Zion, and go round about her; tell the towunless permitted to remain cold, which is often the

Under the windows are long wooden benches, and before these the table, set around with wooden chairs. The unfailing chest, with its various compartments, is near, and on it a tin pail and copper wash-basin; a book-shelf is suspended over, and midst of her; and I often feel grateful in being a of tyrants. It was devoutly recognized as a bo on a nail at its side a towel and a brush. On a member of this society.—Sarah Lynes Grubbs. little table in the corner is the folio family Bible, and upon two nails over the door rests the family gun, polished to brightness. The next article is a curious relie of the olden times, and here we are reflections on the preservation of the Bible, and its and bleeding soldiers of liberty, Congress in 17 able to state exactly what marked the times as old. influence on the history of man. Here before me appointed a committee to confer with a printer, wi When they use this term, they mean the age of lies an unpretending little book. What a volume the view of striking off thirty thousand Bibles at oatmeal pudding made so thick that the spoon of thought does it suggest! It is by many centuries expense of the Congress; but it being difficult would stand upright in the centre. These are the the oldest book in the world. More than three obtain paper and type, the committee of commet days their grandmothers still remember, and the thousand years ago the first word of it was written were ordered to import twenty thousand from H great wooden spoon hangs by a string to the wall, in the deserts of Arabia; more than seventeen land, Scotland, and elsewhere. They gave as as does also the bread knife, with the initials of hundred, the last word was written on the rocky reason, that its use is so universal, and its impothe heads of the household thereon, and the date isle of Patmos: It has been read by more people ance so great. of their marriage. It is a curious article on which than all other books in the world put together. to preserve the record of so important an event; More of it is remembered by menthan all the books tend to printing an edition of the Bible in Philad but being the one they would oftenest have to use, that were ever written. It treats of questions of phia, and voted that they highly approved the pit is not, on the whole, so inappropriate. A slate, the highest moment to all men, and proposes to and laudable undertaking as subservient to the state of the proposes to and laudable undertaking as subservient to the proposes. an almanac, a looking-glass, and a pair of scales, reveal that for which the wisest of all ages have interests of religion, and recommended this edition occupy their wonted posts, and in acordance with sought in vain—the secret of true happiness. These of the Bible to the people of the United States. occupy their wonted posts, and in accordance with sought want—the secretor of the properties. These which reported these bills we cradle, and standing stool. Under the stove are as those traced by the finger of God on the tablets such men as General Livingston of New York, the unoccupied shoes and playthings, and in the of stone amid the thunders and lightnings of Mount.

H. Lee of Virginia, Roger Sherman of Connectic forest clock.

Near the window is the loom. Does it seem marvellous how one of those beautiful and delicate changes of three thousand years. It has seen tissues of green, or gold, or purple, can come forth Nineveh, Babylon, Memphis, Thebes, Tyre, Sidon, of freedom. When these children, who enjoy from the midst of such a medley without spot or Carthage, Rome, Athens, and a thousand other fruits of their labors, shall case to cherish it blemish? We can only answer, that we wonder cities, rise, flourish, and fall. It has lived amid wars all the same, though everything is remarkably neat. the most bloody, amid desolations the most commoment will the nation begin its downward ma The loom is like any others, except that it is more plete, amid tyranny the most grinding, amid dark- to ruin. - Selected. delicate in its construction. The reed, through the state of the warp is drawn, is fine as gossamer, and degrading, amid dotstry the most repulsive, amid A zealous soul, without meekn the shattle for the filling might answer for a fairy. Its absolutes the most heaven-daring; and has been in a storm, in danger of wrecks.

The web goes underneath, and winds on a beam against all these, the great witness of God. The The taste and skill of the Zurichers in the me- like any other web, of tow or of more plebian pre- book has outlived all the efforts made to shake the chanic arts is not less decided, and the hum of in-tensions. The threads break and fingers which faith of man in its revelations, and to banish it fro dustry is heard literally in all her borders. The are not at all fairy-like tie them together with marmanufactures are not crowded into one corner of a vellous celerity, and we watch the cheeks and stripes of others, fiercely attacked it in the first ages of the great city, but occupy the leisure hours of those or figures form, with never-ceasing interest and Church; but it still lived; Hume, Hobbes, Voltain fabrics, which now equal those of any part of the free and industrious people, who may be said to lack its enemies sleep in dishonoured graves. world, are produced in the cottages scattered over nothing that is absolutely necessary to comfort and hill and dale, and by those who perhaps work in happiness. There is none of the abject poverty been laid upon the throne of the monarch as h the field in summer and weave silk in the winter, which is seen in exclusively manufacturing dis safest guide-book in the administration of justic or devote the leisure hours of every season to this tricts, and none of the luxury attendant upon sud- It has been exalted by the priest in the cathedra denly acquired and immense fortunes.—Cottages amid solemn chants and penitential confessions formed with coloured velvet ribbon. What the and reason who, nevertheless, are for its guiding principles of truth; by the dynalic signifies we do not know, and they do not making beds for themselves, and stretching upon for its password into "the heavenly places." couches; yea, as to the spirit of this world, are taking in large draughts, like drinking wine in bowls; babbling tongues. In more than two hundred la even that wine which mystery Babylon presents in her golden cup: but these are not "grieved for It has long been unchained from the high altars The most conspicuous object is the great call is going forth, "Come out of Babylon, my peoder our name, whose spirits are very different in ers thereof. Mark ye well her bulwarks; consi-base of all revolutions that have pushed forwa der her palaces," &c.; and I have no doubt but the human race. It was so in Germany, Englace this Zion of God, this true church, will call a nation that she knew not, and nations that knew not her shall yet run unto her, because of the Lord her might enjoy the blessings of Bible truth and Bit God, and because of the Holy One of Israel in the teachings, unmolested and unoppressed by the la

The Bible.

most honourable positions pictures from the Bible, Sinai. The language in which the New Testament Elias Boudinot, and James Madison. Some Swiss history, and the never-to-be-forgotten Black was written is the same in which Solon, Plato, and these signed the Declaration of Independence, a

Paine, and many others of the rabble rout of in These are the homes, and the happy homes, of delity, in modern times; but it still lives, whi

This book has laid hold of all classes. It h sin. It has been sought by the world-sick for i healing balm; by the hermit in his cell for i Lately my spirit hath been pretty much in secret mourning and lamentation, feeling my own frailty, deere for its promise of a "home in heaven;" let home in heaven;" the guilty for its assurance of pardon; by the livin

> This book has been given to the world in all guages and dialects it is read by a sinful rac nations, and people of all the world; and yet printed every minute in the day.

ancient world under the preaching of the first he alds of the truth. Its principles have been at t France, and Scotland, and in our own counts

The Pilgrims fled to American wilds that th especially needful for a people struggling for fre dom, by the fathers of our Republic. In the darks and stormiest hour of the Revolution, when mon Sitting alone in my study, I fell into a train of could hardly be found to pay the starving, nake

In 1780, Congress appointed a committee to Demosthenes wrote and spoke.

This book has survived the revolutions and stitution, and knew its true spirit. most of them were engaged in procuring the Co

A zealous soul, without meekness, is like a s

Selected. "The Spirit Helpeth our Infirmities."

ich Haller applied with singular success to the eases of the body, could not, as he experienced his own case, reach that dissatisfaction with the esent, and that apprehension of a future state, animated with the most comfortable promises. ur father who now addresses you, has had his ibts; he has sometimes been mistaken; and has dly come to his relief. The king of terrors ap-

Honours to a Philanthropist .- On St. Barthonew's Eve the French Academy held its annual eting publicly, to award prizes for literary merit increases, and pauperism is common as ever. l peculiarly virtuous deeds. Among the latter, first was proclaimed for M. John Bost-the s it to hear, from the lips of the Academician, commandment. eloquent words of the absent M. de Remusat, cribing the life and acts of "A young man, cended from a family formerly proscribed for cause of religion, who came to Paris to follow career of art. He appeared to care but for light pursuits of his age, when the sight of a saken child, in reminding him of our duties to weak and unfortunate, brought him to more rm pedler into an energetic, spirited school-could be found attending such meetings. ter; the reception of little idiots; the happy overy of the possibility of elevating their inconclusion :- "Such, gentlemen, are the bene- not large. at institutions agglomerated in the humble dis-addressed to all, that the Academy awards to M. salvation by the grace of God, through faith in a There are hours of mental depression in human John Bost a prize of 3000 francs." Other re- once crucified but now exalted Redeemer." , which can neither be prevented nor remedied, compenses were then awarded. None of the candi-

A Cure for Wandering Thoughts in Meeting. -So many wandering thoughts prevailed, that I seemed likely to get no benefit by my meetings. So, in fervency of spirit, I said in myself, What is the ich so frequently disturb the breasts of man- matter that I cannot be master over my own mind? d. But he found other aids, which proved a I saw I was altogether wrong, and wanted inward ention, and a joyful object of hope. His confi- spiritual warfare to be passed through, and that no nce in the goodness of God, refreshed his mind; stayedness of mind could be attained to, till the I so fortified it, that he contemplated, without inward enemies of the soul came to be destroyed. may, the king of terrors. Thus saith the bio- I now saw my business was, to get into inward repher of Baron Haller, a pious professor of me-tirement, hoping thereby I might get to be master ine, who himself testifies, in a letter to his daugh- over my own mind. Being thus closely engaged, , when viewing himself on the verge of the before the meeting broke up, I got to a sight of the possibility of obtaining what I was then deeply en-By the mercy of God, we are restored from gaged for, and this answered the end of my comlowest state of abasement and dejection. We ing to the meeting; and I could then have wished that it would hold longer .- Benj. Bangs, 1671.

Gold and its Results.- It is a question of phihed, in those moments, that the consequences of losophy, whether gold improves the relative condiwere not so grievous. He has not been exempt tion of man. It said that from 1851 to 1859. m falling; but the victorious grace of God has $500,000,000 in gold has been produced from the various mines throughout the world. Since the disaches me with hasty steps; but I behold his covery of the California gold mines, or rather since yances without dismay." 1848, when they began to be actively worked $1,000,000,000 in gold have been added to the public wealth. Notwithstanding this immense amount of constantly increasing wealth, vice still Zeal should be limited by discretion, error by t time a Protestant pastor has had his name truth, passion by reason, and divisions by charity; olled in the Academic list. Most interesting which is the bond of perfectness, and the end of the

THE FRIEND.

TWELFTH MONTH 1, 1860.

ous ideas, and revealed his vocation. M. John Friend," we find reference to an account taken from of the asylum of Bethesda. The first verses vited, and which he represents as being largely

ted. He, doubtless, has no need of recom-blessing upon the service—then engaging in prayer times, "All other worship, then, both praiss, e, and the love of man takes the name of with them—then waiting in silence at the throne prayers and preachings, which man sets about in the prayer should be a support that the same of the prayers and preachings, which man sets about in the prayer should be a support that the same of the prayers and preachings, which man sets about in the prayer should be a support that the same of the prayers and preachings, which man sets about in the prayer should be a support that the same of the prayer should be a support that the same of the prayer should be a support that the same of the prayer should be a support that the same of the prayer should be a support that the same of the prayer should be a support that the same of the prayer should be a support that the same of the prayer should be a support that the same of the prayer should be a support that the same of the prayer should be a support that the same of the prayer should be a support that the same of the prayer should be a support that the same of the prayer should be a support that the same of the prayer should be a support that the same of the prayer should be a support that the same should be It is therefore as a testimony of eminent dressing them, as I was enabled, upon the most he can both begin and end at his own pleasure, do esteem, and as an encouragement and exhortation solemn and important of all subjects, the way of

After some observations on the manner in which the most prosperous worldly circumstances, or dates are present on these occasions.—Late Puper, he speaks of Friends in this country, and "the greatest skill of man. The healing art, untouched field" they present for the labour of "one who clearly understood and proclaimed the gospel," and "who would be willing to conform to their customs in worship, while worshipping with them," the editors say, "In the absence, however, of any account from Friends themselves, as to the part they may have taken in this matter, it would ereign remedy to all his fears and depressions, strength to help me to get to a stayedness of mind be premature to throw out any censure upon them, e divine law was to him a delightful subject of upon God. I was made sensible that there was a We shall, therefore, be glad to learn, on good authority, that the part which they acted, in no degree, contravened the Society's testimony in regard to ministry and worship."

With H. G. Guinness we have no acquaintance, nor have we any disposition to sit in judgment upon him or his labours within his own Society; to his own master he must stand or fall: but in relation to the inconsistency and impropriety of the members of our religious Society attending his meetings, we think no true Friend can have a doubt. His own account of those meetings shows that in "conducting the services," he "conformed" to the "usages" of Friends, merely to please those of the members who gave him their company; not because he united with or approved them, and that the "service" consisted in his speaking and praying according to the matter, mode and time prescribed by himself.

At the time the meetings alluded to, were held in this city, the subject caused much concern and anxiety among Friends; it was mentioned in the Quarterly Meeting, and in nearly if not all the Monthly Meetings, the members being strongly advised to abstain from attending them, inasmuch as by so doing, they must necessarily "contraveue the Society's testimony in regard to ministry and worship." So that Friends of Philadelphia, as a body, are clear of having in any wise approved of or countenanced those or any similar meetings. It is to be regretted that any of our members should be so weak in the faith, as to have been caught by the shallow plea, that inasmuch as H. G. Guinness took no pay for preaching, they compromised no principle of Friends, by attending his meetings, as though the testimony of the Society referred only to "priest's wages." We should rejoice, if all those who hold the office of minister in other relit then resolved to embrace the ministry of the a series of letters published by H. G. Guinness, of gious Societies, had come to see the requisitions of pel, and, after the requisite studies, became the meetings held by him, while in Philadelphia, the gospel so clearly, as to give up pecuniary comtor at Laforce." Then follows the description professedly for the members of the Society of pensation therefor; it would certainly soon break be collecting of fauds, and the personal labour Friends; with some comments thereon by the down the present unrighteous system of clergy and his parishioners, to build a suitable house for editors of that journal, from which, we are not laity, and make it allowable for any in a congregated or forsaken girls; the enlarging of the surprised to find, they are at a loss to understand tion, who felt "called of God as was Aaron," to laity, and make it allowable for any in a congregales of charity; the transformation of a poor how members of the religious Society of Friends preach the gospel, as they were moved, without regard to man's ordination; but Friends' testimony is not only against priests' wages, but also against a mau-made ministry and will-worship, and rects, and developing their reason; the forma- to which Friends and Hicksites were specially in- mains the same that it was in the days of Barclay, who says, "Every true minister of the gospel John v. were read as an explanation of the attended. How many of those who "crowded" is ordained, prepared and supplied in the work of the came the description of Siloam, or these meetings, were members of our Society, we the ministry," by "the light or gift of God;" and askium for incomplete the control of the control asylum for incurable boys; and this remark- do not know, but we apprehend the number was "by the leading, moving and drawing hereof, ought every evangelist and christian pastor to be led and Of the meetings themselves, H. G. Guinness ordered in his labour and work of the gospel, both s of Laforce. Credible witnesses have re-says, according to the British Friend, "In the as to the place where, as to the persons to whom ed a deep impression of what they have seen, manner of conducting the services, I conformed and as to the time wherein he is to minister." And all are agreed to attribute this common work very much to the usages of "Friends," remaining so also as to worship. After speaking of the true ollective charity to the impulse of one man, silent for some time after we were all collected, worship being "by the stirring and secret inspiraalone still remains the soul of what he has and endeavouring to spend the time in seeking a tion of the Spirit of God" in the heart, he conprayers conceived extempore by the natural strength and faculty of the mind, they are all but Sardinia the possession of Lombardy. superstition, will-worship and abominable idolatry in the sight of God; which are now to be denied and rejected and separated from in this day of his spiritual arising: however it might have pleased [or may please] him-who winked at the time of ignorance with respect to the simplicity and integrity of some, and of his own innocent seed, which lay, as it were, buried in the hearts of men under that mass of superstition-to blow upon the dead and dry bones, and to raise some breathings of his own, and to answer them; and that until the day should more clearly dawn and break forth." We trust the day will never come, when the Society of Friends will lack members with christian firmness and magnanimity to maintain this noble testimony.

In relation to the remark of H. G. Guinness that "some of the Friends of Cincinnati invited praying for reform in the national representation. me to attend and address their meeting, which I did," we can give no information. If the fact was as stated, we can only say, it is a sad evidence, among many others, of the manner in which the testimony of Friends in regard to ministry and prayer, is set at naught, in some places, by those professiog with them.

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

EUROPE .- Liverpool dates to the 14th inst.

The Bank of England had raised the rate of discount to 5 per cent., in consequence of the withdrawal of £300,000 for the Bank of France, to be followed by £300,000 more. The Bank of France had advanced the rate to 41 per cent. Consols closed at 931 a 931 for money.

The Liverpool cotton market was quiet and nominally unchanged, though the quotations are barely maintained Breadstuffs were all lower and declining. Flour dull, at a decline of 6d.; red Western wheat, 11s. 6d. a 12s. 2d. per 100 pounds; Southern, 12s. 3d. a 12s. 10d.; white wheat, 12s. 6d. a 14s.

Advices from China state, that the settlement of the negotiations for peace had been delayed. The allied army was marching on Pekin, where a large force of Chinese was posted to defend the city. The progress of the allies was hindered by the desertion of the soldiers, and the difficulty of obtaining carriage. The Canton trade was obstructed by the rebels.

The monthly returns of the Bauk of France show a decline in specie of more than twenty-five millions of francs. The inquiry made by the Superior Council of Commerce, preparatory to fixing the duties on various articles of British industry, has come to a close. The evidence collected by the Superior Council, shows the great advance made by French manufacturers in the last twenty-five years, and demonstrates that France possesses immense industrial wealth, and finds markets for the sale of all the manufactures she is able to pro-

King Victor Emmanuel entered Naples on the 7th inst. He entered the city, in company with Garibaldi, amid the acclamations of an immense multitude of people; they proceeded to the cathedral, and afterwards to the palace. The King has formally accepted the sovereignty of Naples and Sicily, tendered him by a nearly unanion appearance and stein, teached man by a nearly datas-mons vote of the people. Garibaldi has resigned the dictatorship, and retired to his home in the island of Caprea. Francis II, Ex-king of Naples, still held pos-session of Gaeta, with 13,000 men, the remnant of his army. He rejected the proposal to evacuate the town, relying on the atrength of the fortress and the fidelity of histogen. The statement of the fortress are constitutions. his troops. The siege works before Gaeta were actively progressing, and, if the King does not capitulate, the place will soon be bombarded.

The number of royalists taken prisoners at Capua, was 10,500, and six generals; 290 brass guns, 20,000 mus-kets, and military stores of all kinds, fell into the hands of the Sardinians

The Emperor Napoleon, in a recent letter to the Emperor of Russia, is stated to have expressed his regret at recent events in Italy, which it was not in his power to prevent. As to the eventualities of the future, the Emperor said that if Sardinia were attacked, France would hold herself bound to defend her; but if, on the conhold herself bound to defend her; but if, on the con-trary, Sardinia should attack Austria, France would as-increase of 177,189 in ten years.

or leave undone as himself seeth meet, whether stain from taking part in the struggle, on the condition, they be a prescribed form, as a liturgy, &c., or might be the issue of the war, the Villafranca arrangement should be undisturbed-that is, France guarantees

> It is now stated, that the orders given to the French admiral to sink the Sardinian squadron, in the event of its attacking Gaeta, was not intended as a departure from the policy of non-intervention on the part of France, but was designed to protect the family of the King of Naples, and to leave open a door of escape from his dominions.

It is reported that the army of the Pope will be dissolved, and only a guard of 3000 men retained. The vote in Sicily, on annexation to Sardinia, was, yeas 432,054, nays 667.

According to documents issued by the War office in St. Petersburg, no new levy of men for the Russian army is to take place for three years. After the peace, the Emperor decided that no levy should take place until 1859, and now a new exemption for three years has been accorded.

The Order of Burgesses and the Order of Peasants in the Swedish Diet have adopted an address to the crown, address sets forth that the present representative system is incompatible with constitutional liberty, and with progress. The bills relative to liberty of conscience and of public worship, lately voted by the Diet, with the exception of the Order of the Clergy, have been sanctioned by the King.

The close of the session of the Swedish Chambers took place at Stockholm lately, with the usual ceremo-Among the measures which the King congratulated the Chambers on having adopted during the ses-which is to meet on the 17th proximo, will pass an ordinance to that effect, in accordance with the wishes of their constituents. There are probably many of the wiser and more reflecting of the citizens, who are averse wiser and more renecting of the curzens, who are averse to the measure, but a system of terrorism prevails, and for the time, excludes the consideration of all calmer counsels. In Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi, there is also a strong feeling in favour of secession, though the people of these States do not appear to be disposed to act with so much precipitation as those of South Carolina. The result of the late Presidential election, although the pretext, has probably little to do with this movement. Its causes may be found in the loss of the power and patronage, which have hitherto been held by power and patronage, which have hitherto been held by the South, with the probability that they will not be re-gained, and the belief which of late years has unhappily become prevalent in the cotton-growing States, that their wealth and prosperity would be greatly promoted by free trade with all the world, and the removal of legal obstacles to the introduction of slaves from Africa. In the more Northern slave States, Virginia, Kentucky, North Carolina, &c., a different feeling appears to be predominant, but as yet there has been little decided expression of opposition to the secessionists.

Financial Troubles .- At a time when business generally was prosperous and safe, and the condition of the country such as to call for gratitude to the Author of all good, the revolutionary proceedings in some of the slave States have destroyed confidence between the North and South, greatly interrupted trade, and produced no little embarrassment in monetary affairs. Last week the banks, in several of the slave States, suspended specie payments, and their example was followed by ed specie payments, and their example was followed those of Pennsylvania. The suspension is now general throughout the United States, except in New England and New York, where the banks, it is believed, will be able, as in former financial revulsions, to meet the demands upon them. The money pressure is not so severe as in 1857, and it is hoped the mercantile failures will not be so numcrous as that year.

New York .- At the late election in this State, 673,577 votes were polled, Lincoln receiving 361,210, and the other candidates, 312,367.

New Jersey.—The population of this State is now said to be 660,093; in 1850, it was 480,913. Mussuchusetts.—The number of inhabitants, by the late census, is 1,231,496; in 1850, it was 994,514.

Vermont.—The number of votes in Vermont was 44,-

703. Lincoln receiving 33,888, and 10,815 being divided fifth year of his age. among the other three caudidates.

Wisconsin .- The population of this State is said to 777,771. In 1850, it was 305,391.

Kentucky.—The vote in this State was as follows Bell, 66,016; Breckinridge, 52,826; Douglas, 25,64 Lincoln, 1,366; total, 145,349.

North Carolina.—The vote was as follows—Breck ridge, 48,539; Bell, 44,990; Douglas, 2,701; total, 9

Georgia.—The vote was as follows—Breckinrid 52,131; Bell, 43,050; Douglas, 11,613; total, 106,79 Philadelphia.—Mortality last week, 205.

Boston .- By the recent ceasus, the population is 17

902; in 1850, it was 160,508. Kansas .- Disturbances are reported to have age Armass—institutionates are reported to area of sproken out in this territory, a band of armed men hing, it is stated, organized to prevent the land asles to ing place in the approaching month. They are a charged with various outrages on those opposed to the Gen. Haruey has been ordered by the Wax department. to take effectual means to restore order.

Land Sales .- The amount received into the U. S. tre sury for lands sold during the year ending Sixth mon 30th last, was $1,814,000.

New York .- Mortality last week, 369. The Journal Commerce estimates the number of persons thrown of of employment in that city, since the election, at 25,0 a large portion of whom are young women. One clo ing establishment has discharged 1000 persons—a lestablishment nearly the same number; a manufactor of saddlery has reduced its force about 500, and curts ment is said to be very general.

The Markets.—The following were the quotations the 26th inst. New York—Sales of 93,000 bushels wheat, at $1.10 a $1.12 for Chicago spring; $1.22 $1.25 for red Western; $1.35 a $1.40 for white Mic lated the Chambers on having adopted during the session, was one for the perfect roleration of all religious scon, was one for the perfect roleration of all religious creeds.

UNITED STATES.—The Secssion Movement.—In South Carolina, the people are apparently united in the determination that the State shall go out of the Union, and mo doubt seems to be entertained that the Convention, contained the state shall go out of the Union, and mo doubt seems to be entertained that the Convention, contained the state shall go not of the Union, and mo doubt seems to be entertained that the Convention, contained the Convention of the Convention, contained the Convention of the Convention of the Convention, contained the Convention of the Convention whiskey, $15.50; hogs, $5.75 a $5.80.

RECEIPTS.

Received from J. Lewis and E. Lowens, per J. E., F $2 each, vol. 33; from H. Knowles, agt., N. Y., for Be Boss, Robt. Knowles, D. Naramore, David Peckham, a Daniel Peckham, $2 each, vol. 34; from Nathl. S. Be cock, R. I., $6, vols. 31, 32, and 33; from Ann Pus Pa., $2, to 13, vol. 35.

WEST-TOWN BOARDING SCHOOL.

A Stated Meeting of the committee, who have char of the Boarding-School at West-town, will be be there on Fourth-day, the 5th of Twelfth month, at o'clock, A. M.

The Committee on Admissions meet at 8 o'clock same morning, and the Committee on Instruction, half past 7 o'clock on the preceding evening. The Visiting Committee attend at the School on ! venth-day, the 1st of the month.

Eleventh mo. 22d, 1860. JOEL EVANS, Clerk

For the accommodation of the committee, there w be a conveyance at the Street Road Station on the ar val of the 7.40 A.M. and 2 o'clock, P.M. trains, on venth-day, the 1st, and Third-day, the 4th of Twel month. The cars leave Eighteenth and Market street

FRIENDS' SCHOOL AT GERMANTOWN.

Wanted at this Institution a Female Teacher, a me ber of the Society of Friends, competent to give instr tion in the usual branches of an English education. Apply to Sarah Ann Fell, Redecca B. Cope, Beul S. Monris, Germantown, Philadelphia, or to Amy nearron, at the school, adjoining Friends' Meeting-hou

WANTED.

A Female Friend to teach a family school. JOSEPH H. SATTERTHAITE, Address. Oxford Valley, Bucks Co., Ps

Dies, on Fifth-day evening, the 11th of Tenth mo last, at his residence in Upper Darby township, Doward county, Pa., Charles Garrett, in the sever

PILE & M'ELROY, PRINTERS, Lodge street, opposite the Pennsylvania Bank.

H' R H N)

RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, TWELFTH MONTH 8, 1860.

NO. 14.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

rice Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by JOHN RICHARDSON.

AT NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

Postage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three onths, if paid in advance, three and a-quarter cents; id in advance, six and a-half cents.

> For "The Friend." Henry Hull.

(Continued from page 98.) Respecting a meeting he had at Cumberland, he

After attending several meetings in the prosecuteresting account, viz: ints of doctrine, which did not accord with his commodated. n. I told him I admired that such sentiments advised us not to have any discourse with him.'

any part of the United States, for three mouths, if on which the Friend who was with me proposed ing was settled according to the order of Friends, appearing very serious. I informed him that we use ing at Ferrisburgh, which we reached in season, were strangers in the country, and wished to know "Here I met my brother-in-law, Stephen Keese, were strangers in the country, and wished to know which we found he was many convinced of Friends, Deborah Darby and Reprinciples. He had been a colonel in the militia, world.'

"Our dear Friends, Deborah Darby and Reprinciples. He had been a colonel in the militia, world.'
"I visited the settlements of Friends on the east."

teresting account, viz:

"I then proceeded up the Connecticut river to-many domestic comforts, he was enabled to surard Coos, in Vermont, and on the way lodged at render them all as a sacrifice on the Lord's altar, tavern, where was a pious young man, a travel- and press onward in the work assigned him. In who entered into conversation with me on re-the course of his travels, he lodged at Montpelier, road in the wilderness, the night being dark, and in Vermont, then containing only two or three the stars obscured by clouds. By the light of a that I held views respecting war, and on some small houses besides the inn, where they were activated by clouds. By the light of the stars obscured by clay's Apology was in the library;—querying of not members of our Society, who held a meeting, him, 'Didst thou never read it?' He replied, 'No. and he believed would be very glad to see us. If But, there is a man near where I live, who has be-thought upon the subject, and feeling my mind come erazy by reading it, so that our priest has strongly turned toward them, concluded to appoint a meeting in the house where they usually met "When we were about to part, I inquired of Our proposal was heard with gladness, and they him where this crazy man lived, and he told me exerted themselves to spread the notice in different we should pass through the town on our way to directions among the new settlers, so that about Coos. I took his name, and on the day following the middle of the day a large number assembled, called at the door of his house, and inquired, be-fore getting off our horses, if he were at home. A pleased to bless the opportunity. Several who were woman who came to the door, said he was not; present soon after joined the society, and a meetgoing on; but I said, I had rather stop and go which has continued ever since. Several came forth into the house, suspecting the woman did not speak in the ministry, and have been useful labourers in the truth. When we went in and sat down, the the good cause. Our stay with them was short, as man came from another room, and sat down by us, we had a prospect of attending the Monthly Meet-rites:

if he could inform us, where any of the people who, with several men and women Friends from
"I was led to contrast the different natures of called Quakers lived. He replied, that he had Peru, had crossed Lake Champlain in an open e lion and the lamb; showing, that when man is heard there were some of that people living twenty cance, to attend this Monthly Meeting, to which stuated by the meckness and geutleness of the or thirty miles to the northward, but had not now, they belong. We were rejoiced to see each other, spel, comparable to the disposition of the lamb, ledge of them, except from report—and the now, and mutually refreshed in the meeting, through the seondoct is very different from what it is, when ed, 'Are you of that people?' I answered that we kindness and condescension of our dear Lord, who, a conduct is very different from what it is, when ed, 'Are you of that people?' I answered that we kindness and conducted in mediate followers, elion-like spirit prevails. On our way from the were; on which he arose and took down Barclay's for the encouragement of his immediate followers, eeting, the Friend who accompanied us as guide Apology from a shelf, saying, 'Here is a book I and all who should believe in his Divine power in id, he was fearful the people would conclude he have read, and my mind has become satisfied with a dinformed me of the differences which existed the doctrines of the Quakers; but you are the first thered together in my name, there am I in the shall neighbourhood as I had so plainly struck of the people I ever saw.' their conduct. This with the peacefulness of "The aforesaid woman, who was his wife, now luded to his Divine power or nature, as the Immaind I enjoyed, after several days of inward conind I enjoyed, after several days of cetived no information respecting the state of the said that they had enough in the house, but we power he comforted the mourners, and bound up eeting, and the people were altogether strangers excused ourselves, not being willing to increase the the broken-hearted, as well as alleviated their outme, I ascribed the favour to the condescending poor man's difficulties. He seemed very cheerful, ward sufferings, in that day; and by the same livcodness and mercy of my holy Leader, whom I asking us many questions, and making remarks as ing baptizing power, the faithful in all after ages sired humbly to love and serve, both in heights he turned to different parts of the Apology, from have been comforted and saved; for, says he, 'Lo, d depths."

date and one being haid out for me, I staid his sons, in opposition to his advice, continued one entering and then went over to Grand datended it with them, and we afterwards had accomposed to the standard of the standard r mercies, that he would be pleased to strengthen he had persuaded the people to think this poor man canoe, about two o'clock, P. M., for Peru, on the who were engaged in his service; after which was in a state of mental aberration, not fit to be western side of the lake. The wind was light, but parted in near unity. May I ever conduct so discoursed with. After spending about an hour it soon increased and blew hard, which raised the to witness more and more this precious favour." with him much to my satisfaction, we proceeded." waves so high, that when our tottering bark de-Sustained and guided by the Spirit and power scended into the trough, we could not see the land. on of his religious concern, he gives the following of his divine Master, though often feeling keenly We however were favoured to reach the shore at Perry's landing before night; and being unable to hire carriage or horse to convey us, a part of our number set out to walk to the settlement of Friends.

"We found it extremely difficult to keep the cceded in making our way until we got within a "As we were about to mount our horses in the short distance of the settlement, when our torches ould be new to him, as he had informed me he morning," says he "the inn-keeper told me there were burnt out, and the inhabitants having gene-is educated at college, and I understood Bar-were a few friendly people in the neighbourhood, rally gone to bed, there was no light in any direction to guide our steps. While consulting what to do in this awkward situation, the noise of geese convinced us that we were near the habitations of men; and one of our company hallooing, we were grees of intensity, some heavily, some lightly. answered by a voice not far off, and by calling and Some sweep over the earth at greater altitude than affixed having been ascertained as mentioned above responding, we made our way through the wilder others. Those which hang low discharge their the next important question is as to the quantity ness to a house, where we were kindly received, contents, whether of water or electricity, with the iron to be used. A wire one-quarter inch this

"Next morning I wanked to Stephen Reeses 8, the conductors should be erected at toose points of imment part, with as many outlets into the ground and met with my beloved sister Ruth his wife, the building with which the cloud will first come as there are points in the air, the whole being co Although they had moved from a comfortable resistence, and in conformity with the custom of new der-cloud is surrounded by an electric atmosphere of alvanized wire is preferable to all others, as it settlers, lived in a log-house, yet they seemed to which precedes the cloud itself. This may be easily not liable to oxidation. The greater the quantity are provided by their home pleasantly. We were truly glad verified by placing the knuckle to the conductor as of iron, and the more numerous the outlets, it was easily able and after having a meeting at the cloud approaches. Seaths will from the provided the provided the provided the conductor as of iron, and the more numerous the outlets, it enjoy their home pleasantly. We were truly gind vertified by placing the kinekle to the conductor as of trob, and the more numerous the oddiets, it to see each other, and after having a meeting at the cloud approaches. Sparks will frequently be greater the safety. This is in accordance with the busse of John Keese, senior, we set out with a drawn from it, while the thunder yet rolls in the Franklin's directions, except that the quantity view of getting back to Grand Island, the same day, distance, showing the electrical haze has already iron is increased. A large building should be building, and that the rod is silently some hundreds of feet of rod, and any building the prospect, as the waves were running exceedingly conducting the fluid into the earth. The rod is whatever should have not less than two points a hierally performing its functions with the mere two outlets. There is a good reason for this approach the subject of the result of the profusion of iron. Explosions of electrical atmosphere, just as it would seek to do if following day returned to the island, and thence to assailed by an explosion from the cloud. But thou vary in intensity, some being very feeble, whi Ferrisburgh, having but one meeting on the way, sands of rods have been put up by pedlers in direct others are of awful power. No certain calculati greatly affected my mind, and on one occasion, being sated on a log in the woods, in a very pensive constantly committing this grievous error. It can every general constantly committing this grievous error. It can every general constantly committing this grievous error. It can every general content of the model is single outlet, an emodel I took out my almanac, and was looking not be too speedily and generally corrected. Some plosion on its point may occur, charged with over the time I had been absent from my family, five years ago a young woman was picking cherries prodigious a volume of electricity that the capacitatinking also how long it would be ere I saw them, in a tree which stood near her father's house, in of the rod is not great enough to carry it of when my mind was impressed with a belief, that I Warren county, New Jersey. A cloud was seen to Herein lies the great danger of an insufficient counts to at home on a certain day, which I mark-be approaching, though at a great distance. But with me, and I accordingly arrived there in sea-son, by which means I had the opportunity to see neighbourhood saw a flash traverse the air in an and do its deadly work. Innumerable cases whe ceed in the arduous journey; and have great cause struck, and destroyed the barn.

This presence of an electrical atmosphere has then, that the discharging power of a conduct Shepherd, to whom my heart was filled with sometimes exhibited the most remarkable phenomena. The great lightning storm of Sixth month, ing should be armed with points on all its proposed to the state of the company of my beloved wife and tender children, 1848, was especially productive of them. Cooper's nent projections, because no calculation can be ma for whose support I willingly entered into my business, although bereaved of a parent who had been a counsellor to me in my inexperienced days, that storm extended over a surface of 700 miles, points descending to moisture in the earth, a and in maturer years an encourager to dedication yet no place witnessed a more singular display of that the whole should be connected by wires in in the Lord's work."

(To be continued.)

What are Sponges ?- At the last sitting, M. Lecoq continued his remarks on sponges, comparing sooner laid his hand on the latter than he received surface, and passing it off by numerous outle the opinions of different naturalists regarding the a shock which prostrated him. A second workman The fluid concentrated in this shock had been partial or vegetable nature of those productions, repeated the attempt, and was in turn knocked viously distributed over the surface of an immet M. Lecoq himself sides with those who consider them down, while the third also received a seven-bock, body of clouds. How unreasonable it is to expe in the light of animals, although he still entertains A fireman attempted to stir the melted iron in the a single discharging point to pass off the volume great doubts as to the reality of the contractions furnace, but the instant his iron stirrer touched of electricity accumulated in so great a body which he thinks he has observed in their oscula, imthe fluid metal he received a violent shock. Other vapour. It is for these reasons that the cheap or mediately after water has been pressed out of them. similar facts occurred, showing that the whole at-As to the spongilla, or freshwater sponge, it putre- mosphere was charged with electricity to an extra- dangerous element into a building, instead of lea fies like animal substances when taken out of the ordinary extent, and that chains, bars, furnaces log it away.

water. The sea-sponge and spongilla he thinks and even the melted metal, were silently acting as It is a mistake, as well as a useless expense, closely allied to algae, and inclines to the opinion conductors between the cloud and the earth, giving put up glass insulators to prevent the lightning fre that while the sea-sponge prefers the warm waters out neither shock nor spark unless touched by the leaving the rod, and passing into the house. of tropical climates, the fresh-water sponge, on the unconscious workmen. The masses of metal which flash will quit a properly constructed rod, becan

Lightning-Disarming a Thunder Cloud. (Concluded from page 100.)

Thunder-clouds are charged with different de- itself. and sheltered from the rain, which soon began to greatest energy. All our thunder-storms, with few will effectually protect any building, providing fall.

Exceptions, come up from the north-west. Hence there be a point of stiff metal set up on every pr "Next morning I walked to Stephen Keese's, the conductors should be erected at those points of minent part, with as many outlets into the grounding in the conductors should be expected at those points of minent part, with as many outlets into the grounding in the conductors should be expected at those points of minent part, with as many outlets into the grounding in the conductors should be expected at those points of minent part, with as many outlets into the grounding in the conductors should be expected at those points of minent part, with as many outlets into the grounding in the conductors should be expected at those points of minent part, with as many outlets into the grounding in the conductors are conductors. From Ferrisburgh, I rode home, it being in the fall of 1795.

"Frequently in the course of my visit to these most sensor from the prominent can be made as to whether the coming shock we found that the fall of 1795.

"Frequently in the course of my visit to these most remote from the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the points of the building were in the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the points of the building were in the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the points of the building were in the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the points of the building were in the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the points of the building were in the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the points of the building were in the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the points of the building were in the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the points of the building were in the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the points of the building were in the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the points of the building were in the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the proper quarter. be light or heavy; hence it is prudent to gua the proper quarter. be light o the dear and tender connexions I had left there, as the proper end. Persons of the highest preten by a single rod without injury; but the dischar ed in the book. The belief that I must not let that it was surrounded and preceded by a highly excited limited, any excess of electricity will leave the co time pass over, without reaching home, continued clectrical atmosphere. There was no rain, as the ductor, fly off into the house in search of another my dear father, who was taken from us by death almost horizontal line, and shatter the tree in which such results have followed an excessive discharing two days after. My being at home at that the girl was seated, and she was killed. This was on a conductor having a single outlet to the early solemn time, was much to his satisfaction, as well an unusual occurrence, and yet a similar discharge are on record. Accounts are often published as my own, he being very desirous of seeing me has been seen to leave a cloud, and traverse a great injury to buildings, though protected by condu before I arrived. I cannot but believe, that the distance, until it reached a stream of rarefied air, tors; but careful examination into the facts of t day was pointed out to me by the same Divine sent up from a barn but recently filled with new case has invariably shown that though the conduct finger, that pointed out the way and time to pro- hay. It followed this stream as a choice conductor, was free from defect, its capacity was too small contrary, requires the cold water of lakes and rivers surrounded the 300 hands employed in the mill, lighting never avoids a good conducting medical temperate and northern latitudes.—Paris Galactions should be used to guard against the electronic staples are 6

trical atmosphere which invariably precedes an surrounds a thunder-cloud, as against the clou

The true position to which the rods should b yet no pince winessed a more sugginal deputy. That is mighty energies than Trenton. The lightning yeard directions across the roof, so that whicher struck the earth there repeatedly. A workman at point may happen to receive the shock, will be aid the rolling-mill attempted to lower the iron damper, by the entire network of metal, in instantly mich was connected with iron chains, but he no gating its intensity by distributing it over a lar ircly safe. An explosion will shatter glass ones as certainly destroy them. As few thunder-clouds oass over without discharging their watery conr platinum points, costing several dollars each. low, then there is nothing to fear; be contented if ninent part of the building bristle with points, and power .- N. York Tribune.

For "The Friend."

separation from Friends, S. Neale remarks:

to all persons in their different states, finding out enough regarded. the weak side, there he plants his battery, trying pride and high-mindedness? This cannot be from our Master."

sociation for the Advancement of Science, the also ready." them to ornament the gardens attached to their cot- ter.' tages by giving them plants and seeds; and in the and refined community .- Rural New Yorker, member their own words with sorrow.

our Late Friend, H. Williams.

"First mo. 17th, 1845.—A few lines in acknowgnorance of their worthlessness, or to enhance the fresh feeling and immediately given, so that life the root of life in himself, so that his movements profit on their wares. So, also, with respect to gold may be administered unto life. Keep little and are not superficial."

o supply them with an abundance of outlets to the society and out of it; which, while time and abi- and I should never forget the early impressions of earth, giving to the whole rod a discharging power lity lasts, we pursue and attend to. If our 'eye good; how clear did we see the things we ought to proportioned to, or even greater than its receiving be single, in the doing, it may be well; but forci- do, the path was plain and our convictions strong, bly are we struck with the uncertainty of our time great simplicity in all respects was laid on us;

write soon again. Glad to hear ---- had been witness against me." ugel of darkness.

write soon again. Glad to hear ——— had been down to inquire for him; it was a good omen; so safed, though under many weaknesses.

"We have nearly gotten through with the pre-

For "The Friend." been as sisters and daughters caring for me at nto fragments, and the sleet and ice of winter will Extracts from the Letters and Memorandums of every turn; so that I have need to mind I am net speiled.'

"Since writing the above, we have breakfasted ents, the glass insulators become wet, and while in ledgment of thy several letters of late, would be and at the close, a few verses were read (as usual) hat condition are as good conductors as the iron right. I have perceived from thy accounts, that by ----, at the head of a long table of solid staples. An immense amount of humbug has been best help, at times, has been near, sufficient for the Friends, (among whom I feel unworthy to be,) but propagated among the people by ignorant pedlers occasion. My heart was warmed with gratitude as the privilege has been given, not sought myself, engaged in selling rods, on the necessity of glass for the favour, and an engagement felt that thy I accept it gratefully. To return to the reading, usulators. They have introduced and sold them abiding might be low and humble, not reaching it has seemed so good each time. as indispensable to protection, either through entire after even a word which was not in due course of spiritual-minded man, one who strives to live near

"Fourth month, 1845. Thou has been so much These serve no other purpose but to prevent oxida- only a few words be given, more will be given if on my mind, dear —, latterly that I have thought ion. But the point of a lightning rod rarely or the great Giver sees it is best. He leads safely; it might be allowable to write unto thee. The commended for the wire, it will stand for centuries The Head of the church is sufficient for his own and provings close are at hand, we naturally re-"26th.—There seems a reutine of concerns in member each other. I am concerned that thou here, when those with whom we associate, are sud- now, never, never let us forget this; for we have dealy brought low and see their hold on time need to fear, the way the current is rolling, [lest] Extract from the Life of Samuel Neale. loosened. Our neighbour —— is very poorly we entirely lose or forget the dew of our youth.

In relating a visit made by him and William and low from the rupture of a blood-vessel; I feel There is something getting in, and in places [has] Brown, in 1752, to two persons who had joined in interested for him. Poor man! his late comfort- get into our Society, a good deal harder to detect a separation from Friends, S. Neale remarks:

able prospects are turned backward; low and and to see by careless observers, than the spirit "Satan, the accuser of the brethren, tries all weak as he is, he sent for —— to write his will; which eighteen years ago rent us; it is a nice, ways to disunite from the body, and cause a sepa- whether he will be able to direct it, is a doubt, casy spirit, very accommodating, full of profession ration. Repts and divisions are the strength of The good rule of making a will and settling out of love, has found an easier way for enquirers after is kingdom. And as his insinuations are adapted ward affairs while in health, is not generally truth; in short, as I heard a dear, aged father in the Truth express, 'It is a religion without the "Thy letter received this morning, gives an cross.' Thou knowest it, hast seen plenty of it, one temptation after another, sometimes as an angel account of the illness of our friend Thomas Kite, doubtless, to understand me well; now let us mind of light, and sometimes (as he really is) as an we feel much interested about him, I want thee to and be watching; sure I am, if I fall, this will

Yearly Meeting account of 1845-"22nd of and the query raised: Am I influenced by that we are watched over, cared for and brought along, the month, and 3d of the week. - Went through Spirit which governs by love, in the believers? Is by our great Caretaker, who willeth not the death at this sitting with the reading and consideration there no root of self-love or of self-sufficiency? Is of any, but that all should return, repent and live. of the answers to the queries. There was not as there no zeal kindled by the accuser of the bre- That this may be the case with all of as indivithere, that would introduce contention and discord, dually, who are in arrears, is my desire."

Meetings; yet there were lively and feeling re-"31st.—As regards ——, there was not a marks from several Friends. The neglect of relithat Spirit that baptizes into the one body, and giving up in early life in honest faithfulness, and gious meetings; the sensible want of true unity; makes us one in Christ. No-there would be in when people get old, they learn slowly; now as the placing of children out of society, and ot that bearing and forbearing, a forgetting and for the day is far spent, and the night is approaching, young women placing themselves in stores and giving; a persuading, and a travailing in soul to there is no time to waste. I want us, each one, to other situations, exposed to temptations which they be of one heart, and to love as brethren. This try to hold on, to look straight before us, with the were not able to bear; to evade and depart from will manifest whose disciples we are, and who is little 'faith' which may, in great mercy, be vouch- our testimonics in dress and address. This, dear J. C. opened in a sensible, feeling manner; saying "Dear Thomas Kite's escape from us seems to if such, who are obliged to seek a livelihood, would Influence of Harticulture.—Philanthropists are me to be one of those dispensations of inscrutible place themselves under the care of careful Friends beginning to appreciate the reformatory influence of wisdom, about which we have nothing to say; but either as instructors to the children, or assistants gardening. At a late meeting of the British As- the lesson it teaches we must remember, Be ye in family matters, they would not only be tenderly cared for, but be brought on their way in a Bishop of Ripon said, that the parish of Skipton, "Third mo. 19th.—I would refer to thy account religious sense. Many in her country were now in Yorkshire, England, was inhabited principally of —'s communication; glad it was in gospel heads of families, and as princesses in our Society, by a rude, unrefined, and to a considerable extent, authority; when our preaching is not in that, and who had filled such situations in early life. This immoral population, when - Boyd was appointed the elders and others who sit and listen, cannot exercise obtained a feeling in the meeting, which its rector. The first step he took towards their discover it, we are in a lapsed state as a Society. I hope may not be lost. In regard to living within amelioration and improvement was to lay out and I sincerely hope we may be preserved; some will the bounds of our circumstances; there was a good plant a beautiful flower-garden attached to the reclikely fall off, but, may not the body. I do feel sound remark made by one Friend, 'that by not tory, to which he gave free access to his parishioners strong desires for —'s preservation; I want her limiting our wants to needful things, our husbands at all times. He afterwards encouraged some of natural feelings may not rule in her, but her betand brothers had to keep trudging at the labouring oar to support us.'

"A lively communication from -, at the close course of a very few years, this rade population sent concerns of this place (west Town, I a deeply of last evening's sitting, addressed to some who had was, by the kindly influence of horticulture and interesting 'concern.' I have been comforted in ventured, though fearfully, to attend this large floriculture, transformed into a most orderly, gentle, finding a united labour for the right order and dis Yearly Meeting; hidden ones, she encouraged cipline of this large family through vigilance in them, reminding them of the poor widow whom They that speak or write without eare, often rethose immediately interested. I have as to health the prophet commanded to borrow of her neighember their own words with sorrow.

those immediately interested. I have as to health the prophet commanded to borrow of her neighember their own words with sorrow.

the Friends seem to know my frailty, and have it was like a little refreshing shower.

The Works on the Sucz Canal.

the extent of ground on which the head of the been lost, however; for, instead of concentrating isthmus, beyond the mound of El Guirs. canal has been dug, we should be very far from all the efforts of the workmen on the complete forming a correct idea of the operations necessary equipment of three or four of these apparatus, of Suez, whose ancient fertility has disappeared i to carry out the undertaking. It is not much, in they have been employed in riveting the twelve consequence of revolutions and wars which g deed, to dig a canal. The difficulty is to combine shells which are now ready to receive the new back to the remotest antiquity, and have deprive the means for excavating it so as to remain within motors, the estimates. These means once found, it is necessary to construct the materiel to transport it to commenced; the lake is filling with sweet water. hand for the alimentation of the numerous work the spot, to set up the machinery, and to prepare The twelve dredging-machines (or sand shovels) men engaged on the works we have just described beforehand for the subsistence of numerous work-men. This is what the directors in Paris have crustations at the moment the most propitious for been occupied with, while in Egypt they have been employing them. Beyond Lake Menzaleh rises a bolting-rooms, with a considerable supply of what completing the preparatory works described in M. kind of threshold or little mound, about four lengues bran, etc. It has also been necessary to set u Lessep's general report to the shareholders. These in length, which must be removed. It is a very apparatus for forcing the sweet water up to the preliminary works comprise, principally, a wooden delicate operation; not that it presents any diffisurance. This water had to be procured; and for jetty for the unloading of ships; a light-house, culty, but because it will be necessary to do it this purpose use has been made of a lake which it is purpose use has b work-shops, dwellings for the workmen, the com-pany's servants and the engineers, digging wells for giving pure water to the cattle, and for water-ing the ground; the laying down of rails and the in order to reach the bottom of the canal, which tus for drawing the water has been tried, and b he help the the product of the state of the stat construction of steam-cranes and other engines. has been provisionally dug at two metres and a means of this it is carried to the foot of the ex vicinity of the sea, which offers a ready mode of from the surface will be excavated by an ingenious the contractor is satisfied that he will accomplist vicinity of the sea, which offers a ready mode of from the surface will be excavated by an ingenious is the contractor is satisfied that he will accomplist transport, has been opened with the authority of and, we believe, new machine. It consists of a this portion of it by May of next year, the Vicercy. Useful galleries have been dug; rails sort of cross, of which the two arms form a sectority the stones from the foot of the road to the saw; one of these arms descends to the ground population. Three hundred Arabs are now employed in the ground products of the excavation party, where it is also have the commental with the work stone products of the excavation which the work stone products of the excavation. There are not less than five hundred thou-carries it to a considerable distance, where it is work, such as mounting the sand-shovels. Earn sand cubic metres of stone to be extracted from the empired. It then returns by means of the same lation is promoted among them by the distribution quarries of Mex. The excavation will be conducted movement of the see-saw to the point whence it of cards of different colours, which mark the de on a large scale as soon as the materies, now on its isstanted, and is again filled and goes through the gree of their antitude and zeal, and entitle them the on a large scale as soon as the material, now on its started, and is again filled and goes through the gree of their aptitude and zeal, and entitle them to way out, shall arrive. This material is composed same process. The use of this machine will enable of steam-cranes for lifting the stones from the tworkmen to remove the earth with an increase of wages. Each one strives to obtain of steam-cranes for lifting the stones from the tworkmen to remove the earth with a method the best card, and the humiliation they feel when quarry into the wagons, of other steam-cranes for promptitude as economy, to a distance of a hunquarry into the wagons, or other seame-tranes for promputate as economy, to a distance of a nun-led loading the ships, of eightly wagons and two hun-dred and fifty metres from the banks of the canal, them to the most determined and sustained efforts deed toos of rails. A veritable flotilla will be em- One hundred and twenty-five of these apparatus ployed in the transport of stones to Port Said, at will soon be in full play.

"The next five metres will be dug by means of workmen are exposed to bad treatment. It is quite this flotilla will carry not less than a million of tons an apparatus, which appears quite primitive, but the reverse. The works of this canal will greatly in the snage of fifteen ments. The express of which has not the less them, need with advantage application of these who take over the condition of the condition of the whole over the condition of t this notifies the control of the con

the Mediterranean side, twelve sand-shovels have row which descends—a traction which is the less progress and ultimate success." been mounted; others are on their voyage out. In difficult, as it operates naturally by the downward Such, we may add, are the order to estimate the services expected of these motion. order to estimate the services expected of these motions, machines, the nature of the ground must be taken into consideration. In disembarking on the all fifteen feet in depth of open cutting in the whole istshmus, on the Mediterranean side, there is a tongue of sand which is very narrow, and beyond of a piece of mechanism composed of several end-which extends the Lake Menzalch. This lake is less lines straps, superposed so as to carry the filled nearly by the waters of the sex which were superposed. which extends the hazar extends the search of the sea, which pass earth to the height of the brink of the cutting, we cannot speak positively as to their antiquity or over the tongue of sand, and partly by those of These endless straps are a series of goodets metalthe their novelty. Success to the Suez canal.—Late time of the overflowing of that ligures, (metallic cups.) into which the earth is Paper.

The water is very low at the ebb; and as thrown, and which, turning upon themselves by the it is exposed to the evaporation caused by the in- movement given to them, somewhat like the leather enastruction of steam-crauses and other engines.

"A quarry of stones has been tried at Gebel Genefie, but as the results of this trial are to be Four different apparatus have been adopted to effect or covered. The preparations completed, the open reserved chiefly for ulterior works, another quarry, this. Simple as they are, they have, nevertheless, ing of the canal from the Mediterment to Lak situated at Mex, to the west of Alexandria, in the required very serious study. The first four metres flow, or neap tide. During the heats of summer, tom of the cutting will only have to cast the e: This undertaking really is progressing, if we are it was scarcely practicable to use these sand-shovels cavated earth upon the endless cloth, for it to to credit the statement of a correspondent of the in this great morsh, transformed as it was into a carried and discharged at the upper extremity Courrier des Eduts Units, which, as it contains sort of sail-pit. The cauliforus would have been the slope, where the wagons will be ready to r some interesting particulars, we translate for the burnt, and rendered useless. Any how, the loss of ceive it and carry it further. Thus the cutting benefit of those who feel interested in the extension of the French empire in the East.

benefit of those who feel interested in the extension of the motors, would necessarily have retarded the so that the dredging-shovels, in their turn, ma "If we were to calculate the amount of the employment of the dredging-boats. Two have finish the piercing, and open the canal to the law works completed up to the present moment, from been tried, with small results. The time has not Timsah. This lake is situated in the middle of the

"This is not all. In a country like the Isthmi the country of its natural or artificial means of "At present the overflowing of the Nile has watering, it was indispensable to provide before to the estimate of the international commission, On this purey turns a rope, at each of the ends of page 1. Suce its the position of the works of the these expenses had been estimated at fourteen which a man and a wheelbarrow are made as Suce canal. The constant protection of the Vice frances the cubic metre. The exacation of the One of these wheel-barrows is filled at the foot of quarries of Mex will therefore save five and a half frances per metre.

"At Port Said, at the entrance to the canal on ascends, is facilitated by the traction of the bar-than ever assure to this great enterprise stead; the Mediturgness side tracks and which is the loss procures and whitenate property."

Such, we may add, are the glowing terms in which our French friend describes the undertak-

Humility is the forerunner of advancement and tense heat of the sun, it is saturated with salt. It straps of steam-engines, carry the stuff where it is honour; and ambition the harbinger of destruc'ecomes sweeter, on the other hand, at the over-intended to be thrown. The workmen at the botFor "The Friend."

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES

of the Yearly Meeting of Philadelphia. (Continued from page 101.)

JOSHUA BROWN.

leven children, eight of whom survived her.

fferings as would be acceptable to Him.

which was held in silence. On the 12th he was and measurably favoured with his presence, enat Rancocas Meeting, wherein he had service. That bling me to perform this visit." sternoon, in company with Elizabeth Smith, he ouse, where a meeting was held; and, returning o Burlington, he was, on the 14th, at a meeting here. In this meeting he was engaged to press be house of his friend and faithful fellow-labourer great industry, to this effect: "Ah! I have cona the gospel, Joseph White. On the 17th, the sumed much of my life, in laboriously doing noirst-day of the week, he was at the Falls Meetthing."

Positiveness is a certain evidence of a weak judgment, and obstinate persons usually regard neither truth in contradicting, nor benefit in disputing.

ing. In this meeting he pressed the necessity of a real cleansing from sin and the danger of trusting boyhood we read in the Bible about the men f Ministers and Elders and other concerned members for salvation to having the righteousness of Christ working in a vineyard for a penny a day, we reimputed to them, if they were not purged from the member that it seemed like very small wages in-impurity of sin. That night he lodged at the house deed. But let us see about this. In those days a of James Moon, and on the 18th, was at Middle- penny was about as large as fifteen of our cents. After his journey into Jersey, Joshua Brown town Meeting, in which he was constrained to ex- and as money was some ten times as valuable as smained for several years at home, diligently la-hort those present to an earnest labour that they now, the penny a day was as good as 150 of our ouring for the support of his family, and in ful-might be found worthy of attaining that rest, which cents, so that those men really got as good wages lling his domestic and religious duties there. On is the privilege of the children of God. Lodging as the best men now generally have in harvest time, ne 7th of the Eleventh month, 1763, he lost his with Samuel Keery, he, on the 19th, rode to a that is, a dollar and a half a day. So also when eloved wife, with whom he had lived about twenty-meeting at Makefield, wherein he was concerned that good Samaritan gave two pence to the land-even years in much harmony. They had had to be an example of silence, yet, before the close lord to take care of the man who fell among thieves, of the meeting, found a necessity of praying for you see it was equivalent to about $3, which would Having felt his mind drawn in gospel love to himself and those assembled with him. Lodging probably pay for his board two weeks in a counties friends throughout Bucks Quarterly Meeting, that night at Bernard Taylor's, he the next day try tavern, where board was very cheap. This and some parts of Jersey, and having the unity of was at a meeting at Wrightstown. In this meeting that the Samaritan was in addition to the raising Monthly Meeting with his concern, he left home ing, after showing that we were by nature children ment, the oil and wine, and to the promise to pay irst mo. 39, 1765, to perform the service. The of wrath, he urged the necessity of witnessing a lany thing more that the landlord night expend, as day he rode twelve miles to David Brown's, change of heart, through the powerful working of By the same reckoning, how much was that box to Nottingham, and the next thirty miles to the the gift and grace of God, mercifully afforded unto of "very costly" ointment worth, which Mary used ones of William Trimble. On the 31st he was all men. Going that night to Samuel Wilson's, upon the Saviour? When the disciples asked if t Darby Monthly Meeting, wherein he was led to he the next day had a meeting at Plumsted. Here-they should buy 200 penny-worth of bread, how upplicate the Almighty Father, that through his in he set forth the goodness of God in creating many loaves were they calculating for, at about 6 ower he would enable those who were then gath- man in a state of innocence, the sorrowful fall of cents a loaf-a large price in those days? Rered before him, to lean on Him alone for help and man, and the continuation of God's favour to him, member to reckon money worth ten times as much trength; and that he would furnish them such in opening for him a way of redemption through as now, and to call a penny-worth 15 cents .-Jesus Christ. That night he lodged with his aged Am. Ag. Lodging that night with that faithful minister of friend, Hugh Ely. The next day, the 22d, at a Phrist, William Horne, he rode the next morning, meeting at Buckingham, he was fed to show the econd mo. 1st, into Philadelphia, where his home necessity of following the Lord in all his requirings, consider how vain they are. Is it silver and gold? as with Joshua Emlen. He attended the Quar however foolish to man's wisdom they might ap- The dust of the earth! perishing treasures! rly Meeting of Ministers and Elders there on the pear. Lodging with Samuel Keery, he the next comforters in an hour of inward distress, of sickdo f the month, the Meetings for Worship on the morning rode to Bristol, and crossing over the ness or death! Is it beauty, and youth, and d, the Meeting for Discipline on the 4th agos a lelaware, attended the Quarterly Meeting of Min-tstrength? What withering flowers are all those I florwards the meeting appointed for negroes. issues, held at Barlington. It has what gay and dying vantiles, that are wasting ouring the course of these meetings he was at meeting he recommended true inward labour after hourly, and may be blasted with an east wind. Is imes strengthened to minister the gospel of life to a quiet, watchful state of mind, in which they it honour and tame among men? What an empty he people. On the 7th he crossed the Delaware might receive ability to judge themselves, and also thing is the breath of mortals! how subject to uto ite, and accompanied by his host Joshua a spacity to administer help to others. After at-change! How unjust and feeble a foundation! Is combin, rode to Haddonfield to their week-day tending the several sittings of the Quarterly Meet-ii high birth that makes you proud and scornful? secting. Here his concern led him closely to press ing, on the 25th he crossed the Delaware river This is the honour of your ancestors more than hose gathered to beware of covering themselves once more, and rode to the house of Samuel Keery, your own, and perhaps it was not raised at first with any covering which was not of the Lord's On the 26th he was at the Quarterly Meeting of upon virtue or true merit; then it is a worthless spirit. He likewise exhorted them to be willing Ministers and Elders, held at Wrightstown. Here thing indeed! Is it your wisdom and knowledge remain in the furnace, the trials and provings the favour of experiencing a being engrafted into that puffs you up with conceit? It is a sign you ato which their Holy Leader had plunged them, the true and living Vine was commented on, and nill thoroughly partified, they might be brought also the necessity of abiding therein, and of witten to the processity of abiding therein, and the processity of abiding therein, and of witten the processity of abiding therein, and of witten the processity of abiding therein, and of witten the processity of abiding therein, and the processity of abiding therein, and the processity of abiding therein the processi Dining with Sarah Hopkins, he rode to Joshua nature. At the close of the Quarterly Meeting,

(To be continued.)

Laboriously Doing Nothing .- It is related of is hearers to close in with the offers of salvation, Hugo Grotius, a man of great genius, industry, and e had a meeting there on the 15th. It was a by which he was brought into great trouble and press. lose, exercising season. On the 16th he rode to perplexity; that he replied to one who admired his

Working for a Penny a day.-When in our

Pride .- Survey the things that raise your pride;

How the London Times is printed,-They use doberts, where he lodged. On the 8th he had a on the 28th he rode homeward, and lodged at the nine tons of paper a day-enough to reach to Dover, secting at Chester, wherein he was measurably house of John Lloyd. On the 29th, passing eighty-three miles. The water to wet the paper avoured. That night he lodged at the house of through Philadelphia, he rode to the house of is raised by an engine, and going through a perfo-Admund Hollingshead, where he rested the next William Harvey, on the Brandywine; and on the rated zine cylinder, falls on an endless blanket, and, it being the seventh of the week. Attending 30th, reached his own residence. He says, and wets twenty-four sheets at a time. They use wesham Meeting on the 10th, he lodged that night "Through mercy I found my children and family twenty-seven kegs, or two tons of ink, a week. ith Willam Foster, and on the 11th, was at a well in health, and I was favoured with a good Moulds for electrotyping are made of papier-mache, seeting in Mount Holly. Not feeling relieved degree of peace of mind, and thankfulness of heart from which lead impressions are taken, and ready hereby, he had one appointed for the evening, to the great Master, who had preserved in health, for use in a half an hour—ean take six plates from a mould : the manner of doing it without burning the mould is a secret; save six hours by electro-On the 10th day of the Ninth month, 1767, typing. Have an eight-cylinder Applegath press, ode into Burlington, where he lodged at the house Joshua Brown was married to Zillah Maule, widow that takes twelve thousand five hundred impressions, f John Smith. On the 13th, with John Hoskins, of Thomas Maule, of Radnor, and daughter of and a Hoe's ten cylinder, that turus out sixteen erode five miles into the country to a school- Daniel Walker, of the Great Valley. men. The latter press, moving horizontally, is not near as complicated as the former. They prefer Applegath's, as it does its business more neatly. Employ 360 men and issue 55,000 copies; have a vhilst the day of visitation was extended to them, learning, who engaged strenuously, in the control man who counts 300 a minute, and they are all rossing the Delaware again on the ice to Bristol, versies of his time, respecting religious opinions; delivered five minutes after the stoppage of the outsiders to witness the richest and most inviting valley in the world. This road, for its entire ness. The Lehigh Valley railroad, the Beaver mighty God, and in the sense of the majesty of Aztecs, who ruled that region on its discovery believe the Lehigh its glorious presence, I cry to you, To the rock, the Spaniards. From the characteristics, howeve canal, all, in some measure, competing works for To the rock, To the rock, so will the Lord favour of the melancholy remnant who now exist, it seen the same trade, are severally in the enjoyment of you, and compass you, and make you sing of his more probable that they are to be referred to the the same trade, are severally in the enjoyment of Jvou, and compass you, and make you saig ou as:

Tottees, who were displaced by the Aztees.

Proceeds a business that puts their securities among the most praise; here is safety, food and water, heavenly are displaced by the Aztees.

Proceeds a whomework who were displaced by the Aztees.

Proceeds a whomework who were displaced by the Aztees.

Proceeds a whomework who were displaced by the Aztees. favoured on the market. What this business and the resulting profits may be in the course of the next ten years, it would be difficult to estimate.

Waterloo the Day after the Battle. not dependent on coal? Should this motive force pore mute testimony to the inserty of such a nature.

be now, or at any future time, withdrawn, what * * Could the melancholy appearance of this would be the effect on the world? Locomotion and seene of death be heightened, it would be by withesstein their course without those vivid and transporting the transmission of letters would instantly return to ing the researches of the living, amid its desolation, and perhaps generally happens, that the disease the rates of fifty years ago. Our occan and river for the objects of their love. Mothers, and wives, which terminate in dissolution, so affect the frame and children, for days were occupied in that mourning the control of the objects of their love. the rates of fifty years ago. On occasion that for the rate of the regular movements of the mourn-steamers would speedily be rotting at our wharves, and children, for days were occupied in that mourn-as by a certain law of nature, to disturb or imped and our rail cars stand motionless and useless on ful duty; and the confusion of the corpses—friend the regular movements of the mind. We have not the regular movements of the mind. and our rail cars stand motionless and useless on ful outy; and the common of the corpses—free their tracks, for all the accessible forests would and foe intermingted as they were—often rendered gight in such cases to expect miracles. When the speedily disappear under the immense demand, the attempt at recognizing individuals difficult, and New Orleans would again be a fortnight from New in some cases impossible. * * In many places York; England a month from America, and Clii-the dead lay four deep upon each other, marking fornia be almost lost sight of. Here and there the the spot some British square had occupied, expose dischass, finds himself unable to meditate or practices of the standard of the spot some British square so dischass, finds himself unable to meditate or practices. dim light of an oil-fed lamp would twinkle through for hours to the murderous fire of a French bat- with that fixedness or fervour of soul, which h the streets as of old, instead of the brilliant and tery. Outside, lancer and cuirassier were scatthe streets as of old, instead of the orilliant and tery. Outside, lancer and collars were scale has often experienced heretofore; his hope may abundant light afforded by gas. Books and news-tered thickly on the earth. Madly attempting to papers would forthwith rise to a cost entirely begone the serried bayonets of the British, they had yound the reach of the million. Even that primary fallen in the bootless essay by the musketry of the clement of home comfort, and, in fact, of all culti-inner files. Farther on, you trace the spot where the vated and pleasurable existence—warmth—would cavalry of France and England had encountered; be wholly unattainable by the mass of mankind, chasser unath busset were intermingled; and the search of all? And what heavy Norman horses of the Imperial Gand were.

Pleasure is a rase, near which there ever grow. and ere long be beyond the reach of all." And what heavy Norman horses of the Imperial Guard were would become of the rapid and cheap multiplica-interspersed with the gray chargers which had care a thorn of cvil. It is wisdom's works oc carefully tion of books which are wholly dependent on coal-fied steam, if coal were withdrawn? Every inter-rest of society and bumanity would undergo a dragoon, with green Erin's badge upon his helmet.

The Lehigh Valley.

Within the last three or four years the Lehigh Valley railroad, from Easton to Mauch Chunk, has production and cheap access to market are the test of the first importance, and should in mud and gore by the frequent rush of rive. tonnage, thus affording favourable opportunity to enlist the liveliest interest and support in its behalf. cavalry, the thick-stewn corpses of the Imper valley in the world. This road, for its entire length, is studded with furnaces, forges, and iron. Almighty is drawing near to judgment, and will works, and additions are steadily made to their judges in righteousness, according to the root in mibilated; and the advance and repulse of t number. A night ride along its line from Easton which every one grows, and the fruit they bring up is greatly enlivened by the brilliant lights from the tops of their stacks. The Lehigh valley has become the centre of iron-making in the United made desolate. Therefore, in his name that lives a become the centre of iron-making in the United made desolate. Therefore, in his name that lives a tempted to meet the British, and afford time States. There are now in full operation in it for ever, I say unto you everywhere, be inward, their disorganized companions to rally. twenty or more iron furnaces, all of them fully em. haste inward into the Divine nature, in which alone ployed, and several more preparing to go into will be a safe abiding place, in the dreadful day A New Race of Men in South America.

There are, here and there, works in other that comes on apace. In his name I warn all who Professor Newberry, in his paper, read before sections of the Union, but in no other quarter have have gone from the obedience to the daily cross of the American Scientific Association at Newpor they been put in operation so rapidly as here, and Christ Jesus, and abide not in the holy watch, and Rhode Island, gave a vivid description of the ge at no other place is iron of better or equal quality thereby have got into a false liberty, in their ways, graphical features of the great plateaux sweepin made for the price. The several ingredients are words, conversations, meats, drink and apparel, to east and west from the Rocky Mountains, illustrate at easy command and in great abundance. The various ores, the coal, and the lime, are all favour-circumcising knife, that all which offends the Lord, bearded face, gave evidence of the effect of the ably located, and point to the Lehigh valley as a and grieves his good Spirit given to profit withal, sun and the winds on the vast treeless plains th location by nature especially designed for the ma. may be effectually removed, and you brought into skirt the Colorado. He incidentally gave a mo nufacture of this great staple. The facilities of your first fear, awe, and holy watchfulness in the interesting description of that strange people, doubtet, to all the great markets of the country, is light of the Lamb. So will the Lord be with you Moqui, whose cities we have seen in New Mexic equally favourable, and between the produce of in the day of the dreadful overthrow, when both and but a small remnant of whom now exist. The iron and coal, promise to the carrying companies the sandy foundations, and the buildings thereon, belong to a hitherto unknown race. Profess of the region a growing and most lucrative busi- will fall together. Therefore, in the name of Al-Newberry thinks they may be the remains of the Waterloo the Day after the Battle .- On a sur-While old coal mines are industriously worked, face of two square miles, it was ascertained that tinet conformation of the skull and face, and are new ones are continually coming into use, and with fifty thousand men and horses were lying! The peaceful agriculturists. They weave cloth, wor an increase of product of a million a year, outlets luxurious crop of ripe grain which had covered the with implements of stone, and build towns of stone an increase of product of a million a year, outlets luxurious crop of ripe grain which had covered the win implements of stone, and put to towns of stone for tonnage will hardly keep up with the demand field of battle, was reduced to litter, and beaten for them. Gradually but rapidly coal has, for the into the earth; and the surface trodden down by the last generation, been establishing itself as the unicavalry, and furrowed deeply by the cannon wheels, towns, and their only means of ingress and egret truly said, "it warms and lights our houses, cooks and cuirasses, shattered fire-arms and broken truly said, "it warms and lights our houses, cooks and cuirasses, shattered fire-arms and broken our food, spins, weaves, dyes and washes our clothes, swords; all the variety of military ornaments, it was treets, bears our letters and our laneer caps and Highland bonnets; uniforms of the course selves swiftly over land and sea, makes our paper, every colour, plume and pennon; musical instruprints our books and journals—in a word, what ments, the apparatus of artillery, drums, and Juan—apparently ruins of a race once number in does it not do for us? What movement, in the vast bugles; but why dwell on the harrowing picture of millions of men and many of them (the towns and complicated machinery of modern society is a foughten field?—each and every ruinous display five hundred or one thousand years old. not dependent on coal? Should this motive force bore mute testimony to the misery of such a battle.

Guard, pointed out the spot where Napoleon h. The Rock a Safe Abiding Place.—The Lord been defeated. Here, in column, that favored cor

A New Race of Men in South America .-

parently entirely distinct from any other Indian on this continent. They are smaller, have a dis-

Pleasure is a rose, near which there ever grows ays, for in the counsel of God they stand not. at not the power. Know the life and power of with borrowers .- Ohio Farmer. od in one another; but that knowledge in the form thout the life we deny, though it be never so rmer must go to the carpenter or blacksmith for ments.

ar of God, at random, in a presumptuous mind, covering that it must be sharpened before using. But we are not at the end of city improvements roud boasters are excluded out of the kingdom of log and with the light of Christ condemned, and ear put up a carpenter's bench, with serve. The the streets (even the broadest of them) were twice ey are judged by the life that gave forth the larter will cost but a few shillings. Have a little their present width, a general benefit would be the impures. Therefore, to you this is the word of rack on the wall behind it, in which to put your result. e Lord, Wait in the light with which Christ hath half dozen chisels and gouges, serew-driver, &c., dightened every one of you; love it, and ye and above it hang your ripping, cross-cut and hall have the light of life; and it will bring tenon-saws. These, with a set of planes, braces strife and contention, or vain glory, nurmuring or ou to stand in the counsel of God, and keep and bits, whetstone, square, hammer and hatchet, disputing; but in the spirit of meckness, love and ou from all wicked ways. With it ye will see all will do well for a beginning, not, however, forget humility, carry yourselves towards one another. e enchanters, false prophets, who speak a divina ing a few good augers. When you need more tools, And ye younger brethren, endeavour to know your on of their own brain, whose minds are turned buy them; but with those named you can repair places, as living members of one body, and preon the light of Christ; with this light are they almost anything of wood. A vice for iron work and an are turned from it, will be found of great use, and may be put up at ad hate it, whose deeds are evil, are condemned one end of the room, having a good three-inch ith this light, though they may make a profes- plank for a bench top. A twenty-five pound vice on of the words, which proceeded from the light, will do, but a heavier one is better. With it you om them who lived and walked in it. They that need a chipping-hammer, two cold-chisels, and two rn from it, and hate this light, making a profes- or three hastard-cut files, the largest a fourteenon of their words that dwelt in it, and hate them inch flat. One may be a half-round twelve-inch. at walk in it now, Oh! high deceit, all such are to The "Iron" tools will not come into use as often as condemned with the light. They that hate the the others, but will be sometimes found very necesght, and deny it, though they may profess the ords that proceeded from the light, and be full Put all these tools in the best order, and keep them, they turn no people from their wicked them so. Let no rust disfigure them. Rust is best prevented by the use of a little tallow rubbed over Every one in your measures, wait and walk in them occasionally, and moisture not allowed to eue life which gave forth the Scriptures, which will ter where they are. Profit by these suggestions, eet them to you; else I do deny you all, and you and you will always find your tools most valuable e to be turned away from, as having the form, and pleasant friends, provided you are not troubled rely painted, and the harlot be never so beautiful. physician to the Emperor of Russia, attentively as the oversight or indifference of the foreign solis the harlot who dresseth herself with the studied the effects of light as a curative agent in diers will admit, they appear to embrace every opords that proceeded from the Light, who perse- the hospitals of St. Petersburg: and he discovered portunity to make their feelings known and felt by teth them who dwell in the light; with the words that the number of patients who were cured in rooms the Pope, and their mitred oppressors. at proceeded from the light doth she clothe her-lf, and is harlotted from the life; and all that of those confined in dark rooms. This led to a com-the overthrow of the Papacy is at hand; and e brings forth, is contrary to the light. But if plete reform in lighting the hospitals of Russia, and many, judging from its present crippled and prelove this light, and your minds be guided by it with the most beneficial results. In all cities visited carious condition are sanguine in their predictions see the face of Jesus, and Him the Head, then by the cholera, it was universally found that the of the speedy and final termination of this unrightth this light ye will see the mother of harlots, greatest number of deaths took place in narrow cous system of priestoralt and despote power. But here she is and what she is joined to. The light streets, and on the sides of those having a northern the Papacy has at different times been in a worse that by which ye come to see; he that walketh exposure, where the salutary beams of the sun were condition than it is now, and what is surprising, it, stumbleth not. I charge you every one in excluded. The inhabitants of the southern slopes has always been humiliated and punished, by its ould have a good supply of tools, not only ploughs, of light, without a full supply of which, plants and Romish religion. There have been long interregout have a good shiply of tools not only process, so lear, which earlies and process, or learning the process of the process o ough no less useful kinds, that are so handy to the sun and the open air. As scrofula is most fulminating their excommunicating bulls against ough no less useful kinds, that are so handly to the sun and the order of the poor, this is leach other. In 1800, the papal chair was vacant when it becomes necessary to make a nice new attributed by many persons to their living in dark for near a year, Plus VI., having died at Valence or gate, or repair the thousand and one things and confined houses; such diseases being most comicia, an exile and a prisoner. The popular fury at need fixing up about the premises. If the mon among those residing in underground tene- and libertinism of the French republicans inocuery little repair that is needed, he will lose a The health statistics of all civilized countries have country unsafe for the arrogant pretensions of a eat deal of time, and often at a season when a improved greatly during the past century. This Pontiff, and even for the consistory to meet to choose eat deal of time, and other as a season when a improve greatly sure is work is work a whole week's at another time. Imply surk is work is worth a whole week's at another time in the proper keeping of struction of houses, by admitting more light into selves of the presence of a Russian army, when dis is a good tool house, with a door and good them. The old-fashioned dwellings were built with they looked upon as schimatics, in order to slut and key. If every one about a farm works narrow dwarfish windows; and as glass, until with themselves up in conclave, and select some one who be also key. It is better to let one man do windows was proportionably limited. Divelling dangerous honour. Hardly had the new wearer of the work of this kind, and he will find it neces- houses of the present day are generally built with the tiars succeeded in persuading the catholic powry to keep all the tools in good order; for it must windows of four times the dimensions of those berecollected that dull tools will never do good longing to the olden times; and the streets of our when they were again seized upon by Napoleon the ork, neither will a good workman use such. A cities—upon which houses depend so much for their First, who seemed well-disposed to wring out the ol-house enables you to keep everything in its light are made much wider than those of a past remaining life blood of the Papal power, by the Friends, I warn you, in the presence of the living od, not to speak of the things of God out of the saw?" or "Where's that hatchet?" and then disay: and the most gratifying results have followed.

1718. Advised that nothing be done through serve a due regard to your elders in Christ Jesus,

THE FRIEND.

TWELFTH MONTH 8, 1860.

It is difficult to ascertain the exact position of the Roman Pontiff at the present juncture, or how long and how far he is likely to retain possession of his temporal kingdom and power. From the last accounts, it would appear that the native inhabitants of the provinces which have heretofore been subject to his sovereign authority, have manifested a decided inclination, if not a determination, to transfer their allegiance to Victor Emmanuel, now king of Italy; and that they are prevented from so doing only by the presence and active interference of the French troops. The government of imperious cardinals and crafty priests has be-Useful Fffects of Light .- Sir James Wylie, late come hateful and intolerable to them; and so far

Farmers' Tools and Tool House. - Every farmer soo. These different results are due to the agency and again, by generals with armies professing the lated the impulsive Italians, and rendered their rigor with which he enforced the requisitions of the treaty of Tolentino. The French minister at Rome, in writing to Napoleon, says: "The levy of thirty millions which Rome has bound herself to pay by the treaty of Tolentino, has drained out all the blood that was left in the veins of the old carcass. We will burn it to death over a slow fire. It will fall London money market was stringent. Three months' of itself."

Three times, since this declaration of the French minister, has this wicked, mysterious power been resuscitated, and again been apparently brought the 14th. She was about to visit Scotland on account near to destruction; the last time being in 1848, of impaired health.
when the people of Rome rose in rebellion, murdered Count Rossi, the Prime Minister, and so the "Eternal City" to the tender mercies of the excited populace, with Garibaldi at their head. It was then that the French Emperor claimed the right as "the eldest son of the church" to interfere on behalf of the dethroned and exiled Pontiff, the Vatican.

From that time to the present, the real support their present enthralment, and form a portion of united of the Pope's temporal kingdom has been the Italy. bayonets of France; and although Louis Napoleon has advised him to abandon all his claims as an earthly prince, there is no probability he will voluntarily do so; and such is the power he still exercises over the minds and consciences of the subjects of the great Catholic Sovereigns of Europe, that they will be loth to do anything that may incite him to employ it to create discontent and revolution among their subjects, lest it finally lead to the subversion of their own authority. In the mean time, this marvellous system of antichrist shows that it changes not in its pretensions, or in the mystery of iniquity, by which it seeks to maintain its hold upon its blinded and superstitious adherents. It is probable that most people in our country suppose that the sale of indulgences has long since ceased, and that even the Pope, in these publicly to proclaim his readiness to sell to who-ever would buy, the right to sin with impunity, and a clear passport to heaven, which is time of riods. In 1810, there were in the entire county 16,082; what kind of life may be led, from the time of riods. In 1810, there were in the entire county 16,082; purchase to the day of death. Such, however, is in 1820, 20,565; in 1820, 27,968; in 1840, 53,078; in 1840, 53,078; in 1850, 60,278; and in 1860, 89,978. a clear passport to heaven, without reference to following advertisement, which shows that the trade is still recognized by the Catholies as a legitimate one, and that in the present distressed state of the Pontiff and his court, his wares may be bought cheap. The Presbyterian says:-

That it is a genuine pronunciamento, is evidenced by the fact that it is taken from the Tablet, the organ of the Papacy in London, and that it has Cardinal Wiseman's name at the head of it, and that of the Vicargeneral at the foot of it—both agents of the firm. Here it is:

"Fellow Catholics-Pius IX., our common Father, surrounded by a host of enemies, and unsustained by the great Catholic Powers, appeals to the loyalty and devo-tion of all his children for combined aid. While infdels, Protestants, and dissenters are combining to enrich the piratical invader of Sicily, will the Catholics of England refuse a penny a week to the sacred cause of their persecuted Father ?"

And for help given in the coin current of Queen Victoria, the pontiff pays with large drafts on Paradise.

The inducements are: The inducements are:

"Firstly. A Plenary Indulgenre upon the day of Reception; upon the 2d of August, the Feast of St. Peter's Chains, the Fatron Feast of the Association; upon the 29th of June, the Feast of SS. Peter and Paul; and at the point of death, for all the members. Secondly. An Indulgence of Seven Years on any four Feast days named by the Ordinary of the District. Thirdly, An Iudul-gence of One Hundred Days for every good work per-formed by the Members of the Association."

and in New branches of the winter. Miscellan

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

EUROPE.-Liverpool dates to the 17th ult.

The minimum rate of discount was raised by the Bank of England, on the 15th ult., to six per cent. This movement was telegraphed to the Bank of France, and the contemplated withdrawal of more gold from the Bank of England by that bank was suspended. The paper was not negotiable below 7 per cent., and six months' paper at 8 per cent. Consols, 933 a 934. The Liverpool markets were without material change.

The French Empress Eugenie arrived in London on

It is said that England and France have concluded a treaty with China. The combined forces advanced within twelve miles of Pekin. The Emperor at first rethreatened the Pope, that he was glad to escape in fused to attach his seal, but finally yielded to the de-disguise as a footman on a coach-box, and leave mand.

The position of Italian affairs was unchanged. All Italy may now be considered as under the government of Victor Emmanuel, except the territory still held by the Pope, and Venetia. The united government is now composed of Sardinia, Lombardy, Naples, Sicily, Tuscany, Modena, and Parma, having about 100,000 square and once more brought him back to issue his spiritual miles, and 20,000,000 of inhabitants. The government and temporal mandates from within the walls of will be a constitutional monarchy, and the expectation is general, that the remaining provinces-the States of the Church and Venetia-will sooner or later be relieved of UNITED STATES. - Congress convened on the 3d inst., quorums being present in both Houses. The two Senators from South Carolina having resigned their seats, were not present; all the Representatives from that State, except bne member, were in attendance. Information being received that the President's message would not be sent to Congress that day, both Houses adjourned, after transacting some unimportant business. On the 4th the message was read in both houses. It attributes the secession movement to aggressions of the North upon the slave interest; advises the repeal of all acts which give offence to the South; and the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution, expressly recogof an american to the constitution, expressly recog-nizing the right of property in slaves wherever it now, or may hereafter exist: the duty of protecting this right in the territories: and declaring all State laws embarrassing the carrying out of the Fugitive Slave Law, as unconstitutional.

The Electoral Vote .- The result of the Presidential election in all the States is now ascertained with sufficient accuracy to show that the 303 electoral votes will days of light and knowledge, would hardly dare be divided as follows, viz: Lincoln, 180; Breckinridge, 78; Bell, 33; Donglas, 12.

Philadelphia.—Mortality lust week, 229. The progressive growth of this city is shown in the following

The Secession Movement.—A special despatch from Washington to the Charleston Courier says, that the President hopes that Sou h Carolina will appreciate the delicacy of his position, and will not compel him to use force in the collection of the revenue, but he will maintain the laws, and protect public property under any circumstances. The Florida Legislature have passed unanimously a bill calling a State convention to assemble on the 2d province. ble on the 3d proximo. That of Georgia has authorized the suspension of specie payments by the banks, and the suspension of specie payments by the values, and has also suspended the legal collection of all debts for one year. The Charleston Moreury publishes a bill, which is to be brought before the Legislature of South Carolina, proclaiming all free negroes to be slaves on and after the 1st of next month, the free colonred population to be sold at public auction, and the proceeds to be applied to the tax funds of the various counties. The number of this class of persons in South Carolina, in

The Revenue.-The balance in the U.S. treasury, at the close of last week, was $3,456,000. The revenue from customs has greatly declined within the last few weeks, so that without a new loan there will probably soon be a difficulty in meeting the demands on the trea-

1850, was 8956.

Curtailment of Business .- The cotton manufacturers of Philadelphia, have mostly agreed to run their mills half time until a revival of demand takes place. In Bridgeport, Conn., upwards of 1000 employees are out of work and in New Haven, 2000. The prospect is, that many branches of business will be greatly depressed through rican sea-going vessels, reported as totally lost a missing during the past month, amounts to 37, and th value, exclusive of cargoes, is estimated at $560,000. String the value, exclusive of cargoes, is estimated at $560,000. British Marine Losses in 1859.—The loss of properation of the price of the pric passengers; of these, 1645 were drowned. This is t largest number on record that have perished in any o

Tobacco Forbidden in French Colleges .- The Minister Public Instruction has received so many complaints specting the use of tobacco and cigars by the stude in the French colleges, and the injurious effects of t weed on their physical and mental development, that is said to be about to interdict the use of tobacco, in a form, in the educational establishments of France.

A Profitable Article.—The income to the French g vernment from tobacco, nearly one half of which is fro the United States and Cuba, was, last year, about $3

Census Returns.—Georgia has a population of 1,07' 977, being an increase of 169,978 in ten years; that Kentucky is returned as 1,156,000. Nashville, Ten has 23,757 inhabitants, being an increase of 12,197 ten years.

Second Crop of Corn in Texas .- The Galveston (Texas Civilian says:—"The aboriginal festival, known as green-corn dance, may be celebrated semi-annually Texas. We have already noticed the second crop roasting ears this season on the Rio Grande. The A vocate mentions the second crop of corn grown this se son by Capt. James Scott, of Victoria county. The cr was planted in Eighth month, and is now safe from fro making about forty bushels to the acre, besides a fi yield of fodder."

The Markets .- The following were the quotations the 3d inst. New York-The money market very str gent; discounts obtained with difficulty at 12 to 18 1 cent. The wheat market dull, and prices lower; 97.6 bushels were sold, at $1.05 a $1.07 for Chicago sprii and $1.20 a $1.30 for red Western. Philadelphia—Pri red wheat, $1.20 a $1.25; white, $1.28 a $1.38; co 65 cts.; oats, 33 cts. 34 cts. Baltimore—Red whe $1.10 a $1.15; white, $1.20 a $1.40; corn, old, whi 60 cts. a 61 cts. Cincinnati—Flour, $4.20 a $4.3 hogs, $5.25.

RECEIPTS.

Received from Jehu Fawcett, agt., O., for Ed. Bonse senr., and Richard Schooley, $2 cach, vol. 34, for Be Harrison and Jos. Lynch, $2 each, vol. 33, for Willis Fisher, $3, to 52, vol. 34, for Jehu Allman, $4, vols. and 34; from Ezekiel Bundy, agt., O., for Wm. Green, $ to 27, vol. 35, for Nathan Hall, $4, to 14, vol. 35, for Mano Heartley, $2, to 16, vol. 35, for Robt. Plummer, $2, v 33, for Jesse Bailey, Jr., $2, vol. 34, from David Buffu R. I., $2, vol. 33; from South Buffu R. I., $2, vol. 33; from John Boadle, Mass., $2, vol. 3 from Geo. Gilbert, agt., Pa., $2, vol. 34, for Amos Coj $2, vol. 34, for Elizabeth W. Cope, $2, vol. 34.

FRIENDS' SCHOOL AT GERMANTOWN. Wanted at this Institution a Female Teacher, a me ber of the Society of Friends, competent to give instru tion in the usual branches of an English education. Apply to Sarah Ann Fell, Rebecca B. Cope, Beul S. Moaris, Germantown, Philadelphia, or to Amy A Bertson, at the school, adjoining Friends' Meeting-hou Germantown.

WANTED. A Female Friend to teach a family school.

Address,

JOSEPH H. SATTERTHAITE,
Oxford Valley, Bucks Co., Pa

DIED, on the 19th ult., REBECCA ALLEN, widow Charles Allen, aged nearly seventy-nine years; a below and valued member, and for many years an overseer a elder of the Monthly Meeting of Friends of Philadelpi for the Southern District. In profession and practi this dear Friend was a firm and consistent supporter the doctrines and testimonies of our religious Society the end of her pilgrimage, and as she expressed as the close of life, it was her "desire that her exam should not encourage any in wrong things." Thron much bodily weakness and at times suffering, her mi was preserved clear and bright, and calmness was covering of her spirit. She was sensible that her was approaching, and we doubt not that through mercy of her Redeemer, in whom was her hope trust, an entraoce has been granted her into the evlasting kingdom of our Lord Jesus Christ. "He t Miscellaneous.—Marine Losses.—The number of Ame- shall endure unto the end, the same shall be saved."

RRIPNO.

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, TWELFTH MONTH 15, 1860.

NO. 15.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

rice Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by

JOHN RICHARDSON,

AT NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

Postage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three onths, if paid in advance, three and a quarter cents; any part of the United States, for three months, if id in advance, six and a half cents.

> For "The Friend." Heary Hull.

(Continued from page 106.)

mply the performance of the will of God.

ere alluded to by our Lord, would be pronounced to the soul. y the world to be good works-promotive of relioul for the enjoyment of heaven. Another strik-g fact is, that though the "many" could thus re-ount their "wonderful works," and even claim to

After his return from his second journey to New ave "cast out devils," yet He who seeth not as England, he writes: nan seeth, but looks at the heart, pronourced them rorkers of iniquity whom he never knew, hings which the Divine will calls for at our hands. from it." I this conviction could be allowed due place in the which bring them the praise of men, as well as in it. He says: twow the Lord's will, respecting each one; and if affectionate wife and dear children, and set out to Friends, by whose friendship and unity I have which are necessary thoroughly to purge these of mind toward Crum Elbow. away; though there might be less outward show of ped to take leave of a Friend's family; after doing religion, fewer branches and leaves, there would be which, the Friend took me into another room, and a growth in the root, preparatory to bearing fruit opened a drawer which contained his money, and ple that we should follow his steps, declared, I me until I accepted them. came down from heaven, not to do mine own will, but the will of Him that sent me. I seek not mine thinking of the charge given by Christ to the aposown will, but the will of the Father. My meat is tles, 'Freely ye have received, freely give;' and I sister and mother.

Where the heart has passed fully under the reefinition, will be required to satisfy us on this world, love to Him, and to all mankind-forgive-ment of his kinduess." oint. A few words will suffice. "Not every one, ness of injuries, meekness, gentleness, justice, truth, nat saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter the humility, &c., which are obligatory upon all; there where they attended the Yearly Meeting, of which ingdom of heaven, but he that doeth the will of are also special duties for individuals, which can be writes: y Father which is in heaven." Here, then, reli- only be made known by the immediate openings of In connexion with the words quoted above, there seer, &c. It is from the teaching of this spirit, we re others, delivered at the same time, which are learn the calls of duty to extend a word of admout devils, and in thy name done many wonderful go to any particular place or country to preach the orks? And then will I profess unto them, I gospel. Without such instruction and call, as well

These views appear to have influenced the mind ion, or connected with it. Yet it appears evident, of Henry Hull, and led him to deep searching of here was something lacking which, in the eye of heart, that he might be favoured with a clear evi muiscience, deprived them of the character of do- dence that, in leaving his home, and beloved wife ng the will of God in the sense which prepares the and children, often for months together, and en-

"Pleasant as it was to me once more to engage in domestic concerns, it was with desires that I Nothing, then, can be clearer than that the per- might at all times give the preference to those of ormance of what the religious world calls good a religious nature, when the impressions with which eeds, even the best and most applauded, does not my mind was favoured from a Divine source, pointf itself constitute religion, but the doing of those ed to such services, either at home or at a distance

Soon after this, he felt himself called to engage "In the Fifth month, 1799, on First-day morn-this should introduce into humiliating views of pay a religious visit to Friends and others, in some lurking sins, and hitherto hidden corruptions, and parts of the Southern and Western States. Havto a patient, quiet endurance of the fiery baptisms, ing no companion, I rode along in a solitary state On the way I stopacceptable in the Divine sight, and the praise of requested me to take as much as I would, to help such would be from God, and not of men.

The dear Redeemer, who has left us an examwhich he took up a handful of pieces, and urged

"We then parted, but I soon felt uncomfortable, to do the will of Him that sent me. Whosoever thought that, if through the grace freely bestowed doeth the will of God, the same is my brother, and upon me, I was engaged to preach the gospel, it would be no more consistent for me to make a gain of the gospel, by receiving gifts which were In an age like the present, when so much is generating power of the Holy Spirit, and the natural the effect of the place I had in the affections of my assing under the name of religion, and so many will has been subjected to his government, it be friends, in consequence of the gift dispensed to me, ings are urged as required by or promotive of it, comes the first and most earnest desire, to know and and occupied to their comfort and edification, than e reader may not find it unprofitable to consider to do or suffer the Lord's will. While the holy Scripto make a trade of preaching. Therefore, though hat the Saviour of men himself indicates as its tures inform us of many general duties which that I believed the Friend's motives were good, and his seential, and consequently indispensable, charac will enjoins, such as faith in God, and in his Son gift the result of true friendship, I returned the ristic. No critical research, nor any elaborate Jesus Christ as the Redeemer and Saviour of the money on the same day, with a due acknowledge

His wife appears to have met him in New York,

"The Annual Meeting proved a season of Diion, if it be that which entitles to an admission the Holy Spirit in the heart. Thus, one is called to vine favour, much love and harmony uniting the mong the blessed in heaven, is described as being preach the gospel, another to exercise the gift of hearts of Friends, with desires for the preservation eldership, others to perform the duties of an over- of all in continued faithfulness in our different allotments. We had the help and company of Gervas Johnson from Ireland, and of John Hoskins and f deep and serious import. "Many will say to nition, warning comfort, or encouragement to a others from Philadelphia. In the evening after in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not pro-brother or a sister; and a minister of Christ ascer-the close of the Yearly Meeting, a number of hesied in thy name, and in thy name, have cast tains the will of his Divine Master that he should Friends came to my lodgings to take leave of me, with some of whom we had a heart-tendering season, in solemn supplication to the God of grace for ever knew you: depart from me, ye that work as the qualifying power and aid of the same Spirit protection and comfort, when far separated from niquity." No one will deny that the matters in the discharge of the duty, it can be of no help each other, and that through the remaining days of our lives we might be found grateful partakers of those mercies which are new every morning, to the praise of the Lord God and the Lamb.

"On the 1st of the Sixth month, I parted with my beloved wife and other of my connexions, and in company with John Hoskins, Joshua Lord and another Friend from Jersey, I rode to Benjamiu Clark's, at Stony-brook. The day following at-tended Mansfield meeting, and the one held at Mount Holly, in the afternoon. John Hoskins parted from us after Mansfield meeting. He was an elder in Israel, of good report, and excelled perhaps by none, in dedication to the cause of Truth and righteousness. His company and encouragement proved seasonable and strengthening to me, who was but little experienced in the work. Next day attended a Quarterly Meeting at Evesham to good satisfaction, and crossed the Delaware earts of professors, though it might lessen their in a religious visit of still more extensive character, to Philadelphia. I attended the meetings in the ctivity, and cause them to cease from many things and having the unity of his Friends, he proceeded city as they came in course, one at Germantown in company with Samuel Emlen, a father in Israel -visited some persons who were confined by sickend to foster a spirit of self-complacency, it would "In the Fith month, 1799, on First-day morn- wisited some persons who were comment by secprofited, as a weary traveller does from the refresh- this notice brings before us that vast central region tinuous vitality to the wonderful institutions of t ment of a brook by the way.

"In attending the meetings in the city, my mind was dipped into sympathy with some who had been or western part of this region is as vaguely known triumph of their faith, and perhaps the simplici bereaved of their near relatives during the late under the name of Independent Tartary, the whole of their characters, detract considerably from (awful visitation by the yellow fever, and also with defending from the Caspian and sea of Aral services they might have rendered to scientific other Friends, who appeared humbled under the to the coasts opposite Japan, with a breadth in lativestigation. Our former diplomatic missions dispensation and the apprehension of the return of under of from twelve to twenty degrees—a page Pekin, even though returning across the emply a similar calamity. In the ability vonchsafed, I well nigh doubling Europe in total extent. Scarcely had to condole with the afflicted, and also to en- can we give the name of geography to the scanty very slender additions to our knowledge of its v courage all to seek for Divine support, should a and broken knowledge we have of these countries, interior. The more recent voyage of Lord Elerenewal of the scourge be permitted, which I be. We may be said best to know them, though this is up the Yang-tze-keang to Han-kow, 600 mi lieved could not be averted by human prudence, also very obscurely, through the history of those from the mouth of this great river, the girdle when it pleased the sovereign Ruler of heaven and successive swarms and races of people, which mi- China, forms a remarkable step in the progress

(To be continued.)

cently been making investigations into the disputed by the civilized travellers of our own day; but here gives opening to that wide western portion of Chin question of arsenic-eating in Styria, regarding which again we must refer to our countryman, Mr. At- of which we know little save from native report it is so difficult to obtain information, as the greatest secresy is observed by the arsenic-eaters. They cessful of these. His travels during several years, largely into the traffic of nations. The establis obtain it in an illicit manner from the Tyrolese, as which were undertaken for the express purpose ment of a British factory at Han-kow, which wou it is difficult to procure it otherwise, the law prohi. of depicting the scenery of a continent hitherto so create a market to European trade in that part biting its purchase without a doctor's certificate. little known to civilized man, carried him through the Empire, and o en the navigation of the Ya But Dr. Heisch has now settled beyond further dispute, that arsenic is really eaten by the Styrian Kirghiz deserts, forming the border line of Russian the naval officers who accompanied Lord Elgin peasantry, and that, too, in the most incredible and Chinese empire. The Russian government is that expedition. What the events now in progra quantities. One person who confessed to its use, actively pursuing research in this direction; but in the empire, from European force and native commenced with three grains per diem - a dose it is still only a frontier to the enormous tract of bellion, may bring about, we hardly dare surming we should consider fatal—and gradually increased almost unknown continent described above; and so often have all expectations been frustrated it, till now in his forty-fifth year, he takes twenty Central Asia yet remains a sort of mythical region this quarter. But half a century now is more pi three grains of pure white arsenic in his coffee to our knowledge. Even aided by the authority life of change than any five centuries heretofor daily! The complexion is said to be much im- of Humboldt and Klaproth, we can hazard little and China, with all its immobility of ages, cant proved, and the countenance made to appear ex- more than conjecture as to its physical outlines and escape that tide which is sweeping over and amceedingly juvenile by the use of this potent drug. geography. Taking the Altai and Himalayan gamating, through commerce or conquest, all oth The wood-men and hunters of the Tyrol also take chains in their extreme prolongation, as forming nations of the earth. it to improve their wind and prevent fatigue. As a its northern and southern boundary, we have as an rule, the arsenic-caters are very long-lived, but in | intervening belt those vast Mongolian and Tarta- | Persian and Turkish Empires, though better known variably die suddenly at last. The effects of leaving it off when one is once habituated to its use Gobi; elevated more than 4000 teet, and stretching, lucuna in our knowledge; and are nowhere la almost equal in horror those which De Quincy narrates as the result of his leaving off opium.

For "The Friend."

[From a short but interesting article on "Recent Geographical Researches," published in the last number of the Edinburgh Review, we take the following extracts for "The Friend."

ern latitudes in Siberia, and we owe to him most than once shaken the world.

upon it.

-a vague name for a vague dominion. The other other instances, the zeal of the missionaries for t earth to pour forth the bitter cup of his just judg- grated thence as invaders or settlers of the more Chinese discovery. It is a stream doubtless de fertile and temperate regions of southern Asia and tined hereafter, under the agency of steam, to l to Europe. No field of geographical discovery equal come one of the great watery highways of the wor to this in extent and interest exists on the globe. Lit- Population clusters in crowded cities along its ban Arsenic-Eating .- Dr. Charles Heisch has re- the more than the mere margin has yet been passed and cultivation is rich in its tributary valleys. kinson, as one of the most intelligent and suc- but which may hereafter, through this channel, ent many unexplored parts of the Altai chain and the tzc-keang to our ships, is strenuously advocated rian steppes, vaguely called in part the Desert of than the interior of China, yet present still gre it is believed, fully 4000 miles from east to west, down with the exactness which modern geograp! We have reason to suppose these steppes to be tra- requires. The more perfect examination of the versed or interrupted by other mountain ranges, parallel, we may presume, to the great border chains; and the journey of the brothers Schlagintweit indicated one such range of great elevation, region where fable and reality come concurrent which they believed to be identical with the Kuen- before us; -sometimes in conflict, sometimes iu m Lucn chain of Humboldt. But we cannot go fur-Of the northern portion of Siberia, bordering for ther here than to point out this part of Asia as some thousand miles on the Arctic Ocean-the a wide field for further adventure ; -adventure cient Assyria, and those more recently obtained country of the Samoyedes and other half-starving sanctioned not solely by common curiosity, but by Mr. Graham in the Hauran, the scene of the d tribes—we have little to say, since very little is the certainty of finding, in its physical character plorable events which have again drawn a Frenknown, beyond the course of the three mighty rivers, and natural history, objects of high interest to sciarmy to the coast of Syria, are the augusty and individually which travers it in their coast of the coast of Syria, are the augusty and in the coast of Syria, are the augusty and in the coast of Syria, are the augusty and in the coast of Syria, are the augusty and in the coast of Syria, are the august and are the coast of Syria and are the co which traverse it in their passage from the central ence. The fauna and flora of a region so peculiar of what may be accomplished by further researce parts of the continent to the sea. The exit of these in position and surface, must needs afford much We still want the more ancient links which co rivers is such in latitude that they could never that is new and curious to the naturalist; while nect together the several branches of the Arys minister to external commerce, even were the counthe ethnologist may perchance discover here some and Semitic races, their languages and migration tries through which they flow more prolific of pro- rudimental traces, serving to the better understandduce than they are likely to become. Baron Wrangel ing of those vast migrations, by which the shep- that we may look for such illustration. Spectr has been the intrepid explorer of these high north- herds of the steppes of Central Asia have more shadows of history, they must be at best; yet wor of what we know of them. His expedition over the ice from the mouth of the Lena towards Behering's Straits ranks as one of the most arduous feats medley of simultaneous war and commerce which equal to half of Europe in extent, but which, fro We have just spoken of Chinese Tartary, and ing the character of religion, has given such con- our Gibraltar of this sea, guards its narrow egre of Asia, two-thirds of which is thus denominated Roman Catholic church: but in this, as in so:

Those portions of Asia which appertain to t countries will have a further and higher interest illustrating the history of the most ancient period and most remarkable races of mankind. It is tual illustration. The wonderful results of the l bours of Rawlinson, Layard, and Botta in the a and it is in these regions of Asia, if anywher all that labour and enterprise can do for their r in northern enterprise. We further obtain from for many years has been our normal relation to position and physical characters, might better pe him a confirmation of the facts before furnished by a people equally singular in their language and haps come under the African division of the glob Pallas, Middendorf, and others, of the enormous religion, as in all their institutions and usages of This is Arabia; separated from Africa only I deposits of the tusks, bones, and even carcasses of life. Yet this knowledge is still very much confined that long and narrow cleft, which, filled from the elephants, on the banks and near the mouths of to the maritime provinces, and probably does not Indian ocean, has borne from ancient time the nan those great Siberian rivers, which enter the sea equal that acquired by the Jesuits, during their of the Red Sea. Along this extraordinary gu beyond the arctic circle;—a strange problem in learly and successful missions to China. The jour-continually pass those magnificent steamers whit natural history, and hardly yet solved, even by ney accomplished by Huc and Baudot from Pekin connect England by the shortest transit with h the ability which Sir C. Lyell has brought to bear to Lassa, affords recent proof of what may be Indian empire;—the electric telegraph has been effected by that corporate zeal, which, while usurp- laid underneath its waters ;-the fortress of Ade sence of any great river estuaries on its coasts, and another century elapsed before the Eastern which put a stop to this practice, as the winters e character of the adjoining countries, and the Christians took it up and then they adopted an in Palestine were too cold to amit of the nightly any notices obtained from native sources, all other day for the celebration. igin on the coasts of that desert region, is a fact these worse than useless observances. hich history records, but cannot easily explain. (To be continued.)

A Floral Question .- Nobody ever yet saw a ue dahlia, or blue rose, or a yellow aster or verena. Will such things ever be seen? Some perons think so, and foreign florists are hard at work z:-Blue, red, and yellow, are the three primary plours, and the different hues found in the variees of any species of flower are produced by crossig flowers which have these different colours. hus, the original colours of the verbena in a wild ate were red and blue; and by crossing these, we an get shades of red, blue, and purple, but not ellow. The wild dahlias are red and yellow, and y crossing them, we get shades of red, yellow, and range, and white, but not blue. So far as our obervation extends, no genus of any flower contains ll the primary colours : hence, if the above theory e correct, none of the varieties can monopolize all he shades of colour. One will lack red, another lue, and so on: hence the necessity of combining owers of different sorts, if we would get all shades f colour.

For "The Friend." Christmas.

It is no light privilege to be released from the ally duty in the necessary business of life, but tion on which they are acting.

The late Adam Clarke wrote ime of the poor, which ought to be spent in main- them, is of none.

an shores. And yet the vast tract, forming the are known of God, how turn ye again to the weak and impracticable."

in ranges, and a few vague lines of native travel our of the birth of our Saviour. For the first and from straying during night as well as day, om the Red Sea to the Persian Gulf. But infer-three hundred years after his death, there was no by the watchful shepherds. In the latter part of ce comes here in the place of observation. The such observance. The Latin church first begun it, autumn, the rainy and cold season commenced, stify the belief that the interior of Arabia is a There is no foundation in sacred or profane hisst sandstone desert; with scattered oases like tory for fixing the birth-day in the Twelfth month. Christmas is merely a Popish festival, instituted by ose of the Sahara, the vague domicils of wander- Scripture does not inform us of the precise time of the Romish church, in honour of the advent of the g Arab tribes, who feebly represent that extra- the birth or death of our Lord, of any of his Messiah; but without any, even the slightest, predinary race, which in the seventh and eighth apostles, or of one of the other distinguished per-tension to being the day, or even in the month, nturies, under the fervour of a new faith, con-sonages of the Bible; and its silence which, we when that event occurred; and those who observe pered or shook some of the greatest empires of the think, cannot be accidental, is a loud rebuke to the it, may, with equal propriety, celebrate any other orld. That such events should have had their active, prying spirit of man, which has invented of the numerous days set apart as holydays by > Much learning and great research have been brought to bear upon the nativity of our Lord; and the opinions arrived at, are almost as various as the persons engaged in the inquiry.

pperstitions observance of days and times, insti-arising of the spiritual Sun of Righteousness. A rection of the just." uted by men under the plea of favouring religion, more flimsy and absurd pretence could hardly have 'he so-called christian world abounds with them. been invented, and it may serve to show those who to the Indian ocean; -- the mountain group of of the christian name. Is not the language of the tempts made by persons in his time, to fix, not only nai, and the two cities which cradled the relion now dominant in the East, lie upon its Ara"But now, after that ye have known God, or rather birth; both of which he considered equally futile hole interior of Arabia, is completely a terra in- and beggarly elements, whereunto ye desire again That Jesus was not born in winter, seems probaumal and vegetable products, its human popula- and times, and years. I am afraid of you, lest I the "shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch on, all allike unknown to European eyes. Even have bestowed upon you labour in vain."

The flocks were kept e boldest map-makers have not gone beyond a row coast margin, with some imaginary moun- Twelfth month has been kept as a festival in hon- penned or folded, required to be kept from harm

On the whole, then, it is clearly apparent that that corrupt body.

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR GIFTS.

While on the subject we may remark upon the growing practice of making costly presents at that Even the year is uncertain; the probabilities season, and on the opening of the New Year. We deduced from close examination and careful com. think it has become a serious evil. A spirit of parison of all the data, placing it at from four to ostentation will probably be found, on strict examhybridizing, hoping to accomplish it, but their six or seven years before the commencement of our loation, to lie at the bottom of the motives which access is very doubtful. And for his good reason, presenters. The opinions of learned writers about prompt it. The receiver often feels placed under it are stated by Fabricius, to amount to 136. With an obligation to make a return, which is not conrespect to the month, there is quite as great diversity of opinion among the most laborious investigators. They have gone through the whole twelve; pensive tokens of affection, which the welling up each claiming the best authority for his selection. of loving hearts leads them to bestow on kindred The Experians decided it to be in the first; Wag- or near friends, though we see no good reason enseil in the second; Bochart in the third; Light- for making such little presents at these times foot on the 15th of Ninth month; Scaliger, Cal- more than any other; but we think every convisius and Casaubon in the Tenth, and others in siderate mind will see that the money expended the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh and Eighth on elaborately wrought or elegantly ornamented months. But the Romish church selected the 25th articles for Christmas or New Year Gifts, would of Twelfth month, the day on which the ancient be put to a far more noble and christian use, in Romans celebrated the feast of the goddess Bruma. feeding the hungry, and clothing the naked POOR; No chronological authority is quoted for this deter- a course which would be consonant with the benemination, which appears to have been made from volent injunction of our holy Redcemer, "When the fanciful idea, that as the sun had passed the thou makest a dinner or a supper, call not thy winter-solstice, at which the greatest cold and dark- rich neighbours, lest they also bid thee again, ness usually prevail, and was about to return north- and a recompense be made thee: but call ward, lengthening the days, and lessening the cold, the poor, the maimed, the lame, the blind; and and presaging the approach of spring; these, sym thou shall be blessed; for they cannot recompense bolized the blessings offered to mankind in the thee; but thou shalt be recompensed at the resur-

The Botany of Japan-The botany of the Isot only does the keeping of them seriously inter- are accustomed to regard the day with a sort of land of Japan is more varied than that of any counere, in some places, with the proper fulfilment of superstitious reverence, how shallow is the foundate try of the same area, as it comprises the flora of the tropics and of the antarctic regions. It possesses The late Adam Clarke wrote thus respecting it, this remarkable peculiarity, that instead of resemnder the specious name of amusement. Let any viz.: "The matter has been considered of no mo bling in general features the flora of the western ne look over the calendar of the Romish and ment by Him who inspired the Evangelists, as not shores of America, bordering on the Pacific, it is Discopal organizations, and he will be surprised one hint is dropped on the subject, by which it of the eastern and more distant side of find how many "saints' days" and other "holy might be possible even to guess nearly to the time." of the American Continent. The Japanese possess ays" (oftener unholy,) there are to be kept; the "Learned and pions men have trifled egregiously the art of dwarfing and of magnifying vegetable probervance of which, in Ireland and other priest- on this subject, making that of importance, which ducts in an extraordinary manner. A recent travidden countries, absorbs a large portion of the the Holy Spirit by his silence has plainly informed eller states that he saw a plum-tree, a cherry-tree and a fig-tree, growing in a small box not more than aining themselves and those dependent on them, aining themselves and those dependent on them, will stand up either for the season [of the year] or whilst, on the other hand, cabbages are grown of These humanly-devised burdens are a part of the day. Neither has even ancient tradition or such a size that one is as much as a man can lift, hat great system of outward ceremonies which the practice in its favour. The earliest writer who The Japanese horticulturists also have the power desire to substitute form for substance, and to alludes to the matter, is Clement of Alexandria, of concentrating the vigour of a fruit-tree in a single make external compliance compensate for the want who wrote about the middle of the third century; branches, which will thus bear blossoms and fruit of inward holiness, has imposed upon the professors and he speaks with compassionate scorn of the at- much greater than the common size.

For "The Friend." BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES

Of Ministers and Elders and other concerned members of the Yearly Meeting of Philadelphia.

(Continued from page 109.)

ing baptized into the condition of those who were first night at the house of William Smith, a friendly assembled. In the afternoon he rode to the house man. The next day, the 4th, they rode to Southconcern to appoint a meeting. After notice had taking a boat, they were ferried over the sound to concern to appoint a meeting. After house and taking a boat, they were terrice over the sound of the opening of life, with the last strongling been given, be says, "Satan was suffered to try me. (Grotton. A fair, strong wind made the passage a large transphant, the ransomed then see, My mind was greatly distressed, and I was very brief one, but the passengers were generally very lower than the spirit tives ever, immortal and free. sorry I had appointed a meeting, yet knew I must sick. They were two hours in running eighteen sorry in an appointed in this judgment of the stay and attend it. My mind continued in this to twenty miles. Riding to the house of Peter the Flight of Sound.—M. Montigny, in condition until I went to bed, and I repented I had Davis, a ministering Friend in Rhode Island, they note addressed to the Academy of Belgium, questions and the stay of the Academy of Belgium, questions and the stay of the Academy of Belgium, questions and the stay of the Academy of Belgium, questions and the stay of the Academy of Belgium, questions and the stay of the Academy of Belgium, questions and the stay of the Academy of Belgium, questions and the stay of the Academy of Belgium, questions and the stay of the Academy of Belgium, questions are stay of the Academy of Belgium, questions and the stay of the Academy of Belgium, questions are stay of the Academy of Belgium, questions and the stay of the Academy of Belgium, questions are stay of the Acade come from my home, but could not tell what to lodged there, and the next day reached Newport, tions the rate at which sound travels, laid down i do. Then I was brought into close covenant with making their home with Jacob Barney. The next the books. He states that in a storm in Septembe the Lord, that if he would be with me, I would day the Yearly Meeting began, with the medical last in a storm in September faithfully serve him, and do anything he would be of ministers and elders at Portsmouth. At one of where the lightning struck, could count but two pleased to grant me ability to do. The exercise the sittings of ministers and elders, his mind was seconds between the lightning and the thunder. continued for some time, but at length I fell asleep. attended with an uncommon exercise. A sense of Had the rate of travel of the sound been no mor brought into a holy quiet, and remained so when I his mind, that the loathsomeness of it seemed to posed, there would have been an interval of liftee brought into a holy quiet, and remained so when I his mind, that the loatinsomeness of it seemed to posed, there would have been an interval of little went to meeting. I was favoured with a good stand in the way of his public service. At last he meeting, and therein was engaged to speak of true had something so close to deliver, that it was consprayer and other subjects, and was thankful to the tray to his nature, and he told Friends that he Great Master. The meeting which was held on could not have done it, but that he had cover a truck by the lightning, could perceive no greate the 21st, furnished encouragement to proceeding with his Great Master, that if he would be pleased are noted by M. Montigov. Many others fact the 21st, turnshed encounterment to proceeding with his often passed, the result of the should reprint the process of the proc That afternoon we rode to Woodbridge. On the and it may be in both; and if it is not timely re-vancement of Science of 1858, it was shown that 22d, we rode through Rahway to Elizabethtown pointed of, it will break out to their dishonour, and the sound of a cannon travels faster than the sound point, where we were ferried over [the Raritan] to the dishonour of the cause of Truth." He conjust the human voice. Staten Island. We then crossed the island to the tinues, "After delivering the message, I was made

JOSHUA BROWN.

1st, be was at Matinicock meeting. In this he was ing, and to encourage some others to persevere c in a religious life, being sensible that there was year 1770, when he says, "a religious concern assembled might witness the new birth unto holi-living remnant amongst them." attended my mind to visit the meetings of Friends ness. That afternoon he had a meeting at West-in New England. This concern had continued bury, which proved a saffering time to him. Lodgwith me for many months before I mentioned it to ing with Samuel Willis near Jerico, he, on the 2d, any one, except my wife. I now thought it ripe rode to Bethpage, and attended a meeting there to spread before Nottingham Monthly Meeting. In this meeting he felt constrained to speak to them They, after deliberately considering it, granted me on the subject of holding their fellow men in slavery, their certificate of concurrence, and committed me recommending them to give serious, thoughtful atto the protection of Divine Providence in the un-tention to the subject, and advising them to look detraking. On the 17th of the Fifth mouth, 1770, closely to the law of doing to others as we would I left my home, in order to reach the Yearly Meetithey should do to us. Dining that day at Henry iog held at Flushing, Long Island, riding that day Whitson's with many Friends, the way opened in a to my father-in-law's, Daniel Walker, in the Great family sitting to relieve his mind of a burthen, Valley, about fifty miles. On the 18th, I rode which rested upon it. On the 3d, which was the When greated at last by our heavenly Friend, through Philadelphia, and to the house of James first day of the week, he had a meeting at Sekatock, Oer the reed almost broken, so low was it bent. Thornton, at Byberry. On the 19th, I crossed after which he parted with many of the Loog Is-the Delaware river, and rode to William Morris', land Friends in much love. Then, with David at Trenton, in New Jersey, where, the next day, it Willits, who had joined him to be his companion, being the first of the week, I attended their meeting." through some parts of New Eegland, he rode to The meeting proved a distressing one to him, bewards the east end of Long Island, lodging the of Samuel Worth, at Stonybrook, where he felt a hold; on the 5th, to Oyster Pond point, where, When I awoke, I felt a great calm. My mind was the corruption of one present was so impressed on than 1, 100 feet per second, as is generally sur Narrows, through which we had a rough passage casy, and thought I should have to say to one, to Long Island. We lodged that night at the 'Thou art the man,' hefore I left the country, trich amounts generally to from thirty to forty eggs tangham, who for a short period resided there. The for the compares, and to set them in mer proper for the same namity—the one ones in the centrement in the conversation with Samuel Nottingham, relative to the incensistency of slaveholding. Samuel the total meeting, and I was made thankfull to the great and the social system is only resorted to in places where the total married a widow of Tortola, who had many good Master for this, and all tother of his mercies, and fire yeggs have been found in one of these slaves, and Samuel had not at this time set them which was passed mostly in silence, as to us. On couple are disposed in a heap surmounted by the On the 30th, he attended Westbury Monthly the 14th, we had a meeting at Acu-lnet, and in first egg laid, which is destined for the nourishmen Meeting, which was large, and he set them an ex- the afternoon one at Long Plains. In the after- of the young ones when they break shell.

ample of silence. The next day at a meeting held noon meeting, I had a sense of a polluted spirit at Cowneck, his mouth was opened in the ministry, one or more there, with a clear sense that if the on the subject of Lazarus and the rich man, was not a repenting and forsaking, something would be subject of Lazarus and the rich man. Lodging that night with Richard Titus, he had a break out reproachful to the individual and the sitting in his family, and the next day, Sixth mo. cause of Truth. I had to express this to the mee

(To be continued.)

The following was received some months since, as among our many papers was overlooked.

LINES SUGGESTED BY THE HYMN:

"I WOULD NOT LIVE ALWAY." We shall not live alway, then why do we mourn,

When the roses we gather are sharp with the thorn? Though the blessing we crave be forever denied. And the cross as our portion, His love doth provide. We shall not live alway, our trials will end, When greeted at last by our heavenly Friend;

When the storm and the whirtwind their fury have sper We shall not live alway, though dreary our life, Full soon will be finished its toil and its strife : The days may seem long, but the years they are few,

And "the rest that remaineth" is blessed and true. We shall not live alway, the tears that we shed For the loved and the lost, for the dying and dead-Wilt be wiped from our eyes in those mansions of peac Where sorrow and partings forever will cease.

Theo live we not alway? ah! that we call death Is the opening of life, with the last struggling breath, house of Matthew Franklin."

On the 23d, Joshua Brown and the Friends, tings of the Yearly Meeting, I had an opportunity who had accompanied him, attended Westhury to discharge myself of the exercise that attended the centre of which is occupied by the oldest pair of my mind, and I visited many families to satisfact Finshing began with the meeting of ministers and tion. On the 11th, I rode out to James Michell's, gular distances. When the eggs have all been laid clders. During the course of the various sittings and, on the 12th, went onward to Little Compton, they are pushed over toward the middle nest, but the course of the various sittings and, on the 12th, went onward to Little Compton, of the meeting, he found some openings for service. and attended a meeting there. In it I had to treat not mixed: and while the eldest bird is occupied. His home during the time was with Matthew of worship, and the foundation the church of in hatching, the others sit around in the place Franklin. On the 29th, he attended a meeting at Christ was built on. On the 13th, I had a meet where the eggs belonging to them were laid respect. Newtown, after which he dined with Samuel Not-ing at Centre, in which I had to speak of the value lively. These associations are composed of bird tingham, who for a short period resided there. He of the Scriptures, and to set them in their proper of the same family—the old ones in the centre

BY REGINALD STUART POOLE.

ise, has been confined to a few, and the many great clearness. ave not cared for it. Were it generally known toes not justify any one in shutting his ears to a fair statement of a weighty question.

The first point on which I wish to touch, is the vidence of a primeval revelation afforded by the Egyptian mythology. It is now admitted by every competent scholar, that, inwoven with the tangled pose the strange belief of Egypt, we trace ever and anon the golden thread of truth. Base as were many of the tenets, among which the truth was thus preserved, it was never lost; and not only so, moral teaching of the priests depended upon it.

alone had principles of vitality.

that of Isis his wife.

the Egyptian Ritual and the early religious repre- future state and man's condition as depending upon do you get endways ?

that real good may be derived from this difficult a controversy of the highest importance. The old greater and greater hold on the belief of the natudy, what unveiling of the inner life of the old- lidea that Moses based the law upon the Egyptian tion, until it was clearly proclaimed under the new st of settled nations, what clear recovery of traces of man's first true belief, what a new and inde-endent commentary on the Bible, the learning of to repeat this old scandal, that they have ceased trine of the Egyptian religion.

an Osiris, taking the name of the judge, and not "left it," except on such occasions as the funerals as the details of manners. of the bulls Apis. If a young Egyptian chose a of the buils Apis. If a young Egyptian chose a If I were to cite late and second-hand authority, scarabens with a device to give to a friend, being reader closeness of agreement with revelation. I prefer to confine myself to what can be learnt from your being be renewed." Thus the idea of the one of an advanced on or and, strangely enough, in Sectland, "How do you get your being be renewed." Thus the idea of the one of an advanced on or and, strangely enough, in Sectland, "How

From the Constitutional Press Magazine.

| Sentations of the monuments. The Ritual was the his works done in this life, was always present to sacred book of the Egyptians. Countless copies of the whole nation, from the king, who superintended parts and some of the whole, written on papyrus, the making of his tomb, to the priestly sculptor I have been asked, "What is the good of hiero-typhics?" and found it hard to give an answer. It consists of prayers mainly to be said it was not absent, even if the story of the mummy be investigation of these primeval records of what by the deceased in the separate state, and there- at the feast be not true. Hence it is quite clear, nen thought and did, two, three, and even four fore to be learnt by him while on earth. Portions that the Israelites, living among the Egyptians, sousand years ago, has been in general pursued of it are known to be as old as two thousand years themselves Egyptians in everything but race, must ith little or no reference to what men now think before Christ, and there are copies of the whole have known that there was a future state of rend do. Learning and patience have been devoted written one thousand five hundred or one thousand wards and punishments. The Mosaic law did not minute questions; while the grand human sub- four hundred years before Christ. Much of it is take this doctrine as a basis of teaching, but we cts, of which these are insignificant portions, have still uninterpreted, but the general truths I have nowhere find it denied. Like other points of pacen neglected. Thus a pursuit, rich in its pro- mentioned, are admitted to be declared in it with triarchal belief, it was retained by the people in general, and, if almost lost in troublous and igno-This discovery bears with surprising force upon rant days of the Judges, it afterwards gained and more distinct revelation of the gospel.

The illustration of details of Biblical history which the Egyptian monuments afford, is a subject egypt would not be almost as great a mystery as to question its truth, and have allowed themselves of great importance, from its bearing upon the then the priests refused to tell the sacred name of to drift away into a very dangerous position. So accuracy of the Bible. It has been very much siris. long as we knew nothing of the Egyptian religion, neglected, in consequence of the extravagant exI know that many are weary of the very men except from the representations of the monuments pectations of many, who, in the early days of ion of Egyptian or any other archaeology in rela. and the incorrect statements of ancient writers, it Egyptian archaeology, looked for an exact account ion to the Bible. They say, "We have read so was easy enough to assert, on the evidence of a of Israel in Egypt from the monuments. They nany books and essays on this subject, arguing on few outward agreements, that the two systems were never perceived, what is clear enough, though few uatters prejudged, that we do not believe in your identical. Now, however, our fuller knowledge has are willing to admit it, that we have no consecutive mpartiality." I quite admit that on the religious enabled us to find the very ground-work of the chain of historical monuments stretching through ide there has been reason enough to offend any Egyptian religion, and the result is this paradox many centuries. In the remotest past there is the slear-headed or honest inquirer. But I have found, for the Germans. They derive the law from a group of tombs around the greatest pyramids of and still find, quite as much written on the other system altogether opposite to it. The law taught Memphis, which tell us, in their sculptures and inide, which is as repugnant to all notions of judg- the doctrine of rewards and punishments during scriptions, of the life of the Egyptians of that time, nent and fairness. To the end of time the major. life, the Egyptian religion held out rewards and about four thousand years ago. This group may ty on both sides will, intentionally or not, wrest punishments after death. Yet the very people who extend over two centuries. Then there is a great arguments and reason on false grounds, but this maintain the Egyptian origin of the law, have al- blank, with here and there a doubtful and shifting leged the absence in it of a clear mention of a stepping-stone in a dark stream of historical oblifuture state, as proving that Moses was not ac- vion, until we reach the monuments of the Twelfth quainted with that great truth; which truth we Dynasty, lasting for about a century and a half, now positively know to have been the primary doc- from Abraham's time. Then there is another great chasm, still more obscure than the earlier one, and It may be remarked that the knowledge we now we come to the Eighteenth Dynasty, beginning web of myths and superstitions which mainly com. have of the current belief of the Egyptians, clears about 1500 B.C. The second and more dense time up what was certainly a great difficulty. Formerly, of darkness is accounted for by the invasion and we held that the learned among them had some subjugation of Egypt by a foreign race, the Shepdim idea of a future state, but we had not evidence to show that even they believed in it universally, the statement of Manetho, the native historian, but it ever maintained its superiority. The whole or whether it was a religious doctrine, or merely that this was a period of terrible intestine war. the result of philosophic speculation. Now we From the Eighteenth Dynasty the evidence is more To it was due the majestic art of the nation. It know that the whole nation believed in life after connected, although often a hundred years or more death, and future rewards and punishments; that is nearly a blank in the history. From this it fol-The Egyptians believed in life after death, in these doctrines were the basis of the moral system lows, that if the Israelites were in Egypt in any of judgment according to man's deeds on earth, and of the priests; and that the architecture, the lite- the times as to which we know nothing from the in future rewards and puoishments. Their belief rature, and the very life of the Egyptians had Egyptian monuments, we could expect no distinct in these broad truths is quite certain; the more more regard to the future, than to the present state, account of their sojourn and exodus. If we take minute definition of them may be doubtful. It has not been determined how far the immortality of the soul was held; whether the ultimate state was supposed to be one of separate existence or of absorption or annihilation; whether the rewards or pun the median and preservation of the body, had of Hales, which many are disposed to be one of separate existence or of absorption or annihilation; whether the rewards or pun the median and preservation of the body, had of Hales, which many are disposed to consider the body that the generally began in the content of the many are disposed to consider the supposed to be one of separate whether the rewards or pun the median and preservation of the body, had of Hales, which many are disposed to consider the supposed to be one of separate whether the supposed to be supposed to the supposed to t ishments were believed to be purgatorial or eternal. reference to the after life of the soul. If the tomb best Bible chronology, both sojourn and exodus The judge of the dead was Osiris, the great foe of were rock-hewn, its walls were decorated with would fall in the time before this dynasty. In the power of evil. Every man was examined be-sculptures or paintings relating to the future state; either case, we would scarcely expect any reference fore him as to his deeds on earth. He had to reply representing the terrible judgment-scene, the hap- to the Israelites. But setting this aside, although to forty-two questions, each one relating to the compiness of the blessed, and the misery of the lost. Joseph's administration might have been recorded, mission of a particular sin. If acquitted, he be-So, too, with the subjects, though their tombs, in came an Osiris, taking the name and form of the the earlier ages of the monarchy, bear representa- place in the annals of a nation that was especially judge, and being admitted to the joys of the Egypt-tions referring to their occupations during life. The averse to chronicling defeat. The kind of illustraian Paradise, the Aähloo, whence the Greeks de- ancient Egyptian's card represented him as a dead tion we have a right to expect, does not relate to rived their Elysian Fields. A woman also became man, "the Osiris" . . . "justified," and he never the main facts of the history, but to such matters

(To be concluded.)

West-Town School.

The winter session of this valuable seminary was opened on the 5th of the Eleventh month; and at a late visit, we were informed that 190 pupils-104 boys and 86 girls-were in the institution, all slight colds. Judging from the cheerfulness obschool, afford satisfaction; and we do not doubt ways and fashions of the world. that important advantages continue to be derived from a course of instruction there, and from the example and religious concern of the care-takers for their best welfare. The usual branches of a good English education are taught; also, the Greek and Latin languages to a class of the boys. Lectures on Natural Philosophy are delivered to the scholars of both sexes, to which Chemistry will probably soon be added.

to it by Friends; and that so many avail themselves of the benefits which it offers for their children. The price charged for board and tuition, is much below the cost, and is probably less than the expense of living and schooling at home; so that there is a considerable annual saving to each parent or guardian who places a child there.

We have the satisfaction of being able to furnish the readers of "The Friend" with the subjoined account of the present session of Friends' Boarding School at Mount Pleasant, Ohio, which we presume, will be gratifying to them. now in this seminary 87 scholars-44 boys and 43 girls; the number being as large as the house will comfortably accommodate. General good order and harmony prevail throughout the establishment; and the pupils manifest a commendable degree of industry, and interest in their studies. The branches attended to, are Spelling, Etymology, Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography, Natural Philosophy, Chemistry, Physiology, Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, &c. Lectures on Chemistry and Natural Philosophy are delivered alternately each week, and occasionally lectures on Natural History, and other subjects.

Meetings for divine worship are regularly held on First and Fifth-day mornings, in which the deportment of the scholars is generally satisfactory.

When we recur to the fact, that there are within Obio and Philadelphia Yearly Meetings, twentyfour hundred children of suitable ages to be sent not feel the reward within himself? even the re- to the wisdom of this world, which is foolishness to school, it is easy to perceive that far greater compense of peace, unto which Moses had an eye with God, whose controversy is with the power of provision is needful to give them the religious, guarded school education which Friends have long desired and laboured to provide, than West-Town and Mount Pleasant Boarding-Schools can furnish. Instead of sending them to public or district schools, every proper effort should be made by the Society and its members to give the young people a course of school instruction in our own seminaries, where the principles and testimonies of Friends, as they have always been held, are maintained, and the pupils are under the care of conscientious teachers, which must prove of great benefit to the rising generation. The culture of the youthful mind under consistent Friends, may not only counteract all prepared for the reception of those precious the exaltation of the Lord's holy standard, in the immorality and wrong principles, but implant correct sentiments on the obligations of christian duty, every soul strengthened and comforted through against the floods of the enemy, who is seeking to turning the attention of the children to the Source faithfulness in the occupancy of them; until He of all good; and when the Spirit of Truth en-comes, who will reward with fullness of joy, all the Word of life, to destroy that love and fear lightens and draws them into serious thoughtful- who have kept the word of his patience, not being which are the fruit of living faith.

to yield to its requisitions, and he thereby induced cast up to walk in; even the way of the cross. to follow the Saviour in the path of regeneration. The love of enemies is incompatible with the

our religious profession, will tend to prepare suc- of true godliness is loving those who love not us cessors for the support and spreading of our chris- for God so loved us, while we were yet his enemie of them in apparent health, excepting a few with tian doctrines and testimonics. But the evil in that he sent his only begotten Son into the worl fluence of wrong example and indifference to the for our sakes, even that He might destroy the spir servable among them in their familiar intercourse faith and practice of Friends, will tend to create a of enmity, and reconcile us unto himself. Where out of school, we should consider them as enjoying like indifference in the youth; and such teachers, fore, if we have the Spirit of Christ, we shall b a good share of happiness. Attention to their stu- instead of attaching them to their own religious engaged to co-operate in this blessed work, whereb dies, and their regard to order and the rules of the Society, may lead them into the spirit and corrupt the serpent's head is bruised, and his crooked way

Wearing India Rubber Shoes .- The tendency of India-rubber shoes is to make the feet cold, and in such proportion to endanger health; hence, they are useful only in walking when the ground is muddy or slushy with melting snow-in these cases they are invaluable, and there is no equal substitute. Two rules should be observed when-It is encouraging to find the institution continues ever it is possible: when rubbers are on the feet. to command the interest and support which is given persons should keep moving, and remove them on entering the house, if it is intended to remain over a few minutes. If the rubbers have been on the feet several hours, both shoes and stockings are necessarily damp by the condensation and confinement of the perspiration, therefore all should be removed, and the naked foot held to the fire until warm and dry in every part; if then a pair of dry stockings are put on, and a pair of warmed and loose slippers or shoes, there will be a feeling of comfort for the remainder of the day, which will ful Creator. more than compensate for the trouble taken, to say nothing of the ailments averted. But it must not be forgotten that as India-rubber shoes are impervious to water from without, and ought not to be worn except in muddy weather, and only then while the wearer is in motion, so leather shoes, rendered impervious to water, by blacking or by any other means, should be used like India-rubbers, temporarily, and when walking in mud or slush. For common purposes, the old-fashioned leather boots and shoes are best, if kept well blacked, with several renewals of dry socks during the day if the feet perspire profusely. As cold and damp feet are the avenues of death to multitudes every year, a systematic attention to the above suggestions would save many a valuable life.

For " The Friend."

for who that truly loveth God, and his fellow, does in love, dwelleth in God." But this love is opposed when he chose to suffer affliction with the people darkness, which is seeking to overturn our faith ir of God, rather than to enjoy the pleasure of sin his secret and living witness. "The secret of the for a season. And how wonderfully was he re- Lord is with them that fear him;" but is hid from warded for his faithfulness in pleading for the people, on account of the judgments with which cording to the outward sight, and judge according they were threatened, because of disobedience; to the outward hearing, and not according to the confirming the testimony, that "the fervent effectual prayer of the righteous availeth much."

What encouragement have we, therefore, for the exercise of charity, such as described by the apostle; labouring with all patience, forbearance, and long-suffering; praying one for another, that the sick may be healed of their manifold diseases, and gifts designed for edifying the church in love, and hearts of the people, that it may be lifted up ness, it may be a means of strengthening the child offended in Him, because of the trials of the wa

A right education among those who live up to love of self; but let us remember that one mar discovered and avoided. If our spiritual eve i opened, we shall not only be enabled to discove and resist his wicked wiles, but our weapons no being carnal, will be mighty through God; to th pulling down of strongholds.

What a wonderful display of saving power i manifested to us in the gospel, which is declared to be the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth! And how doth the flesh was against it! As it is written, "the flesh warretl against the Spirit." How different are the fruit of the one from the fruits of the other-"love joy, peace," &c., from bitterness, wrath, conten tion, &c., which should incite us to watchfulness unto prayer, that we be not beguiled of the reward of a faithful continuance with the blessed Master in his temptations; casting all our care upon Him who hath promised to sustain his dependent child ren, as they abide and trust in him; committing their souls unto him in well-doing, as unto a faith

Seeing, then, that the love of God is the sub stance of all goodness, and the spring of all righ doing, let us seek to cultivate its growth in our hearts, by the denial of self, its great enemy,endeavouring to keep in the simplicity, meekness and lowliness of Christ, our great example,-pa tiently labouring, and quietly hoping, for the spread and triumph of Truth. Then may we believe that the Lord God will continue to dwell amongst and work for us; and, as in earlier times, grant a more eminent display of his goodness and power, the tokens of which are not now wanting; neither it the fault on his part, that they are not more abundantly manifested; but because of our want o faithfulness to the manifestations of his witness it the secret of our souls.

As in the outward, light is attended by heat, so in the inward, the true light produceth love; as i is written, "he that loveth his brother, dwelleth in The Faith that Overcometh the World, Worketh by the light, and there is none occasion of stumbling in him." "God is light, and in him is no dark ness at all." "God is love, and whose dwellett the wise and prudent of this world, who walk acinward law of love; which, when obeyed, leads out of all darkness and doubt into the Lord's marvellous light.

In humility, love, and holy fear, is our hope of preservation; keeping inward to the little, pure. unflattering witness for Truth; which is still leading many to labour, in the love of the gospel, for quench the teachings, warnings and reprovings o re obtained.

The average annual quantity of water is 34.9 then enemy. nches. Some parts of the State receive much more han others. The greatest average was at New York 46.3 inches. The least at Lewiston 22.2

nches.

e	tween these	22.0	2 111	uu
	Ogdensburg	h						24.6	inche
	Monroe							26.8	44
	Governeur							27.6	66
	Buffalo							27.3	44
	Millville							28.9	66
	Malone, Fra	ink	lin					29.1	44
	Pompey							29.5	**
	Rochester			•				31.8	**
	Fairfield		•		•		•	36.6	44
	Cambridge	•		•		•		40.1	66
	Utica		•		•		•	40.3	66
	Erasmus Hi	ii		•		•		42.7	66
	Bridgewater				•		•	44.0	**
ery near the average:
	Montgomery				•

34.5 " The difference has led to the shading of those arts of the map of the State, soon to appear with he gazetteer, darker or lighter, in proportion to the uantity of water which falls, so as to represent to he eye this great fact. The difference thus beomes visible, even a matter of sense. It is as if he eye saw the difference of rain over the State t once. This shading for rain was presented first our country in the army meteorological register, nd afterwards in Blodgett's Climatology of the Inited States.

As the above numbers give the average of seveal years, the difference will be more striking for he years. Thus in the city of New York the vaiation is from 55.3 inches, in 1846, to 35.6 inches 1849; at Rochester, from 25.5 inches, in 1838 b 39.0, in 1848; at Erasmus Hill, from 32.1 nches, in 1845, to 52.1, in 1841; and at Mont-835.—Rochester Union.

ood. Judge which is the most honourable.

Two men, living in the southern part of Africa, ther. After a while, one of them found a little in support of the same Federal Government. irl belonging to his enemy, in the woods, at some istance from her father's house. He seized her, nd cut off both her hands; and, as he sent her her, "I have had my revenge."

eaded old man, who asked for something to eat. rdered the servant to take him bread and milk, s much as he could eat, and sat down and watched im eat.

han was overwhelmed with surprise and humilia-obstructed the free presentation and calm consid-in the government arising out of the antagonism of tian girl appears, in contrast with that of her hea- ally prepared them for its final abandonment.

Jesus? And is there any honour in the world like frequent seasons, in the short period of each successive day, "with the word of God and prayer," we cannot want a clearer evidence of the insincerity of the excuse, that professes that no time can be spared from the pressing avocations of the day, for the service of God. It is not that such men are busy, and have no time for prayer; but that they are worldly, and have no heart to pray.

How light are all the troubles of this world, to those who value everything it contains according to its real worth! They may appear insensible to those who reekon by a different standard; but to the requirements of the Divine law, and seek they can never bear this imputation, for they know ing in humility and sincerity, for the intervention of the value of human applause. How happy should we be, could we always feel as we sometimes think!

THE FRIEND.

TWELFTH MONTH 15, 1860.

of universal righteousness, to prevent the severance ut off her hands. She went into the hut, and every proper effort should be made to avert such a catastrophe.

ad my revenge !" repeating the very sentence he people on both sides; embittering the feelings of many, and our responsibilities are great. ad attered when he so cruelly maimed here. The the two sections, one towards the other; while it

Quantity of Rain in the State of New York .- tion. The secret of it was that, in the meantime eration of the arguments and appeals, from time The amount of rain and melted snow in this State she had become a christian, and had learned the to time, put forth against that unrightcons system, pas been ascertained by observations made at sixty- meaning of the verse: "If thine enemy hunger, and which, under more genial circumstances, might wo literary Institutions over the State, from 1829 feed him; if he thirst, give him drink; for in so have found access to the good sense and consciences o 1850. From the meteorology, published by au-doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head." of the slave holders, and at least mitigated some of hority of the State, several interesting conclusions How beautiful the conduct of this injured christ the barbarities connected with it, while they gradu-

But slavery thrust itself into our legislative halls, In the courts of carthly kings it is always es- clamoring for protection and extension: unscruputeemed honourable to do as the king does. Jesus lous partizans have pandered to its arrogant preis our king. He conquers by kindness. When teusions, by granting its demands; while too many we "overcome evil with good," are we not like of those who opposed them, failed to manifest that christian spirit in their opposition, which alone can disarm violence, and promote the cause of peace and righteousness. As is usual, where men allow Watching unto Prayer. - "I prevented the themselves to be influenced by passion and prejudawning of the morning, and cried; I hoped in dice rather than by christian principles or sober thy word. Mine eyes prevent the night watches, reason, each party seeks to fasten the blame of the that I might meditate in thy word."-Psalm exix. present deplorable state of the country, upon its 147, 148. When the heart is really engaged for opponents-real or imaginary-and many whose God, time will always be found for secret duties, position in office or political influence imposes and rather will be redeemed, as with David, from upon them fearful responsibilities, seem more bent sleep, than lost from prayer. And when we see a upon securing party triumphs or defending party man, like the king of Israel, engaged in the most measures, than disposed to employ that influence active employments of life, yet, "sanctifying" such in calming the storm that has been long gathering, and has now burst upon the country, or in seeking to ward off the disastrous consequences which are impending from it.

We do not profess to understand what specific measures ought to be pursued in this alarming erisis; but we may rest assured that no scheme or compromise, however nicely it may be adjusted. which contravenes the immutable principles of truth and justice, as laid down in the gospel, can bring a permanent settlement; and that the only sure reliance we can have, is in the inhabitants of our widely-extended country, more nearly conforming our merciful Creator and Preserver, who alone can restrain the wrath of wicked men, turn the hearts of the rulers from their selfishness and folly, and bring the nation at last into the haven of peace and safety.

It may be, that to effect his own purposes in relation to the poor, degraded, down-trodden slaves, The great agitation and anxiety that pervade and to humble the pride of our highly favoured our country at the present time, in consequence of nation, He may permit this confederacy to be broomery, from 44.6 inches, in 1841, to 26.3, in the secession movement going on in some of the ken, and each portion to scourge the other, that so more Southern States, and the accompanying em-barrassment of the trading and financial affairs of ments are in the earth. We trust that every mem-Two Kinds of Revenge. - The one is returning the whole country, growing out of it, have given her of our religious Society will feel that it bevil for evil; the other is overcoming evil with rise to many and various propositions for compro- hooves him to keep out of all the party heats and mises and changes which, it is hoped, may allay strifes that are now disturbing the people, and to sectional exasperation, and bring all parties together seck for ability to walk among them in a manner ad a quarrel, and became bitter enemies to each again in mutual good-will towards each other, and strictly consistent with the peaceable principles which we profess. As a Society, we must confess It is certainly very desirable that all should be that we have not kept in that straight and narrow done, that can be done, in accordance with the law way, in which we know it to be the will of our Judge and Lawgiver, we should abide; that so ome, screaming with her bleeding wrists, he said of the bands which have heretofore united the Friends should be an ensample to all around them thirty-one States of the Union under one govern- of the meekness, the purity, and the spirituality of Years passed away. The little girl had grown ment; for the consequences that must almost in the religion of Christ. There is now a loud call p to be almost a young woman. One day there evitably follow the establishment of two rival and upon us all to strive, in the ability which can be ame to her father's door a poor, worn out, gray-loc-ordinate powers, with such opposite interests, derived from the Holy Spirit alone, to have reand embittered against each other by alleged mu- moved those things in the members individually, he knew him at once as the cruel man who had tual grievauces, are likely to be so dreadful, that and in the Society collectively, which impede the circulation of christian life and love, and greatly weaken, if they do not destroy that influence for We have always deprecated the introduction of good, which it once largely possessed; and which, the exciting question of slavery into the political in the present difficulties and dangers of our be-When he had finished, she dropped the covering arena, as it is one which affords politicians an ever- loved country, it might have happily exercised upon at hid her handless wrists from view, and hold- ready opportunity, -of which they did not fail to the community, were it a living and united body of g them up before him, she exclaimed, "I have avail themselves—to inflame the passions of the cross-bearing christians. Our privileges have been

As was to be expected, the serious disturbances

among the slaves themselves, and is rendering them, in many places, more insubordinate, and probably more disposed to resort to violent measures, to free or to avenge themselves. The consciousness of the dangers which, from this cause, surrounds them, and that it must be greatly increased, when separated from the other portion of the present confederacy, is inducing those slave States that threaten to secede, to adopt still more northern regions has been greater this year, than has stringent and oppressive measures in relation to the poor blacks who are dependent upon their mercy. There can hardly be a doubt that many of the lives of both whites and blacks, which have been summarily taken within the last few months, sion of the State Legislature, to meet on the 7th prox. upon charges of inciting the slaves to insurrection, to consider the condition of the country. The Texan have been sacrificed to the terror and vindictive passions of those who feel that they are living over a volcano, and are alarmed and excited at whatever they construe into evidence of preparation for and the people seem united in a determination not to its explosion.

From the Philadelphia Press, the following is taken, and is indicative of what is going on, and may be expected to be carried out in many of the slave States.

In 1822, it appears, further emancipation in South Carolina was forbidden. All slaveholders giving up the right of ownership thereafter, were obliged to resign their "people" to the care of trustees, who vouched for their freedom, paid their personal taxes, and made legal disposition of their property. Any number of persons, up to twelve, might thus be guardians of the emancipated, and a tax receipt, in the free negro's possession, was evidence of his disenthralment. The month of August last was marked by stringent legislative enactments against the free people of colour. Virtually, they were to be made slaves. A single man must become their guardian; they were to be entered in the assessments as his slaves, and must carry about them certain copper badges, whereupon they were numbered. If found without a trustee, they were to be sold at the block; if failing to procure badges of servitude, to undergo a fine of twenty dollars; and if at any time destitute of them, to be fined or imprisoned. No security was thus afforded to the free man and woman. If their trustees were avaricious, they could sell them with impunity, and their property was liable to summary wanton seizure. They were regarded as slaves by the law, and their fears magnified the existing oppression as initiatory to a series of out-rages eventuating in their practical thraldom.

Despairing, then, of justice or mercy in the Palmetto State, those of them possessed of sufficient means to re-move, looked to the North as a refuge. Many were assisted by conscientious guardians, and we have the best authority for the statement, that, up to November 1st, more than seven hundred and ninety persons departed from the port of Charleston alone. It thok all the re-sources of some to reach New York. Of the number named, about one hundred and fifty made Philadelphia their destination, and others, who contemplated a more Northern home, have since removed to this city. We have visited about fifteen families of these, and the statements we have made are gathered exclusively from their testimonies.

Of the one hundred and fifty mentioned, two-thirds are tradespeople. The men are carpenters, tailors, shoemakers, and masons; the femules, mantua-makers, milliners, laundresses, and nurses.

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

EUROPE .- News from England to the 25th ult.

Intelligence had been received of the arrival of the French and British army before Pekin, when negotia-tions were proposed by the Chinese. The statement that a treaty had been concluded was premature. Previous to the last advance of the allies, hostilities were recommenced by the Chinese, who were repulsed in two different engagements. The allies were encamped in a hostile position outside the walls of Pekin.

There is but little intelligence from Italy. The Nea-politan ministry had been changed, and Beorie had formed a new cabinet. Victor Emmanuel was expected at Palermo on the 26th. The Ex-king of Naples still held Gaeta. It is supposed that the siege had not been pressed, from motives of humanity, as it was evident the King's means of resistance were wasting away. He that fiscal year, were, from duties on imports, $53,- the free and slave States, has become known was in ill health, having ruptured a blood vessel. It 187,502 87; public lands, $1,778,557 71; miscellaneou was rumored that negotiations had been commenced in $1,010,773 31; loans and trensury notes, $20,775,20 Paris for the cession of Venetia to Sardinia, or the new kingdom of Italy.

The Emperor of France was expected to visit England, to meet the Empress at Windsor.

The exploring Arctic yacht Fox, Capt. Young, had arrived in Portland Roads, from the coasts of the Faroe Islands, Iceland and Greenland, where she has been engaged surveying the route for the proposed North At-lantic Telegraph. The severity of the season in the een known for twenty years past.

The Liverpool markets were dull. Flour had declined 6d.; wheat, 1d. a 2d. Consols, 93\frac{1}{2} a 93\frac{3}{4}.

United States.—The Secessian Movement.—The Go-

ernor of Tennessee has issued a call for an extra sesegislature will meet at the capital, without a call from the Governor, and will probably summon a State Con-vention to meet on the 8th of next month. In various towns in Texas, the "lone star" flag has been raised, submit to a Republican Administration. Union meetings have been held in Georgia and Mississippi, but the prevailing impulse is in favour of secession. On the 8th. there was a conference at Washington of all the Senators in Congress, from the slaveholding States. A proposition for the calling of a Convention of the Southern States, was discussed, and other suggestions were considered. Good feeling prevailed, but there seemed no probability of barmonious action among these States. Howell Cobb has resigned the Secretaryship of the Treasury. He is a candidate for member of the State Convention in Georgia. The President has been assured. from an authentic source, that the authorities of South Carolina will make no resistance either to the collection of duties or to the federal possession of the forts guarding Charleston harbour during the remainder of his administration.

Congress. - There appears but little disposition in Congress to take up the ordinary business of the session, as long as the danger of a dissolution of the Union is imminent. In the House of Representatives, the subject has been referred to a Committee of one member from each State. A proposition has been discussed in the Senate for the appointment of a Committee of thirteen, to consider the present alarming condition of federal town School, will be held at Arch Street Meeting-hou Most of the speakers deprecated a dissolution of the Union, and were forbearing and conciliatory in their remarks. In order to meet the pressing wants of the treasury, the House of Representatives has passed a bill introduced by the Committee of Ways and Means which authorizes the President to issue treasury notes to the amount of $10,000,000, of denominations not less than $100, and bearing 6 per cent. interest. New York.—Mortality last week, 388.

Pennsylvania .- The entire population of this State by the late census is 2,911,104; in 1850, it was 2,311,776.

Vermant.—The present population is 314,170, being an increase of only 1657 in the last ten years. There is a constant emigration to the West from this State, which prevents much increase of numbers.

The Shipping Interest .- The number of registered seamen in the United States, appears to be steadily declin-The number this year is only 5978; in 1840, it was 8091; in 1852, it had risen to 10,149, and since then has been rapidly declining. The fleets of New York and Boston sailing packets and emigrant ships appear to have melted away before the competition of English capital. The whale fisheries have alsn fallen off. The Slave Trade .- The barque Cora, of New York, was captured on the 26th of Ninth month, off the Congo river, with 705 Africans on board. A few days since she arrived at New York, in charge of Lieut. Eastman, with her officers in irons as prisoners. The negroes, it is presumed, were landed in Africa

The Post-office Department.—The expenditures in the fiscal year ending Sixth mo. 30th, 1860, amounted to $19,170,610; the total revenue for the same period was $8,518,067. Upwards of four millions of the expenditures were on account of the business of the previous year, still leaving, however a heavy deficiency in the husiness of the year, to be supplied from other sources. There are 8502 mail routes, estimated at 240,594 miles length. The whole number of post-offices is 28,552.

The Public Debt.—The funded debt of the United States, Sixth mo. 30th last, was $45,079,203, beside Bertson, at the which there were outstanding treasury notes to the Germantowa.

amount of $19,690,500.

balance, at the commencement of the year, S4,335

naiance, at the commencement of the year, $4,362
The Expenditures.—The payments, on account of public service, were as follows: War department, $11 409,767 10; Navy, $11,513,150 19; Interior department, (Indians and Pensions), $3,95,556 59; civ foreign intercourse, and miscellaneous, $27,968,370 8 for the public debt, $17,613,623; total, $37,742,102; leaving a balance in the treasury of $3,623,206 71.

The Exports, from the United States, in the fiscal ye ending Sixth mo. 30th last, amounted, including spec to $400,122,296.

The Imports, during the same period, were $362,16: Storm on the Lakes.—On the 24th and 25th ult., the was a severe gale on Lakes Michigan, Huron and Er

by which a number of vessels were cast away, and sixt seven lives lost The Fisheries .- The north-eastern cod and macket fisheries the past season are reported to have been ve successful.

The Markets.—The following were the quotations the 10th inst. New York—The money market was e ceedingly stringent, the rate for the best short paper bei from 15 to 20 per ceut.; Chicago spring wheat, $1. a $1.02; red Western, $1.07 a $1.12; white, $1.15 $1.21; oats, 36 cts. a 37 cts. Philadelphia—Red whe $1.20 a $1.27; white, $1.30 a $1.37; old corn, 66 ctnew, 59 cts. a 60 cts.; pats, 33 cts. a 34 cts. Baltimare Red wheat, $1.05 a $1.15; white, $1.10 a $1.35; c corn, 60 cts. a 61 cts.; new corn, 45 cts. a 55 cts.

RECEIPTS.

Received for Alexander L. M'Grew, Ill., $2, vol. 3 from John Hoyle, O., $2, vol. 34, and for Jas. W. M'Gre Mark Willits, John Hoyle, jr., Finley M'Grew, Jam Megrail, John C. Hill, and Alfred M'Grail, $2 each, v 34, for Benj. Hoyle, jr., $6, vols. 32, 33, and 34; fro John A. Potter, N. Y., $2, vol. 34, for Deborah Woods $2, vol. 34, Thos. Bowerman, $2, to 27, vol. 33; fro Asa Garretson, agt., O., $1, and for David Lupton, $ vol. 33; from Henry Harrison, Ill., $2, vol. 34; fre Abm. Cogill, agt., for John Edgerton, Io., $2, vol. 34.

A Meeting of the Committee on Instruction of Wes on Sixth-day, the 21st inst., at half past 11 o'clock, A.

Philad., Twelfth mo., 1860.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend and his wife are wanted to fill the statio of Superintendent and Matron at West-town Boardin School

Application to be made to either of the following Friends: NATHAN SHARPLESS, Concord; James Emil West Chester; Samuel Hilles, Wilmington; Hen COPE OF WILLIAM EVANS, Philadelphia.

Twelfth mo. 10th, 1860.

FRIENDS' ASYLUM.

Cammittee an Admissions .- Samuel Bettle, Jr., No. 1 Committee an Admissions.—Samuel Bettle, 97, No. 1. N. Tenth street; Charles Ellis, No. 724 Market stre-William Bettle, No. 426 N. Sixth street, and No. S. Third street; John C. Allen, No. 335 S. Fifth stre-and No. 321 N. Front street; Horatio C. Wood, No. 6. Race street, and No. 117 Chestnut street; John M. WI all, No. 1317 Filbert street, and No. 410 Race street Wistar Morris, No. 209 S. Third street; Nathan Hill Frankford; Elliston P. Morris, Germantown, and 805 Market street.

Visiting Managers far the month.—Mark Balderst No. 320 N. Sixth street; Benjamin J. Crew, No. 4 Marshal street; James Thorp, Frankford.

Physician and Superintendent .- Joshua H. Worthin ton, M. D.

FRIENDS' SCHOOL AT GERMANTOWN. Wanted at this Institution a Female Teacher, a me

ber of the Society of Friends, competent to give instr tion in the usual branches of an English education. Apply to Sarah Ann Fell, Rebecca B. Cope, Bettl S. Moaris, Germantown, Philadelphia, or to Amy BERTSON, at the school, adjoining Friends' Meeting-hou

> PILE & M'ELROY, PRINTERS, Lodge street, opposite the Pennsylvania Bank.

THE FRIEND.

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, TWELFTH MONTH 22, 1860.

NO. 16.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

rice Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by JOHN RICHARDSON, id in advance, six and a-half cents.

For "The Friend." Heary Hall.

(Continued from page 114.)

ennsylvania. In speaking of his ministerial serrtentous juneture, viz :

"The doetrines of Truth were clearly opened on my mind, and strength afforded to bear teshey know not what they do.'

promoters of this and similar institutions, is to be we dined, and being drawn into silence, the same commended; for here an asylum is found for the religious impressions which I had in the meeting, fatherless and motherless, as well as for the child- were renewed upon my mind; and I had a more dren of such Friends as incline to send their off-spring where they are less exposed to temptation, her to faithfulness. I understood, after parting than when placed under the tuition of irreligious with her, that she was of a high family in the persons at mixed schools, where the principal ob- world's esteem, and had passed through trials for

Lord, of New Jersey, who had come to accompany become the children of Friends. My mind being me in my Southern journey; and on the day fol-clothed with that love which leads to plain deallowing had an appointed meeting at Okesson, where ing, without fear of giving offence, mixing encour-I had to speak upon the sorrowful fruits produced agement with reproof, their better feelings were by a departure from the love and unity which the wrought upon through the power of the gospel, Proceeding in the accomplishment of his reli-religion of Jesus Christ leads into; this being com-ous prospects, he attended a meeting at Newtown, parable to the nature of the lamb,—while a de-gaged in labour; a tenderness of spirit was also parture therefrom produces the fierceness of the manifest; and instead of shyness after meeting, ces, the following observations occur, which seem lion; and that there were instances, even in our they seemed desirous of being with me, and their se a word in season at the present critical and favoured Society, where the chief seats were occu- company was pleasant. A number of them rode meckness of the lamb. I had also to exhort the whom and the family where we dined, we had a youth, not to be discouraged, if such weaknesses solemn season of religious retirement, and the dear nony to the peacealleness of the Messiah's kingmom. The minds of the people seemed to be in a

Joshua, who yielded not to the report of the evil

Joshua, who yielded not to the report of the evil

Joshua, who yielded not to the report of the evil

Joshua, who yielded not to the report of the evil

Joshua, who yielded not to the report of the evil

Joshua and Triends

Joshua, who yielded not to the report of the evil

Joshua and Joshua and drawings of our Lord Jesus Christ, that so their talents might be dedicated to his gree encouraged to keep out of the political dis

Joshua, who yielded not to the report of the evil

Joshua and Joshua and Joshua

Joshua and Joshu inflame the mind with evil passions, and to lead deep thoughtfulness respecting the close searching happy lot."

On under the government of the Prince of peace, labour that had fallen to my lot, covered my mind.

Of his visit to Baltimore, he remarks: "The om under the government of the Prince of peace. | labour that had fallen to my lot, covered my mind, | Of his visit to Baltimore, he remarks: "The hthis excited state, the mind rather seeks revenge and I remained on my seat while Friends with morning meeting on First-day was a season of far supposed injuries, than cultivates a disposition drew, when an elderly woman Friend came to me, vour, in which great freedom in the ministry was forgive our enemies, and thus individuals and and in a feeling sympathizing manner said, 'Don't felt by me. In the afternoon had a good time in diby to God in the highest, on eartip peace, good of Friends.

Ill to men. Our blessed Saviour says, 'If ye we, keep my commandments,' and his command is, 'Love your enemies; bless them that hate you; and you good to them that hate you; and you got them that deep itefully use you, and person to whatever service gaged to offer thanksgiving and praises for past any for them that deep itefully use you, and person to whatever service gaged to offer thanksgiving and praises for past way for them that deep itefully use you, and person to whatever service gaged to offer thanksgiving and praises for past my late of the property of the property of the past of the property of the past of the cute you.' How widely different from this is the tingham, I had an open time, being enlarged in cree spirit of the warrior and the duellist! Yet, tender invitation to those who were not members, ridge, and the Preparative Meeting of Baltimore. ness are sometimes found among the high proto come buy wine and milk, without money, and I felt at liberty to leave this flourishing city, which sssors of christianity. 'By their fruits shall ye without price. The following day, at West Notwe did accordingly on the following morning, partwow them; —the effects of war evince, that the tingham, I had a word of encouragement to deliver ing with divers Friends in near brotherly feeling arrior is not a disciple of the lowly humble Jesus, to some present, particularly to a woman, upon which had increased the longer we remained with be went about doing good to men, and when sufwhom my eye fixed, fully believing she was called them. There is a number of precious Friends in to make a vocal acknowledgment of the merciful this place, and others who have need of more humble Jesus, to some present, particularly to a woman, upon which had increased the longer we remained with them. There is a number of precious Friends in be moving language, 'Father, forgive them, for offers of a gracious God to fallen man; although mility and a greater conformity to the simplicity of I did not express myself in such terms as to awaken Truth. We rode to Gunpowder, and were cordi-On the 13th of Sixth month, 1799, he had a the suspicious of the audience. She was altogether ally received by Oliver Matthews and family, alligious opportunity with the family and pupils at a stranger to me, having never seen each other though they had to leave their beds to admit us. Vest-town school; and says, "It was cause of rebefore—and believing that I had, according to the We were wet and weary, and did not rise as early ewed thankfulness, that the concern for the reli-ability given me, cleared my mind for the present, next morning as usual, but our aged friend had left ious, guarded education of the rising generation, is I felt no disposition to speak to her, as we passed his home as soon as day dawned, and did not return preading among Friends. The liberality of the each other. She, however, came to the house where until near noon, when he informed us he had been

PHILADRIPHIA.

Postage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three and a-quarter cents;

Of some meetings in Chester county, he writes; in plainness, to the relief of my agreement of the post of the post of the plainness. In the relief of my agreement of the post of the plainness. In the relief of my agreement of the post of the price at ploining the society."

Corosing into Maryland, he came to Deer Creek, of which he says: "We attended the Monthly ducation of the youth, a blessing will attend it."

Of some meetings in Chester county, he writes: in plainness, to the relief of my agreement of the plain of the plai pied by those whose conduct did not evince the to an appointed meeting, held at Bush river, with progree our enemies, and thus individuals and land in a feeling sympathizing manner said, 'Don't left by me. In the afternoon had a good time in attended into dreadful content by the said of the sai cause, which is much wanting with many. Their in the death of him that dieth, and his mercy is feetly known as they recede from the coast; h meeting on First-day, was large, and held in solemn extended in this day, as formerly, when his warn-their proximity to Europe makes it certain the stillness a considerable time, when I stood up with ings, expostulations and entreaties were often re-these countries will eventually be opened, eith a view of saying only a few words; but as I ex-pressed them deliberately, the necessity of the pro-Ephraim. 'How shall I give thee up, Ephraim? zone comes that of the Sahara; a name vague fessors of christianity leading a holy upright life, how shall I deliver thee, Israel? how shall I make applied to the greatest desert of the globe; strete opened and pressed upon my mind, so that I stood thee as Admah, or set thee as Zeboiu? What ing its high and sandy plateau from the Atlan long, which occasioned a hard ride to reach a may be the effect of the labours thus bestowed in to the confines of Egypt and Nubia; with an ave meeting appointed at Patapsco falls, at five o'clock the love of the gospel, is not necessary to be known age breadth, ill-defined indeed, of at least 81 that atternion. On arriving, we found a number by the Lord's servants; it is enough for them to miles. Various lines of travel and traffic travel of people collected, who were not Friends-some have the evidence of Divine approbation, in the this wilderness, determined chiefly by the cases see of them appeared ignorant and unsettled in mind, enjoyment of that peace, which the world can nei-tered over its surface; some of these, large enough others solid and quiet, and it was upon the whole ther give nor take away.

a favoured season: humble prayers being put up "This has been to me a greater inducement to a fayoured season; humble prayers being put up to the Giver of every good and perfect gift, that he leave all to follow Christ, than instances which have around the springs which here and there well u would be pleased to bless the people with an in- come to my knowledge of a reformation in indivicrease of knowledge, in those things which belong duals, producing comfort and joy to their families, to their everlasting peace-that wars and fightings might cease, and the professors of christianity be incited to the due observance of those pure and excellent precepts, left by Christ for the government to deliver to the uttermost, all who come unto God of his followers—and thus be prepared to feel with by him.' Yet the knowledge of these instances Tripoli to its southern border were Denham a the afflicted; and that by doing unto others as they would others should do unto them, slavery in the course of this journey, to advert to the sin might come to an end."

"Seventh month 12th. Reflecting pensively upon my present situation, far from home and from my liberty and knowledge." dear family, I penned the following petition :-"O Lord! thou hast been with me hitherto, and by thy power I have been preserved in a good degree of resignation to thy will. Continue to afford me thy counsel, and I will endeavour to obey thee; send me wherever, or to whomsoever, thou seest fit. Thou hast separated me from my dear friends and tender connexions, a beloved wife and children, but I have no cause to complain-I ask not for riches or honour from man. It is thy supporting presence I crave, that I may be kept in my allotment, and be enabled to do whatsoever thou yet hast for me to do. Bless my dear connexions

"14th. At Fairfax meeting I was concerned to bear testimony against the sin of drunkenness, many not Friends being present: the audience appeared deeply impressed with the subject, while I held up to view scenes of suffering, but too common, which innocent children and wives had to enalienated from Friends, but have strayed far from of advancing them in the world.

"Some of this description were present; and and where the acknowledgment has been made that my labours had been instrumental to turn their minds unto Him, 'who is mighty to save, and able also afforded me encouragement, for I had often, of drunkenness, and its attendant evils, which em- tion, familiar to our readers, of which Dr. Bar hitter the lives of so many in this land of boasted alone survived to relate the history. The nam

(To be continued.)

Recent Geographical Researches.

(Continued from page 115.) death. But, alas! how lamentable is the situation or caravans. The portions thus described form the Coast, Clapperton perished; but his bold and of some of the descendants of Friends, whose pa- great interior of the African Continent. Its coasts telligent servant, Landor, returning, in 1830, rents have been more concerned to obtain a large are in every part more familiar to us; - a know the same route into the interior, finally solved tion of recent discovery, we shall here adopt.

them or the manner in which they spent their time and substance, yet my testimony against such and miles inland, and including the several ranges of ascend it were disastrous, or only partially st their negligent, earthly minded parents, was clear what are called the Atlas Mountains, has been cessful, we believe this to be the channel throu and plain, accompanied with that love which flows thoroughly suveyed by its French possessors; while which commerce and civilization will chiefly fi from a Divine source, the influence of which ope- Egypt and the valley of the Nile are becoming as their future passage.

riding round the country, notifying the people of rated on the minds of the hearers, and a solemn familiar to us as the courses of the Rhone and to our being at meeting, thus evidencing a love to the quiet prevailed. Truly, the Lord hath no pleasure Danube. Morocco, Tunis, and Tripoli are less pe to give abode to wild tribes of the Touarik a: Tibboo races; others mere patches of vegetati wards from the arid surface. The most extensi exploration of the Sahara which has yet been ma is due to Colonel Daumas, of the French staff Algeria, and M. Carette, whose reports were 1 viewed in this Journal some years ago. The fi modern travellers who crossed the Sahara fro Clapperton, in 1822; followed, after the interve tion of other less successful efforts, by the exper of his companions are added to the many marty of African discovery, who have succumbed und the malign influences of climate, privation, or t fanatic cruelty of the native tribes,

Dr. Barth's volumes, though somewhat arid style, like the country they describe, give a faith From Arabia we pass by a short step to Africa; picture of the physical aspect of the Sahara a -a continent abounding from the earliest time in of the people scattered over its few habitable par geographical problems, several of which are even But they have a higher interest in relation to wh now only partially solved. The question as to its we would call the third African zone; stretchi being circumnavigable or not; as to the sources across the widest part of the continent, from t of the Nile; the extent of the Great Desert; and Guinea Coast to Abyssinia; and in its southe the existence beyond of lofty mountains and a great boundary, though very vaguely defined, comi river flowing eastward,-these were points of spe- within six or eight degrees of the equator. Stri and friends with sensible and feeling hearts, that culation to ancient geographers, from the time of ingly contrasted with the desert plateaux to t in the covenant of life, we may be united in thanksgiving for all the many favours and blessings thou hast vouchsafed.'

Herodotus to Ptolemy, Strabo, Seneca, and Pliny.

North, this is a region of varied or mountaine giving for all the many favours and blessings thou hast vouchsafed.'

We have no space to enter fully into these subjects, or into the Arabian researches in Africa several in effect of these conditions, a region of profit centuries later. We must limit ourselves to the equatorial vegetation; and with a large and prenotice of recent discoveries only; and even this perous negro population, where not blasted by Ar more briefly than is due to their real and relative rule, or by the wars which minister victims to t value. It is a continent we may well seek to know foreign slave trade. The English and French more intimately; not merely from curiosity or the cupy, by their settlements, the mouths of some contingent benefits it may afford to commerce and the chief rivers on the Atlantic coasts; and it w dure, sometimes of personal abuse, and sometimes manufacture, but for the better prevention of the from this that the first attempts were made the want even of the common necessaries of life, curse of slavery which has long hung heavily over Mungo Park to enter the interior, to reach Timbi where husbands and fathers spent their time and this part of the world. Looking to extent only, it too, and to solve the mystery of that great rive. carnings at tippling houses; and some, the estates forms pretty nearly a fifth part of the total land flowing eastward to some termination then unknown which had been left to them, in a riotous course of of the globe. Ou a rude estimate we may say that The northern line across the Sahara furnished t living. Parents were tenderly pleaded with, to one-third of this vast area is wholly unknown; next access to this middle African region, acco endeavour to train up their children in the fear of another third so scantily known, as to furnish litplished by the intrepid travellers already mention the Lord, that thus they might escape the snares of the more to maps than the single lines of travellers In a second expedition, starting from the Guir share of temporal goods, than to seek heavenly ledge dearly purchased by that cruel and disgrace- question as to the Niger or Quorra, which had treasure. Some of these have not only become ful traffic to which we have just alluded. But the long held geographers in doubt. To Dr. Bar best general notion of African geography may be however, we owe our better acquaintance with t the paths of rectitude in social life, joining in gained by taking successive zones of latitude from countries between Lake Tehad and Timbueto scenes of dissipation, and thus have wasted what north to south; which division, suggested by di-their parents have scraped together for the purpose versities of physical aspect, as well as by the direc-reached the banks of the Tchadda, of which t Niger is now found to be the western feeder. E The northern zone, hordering on the Mediter- tering the ocean at the Bight of Benin, this might although I was a stranger to it, unacquainted with rancan, from Morocco to Egypt, is that best known river furnishes a third and more facile access oasts on each side are known; and especially hose of the Portuguese settlements, bordering ou he Congo, and in the vicinity of Mozambique. hough deeper ingress has recently been obtained n the eastern side, there still remains a tract equal aland seas was undonotedly known to the Portu-individual, and the living members be burdened." ance." uese geographers of the 16th century, and they re laid down in the older maps.

own the great mass of its waters into Nubia and I have great regard for ----'s best judgment, and gpyt. It is a problem inherited from the earliest want him carefully to exercise it. ges, and has an interest well sanctioned by the ength and volume it is surpassed by some, though s for a period of many thousand years, as giving ing at them like living over my life again. ot fertility alone, but its very soil and existence A great accountability on parents is their chil-the land of Egypt. No other river on the globe dron! Careless parents, indulgent to the humors Vithout noticing other physical singularities, as the grimage. Itesian winds, &c., we may simply advert further Nobian and Egyptian valley of the Nile; belonging mother must be firm, though tender, and insist on the affirms that one tract in the neighbourhood of a time only faintly reached by fragmentary right; begin early; their first lesson is, to do as ecords, but forming in themselves a living history where bid; and our lesson is, not to bid, amiss." island cotton.—The World.

To the south of these remarkable countries and picture of these remote ages. No river or re-

(To be continued.)

For "The Friend," Extracts from the Letters and Memorandums of our Late Friend, H. Williams.

not otherwise rewarding European enterprise. joint exercise among the rightly exercised prevailed, would fail. I desire to be found daily learning he great physical question now pending as to this so as to furnish a hope there was ability given to my dependence on the One who is mighty, in ortion of Africa is, whether it be a country of lofty this class not only to labour harmoniously for the troublous times, there is great safety in it; and nountain ranges, ministering to periodical river honour of Truth, but to the edification of the indeed, at all times." oods by the melting of snows? or an elevated church. At the close of our afternoon sitting, we lateau or basin, the receptacle of the six months' had a remarkable communication from ______, on quinoctial rains, and the feeder thence, through the present situation of our Society and of our and losses many ways, with perplexities, are the ikes or saturated morasses, of these river inun- Yearly Meeting. It was lengthy, and she was consequence of a neglect of religious duty: first, ations? To Sir R. Murchison we owe the first under great exercise; to me it was relieving and the rightly attending all our meetings, then other lear suggestion of the latter view; and though still timely; such as are able, for these things, must do various duties. ased chiefly on general physical considerations, all it, when strengthened, for the day calls for it; the absequent discovery has tended more or less to watchmen must give the alarm, when danger ap- attend, as there is a working with a single eye to proaches. 'I will sift the house of Israel among the good of the good cause. In the introduction to Dr. Beke's admirable all nations, like as corn is sifted in a sieve, yet "13th.—I want thou should mind the true spring Essay on the Sources of the Nile," and also in the shall not the least grain fall upon the earth.' She of life in thyself, and the true motion for expressmarks prefixed by Mr. Ravenstein to Dr. Krapf's signified it would seem to be the design of our sion in meeting; and I believe thy gift will be Travels in Eastern Africa," the great principles Heavenly Father to draw his own nearer unto blessed to thyself and others; use freedom with received pointed out which have effected a total himself; that no religious denomination as far as lange in our conception of the physical features she knew, were exempt from close trials at this I crave thy preservation. Mind the right time to the whole African continent. The principal our religious Society in an especial manbountain system of Africa is now found to extend nor. . . . Spoke of the mourning of the true- is all we want. It is better to add afterward a hearted in Israel; their hearts made sad with little more, than to take in what might be over."

Seventh no file 1.55 and the mourning of the preserved, which were the preserved, which were the preserved, which were the preserved and the p nd the Indian Ocean, instead of running from east things they could not speak of. The way was "Seventh mo. 6th, 1845.—At the Select Quarwest across the continent, as laid down by all pointed out to us to move on safely in; to put our terly Meeting at —, these expressions dropped taps, ancient and modern. Dr. Beke argues, that trust in Him who is able to deliver to the utter-from the lips of Elizabeth C. Mason, of Philadel-le fundamental cause of the erroneous notions most all who look unto him. I cannot give a full phia. 'This harmonious labour for truth's honour' specting Africa is, that the Europeans have al- and perfect account of this exercise, but it was to can only be maintained, as self is laid low.

of from the Deserts of the north, or from the a few words from _____, on the subject of the possible to hold the truth in unrighteousness; so wer-stricken rivers of the west, but from the ministry, that Friends be always careful (in our also we may contend for the truth with a zeal lateau or table-land of Eastern África; where, in little meetings he particularly spoke of) to wait for which is offensive in the divine sight. uct, the highly important discoveries of the Lake the motions of Truth; not think the circumstance anganyika and Lake Nyansa have lately been or the occasion calls for something to be said, and any present, but they presented to me, and I was add. In truth, however, the existence of these so force an offering, which would bring death to the afraid to pass away without giving them utter-

"Fifth mo. 11th .- I want thou may be strengthened and encouraged, from time to time, to do thy And here it is that we touch upon that sovereign duty, nothing less nor any more, so that peace may quietly awaiting in South Africa the arrival of the roblem of African geography, the true sources of attend; and I will try to do the same; though it uew and serviceable steamer which the Lords of ne Nile; or of that western branch of this river, may not be exactly in the same line, yet if done the Admiralty have just sent out, to replace the hich, under the name of the White Nile, brings when duty calls, it may be all in place and well, old and worn-out boat with which he has been

"21st .- I am deeply interested in the 'little y few only. Other tropical rivers have their pe-iodical inundations; but none come recorded to much ado with them, as some do. I feel in look-as the physical peculiarity of flowing for the and tempers of children, will certainly have to excepts our own cotton belt, when he says that no set 1200 miles through rainless regions, and real sunswer for their conduct; and, more, go sorrowing part of the world is better adapted to the growth of civing not a single stream for this yast distance. to their graves. I have seen this in my short pillishis plant, which plays such an important role in

"Sixth mo. 1st .- Was early discouraged this omes another wide zone of this continent, which gion of the world puts before the eye of the traveller morning (not being at all well,) in looking towards to European foot has ever yet crossed. The such marvellous memorials of the past. fit to face the meeting; but suddenly remembered 'help was laid on One who is mighty,' &c.; and so it proved; helped through to my comfort. E. Comfort, too, was favoured in a lively communication, not lengthy. So we move along, were it not otwo-thirds of Europe in extent, utterly untrodden "Fourth month, 1845.—Our Third-day morning for the 'putting forth (as it were) of his hand unknown; a field for curious discovery, even sitting, though long, was a solid meeting; and a through the hole of the door, at times our spirits

"Let us be concerned to bake the 'little cake on first.' I am assured difficulties and short-comings

"I feel more and more sure, that a blessing will

-, if under fear; but fear begets care, and ays approached that continent in a wrong direction, the point.

"In our Select meeting on Fourth-day morning, ing to knowledge. We are instructed to believe it

"I know not that these remarks will apply to Cotton Regions of Africa. - Livingstone is quietly awaiting in South Africa the arrival of the steaming up and down the waters of the Zambesi and its tributaries. A concise and interesting ac-"Ask -- to tell you something about Zeno count of the geography and enthnology of the valley ingular features of this wonderful stream. In an Carpenter. He attended our meeting, and preached watered by the most important of these tributaries, ticle before alluded to, on the Mediterranean so lively and good, in ancient style, such as I used the Shire, was sent by him to the British Association, ea, we spoke of the Nile, as the most remarkable to like when I was a little girl; easy to under and read at its last meeting. He describes the iver of the world; as well in its physical characters, stand, answering to the witness for Truth even in whole region as beautiful and healthy, and the s in its associations with human history. In mere children; I could wish we had more such." and eager for trade. The river is navigable at all seasons for 150 miles, with the exception of a space of thirty miles, where the cataracts impeded the progress of the steamer. Livingstone dwells more emphatically than ever upon the cotton growing capabilities of this portion of Africa. He scarcely excepts our own cotton belt, when he says that no part of the world is better adapted to the growth of commerce and politics. He looks forward to the Order them aright, it will save trouble another day when the valleys of the Shire and the Nyassa o what Sir T. Brown calls "those wild enormities" day; do not command, unless obeyed; the will shall furnish to the looms of Manchester a quantity fancient magnanimity,"—the wonderful works gains ground, when they get the upper hand; and of the raw material as great as that now supplied fart, labour, and magnificence, which crowd the when the will takes a wrong direction, father and by the Southern States of the American Union. For " The Friend."

"JOHN'S BAPTISM."

"And he said unto them, 'Unto what then were ye baptized?' And they said, 'Unto John's baptism.'
Then said Paul, 'John verily baptized with the baptism of repentance, saying unto the people that they should believe on Him which should come after him, that is, on Christ Jesus.'"

Why rest we in repentant tears i Why linger in the outer court? Why wander thus through fruitless years Lo, Christ is near! The way is short.

Poor weary weepers! were your sight With grief and watching not so dim, Ye might behold your soul's delight And find your peace and joy in Him.

Hark ! hear ye not Christ's blessed voice ? "To thee, my promises are given, Come, listen, heed, believe, rejoice, Thou, even thou, art heir of heaven.*

But come to me! for I alone; Can bring thee to thy heritage, Thy penitence can ne'er atone For sins upon the pilgrimage.

Not faith in tears, not faith in grief, But faith in me, thy soul can save, 1 Come! I will give thee quick relief, Come! I will leave thee nought to crave !"&

Oh, weary weepers! heed the voice, Then sorrow past, and faith begun, John's baptism o'er, ye may rejoice Forever in the Holy One.

A Young Friend.

For "The Friend." "WHOSE FAITH FOLLOW."

On the death of great men in Scandinavia, in olden time, a solemn feast was held, called the Gravol. On these occasions those assembled, after draining what was termed the "Cup of Memory," rchearsed the noble deeds of the departed, and uttered vows to perform similar ones.

Among the sturdy Norsemen old, When their great ones pass'd from earth, At the Gravol's solemn feast was told, Their deeds of might and worth,

When girding armour for the right, Unstained by fear or shame, They proved a true heart's mauly might, And won the crown of fame.

Drained was the cup of memory, Their acts were called to view And the living took the vow to be, As faithful, bold and true.

We too have cups of memory drained, In silent halls of thought, As saints who have their crowns obtained, Before our minds are brought.

We see them as they toiled on earth, In works of truth and love, 'Mid taunts of scoffers, mockers' mirth, With hope and faith above.

They flinched not from assaults of hate, Yet oft o'er sinners wept, Whilst swerveless on the pathway strait, To light and life they kept.

As we can trace their victories now O'er Satan's wiles and wrath, Rises not up the secret vow, To tread as pure a path I

Yes, if earth's warrior's fierce renown, Could stir to deeds of strife, Surely the christian's victor crown Of glory, peace and life,

And the soft hrightness of his course, Meek conqueror over sin, Whose loving faith foiled Satan's force, In many a fight within,

Who gentle word for scoff returned, Kind act, for every blow.

Whose heart with loving-kindness burned For every friend and foe;

Should stir us up with zeal to seek,

Through the dear Saviour's love, A path on earth as purely meek, A crown as bright above.

A Journey Under Paris .- A correspondent of Be not deceived; such as thou sowest shalt th a Swedish Journal furnishes an interesting account reap. He is none of thy Saviour whilst thou I of a subterranean voyage made through one of the admirably constructed sewers of Paris. The boat which conveyed the party was reached by descend- he saved thee from thy sinful lusts, thy world ing a flight of steps to the depth of about forty affections, and vain conversation? If not, then five feet. The boat, a flat-bottomed affair, was is none of thy Saviour. For though he be offer lighted by four lamps. The sewer is an archway, a Saviour to Saviour. For though he be offer fifteen feet high and of equal breadth, with a ditch those only, who are saved by him; and none or canal about ten feet wide, wherein all the dirt and filth of Paris is carried away. On the sides they are lost from God, and which he came to sa are sidewalks, which together are about four feet them from. It is from sin that Christ is come wide. The whole is built of beautiful white sandstone, and is kept remarkably neat and clean. of it. But those who are not saved, that is, de No stench or bad smell was preceptible. The denser vered by the power of Christ in their souls, fro portion of the filth is carried away through large drains beneath the sidewalks.

The side-walks are excellent, and exhibited no signs of dampness, while the walls of the archway ple obtain victory over their evil dispositions a are kept white-washed, and are at all times white as the driven snow. The structure possesses the properties of an immense speaking-tube, the workmen being able to converse at the distance of two miles from each other. The echo is very strong and lasting. The fabric is said to be built after a "Behold," said John of Christ, "the Lamb of G model of the catacombs of Rome, aided by all the that taketh away the sin of the world." That latest improvements. On both sides, at about behold him, whom God hath given to enlight two hundred yards distant from one another, are openings, through which the workmen can ascend, and his light and grace in their hearts, and ta by means of permanent iron ladders, in case a sudden rain storm should cause the water to rise over the side-walks, which is however, of rare occurrence.

The contents of the sewer, of course, flow into the river Seine, and the current is sufficient to carry along the boat used with considerable velocity. Large reservoirs are constructed at intervals, into which the water can be turned for a short time, in case it should be necessary to have the be sufficient, without obedience to his Holy Spi canal dry for a little while.

The whole work was completed in two years. Beside the main canal, there are many minor ones, constructed under the principal streets, all of which can be made to communicate with one another These admirable underground works are accessible from the Louvre, the Tuileries, and from all the barracks, and should the Parisians take a notion to barricade the streets in any portion of the city, the of men." "Agriculture," added Webster, in imperial government might, at short notice, and without any person being aware of it, transport troops, and, if there is time to make use of the reservoirs, so can cavalry also be transported the stand together, but they stand together like pilla same way.

the windows, and a revolution in Paris will soon only be remembered among things that have been, never to occur again. Through these underground with their own hands, their own fee simple acre passages, a prisoner can easily be taken from the drawing not only their subsistence, but also the Louvre to the Seine without attracting attention, spirit of independence and manly freedom from the and thence sent off by railway, which is near at ground they plow. They are at once its owner and thence sent off by railway, which is near at ground they plow. They are at once its owner hand. This splendid system of sewerage was one its entiryators, its defenders; and whatever force

Dr. Arnold, when at Laleham, once lost all patience with a dull scholar, when the pupil looked up in is face and said, "Why do you speak angrily, sir? Indeed I am doing the best I can." Years that wrong means will ever intercept good end after, the doctor used to tell the story to his own for without God's assistance we can do nothin * Mat. v. 3. † Heb. vii. 25. ‡ Acts iv. 12; 1 Pet. i. 9. children, and say, "I never felt so ashamed of and, without his blessing all we do, will come myself in my life. That look and that speech I nothing.

have never forgotton." Is not this a very su gestive fact for many parents and teachers, and t masters, too, who are oft-times impatient and u reasonable with youths of this class?

Can Christ be thy Lord, and thou not obey Hi or canst thou be his servant, and never serve Hir

Salvation from Sin.

jectest his grace in thy heart, by which He wou save thee. What has He saved thee from ? H a Saviour to all, yet he is actually a Saviour saved by him, who live in those evils, by whi save man, and from death and wrath, as the was the power that sin has had over them, can never saved from the death and wrath, which are the co tain wages of the sin they live in. So far as pe fleshly lusts to which they have been addicted, far they are truly saved, and are witnesses of t redemption that comes by Jesus Christ. His nar shows his work; "And thou shalt call his nar Jesus, for he shall save his people from their sins they ought not to do. A mere profession of belief in Christ, and in t doctrines of the gospel, however important to eve one to whom they are made known, will n manifested in the heart. We must know the chi to be consumed by its fiery baptism, and expe ence the truth of the apostle's direction: "Put on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof."

people, and for salvation to as many as receive hi up their daily cross, and follow him; such as won rather deny themselves the pleasure of fulfilli their lusts, than sin against the knowledge he h

given them of his will; or do that which they kno

Agriculture,-" Agriculture," said Washingto "is the most healthful, the most noble employme published letter, "feeds us to a great extent; clothes us; without it we would not have manufact ures, and we would not have commerce. They : in a cluster, the largest in the middle, and the There is an end to shooting on the soldiers from largest is agriculture. Let us remember, too, the we live in a country of small farms and freeho tenements; in a country in which men cultivat of the pet schemes of the first Napoleon .- N. Am. be undervalued or overlooked, let us never forg that the cultivation of the earth is the most impor ant labor of man."

Camden Evening School for Coloured Adults.

rill be regularly visited at least twice a week, when history. he condition of the weather, and of the crossing of hat purpose.

From the Constitutional Press Magazine, afluence of Egyptian Archwology on Bible Studies. (Concluded from page 117.)

Egypt rivals this. Therefore the prophet spoke of preface to his Sinai and Palestine:-Some of the readers of "The Friend" will reit instead of Thebes, the seat of empire, or any ember an article with the above caption, which other great town better known in Palestine. Amos ered history, expressly for the sake of finding conppeared a few weeks since, drawing attention to again uses the inundation of the Nile, "the flood firmations of Scripture, are often tempted to mishe fact of an application having been made to the of Egypt," as a symbol of the destruction that was lead themselves and others by involuntary exagge-Philadelphia Association to establish a school, in coming upon his land and people. (viii. 8; ix. 5.) ration or invention. But this danger ought not to be neighbourhood of South Camden, N. J. It I have never seen anything that so completely prevent us from thankfully welcoming any such ill be gratifying to some, and particularly to brought before me the idea of a destroying flood, evidences as can truly be found to the faithfulness have who responded to the application for assistnce with liberal contributions, to learn that the through its banks, and covers the whole valley; in | "One such aid is sometimes sought in the supchool has been in successful operation for about the midst rushes a broad, turbid stream, agitated posed fulfilment of ancient prophecies by the aphree weeks, and that it has been attended by the by the strong north wind blowing against its cur-pearance which some of the sites of Syrian or oloured people of both sexes, with a zeal and rent; on either side landmarks are carried away, Arabian cities present to the modern traveller, teadiness quite pleasing to the committee in and the villages stand like islands connected by But, as a general rule, these attempts are only harge. It was opened on Second-day evening, dikes, which the water threatens to break. Until mischievous to the cause which they intend to uphe 3d instant, when sixty-three had their names custom has used one to the scene, it is a terrible hold. The present aspect of these sites may rather, egistered, since increased to upwards of one hun-realization of the calamities of a flood. I have for the most part, be hailed as a convincing proof red and ten. Four teachers were employed, two dwelt upon these less-known topics in preference to that the spirit of prophecy is not so to be bound f each sex, who, notwithstanding diligent attention the histories of Joseph and Moses, which have been down. The continuous existence of Damascus and their charge, are unable to render all the assist- more carefully studied. Yet both these will gain a Sidon, the existing ruins of Ascalon, Petra, and nee which would be desirable; there would be fresh interest with those who will read them with Tyre, showing the revival of those cities long after mple occupation for another instructor, but the the Egyptian monuments for illustration. There the extinction of the powers which they once repands in the hands of the treasurer applicable to they may see the investiture of a Joseph with his resented, are standing monuments of a most imhis purpose, are not quite sufficient to discharge badges of office, the robe of fine linen, and collar portant truth, namely, that the warnings delivered il the obligations already incurred. The deport- of gold; there they may see the corn carefully by 'holy men of old,' were aimed not against ent and attention to personal neatness of the stored in granaries, as though for the years of fa- stocks and stones, but then as always, against cholars is quite satisfactory, and it has been ob- mine. Such boats as the papyrus-ark of Moses, living souls and sins, whether of men or of nacrved that where two have been seated together, are there shown, and there are foreign brick-makers tions."—P. xvi.

is though there had been an economy of space, vine origin. Thus Professor Stanley, avoiding the ence a confirmation of the truth of the Bible-naror there is frequently but a narrow passage be rocks on which Keith ran his vessel, steers into rative which relates the settling of a band of tween the lines of tombs. No other grave-yard in very doubtful shallows. He thus writes in the the were unequally advanced in acquirements, the under hard task-masters. The whole series of The principle put forth in this passage would, I etter scholar has assisted his neighbour, in the sculptures is an unintended commentary upon, and think, reduce all seemingly literal prophecy to a bsence of the teacher. The school, it is expected, an impartial witness to, the truth of the Bible typical sense. * * * How could nations be punished except by the wasting of their fields and I may here mention a modern illustration. It cities? Professor Stanley's reply is a citation of he river will permit, by a committee appointed for is well-known that many ancient Egyptian customs the restoration of certain cities, some yet standing, are yet observed. Among these, one of the most which were once denounced as to be utterly deprominent is the wailing for the dead by the women stroyed. The prophecies, however, either did not of the household, as well as those hired to mourn. speak of their final ruin, or else did not declare the In the great cholera of 1848, I was at Cairo. impending calamities to be the last that should fall This pestilence frequently follows the course of upon them. Ascalon, Petra, and Tyre, if not at In these matters the accuracy of the Bible is rivers. Thus, on that occasion, it ascended the once destroyed, certainly virtually perished many trikingly shown. The Greek writers, some of Nile, and showed itself in great strength at Boolák, centuries ago. Jerusalem is still a city; but where whom, and especially Herodotus, were not inaccu. the port of Cairo, distant from the city a mile and has prophecy been more literally fulfilled than in ate observers, have been cited to set right the a half to the westward. For some days it did not the obliteration of her old monuments in the time Siblical account. In every case the monuments traverse this space. Every evening at sunset, it of desolation that followed the capture by Titus?

ave proved that the sacred historian was correct, was our custom to go up to the terrace on the roof. The cases of Damascus and Sidon are, I frankly and the profane historian in error. The most inoff our house. There, in that calm, still time, I acknowledge, more difficult of explanation. Yet, eresting illustrations are, however, those which beard each night the wail of the women of Boolák if we admit the veracity of what sacred history for their dead, borne along in a great wave of sound, re quite as frequent in the Prophets as in the a distance of two miles, the lamentation of a city requite as frequent in the Prophets as in the a distance of two mines, the lamentation of a city toy as to that of the other, there seems to be a Pentateuch. Thus we read in Exodus, that when stricken with pestilence. So, when the first-born sufficient naswer to the requirements of the case, he Israelites saw Pharaol in pursuit of them, were smitten, "there was a great cry in Egypt; Very often the dissociation of people and city for [there was] not a house where [there was] not might be reasonably supposed to relieve the latter raves in Egypt, hast thou taken us away to die one dead." (Exodus xiii. 30.)

Perhaps the most important use of Egyptian is inhabitants. Damascus, be it remembered, was ea declared of the fugitives of Ephraim, "Egypt had for centuries has been Arab. Who hall gather them up, Memphis shall bury them." ix. 6.) Egypt is, above all countries, a land of Here, again, I know that many, wearied by the destroyed it; but in St. Paul's time it was ruled ncient tombs. The rocky ridge that shuts in the rash and presumptuous interpretations of prophecy by an Arab prince; and from the earlier days of slain and valley, is honey-combed in its face with which have of late years abounded, will object to Mohammedanism, it has been a seat of Arab power. epulchral grottos; in the edge of the desert are the very discussion of the subject. Yet if they The case of Petra is well worth looking into. ountless mummy pits; on its surface are many acknowledge the truth of the Bible, they must be There the full measure of punishment came surely, wilt tombs. Scarcely a day's journey passes, but prepared to give a reverent consideration to the if it tarried long. First the Idumeans were driven be voyager up the Nile sees some of these; first, when the percentage is to the prophecies is a necessary consequence sist the power of Greece and Rome. Even then, boundain approaches, the entrances of grottos along of a belief in the truth of the Bible. There is no however, the dominant race, that of the Nabatheeans, ts face, sometimes a field of sepulchres. Numer middle course—a prophecy must either be authori- appears to have been not Edomite but Arab. But us as are the modern tombs, they are insignificant tative or an imposture.

In consequence of the uncritical mode in which dred years, the Edomite race has disappeared, and but of all the ancient sites, Memphis has the prophecy has been studied, this branch of Biblical the only population of its mountain and valley has createst necropolis. For about fifteen miles, this inquiry has been neglected by many who have not been a colony descended from its hereditary enety of the dead extends along the edge of the felt any doubt as to the authenticity of the Scripareat Desert, marked from afar by the pyramids tures, and others have adopted views of the nature consumptions of the valley of Petrasing regally above the smaller monuments, of sacred prophecy in some degree tending to lower But these very peasants are called "the children" Wherever excavations have been made, it seems its dignity, and to weaken the evidence of its Di- of Israel," Benee-Israeel, and I find in their exist-justify our maintaining those rules of interpretation previous to the date of this letter, had been twice which a long series of great divines has upheld. from England, in America, on religious service. Let Egypt supply a fresh test, Egypt of which each He finally removed here, and during the time of site has been well explored, and of which the post- the American Revolution, died near Hopewell, biblical history presents few gaps. As I travelled Virginia, whilst in banishment there. through the country, I was very much struck by the utter ruin of some cities and towns, and the long continuance of others, when all the advantages of position and ancient importance have been in from Philadelphia, of the murder committed by a when amongst you. At those times I clearly sa favour of the former. I have unriddled this difficuel banditti of a number of poor, unhappy in- the service of that institution, and also its necessary the prophecies relating to them. For in- dians near or at Lancaster, has deeply affected my sity. My dear love in the unchangeable truth culty by the prophecies relating to them. For in- dians near or at Lancaster, has deeply affected my sity. My dear love in the unchangeable truth stance, it is said of Memphis, "Noph shall be waste mind, occasioning [me to feel] near sympathy with the members of that meeting in a particular ma and desolate, without an inhabitant." (Jer. xlvi. Friends in your province, and [to raise] frequent ner, and to the whole flock and family of the 19;) and "Thus saith the Lord God, I will also cries for your proservation in this day of close trial faithful in your province. These things sprin destroy the idols, and I will cause [their] images to cease out of Noph." (Ezek. xxx. 13.) Except "The times are indeed perilous, and many must at liberty to make such use of them, as freedo to cease out of Noph." (Ezek. xxx. 13.) Except Sais, Memphis, the greatest city of Egypt, is alone stand as in jeopardy every hour. Who can stand unmarked by the ruins of temples. The remains upright and unshaken and true to the ancient tesare utterly insignificant, although the tombs are timony in meckness and stability?—those who have writes thee by this conveyance. My very degreat and extensive enough to show the size and made the Most High their refuge, and trust singly love salutes thy worthy aged mother and yo wealth of the city. So, too, of Thebes it is proph- under the shadow of his wing for preservation, whole family. Please to accept also a large sharesied, "No, shall be rent asunder." (Ezek. xxx. 16,) To these he will be a Covert from storms, and dethyleself from me and my dear wife and children. which may merely refer to the distress of its peo-ple; but when we stand amid its ruins, torn by a his high and holy name! shall be to them a safe great earthquake, of which Eusebius has preserved dwelling-place, and tower of defence; a sanctuary, the record, we incline to the literal interpretation. in which no breach can ever be made. May you of the American Association for the advancement Nowhere else in Egypt has the solid masonry of flee there, and rest in quietness, solitary till the of science. Prof. Newberry read a very interesting the temples been thus destroyed. Still more dis- storm be over. tinct are the prophecies of the drying of the Red "There is a time to remain hidden and be silent, caused such a revolution in the price of propert Sea, which has taken place since the latest date to and a time to appear and speak, a time to suffer, in some of the adjoining counties. The oil, it a which perverted ingenuity has endeavoured to bring and a time to reign. The Lamb of God for a time pears from the gentleman's statement, is found a down the prophetic writings. "The Lord shall was dumb. As a sheep before the shearers, so be Pennsylvania, Western Virginia and Ohio, Canac utterly destroy the tongue of the Egyptian sea." opened not his mouth, but in patience endured the and other places. The wells yield by pumping (Isaiah xi. 15.) "The waters shall fail from the contradiction of sinners, and suffered unto death. from the or twenty-five barrels per day of the sea." (Isaiah xix. 5.) In the last two thousand it seems to me you should as much as possible crude oil. The yield of the refined article of the years the head of the Gulf of Suez has retired follow his blessed example. Go not out. Contend Pennsylvania oil is about 85 per cent. of the whol some twenty miles. Who can look at that dried not with men who are of this world, and whose He saw a well which gave ten barrels a day up bed, and doubt "the sure word of prophecy?" spirits are on fire, who, though not active with their pure oil, without any foreign admixture, and it we So is the failure of the Nile foretold, (Isaiah xix.) own hands to shed blood, yet their hands are not barrelled and sent to market as it came out of the 5,) and, apparently, also the destruction of its clean, but polluted. It will be much safer for you ground. The owner was not satisfied and deepene seven streams, (xi. 15,) although the latter passage to refrain from discoursing frequently, respecting his well, and in eighteen hours one hundred an may mean not that the Egyptian river should be the contward state of things amongst you, and the ten barrels were collected from it—but this prove smitten in "the seven streams," but that "the commotions and tumults that are or may be, for if to be very impure. The crude oil burns dimly river," that is Euphrates, should be smitten "into Friends entertain one another with often conversed and is a very good lubricator, and when refined seven streams." In any case, the Nile in the Delta ing about those matters, there will be a danger of has less smoke and less odour than any other of has so failed, that now the only navigable branches drawing the mind from a proper centre, and a loss and is not explosive, while its illuminating power are the two that were formerly artificial canals, so may be insensibly sustained. Let the Lamb's pa- is equal to the best coal oil, and can be furnishe that the seven streams are fordable. Not less definite are the prophecies of the failure of the pappy you shine with conspicuous brightness in due searus and other reeds, and the flax, the destruction son, and truth will gain ground, not by open con- loss by distillation is about one-half. These of of the fisheries, and the consequent ruin of the tests and reasoning, but by humble resignation and everywhere occur, for the most part, about or main branches of Egyptian industry. (Isaiah xix.) suffering. The great cause of religion never lost geological level. The Portage sandstone, which Not less remarkable is the case thilliment of these ground by suffering, but spread much when its a prorous rock, is the one most frequeutly pen the reeds are no longer a feature of its vegetation, righteousness. There is nothing secret from the only serves as a reservoir for it, as it is forced us English cotton is sold in its streets, in the place of Most High. No humble spirit but He beholds, from below. The chemists must announce the sourcely support the half-savage population of a scarcely support the half-savage population of a child of the family, but He noticeth it; not a sortified from the carbonaceous deposit below, and propher that "There shall be no more a prince of holy, attentive ear heareth. And when the mea-remains. Prof. Pugh confirmed the statement: the land of Egypt," (Ezek. xxx. 13,) has been sure of suffering is full, and He says it is enough, to the practical value of the petroleum. It is use literally fulfilled in the stranger rule that has been then will the Lord arise in his mighty power, and with great success by the students in the Institute the curse of the country since the second Persian reign in majesty. The spears of the mighty shall to which he belongs, and they found it to bur conquest, more than two thousand years ago.

Simeonites, in Hezekiah's time, in Mount Seir, (1 Chron. iv. 42, 43,) no less than a fulfilment of the prophecy that Israelites, apparently the most southern, should hold "the Mount of Esau." (Obadiah, 19.)

has the highest human interest. In these days of and policy, and make flesh their arm. The work which also oils had been obtained. contest, so important a province should not be left is the Lord's, and who can stand before Him. He the petroleum in its crude and refined states were to those who are indifferent or hostile to the best ruleth in the conneils of princes as he sees meet, exhibited. Some of the natural specimens were purpose of honest and earnest inquiry.

For "The Friend."

Good Advice for all Times.

Pemberton is well worthy the serious consideration restrained, and set bounds and limits which th of the true-hearted, deeply tried followers of the could not exceed. I think that here we have witnesses enough to Lord Jesus Christ, in the present day. John Hunt,

"London, Third mo. 1, 1764.

under the shadow of his wing for preservation. whole family. Please to accept also a large sha predictions. The papyrus is unknown in Egypt, professors [in such seasons] kept their places in trated with the hope of getting oil; but this roc small district. In the political history, the one rowful sigh or groan from the true birth, but his may be the product of animal as well as vegetable be broken, and their strength become as the spider's better, and to be generally superior to the commo Egyptian archeology has had the reputation of web. Kings shall be bound in chains, and nobles oil. Prof. Whitney thought it likely that these of being a narrow and fruitless pursuit. I have endeavoured to show that, if rightly prosecuted, it brought to nought, who trust in their own strength discovered in the Hudson river formation, from not, their determinations; binding them in chai and fetters, so that his hidden purposes are broug The following letter from John Hunt to John to pass, although they know not who it was the

> "I hope your Meeting for Sufferings will be ke up, and duly attended, in the unity of the spi and bond of gospel fellowship, which is charit out of all heats and strife for victory, in innocenand simplicity. Then the Lord will bless you, as refresh and comfort you with his precious, livin presence, making you one another's joy in the Lor

"I very often think of that meeting, and r "Dear Friend,-Some accounts lately received member some baptizing seasons I enjoyed therei permits.

"Our friend William Horne is now here. I "JOHN HUNT."

paper on Rock Oil, the discovery of which he

For "The Friend."

Immediate Revelation. shonoured, so the devil has his object in keeping nourish the soul up to life eternal. ssession of the heart, who cares not how God is tward or bodily appearance, and is ascended all their needs, through Jesus Christ our Lord. where he was before with the Father, but now reveals himself by his spiritual appearance in id lite of Jesus, the Spirit are foolishness to him, "neither can he plates, a little ox-gall, or other suitable material, know them, because they are spiritually discerned." is rubbed over them. Previous to the isinglass It has been one of the devices of Satan, in or If things which properly pertain to man, cannot be becoming quite dry, they are cut through along er to maintain his kingdom, to seduce man from understood by any power inferior to the spirit of a the borders. The leaves are then removed and cut pedience to and a reliance upon the revelation of man, then the things of God and Christ cannot be out with hollow punches, as in the case of other e Holy Spirit, as the only means by which the known or discerned by anything below the Spirit wafers. The various colors are also communicated ving knowledge of God is obtained. After the of God and of Christ. The revelation of Jesus to them by pigments while in the fluid state. ght and glory of the gospel of Christ had pre- Christ and the saving knowledge of Him, is spirituled in parts of the world, so as to dispel the ual, and therefore can only be known and discerned urkness of the heathcuish doctrine of the pluralyof gods, the devil knowing there was no probagiving living faith to believe and accept them. The both the devil knowing there was no probagiving living faith to believe and accept them. The both the polymer that way, began a postle also asserts that "no man can say that guff him up with an imaginary knowledge of the lesus is the Lord, but by the Holy Ghost." If no letterby." I have felt an earnest desire, that my ue God, setting him to seek God the wrong way, man can affirm that He is Lord without the Holy dear young friends who are seeking after the Truth, ad persuading him to rest in such a knowledge of Spirit, it must be plain that he cannot know Him may indeed experience this gracious promise to be Divine Being, as was of his own acquiring, and without it. The inference from which is, that the fulfilled. To those who have come unto Jesus as tof the Lord's teaching. This device, accom- knowledge of God and of Christ that is life eter—poor, suppliant sinners, and have, through faith in oddted to the corrupt disposition of fallen man, nal, is only obtained and conveyed to the soul by Him, received the remission of their sins, having ho would exalt himself, and reject that which the Spirit of God, and therefore the knowledge become, by marriage covenant with the Son, reould bring him under distress for sin, and restrain which the carnal man has acquired from the words conciled children of the Highest—to these, and s ambition, has proved successful with many. In and writings of spiritual men, by the exercise of to these alone, is the Lord found to be indeed is self-exaltation and conceit, as God is greatly his natural talents, is not the knowledge that can glorious, a place of broad rivers and streams, Inches and the next, who cares not now our significant and a large state of the next of th what devotional forms he practises, so long as for instruction in righteousness, that the man of tifled by faith, we have peace with God, through serves his passions and lusts, and obeys the God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all our Lord Jesus Christ."

wil's suggestions and temptations. By this means good works;" and "which are able to make wise in the companion of the compan quired like any other art or science, and men Jesus." Whatever means He may please to use dangerous. Young people are apt to run to exwe not only assumed the name of christians, but for the help of his church, and of every member tremes, as in the following instance: A writer in we procured themselves to be esteemed as mass- of it, is effectual because He ordains it, and brings the London Times says "that almost all young resoft christianity by artificial modes of man's it home to the mind, and applies it by his Spirit to men who have been at Oxford and Cambridge, evising, though altogether strangers to the spirit the condition of the soul, and thereby gives it especially those who have meddled much in boat living faith to believe, that it will contribute to races, have as a rule diseased blood-vessels, arte-If we take the true definition of a christian acmake it wise unto salvation, and to promote its ries, or veins, and very many of them diseased rding to the Holy Scriptures, that he only is one the hath the Spirit of Christ, and followeth it, life. Man cannot command the spiritual bread that w many professors, even pretended teachers of comes down from God out of heaven; he must call it,) of the circulation, induced by pulling at ristianity, would be justly divested of that noble wait for it, and hunger and thirst for it. This boat races. In fact, the matter is now well recogde. There is no real knowledge of God but by hunger can only be produced by the operation of nized both at insurance offices and in the adminsus Christ, the Mediator between God and man, the Holy Spirit, giving man a true sense of what istration of chloroform amongst the upper classes, cording to his own words: "No man knoweth he needs, and raising the "hunger after righteous" where a diseased heart is to be avoided. It would e Father but the Son, and he to whom the Son ness;" which, in the Lord's time, he will answer, seem the delicate fibres of the hearts of the boys Il reveal Him." "I am the way, the Truth, and give the necessary supplies. Let none attempt and lads sent to Oxford especially, at once give d the life, no man cometh unto the Father, but to make bread to satisfy their hungry souls, or to way before this pressure or remora. me." Hence it is evident that the knowledge kindle a fire to soften their hard hearts, but learn God which is life eternal, is only given by his to endure patiently the feeling of their destitute on, who manifests himself to man by his Holy state, which the Holy Spirit only can bring them pirit. He is now withdrawn from us as to his to a sense of, and in the Lord's time He will satisfy Manufacture of Wafers .- The mode of making e soul. Before he parted from his disciples, he the best quality of wafers, as practised by the id, "Lo, I am with you always, even to the end English manufactures, is as follows:-Fine wheat or, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, to communicate a glossy surface to the wafers, present a compact or paved surface dhe with me." "He that hath an ear, let him When dry, the sheets of paste thus formed are ar what the Spirit saith unto the churches." laid up in a pile, about an inch or more in depth, his must be an inward appearance of Christ to and cut into circular pieces by a hollow punch, e mind of man, and a spiritual communion with which allows the wafers to pass up its tubular cavity and discharge themselves sideways as the Another apostle says, "What man knoweth the cutting proceeds, which is effected with great raings of a man, save the spirit of a man which is pidity. The varity of colors that are ordinarily ceived the spirit of the world, but the Spirit state, or previously dissolved in the water employed, what it is to suffer for the cause of the church and lich is of God, that we might know the things The French isinglass wafers, made in France, are its glorified Head.

John Hunt removed from England to this coun-

For "The Friend."

and so great will be the humility of such, that Friends have always held in high esteem the there will be found no place for the galley with

Over-Exertion-Violent exercise is exceedingly Barotrope.-A Frenchman has invented what is called a barotrope, a sort of human locomotive, by which a man sits on wheels and walks himself along five miles in thirty-five minutes on the Boulevard Bazaar of Paris at noon, when the street was most crowded. At another time the same men made thirteen miles in ninety-six minutes, the exercises being so easy that they offered to keep the world;" and after his ascension, he directed floor is taken, and mixed with white of eggs and lit up alternate hours, day after day, and thought e apostle John to write to the church of Laodi isinglass into a very smooth paste; this is spread they could without difficulty average fifty or sixty a, saying, "Behold I stand at the door and over tin plates evenly, and dried in an over, sevential as the door and over tin plates evenly, and dried in an over, sevential the plates being placed one over the other it beats the best turn outs on steep grades, if they

FRIEND.

TWELFTH MONTH 22, 1860.

In our columns of to-day will be found a letter him? Even so the things of God knoweth no communicated to wafers, is given to them in the from John Hunt, which, we think, will commend an, but the Spirit of God. Now we have not paste, by the usual pigments in the dry powdered itself to the best feelings of all who really know dural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit consistence, which is poured out upon plates of try some time prior to the breaking out of the re-God, for they are foolishness unto him." in glass provided with borders, and laid upon a level volutionary war, and resided in the immediate neigh-

other citizens, all members of our religious Society an amendment to include the repeal of all "personal view of the distracted and dangerous condition of the but three, he was banished to Winchester, Vir- liberty bills," so called. ginia, where he died, after an exile from his home mination of Attorney-General Black, to be Secretary of of a little more than six months. James Pember- State, which was confirmed. ton, who was a fellow-sufferer with him, after speaking of the patience and christian fortitude the following vote was given at the last Presidential manifested by him during his sickness, his peace-fulness and christian composure in the prospect of death, and his burial at Hopewell, says, "Thus the last act of respect and love was solemnly paid to the remains of a dignified minister of the gospel, whose gift was eminent, and he had laboured in it forty years. His delivery was clear and intelligible, and his doctrine sound and edifying. He was often favoured with great power and demon-land, has been appointed to the post vacated by the re-stration, singularly manifested in our meetings for worship we had during our exile at Winchester. He expressed himself much concerned that the inhabitants should come to a knowledge of the Truth, 10; scarlet fever, 29. and a due feeling for their own eternal welfare; and although but few of them knew us, yet they were desirous to attend our meetings. Being a man in the State. Lancaster county has the largest number of clear judgment and strong natural abilities, improved by long religious experience, he was a use-and only 839 inhabitants. The five most populous coun-ful reamber of our religious Society, careful for the ties are, Philadelphia, 568,034; Allegheny, 180,074; ful member of our religious Society, careful for the support of the discipline, and spoke often pertinently to matters under consideration."

speaketh.

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

EUROPE .- News from Liverpool to the 7th inst. The British Parliament was to meet on the 5th of Second month. A deputation which includes two members of Parliament, has been appointed to convey an invitation to Garibaldi to visit England. The Times publishes full details of the expedition of the exploring vessels for ascertaining the feasibility of the projected in China. In two engagements with the Chinese, two thousand of them were killed, and fifty guns taken. The allies had only eighteen men wounded. The head quarters of the allies were eight miles from Pekin.

The Liverpool cotton market had declined ad, in consequence of the financial panic in the United States. Sales of the week, 49,000 bales. The Manchester advices continued favourable. Breadstuffs were dull, and pressing on the market, in consequence of heavy arrivals from the United States. The quotations were as follow—Red wheat, 12s. a 12s. 9d. per 100 pounds; white, 13s. a 13s. 6d.; yellow corn, 37s. a quarter. Consols, 937 a 94.

A French imperial decree provides for a more direct participation by the great bodies of State in the govern-The Senate and Corps Legislatif are annually to vote an address, in reply to the Emperor's speech. P vision is made for a due expression of opinion and the publication of debates. Some superfluous offices of dignity and honour are to be suppressed. It is stated that no one was aware of the Emperor's purpose to decree these changes in the Constitution, till he laid the document before his ministers in council, where it met with some opposition.

The siege of Gaeta continued. Four batteries had opened their fire upon the place.

UNITED STATES.—Congress.—The alarming condition of public affairs has been the chief topic of discussion. In both Houses, various propositions have been considered, and a variety of amendments to the Constitution have been brought forward, designed to pacify the bave been brought forward, designed to pacify the Ition of the public property. The President, however, is South. We have no space to report them in detail. On sill opposed to such an increase, for prudential reasons, the 17th, the House of Representatives passed a resolution in the following words, by a vote of 13s to 14:—sent excitement. Lewis Cass, Secretary of State, has Resolved, that we deprecate the spirit of disobedience resigned his position, in consequence of a disagreement to the Constitution wherever manifested, and that we with the President in regard to the propriety of reinearnestly recommend the repeal of all statutes by the forcing the forts, in Charleston harbour. He cainstained State Levisideures, in conflict with and in violation of the tower the duty of the President to do not show the earnestly recommend the repeat of an statutes by the locking the locking the that is as the duty of the President to do so, but the that sacred instrument, and the laws of Congress latter was unwilling to sanction a movement, which, he passed in pursuance thereof." This was explained in feared, might lead to a collision and bloodshed. In

The Popular Vote .- According to the official returns

For Lincoln 1.866,861 Douglas 1,002,354 и Breckinridge 685 866 " Bell 560,735 Fusion and scattering . . . 569.803 Total 4,685,619

Secretary of the Treasury .- Philip F. Thomas, of Maryfirmed by the Senate.

New York.—Mortafity last week, 372. Philadelphia.-Mortality last week, 223; of diptheria

Pennsylvania .- The complete census of this State hows an aggregate population of 2,913,441 inhabitants occupying 514,847 dwellings. There are 160,923 farms of farms, viz., 6721. Forest, the smallest number, 98. Lancaster, 116,621; Berks, 94,003; Luzerne, 91,089 total, in five counties, 1,049,821.

The Treasury Note Bill, which passed the House of Truly it may be said, that being dead, he yet Representatives, was amended in the Senate, and finally passed. It authorizes the issue of treasury notes for such sums as the public exigencies may require, but not to exceed at any time ten millions of dollars, of deno-minations not less than fifty dollars. The notes bear interest, and are to be received in payment of taxes and all public does.

The Union Committee of Congress, are understood to have held a number of meetings, and discussed various propositions designed to restore harmony. On the 13th, they adopted, by a vote of 23 to 8, a resolution offered by the member from Arkansas, as follows: "Resolved. North Atlantic telegraph. The results are pronounced biggly satisfactory and encouraging. Further details have been received of the operations that the statistic properties of the present of the previous statistics are pronounced biggly satisfactory and encouraging. greatly to be regretted; and that whether such discontents and hostility are without just cause or not, any reasonable, proper, and constitutional remedies, and ef-The fectual guarantees of their peculiar interests, as recogters of the aims were eight miles from rekin. The fectual guarantees of their peculiar interests, as recognitions are all and the receipt of the first peculiar interests, as recognitions are all and the perpetuity of the Union treaty. The Emperor's brother had been appointed been appointed been proposed to their Commissioner to make a peace.

The best bills were negotiated at 4½ per cent.

The best bills were negotiated at 4½ per cent.

The best bills were negotiated at 4½ per cent. Maiue, and Wisconsin.

The Secession Movement .- A meeting of the members of Congress from the farther South was held on the evening of the 13th, at the request of Reuben Davis, of Mississippi, one of the members of the Committee of "Thirty-three." A manifesto addressed to their coustituents, was drawn up and signed by them generally, in which they urge immediate secession from the Union, and declare that the Republicans are resolute in the purpose to grant nothing that will or ought to satisfy the South. They say, "In our judgment the honour, safety and independence of the Southern people are to be found only in a Southern confederacy—the inevita-ble result of separate State secession." The manifesto was forthwith transmitted by telegraph. As this action of the representatives of the cotton States took place after the passage of the resolution of the Union committee, it is obvious they are opposed to any accommodation or compromise, and desire to break up the Union at all hazards. There is but little, if any, confidence reposed in the assurances that South Carolina will not resist the Federal authorities during the administratiou of President Buchanan. They are regarded as mere promises, to quiet the apprehensions in official quarters. Gen. Scott has expressed the opinion that additional forces should be sent to South Carolina for the protection of the public property. The President, however, is other of the distracted and angeless country, the President has issued a proclamation, recommending that the people of the United States shou observe the 4th day of the First month, 1861, as a diof "humiliation, fasting and prayer." He says, "! Omnipotent Providence may overrule existing evils i permanent good. He can make the wrath of man praise Him, and the remainder of wrath he can restrain His Omnipotent arm only can save us from the awt effects of our own crimes and follies-our own ingratude and guilt towards our heavenly Father." South Carolina .- The State Convention assembled Columbia on the 17th inst., and, after organizing, a journed to meet the next day at Charleston, in cons quence of the prevalence of small-pox in the former cit

The Kansas Sufferers .- According to the reports the Kansas Relief Convention, liberal supplies of flor meat, corn and other provisions, have been received from Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, and distributed amount the destitute-still however leaving much want unsu plied.

Saw Mills in California .- There are 400 saw mills California, erected at a cost of $2,500,000. Of thes about 200 are propelled by steam, and the remainder water. They cut annually 500,000,000 feet of lumbs the value of which is $15,000,000. Violent Deaths in New Orleans, La .- The coroner New Orleans, La., reports 85 murders in that city dt ing the year, 32 suicides, 109 accidental deaths, deaths from intemperance, and 105 cases of drowning

Cincinnati.—The municipal authorities of this city ting dissatisfied with the U.S. census, have had it at taken, and make the population 171,293, which is about 10,000 more than were first returned.

Received from John Macy, N. C., $6, vols. 31, 32 a 33; from Nathan Breed, per W. B. Oliver, Mass., $ vol. 33, for V. Meader, $2, vol. 34; from Israel Buffit ton, agt., Mass., $2, vol. 34, and for Searan Lincoln, Tripp, N. Buffinton, Wm. F. Wood, Miller Chace, Chace, and M. B. Buffinton, $2 each, vol. 34.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend and his wife are wanted to fill the atatic of Superintendent and Matron at West-town Boardin School

Application to be made to either of the followi Friends: NATHAN SHARPLESS, Concord; JAMES EMDI West Chester; SAMOEL HILLES, Wilmington; HEN

FRIENDS' SCHOOL AT GERMANTOWN. Wanted at this Institution a Female Teacher, a me ber of the Society of Friends, competent to give instr

tion in the usual branches of an English education. Apply to Sarah Ann Fell, Resecca B. Cope, Bettl S. Morris, Germantown, Philadelphia, or to Amy 2 Bertson, at the school, adjoining Friends' Meeting-hot Germantowa.

MARRIED, on the 8th of Eleventh month, at Frier Meeting-house, West Grove, Chester Co, Pa., Geoi T. Satterthwaite, of Salem, Ohio, to Sarah C. Cona daughter of Thomas and Rebecca S. Conard, of the ! mer place.

Dien suddenly, on the 20th of Eleventh month, Je T. Таоти, son of Samuel F. Troth, aged 27 years member of Burlington Mouthly Meeting, N. J. It is lieved that he was daily concerned to walk in the li of the Lord; circumspect even to jealousy, in the wa he set upon the door of his lips, and in the guard placed upon his actions. Truthful, scrupulously j merciful, gentle to all, he inspired unlimited confide in those with whom he had dealings, and thus, tho very unobtrusive, he adoroed the doctrine of which made profession; and the fragrance of his memory l since his removal, caused the Truth to be well spoken Our beloved Friend left his peaceful home in health the morning of his decease, and whilst employed in business avocations, the sudden caving of a banl earth and stone, so injured him that his death spe-followed. Many recent incidents and passages of conversation, now seal the conviction that he was re for the coming of his Lord.

PILE & M'ELROY, PRINTERS. Lodge street, opposite the Pennsylvania Bank.

HR R

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, TWELFTH MONTH 29, 1860.

NO. 17.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

rice Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance. Enbscriptions and Payments received by

JOHN RICHARDSON,

AT NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

Postage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three onths, if paid in advance, three and a-quarter cents ;

For "The Friend." Henry Hull.

(Continued from page 122.)

The providence of God is over all his works. ce and protection of Omnipotence, who will is to come." fer nothing to befall them, which, if received d borne in a proper spirit, shall not ultimately following memorandum, viz.:rk for their good. What a blessing it is to be evenly Father, who permits or orders as He sees the sparrows, and who-e promise to every obeose who happily turn inward in humility, and best to say nothing more to them.

"The house was in a very solitary place, and came in, and we were seated facing each other at veryl Monitor, find it a sure director in all that the inmates alike hostile to us, they being also opposite sides of the room. The descendings of utes to daily duty, and consequently affects the slaveholders, and from their conduct after we rose heavenly good soon spread over our minds, and I complishment of that great end, many have known our chamber, we found there was no fastening on to direct the attention to a path less flattering and should not come upon us by surprise. We got but popular, and gently, but with authority becoming little sleep, our apprehensions being increased by

How many who have, through mercy, been ing to each other for several minutes-they then strengthened to "hear and obey," have afterward went down stairs, and soon after came and placed blest and praised the gracious Providence who themselves in the same situation again, without and part of the United States, for three months, if thus held them back from their favourite object of speaking to us or offering to come into the room, id in advance, six and a half cents.

In this part is described by the speaking to us or offering to come into the room, pursuit, which, had they gone on, time has shown, These circumstances, added to the noise and common the speaking to us or offering to come into the room, pursuit, which, had they gone on, time has shown, These circumstances, added to the noise and common the speaking to us or offering to come into the room, pursuit, which, had they gone on, time has shown, These circumstances, added to the noise and common the speaking to us or offering to come into the room, pursuit, which, had they gone on, time has shown, These circumstances, added to the noise and common the speaking to us or offering to come into the room, pursuit, which, had they gone on, time has shown, These circumstances, added to the noise and common the speaking to us or offering to come into the room, pursuit, which, had they gone on, time has shown, These circumstances, added to the noise and common the speaking to us or offering to come into the room. while that which seemed like bitter disappointment night, caused us to sleep but little. We did not to cherished hopes and glowing anticipations, has feel quite released from apprehensions of danger, here is not a flower that blows upon the inhospi- from the many illustrations it affords of the truth beware lest he should be popped off his horse, ple desert untrodden by the foot of man, nor an of these remarks, and the steadiness with which for having interfered and cut the rope with which unet that creeps unseen on the surface of the he appears to have endeavoured to follow this heat a poor coloured boy was tied, while receiving a rith, but is under his immediate notice and care, venly Guide. Though it led him to forsake wife severe flogging, for not having the cows in the yard sing from the less to the greater, his especial and children, home and business, for the gospel's at the usual time. gard and superintendence are bestowed upon sake, yet his dedication not only yielded the prein, created in his own image, and gifted with an sent reward of peace, while preservation and sup- I believe, had I not raised my voice in behalf of mortal soul. The Holy Scriptures abound in port were daily granted, but the evening of his the poor runaway, under feelings of such resent-urances that these views are not visionary; and well-spent life was erowned with tranquillity and months if did, (though I do not think I manifested at those who give themselves up to the ordering with the humble but firm assurance that there was anything like wrath, I should not have been left the Divine Will, are peculiarly under the guid laid up for him the "hundredfold in that life which under the power of fear, fully believing in the

During his journey in Virginia, he makes the

ablished in a humble, childlike belief in these other Friend, pursued our journey toward James' ths. Not a mere opinion held in the head, but river, crossing the Blue mountain at a place called been preserved in humility and calminess, I have irm faith raised in the heart by the operation of Rock-fish gap, where we lodged. A number of felt no fear, but a cheerful resignation to the Lord's Holy Spirit; the source of all true faith. Happy the man who, amid the vicissitudes of among whom were several rough and fierce-looking he, in this lowly confiding trust, is enabled to men, in pursuit of a runaway slave, who, after be-true antidote to fear is keeping under the calming

; and can calmly rest in the conviction that He relating the circumstances of his capture and est true christian courage and fortitude are granted, th all things well. There is a stability and cape, loading the poor slave with hard names, and which raise the mind above slavish fear, confirming lement evinced by such, equally removed from drawing from their fellow slaveholders the conclu-ical indifference and arrogant presumption, and sion, that should they take him again, the most last lion; "and "If our hearts condemn us not, led is the fruit of true religion. They tread the ereal and severe punishments they could inflict then have we confidence toward God."

salvation of the soul; and even in ontward affairs, from the supper table, we were not without apprewhich directly or more remotely influence the ac- bensions of personal danger. When we were shown it to lift a warning voice against embracing prost the door, but we placed a chest against it, which peets which appeared promising and attractive, and braced against the foot of our bed, concluding they its high original, to whisper in the secret of the hearing several persons come up the stairs directly soul, "This is the way—walk thou in it."

eventually proved the path of safety and of peace, until we rode some miles from the place, remem-The life of Henry Hull is specially instructive bering that William Savery had been cantioned to

"The fear I endured, was unusual for me, and omnipotence of Him who limiteth the proud waves of the sea. I think the sense of the protecting power of the holy One of Israel was in great mea-"My companion and I, in company with an sure withdrawn, for in seasons of far greater apparent danger of losing my life, when my mind bas

This is an instructive lesson, showing that the er all the events, whether adverse or propitious, ing once taken by them, had again made his escape influence of the Lord's Holy Spirit. Where the ich checker his life, to the providence of his into the woods. "As we sat around the supper table, they were and the mind watchfully attentive to its dictates, h of life with tranquil dignity and steady step, would not be too bad for him. I was grieved at "The day after leaving this dark and solitary relying on themselves or their own powers or such conversation, and feeling my spirit stirred inn, being the first day of the week, we crossed acity, but on the wisdom and goodness of Him against their conduct, could not forbear advocating James' river, at Lynchburg, and attended Friends' o numbereth the hairs of their heads, and careth the exertions of the poor runaway to obtain his meeting at South river. The meeting was settled liberty-calling upon them to make his case their when we got there, and we took our seats with as ut child is, "I will never leave thee nor forsake own, and think whether there was one among them little interruption as possible. The opportunity of e."

all, who, if placed in his situation, would not use sitting down with our dear friends in reverence
But beside the general Providence of the Al- the same means to escape slavery and punishment, before the Most High, was truly satisfactory and thy which governs the universe, and that more I was soon convinced of the propriety of the cau encouraging, and the little labour that was called ticular manifestation of it which controls the tion given by Christ, 'Cast not your pearls before for at my hands, was in feelings of brotherly love. tiny of nations, and arranges and develops a swine, lest they turn again and rend you: their We were kindly noticed by Friends, and tarried rese of life for each individual; there is a still larger was raised, and nanifested toward me by with them until the Fourth-day following. One to inuncidate and direct guidance offered to furnious and wrathfu words, and they were so un- morning, as I sat alone in the partour of a Friend's h through the agency of the Holy Spirit reasonable in their conduct, that I concluded it house, I saw a woman ride up to the door, on which believe neither of us spoke for half an hour, but continued sitting in profound silence. My mind was dipped into feeling with her, and I fully believed she was a chosen handmaid of the Lord, and labouring under deep discouragement at the source is at this moment still unknown. But a form to account for periods of flood thus strong prospect of becoming a public advocate for the very short time will, it is our belief, solve the ques- marked by the hand of nature. And as the pe precious cause of the Beloved of her soul. Our tion. All former attempts to do so, from the ex- Lucan observed, the period of the Nile inundation mental eye, I believe, was mutually directed to ploration ordered by Nero, to the later enterprises does not coincide with that of floods caused by t thin who openeth and no man can shut, and shut. of English, German and French travellers, have teth and no man can open; and when He is pleased been made by ascending the river from the north. Captain Speke left England again six mont to create the fruit of the lips, blessed are they that In tracing the great branch, called the Blue Nile, ago for the scene of his hitherto fortunate labou obey; but at present my lips seemed sealed.

have some of our company. My mind became so Khartoun, and clearly coming from a more south- If he really does emerge from the lake upon t interested for her, that I went to visit her at her ern region, was still to be found. Followed up-river, and thence follows the Nile downwards in own house: her husband not being a Friend, and wards as a large stream to within three degrees of Egypt, he will have accomplished the greatest ge of a very volatile disposition; no way opened for the Equator, it became clear that its sources lay graphical feat of the age. Two years at furthmet to communicate my feelings to her vocally, but beyond this line, and research now took a new will suffice to decide the question. I did so fully and clearly in a letter I wrote to her direction; that which gives the promise of final We have dwelt disproportionately on this sa

Upper Goose-creek, and had a public meeting in with snow; and, if really so, at least 18,000 feet southern zone of this continent which is defined the court-house at Liberty, where it was thought in height. These travels, related in a work rearrange a Friends' meeting had never been held before cently published, have been followed by the far The Portuguese, with settlements on each coarse. Whilst I was speaking, a woman fell upon the more remarkable expedition of Burton and Speke; were the first to traverse this part of the Afric floor, appearing as if in great agony, and groaning the narrative of which occupies nearly the whole continent; but what they thus effected was val in a pitiful manner, as is not uncommon in the of the last volume of the Geographical Society, less to the world at large, and in its conexion we meetings of some societies, and frequently has the and is also given, in a more popular and amusing the slave traffic peruicious to the country its effect to excite the preacher to greater efforts. It form, in two volumes recently published by 20th. Not so the better directed and more intelligent was, however, the reverse with me, and I felt Burton himself. The main results of this expediture of the country has a superior of the country has a superior of the country has a superior of the country in the country of the country in the country is the country in the country in the country is the country of the country is the country in the country in the country in the country is the country in t grieved. The minds of the people appeared to be tion are briefly as follows. Even as early as three before us a wide field for future culture; and wh impressed with a degree of solemnity, which made centuries ago, the Portuguese—a people of marthem attentive to what was delivered, and prepares vellous prowess in those days,—obtained knowledge beginnings, promises much as well for geographi the mind also to judge correctly, the Holy Spirit of one or more great lakes in the interior of Africa, science, as for the spread of a more genial Eu bearing witness with their spirits, to the Truth. It cast of Zanzibar; but these intimations were well pean policy into this great river region.

was painful to me to think of the meeting being high lost to the world, until recently confirmed by To the several zones we have described as was pairful to me to think of the meeting being high lost to the world, until recently confirmed by disturbed, and I therefore requested the people to the reports of native traders, who described to the endeavour to keep still, and if the woman was consuls and missionaries on the coast, what might recently confirmed by likely to faint, some persons could take her to the be interpreted, though vaguely, as an inland sea.

Zambesi to the Cape of Good Hope;—a varie door for fresh air, upon which she arose from the officer, and, apparently much confused, walked to much to settle this question. From Zanzibar, 6° lation (amongst whom the Kaffirs in every settle door, where she sat quietly until the meeting south of the equator, crossing a coast range of stand foremost,) and in the other forms of concluded.

Spirit will at times tender the mind, as well as Tanganyika; 1850 feet above the sea, fully 300 and accurate account of the geographical feature operate upon the body, and that tears will flow so miles in length, and from 20 to 50 in breadth. of the colony of Port Natal, which is probably that it is almost impossible to restrain them. It is, This inland water they navigated so near to its of the most salubrious and promising British is however, necessary for us to guard against disturbing an assembly whose minds may be gathered no stream finds egress through the mountains which extremity of the African continent which forms turning an assembly whose minds may be gathered hostered more segress through the attention to communications, which, in subtend it on this side. No such negative evidence, Cape Colony and British Kaffraria has been mu Divine Wisdom, may be made interesting and in-however, exists as to the still greater lake Nyanza, well known to us by the misfortune of military structive to them. God is a God of order, and lying about 200 miles north-east of the former, well known to us by the misfortune of military must be worshipped in spirit and truth, an engage-1 he southern extremity of this lake, here 90 miles become the seat of peaceful rule, and prosper ment in which stillness and quietude are peculiarly in width, Captain Speke reached alone; his cometing the knowledge of the Lord and his may at once avow our belief that if any single great island continent of Australia; that land ways, as well as for the performance of that adora- lake-basin represents the main source of the Nile, problems and paradoxes in every part of its pl tion and worship which is due to Him. I cannot Nyanza is that lake. From 22° south latitude, sical history; in nothing more strange than in unite with the confusion and noises sometimes heard where Speke reached its shore, and nearly in the human relation to our own small island, on in assemblies professedly religious, and hailed as meridian of the White Nile at a point 3° north of opposite point of the globe's circumference. the mighty effects of Divine power, which it is to the equator, this fresh water sea, on credible native first English settlers, chiefly convicts, landed be feared, proceed rather from the passions and report, stretches far northwards; reducing the un-Sydney seventy-two years ago. A population will of the creature; and while these are in an known intermediate distance to so short a span, as more than a million now dwells in these colon unsubjected state, the mind cannot be benefited, almost to force upon us the notion of connexion and intelligent, energetic, and wealthy, possessing as the humble and contrite heart often is, when the continuity. The level of Lake Nyanza was found political justitutions and freedom of the mot benign Spirit of the Most High operates as the to be nearly 4000 feet above the sea; an elevation country, and maintaining all the usages of Eng refreshing dew upon the tender herb-these are that tallies well with all that is required by the social life, even to the very pastimes which am they that shall grow as the lily, and cast forth physical phenomena of the Nile. Other lakes or and give vigour to our youth. A file of Syd their roots as Lebanon."

(To be continued.)

There are few people more often in the wrong, than those who think they cannot be so.

Recent Geographical Researches. (Continued from page 123.)

to its sources in the Abyssinian mountains, Bruce and with the determinate object of following t "After some time thus spent, we engaged in gained a repute beyond the real value of his dis- Lake Nyanza into the Nile, if such connexion e pleasant conversation, and I found she had been covery. The origin of the White Nile, bringing a ist. He carried with him various aids, but no at meeting the day before, and had now come to far larger volume of water to the confluence at of such efficacy as his own energy and experien a few days afterward, to which she replied, acknowledging that I was favoured with a clear view south of the equator, the missionaries Krapff seeing especially the illustration these researc of the tried state of her mind.

* * * and Rebmann penetrated westward, far enough to afford to the general geography of Africa, and "We were at Beaver-dam, Goose-creek, and come within sight of mountains seemingly capped the discoveries of Dr. Livingstone in that me mountains, and proceeding westward nearly 600 tenanting its deserts, hills, forests, and rivers. "I am sensible that the influence of the Divine miles, they reached the great fresh-water lake of Robert James Mann has given us a very use morasses on this high level north of the equator, or Melhourne newspapers of this day may fai such as the Bahmal-Ghazal, recently described by be counted as one of the most curious docume Mr. Petherick, doubtless contribute to form this in the history of our race. We have no ro region. These rains, in their time, duration, as violence, can alone explain the Nile inundatio Admitting snow-capped mountains under the equ Of the great river thus characterised, the main tor, the melting of such snow must be far too un great river and its periodical floods, under the in-however, to dilate on these matters, or on th fluence of the tropical rains, common to the whole strange peculiarities in its native Fanna and Fle which distinguish Australia from all other regions of the globe. Many of these anomalies are becoming obliterated by the ingress of European life han the margin of the Antarctic continent. From the best friend; for it made men wise, and would enemy of humanity-of slaying each other with so beer leave them, who never left it, "which he much seizence and refinement.

The relation of the sast alone discovery has been extended to distances of 700 or 800 miles from the sea; found true in himself. As it made him wiser and this in seartly lines and at the cost of much privation and suffering to the adventurers. The him firmer than any here, having something more of disturbing her; To whom, I ask, would come arger portion of the coasts is known but by mari-than nature to support him, which was the judg-the idea of troubling the repose of Europe, the ing survey, and the vast interior is still a void in the curiosity to see him die, making good some have made, there would be no more armics, no presumed, Australia has much resemblance to meditations of his own, viz: "The day of death is more fleets; and the immense capital which is al-Africa in its physical features; a circuit of coast, the judge of all our other days; the very trial most always wrung from the wants and the misery with very few inlets or gulfs; the highest mountain and touchstone of the actions of our life. It is the of the people, and is predigally spent in murderous with the two parts of gards, we neglect mounted the sage and a good death or and a good death or and unproductive services, would be converted to within, touching in parts on the sea, particularly noureth a man's whole life. The fading or their advantage, into a colossal development of into and loss of this life, is the passage into a beta dustry, into the amelioration of roads, the building which Mr. Eyre, with vast powers of endurance, ter. Death is no less essential to us, than to live of bridges, the cutting of canals, the foundation of successfully explored. The existence of this great or to be born. In flying death, thou fliest thyself, public establishments, and the erection of schools, the Sahara of the South, though it is no small reproach to a christian, whose faith which would resene from misery and ignorance so not proved by actual passage across it, is attested is in immortality, and the blessedness of another many poor creatures who, in all countries of the to us in every way short of such proof. Without life, to fear death much, which is the necessary world, whatever be their degree of civilization, are reciting the names of the many eminent travellers passage thereunto." who have been engaged during the last twenty-five years, officially or otherwise, in their arduous efforts to reach the interior, we may state generally that from whatsoever point of direction ingress has been attempted, a waterless and barren desert has been present time, we think the following manifesto put which I mention depends simply on a powerful and eventually reached, frustrating all further advance, out by Garibaldi, is not the least. When we regenerous initiative; for, I ask, in what circumton this desert, entering it from the east, we have detuned the town much of this man's life has been passed stances has Europe ever more than now, presented cause to presume that Leichardt and his compain fighting, and the celebrity he has attained as a nions perished. Of its eastern boundary we now warrior, his testimony against war, and in favour us examine the situation as it is at the present moknow more from the recent and very remarkable of peace, is certainly striking and important. It ment. journey of Mr. Gregory; who, going in search of would be well for the nations of Europe, as well

Leichardt, traversed the continent by the long inland line from Moreton Bay (now the new colony thus recommends, would be adopted and carried casting his sceptre into the field of battle, and exof Queen's Land) to Adelaide, in South Australia. out by them. This traveller has already gained reputation and the gold medal of the Geographical Society for his in the very acme of his military triumph and glory, Queen and a generous and prudent nation, which eminent services in the North Australian expedible listened to with respect and compliance by those supports with enthusiasm the cause of oppressed tion of 1855, which, entering the continent at the in Europe to whom it is addressed, and those in nationalities; and France called to be arbitress of mouth of the Victoria River, proceeded to the S. and S. W. until arrested, about 300 miles from the

ness in this life, to be at leisure to be, and to do

Sir Henry Vane.

Sir Henry Vane's parts were of the first order, n its different forms. Here, as elsewhere, the and superior to the generality of men; yet he mense armies.

The secondary States—if only from a spirit of the mense armies.

"The secondary States—if only from a spirit of the mense armies." races; bringing with him the animals and plants his youth he was much addicted to company, and imitation, and, so to speak, to keep up appearances of another hemisphere to minister to the wants or promised little to business; but the reason on a similar footing on a similar footing.

On a similar footing on a similar footing on a similar footing.

"I will not speak of Austria and the Ottoman or promised in himself that they were just, but that of the promise of th of another hemisphere to minister to the wants or promised little to business; but in reading a book to this new continent. The rush to the California be had no share in any one of them, he fell into Empire, which are condemned to come to an end, odd region was still going on, when the discovery such extreme anguish and horror, that for some for the happiness of the unfortunate populations of still more prolific gold-fields on the flanks of the days and nights he took little food or rest. This which they have oppressed for so many centuries. eastern mountain chain of Australia—a discovery at once dissolved his old friendships, and made "We may, however, justly ask, why does this agaciously anticipated by Sir R. Murchison-di-those impressions, and resolutions to religion, which agitated and violent state of Europe exist? Everyected a sudden stream of migration towards these neither universities, courts, princes nor parents, nor body speaks of civilization and progress! It seems allstant lands, which four months of ocean voyage any losses nor disappointments, that threatened his to me that we do not differ much—luxury exceptsould not cheek, and which is still going on to en new course of life, could weaken or alter. Though ed-from primitive times, when men made war on arge their population and wealth. Upon this this laid him under some disadvantages for a time, each other to secure a prey. We pass our lives arge their population and the weather to populate to seem a prey. The pass out lives topic, however, it would be needless to enter here. his great integrity and abilities, quickly broke in menacing each other continually and reciprodan Anstralian literature—social, descriptive, and through that obscurity; so that those of very difficulty; and yet the great majority in Europe, not continually and reciprodate through that obscurity; so that those of very difficulty; and yet the great majority in Europe, not continually and reciprodate through the continual properties of the continual p productions of this great colony; and there are very often desired him to accept the most eminent perfectly understand that we might pass through parts even of our own island less familiar to us negotiations of his country, which he served actinis poor life of ours without that perpetual state hart seven of our own island less laminar to a scording to his own principles, with great success of menace and of hostility one against the other, be the gold-fields of Ballarat. Still what we thus familiarly know is little more maxim was, "Religion was the best master, and imposed upon nations by some secret and invisible

For "The Friend." Garibaldi on the State of Europe.

Among the remarkable things transpiring at the one which suits its population.

one which suits its population.

"France, which, without contradiction, occupies "Is not the idea of a European confederation, which has been put forward by the chief of the tains for her internal security 600,000 soldiers un-functionaries for the security of her distant possessions. Russia and Prussia, to maintain themselves on a level with the others, also require to pay im-condemned to a state of brutishness, to prostitution of soul and body, by the selfi-hness, calculation, or bad administration of privileged and powerful

"Well! the realization of the social reforms posing his person for the regeneration of a noble May the reproving voice of a successful soldier, race and a great nation; in England a virtuous America, who appear to be making ready for fur- Europe by the mass of her concentrated populather deadly conflict, disregardful of the pleadings of tion, by the bravery of her soldiers, and the recent coast, by the same sandy wilderness which had al-ready, in so many places, baffled the enterprise of the Australian traveller. It is known to all men of intelligence that Eu-history—to which be chart state, or pe is very far from being in a normal state, or in great cuterprise? To the country which marches good," as in his latter end he was wout to say, der arms, one of the finest fleets in the world, and cause the security and happiness of the world-is when he reflected on past time, though esteemed no the same number of functionaries. England has it not better than all the political combinations a sober and learned man, "How much time have I to repent of, and how little to do it in!" an immense number of soldiers, but she has a which daily agitate and torment the poor people? superior fleet, and perhaps a greater number of The prospect of the atrocious destruction which a single combat between the great Western Powers would occasion must cause to shudder with terror the man who should even think of ordering it, and Of Ministers and Elders and other concerned members probably there will never be one so basely courageous as to take the frightful responsibility of it.

"The rivalry which has existed between France and England, from the fourteenth century down to Let France and England but join frankly and corto stand aloof from the political regeneration to eleventh. We attended both and all the succeed berry, mostly held in silence, and the next day h which the spirit of the age invites them.

"I am aware that a very natural objection may be made to the project here propounded.

"What is to become of the innumerable mass of the security of trade, the mercantile marine would immediately absorb the active portion of the mili- us from Nantucket." tary navies, and the incalculable quantity of work On the 27th, they had a meeting at Falmouth, of forty years old and upwards, had perished. It produced by peace, association, and security, would and Joshua's companion being sick, he remained showed them, that they were in great danger of afford ample occupation for all the armed population, even were their numbers double what they are. went on to the house of Edward Wing. On the numbers of persons of other religious societies were War being next to impossible, armies would be 28th, he rode to Yarmouth, with Samuel Bower-present, and Joshua had a few pointed scottens. useless. But it would still be advisable to main man, and held a meeting, and then after a sitting to deliver to them. He told them that it was no tain the people in warlike and generous habits, by in the family of David Kelly, they returned to Ed- | because good words were not preached in their a to the knowledge of those to whom God has conlove and gratitude of nations."

manufacturing, and rendering of equal value with the original substance, are old tarred ropes, which the man on whose account I have been afflicted. meeting at Berwick, and then with James Torkave long been in use at coal-pits. Our readers This was not pleasant to me as a man, but had and three other young persons he rode toward will be surprised when we inform them that, out of satisfaction and quiet of mind in thus dealing Casco Bay. Lodging at a tavern, they the nest this dirty and apparently unbleachable substance, plainly with him, according to the repeated eviday rode to the house of Stephen Morrell. Do is produced a tissue paper of the most beautiful dence I had had of his state. I attended the siring to have a meeting with a few Friends resid fabric, evenness of surface, and delicacy of colour, meeting of worship, and in it had to labour that ing on the opposite side of the bay, they attempte a ream of which, with wrappers and strings, weighs the people might witness Christ in them to be to cross in a large canoe. Sufficient hands coul two and a half pounds. It is principally used in greater than he who is in the world. I had some not be obtained to man her, and after some danger the potteries for transferring the various patterns service in the meeting for business, and attending from a squall of wind, they were obliged to return to the earthenware, and is found superior to any their First-day meeting, I, in it, exampled them to and run their vessel on shore. They rested unt substance yet known for that purpose. It is so silence." tenacious, that a sheet, if twisted by the hand in His companion having recovered from his indis- In the morning, Joshua was engaged to set fort form of a rope, will support upwards of one hun-form of a rope, will support upwards of one hun-dred weight. Truly we live in an age of invention. the Seventh month, they rode with Samuel Gould the go-pel,—the one being outward and ritual, the

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES

of the Yearly Meeting of Philadelphia. (Continued from page 116.)

JOSHUA BROWN.

On the 15th of the Sixth month, Joshua Brown day they attended meeting. In this meeting the present day, still continues, but with far less had a meeting at Rochester, and, on the 16th, at exhorted Friends to live in accordance with t intensity at present; and we mention this fact to tended Coxet Monthly Meeting, which was exer- doctrine of Christ in innocency and simplicity, a the glory of human progress; so that an arrange- cising although way opened to relieve his mind, to keep out of the commotions of the people of 1 ment between the two greatest nations of Europe On the 17th, it being First-day, he attended Ap- world, that if a trying scason should be permitt -an arrangement which would have for its object ponygauset meeting, in which he had satisfactory to come upon them, they might stand in the bol an arrangement which would not not be observed as the welfare of humanity—can no longer be regards the welfare of humanity—can no longer be regards as the dream, the utopia of generous minds.

"The basis of a European confederation is, the 19th, accompanied with Jonathan Hussey and clearly, a trying day would shortly reach the state of the s therefore, naturally traced by France and England, wife, he sailed for Nantucket; but the wind failing place, and was never more confirmed of the nec when opposite Martha's Vineyard, they turned in thither. A meeting was held there at the house tions." dially, and Italy, Spain, Portugal, Hungary, Bell thither. A meeting was held there at the house to gium, Switzerland, Greece, and Roumelia, will of David Coffin he being the only Friend living on come of themselves, as it were instinctively, and this island. The wind prevented the vessel sailing Zaccheus Collins, and next day had a meeting come of themselves, as it were instinctively, and that stands are the stands of themselves around.

"Lastly, all the divided and oppressed nationalities, Slavonian, Celtic, Germanic, and Scaadinalities, Celtic, Germanic, and Scaadinalities, Celtic, Germanic, and Scaadinalities, Slavonian, Celtic, Germanic, and Scaadinalities, Celtic, Germanic, and Celtic, Germanic, a vian-gigantic Russia included-will be unwilling eighth hour, and the meeting for worship at the service. On the 6th, they had a meeting at Ne ing meetings and their Monthly Meeting. There one at Almesbury, which was not to much satisfe are many tender Friends on this island, as well as tion. That afternoon they rode to Hampton to many who are sitting down at ease and indiffer- meeting of ministers and elders held for the Qua ence about religion, and others in a form without terly Meeting, in which he was silent. First-da men at present employed for warlike purposes by life. For these my mind was much exercised, and the 8th, two meetings were held, in both of whi I was concerned to speak to their states, in many a good portion of labour fell to his lot. The ne "The answer is easy: With the disbanding of of the public meetings. We had many sittings in morning at eight, the ministers and elders m these forces, nations would be delivered from op-families to oar satisfaction. In one of these, a grain, and afterwards the meeting for business w pression and injurious institutions, and the mind of Friend who was under exercise, was much affected; held. In this meeting he was led to speak in sovereigns, ceasing to be occupied with schemes of I hope he may profit thereby. We visited several close awakening manner to the heads of the trib ambition, conquest, war, and destruction, would be Friends who, by reason of weakness of body, were of Israel in that place, warning them to be go directed towards the creation of useful institutions, confined at home, and, on the 26th, sailed from examples to the young, and to beware of easing to his house, and the next day they had a meeti at Pembroke, which was dull and discouraging After meeting, calling at a Friend's house, ma others came in, and requesting silence, he had opportunity of clearly relieving his mind. Th then proceeded towards Boston, where the ne

That afternoon he rode to Lynn to the house and would descend from the study of generalities and would descend from the study of generalities to that of families and even of individuals.

"Morever, by the extension of manufactures and mouth, where we lodged with Stephen Bowerman, promised land, brought an evil report thereof, at Sarah Barney, on her way to Boston, came with discouraging the children of Israel, caused them long travel in the wilderness, even until all tho in that neighbourhood to recruit, whilst Joshua similar sad end. At the parting meeting, large means of national militia, who would be always at ward Wing's. On the 29th, he attended Sand-hand to repress disorder, and whatever ambition might attempt to infringe the European pact. where the control of Ministers and Elders, thing more than good words to satisfy their human to the control of the cont I ardently desire that these words may come which began at the eighth hour. He says, "Here gry and thirsty souls. To this something, the knowledge of those to whom God has con- I met with the Friend on account of whom I had Word nigh in the heart, the Spirit, the Light, the fided this holy mission of doing good, and that they been afflicted at Newport and at Long Plains, grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, he recommende will indeed do it, preferring to a false and ephermeral grandeur the true grandeur based upon the liver. After the morning meeting was over, I went at Kellery, which proved an encouraging meeting to the house of a Friend near by, where he and which raised in his heart renewed aspirations an value of old Rope.—Among the numerous worn out, and often considered worthless, materials which that everywhere I have met thee, I have had a good service, as also at a private sitting at the ingenuity of man has discovered means of re-sense of uncleanness and something close to deliver. First-day, and had two meetings at Falmouth thorted his hearers to examine themselves, and them are proper for introduction among these ori- tion and gradual extinction throughout the land, nd a hope rested on Joshua's mind, that his lagreatest difficulties in introducing the most valuation Congress.

But alas, for the cause and the country! when ow Estaw. There both Joshua and his compa- are sufficiently similar. satisfaction, the principal men of the place at- __Late Paper. ending. Although, to use Joshua's expression, some there were like the wild fowl continually motion," yet in the openings and authority of (To be continued.)

tion, of our mode of carrying on a campaign, as their sins, and is now threatening our much and c Chinese will, who are the subject of it. The long favoured nation.

ion had favoured service. On returning that The superior friendliness of our relations both mination—at the promotion of the general welfare ight towards Falmouth, their cance ran aground, with Japan and China, will be certain to cause rather than self-aggrandizement, or the persecution nd it was not until after midnight some time, them to seek first to draw from us, provided our and punishment of any. By the exercise of an act the wearied company reached the house of merchants follow up the advantage gained by our untempered zeal, how has wrathful attack been enjamin Winslow. He now returned westward, diplomacy, and push business in the Japanese followed by violent resistance, until the demands of nd, on the 19th, was at the Monthly Meeting at ports. But by degrees our arts will find introduc-oppression have far exceeded their former bounds-Imesbury, wherein he had close service. With tion, all of them, in Japan, nor would it be a bad until for the sin of human slavery is claimed the ne approbation of Friends of the Monthly Meeting, speculation for some enterprising American to form Divine sanction, and the prosperity and power of e also held a public meeting in Newberry, on the a partnership with some Japanese who could better the nation. oth. But little notice was given, and the meet-judge what would do, and what would not, for that If none but gospel means had been resorted to. g was small. Not being relieved by the meeting, market. The English will be found to have the most in the endeavour to blot out our nation's crying sin, e found he could not leave the place without en-capital ready to embark in such business, but our how much greater would now have been the lope eavouring to obtain a meeting in the town-hall, advantages are greater in a more friendly state of of its peaceable suppression. But alas, for the he select men of the place were courteous, and feeling, and in the knowledge which the Japanese promotion of this! Crimination has been followed

For "The Friend." ruth, he fully relieved his mind, and left them Twelfth mo. 15th, upon the present condition of allayed, and a sense of mutual dependence and inith the hope that some of them might receive our beloved country, in which so much unsettle- terest may be made the means of restoring mutual ment and anxiety have been produced, through the affection, and thereby the disposition to give and eudeavours of unserupulous and designing parti- receive the forbearing counsel of wisdom and love. zans to promote their own personal and party ends; For this, let us continue to plead and labour, while Japan and China. - Everything indicates the must, it would seem, strike the readers of them yet there is hope in the continued regard and mercy se of Japan, and the downfall of China, or the with a view of their conservative and conciliatory of Him who ruleth in heaven and among men, and olitical regeneration of China through Japan, as a character, setting forth as they do, the only ground willeth not the destruction of any; who restraineth edium of communication. The Japanese have upon which a peaceful and permanent settlement the wrath of man, and causeth wars to cease unto ot the idea of a steam engine into their heads, can be effected, even a nearer and more general the end of the earth; who breaketh the bow, and nd have learned to navigate a steam frigate. "conformity to the requirements of the Divine law; cutteth the spear as under; who turneth the chariot hat is more, they have been thoroughly well im-seeking in humility and sincerity for the interven- in the fire; even our God, who is King of all the ressed by the hospitality of Uncle Sam, have tention of our merciful Creator and Preserver, who earth.

pubt that they will learn as much from the expe-Ruler sees meet at times to chastise the people for judgeth righteously.

upanese represent everything on paper, not so The part which consistent Friends have taken, their condition, and their final release from bondage, uch by words as by pictures, nor would it sur- in seeking to hasten the day of freedom to the should we not bear in mind the claims of the masise us, if in a very little time, we should find the poor, enslaved and degraded African, has ever ters upon our love and forbearance; as well as vernment and private individuals sending over, been in strict accordance with the spirit and pre-the debt which we, together with them, owe to the rough some of our large commercial houses, for cepts of the gospel, relying upon the convincing degraded subjects of unrighteous laws, sanctioned wkes' steam plow, or any other instrument. and persuasive power of truth and love, and not by our common government, whereby they are held We are not sure but that an insular position is resorting to craftiness, vindictiveness or dishonesty, in cruel hondage and servitude, and made to pervourable to mechanical ingenuity. England, a When, through the instrumentality of some of its form their unrequited toil for our joint advantage? aall island off the continent of Europe, is before faithful members, the Society was convinced of the Do we not all owe them a debt of education and e continent in her inventions, and Japan in like sin of holding their fellow-men in bondage, means elevation, in order to prepare them for the advananner insular, is as far before China in mechani-were taken to purge itself of the blighting scourge; tages of the boon of freedom, which we so strongly lingenuity. This must occasion Japan to be the which, proving effectual, enabled it to bear a clean-desire for them? and how can this be rightly efain channel through which our inventions reach handed testimony against the great and growing feeted without reaching the hearts of the masters her inward and spiritual. In the afternoon, he knowledge of our arts, and will first try what of government; and while seeking for its amelioraarch out what right they had to bear the name entals, and how they can be adapted so as to come the subject being temperately handled, the petitions christians. The meetings were both favoured, into common use. We all know that one of the of the Society to this end were respected and read ights at Benjamin Winslow's, on the 16th, with little prejudice or difficulty, so as to create a first the peaceable means of christian appeal were changx Friends, he set off again to cross the bay. They demand. The exhibition of any useful invention ed for wrathful, boisterous and relentless criminaad a good crossing, and had an appointed meet in successful operation in Japan, will be a passport tion, then were the hearts of the unconvinced closed g at four that afternoon, at the house of the wi- to it in China, where the manners and customs against even the persuasive petitions of those who aimed at conviction rather than accusation or cri-

ave free liberty, and the meeting was held there have already acquired of us through the late visit. by recrimination, and the use of unlawful means by personal violence; until every prospect of a speedy return to mutual good understanding would seem to have been done away, but for the hope of The editorial remarks in "The Friend," of Divine interposition, whereby the storm may be red thanks through — Harris, for the repairs alone can restrain the wrath of wicked men, turn While deprecating the continued existence and cir vessel received at San Francisco, and will no the hearts of the rulers from their selfishness and apparent increase of this more glaring evil, let us only be convinced of the hearty good-will of our folly, and bring the nation into the haven of not forget that there are others less prominent, for sople, and the greatness of our country. Letters peace." for which we are accountable, and against which are indeed been received from their ship, that The caution to the members of our religious we are equally bound to bear testimony; lest e princes were so much pleased with the crew Society, "to keep out of all the party heats and we be led gradually and almost imperceptibly the vessel that carried them home, that they strifes that are now disturbing the people, seeking into the belief that this is the sum of all iniquity, eated all hands to as much fruit as they chose, for ability to walk among them in a manner con- and that therefore a testimony against this, is the a the coast of Africa. It seems probable that sistent with the peaceable principles which we pro- substance of religion. This is a snare in which e Japanese never thoroughly believed in the fess," seems peculiarly appropriate and timely; some seem to have been taken, whereby their generally disposition of the Americans, or indeed and, if observed, will doubtless be the means of eral influence for good is doubtless much abated, any christian nation, but that now they are sa-keeping us out of much harm, strengthening the through the disposition to pronounce against every shed of that, there is nothing of real value in influence of our principles, and readering more individual and association, which may feel restrained echanics or the arts that they will not be auxious availing our intercessions for the staying of the from going beyond the bounds prescribed by their introduce. The English expedition against China impending and desolating scourge, which occasions own sense of duty and propriety; whereby they are as already been supplied at highly remunerating much anxiety and fear; even the rod of separation preserved in moderation, and from joining in railery ices, from Japan, nor is there any reason to and line of confusion; with which our Supreme and taunting, leaving all judgment to Him who

While we sympathize with "the poor, degraded, down-trodden slaves," desiring the amelioration of e Chinese. Japan has already shot ahead in her evil, which is now threatening the overturn of our by the strong and persuasive power of go-pel love, made willing to act upon this conviction, in prepar-slaves had found a friend. ing the way for the gradual release of the op- After twelve years of married life, his wife was tramp of horses, nor rattling of carriages, nor ra nent settlement of the difficulty.

which affords an unusual though not an unfair illustration of the system of American slavery.

A man named Edward Backus, now sixty-three years of age, was born a slave in Hardy county, surprise of trader, owner, and spectators!

abodes, and taking the dearest objects of our le abode in the great State which has the double honour of but after the purpose, when the seller relected as his text, what terrible sermons does he dolibeing the "Mother of Presidents," and the mouter of that by having sold her to Georgia, he could have to us! On, what weeping audiences sometimes! of slaves. He was the son of a native African realized a higher price, he attempted to annul the this silent preacher! Yet there is a secret doctriwoman, who was kidnapped on the coast of Africa, sale. On what pretext? The statutes of Virginia an occult meaning running through his discours and brought to this country in a slave-ship. The furnished a pretext! A plea was put in that a which is often not apprehended. Few "lay it child, before he was five years old, was sold three slave could not legally buy a slave; that property heart." His oft-repeated sermons still enforce times—twice with his mother, and the third time could not possess property; that a chattel could same doctrine, still press upon us the same exh away from her.

At the third purchase, the price of his body To avoid this difficulty, the black man deposited Surely they are disquieted in vain. Here there was paid in specie, which was counted out upon the hill of sale in the hands of the white man to no continuing city. Why are you labouring the grass, under a green tree. The money was whom he had formerly trusted his money. It was that which I will presently take from you and g afterwards spent to buy a tract of land in Ross held in this manner for eight years, after which the to another? Take no thought for the morre county, Ohio, on the "Eig Bottoms" of the Scioto holder suddenly died. Almost at the same time, Prepare to meet thy God." river. "Since I have been free," says the vene- the slave, enfeebled in health and useless for work, rable man, " I have lived in Ohio, and have walked was turned loose from the plantation, (like a wornmany a time over this very piece of ground. Last out horse into the common,) with free papers in year it was covered with corn; a great field of his hands, commanding him to exile himself from four hundred and eighty acres, without a single the State of Virginia, and from his wife and child-cross-fence to divide it! But," he added, "no ear ren, within twelve months! The trustees of the of all the crop fell to my share!"

risen in value, than slaves in Virginia!

damaged against ever afterwards bringing a high man and wife from personal acquaintance, declared price in the market, by an unfortunate cut from his in open court that he would sooner cut off his hand heard not, because so long unheeded; but a co master's whip, which struck out at a blow one of than award the woman to the estate. The trustees, science transparent and perfectly clear, which, I the child's eyes! What made the matter worse, finding that the decision would go against them, a bell of pure glass, lets us see the first faint mo the provocation was scarcely sufficient to be al- resorted to the petty dishonesty of applying perleged as an apology by the aristocratic and elegant Virguia planter whose undextrous stroke thus cost bin well-nigh a total loss of three hundred dollars, to settle a suit which the court had already set through her pen; the boy was ordered to drive her of his pecket, the master's doe undertook assist the took his wife and two of his pecket, the master's doe undertook to assist the took his wife and two of his pecket the master's doe undertook to assist the took his wife and two of his pecket the master's doe undertook to assist the took his wife and two of his dangeliers from Virguia Planter. leged as an apology by the aristocratic and elegant sonally to the husband, with a proposition that he back; the master's dog undertook to assist the took his wife and two of his daughters, from Virboy by leading the sow by the ear; the bite drew ginia into Ohio. Another daughter, now a young Truth does not?—to obey the command "Let y blood; the boy was charged with having incited woman of twenty years, was left behind in bond-light so shine before men, that they, seeing you blood; inc boy was charged and one eye-ball

The old man is now the owner of himself, and fleaven."

good worl

fleaven." fell upon the child's cheek!

this same plantation. He never afterwards expe- of one of our Western colleges, and earns a livelirienced any single act of cruelty equal to this early hood by cultivating a garden, and by sometimes light, the blood of Jesus Christ his Son, cleaus blow, but he now says of his general treatment, driving a team in the service of the professors and looking back upon his life, " Every day was crowd- students. ed with hard work; I had a strong constitution, but heavy burdens broke it down; I wanted to years! But how many such unwritten histories teach you: but as the same anointing teacheth learn to read, but was forbidden; I wanted to be a man, but was kept a chattel.'

ren are dead; three living; two are free in Ohio, chandise of slaves and souls of men! one a slave in Virginia. His wife was owned on a neighbouring plantation, where he visited her once a week, sometimes once a month. He was industrious and prudent, and contrived, by means of Leighton, returning home one morning, was asked extra work, to accumulate after several years, about by his sister, "Have you been hearing a sermon?" four hundred dollars. This money, slowly earned, "I've met a sermon," was the answer. The sermon whereby they may be convinced of their error, and white man in the neighbourhood, in whom many the preacher was Death. Greatest of street preacher pressed, through the amelioration and elevation of on the point of being sold to a Georgia trader, and din of crowded streets, can drown his volid bis condition, in a moral, physical and intellectual The act was regarded as unwarrantable by some In heathen, papal, and protestant countries, sense? Without something like this, entered upon of the neighbours, who protested against such a monarchies and free states, in town and count with a view to the final abatement and extinguish-sundering even of a slave's family. The owner, the solemn pomp of his discourses is going on. ment of the evil of slavery within our borders, under pretext of humanely revoking his bargain, some countries, a man is imprisoned for even dre what hope have we for the peaceable and perma offered her for sale to her husband for four hun ping a tract; but what prison will hold this aw hat hope have we for the peacecable and permant settlement of the difficulty.

A Black Wan's Story.

A case has recently come to our knowledge, that moment, in a trusty man's hands, the needed sum to buy and save his wife. He accepted the sages which trouble their security and embit offer on the spot, sent for his white friend, paid the their pleasures. If we do not meet his sermo money, and received a bill of sale-to the great still we cannot escape them. He comes to not own a chattel!

deceased man's estate meantime found among his The incident strikingly illustrates how much documents the bill of sale. They immediately faster, during the last fifty years, land in Ohio has seized the paper, and with it attempted to seize the woman. The husband, being at this moment pro-At the age of eight, the black boy, then a little, videntially free, was competent to try the case in lively piece of marketable merchandise, was fatally the courts. The judge, who had long known the of the larger part of his family. Kind friends He was now valueless to be sold, yet valuable to may yet assist him in reclaiming the remaining of ourselves. The thing created cannot change be kept. He grew up to a maimed manhood, on child. He resides in a little house near the seat form, nor if covered with stains or soils, clear will arise in judgment before God against a free nation, in which sixteen States, like the mystic In middle life, he married; three of his child- Babylon of the Revolation, are still making mer-

THEODORE TILTON.

The Greatest of Street Preachers .- Archbishop was from time to time deposited in the hands of a he had met was a corpse on its way to the grave; to have a thorough understanding of ourselves.

ers! No laws nor penalties can silence him. tation: "Surely every man walketh in a vain she

> For "The Friend "Be Right,"

"Nothing [is] more desired by me than to right," writes an elder, worthy of double hono "To be right!" It is the heart of all right mo ments, for seemingly living actions are more co tortions, if the heart is not alive. "Be righ It is the labour of a life-time, and yet the sim duty of a child. It is impossible of ourselves, l a just requiring of the Most High. Oh, to right! To feel the answer of a clear consciennot of a thoughtless, unheeded conscience, which ment before we hear the ringing note. we would desire, -and who that is alive in light so shine before men, that they, seeing ye good works, shall glorify your Futher which is

"Be right!" But how shall we be right? I form, nor if covered with stains or soils, clea itself. "But if we walk in the light as he is in us from all sin."

"But the anointing which ye have received Such is the story of one slave's life for sixty Him, abideth in you, and ye need not that any n of all things, and is truth, and is no lie, and e as it hath taught you ye shall abide in Him." "And now, little children, abide in Him; tl

when he shall appear, we may have confidence, not be ashamed before Him, at his coming. "If ye know that He is righteous, ye know t every one that doeth righteousness is born of Hir

We can never be perfectly humble, till we co

ream was ten miles off.

e not apt to take offence themselves.

THE FRIEND.

TWELFTH MONTH 29, 1860.

the principal facts connected with it.

ssive generation in our religious Society, the in- influence in the community, grity and firmness of their predecessors in the approved in his holy eye-sight.

ar, and all military demands or proceedings; but was also sitting in the city.

rthward, and after defeating the American forces bayonets, &c. the battle of Brandywine, entered and held posssion of the city of Philadelphia.

scovered, they indicated by their increased speed them, and boldly charged them with being friendly the cause of their country. at they were approaching water, though the to the continuation of British rule, and keeping up Those who are careful to avoid offending others, cause of American Independence. Among those imposed upon by it. It was incredible, that a So-The introduction into our Journal last week, of to them, or to the cause of freedom; but many ing the authors. Beside this, the date of the pae letter, recently brought to light, from John others, who ought to have known better, professed per and that of some of the occurrences it menunt to J. Pemberton, has called to mind the suf- to believe them to be "tories" in heart, and were tioned, showed it to be a forgery. It was duted rings undergone by the Friends of this city, who prepared to give way to, if not incite the popular the 19th of the Eighth month, and yet it gave in-ere exiled with him for many months, from their prejudice against them. Philadelphia had for formation of the landing of the British army in milies and homes, in the course of the Revolu- many years been under the control of Friends, and Maryland, which did not take place until the 22d, phary war; and as it is probable that many of though from the influx of persons of other reli-the news of it not reaching Philadelphia until the r readers have little or no knowledge of the cir- gious denominations, they had ceased to possess 23d, and could not have arrived at Spanktown amstances of the case, we have thought it might that control, yet, at the time of the Revolution, before the 24th or 25th. It, however, served the interesting to them to read a succinet narrative there was a considerable body of them among its purpose, no doubt intended by its wicked author.

ad proceeding along the coast, entered Chesa search to be made in the houses of the citizens of the committee was approved. ake Bay, and finally was landed near its head, Philadelphia, who had not manifested their attachthin the State of Maryland, whence they marched ment to the American cause, for swords, fire-arms, commendation of Congress, The Supreme Execu-

armed themselves, or used any warlike weapons in nearly all of them being Friends, and between the From the commencement of the contest between self-defence, it is apparent that upon any fair con-lirst and the fourth of the Ninth month, seventeen e colonies and the mother country, the Society of struction, this resolution was not applicable to members of our religious Society—men of uniniends had laboured carnestly and affectionately them. But the community was in a ferment, and peackable character, and exemplary in all the relawithhold its members from entering into the the fears of the people excited by the prospect of tions of life-were suddenly taken into custody by mmotions and contentions going on throughout being speedily visited by a hostile army; and there a military force, at their own homes or places of e land, and warned them from having anything were not wanting those who glad y embraced the business, and without knowing the offence with do with the efforts made to pull down one go occasion, to call into action the popular suspicion which they were charged, without a hearing before rement in order to set up another. Philadelphia of and partizan hatred against Friends. To in any tribunal, they were placed in strict confinesarly Meeting was especially exercised on this crease these passions, Congress, at this juncture, ment, with a guard set over them. Before being bject, and both it and its representative body, the received a despatch from General Sullivan, con-brought to the place of confinement, some of them ceting for Sufferings, issued addresses to the mem-taining a paper said to have been found among were offered the privilege of remaining at their own rs, intended to guard them against being caught some baggage captured on Staten Island, which homes, provided they would sign a paper presented th the warlike spirit prevailing around them, and paper purported to have been prepared in and by to them, containing a promise not to go out of their

The Camels in Texas. - Capt. Echels, of the of the time, this christian care and labour was mouth, 1777. It professed to give information opographical Engineers, has fully tested the fit misrepresented and probably misunderstood, and respecting the position of the army under General s of the camel for service in the south-west, the party which was bent upon throwing off the Washington, and the detachment under command his reconncitering expedition in north-western foreign yoke, manifested much jealousy and suspi- of General Sullivan; and was otherwise so worded exas. The labour was very severe, and for six cion of Friends, affected to disbelieve their decra- as to create an impression or belief, that Friends ays in the heat of midsummer the camels did not rations of being restrained by their principles from were engaged in obtaining information for, and we a drop of water. On the day that water was taking part in the warlike measures going on around transmitting it to the British, and thus betraying

Who the author of this clumsy forgery was, has a correspondence with their fellow-members in never been discovered; but it seems marvellons England, calculated and intended to thwart the how any one with common sense could have been in power, there were some who understood Friends' ciety would be engaged in a proceeding, which, if principles, and had had opportunity to become ac-quainted with their peaceable course under all capital punishment, and so date and certify the circumstances, who were satisfied that their refusal evidence of their guilt, that if their despatch should to take part in the struggle, maintained by their chance to fall into the hands of those they were fellow-countrymen, arose from no personal hostility betraying, there could be no difficulty in identifycitizens, many of whom, from their well-known Congress considered the matter of sufficient impor-It is well to keep before the view of each suc-integrity and religious standing, exercised no little tance to commit the communication from General Sullivan, and the papers accompanying it, to a At the period in the war to which we have al- special committee, which, on the 28th of the Eighth ruth, in supporting the doctrines and testimonies luded, there were several important bodies holding mouth, made a report, in which they make no althe gospel as professed by Friends, and the their sessions in Philadelphia, whence the orders lusion to the paper purporting to come from a illingness with which, in the hour of trial, they were issued for the government of the country and Yearly Meeting of Friends at Spauktown, but reave themselves up to suffer, rather than in any the carrying on of the war. Pennsylvania had lerring to the epistles sent to the members from the secompromise their principles and a correspondation adopted a State Constitution the year before, and Yearly Meeting, and the Meeting for Sufferings, at g conduct, which the Holy Spirit had taught them the Legislature created by it, was then holding its different times in Philadelphia, they say that these as required at their hands, and which they felt to sittings. There was also a Supreme Exeentive testimonies, and the uniform conduct and conversa-Council, consisting of twelve members, and a Com- tion of a number of persons who profess to belong It is a long time since Friends in this country mittee of Safety, all acting on behalf of the State. to the Society of Quakers, "render it certain and we had to undergo much loss of property, or per- The Continental Congress which, two years before, notorious that those persons are, with much rannal restraint on account of their testimony against had put forth the Declaration of Independence, cour and bitterness, disaffected to the American cause;" and that as they have it in their power, reumstances may speedily change, and the sin-rity of our profession be tested in a manner we the British army had landed at the head of Chesa-communicate intelligence to the enemy." They tle anticipate. It is well then for all of us to peake Bay, Congress, anticipating their march therefore propose that the Supreme Executive amine ourselves, and seek to be clothed with the through Pennsylvania with the intention of occu- Council of Pennsylvania be recommended to apcek and lamb-like spirit of the Prince of Peace, pying its capital, passed a resolution, recommend-prehend and secure eleven Friends, whose names that whatever trials may be permitted to come ing the Executive officers of the States of Dela- are given, and to seize their papers for examinaon us for the proving of our faith, we may be ware and Pennsylvania, to cause all persons within tion; also to secure any other persons "who have epared to hold it fast without wavering.

those States, notoriously diseffected, to be forthwith in their general conduct and conversation, evidenced the war of the Revolution had been going on disearmed and secured, until such time as they might a disposition inimical to the cause of America, and the Meeting of the Mee cout two years, when in the Eighth month of be released without injury to the common cause: and "that the records and papers of the Meetings 177, a large portion of the British army stationed and also recommending that the Supreme Execu- for Sufferings in the respective States, be forthwith New York, was embarked on board the fleet, tive Council of the State of Pennsylvania cause secured and carefully examined." The report of

Accordingly, under the special and general retive Council issued orders for the arrest of several As it was well known by all, that Friends never of the most respectable inhabitants of Philadelphia, ing thus betrayed into acts inconsistent with the a Yearly Meeting of Friends, held at Spanktown, houses; to present themselves whenever called for re-religion professed by them. In the excitement near Rahway, N. J., on the 19th of the Eighth by the Executive Council; and to refrain from inpaper would have been an acknowledgment of guilt, it was refused. The desks and drawers of several of the Friends were broken open, and their papers seized. At first, the friends of the prisoners were refused access to them, or communication with them, the guard threatening to fire upon some who were importunate to be admitted; but in a little time, this restriction was removed, and they had opportunity to consult with their relatives and brethren in religious profession. Forty-eight hours passed before they could obtain a sight of the warrant upon which they had been arrested. No person appeared as their accuser, no examination was had, no questions asked, nor any opportunity afforded the prisouers to make explanations, or refute the charges alleged against them; but on the second of the month, the Executive Council informed Congress they had had these Friends seized and secured, and asked its advice as to the propriety of sending them into Virginia, for safe keeping. Whereupon Congress immediately resolved that Staunton, in Virginia, would be a suitable place for them to be kept.

Thus arbitrarily torn from the bosoms of their beloved families, and deprived of any opportunity for making provision for the sustenance of those who were dependent upon them, or to take measures for their safety, during the great difficulties anticipated, from the presence of the British army, the prisoners, however, willing to suffer themselves in a good cause, felt it to be their duty to present a remonstrance to the Council, against the course pursued towards them, in which they claim the rights of freemen, point out the gross infraction of law and equity in the several acts committed upon them, and appeal to the humanity and sense of justice in the members to induce them to grant them a hearing, and allow them to defend them of joy. A hundred guns were fired, and the "Pelican flag", myletid Similar demonstrations can be a flag of the state selves from whatever charges might be brought against them. Their remonstrance concludes as follows :- "But if, regardless of every sacred obligation by which men are bound to each other in of a Declaration of Independence-the needful arrangesociety, and of that Constitution by which you ments for continuing post-office accommodations, and profess to govern, which you have so loudly magni-tied for the free spirit it breathes, you are still dened for the free spirit it breathes, you are still de-termined to proceed, be our appeal then to the President of the United States, with the request that the righteous Judge of all the earth, for the integrity of our hearts and the unparalleled tyranny of your measures."

(To be continued.)

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

ECROPE .- News from England to the 13th inst. Pckin has been captured by the allies, and that the Em-boys in the pit, at the time, of whom only 30 escaped. The Liverpool breadstuffs market was firm, with an upward tendency. The cotton market was steady. No Italian news of moment has transpired. The Sardinians await the fall of Gaeta, before storming the citadel of Messina, which will be besieged in case of a refusal to surrender. The Ex-king of Naples has issued another protest, complaining of the apathy of the European sovereigns, and denouncing Victor Emmanuel. Its tone does not indicate a prolonged occupation of Gaeta. He had concluded a loan at Vienna.

The French Minister of the Interior was issuing important circulars to the Prefects. In one, he promises the utmost liberty of discussion to the press.

It is reported that the Emperor Napoleon had declared to the Bishop of Versailes, that the temporal power of the Pope must be put down, as no longer compatible with civilization. The French government is about to grant an amnesty to the journals for previous infractious of the laws of the press.

juring the United States. As the signing of this the expediency of declaring martial law throughout dians, amounting to $870,000, and that they had be Hungary

Popular agitations prevailed in the Danubian principalities and at Pesth.

A St. Petersburg letter says, the decree emancipating the Russian peasants, has been signed by the Emperor Alexander, and that it is to be promulgated on the 1st ber of slaves is 112,000, being a decrease of 5000 in t

The French ambassador to Turkey is urging the extension of the French occupation of Syria, but the Porte objects.

UNITED STATES .- Congress .- The House of Representatives has passed a bill, by a vote of 95 to 74, for the construction of a railroad to the Pacific. The bill proconstruction of a rational to the ration. The one pro-vides that there shall be two castern branches, starting a [3,120] red Western, $1.25 & $1.37, while while, $1, from the western borders of lowa and Missouri, uniting a $1.38; oats, 36 cts. a 38 cts.; corn, 66 cts. a 67 e two hundred miles westward of that border, and thence [6] Western and new white Southern. Philadelphia by a single line going to San Francisco, via Salt Lake. Also, a southern line starting from Arkansas and Louisiana, with two branches uniting westward thereof in a single line, and reaching California by the southern The two houses, when in session, have been occupied chiefly with discussions, relating to the proposed the ordinance of secession, by an unanimous vote. An order was also passed to have it engrossed on parchment, and signed by all the members. It is as follows: "An Ordinance to dissolve the Union between the State of South Carolina and the other States united with her, under the compact entitled the Constitution of the United States of America. We, the people of the State of South Carolina, in convention, do declare and ordain and it is hereby declared and ordained, that the ordinance adopted by us, in convention, on the 23d day of May, A D. 1788, whereby the Constitution of the United States of America was ratified, and also all acts and parts of acts of the General Assembly of this State, ratifiying the amendments of the said Constitution, are hereby repealed, and that the Union now subsisting between South Carolina and the other States, under the name of the United States of America, is hereby dis-solved." The deed was bailed with loud acclaim, in Charleston and other parts of the State. The news was unfurled. Similar demonstrations took place in Alabama, Mississippi, Florida, and even in North Carolina and Virginia. After enacting the ordinance of secession, the convention entered upon the consideration the collection of revenue. Three Commissioners were appointed to carry an authenticated copy of the Ordisame shall be communicated to Congress, now in session. The Commissioners are also authorized and empowered to trent for the delivery of torts, magazines, light-houses and all other property heretofore belonging to the United States, which will be required by South Carolina as an independent State. Caleb Cushing, of Massachusetts, returned on the 22d to Washington, from Charleston, whither he was despatched by the Adminis-A despatch received at the Foreign Office, says, that tration, it is supposed, to obtain reliable information relative to the state of affairs in South Carolina, and con-

Pearl nas Gen captured by the sities, and that the Enlarge peror's summer plance was sacked by them. They obtained immense spoils. The Emperor is reported to have field to Tartary. The allies are to winter at Pekin.

A terrible explosion had occurred in a coal pit at fisca, near Newport. There were about 200 men and fiscal pear Newport. There were about 200 men and fiscal pear Newport. There were about 200 men and right to be, a separate, sovereign, free, and independent State, and, as such, has the right to levy war, conclude peace, make treaties, leagues or covenants, and do atl acts whatever that rightfully appertain to a free and independent State. On the 24th inst., the Representa-tives from South Carolina presented a communication to the U. S. House of Representatives, stating that their connection with the house was dissolved, in consequence of the withdrawal of the State they represented. The Speaker, however, has directed that their names ould be retained on the roll, and called as heretofore. disposition, and sympathizing mind, peculiarly fitt Measures of Compromise.—Up to the early part of this him. Having been concerned, through a long life, should be retained on the roll, and called as heretofore. week, there seemed no probability that the two committees selected by the Senate and House, would be able to agree upon any terms of settlement. The South demands more than the Republican members are willing to concede

Heavy Defalcation and Breach of Trust .- On the 24th the Secretary of the Interior informed Congress that ar officer of his department had abstracted State bonds held It is reported that the Austrian Cabinet has discussed in trust by the United States for the benefit of the In-converted to private uses. The delinquent made a volu tary confession of his guilt. A committee was appoint ed to investigate the matter.

Maryland .- The population, by the late census, 731,565-an increase of 148,531 in ten years. The nu to eighteen hundred, by order or the eaper the Philadelphia.—Mortality last week, 257.

New York .- Mortality last week, 377. The prese police force of fourteen hundred men is to be increas to eighteen hundred, by order of the supervisors.

The Markets.—The following were the quotations the 24th inst. New York—Chicago spring wheat, $1. Red wheat, $1.14 a $1.25; white, $1.25 a $1.40; col 64 cts. a 65 cts.; old, yellow oats, 31 cts. a 34 cts. Sewing Machines.—One thousand men are employed the United States, in the manufacture of sewing m chine needles, and the profits on them amount to near $300,000 a year. cupied cherry with accessions, example one proposed secession of some of the States. The Secession Movement.—On the 20th inst, the South of postage stamps supplied to postmasters during the Carolina Convention, in session at Charleston, passed year anded Sixth mo. 30, 1869, was as follows, viz:—

1 cent 3 cent. 5 cent. 50,723,400 159,463,600 579.360 10 cent. 12 cent 24 cent. 3,898,450 1.653.500 $5,920,939 Whole number, 216,379,660; value, Stamped envelopes, 29,280,025; value, 949.377 Total amount for 1860 . 6,870,316

Total value of postage stamps and stamp-ed envelopes issued during the year ending Sixth mo. 30, 1859 6,261,533

Increase during 1860 . . .

RECEIPTS.

Received from Wm. C. Taber, Mass., $2, vol. 33; from Burling Hallock, N. Y., $1, to 52, vol. 33; from W. Robinson, R. I., $4 vols, 33 and 34; from R. Drink Pa., $6, vols. 31, 32 and 33; from H. C. W., for Be Sheppard, N. J., and Mary Miller, $2 each, vol. 33; fro David Coulson, O., $2, vol. 33; from John Tyler, N. $2, vol. 33; from Robt. W. Wright, N. Y., $2, vol. 3;

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend and his wife are wanted to fill the statio of Superintendent and Matron at West-town Boardin

Application to be made to either of the following Friends: NATHAN SHARPLESS, Concord; JAMES EMLE West Chester; Samuel Hilles, Wilmington; Hen-COPE OF WILLIAM EVANS, Philadelphia.

Twelfth mo. 10th, 1860.

MARRIED, on the 25th of Tenth month last, at Friend Meeting-house at Plainfield, Belmont Co., Obio, Jo: M. Sмітн, of Guernsey, Guernsey Co., Obio, to Lym daughter of the late Benjamin and Hannah Vail.

DIED, on the 15th inst., in the sixty-eighth year of i age, JESSE J. MARIS; a beloved member and elder Chester Monthly Meeting, Penna. This dear Friend, yielding to the influence of Divine love in early life, a humbly abiding under the preparing hand of the he venly Shepherd, became qualified, as he grew in re gious experience, for usefulness in the church, and w often employed in the service of the society in the meetings to which he particularly belonged. Bei blessed with a strong and vigorous mind, and imbu with christian love for his fellow men, he was often e gaged as a peace-maker when differences had occurre and devoted much time in advising and assisting su as were comparatively belpless, in the management their outward concerns, and the settlement of their dil culties; for which duties his benevolent and amial endeavouring to fulfil bis religious and social duties, t approach of death brought no terrors with it; but u der feelings of universal love to mankind, and gre calmness and composure of mind, he was favoured wi an humble, well grounded hope and trust in the mer of God through Jesus Christ his Saviour.

PILE & M'ELROY, PRINTERS, Lodge street, opposite the Pennsylvania Bank.

H'RRND.

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, FIRST MONTH 5, 1861.

NO. 18.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

rice Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by JOHN RICHARDSON,

AT NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

Postage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three onths, if paid in advance, three and a-quarter cents; any part of the United States, for three months, if id in advance, six and a-half cents.

> For "The Friend." Henry Hull.

(Continued from page 130.)

fliculties felt by conscientious masters, as well as committed. plead for the rights of the slaves, and in many in Western Virginia, he thus writes :-

so large a number together, as nearly to fill the linkets, and myself and another Friend on a bear- manner.

skin, with our saddles for pillows. We had no-mill to get a little corn ground.

ment, our stores being quite spent; and in the us the use of their meeting house at Dreaming-forenoon came to another log-house, inhabited by creek, where we had a meeting the day following. a couple from Ireland, who appeared to be above At both these meetings we had the company of a the lower class, having a number of books upon a Methodist minister, who was a stranger to Friends shelf, which I took the liberty of examining, and among them was Samuel Bowness Journal. The man. He assented to our doctrine on baptism as man and his wife very cheerfully set to work to the held forth; saying, he had for some tine been all they could supply us with, consisted of some was a spiritual baptism. Indian cakes baked on a board before the fire, and tea without milk, having neither meat nor butter. tended another meeting in the afternoon, held in A traveller who had joined us that morning, kindly the house belonging to the Mcthodists. The peo-In his long and arduous journey through the produced the remains of his stores, consisting of a ple were very kind to us, and several of them dis-nthern States, the sympethetic mind of Henry piece of bacon, which he generously divided among puted who should entertain us; so we divided and ull, was often brought into tender feeling for the us, being about two mouthfuls for each. This man were lodged at the houses of two of them. In the gross, and in the flowing of gospel love he found had heard of our intending to go through the will mourning we crossed the Kentucky river at Boonshis duty to hold meetings for Divine Worship derroess, and had rode most of the night to over-borough, the place where the first white settler nong them. While acting under the influence of take us, being desirous of having our company, as pitched his tent. A few miles north of the river, is love, he was preserved in the meckness of the danger of travelling was considered great; we came to the house of Judge Clark, of Clark avenly wisdom, and qualified to enter into the several robberies and murders having been recently county, who, being related to two of our company, stances, his gentle, but firm and persuasive man-where we found plenty, but got little sleep. Our following, in the Baptist meeting-house. r, seems to have opened the hearts of his audience landlady, stepping out after dark to a negro-hut "A large number of people assembled, and the Allegheny mountains. In twelve days after consideration, such answers to their objections as bled about it. wing Goose-creek, we got to the settlements in we were enabled to make. The General was the "In the evening we had a meeting at the Judge's butucky, having crossed stupendous mountains, principal objector, and would not admit that the house, where this preacher again attended, but he

"The following day we had a meeting in a prithing to eat, but a scanty portion of sour milk, vate house at Richmond, Madison county; though with a few ears of green Indian corn; the owner there were but six or seven houses in the place, yet of our hut having gone thirty miles to the nearest the people assembled from the country around, so that we had a large meeting, which proved satis-"In the morning, we set out without any refresh- factory. After it closed, a Baptist professor offered get us breakfast, as they kept a public house; but persuaded that the baptism essential to salvation

"It being the First-day of the week, we atreceived us very cordially, and paid great attention "In the evening we came to a neat cottage, to spread notice of a meeting to be held the day receive his message. close by, was bitten by some poisonous reptile, sup-Of a religious meeting among the coloured peo-posed to be a rattlesnake—her foot and ancie ner objected to the doctrines delivered, as soon as swelled, and the severity of the pain caused her to I took my scat, charging me with discarding the "We next had a meeting for the poor slaves, groan; feelings of sympathy for her prevented doctrines of Jesus Christ; a charge which he fell de in Goose-creek meeting-house, on First-day my sleeping much, and in the morning we were far short of substantiating, even in the opinion of termoon, with the consent of their masters and obliged to leave them, without knowing what the erseers, several of whom attended. The sight result might be. "In passing through the lands reserved for the the reasons which occurred to my remembrance, use, was unusual to me, and their dejected com- Indians, our compassion was excited by the situation why the Society of Friends does not use water-justed and papearance affected my mind, tion of several families of squatters, whose houses beginning as everal of his hearcre expressed their d awakened tender sympathy for them, under and other improvements had been burned a few dissatisfaction with his interrupting the quiet of the wich I expressed my desires for their everlasting days before, by a party of light-horsemen sent out meeting, in which they had been edified with what Ifare—endeavouring, in simple language, to im for the purpose of dispossessing them, in order to they heard. One of them added, that he could ess on them the necessity of avoiding every evil appease the Indians.

actice, in order that the great God, whose com
"When we reached the settlements in Kentucky, who did not see the necessity of it, but who were ssions are toward people of all colours and na- we put up at the house of General Kennedy, who pressing after the baptism of the one eternal Spirit. ns, might bless them, and give them patience to possessed a large number of slaves. Many of his On our way back to the house of Judge Clark, his dure affliction in this world, and prepare them heighbours hearing of our arrival, called to see us, wife remarked to me, that she boped now to be that better world which is to come, where they with whom we had much free conversation on the released from that distress of mind she had been buld be freed from servitude and suffering. The practice of holding slaves, and the pernicious con-under, respecting this subject, for some time past, or creatures paid great attention, and sat with sequences of the free use of ardent spirits. It was and which at times was so great, that she feared usual quietude. introduced by my offering them tracts on these she should lose her reason; for she could not see
"Being joined by John Lynch and another subjects, which I had brought from Philadelphia her way to be baptized with water, and the preacher iend, we set out from this place for Kentucky, for the purpose of distribution. Some readily actions was continually urging on her the necessity of it, the 19th of Eighth month; and on the 21st, eepted them, but others refused: we however read or she would be eternally lost; but now, said she, d a meeting at Montgomery county court-house, them to the company, at intervals, offering to their I am satisfied, and hope I shall no more be trou-

d traversed a long dreary wilderness, where we practice of slave-holding was wrong. He, how made no further opposition. Many persons were w many wild beasts, and but few people—seeing ever, treated us with hospitality and kindness, and present, and it was truly a solid season, in which tone cottage in about eighty miles. We were when we left his house, pressingly invited us to call Gospel truths were freely opened, and reasons given der the necessity of lodging in a miserable hut, again before we left the conutry. We then wont for the simplicity of our profession and practices—see there were eighteen of us, and all but the man and her child, slept on the floor; some in been a Friend-she received our visit in a friendly formal manner of most other professors, &c. The necessity of seeking after weightiness of spirit in our devotions, was set forth; that as God is a Spirit they who perform the solemn act of devotion aright, must worship him in spirit and in truth. We had a pressing invitation to have a meeting next day tion confers upon us is that of money, or a "cir-bag of dollars, you may be rich one day, and or at the house of a person who lived nearly ten miles coulding medium." We have coins of gold, silver, half as rich a week afterwards. Neverthele off, and who was at our morning meeting. I ac- or copper, each of a certain value, which no one suppose you had some of these dollars, and wish cordingly accepted it, and Judge Clark, his wife dares to dispute. But the African traveller meets to buy corn in the market, you must first buy co and daughters, accompanied us thither. We were with endless difficulties about his money; and the

in Winchester, where many Gospel truths opened not take the same thing for his corn that the trader you may be cheated several times in procuring on my mind, and were delivered with clearness- takes: so that a person may have to sell and buy single article. ability being graciously afforded, beyond what I several times before he can get what he wants. Sarter, or a mere change of commodities, i sever experienced before, to contend for them, in And it requires a camel to carry as much money opposition to the superficial notions of formal pro- as we could put into the smallest purse. Other fessors. When the meeting closed, the people ap- inconveniences will appear in the sequel. peared unwilling to leave the house, and much | Coin has been introduced, to a certain extent, they know not the quality of the metal of wh particularly among those who had become most the western coast of Africa. Yet this is little refuse to give more than 1000 cowries for a raz acquainted with us. The wife of Judge Clark known out of the colonies. The native tribes borthat is, one shilling and eightpence; but then remarked, that she hoped the Lord would enable dering upon them, have other standards of value, razor which they get for this sum, is sold by I her to be resigned to the repreach that might be if such they may be called. In one place, they her to be resigned to the reproach that might be leaded and the process that might be leaded a state of the process that the process that an ounce of gold or silver, or an elementary attentive to the Teacher that could not be removed into a corner. Others assenting to the destress and prayers, that God would bless and preserve us in his work, among whom were some of the first characters in the country.

They was a place, they mingham manufacturers for sixpence. They was a power of the process of of the first characters in the country.

ascribe all praise to him; for had be not vouch-safed his help, I should not have dared to labour ordinary coin. But this is of no real value, and as I did, neither could I. May his preserving may be refused in the very next village. Dr. Barth power continue to be with me, and afford me tells us that the cowric is, nevertheless, introduced strength to move forward in his fear, for hitherto into some of the chief towns of the interior. He he hath helped me in this untrodden land, where I found it to be one of the circulating mediums of negroes are few and easily supplied, or else m have been carnestly desirous not to move too fast, Kukwa, the capital of Bornu, a very large and keting night occupy half their lives. But mor or in any way contrary to his holy will, so that I have at times been unable to sleep or take my natural food. But feeling my confidence in my sequently, 50 of them were equal to one penny. The contract the scale of the sequence of the seq holy Helper renewed at this season, I once more He saw a merchant count 500,000 of these little referred to, it forms the sole or chief article surrender myself into his blessed keeping. Thou shells. They were not strung together, as on the knowest, O Lord, I am willing to follow thee whi- coast, in strings of 100, but were counted out sinternoon, which was not so satisfactory as some were reckoned a load for an ordinary camel. So that his belief of future punishment, and expressed the others. In the evening we had a tendering and if a person wished to travel with £100, he must have astonishment that a man of his powers of m baptizing season with the family; and the follow- twelve camels to carry his cash, if it was in cowries. should be so far misled as to believe the hor ing day being the first of the week, we had meetings, both morning and afternoon, in the court and other parts of that neighbourhood, namely, result was a controversy, which was carried or house at Lexington, which were satisfactory oppor-strips of cotton cloth woven by the natives, about long and carnestly that, when they, after some ti tunities. We lodged at Thomas Steele's, formerly two and a quarter inches wide, which is dyed and looked around, they found that they were hurry filled with a conceit of our own importance, which and so have different values attached to them; but leving in future punishment. Your opinion is, would render us insupportable through life. Happy a good shirt made in Kano, will pass for money when a man dies the first thing of which he the boy whose mother is tired of talking nonsense the boy whose mother is tired of talking nonsense to him before he is old enough to know the meaning were in want of provisions, as the villagers would why you were so terribly frightened when of it.

at an extraordinary rate. The income to the govillage, Dr. Barth was two hours haggling with his head, said: "Til tell you what, Colonel R vernment last year from this source was about $36, two young women for a couple of fowls; as he had 000,000. In 1835, it was but $3,000,000. For only cowries, which they would not take as money, water, but it will never do to go over the fall the past 47 years, it has been over $877,000,000. but desired as ornaments to their persons.

From "The Leisure Hour." African Shifts for Money.

and daugnters, accompanied us intiner. We were with endess dimentics about his money; and the ries to suit the merchant; then with these y favoured with the fresh extendings of Divine love, natives themselves are often sorely perplaced on must buy a shirt to suit the peasant, and with the first humble thanksgivings were offered unto this matter. The trouble and inconvenience which shirt you buy corn; for, as we have said, differe it gives, are often very great. The people of one kinds of people will not take the same kind any, and attended a meeting held in the court-house for money in the next town; and the farmer will small fatigue and trouble; and if not "shar" the court house for money in the next town; and the farmer will small fatigue and trouble; and if not "shar" the court house for money in the next town; and the farmer will small fatigue and trouble; and if not "shar" the court house for money in the next town; and the farmer will small fatigue and trouble; and if not "shar" the court house for money in the next town; and the properties of the farmer will small fatigue and trouble; and if not "shar" the court house for money in the next next town.

brokenness of spirit and weeping were manifest, into some of the British and other settlements of a manufactured article is made. In Kano, the thersoever thou art pleased to lead me. Be thou gly. And, though chiefs and governors use rushwith my dear family and keep us all in thy fear. sacks, containing 20,000 cowries each, yet nobody son was in a boat along with two Universalists. "We rode to the widow Smith's, in Secti county, would receive them without counting them over, the river some distance above the Falls of Niagwhere we had a meeting at four o'clock in the af-Onehundred thousand, or about eight guineas 'value,' The Universalists began to rally the Colonel a school teacher in New York, and from whom I made into vestments. The same standard prevails with great rapidity towards the Falls! The Uni in Sarawa, a powerful kingdom south of Hausa, [To be continued.]

(To be continued.)

To be continued.) It is well for us that we are born babies in intellect. Could we understand half what most Kukuwa, and is generally received by the sand do to their infants, we should be try. These shirts are of different kinds and sizes, it is not long since you were railing at me for not take cowries, Dr. Overweg took the shirt from thought that in five minutes you'd be over the The consumption of tobacco in France increases some times an extraordinary rate. The increases some times an extraordinary rate. The income to the consumption of them, serately an extraordinary rate. The income to the consumption of them, serately an extraordinary rate.

Austrian dollars have found their way in Kukuwa, where they are recognized, but are su Amongst the numerous benefits which civiliza- ject to great fluctuations in value; so that, with whilst they are easily outwitted by foreigners; terior, they used to count by one pound of copper, now demand the full mint price for their gold which is subject to the same disadvantages. "He who knoweth all hearts, knows that I do which is subject to the same disadvantages.

silver, without considering that alloy is put I not pen these things in a boasting way, but do

In most parts of the Gold Coast, and among our money; and they take in exchange someths. The subject to th

Universalism in Smooth Water .- Col. Riche There is another kind of coin current in Kano dogma. The Colonel defended his opinions, and Niagara!"

Selected from S. Fethergill's Journal.

o God and man. This character sets itself as the will be perfectly right. bject of general contempt; its hand is against he business of others. Notwithstanding this, sa- 1780. red reproof, where just, and immediately addressed o the party, is a beautiful, useful part of friendhip. 1761.

The boundaries of innocence once passed, it is al dependence and treasure.

emains for ever, and the defection of multitudes won for ourselves. an by no means impair his unchangeable truth nd righteousness.

here that is of the right sort.

nd arm. I believe He will do it, and that the which we allude. lay is near at hand; that he will work his won-utterly fail. May our minds cleave to the Pre- us; the latter island, with its long live of living Let it become a constant watch to avoid that server of men, that thereby strength may be re- volcanos, forming part of that vast volcanic belt, uinous practice of tattling, tale bearing and secret newed simply to suffer, and simply to stand in the nearly 3000 miles in length, which traverses the effection. These sources of division, are hateful counsel of God; then how, where and what we are, Indian Archipelago; skirting or crossing those rudent mind, without interfering unnecessarily in our brethren, the sons of the same Father .- S. F.

For "The Friend." Recent Geographical Researches. (Concluded from page 131.)

adubitable conviction of true religion seated in the city and scanty size of the Australian rivers, of des Indes Orientales Neerlandaises," by Captain ead, can ever effectually complete the work in us which the Murray alone seems fitted for continu- Gorlach, is the most complete record with which r others; but the renewed daily experience of our steam navigation; and by those dry, scorching we are acquainted of the prowess and enterprise edeeming, enlarging virtue, to build us up to His and sandy winds, blowing from the interior, which of the Dutch settlers in the East, which have enporning, and to the advanced light of a blessed, The suspicion of a central lake, though it cannot in that Archipelago second only to that of Britain. be disproved upon our present knowledge, yet is The Philippine Islands have been vaguely known He who forms day and night, directs the alternow entertained by few. Many vast tracts of ferto us trough the feeble sovereignty of Spain, addon of the seasons, and holds in his hand every title country, probable for settlement, will doubtThose, har more important, which form the empire
vind that can possibly blow on the dwellings of less yet be discovered between the desert and the of Japan, after saudry singular fluctuations of Eu-To know the counsel of the Lord, is red dered to the northwest of Lake Torrens, furnish a for-clusion, are now opening themselves to our comn essential blessing only in proportion to our fidel-tunate example. By taking its physical characters | merce;—precariously, however, and under a cer-tunate example. By taking its physical characters | merce;—precariously, however, and under a cer-tunate example. By taking its physical characters | merce;—precariously, however, and under a cer-tunate example. By taking its physical characters | merce;—precariously, however, and under a cer-tain compilation, which we would fain hope may bedience is our best covering, and will stand us come a Coust Empire only; though vast enough, hereafter take a more settled and tranquil form. a stead when extensive knowledge, and quickness as such, to satisfy all the imaginings of the future. In a recent article we have spoken of Mr. Oliphant's f apprehension in unpractised truths, will only It is impossible not to feel pride in the relation of valuable work, as one provoking the desire for fur-ierce the hand that grasps at them, as the princi- England to this southern world. Whether it re- ther and more intimate knowledge of those islands; Stand fast in your own lots; abide in the faith severed by the events of the future (peaceably, we productions, and peopled by a race peculiar in their nd patience; be sober, and hope to the end: say, because such a war as that of the American language, and in their political and social instituhough the times are gloomy, the outgoings of the revolution can never recur,) Australia will still be tions. Many curious questions will be solved by porning are of God, and he can and will, in his English in its language, literature, and political our closer intimacy with Japan. We carnestly wn time, cause the wilderness to become a fruitful life. We shall not only have created a nation out hope that they may be solved by peaceful interield. Look not too much at the declension of of a wilderness, but shall have ennobled the peo-course; without those intermediate stages of strugthers, lest your faith fail; but steadfastly look to, ple so created, by the gift of institutions, which the gle and bloodshed which have defaced our reland follow on to know, the Lord Almighty, who struggles and experience of centuries have happily tions with the neighbouring empire of China.

they aspire to be great, and not by becoming The proximity to the equator is a drawback; and miliar to us than any parts of the world which ittle, and the servants of all, patient toward all we have reason to suppose the margin of fertile come within the scope of ancient geography. In een. They say they are zealous, some think them lands narrower and less productive. Still we can-North America the energy of the Anglo-Saxon race, o, but where the eye is not single, no zeal can be not but believe that on the shores of the Gulf of whether independent or still under British sove-Carpentaria, or elsewhere on this coast, there are reignty, has carried lines of travel across the most Our nation is intoxicated with success. I can spots profitable for colonization, for commercial in storile and mountainous tracts between the two ot rejoice with their joy. Methinks there is some tercourse with the Indian Archipelago, and for fu- oceans; and to the mouths of the rivers which, ishing behind the veil to teach us righteousness, ture overland communication with the nothern sets suing from a wild region of forests and lakes, empty the communities of the present day have not that thements of the eastern coast. The energy, which themselves into the Artic Sea. The active spirit ustructive effect on the people. May the great has done so much for us in this region of the globe, of westward colonization in the United States,- terful work. Oh, that our names may be written brief, cannot omit mention of the great islands vinces on the west and South,-and even the aba his book, enrolled in his army; so shall the which lie variously grouped over the vast space of surd fanaticism of the Mormon emigrants-have trength of salvation and protection be our portion, the Indian Ocean. Madagascar, Borneo, and New all tended, within the last fifteen years especially, All other vision is a dream, and all labour fruitless Guinea, the three largest, covering six times the to open out these vast countries to our knowledge. r worse, that hath not some tendency to promote surface of the British Isles, are still scarcely known Railways already traverse the prairies of the Mississiphi and ascend the valley of the Missouri; pe directed to that substance the wise of all ages been carried within,—and in the Indian Archipe- while steamboats make their way up the latter have chosen, and leave the bustles of obstructing lago the Dutch, led by commercial instincts, have river, a thousand miles above the confluence of hings, to sit at the feet of the Prince of Peace.— ever been the most active and successful explorers, these two mighty streams. The Rocky Mountains, F. to J. Femberton, 1750.— these islands give large promise of internal retains, the great watershed of this continent, are May all the labourers in the Lord's service be sources, mineral and vegetable; while their Fauna, yielding their difficult and dangerous passes to clothed with the humility, meekness, wisdom, and including the races of men which tenant them, the enterprise of traders or settlers;—the Indian strength of the Lamb; this will be victorious at offers endless objects of curious speculation to the tribes are disappearing under the pressure of this ast, when the zeal, will and wrath of man must naturalist. Sumatra and Java are better known to new race; and an overland post now performs erystalline and sedimentary formations, to which It is my fervent wish that all the professors of the same subterranean forces have probably given very one, and every one's hand and heart will be christianity may be more anxions to live christian their island elevation, as well as the rare and pregainst those who merit it. The concerns of one's lives, than either in advancing the consequence of clous metallic deposits seemingly so abundant in wen mind and family are sufficient to employ a the sect, or reflecting on our fellow servants and this region. The vicinity of this great island group to Australia will doubtless hasten that better knowledge of their geography and productions, which, eousidering their extent and position, it is fitting we should have. There are obstacles from tropical climate and savage population. But European enterprise has overcome these clswhere, and will do Meither tradition, former experience, the most this great central region are afforded by the pau- in Amsterdam, under the title, "Fastes Militaires sea; of which the recent discoveries of Mr. Stuart ropean intercourse, ending in its almost entire exmain ours in colonial union, or be peaceably dis- extraordinary in their physical features, rich in their

There yet remains, to complete our rapid sur-Though the sovereignty of Australia is virtually vey, that great double continent of the West, formconceded to England, and the most profitable parts ing fully a third part of the total solid land of the Many make use of the name of the church for a candulent purposes and herative views, the filthy we are led with Sir R. Murchison to regret that about three and a half centuries ago, the two conucre of pre-eminence. I know them by this mark no settlement has been made on the northern coast, timents of America are nevertheless now more faord of heaven and earth magnify his own name will doubtless in the end accomplish the object to the need of direct overland communication between the Eastern States and those newly created on the Our record of geographical research, however Pacific, -the successive abstraction of Mexican proregular journeys between California and the older States of the Atlantic Coast. The able surveyors of Canada and the United States will speedily fill Of Ministers and Elders and other concerned members up the gaps which yet remain in the geography of the central and southern portion of the North American continent. By far the most important of these works is the narrative of the route from Canada to British Columbia, published by professor Hind, of meetings there on the 22d, and, on the 23d, went the kingdom was sown, and that it was not it Toronto, who went in charge of the Canadian, As- to Marblehead, to see the Gatchel family, relatives tended that any of the seed should be lost, or som siniboin and Saskatchewan Exploring Expedition of his first wife, and at Lynn he found that Zac- in vain. In this meeting, his mind was exercise The maps and illustrations of this publication are cheus Collins, his old host, had departed this life in the belief, that there were those present, who of great scientific value, and it deserves especial during the time of their absence to the eastward. had often been watered, who yet brought for notice as a contribution of the Canadians themselves Here his companion left him, to return to his own briars and thorns, whose end was night to cursin to the knowledge of the vast territory which is the home. In company with John Southwick, Joshua On the 27th, he had a meeting at Winesocket, i inheritance of their own descendants, and which rode to Beston. On the 24th, he held a meeting which he set forth the harmony, which is found i forms so large a portion of the British-American there at the house of Obadiah Wheeler, in which the true church, using the similitude of the ou to the north and west of the flourishing provinces Friends, who still tarried, to sit down and ended ment of the Lord Almighty, who first formed may of Canada, cover an enormous extent of surface, your to retire into silence. Joshua was then enthat there was so much diversity of opinion in it well nigh equal to the total area of Europe, but like the control of hunting territory of the Hudson's Bay Company. was lifted on high, he would draw all men unto come under the government of Christ, which coul It disputes with the kindred region of Sibera the llim. That these who were faithful to his draw-bring all into harmony of faith.

claim of being the greatest fur-producing country ings, would be sparated from the world adbated. He had another neeting in the afternoon, of the globe. The conditions of climate and surface ways. After the neeting, in company of boddish Smithfield, and the next day, the 28th, rode is are such that three-fourths of its extent will proba- Wheeler, he rode to Leicester, where he lodged at Providence, and had a meeting there. He dine bly ever remain a breeding ground for the wild the house of Deborah Earle. At a meeting held with Moses Brown and, after dinner, had a rel animals of the chase. But the eager spirit of en-there on the 25th, he had large and acceptable gious opportunity with him, and his family, wh terprise has of late awakened the question whether service. A son of the widow Earle had married were then all gay. He laboured with them in the southern borders of this vast territory be not out from Friends, with a Presbyterian woman. He close manner, much desiring that they might a open to profitable agricultural settlement, especially had, however, been again restored to membership, be christians, indeed; that afternoon he had along the valleys of the Saskatchewan and its sub- and his wife having been convinced of the princi- meeting at Neshanticot, and the next day one a ordinate streams. An exploring expedition sent out ples of Truth as held by Friends, had also been Greenwich. In this meeting, he had to treat oby the Colonial Office about three years ago under received as a member amongst them. Her father the two dispensations, and was led to show their Captain Palliser, in relation to this object, has al- was at this meeting at Leicester, and afterwards that the gospel dispensation would fall short of the ready obtained many valuable results; among which rode with Joshua, as he says, "to a little town of the law, if immediate revelation was not cor we may especially notice the observations of Dr. Hec- called Worcester." As he rode along, he spoke tinued to us. That was the foundation upon whice we may especially notice the observations of Dr. Heocalled Worcester." As he rode along, he spoke itimed to us. That was the foundation upon whice tor on the passes over the Rocky Mountains; show- to Joshua, telling him be had a daughter of the declared his church should be built. In it ing certain of them to be lower and more facile of transit than any others yet known across this child, or worse christian than she was!" He said, great mountain chain. The scale of operation, "he thought not." Joshua said, "that is sead, so lings of God's Holy Spirit, and to close in with th however, is so vast in these surveys, that it is needful to await their further extension, before any verse, not for contention, but for information, them to deliver them from sin. He showed the practical measure can be founded upon them. Joshua said, he was willing, as far as he could, by the example of Israel of old, how God care Meanwhile we are rapidly gaining knowledge of to satisfy him. He then said, "You profess not for and preserved his people whilst they were obe ver colony of Ritish Calmister. A Profite slide to sudd your servence." To this Joshua point distribution, the profice will be recommended. our colony of British Columbia, on the Pacific side to study your sermons." To this, Joshua assented. dient unto him, bringing them out of Egypt, th our colory of Dritish Columbia, on the Facilic side to study your sermons." To this, Joshua assented, dient unto him, bringing them cut of legypt, to of the mountains; incited at the present moment "You mentioned many texts of Scripture and I land of bondage, and dividing the Red See before by the golden harvest there, but justified for the believe they were rightly quoted. I wonder how them. Joshua pressed on them the necessity of tuture by the prospects of those more tranquil and you remember them." Joshua, in reply, said, "I regeneration, without which no man can be a fol lasting harvests, promised by a fine climate and fershape the spake as they were opened to me." He then said, lower of Christ, or witness a passing from unde tile soils. It is our belief that Canada and this "You always preach when you are at home, don't the bondage of sin and corruption. Returning the mew Colony of the West will eventually be united by out?" Joshua, on this, said, "There are several Providence, that night he lodged with Moses Brown by a belt of settlements between the boundary of Friends belonging to the meeting I do, who some-land on the 30th, rising early, he rode to Taunton the United States and 529 ac 532 N. I. But the voids still remaining to be filled up, and the when you are abroad, and appoint meetings, don't Jesus Christ, who longed to see the professors of energy and intelligence engaged in fulfilment of you?" Joshua replied, "I do not." "Do you not the Truth, true hearted, cross-bearing discipled this work. The number and extent of such void think that you impose upon the people?" Joshua zealous and faithful in all things appertaining t places in geography will probably surprise those said, "I think not, when we appoint meetings, we life and salvation. After meeting, Jeshua went to not accustomed to large views of the world they do not promise to preach; but if we feel our minds Thomas Earle's to lodge, having ridden fort inhabit. Another century, however,—perhaps even engaged to speak, we do it as we find ability. miles, and attended two meetings that day. The less,—will make us masters of all that is really Your preachers preach for money, and are obliged next day he was at meeting at Swanzey, in the worthy of attainment. And as, in thus discover- to speak, but we do not." He acknowledged that morning, and Tiverton, in the afternoon, after ing new lands fitted for human habitation, it is it was too true. Much more conversation ensued, which he crossed to Rhode Island, and lodged wit clear that we are in effect providing for a lar- and when they reached his dwelling, he kindly Isaac Lawton, an eminent minister of Christ. ger amount of human life on the globe, we can pressed Joshua to alight and refresh himself. This On the 1st of the Eighth mouth, he had a meet not but express our carnest hope that a higher Joshua was free to do. He found this Presbyte- ing at Portsmouth, and notice for one to be hel and more diffused civilization may obviate or les- rian, convinced of the imposition of the clergy, but at Newport that afternoon, having failed to reacsen those evils which are the appurtenances of an knew not how to get from under them. On part- that place, he passed over the two ferries throug of the Yearly Meeting of Philadelphia.

(Continued from page 133.) JOSHUA BROWN.

Returning to Salem, they had two satisfactory several sorts of ground, in which the good seed he had some service. Before leaving the house, ward body and its members. He showed ther The British possessions on this continent, lying he requested the members of the family and many that it was for want of keeping under the govern day, in which he had to mention and comment of the passage in the New Testament, where it is sa that some who had been followers of Christ, le him, being offended at the closeness and simplicit of his dectrine. In the afternoon, he had a mee ing at Mendon, in which he had to mention th the United States and 52° or 53° N. L. But, times speak [in the ministry], and yet we have and had a meeting there, at which the priest of the even with the aid of railroads and continuous emigration, half a century may be required to work concelle that." Joshua said, "If thou will consider then rode to Freetown, to a meeting appointed out this result. The summary we have thus given of the actual performed in spirit, and in truth, thou need not some who were in attendance, caused it to be state of geographical knowledge, will show at once wonder." He then said, "You always preach an afflicting opportunity to this lover of the Lor overcrowded world, and which put to severest ing, he pressed Joshua, if he ever came in that the island of Canonicot, to the mainland, hopin trial the political, social, and religious institutions part of the country, to call and visit him. Riding to be able to reach Purchase Quarterly Meeting to Tankind.

tble, and finding he had passed on too fast, he re- For her hands were strong in her Saviour's might, rned to Newport, to their week-day meeting, As forth to her work she sped. hich with difficulty was accomplished, it being a Then rise, fellow-teacher, to lab ne expecting a stranger there, was small; but one eld in Canonicot that afternoon, was pretty largely tended. Friends came from Newport, and many the inhabitants of the island also came in. In this eeting, Joshua was led to treat of the way prossors departed from the faith once delivered to ne saints, and how they must be led if they witessed a recovery. He earnestly exhorted the cople to mind the day of the visitation of grace their souls, least withstanding the offers of that ay, they should not be gathered. Passing over the mainland, on the 3d he had a meeting at outh Kingston, wherein he was led to set forth ne formality of many of the professors of the pristian name, and to show those gathered the nessity of witnessing their religion to be a heartork, that they might know a being taught of the ord, and not to receive their faith by the precepts men only, and in order to this, he pressed on em the necessity of minding the day of their sitation. He dined at Thomas Hazard's, where had lodged the previous night, and then atended a meeting in the afternoon, at Richmond. he meeting was not satisfactory, for he found rings low as to a lively feeling of religion. (To be continued.)

Will not the Editor of The Friend allow this to be in-

[We do not much like such "dreams" of heaven, but the moral is good, we give it place.]

NOT IN VAIN!

thave laboured in vain," a teacher said, ad her brow was marked by care—thave laboured in vain," and she bowed her head, ad bitter and sad were the tears she shed that moment of dark despair.

that moment of dark despair.

k am weary and worn, and my hands are weak, od my conrage is well-nigh goos, pr none give heed to the words I speak, nd in vain for a promise of fruit I seek,
'here the seed of the Word is sowa."
nd agein, with a sorrowinl heart she wept, br her spirit with grief was stirred, ill the night grew dark, and at last she slept, nd a silent calm o'er her spirit crept, be saw a throne of such dazzling light nd harps were ringing, and robes were white—ade white in a Saviour's blood. nd she saw such a countless throng around,

s she never had seen beforeheir brows with jewels of light were crowned, ad sorrow and sighing no place had found, or the troubles of Time were o'er !hen a white-robed maiden came forth and said, Joy ! joy ! for thy trials are past !am one that thy gentle words have led, a the narrow pathway of life to tread, welcome thee home at last!" nd the teacher gazed on the maiden's face, he had seen that face on earth, 'hen with anxions heart, in her wonted place, he had told her charge of a Saviour's grace, nd their need of a second birth. hen the teacher smiled, and an angel said, Go forth to thy work again; is not in vain that the seed is shed, only one soul to the cross is led, by labour is not in vaiu."

ad at last she woke, and her knee she beut a grateful, childlike prayer,ind she prayed till an answer of peace was sent, ind Faith and Hope as a rainbow bleut 'er the clouds of her earthly care. nd she rose in joy, and her eye was bright, fer sorrow and grief had fled, and her soul was calm, and her heart was light,

Then rise, fellow-teacher, to labour go! Though the fruit may never be seen below, Be sure that the seed of the Word shall grow-Toil on, in faith, and thon soon shalt know, 'Thy labour is not in vain!'

For "The Friend,"

LIGHT OUT OF DARKNESS. "And they feared, as they entered into the cloud. And there came a voice out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloved Son, hear him." (Luke ix. 34, 35.)

True-hearted christian holding thy way, Onward and upward toward life's bright day, Clouds there are many before thee,— Whose dark'ning shadows of fear and ill, And damp-mist sorrows the heart to chill, Are dimming thy passage to glory.

Lowly in humble abasement bowed, Thou canst but fear to enter the cloud. Unseen is its radiant lining; Of hope and comfort it seems the tomb, Though still on the back of the coming gloom,
The sunbeams of love are shining.

To thee, on the face of the cloud appear, An awful warning to waken fear, Lest its gloom be in anger given; Yet passing away to thy spirit sight 'Twill glow in the richest and purest light Of mercy and grace from heaven!

From the very cloud thou mayst hear a voice, Bidding thee ever believe and rejoice In Jesus, the Rock of salvation; Tis the voice the three in the mountain heard In the honr of fear, when their blessed Lord Wore the light of transfiguration.

"On the ladder of God, that noward leads The steps of progress, are human needs. For His judgments still are a mighty deep, And the eyes of His providence never sleep : When the night is darkest, he gives the morn ; When the famine is sorest, the wine and corn ["The Preacher." 1. G. W.

> For "The Friend." The American Agriculturist,

The editor of this popular and valuable journal makes some judicious and appropriate remarks on the commencement of the twentieth volume of the christian, as thus set forth by our Lord and his ad she thought in her dreams, that the soul took flight periodical. After calling up some of the reminiary apostles, is so broad and entire, that the dullest on blessed and bright abode—on blessed and bright abode—comprehension cannot fail to perceive it; yet there years, he adds: "Let us work while the day lasts, is a studied and systematic effort, even under the Of those whose names stand on the first books of guise of religion, to bridge over the chasm which this office, how few remain on this stage of action. divides them, to reconcile their opposite and hostile The word 'deceased' has been written against views and practices, to smooth down or fritter away doubtless is written for many others by the recording Angel. We are all basteoing onward through idea that it is possible to serve two masters-God this life's pilgrimage. Our plowing and sowing, our harvesting and consuming, and marketing the products of our fields will speedily be over. The year we now enter upon, will, to many of our yet, averse to the cross and self-denial, and desirmembers, be the last. Let us put our houses in ous of shunning them, they readily drink in the order, at the very commencement of the year; let plausible and accommodating theories which prous sow any good seed yet to be sown for the harvest pose to help them to heaven without renouncing the of the next life, and root out any foul weeds that world, and thus to make them heirs of two kinghave been hitherto permitted to grow. If this be doms as widely different as light and darkness, and done, with that Omnipotent aid vouchsafed to all this will seek for it, it matters little whether prossperity, or storms, or drouths, visit our outward fore, they speak of, or in favour of, the world; therefields. If the soil of the heart be in order-the the world heareth them." fallow ground all broken up and planted with good seed, and watered with the dews of grace-the new cycle we enter upon, will be what we heartily wish distasteful, when he says, "Whosoever doth not to all our readers-A Happy New Year."

kind office is to hide it.

For "The Friend." Worldly Compliance.

It was a noteworthy feature in the teachings of the Saviour of men, when he forewarned his diseiples, that the religion which he introduced, should not be popular. For the worldly, the ambitious, the self-pleasing and the voluptnous, it had few attractions. Instead of alluring followers by promises of being flattered and caressed, or holding out to their view the friendships and honours, the riches and pleasures of this world, He plainly told them that they should be hated of all men for his sake, and that in making choice of Him and his religion, they must be prepared to endure the loss of everything else, to be despised and perse-cuted, and accounted as fools. "If ye were of the world," says He, "the world would love its own; but because ye are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you."

Here the cause of the hatred is plainly stated to be separation from the world; not being of its spirit, nor following its fashions and customs, which is ever the case with the sincere disciples of Him who declared, "My kingdom is not of this world." The apostles understood it so, and such force had their Master's teaching on their minds, that they wrote in very strong terms to the believers, respecting the subject.

Gentle and meek as was the disciple who leaned on Jesus' breast, yet such was his zeal against the spirit of worldly compliance, that he says: "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father." Again, "We know that we are of God, and that the whole world lieth in wickedness." Another apostle says of those who are lost, that the god of this world hath blinded their eyes, lest the light of the glorious gospel of God should shine unto them. The Apostle James makes a great part of pure and undefiled religion to consist in keeping ourselves unspotted from the world; and another enjoins, "Be not conformed to this world."

The antagonism between the world and the many a name during these nineteen years, and palpable differences; and, regardless of the express declaration of our Lord himself, to inculcate the and mammon.

Many listen to these flesh-pleasing suggestions; and not liking to give up religion altogether, and

The teachers and the hearers are of the same spirit, and to both the doctrine of our Lord is very bear his cross, and come after me, cannot be my disciple." "If any man will come after me, let When a sear cannot be taken away, the next him deny himself and take up his cross daily, and follow me. For whoseever will save his life, shall the same shall save it. For what is a man advan- the requirements of christian simplicity. We would and bringing ourselves within the import of the same genuity is evinced in endeavouring to appropriate that Friends' dress is not plain enough; but, on were drowned in the depth of the sea." these unmodish but honest tests, and yet to indulge the other hand, that it is too plain, too unmodish in the customs and fashions, the grandeur and show, and singular, rendering it a cross to be seen in it. the modern innovations in our Society, respective vain conversation, empty compliments and hol. The desire to put it off arises then, not from a de-l plain dress, language, living, demeanour and otle low friendships of the world, as though the march sire to be simple, but obviously to be more like matters, are in the direction of nearer conform of refinement and the social improvements of our other people, more like the world, and thus to get to the world and its ways, and not to lead from day, had rendered the sayings of Christ and his rid of the plainness which marks the wearer as a Is there no significance in this fact? Whates obvious; and not a few, perhaps, argue the more strenuously in favour of the modern compliances, though it be according to the prevailing mode, so and his apostles, regarding conformity to the wor because they are inwardly sensible their cause is a changeable are the fashions, that in a little while, should not this fact induce us to pause and ta weak one, and feel that they have need of all the it too would become singular and conspicuous, warning, lest, having thrown down what was courage and countenance which bold assertion and calling for another alteration on the same ground signed to be a hedge about us against the inroa sophistical reasoning can give them, to allay the as the first; and surely it is far more dignified of evil, and given the rein to our inclinations uneasiness which secret compunctions of conscience and consistent with the stability of the chris- these things, we find, when it is too late, that often create. They would gladly be convinced by tian character, to make no change at all, but keep have prepared the way for the destroyer to ent ness of speech, behaviour and apparel, and indul- Friends have long worn. gence in costly and showy furniture and living, &c., are not incompatible with being good Friends; but wearing a plain dress, has ever proved a disadvan-dismissed the heavenly Pilot, may be driven hith after they have exhausted all their resources, there tage to any one in the spiritual warfare. On the and thither, we know not where, drifting near is still in the deep recesses of the heart a consci- contrary, many have found it a preservation from and nearer to the fatal shoals of a mongrel profe ousness which no argument can wholly efface, that evils, to which they were strongly tempted by al- sion of religion, a little christian and a good de it is not so. We would affectionately counsel such luring but delusive prospects of pleasure; and in worldly, and at last be stranded and make fearl not to reason against the convictions with which withholding them from which, the inconsistency of shipwreck of faith and a good conscience. they are favoured, however weak and faint they indulgence, with the plain apparel they wore, acted may be, lest the visitations of the Spirit of Truth no inconsiderable part; and though irksome at the upon any outward observances or conformity. V be gradually withdrawn, and they left to the guid- time, they afterward had cause to bless and praise know that religion does not consist in these, but ance of their fallen reason, which in religious mat-the hand which imposed this salutary restraint. doing the will of God from the heart, under t ters, "leads to be wilder and dazzles to blind;" and There are those who threw off the plain dress of sanctifying power of that living faith in our Lo thus they realize the saying of the dear Saviour, their early education, and found it like the open. Jesus Christ, "which is of the operation of God "If the light that is in thee be darkness, how great ing of "the wide gate," and smoothing the descent and which nothing else can give to the soul. B is that darkness."

gaiety and grandeur, and other worldly com- awakened at times to a sense of their prodigal state, and customs of the vain world in the particulars pliances, from any affectation of singularity, or they have lamented their wanderings from their which we have been treating, and it is not for us desire to mark themselves by a peculiar badge, father's house, but found it hard work to return. but from a firm persuasion, wrought in the mind they kept under the power of the Spirit of Truth, against going out into the fashions and ways of the obedience in rendering the tithe in what, from i that their only way to peace, though greatly in the world. cross, was by being obedient in these things; and it would be presumptuous to suppose that the Lord the gilded fascinations of the world fade away, and soon come to disregard justice, mercy and truthwould call for obedience in matters which were of all the flimsy sophistries with which men seck to lull for he that is unfaithful in the least, is unfaithfu no importance. Those who have known this work their consciences and soothe their uneasy convic- also in much, and if we wilfully reject one pol of grace in themselves, will readily admit that no-tions, are dispelled; we have many cases recorded, in of the Divine law, we may incur the guilt of the thing so effectually humbled the pride of the heart, which the Witness for God in the soul has arisen whole. and subdued the stout and stubborn will in them, in judgment, and brought individuals under great as the humiliating process by which they were condemnation for departing from the plainness and brought to submit in these little and despised things, simplicity of their education, and some have found When listeners refrain from evil-hearing. as they are considered by many; yet painful as it no rest or peace until they altered or destroyed the was, they found it a blessed work to them, and the fashionable attire and ornaments with which they day of obedience one of sweet peace and cousola- had decked themselves, when in health; declaring tion. It is often by weak things and foolish, in the that it was nothing but pride and a desire to shun eyes of men, that the Lord chooses to lay low the the cross, and to look like the world, that induced lofty, and humble the proud; and nothing which them to depart from the plainness in which they he pleases to use as a means of carrying on the had been brought up in earlier life. work of salvation, can be esteemed, with impunity, of light obligation or importance. The Scriptures timonies, and arrogantly conclude that infinite moreover show, that prophets and apostles were wisdom and goodness was wrong in thus dealing commissioned by the Most High, to give commands with his creatures; that we know better than He Ohio Yearly Meeting held in the Tenth month las to the believers on the subject of dress, and our does, and that mankind are too highly cultivated mention is made of a paper received by that mee Saviour himself did it in respect to language also; and refined now, to render attention to such trifles ling, signed by upwards of forty Friends who ha and will any one presume to say, that subjects thus necessary? If our actions and arguments practi-separated from one or more meetings in low taged, if he gain the whole world, and lose him-self, or be cast away." say to such, If it is your wish to observe the plain-ness which the gospel enjoins, why do you want that believe in me, it were better for him that It is not a little surprising to observe what in- any change? We never hear the objection made, millstone were hanged about his neck, and that

Beside, if you adopt another dress now, even and then read the solemn declarations of our Lo into." the broad way," leading them into the false we also know that it is the Divine will, that o Friends did not take up their testimony against and corrupt pleasures of the world; and when religious Society should be separated from the spir

by the operation of the Holy Spirit, that it was instance, where a dying Quaker, young or old, ever need not conform to it. We must take his cot the Divine will, they should thus evince their non-regretted keeping to his simple, self-denying appa-mandments as a whole, or we shall practically r comformity with the world and its ways. Many rel, and language and living? We believe not ject his government. We may try to excuse o who had a birthright in the Society, and many But we have instances of such, even among the deficiency by charging others with tithing the mir others who have been convinced of its princi young, where their obedience in these respects, at and rue, and anise, and cummin, and neglecting ples, and been brought into it, have found, as forded them comfort, and they have warned others the weightier matters of the law; but if we refu lose it: but whosoever will lose his life for my sake, than that of Friends, and yet equally comply with ing the visited children of our heavenly Fathe

It is especially worthy of serious notice, that apostles obsolete, and changed their plain meaning. Quaker, and of the yoke and cross which attach the motives of the proposers of them may lead to the motives of the proposers of them may lead to the motives of the proposers of them may lead to the motives of the proposers of them may lead to the motives of the proposers of them may lead to the motives of the proposers of them may lead to the motives of the proposers of them may lead to the motives of the proposers of them may lead to the motives of the proposers of them may lead to the motives of the proposers of them may lead to the motives of the proposers of them may lead to the motives of the proposers of them may lead to the motives of the proposers of them may lead to the motives of the proposers of them may lead to the motives of the proposers of them may lead to the motives of the motives condition, we may be tossed as on an unstable se It is not pretended that putting on and steadily where we have wilfully launched out, after havi

Far be it from us to place undue importan choose out such requirements as we please, or Can the advocates of change point us to a single say this is a small and unimportant matter, and seeming littleness, is the nearest and closest test In the solemn hour of sickness and death, when the entireness of our love and allegiance, we me

When will talkers refrain from evil-speaking

Those who are tutored in the school of sufferin. learn to pity those in affliction.

THE FRIEND.

FIRST MONTH 5, 1861.

Our readers may remember, that in a notice noticed by the Almighty, are of trifling moment? cally say so, will not our spiritual vision become This paper, we understand, expressed "with fee But some say, that we can adopt another dress dimmed, and may we not be in danger of balksome properly organized body of Friends."

hereby both were losers, we should rejoice if they hundred and thirteen Friends. nd the meetings, would review the course they ave respectively taken, and "under the softening f truth and righteousness.

(Continued from page 130.)

Our editorial of last week closed with the conthe Supreme Executive Council, by the Friends aprisoned, and threatened with exile.
While they were waiting to hear the decision of e Council, they were visited by one of the magtrates of the city, and the following dialogue took Magistrate-I am come as a magistrate of the ty, to know what you are confined here for. Friends-We are waiting to know that ourselves.

Magistrate-Who then does confine you?

re confined; but we are told it is in pursuance of cerning us." recommendation of Congress, and a resolve of Magistrate-Have you had a hearing? Friends-No.

ad arrived at, after experiencing the evils attendg upon the course they had pursued, that such gether with a printed copy of the Remonstrance resolution adopted, recommending the Supreme parations have a scattering tendency, and lead presented to Council, by three of their number. Executive Council to hear what the said remona disregard for the wholesome rules of discilin the evening of the 4th, they were called on by strants can allege, to remove the suspicions of their line; and their desire to become again united to Col. William Bradford, who read to them a letter being disaffected to the United States."

he had received from the Secretary of the Execu- In the meantime the Council, having received the From communications recently received from tive Council, by which they were officially informed consent of Congress to tender an oath or affirmariends in other bodies, similarly situated as those that that body had resolved to send them to Staun-tion of allegiance to the Friends, not satisfied with I Iowa, we are glad to find that a similar convic- ton, in Virginia, "there to be secured and treated in that adopted by the State, arrogated to themselves on is arrived at by the writers, and the acknow-such manner as shall be consistent with their re-legislative power, and prepared a "test;" a resoadgment that they find separation is no cure spective characters and the security of their per-lution being at the same time adopted "that such in the sad lapses at present existing in our relisons." Their brethren in religious profession in of the persons now confined in the lodge as shall ious Society. As we believe there are many the city, who deeply sympathized with them in their take and subscribe 'this test,' should be disonest-hearted Friends, who, from the treatment they trials, prepared and presented to the Council a charged." There were many reasons which rensecived from the hands of their brethren in religious remonstrance against the arbitrary measures pur-dered it altogether improper for the prisoners to rofession, the supposed hopelessness of relief and sued towards the prisoners, petitioning that body to take this test; they, therefore, drew up and sent more faithful support of the doctrines and disci-consider the matter "in a solid, religious way, and to the Council another remoustrance, in which they line of the Society, by the meetings to which they in the fear of God whom we profess to serve in the gave the reasons why they could not conscienauthorities, the incarcerated Friends drew up a those circumstances were not such as were attendoffuence of the love of God," remove every thing remonstrance, and had it presented to Congress; ant upon any of them. They again petitioned to hich prevents them from harmoniously labouring in which, after stating the manner in which they he allowed a hearing, and pointed out, that, acs one body, for the promotion of the blessed cause had been treated, and the efforts made by them to cording to the resolutions of both Congress and the obtain a hearing by the Council, they call upon Council, they were now subject to no further punishthat body "in the most solemn manner," to give ment than any other citizens, who declined taking them an opportunity of being heard, "and auswer-ing every matter suggested and entertained by you Upon the receipt of this remonstrance, the Coun-

te prisoners were to be sent to Virginia without a oath or affirmation of allegiance to the State, being sures taken with these Friends. eri arrest and subsequent treatment, the arrangeents making for suddenly banishing them from law allowed. When the remonstrance of the pribanishment unheard. You determine matters coneter beloved families and friends, and the hardspe they were likely to suffer. This hand-bill
"to lie on the table;" but, being called up the next hearing been granted—The charge of refusing to clonged, were, in the hour of suffering and weak gospel of his dear Son, at whose judgment-seat we tiously subscribe or take it, that the law of the css, induced to separate from those meetings, shall ere long appear;" this was signed by one land prescribed the circumstances under which, (and under which alone until the Legislature al-Despairing of obtaining justice from the State tered the law,) the test could be tendered; and uding paragraph of the Remonstrance, presented or them against us, being assured we shall appear eil resolved to refer their case to Congress, of which to be true friends to, and to be anxiously solicitous they directed them to be informed. Congress, for the prosperity of America, upon the prin- however, had just before adopted the resolution, ciples of justice and liberty; and though we are recommending the Council to hear the remonelearly convinced from the precepts of Christ, strants, which resolution was immediately transthe doctrine of his apostles, and the example of mitted to the latter body. Upon its receipt, the his followers in the primitive ages of christianity, Council at once ordered its President to "write to that all outward wars and fightings are unlawful, Congress, and let them know that the Council has and therefore cannot join therein for any cause into time to attend to that business in the present whatever, we cannot but remind you that we alarming crisis;" and that they were disposing We were sent here and detained by a military are, by the same principle, restrained from pur-everything for the departure of the prisoners. It orce, and in direct violation of the civil authority; suing any measures inconsistent with the apos- was evident that each body was desirous of escapod our cause is the cause of every freeman in the advice to 'live peaceably with all men, uning the odium of the tyrannical course adopted toennsylvania.

der whatever power it is our lot to live; which wards so many highly respectable citizens, thererule of conduct we are determined to observe, fore, on the 8th of the month, Congress having Friends-We know not, nor on what ground we whatever you or any others may determine con-received the last mentioned information from the Council, Resolved, "that it would be improper for It is probable, that the information given in the Congress to enter into any hearing of the remonhand-bill put forth by the prisoners, coming as it strants or other prisoners in the Lodge, they being did, from persons who had been long known and inhabitants of Pennsylvania, and therefore as the highly esteemed for their uprightness, their bene- Council declines giving them a hearing," it is re-Magistrate—It is then my business to see and quire into it.

The magistrate then left them, and returned in which, in some measure, re-acted upon the reduced the seed to the Seeding and Meeting for a commended that they be immediately sent away. The magistrate then left them, and returned in which, in some measure, re-acted upon the Council, lites issued by the Yearly Meeting and Meeting for yout an hour to inform them that he had endea- for it resolved to send the remonstrance from the Sufferings, together with the fictitious papers sent oured to obtain an interview with "some of the Friends to Congress, accompanied with the query to it by General Sullivan, to be published in the eat men," but could find none of them but the whether that body "had any objections, to such of newspapers; probably with an expectation that ice President of the Council, who told him that the aforesaid gentleman as should now take an they would tend to satisfy the people with the mea-per prisoners were to be sent to virgina we whom a continuation of angular to the state, being surgering. He expressed himself shocked at this enlarged." To this interrogatory, Congress replied, by a resolution, "that it had no objection." Expressed the shifting of the consideration of their plied, by a resolution, "that it had no objection." Expressed the shifting of the consideration of their plied, by a resolution, "that it had no objection." Expressed the shifting of the consideration of their bearing the shifting of the consideration of their characteristics. From the Council to Congress, and the resolutions of the work of the consideration of the consideration of their characteristics. From the council to Congress, and the resolution of the latter, that as they were citizens of Pennsylvania. Finding that arrangements that these Friends were, "with much rancer and hearing, the prisoners became convinced there was cre making to hurry them away, before any efctual steps could be taken to bring them to trial, clined to communicate intelligence to the "enemy," to secure them at least a knowledge of the and "injure the counsels and arms of American", them, and to disprove the coauselessness of the "usuargo or charges preferred against them, and a upon which they had based the arbitrary proceedpicions" upon which they had been violently taken saring in which they could defend themselves, lings against them; and as there was a law of the from their homes, imprisoned, and were now about all that wagons and a guard were ordered to be State of Pennsylvania, prescribing the course to be to be sent into exile. They therefore drew up a ady to start with them on the coming Serenth-pursued towards such of the inhabitants as declined Protest and had it delivered to the Council, in y, the prisoners thought it right to have a hand-to take the "test," it was clear that if these which they say, "In this resolve [that they be Il published, briefly stating the circumstances of Friends so declined, no greater punishment could immediately sent into Virgina] contrary to the enemy, instructes that we have already held such through the country without passports.

A decree is published, suppressing the prohibition correspondence, which we utterly and solemnly against the exports from Algeria, of barks for tanning deny-The tests you proposed, we were by no purposes. law bound to subscribe, and notwithstanding our A pamphlet bearing the title "The Emperor Francis causes the deire of the refusing them, we are still justly and lawfully Joseph I. and Europe," has been issued in Paris, and Hevo f conciliation.

South Carolina.—

S entitled to all the rights of citizenship, of which you are attempting to deprive us-We have never been suffered to come before you to evince our innocence, and to remove suspicions which you ceeding will not only bring about a peaceable solution to break up the Union. South Carolina, it is said, have laboured to instil into the minds of others, of existing difficulties, but will, in all respects, be a seceded, because the government of the United Sta and at the same time knew to be groundless, although Congress recommended to you to give us a hearing, and your President assured two of our toral letters treating of political matters. He pronounces friends, we should have one." They then state how the imposition of the stamp humiliating, and not to be fourths of the taxes collected are expended. A gove Friends, he at all times been restrained by their submitted to by the bishops. Friends had at all times been restrained by their peaceable principles, from taking any part in any insurrections, conspiracies or fighting, and conclude: "We do therefore, as the last office we ex- free into France. pect you will now suffer us to perform, for the benefit of our country, in behalf of ourselves, and for those freemen of Pennsylvania who still have any regard for liberty, solemnly remonstrate and protest against your whole conduct in this unreasonable excess of power exercised by you." This Protest was also printed and circulated through the city.

The town-major was ordered to detail a guard to escort the prisoners to Reading, and wagons were provided for the conveyance of themselves and baggage. There was great reluctance shown ou the part of the citizen soldiery to act as a guard

The London money market was active; rate of disor escort. On the afternoon of the day fixed upon count 43 a 5 per cent. The Liverpool market for breadfor their removal, the prisoners were allowed to go the staffs was investigated. for their removal, the prisoners were allowed to go to their homes, to take leave of their respective families; but owing to the difficulty in completing the arrangements for having them conveyed and guarded, it was not until the 11th, at five o'clock, P. M., that the wagons were brought up to the place of confinement, and to use their own language "we were compelled, some by actual force, and some by force being admitted, to take seats, and were driven through the city to the Falls of Schuylkill, a spectacle to the people." It is further added, "from the first of our imprisonment, a great number [of the citizens] of most denominations, publicly expressed their abhorrence of the measures taken against us; altogether, and as the President was not prepared to and during our confinement we were every day visited by the most respectable characters of the community. On the day of our removal, not only the house in which we were confined, but the streets leading to it, were crowded by men, women and children, who by their countenances, sufficiently though silently expressed the grief they felt on the occasion."

Previous to leaving the city, nine of the prisoners sent an application to the Chief Justices of the State, to be brought before them by writs of habeas

(To be continued.)

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

EUROPE.—News from England to the 21st ult.

Intelligence from China to Eleventh mo. 9th, had been received, via St. Petersburg. It states that a peace been received, via St. Petersburg. It states that a peace was concluded by the French and English with China, on the 26th of Teuth month, and that it was ratified on the 5th of Eleventh month. The allied forces had eva-canted Pekin, and the Emperor was expected to return

The distress at Coventry is such, that forty thousand weavers are said to be actually starving.

The Moniteur says the Emperor has decided that from ceived the approbation of the Emperor Napoleon. It urges in forcible terms the cession of Venetia for a valuable consideration, and contends that such a pro-

The Archbishop of Lyons had published a baughty pamphlet against the imposition of a stamp upon pas-

The Paris flour market was firm. Wheat also was well maintained, and closed with an advancing ten-

A Naples despatch says that France had succeeded in inducing the belligerents to consent to a suspension of hostilities, in order that the negotiations for the surreader of Gaeta might be entered upon. Victor Emmanuel contests a condition which entitles Francis the Second to send a representative to plead his cause at a future

The French fleet was expected soon to leave Gaeta. A despatch from Rome of the 15th, says the bombardment of Gaeta was to be recommenced, in consequence of the non-acceptance by Francis the Second, of the conditions of surrender. stuffs was improving. The cotton market also was active; sales of the week, 138,000 bales; prices had advanced $d. a $d.; stock in port, 539,000 bales. Con-

UNITED STATES. - Affoirs at Washington .- Each successive week marks the downward progress of the Government, which appears to be rapidly hastening to a crisis. The Administration, like Congress, is paralyzed by divided counsels, and anable to act efficiently in any direction. Major Anderson's removal to Fort Sumter has embarrassed the President's counsellors, some of whom approve of the troops remaining there, while at all these places, as well as at the Custom-House, a others think they should be ordered back to Fort Moultrie. Floyd, the Secretary of War, sustained the demand of the South Carolina Commissioners, and in Slovery in Notraska.—The House of Representati sisted that the United States forces should be withdrawn assent to this measure, the Secretary has resigned his post. Lincoln and Hamlin have both received anony mous letters, threatening violent opposition to their inauguration, and the Richmond Enquirer very coolly proposes for the States of Virginia and Maryland to secede and prepare an armed force to capture the capital of the United States, and prevent its falling into the hands of the Republicans. In the Senate Committee of Conference, Senator Seward advocated the following ropositions on behalf of the Republican members. 1st, That the Constitution shall never be so amended as to permit the interference of the Federal Government with slavery in the States, and that this shall be secured by salvery in the States, and that missian to secared by legislative enactment. 2d, An amendment to the Fugitive Slave Law, granting a jury trial to determine whether persons arrested as figuitives, really owe labour or service to the parties by whom they are claimed; and 3d, A resolution of Congress, recommending the ropeal of the so-called Personal Liberty bills of various Northern States. These propositions were rejected by the South as insufficient.

Congress .- On the 31st ult., Senator Benjamin, of Lonisiana, made an earnest speech in which he asserted that all the cotton-growing States would positively withdraw from the Union. He maintained their right to secede, depicted the horrors of civil war, the sure casted Pekin, and the Emperor was expected to return to secrete, depicted the horrors of civil war, ine sure to it immediately. The greater portion of the spoils result of any attempt to preserve the Union by force, fell into the hands of the French soldiers. Some of and strongly urged a peaceable separation. In the the privates sold their shares for thirty thousand francs the name of Representatives, Pryor, of Virginian by Green a resolution, that any attempt to preserve the Union bear friends' meeting-house, West Grove, Chester coute the 5th of Second month.

The British Parliament had been further prorogued to the 5th of Second month. motion of Stanton, of Ohio, the resolution was tabled ford, Pa. by a vote of 98 to 55.

The Next Administration .- Reports apparently correct First month, and by way of reciprocity, Englishmen assign the post of Secretary of the Treasury to Simon promise to refrain from corresponding with the visiting France shall be permitted to enter and travel Cameron, of Pennsylvania, and that of Secretary of Interior to Edward Bates, of Missouri. Places in 1 Cabinet bave, it is stated, been offered to Alexander Stephens, of Georgia, and Robert T. Scott, of Virgin Whether the two latter accept the offer or not, it in cates the desire of the President elect to pursue a 1

South Carolina.—The Convention now in session Charleston, has issued an address "to the People of: Slave-holding States," which is intended to demonstr the necessity of their taking part in the present atten has become "a consolidated democracy," and beca its original constitution has been overthrown. South, it is alleged, is taxed, through the operation the tariff, for the benefit of the North, where thr submitted to by the bishops.

As the new commercial treaty between France and Belgium will render the importation of coal absolutely the English coal will be also entitled to enter duly free into France.

The product itself, and a free people cas, therefore, he free, the English coal will be also entitled to enter duly free into France.

Submitted to by the bishops.

Herefore, and product itself, and a free people cas, therefore, he free, the English coal will be also entitled to enter duly tree into France. aggression upon slavery naturally followed from the sumption of undue power, the Constitution being fi abolished by constructions; and that being done, consolidation of the North to rule the South by tariff and slavery issues, was in the obvious course things. The weaker section, it is contended, can f safety only in independence, and it is too late to th of renniting with the North, under any amount of n pledges. The Convention has directed the Collector Charleston to retain his post for the present, and cl vessels according to the laws of the United Stat Postmasters also are ordered to act as they have be accustomed, but these officials are all required to ta an oath to obey the laws of South Carolina, and to all the funds collected by them, into the State Treass

Events at Charleston.—On the 27th nlt., Major And son, the officer in command at Fort Moultrie, remohis force except a few men, to Fort Sumter, a mu stronger defence, which commands the harbor. Bet abandoning Fort Moultrie, he spiked the guas, and stroyed some of the gun-carriages by fire. This st which appears to have been taken on his own respon bility, occasioned great excitement in the city. A la volunteer force soon proceeded to Fort Moultrie, a took possession of it for the State of South Carolin Castle Pinckney and the United States Arsenal were a seized. In the latter a large quantity of arms and a munition were found. The Palmetto flag has been rai of the Territory of Nebraska, on the 10th ult., pas-the bill prohibiting slavery in the territory, by a vote thirty-five ayes to two nays.

Texas .- Gov. Houston has called an extra session the Texas Legislature, which is to assemble on the 2 inst., to consider the present crisis. The secession fe ing is said to be in the ascendant. The Convention the people is to assemble on the 28th inst.

Treasury Notes .- The proposals for $5,000,000 Tr sury notes under the act of Congress, were opened the 28th. The aggregate of the bids were less th $2,500,000, at rates of interest varying from 6 to per cent. All the bids at 12 per cent. or under, w accepted, and subsequently offers were made and cepted for the balance of the issue at 12 per cent. high rate demanded, shows how much the credit of government has suffered by the revolutionary proce ings in the South.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend and his wife are wanted to fill the stati of Superintendent and Matron at West-town Boardi

Application to be made to either of the follow Friends: Nathan Sharpless, Concord; James Emi West Chester; Samuel Hilles, Wilmington; He COPE OF WILLIAM EVANS, Philadelphia. Twelfth mo. 10th, 1860.

PILE & M'ELROY, PRINTERS, Lodge street, opposite the Pennsylvania Bank.

RR, R

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, FIRST MONTH 12, 1861.

NO. 19.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

rice Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by

JOHN RICHÄRDSON.

IT NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA

Costage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three onths, if paid in advance, three and a quarter cents; any part of the United States, for three months, if d in advance, six and a-half cents.

> For "The Friend." Henry Hull.

(Continued from page 138.)

Of a meeting held in the State-house at Frank-

t, Kentucky, he remarks, viz:

"The governor and most of the respectable inbitants were present, and behaved solidly; they re very attentive, and manifested their satisfacn with the meeting. We then rode into Shelby

d dress a pig before we could have breakfast. gether." told him we could not wait so long, and would

In the evening we reached a poor inn, but so many It is important not to confound this heavenly had arrived before us, that we had to sleep on the principle with natural affection, or the or linary deter the robbers from falling upon us.

usly received by him, and he gave notice of a in one corner of the room, where they remained in convince and restore those who advocate it. rough Danville to Kooxville, in Tennessee.

"On our way, we entered a wilderness part of welcome reception from friends of the same religious in the realize that a spacious looking house tuous fare, but a cordinlity which compensated for new court-house at Kooxville, which the governor

How precious is that fellowship, which subsists in their new log-house, and next day were at the without meat; upon which his daughter replied, among the followers of Christ! Come from where Monthly Meeting at Lost-creek, [Tennessee,] where ey had neither bread nor meal, and must grind hee will, however different their conditions in life, a commendable appearance, but evinced much raw-jected, on account of the detention, and told her, tisself by the one spirit into one body of which the ness in the management of the discipline. We saw they had sweet-potatoes growing, and if they bould boil some of them for us, and give us some lift, we would make out a meal; upon which the lim, according to his own words: "That they all in the second of the dependence of the discipline we mean and it in the house, thee, that they also may be one in us." "In that several places, with Friends and others, one of the the normal place is the next they may be made to us." "In part several places, with Friends and others, one of the the next time, where we there and thou in me that they may be made and when the next time when the house. The characteristic is the next time and thou in the through the other times. The next they also may be one in us." "In part several places, with Friends and others, one of the the next time, where we there are the next time and thou in me that they may be made and profession that they all the or the problem which was on the south wild of the Friends. Beauth which was on the south wild of the Friends. Beauth when the made the part which was on the south wild of the Friends. Beauth when the made the part time which was on the south wild of the Friends.

turned his horse, and rode with us, conversing first lowly and forgiving Spirit of its holy Author, with one and then another of us, on the danger of which prepares it to bear with the weakness and riding through the wilderness, when it was known inexperience of the babes, to nurture and instruct that robbers had attacked and murdered several them, to be gentle and tender toward the infirmipersons, and pyctending much uneasiness for fear two of each other, labouring for the help and co-we should meet them. He offered our friend, John couragement of all, in that which is good, "putting Lynch, his pistols to defend us; but John let him on as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels know, that he did not depend upon such weapons of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meckfor protection; and, after riding several hours with ness, and long-suffering; forbearing one another, us, directly back from the inhabited part of the country, we saw several men about half a mile them; and above all things, putting on charity, from the road, at a newly erected cottage; and our which is the bond of perfectness." This is the love mysterious companion, without taking leave of ne, that is without dissimulation, and which, while it rode off to them; we thought it well to get rid of ever abhors that which is evil, cleaves to the good him, and, hastening our pace, saw him no more. in all, and seeks to strengthen and encourage it.

floor. We left the place before day, choosing harmony and good feeling, which may subsist rather to ride alone than with a rude and uncivil among superficial and unfaithful professors. Plea company, who seemed glad that we were going the sant and commendable as these are, there is the same way, saying, our numbers would be likely to more danger of substituting them for the former; and settling at ease in them, without pressing after "We had to travel a dreary road, so narrow at or experiencing the far higher union and fellow-times that we were obliged to follow one another. ship, which is the blessed portion of these "in anty, and had a meeting in the court-house, but It was after night when we reached an inn, where whom the love of God is verily perfected." Napeople appeared very shy, and were unwilling we found room enough, and good entertainment to the sit down, until some men of note in the place for a new country. The landlady cheerfully got scarifiec the right in order to preserve outward me in; when they became more actitled, and we up from her bed to wait upon us. In the norming harmony, and to wink at or to countenance wrong da comfortable time, much to the satisfaction of we pursued our route toward Knoxville, mostly things, from the fear of disturbing it. Divine ne hungering and thirsting souls present. After through a wilderness, though the settlements be-love, and the unity of the Spirit, never lead to tributing some pamphlets, we proceeded on our came more frequent as we approached that place. these weaknesses, nor sanction them; but, pure to the Hardsburg, through a wilderness country, It rained hard, and we put up before night—our and upright as the sacred Source whence they don reaching the house of John Thomas, who leds, as was frequently the case, were spread on dow, meekly but firmly stand against the wrong, d his education among Friends, we were court the floor, and in the morning, were thrown together, while striving, in tenderness and true charity, to Those who are brought into this heavenly felnt to Augustus Passmore's, whose wife had been forth again for other travellers who may arrive. lowship by the alone means, the baptism of the ought up a Friend, and had an encouraging and dimes arrived a bag of grain with several Holy Ghost and fire, find it a source of unspeaka-isfactory opportunity in their family. He and dimes carried a bag of grain mitunger. About three keep under its tendering and refireshment; and as they daily then Thomas, with several others, had formed a bark from an old tree for a matunger. About three keep under its tendering and refining influence, are siety for assisting coloured people who were held o'clock on the following day, we arrived at our not only made helpers of one another's joy, but slavery, but who had a legal right to their liberty. kind friend, Thomas Marshall's. Few, if any, who drawn nearer and nearer to their Lord, and intervisiting several tender-minded people here-have never been circumstanced as we were, during creased in meetness for an entrance into the kingay, we left the neighbourhood, and proceeded this wearisome journey through the wilderness, and dom of God, of whom it is declared that He is r the purpose of getting breakfast, supposing from the want of it, and the keepness of our appetites and both houses of the legislature attended, having appearance we should be furnished with a good rendered their humble board and simple provision given up the room to accommodate us. Here I al; but we were disappointed, for, on applying truly grateful to us, and thankfulness was raised found several letters from home, the contents of the landlord, he said they should have to kill in our hearts to Him, who united our spirits to which were satisfactory. Returning home with Thomas Marshall, we had a meeting in the evening e then concluded to go to the next inn, where we them, and thou in me, that they may be made per-which was on the south side of the French Broad feet in one." Where this oneness in Christ sub-free, at the house of W. Williams, where a meet-free free in one, which was on the south side of the French Broad feet in one." Where this oneness in Christ sub-free, at the house of W. Williams, where a meet-free free in one, and is necessarily clothed with Divine ing of Friends had never before been held. At ounted, who, on coming up to us, immediately love, and is under the government of the meek, Newhope, we put up at John Kennedy's, and atvisit; and as I felt much for the inhabitants of of being with Friends in this meeting. Richard that snubbing would most certainly sconer or la that State, it was cause of joy to me, to find that Jordan opened his prospect of visiting Friends in alienate. the Lord of the harvest was sending more labour- Europe, and received certificates of the unity and ers there. Joseph and myself, unknown to each concurrence of the meeting with his proceeding racter, it will be found on close examination to other, having appointed a meeting at Limestone, to therein. The meeting for Divine worship, on First-large rivers; the water in the Holston came up to renewings of heavenly love. the skirts of my saddle, and wet my feet, although "Eleventh month 2d. In New Garden Monthly entirely callous to reproof; but it rarely happe the horse I rode was uncommonly tall; and have Meeting I had to bear testimony against Friends returned that even those most seasoned by incessant rebul ing to ride afterwards in the rain, I took cold, and eciving and holding the office of magistrate, or join ever entirely lose the uncomfortable feeling, wh was laid up, being unable to travel. After getting ing in political disputes -- party spirit being generally snubbing occasions. It is, in fact, a perpett better, I attended meetings at Chesnut, Reedy Is- excited, which disqualified for usefulness, as well as mental blister, and it is grievous to see how blive. land, Fruit-hill, and Ward's gap, which were to for choosing suitable persons for rulers and law- ly people exercise it on Wose they dearly love. pretty good satisfaction. Whilst crossing the moun- makers; cutreating Friends to consider the supe- may occur to some who can think as well as smi tains, we had an opportunity of seeing some of the rior excellency of the Messiab's peaceable kingdom, that the benefit that can be derived from anything difficulties which the emigrants to the Western into which our Society is called, as a sort of first calculated to wound sensitive feelings, must country have to encounter;—the women and chill fruits; and it behooves us to prove our allegiance very questionable; but the plain fact is, that n dren, unable to find shelter from the falling rain, to the Prince of peace, by coming out of all continues out of ten it is done unthinkingly, and fr were dragging their weary limbs up the rocky tentions, strife, and that which leads to blood the impulse of the moment. It may be but "sm steeps, whilst the men were engaged in getting the shed wagons up, by doubling their teams, and frequently ing discouraged; but the renewed evidences of Di- ble followers of the Lord Jesus were encouraged to vine condescension and goodness with which I was hold on their way. I had been at this meeting Philadelphia Passenger Railways.—The favoured, stayed my mind from sinking too low. before the Yearly Meeting, and had to suffer in lowing table gives the length of each road, and the stay of the sta At times I was raised up in humble, grateful acknowledgment, that I had been favoured beyond rallely relief; may the humble praise Him who opens served, however, that the amount of capital avanthorized. It should be o knowledgment, that I had been favoured beyond rallely relief; may the humble praise Him who opens served, however, that the amount of capital a anything I had merited, and I humbly petitioned and none can shut, and shuts and none can open." (thorized is far in excess of the actual cost of the the Lord Most High, that I might be strengthened to walk more uprightly before him, and carefully watch over my thoughts, that my mind might not be disengaged from the work to which I was called. Although I felt the loss of the society and tender other of their lives, have not an interest, either care of my dear wife in this trying time, yet the direct or indirect, in the training of children. To language of my heart was, 'I desire to be at thy such, therefore, whether parents, relatives or teachdisposal, O Thou who knowest what is best for ers, a word or two of advice may be offered; and meetings, at Muddy and Bluc-creeks, then at Do-snubbing. The word itself is banished from polite ver and Hopewell, where the notice having failed, society; but also! the custom is by no means we had the company of but few persons. Among equally proscribed. The sound is, to some extent, these were a man and his wife, not members of significant of the sense. "To snub" is certainly our Society, for whom I was much interested in not euphonious, and would sadly offend the ears the love of the gospel; and I think they were sen- of many, who are addicted to the habit. Snubsible of a heavenly visitation being renewedly ex- bing is of various kinds; for instance, there is the tended to their souls.

to it, should be so little interested as to neglect to snub, veiling the objectionable form of reproof unspread notice of the invitation to his neighbours, der an affected pleasantry; and there is also a home, Joshua Lord and myself attended the Yearly bing was ever found an effectual cure for such artifice unavoidably leads on to another, till, as the

be held at the same hour, we accordingly attended day, was much crowded, but rather a low time, reserved, and it may be deemed fortunate, if it to good satisfaction.

and during the several sittings of that for business, conscientious principle is strong enough to prese.

"Leaving Tennessee, we rode toward North when the state of society was under consideration, him from direct deceit. Indecision of charact Carolina, and, on Sixth-day, the 4th of Tenth Friends were comfortably united in spirit, with deto, is a common result of snubbing; for there c month, got to Bryan Ballard's, on Chestnut-creek, sires for the welfare one of another-and the meet- be no self-reliance when the mind is wonder in Virginia. In our way we had to ford many ing closed under an encouraging evidence of the with itself whether such and such an action will blocking the wheels, to give the poor horses breath. Garden, and, on Second-day, was at Deep-river of a snabbed childhood last a life-time. The Carolina, held at Dan river, and then one at West-field, where we put up at the house of a kind and stumbling to the youth, many of whom had proceeded to Deep-creek, and Muddy-creek, and stumbling to the society a short time before. From thence we proceeded to Deep-creek, and Muddy-creek, and buddy-creek, and buddy-creek, and buddy-creek, and buddy-creek, and be to beep-creek and proceeded to the praction of the content of the c blocking the wheels, to give the poor horses breath. Garden, and, on Second-day, was at Deep-river of a snubbed childhood last a life-time. The

On Sanbbing.

There are few persons who, at some period or we would especially recommend the importance of "The following First-day I was at favoured avoiding that mode of correction, commonly called direct snub, sharp and decisive, that knocks the "When I reflected on the distance I had come tender, sensitive spirit at once; there is the covert to attend this meeting, and that a Friend belong-snub, nearly allied to being talked at; the jocose Garden. The meeting of ministers and clders in such cases it is better to encourage children to tangled in our snare.

tended the Monthly Meeting at that place, where commenced the 26th of Tenth month, [1799,] and speak their thoughts freely; patiently and gently we found our friends, Joseph Cloud and Jacob to some of us, was a time of renewing covenant, show them where they are wrong, and trust to Hunt, on their way to Kentucky, on a religious and I was reverently thankful for the opportunity kind voice and tender indulgence to win the hear

So far, then, from snubbing curing faults of cl snubbed. Some dispositions may in time beco unkindness" at the time, the words forgotten "First-day, attended a favoured meeting at New soon as uttered; but in many instances the effe

	thorized is far in excess of the	actual cos	t or the roads.
		No. of sh's	Amou
	Name of Road. Length of	($50) au-	nf capi single track	thorized.	author
î	Fifth and Sixth streets 161 miles	10,000	$500.0
r	West Philadelphia 123 "	10,000	500.0
	Tenth and Eleventh sts 74 "	10,000	500,0
	Spruce and Pine streets . 6 "	20,000	1.000.0
1	Race and Vine streets 6 "	10,000	500.0
4	Second and Third streets 18 "	10,000	500.0
E	Philadelphia and Darby . 5 "	10,000	500.0
	Girard College 6 "	10,000	500.0
ı	Green and Coates streets 10 "	10,000	500,0
	Arch st. and Fairmount . 53 "	10,000	500,00
5	Ridge av. and Manayunk 81 "	10,000	500,00
	Fourth and Eighth (G'n) 19 "	10,000	500,0
1	Richmond and Schuylkill 7 "	2,000	100,0 ı	Hestonville and Fairm't . 7 "	6,000	300,00
ı	Seventeenth and Nine'th. 6 "	10,000	500,0
1	Chestnut and Walnut 4 "	10,000	500.0
ı	Thirteenth and Fifteenth 6 "	10,000	500,00
ı	Dela'e Co. (24th Ward) . 4 "	3,000	150,0 u
	Total 1542	174,000 S	8,550,0

my mind was depressed, and I felt sorrow for him; imost unpleasant form of snubbing, frequently used fore-runner of perfidy in old age; its first appea and although but few of the members had attended by well-meaning persons to repress forward used fore-runner of perfidy in old age; its first appea to the meeting, I felt most easy to proceed without personal vanity. It is very true that children and future shame. It degrades parts and learning persons to repress forward used fore-runner of perfidy in old age; its first appearance of the first appearanc having another opportunity with them.

"Our companion, John Lyuch, and other Friends and many other qualities extremely distasteful to sinks us into contempt. After the first departument who came with us from Virginia, having returned their wiser elders; but it is questionable if snub-Meeting for North Carolina, &c., held at New faults. It may smother the evil for the time; but intricacy of the labyrinth increases, we are left et Waking up from Winter Sleep.

Let us take some examples. The bat lives upon hybernation, properly so called.

fusion there, which sects and nothing else. Where were the insects

Even amongst hybernators, there is a great dift tain death always. ow to do without food entirely; and, on the other summer, but that is all.

and, food they cannot obtain. So the usual result

To rouse a hybernatin s, that the pretty tree frogs die. As frogs eat in-sleep is a very dangerous operation. Hedge-hogs ects, so in their turn do snakes eat frogs; and are particularly intolerant of this treatment; in oundly too; as people who have found him in his circumstances, as determined for beneficent purposes winter-quarters can testify.

One of the most curious of foreign hybernators s the little North American animal called the the had not arrived for coming out, indeed, out is increased in behavior in behavior of his church, to be little prairie dogs were still not deceived, united to Christ, and a member of his church, to some indication of a good time coming they perbelieve in the promises of God and Christ, and to leave the strength of the most part, try the experiment for a week, of eating the strength of the most part, try the experiment for a week, of eating rairie dogs.

to their constitutions, so others are by no means fulness in the way of the Lord, and walk in the so tolerant of lowered temperature. A human footsteps of the flock of his companions, "looking Hybernation, or winter sleep, is a condition beau individual having sunk into the sleep of cold, is unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith, fully devised by the Creator to indemnify certain generally frost-bitten at once in some prominent who, for the joy that was set before Him, endured simals for the loss of their necessary food during and exposed part. The nose is the most likely the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at inter-time. Nutrition being arrested, all the other organ to suffer; after which come the fingers and the right hand of the throne of God." tal functions are either suspended, or are carried the toes. If the sleeper be aroused at once, inciat low steam pressure, so to speak. This is the pient frost-bites may frequently be cured by judise with respiration and the accompanying evo-tion of animal heat. Animals may be likened being to supply warmth by degrees. But if the dition, is dangerous at any hour. Many a man furnaces in more than a figurative sense. Food first frost-bite touch any internal organ, the seal of has fallen apoplectic at the close of a hearty dinruishes fuel, and the breath supplies oxygen for death is impressed. Instances have been known of per; but the danger is greatly increased by going the congelation of fish bodily, in the ice of a pond, to bed soon after; for the weight of the meal, a combustive function in the lungs is notably the creatures having been restored to motion, with pound or two, rests steadily on the great veins of out damage, by judicious thaving.

Stranger still, the body, arrests the flow of the blood, as a conanized, that it cannot sink into the deep torpor of examples are on record of the freezing of insects tinuous pressure of the foot on a hose pipe will old, and afterwards revive; but the long winter into a block of ice, which latter, being laid before more or less completely stop the flow of water along eep of some animals is no more extraordinary a fire and thawed, the insects buzzed away. Be- it. This arrestment causes a damming up of blood them than the few hours' nightly rest to each tween these latter extreme cases, and the intoler-in the vessels of the brain, which at length cannot ance of cold experienced by human beings, comes winter? Either dead or torpid-hybernating ference. Our pretty little friend, the squirrel, by Almighty will.

Hybernation must only be accepted as a rela- Having, therefore, dearly beloved, such great and deliverance from that disagreeable fullness, weight, we term. Whilst some animals admit of being precious promises, and being encountered with so oppression, or acidity, which attends over cating, rozen outright, and thawed again without damage [great a cloud of wincesses, the trun with cheer-] The greater renovation and vivacity which a long

Hearty Suppers .- Eating heartily in an exlonger bear the distention, and burst, causing effusion there, which is instant, sometimes, and is cer-

There is scarcely a reader, of middle life, who o-hidden away in minute holes and corners, furnishes us with an example of what may be has not more than once been nearer death than he bither the bat could not follow them even if he termed modified hybernation. The squirrel is a imagined, from this very cause. A man feels in ere about and stirring; so what more sensible good food economist, as is well known. He keeps his sleep as if some terrible calamity was impenduing could the bat do than go to sleep also, and a bright look out at the commissariat stores. In ing, some horrible beast after him, or some fearful main sleeping until spring time comes again. autumn, when the hazel-nuts have ripened, the flood is about to overwhe'm him; but spite of every he frog is an insect-feeder too, which he, no more little fellow may be seen busily carrying the tawny effort, he cannot remove himself sufficiently fast; uan the bat, can obtain in winter; so the frog treasures, one by one, in his mouth, and depositing the enemy behind is increasing upon him; and at one to sleep. In the north of France and Gerthem in some mysterious hole. In that hole is a length, in an agony of sweat, he is able by a deshany, there are pretty little frogs of green colour, comfortable nest, furnished with great care, and perate effort to set the stream of life in motion by having a capacious larder beside it. In this larder uttering some sound, fearful to be heard, or only hade to naturalize these pretty things in England, be bides the nuts, to be nibbled at frugally in win-saves bimself from falling into some fathomless ut without much success. The very mildness of ter-time when the sun shines more brightly than abyss, by a convulsive and desperate effort. In ur insular winters kills them. The degree of cold usual, and he rouses to see what is doing in the cases where there is no power to cry out, or no efwe experience is usually not enough to send them world. A tame squirrel living in a warm room, fort can be made, the person is overtaken, or falls at deep winter-sleep. The economy of their fur-bybernates slightly, or not at all. A sleepy fellow and dies! Eating a hearty meal at the close of ace combustion is not brought down sufficiently he will perhaps seem, not quite so lively as in the the day, is like giving a labouring man a full day's ummer, but that is all.

To rouse a hybernating animal from its winterbeen toiling all day. The whole body is fatigued when night comes, the stomach takes its due share, and to eat heartily at supper, and then go to bed, he latter, not being complaisant enough to hop fact, the rough looking hedge-hog is a very deli-lis giving all the other portions and functions of thout in winter-time, what more sensible thing could cate fellow. Thus dealt with, the animal generally the body repose, while the stomach has thrown snake do than go to sleep too? For a similar dies, furnishing one of the many examples of the upon it five hours more of additional labor, after upon it five hours more of additional labor, after eason the spiny hedge-hog sleeps; and he sleeps beautifully-poised relations of vitality to external having already worked four or five hours to dispose of breakfast, and a still longer time for dinner. This ten or twelve hours of almost incessant labor has nearly exhausted its power; it cannot promptly 1740. Dear friends, as much as in you lies, en- digest another full meal, but labors at it for long 'prairie dog," Prairie dogs congregate in im-courage a frequent and diligent reading of the holy hours together, like an exhausted galley slave at a nense herds; and whilst summer-time lasts, they Scriptures in your families; in them are contained newly imposed task.—The result is, that, by the tre active enough. As winter approaches, how the promises of eternal life and salvation. For as unnatural length of time in which the food is kept ver, and before cold weather actually sets in, the a steady trust and belief in the promises of God, in the stomach, and the imperfect manner in which prairie dogs build themselves houses, and, getting and a frequent meditation in the law of the Lord, the exhausted organ manages it, it becomes more mader shelter of the same, fasten up the doors was the preservation of a remain of diting, so of release acid; this generates wind; this distends the ecurely, and take their long winter-nap. In late it is even to this day; and as a distrust and dis-stomach; this presses itself up against the more winter, or very early spring, whilst snow is yet on belief of the promises of God, and a neglect of his yielding lungs, confining them to a more diminished be ground, and the prairie land is tormented by holy law, was the occasion of the complaints made space; hence, every breath taken is insufficient for ey, howling winds, the prairie-dogs may be noticed, against the Jews, the posterity of Abraham, even the wants of the system, the blood becomes foul, in the morning of some bitterly cold day, opening so we have reason to fear, that the apparent de-black, and thick, refuses to flow, and the man dies; heir doors, poking out their noses, and not appa clension in our time, from true piety and godly or, in delirium or fright, leaps from a window or ently finding things as pleasant as they might zeal in many places, is too much owing to a disre-commits suicide, as did Hugh Miller, and multiare wished, retiring once more. Again they gard of the doctrines of the holy Scriptures, and ludes of others, as to whom the coroner's jury has lose their mansion-doors, and go to sleep. The the promises of the Holy Spirit in them recorded, returned the non-committal verdict, "Died from the had not arrived for coming out, indeed, but Wherefore it behooves every one, who would be causes unknown," if not more impiously stating, ndian and the backwoodsman, noticing the sign, heart. It was by this the primitive believers be-absolutely nothing after a two o'clock dinner, and are able to predict that fair weather is near at came of "one heart, and of one soul." It was by see if a sounder sleep and a more vigorous appetite and, having trusted to the sure instinct of the one Spirit, namely the Spirit promised by Christ, for breakfast and a hearty dinner are not the that "they were all baptized into one body." pleasurable results, to say nothing of the happy delicious, and connected sleep imparts, both to mind true devotion of heart, so as truly to say, Here am nion, preserved much in the patience, under t and body, will of themselves more than compensate I, send me. for the certainly short and rather dubious pleasure of eating a supper with no special relish .- Late bosom, thy affectionate companion, comes to be lionately remembered to thee and wife.

Letter from T. Scattergood to John Pemberton.

Beaver Dam, Va., Ninth mo. 24th, 1792.

in great weakness, and have had to remember how it was with thee just before thy voyage to branch of James, two or three days' journey above bear informing thee, that since I received thy letter, when I have been riding in lonely and wilderhave my thoughts been turned towards thee, inso- stone, and appear in a hopeful condition. I meet much that I have had frequently to stop and pause with ups and downs, and singular trials, one of and make this inquiry, What is or may be the which may look singular, of turning back into the cause that the cogitations of my heart are so much neighbourhood again, instead of pursuing our jourfixed on an individual in that great city wherein ney towards New Garden. And indeed the track so many dwell, that I nearly love? Is my friend has been, and remains new. Instead of large labouring under close exercise of mind at this sea meetings of late, it has been family meetings, and son? and am I, a younger brother, made to partake to individuals in families, and many miles to see with him in spirit, although far separate? Indeed, some, so that my faith and patience also have been at such seasons as now, thou hast been made near tried. Oh, that I may be favoured to hold out to me, I believe by Him who metes out all our until the end of this present journey. portions to us by just weight and measure, and who has declared, "That the needy shall not always remembered thy love to him, which appeared to be forgotten, nor the expectation of the poor perish." ikiladly received. I have no doubt, but that it was If a sparrow cannot fall to the ground without His in wisdom, that our lot was cast under his roof.

I wish thee to live still in that which dare not Him who hath a right to our obedience.

resigned unto the will of an all-wise and overruling Providence, the more of the income of true brother Isaac's heart when at his house; and r and lasting peace she will experience. Submitting prayers yet are, that the Lord may smite both l to his hand of power, which qualifies for every good winter and summer house, throw down his house word and good work in her family and in the of ivory, and bring him to sit in the dust, moun Dear Friend, -I received thy letter at our church, she might be qualified in Divine authority, ing over him whom he hath pierced. I mourn or friend Robert Pleasant's, which at that time was to say to others, "Arise up, ye careless women that him, and for him, whilst writing, because I ha comfortable to me, and the tenor of it peculiarly are at ease; awake out of sleep, ye lukewarm, unseen what an instrument he might have been, as so since, in one close trial, wherein I had to reconcerned daughters; let us be in earnest to get I hope yet, might be of good in his generation, member encouragingly these expressions contained our day's work done in the day-time, for the shades with unreserved obedience, he would yield up l therein: "The work of righteousness is peace." of the evening advance apace." Oh, that she may will into the will of the Author of his being, w At the time I received thy affectionate remembrance, ask counsel of God, and wait for it with regard to can as suddenly meet with him as with Nebucha At the three trees and a source of the weak of the wea every day; there was considerable distances be- rise in the reasoning part-peace, true peace, may him, with the addition of my christian, tender lo tween some of them, and the weather was exceed- flow into her heart and mind, and the Lord's will and desire for him. ing hot, so that, what with exercise of mind, la- be done in you both, by you and upon you, to the bour in meetings, &c., my poor, feeble body was praise of his excellent name, in the end. So ther in the necessary tribulations attending t brought at times very low, insomuch that after wisheth your exercised, concerned friend and bro-meetings, it was as much as I could do to get down ther, who has written as things have arisen, in the a small portion of light food, such as peach-pic, or simplicity of a child, and who is a child, and needs of Carolina, should be glad to hear from thee, at peaches with a little milk. Meat of almost any the care and prayers of all those, his elders, who a letter how it is with thee. We have lately returned from South-river, a this place. We found a pretty large body of And, my dear Friend, I seem as if I cannot for- Friends, and some precious youth (as also in other places where our lot has been cast.) They are building three meeting-houses-one near a new ness ways, day after day, and often in the day, town called Lynchburg,-a pretty large one, of notice, surely he takes notice and records the hon- Give my love to thy dear aged father Zane and est labours of those who have, at his command, daughter, and tell him some of the back-woods spent many of their days in endeavouring to gather people love him, and say he was an instrument in souls into his everlasting kingdom. After this settling some such places by Friends. They are manner has my spirit been led to look over thy numerous at Red-tone, to what they were when he labours and travels in lands very far remote, and was there. I believe he rejoiceth in Zion's welfare. receiving this for answer, it has been preciously My love also to dear George and Sarah Dillwin comfortable to me; "There shall be a glorious who have now become thy neighbours. The peorecompense in the resurrection of the just." I ple of the land (tell him) love him. I hope thou have thought at such seasons, I could say much with others of my beloved friends remember my have thought at such seasons, I could say much with owners of my believed friends remember my of the press are recommending the pinening on or more to thee, when my heart has been full; but dear wife and mother. I have frequently thought let this suffice, that it is my firm belief the Lord of late, when looking towards Georgia, that if we has been with thee in the Orkueys. The seed should be favoured to arrive there, and Friends thou hast, at the great Lord of the whole family's were easy to send some useful books by water to command, scattered in or sown in that land, shall meet us, whether we might not distribute them to the gathered up by the grand vulturous bird of advantage in that infant State, especially if we fruit, and to perfect the beans before frost, instead throwing out side shoots with a larger erop of fine and the state of continuing to hear indefinitely, and to perfect the beans before frost, instead the state of continuing to hear indefinitely, and to perfect the state of continuing to hear indefinitely, and to perfect the state of continuing to hear indefinitely, and to perfect the state of continuing to hear indefinitely, and to perfect the state of continuing to hear indefinitely, and to perfect the state of continuing to hear indefinitely, and to perfect the state of continuing to hear indefinitely, and to perfect the state of the state of continuing to hear indefinitely, and to perfect the state of the prey, the devil, but in the Lord's time, spring up should be drawn from amongst Friends in these of continuing to bear indefinitely, and to perfect bu parts. I submit my prospect to thee, thy brother, few. This is an excellent crop when so managed so as it is seen to be his doings, and at length prove along, but for every little act of faith and labour dollars or more per acre in value.—Late Paper. of love, there has been a rich reward bestowed by many singular turns we meet with, which ender I have been persuaded, the more the wife of thy him to me; and he desires his love may be affe

I believe the Lord gave me some place in t

I am thy poor, little, exercised friend and br THOS. SCATTERGOOD.

It any opportunity offers to the Yearly Meetin

"THE WEALTH I'VE GOT."

Not houses nor lnts in a principal street, Not rich fields waving with golden wheat Not darksome mines deep-stored with gold, Nor piles of iugots in coffers old ;-Not these, though they fill so many a lot-These form no part of the wealth I've got.

I'm poorer to-day than a year ago-I was poorer then than I cared to know : The future has nothing but struggle and care For the bread to eat, and the raiment to wear; Yet I still look onward and murmur not, For I'm very rich in the wealth I've got.

I've kind ones to love me, rich or poor, I've friends whom I hold with a friendship sure; I've pleasures and duties, day by day, And work for each hour that passes away; I've a home with its treasures—earth's dearest spo Where I hoard like a miser the wealth I've got.

I've a heart, thank God, that loves mankind ; I've a spirit, thank God, that can he resigned; I've a hope to finish some trifle of good, Before I lie down for the grave-worm's food; I've a hope that neither stain nor blot Will cling when I'm gone to the wealth I've got.

I've a trust in the Master, whose tender care Giveth bread to eat, and raiment to wear; I've a firm, stout heart, that he giveth me To bear whatever my fortune may be ;-So earth can be never a sorrowful spot, While kind Heaven leaves me the wealth I've got. Henry Morford.

Lima Beans .- We see that some of our brethrer to the praise of his adorable name.

With respect to thy present prospect, my desire and William Savery, to consider of. William knows is, that thou may still pray for patience, and be perhaps better than I, what may be most useful. It only requires full fer kept in the patience, which runs the race, and at My love to them and their wives.

I have looked sometimes towards seeing Georgia and with such a crop, sold at six dollars a bushe in the beautiful and with such a crop, sold at six dollars a bushe in the beautiful and with such a crop, sold at six dollars a bushe in the beautiful and with such a crop, sold at six dollars a bushe in the beautiful and with such a crop, sold at six dollars a bushe in the beautiful and with such a crop, sold at six dollars a bushe in the beautiful and with such a crop, sold at six dollars a bushe in the beautiful and with such a crop, sold at six dollars a bushe in the beautiful and with such a crop, sold at six dollars a bushe in the solution of the solutio I believe, to set thee at liberty; and no matter how, in the beginning of next year; we get but slowly in the dry state, the yield will equal four hundred think the time long, and at the same time keep in Dear Josiah is an encouraging, feeling compa-vices of others, but in correcting his own. The wisdom of a man lies not in satirizing the

For "The Friend." BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES

of Ministers and Elders and other concerned members of the Yearly Meeting of Philadelphia. (Continued from page 141.)

JOSHUA BROWN. On the 4th of the Eighth month, Joshua attendf it had ceased, the glory of Israel might justly be in prospect, before I left my home. Great thank- afternoon to the house of Lewis Jones at Merion, ered satisfaction and comfort to his mind. Dining and strength of mind to perform what he required to the dwelling of his kinsman and fellow labourer with Peter Davis, he rode to Hopkinton, and at of me. Thanksgiving and honour be given to His in the gospel, William Brown. ended a meeting there that afternoon, which was great and worthy name, who doth not leave nor also comfortable and encouraging. His labours in forsake those who trust in his power, and rely upon this part appearing to be finished, he, on Second-him for strength and help." to Oblong, to the house of Benjamin Ferris. Mercy Redman. Thorn, at Nine Partners. On the 10th, he held he, on the 26th of the Second month, 1774, left hammer. The burglar's "occupation's gone."

Philadelphia, and, on the 18th, reached the house shall the gathering of the people be." Joshua set of William Swayne, in time to attend the meeting forth the office of the Lord Jesus in his church, of ministers and elders of the Western Quarterly and the duty devolving upon his people, and the Meeting. After attending the several sittings of church militant in these gospel days. He also the Quarterly Meeting, he went to his own residence, where he found his family well, although and the necessity of witnessing a real change of d a meeting, held near James Perry's, and, on sickness had been among them in his absence. He heart, and giving up all for the dear Saviour's he 5th, one at Westerly. In this meeting, he was says, "When I got home, I felt a good degree of sake. He was much enlarged, and a comfortable ed to set forth the necessity of revelation being peace and satisfaction in that I had industriously hope attended his mind that his arduous labour till continued to the church of Christ, showing that pursued my journey, and had performed all I had there might be productive of good. He rode that aid to be departed. Here again he found it need fullness attended my mind, both in my journey, and where he, on the 4th, had a meeting, which was a al to press on the people to mind the day of their after my return, to the great Master, in that he suffering season. Dining at the house of Jesse visitation. The meeting was favoured, and minis- had been pleased to favour me with health of body George, he that afternoon rode into Philadelphia,

Pennsylvania, where he tarried that night with shall not depart from Judah, nor a lawgiver from and a railway chair that cannot be tipped back in Ennion Williams. On the 17th, he rode through between his feet until Shiloh come, and unto him (To be continued.)

A List of Wonders,-Among the thousands of day, the 6th, left for the westward, accompanied In the year 1772, he felt a draught of love marvellous inventions which American genius has by John Collins and Joseph Mitchell. They reach-drawing him to attend the general meetings on the produced within the last few years, are the followed New Milford, in Connecticut, on the Sth, and Bastero shore, and having the approbation of his ing, compiled in an abstract from the Patent Office had a meeting there in the afternoon, which was Monthly Meeting with the concern, he left his re- Report. The report explains the principle of the largely attended by people of other societies and sidence in the Tenth month, to fulfil it. The visit, celebrated Hobb lock. Its "unpickability" dethe Friends of the place. Amongst these, Joshua of which he has kept few minutes, appears to have pends upon a secondary or false set of tumblers, had a great openness for labour, pressing upon been performed to satisfaction, in part of which he which prevent instruments used in picking from them the necessity of regeneration. Gaius Tal- had the company of George Dillwyn, and of Wil-cott, accompanying him, he, the same night, rode liam Brown, Joshua Thomson, John Reeve, and der proof, and may be loaded through the key hole, and fired off till the burglar is tired of his fruitless The next day he was at a meeting there, which After this he was diligently occupied in temporal work, or fears that the explosions will bring to was an exercising one, although way opened for some public service. That alternoon, with Wing ings of which he was a member as they came in size. Doors and shutters have been patented that Kelly as pilot, he rode to the house of the widow course, until, with unity of his Monthly Meeting, cannot be broken through with either pick of sledge a meeting in the morning at that place, and in the home to attend meetings belonging to Chester and harpoon is described, which makes the whale kill afternoon, one at Oswego, both of which were sa-tisfactory. On the 11th, had a meeting near starting being Nottingham Monthly Meetings. The day of himself. The more he pulls the line the deeper Joshua Shearman's, in which he had to treat on regeneration and the universality of the love of it, he rode to Christiana bridge, where he lodged In an experimental trial, it froze several bottles of God to mankind, showing the necessity there was with his kinsman, John Lawden. On the 29th, sherry, and produced blocks of ice the size of a for experiencing the one, and believing in the which was the first day of the week, he attended a cubic foot when the thermometer was up to eighty. other. On the 12th, he was at a meeting at Peach meeting there, in which he found his mind engaged It is calculated that for every ton of coal put into Pond in the morning, and one at Ammawalk in to exhort Friends to take up the good resolution, the furnace, it will make a ton of ice. From Dr. the afternoon, the latter held in a barn. Both which Joshua of old did, "let others do as they Dale's examiner's report we gather some idea of meetings were favoured; in that in the afternoon, will, as for me and my house we will serve the he was much concerned that his hearers might be Lord." He entreated them to give up their whole impovement in straw cutters, took a model of his brought into obedience to the law of the Spirit, heart to serve the Lord in their day, age, and machine through the Western States, and after a that they might experience the benefit of Christ's generation, to know the work of reformation per- tour of eight months, returned with forty thousand coming. At the close of this meeting, he rode tected in them, that they might obtain an admit-dollars. Another man had a machine to thresh with Thomas Underhill to bis house near Shap-tance into the kingdom of life and glory prepared paqua, where, on the 13th, he attended a meeting to the morning. That afternoon, he had one at attended the afternoon meeting there, although Purchase, wherein he had to warn some present late in reaching it. Although he had some service planing machine, and the India rubber patents, are against trusting in uncertain riches; exhorting therein, his mind did not feel entirely released, yet worth millions each. Examiner Lane's report, dethem to seek to know a being broken off from the wild olive tree, from a dependence upon anything hardly advisable, he telt satisfied to pass on. On here below, that they might witness a being enthe 28th, after visiting his old friend, that sound is literally "shocked to death." Another is an grafted into the true and living vine. After meet | minister of the gospel and great traveller in the electro magnetic alarm, which rings bells and dising, he rode to Marmaroneck, and, on the 14th, had Lord's work, Esther White, he went to the house plays signals in case of fire and burglars. Another a meeting there, which, although not held in silence, of John Talbot at Chichester. Here he had a is an electric clock, which wakes you up, tells you was not an open satisfactory time. He dined at meeting, Third month 1st, in which he exhorted what time it is, and lights a lamp for you at any John Cornwall's, where many friends were gather-those present to see that their religion was built hour you please. There is a sound gatherer, a sort ed, because of the home-coming of a young married couple from Long Island. Aaron Laneaster Justa Charles and both he and Joshus had service He had also to speak of true gospel ministed proceeded.

Justa Charles and Bander Laneaster Justa Charles and Joshus had service He had also to speak of true gospel ministed proceeded.

Justa Charles and Joshus had service He had also to speak of true gospel ministed proceeded.

Justa Charles and Just the afternoon, he and Aaron Lancaster rode to It was a favoured meeting. On the 2d, he had a picks up pins from a confused heap, turns them West Chester to an afternoon meeting, in which meeting at Chester, in which he found it his place around with their heads up, and sticks them in they each laboured in the gospel. After meeting to be silent, which he notes as being to the mortithey rode towards New York, where, on the 15th, fication of some present. In company with Nathe whole process of eiger making, taking in they had a meeting, which was favoured. Joshua than Yarnall, he rode that afternoon to Darby, leaves and turning out finished eigars. One mathey had a meeting, which was arouted. So shan than Tariali, he folded had been shared the Monthly Met-bless parted with Aaron, and, crossing over to been parted with Aaron, and, crossing over to Jersey, rode that night to Rahway, where he lodged at the house of Joseph Shotwell. On the 16th, he tion the patriarch Jacob's prophecy concerning rode across New Jersey, and reached Bristol, in Christ, the Head of the true church. "The sceptre patented that cannot be tipped back on two legs, veries of the properties of the magnet, or the laws he love God whom he hath not seen." of the magnetic force tending to and facilitating In the revival of the blessed heavenly nature of the last grand discovery. The man who invented the gospel dispensation, George Fox showed the Every one who watches his own heart, know the sewing machine produced an original invention, reality and efficacy of this love, in his patient and that jealousy and ill-will shut out the christian love. though the same idea may have floated in some pacific endurance of the cruelty of wicked men, that seeks the welfare of others. If we would be body's brain years before he created the combina- and in his labours for the salvation of all. When really the disciples of Christ, and succeed our fore tion of forces and the arrangement of mechanical Friends were gathering together into a religious fathers in the Truth, we must cherish this love the distribution of the accomplished it. Fawke's body, and engaged in proclaiming the same go-pel and maintain in life and practice, the pure principles by which he accomplished it. Fawke's body, and engaged in proclaiming the same go-pel and maintain in life and practice, the pure principles by which he accomplished it. Fawke's body, and engaged in proclaiming the same go-pel and maintain in life and practice, the pure principles by which he accomplished it. Fawke's body, and engaged in proclaiming the same go-pel and maintain in life and practice, the pure principles by which he accomplished it. Fawke's body, and engaged in proclaiming the same go-pel and maintain in life and practice, the pure principles by which he accomplished it. Fawke's body, and engaged in proclaiming the same go-pel and maintain in life and practice, the pure principles by which he accomplished it. Fawke's body, and engaged in proclaiming the same go-pel and maintain in life and practice, the pure principles by which he accomplished it. sewing machine, one from which the greatest social constrained to waru them against strife and dissen-gathered. At a time when contention and division good may be educed. The steam fire-engine is sion, and to call them to keep in the Seed, and to are endangering the preservation of a united goanother happy original thought, though a necessity walk in the light of Christ, in which they would vernment in this land, Friends, who peculiarly should be produced by the inventive mind of the in that which makes for peace and love; for blessed they would be preachers of righteousness, and be present day, which shows that practical science is are the peace-makers, for theirs is the kingdom instrumental in spreading the kingdom of the Mespenetrating more deeply and surely into the body that stands in rightcousness, joy and peace in the siah, the Prince of peace. of society, and what were, until quite recently, Holy Ghost, and in power. Therefore seek the mysteries to the common mind, are familiar prin-ciples, understood and practised upou by men enjoy-one. Take heed of strife and contention, for that ing few of the advantages of what usually is termed eats out the good, and does not edify, nor make for "liberal education," a phrase which means acquain- peace; for it is love that edifies the body. Theretance with things merely ornamental and of no fore, keep in the Seed, and know that which was use, generally to the exclusion of science, which before enmity was, in which there is both peace is the foundation of everything true and useful. and life. And all be careful to watch over one Schuylkill, whither they were conveyed the even-The further education goes in the last direction, another, for one another's good. Be patient and ing of the day on which they were compelled to and the wider science, becomes spread among the keep low and down in the power of the Lord God, leave Philadelphia. It was soon apparent, that people, the stronger will the foundations be laid of that there ye may come to enjoy the kingdom of little care had been taken by their persecutors to an education which must necessarily quicken the highest activities of each individual mind, and lead Jacob in the same. For blessed are all ye that lie road, and had it not been that the kindness of their to greater and more interesting discoveries. - Late down in the power of the Lord, and rise up in it, fellow members secured them ample provision, Paper.

For "The Friend." Peace and Good-Will Essential to Happiness.

be known of all men by the love which they bore the power of God and of his good word and of his them; but upon their arriving at Pottsgrove, they to one another. It was to be an essential, distin-ight, wait for wisdom, and walk in it, that ye may gave evidence of their confidence in them, and their guishing mark in them before the world, designating be preserved in unity in the light and life, and disbelief of the "suspicious" charged upon them, them as his followers. As they were to be sent in fellowship with God and one with another, that by allowing them to disperse for the night to lodge forth to preach the offers of the love and mercy of to the Lord God ye may be a good savour, and a at the houses of some of their friends residing in forth to preach the oners of the love and mercy of to the Lord God ye may be a good savour, and a lat the noises of some of their include results of God to the world, in sending his beloved Son for blessing in your generation, strengthening one and the advantage of the salvation of all, who believed and received other in the faith, in the grace, in the Word by the next morning. However to show the spirit and the fruits of the gaspel which they declared, in their own conduct and example. John who leaned on Jesus' Lord keeping you from all the temptations which as some of them had not even a change of linen any position, without any legs at all. Another patent is for a machine that counts passengers in pears by his epistles, to have been remarkably which Word of God ye may all be preserved an ommibus and takes their fares. When a very imbued with this heavenly spirit and disposition, the sweet, holy life, in which there is unity, which when a very imbued with this heavenly spirit and disposition, fat gentleman gets in, it counts two and charges and was favoured with extraordinary revelations, was before enmity; which word doth fulfil the double. There are a variety of guns patented that being peculiarly fitted thereby for those divine comwords. load themselves; a fishing line that adjusts its munications which he had from his glorified Lord "Therefore, in that live, that ye may all feel li own bait, and a rat trap that throws away the and Master. Knowing the love of God perfected abundantly through the light and power that come rat, and then baits itself and stauds in the corner in us by keeping his word, is spoken of by this from the Word, through which word your sou rat, and then datis itself and stands in the corner in us by keeping his word, is spoken or by this from the word, unrough which a postle, as evidence that we are in Him. And may be brought up to God, where is joy, pear man prints, instead of writes, his thoughts. It is again, "he that loveth his brother, abideth in the played like a piano forte. And speaking of pianos, light," which indicates that without abiding in the stays strife, contentions and janglings; and liv it is estimated that nine thousand are made every light of Christ, we cannot truly love one another; in that, by which ye come to serve one another; year in the United States, giving constant employ- For "he that hateth his brother, is in darkness, love, even in the love of God, which thinks no evi year in the United States, giving constant employment to one thousand nine thunder persons, and and walketh in darkness, and knoweth not whiter envices not, neither is it easily provoked—white costing over two millions of dollars.

After such a list of inventions as these, who can say truly that "there is nothing new?" There is going, or what spirit be is following, he is liable imay be nothing new in creations encely imaginative, but in the application of scientific principles to tall into a ditch; and if the blind lead the blind, the unity, and the everlasting kingdom; that y true, but in the application of scientific principles to the saving of labor, and to new and improved Should the spirit of emity towards brethren, seeklikingdom of peace, and to be inheritors of it, sit methods of labor production, and consequently to ling to destroy their religious reputation, be the ting down in the same, knowing your own portion the increase of the material wealth of the country leader of such, all pretence to sustain the Redeem and increasing in the heavenly riches. This is and the improved condition of the people, there er's cause will be in vain, and must terminate in above all strife, and the man of it, which is bor is not only a vast deal that is new, but what is the downfall of such. The love of the brethren is of the Egyptian woman, which genders to bond better, much that is practically beneficial to man-given as proof, that we have passed from death the processor. Worse, who invented nuto life; but this love is not to be in word or in the Heir of the promise set over all, and the bless the magnetic telegraph, is just as much an inventor, tongue, but in deed and in truth, and cannot exist ing and presence of the Lord—the Seed of life entitled to the credit of discovery, in his combination where there is hatred. "If a man say, I love God, and peace to reign in you all, which possesses the of the means by which intelligence can be instantly and hatch his brother, he is a liar; and he that kingdom, where there is no end. The grace conveyed, as if there had been no previous discolored hot his brother whom he hath seen, how can our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all, to teach almost from previous steps in the progress of the love and unite with one another, and be preserved profess to be advocates of peace and harmony steam-engine. It is remarkable that all the great inventions he says: "Friends and brethren everywhere, dwell among themselves and towards all men. Then season, and establish you, which brings your salva

THE FRIEND.

FIRST MONTH 12, 1861.

(Continued from page 144.) peace, and sit down with Abraham, Isaac, and afford them the necessary entertainment on the and in faith remain, through which power ye come where they stopped to dine or lodge, they might to be preserved, and united to the God of life and have suffered for want of food. The members of truth. Take heed of any words or carriage that the City Troop entrusted with conducting the prido not tend to edification, and building up in the soners as far as Reading, refused to allow them to Our Saviour told his disciples that they should love and life. Therefore, ye that have tasted of know the instructions they had received respecting ith them, and as the weather was becoming cool, specting them. As they passed through the were then in Reading. e, was asked by one of the officers if he would requesting him to interfere on his behalf. liliadelphia for advice, returned to Reading, they now learned, was to be Winchester, Va., inlinging with him a printed copy of a bill which deen introduced into the Legislature on the

Their journey occupied nine days, and from the

On consulting together under these circum-

e Habeas Corpus Act,

eading after daylight had departed. After much Legislature had any proposition for such a law repeatedly manifested.

The proposition of the control of the riving at the tavern, a guard was set around the the charge of the Lieutenant of Berks County, consideration, refused to receive them as prisoners, buce, and the Friends who had come in to meet Notwithstanding the new law, the Friends had the though he told the commander of the escort he em, were prevented having intercourse with them. writs of habeas corpus last received, regularly would take the responsibility of setting a guard ne of them, however, was allowed to send them served upon the officer in command, and upon his over them until he heard from Congress or the me dinner, a meal which otherwise they would refusing to obey them, despatched a messenger to Governor of Virginia, of have got. The next day the writs of habeas the Chief Justice, with information thereof; and Shortly after the pri rpus sent for the day before, arrived. One of also informing him of the illegal incarceration of some Friends who resided in the neighbourhood, and e persons who brought them from the Chief Jus- one of the persons who had brought the writs, and had heard of their banishment to that place, came

Ithough the officers had assumed the responsi-the prisoners were obliged to set off for their place most influential Quakers in America, and that they lity of disobeying the writs granted by the highest of destination in Virginia. Daniel Levan was apwould stir up the Quakers in Virginia against the dicial functionary in the State, upon the plea that pointed commander of the escort. He conducted American cause. Some of their former guard from ey were bound to carry out the directions of the himself with much courtesy towards the Friends, Pennsylvania added to the excitement, by misrepre-xecutive Council, which must itself see to this and after being on the road three days, he allowed senting their conduct and characters, and the exatter, yet they were evidently uneasy with the them to have copies of the several orders issued by eitement ran so high, that a body of about thirty mation in which they found themselves placed; the Council respecting them, which they found to men armed themselves, and marching to the tavern so of them, therefore, posted back to Philadel be very contradictory in dates and other important where they were quartered, demanded their immeila for advice. The prisoners afterwards learned particulars. There was also an order from the diate removal out of that part of the country, at the Council, upon receiving information of the Secretary of War to the commanding officer of the threatening violence towards them if they remained. anting of the writs by the Chief Justice, were at first county they should enter, after leaving Penn- Licutenant Smith exerted himself to the utmost to st much puzzled to know what course to pursue sylvania, (where the authority of the Executive preserve the prisoners from harm, soothed and order to prevent their plan of banishment from Council would cease,) to see that the prisoners were reasoned with the people, and finally prevailed on ing defeated; they, however, resolved to apply properly secured and treated, and forwarded to the them to allow the prisoners to remain, until the Legislature—the nixting in the city—to help commanding officer of the next country how was could accommunication to Congress and the om out of the difficulty. Accordingly, on the to act likewise, and so on until they reached the Governor of Virginia; this was acceded to on concoming of the 17th, the officer who had gone to place decided on as their place of residence; which dition that they should be confined to the premises

This ex post facto law authorized the Council, night, except the crackers and cheese they carried nd it would soon be necessary to have warm upon the recommendation of Congress, the Com-lothing, they protested against going on any fur-mander-in-Chief, or a General of Division, to take to find supper and lodgings wherever they could ner until their baggage should come to hand up any person upon suspicion of being infinical to best obtain them, while their guard went off to he escort consented to their tarrying until the the State, or to the United States; to seize and seek quarters for themselves. On arriving at the blowing day, but some evil-disposed persons at examine their papers, and to confine such persons, boundary between the States of Pennsylvania and pgo on any further, and were in expectation of country; and provided that all persons acting un-it voluntarily, and thus leaving the jurisdiction of sing rescued, or making their escape. Whereeing rescued, or maki aving immediately for Reading. It was now late habeas corpus, for the purpose of hindering or ob- many of the inhabitants of the section of country the afternoon, and they remonstrated against structing such proceedings of the Council. As this through which they were conveyed, that pains bad ing thus hurried away, explained to him the rea- act was passed more than two weeks after the been taken to prejudice their minds against them, on why they had been delayed, and pointed out proceedings against these Friends commenced, and by representations of their having been the cause le hazard of life they must run, if obliged to pass they had been arrested, imprisoned, and sentenced of great distress and bloodshed where they came rer some portion of the road between there and to banishment, without hearing or trial, before the from; and a disposition to do them an injury was

Fore the company was in readiness to leave, two but as it recited several of the principal facts that tenant of Frederick county, Virginia. Upon the essengers arrived with writs of "habeas corpus," had characterized those illegal acts, and was limited latter reading over the several papers delivered to anted by Thomas McKean, Chief Justice of the in its operation until the first sitting of the next him by the escort, he observed, in their presence, sate, for the nine Friends who had made applica- Legislature, it was evidently intended to cover that they were so confused and contradictory in on therefor, before leaving the city. These writs their case, and was a direct acknowledgment, that their dates he did not consider himself authorized ere at once regularly served upon the officers in the measures pursued against them, had been con- to take charge of them, unless he should receive mmand, and who had the Friends in custody. Iterry to the law of the land; and that it was deemed instructions to that effect from the Executive of pon hearing them, they acknowledged they uncessary to attempt to palliate their gross violation. The Friends at once gave him a brief bristood the power of such writs, but after contion of the rights of freemen, and ward off the account of the illegal and unjust manner in which altation, they refused to obey them. This was punishment that might be hereafter sought for by they had been deprived of their liberty, and reisoners who had before declined making application of this was afforded by the Council, who, in order opinion, whether they were prisoners of Congress? on to the Chief Justice, now concluded to do so, to shelter themselves under this law, issued a new or of the Council of Pennsylvania? If the former; ad their application was forwarded by a suitable warrant to those having custody of the prisoners, had he received orders from Congress to hold them dated on the 16th inst. (the day on which the law as such? If the latter; was he authorized to re-That afternoon the prisoners arrived in Reading, passed.) commanding them to remove their charge ceive them as its prisoners? If he decided to keep there they found the people greatly excited against from Philadelphia to Reading, though they knew them as prisoners; would be make provision for em, in consequence of the false reports spread they had started with them five days before, and their support and accommodation, such as became their characters and standing? Lieutenant Smith reets, stones were thrown at them; and upon The prisoners were now formally delivered into treated them with the greatest politeness, and after

Shortly after the prisoners arrived at Winchester, in to visit them, and to manifest to them their symke the "test;" and upon his declining, he was at On the 21st of the Ninth month, although John pathy and fellowship with them. This gave great neemade a prisoner and sent to the county jail. Pemberton was much indisposed and unfit to travel, offence: a report was spread that these were the oth inst., and was enacted into a law on the 16th, poor conveyances supplied for them, and the bad-stances of imminent peril to their lives, the Friends tended to justify and sustain the Supreme Exe-ness of the roads, was very fatiguing and exhaust-thought it their duty again to lay their suffering tive Council in the course it had pursued towards ing. Repeatedly they were unable to obtain the case before Congress,—then sitting at York,—and e prisoners, and suspending, for the time being, most meagre accommodations at the taverns; some to try once more to induce that body to restore times they were without food from morning until them to the bosoms of their families, and to their other remonstrance, in which they reviewed the as its Constitution may determine. It is not expected that proceedings against them, referred to the recommendation of Congress to the Executive Council, to hear them, and its disregard of that recommendation; and in the language of truth and plainness, set forth the violations in their case of law and justice, which Congress professed to be dear to it; and concluded with the following, "If you entertain those opinions in reality you have so often ut- Virginia, declares that the Union is already dissolved tered in your publications in favour of liberty, so that eight States will be out in thirty days; and that far from being offended at the freedom we use in Carolina Commissioners remained some days in Washaddressing you in its favour, our cause will derive ington, endeavouring to open negotiations with the goeredit from the firmness with which we have vernment, in which, however, they were unsuccessful. thought proper to assert it. On the contrary, if They then returned to Charleston to report the failure you are determined to support the Council in the of their mission. The proceedings of Congress, when in unjust and illegal steps they have taken to carry your first recommendation into execution, by continuing us in a country so dangerous to our personal safety, we commit ourselves to the protection Senator Douglas also spoke on the subject; he denied of an all-wise overruling Power, in whose sight, we

This remonstrance was read to Lieutenant Smith, who also read his communication to Congress to the prisoners. In the latter he informed congress, "It was with the utmost exertion of my the plan agreed upon in the conference of the border. influence with an enraged multitude, that I prevented the greatest violence being offered to these men," and "I can assure you their lives will be endangered by their staying at Winchester." "In justice to the prisoners, I can but inform you that their behaviour, since they have been at this place, has truly been inoffensive, and such as could give umbrage to no person whatever."

A communication was likewise prepared by the prisoners to the Governor of Virginia, which, with one from the Lieutenant, was sent to him. The papers for Congress were forwarded by a special messenger.

(To be continued.)

SHMMARY OF EVENTS.

ECROPE .- Liverpool advices to the 23d, report increased activity in the market for cotton and breadstuffs. Consols, 92 n 93.

It was reported at Paris, that the French ambassador at Constantinople was about concluding an agreement, in virtue of which the French army in Syria would prolong its occupation for six months beyond the time originally agreed upon.

The Bombay papers give an unfavourable picture of the state of India. Strong demonstrations had been made against the income tax, in various places.

Poona, several thousand natives assembled, and publicly tore up the income tax papers.

UNITED STATES. —Affairs at Washington.—A committee of the members of Congress, from New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Iudiana, Oliio, Arkansas, Delaware, Kentucky, Texas, North Carolina, Missouri, Virginia. and Maryland, have been in conference, in relation to the threatened disruption of the Union. On the 5th inst., they adopted the following propositions: Recom-mending a repeal of all personal liberty bills. An efficient amendment of the fugitive slave law, preventing kidnapping, equalizing the commissioners' fee, &c. That the Constitution be so amended as to prohibit any interference with slavery in any of the States. That Congress shall not abolish slavery in the dock-yards, &c. or in the District of Columbia, without the consent of Maryland, and the cousent of the inhabitants of the District, nor without compensation. That Congress shall not interfere with the inter-State slave trade. That there shall be a perpetual prohibition of the African slave trade. That the line 36 deg. 30 min. shall be run through all the existing territory of the United States, and in all north of that line slavery shall be prohibited, and south of that line neither Congress nor the territorial Legislature shall hereafter pass any law abolishing, that have plundered her rereaues, attempted to ruin her prohibiting, or in any manuer laterfering with African commerce, taken away the power of self government, sharery. When any territory containing a sufficient land destroyed the confidency of which she was the population for one member of Congress, in any area of proud empire city! The mayor's views are, it is said, rights as citizens. Accordingly, they drew up an- as a State, it shall be admitted, with or without slavery, the compromise proposed will receive the assent of either extreme in Congress, one being bent on secession, and the other disinclined to yield so much to the demands of the South.—The Alabama and Mississippi delegations held a conference on the night of the 5th inst., and af-terwards telegraphed to the conventions of their respective States, advising them to secede immediately, saying there was no prospect of a satisfactory adjustment. A published letter of James M. Mason, U. S. Senator from that eight States will be out in thirty days; and tent cerved by the oversaud route. The trace the state of the Virginia ought to secule as soon as possible.—The South is and the proceedings in Congress, up to the 7th ult., has Carolina Commissioners remained some days in Washberry Carolina Commissioners and the Republication of the Union. All the Republication of the Union. All the Republications are considered to the Carolina Commissioners and the Republication of the Union. All the Republications are considered to the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners are considered to the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners are considered to the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners are considered to the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners are considered to the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners are considered to the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners are considered to the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners are considered to the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners are considered to the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners are considered to the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners are considered to the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners are considered to the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners are considered to the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners are considered to the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners are considered to the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners are considered to the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners and the Carolina Commissioners and t terest attaches to the ordinary routine of legislation at this critical juncture. Senator Baker, of Oregon, made an able speech, in reply to Benjamin, of Louisiana. the right of secession, but maintained that it was imof an all-wise overruling Power, in whose sight, we lite fight to secessful our maintained that it was not trust, we shall stand in this matter acquitted, and who, if any of us should lose our lives, will require our blood at your hauds."

He fight to secessful our maintained that it was not peace and it was for peace and one promise.—One the 7th inits, Crittenden, of Kentucky, introduced his resolution. tions, for submitting propositions for a settlement of the matters in dispute between the two great sections, to a direct vote of the people, as speedily as possible. The resolutions to be submitted are inteaded to carry out States. He supported this plan of compromise with great earnestness. Senator Toombs, of Georgia, made a strong secession speech, declaring the Union was already dissolved. The South had long appealed to the fraternal feeling and justice of the North in vain, and now they were voting what was called revolution, and were ready to appeal, if need be, to the sword, and ere long, the ground would echo to the tramp of armed men, from the Capitol to the Rio Grande.

Charleston, S. C.—On the 7th, the steamer Star of the West was chartered by Gen. Scott, and sailed from New York, with a full supply of provisions, and a reinforcement of 250 men, for fort Sumpter.

Virginia.—The Legislature met on the 7th, and the House of Assembly unanimously adopted a resolution appointing a committee, with instructions to report a bill for a State convention.

Progress of the Revolution .- The Florida convention is a session at Tallahassee. There was no doubt an ordinance of secession would be promptly enacted. the Georgia convention, the secession party are in the majority. Fort Morgan at Mobile has been taken possession of, on behalf of the State of Alabama. The fortifications at Savannah and the U. S. arsenal have been seized by the State of Georgia. At Charleston, the U.S. revenue cutter fell into the hands of the seceders, through the treachery of her commander, who was a South Carolinian. In that city, all business is suspended, and nothing but military preparations occupy the people. A great number of slaves have been employed in making earth works and trenches on the land nearest to fort Sumpter, with a view to its speedy attack by rafts, protected by barricades of cotton bales. The fort has but a small garrison. The postmaster at Charleston has written to the Postmaster-General, that he holds himself responsible to the federal government for the revenues accruing in his office. For the present, therefore, the postal arrangements will continue unchanged. arsenals in the several seceding States have been amply supplied with arms within the last few months, by order of the late Secretary of War. From the Springfield arsenal there were sent to Charleston, S. C., 15,000, muskets; to Alabama, 15,000; North Carolina, 25,000 Georgia, 20,000; Louisiana, 30,000, most, if not all, of which will be taken by the revolutionists. The collector at Charleston having resigned, a successor has been nominated by the President; but the senate will probably refuse to confirm the appointment.

Philadelphia.—Mortality last week, 244.

sixty thousand square miles, shall apply for admission approved by no small portion of the inhabitants.

Mississippi .- The convention of this State assemble on the 7th inst. A committee was appointed with it structions to prepare and report, as speedily as possibl an ordinance of secession, providing for the immediat withdrawal of Mississippi from the federal Union, wit a view to the establishment of a new confederacy, to t composed of the seceding States.

Alabama .- The State convention assembled on th 7th. A strong party favours deliberation and co-operation tion with the other slaveholding States, but the major rity are said to be for separate and immediate secession California.—Late San Francisco dates have been received by the overland route. The President's message papers advocate the repeal of the personal liberty bil of the Northern States. There is some talk of organiz ing a Pacific republic if the South secedes, but the pre sent sentiment of the people is undoubtedly to strive preserve the Union as it is, and to stay with all the remains of the Union, if any portion secedes.

The Markets .- The money market, in New York, Bos ton and Philadelphia, is easier, and stocks which ha been greatly depressed, are again rising, notwithstancing the gloomy aspect of political affairs. The followin were the quotations in the grain markets on the 7t inst. New York—White wheat, $1.57 a $1.60; re wheat, $1.32 a $1.38; Chicago spring, $1.17 a $1.19 oats, 36 cts. a 37 cts.; corn, 70 cts. a 71 cts. Philade phia-White wheat, $1.45 a $1.50; red, $1.32 a $1.35 old coru, 70 cts.; new, 60 cts. a 62 cts.; oats, 33 cts. 34 cts.; clover seed, $5.00 a $5.25. Baltimore—Re wheat, $1.25 a $1.32; white, $1.40 a $1.60; new whi and yellow corn, 62 cts. a 66 cts.

RECEIPTS.

Received from Wm. Foster, R. I., $10, to 52, vol. 32 from Jas. Brown, N. J., $2, vol. 33; John Braatin, ham, Io., $2; Ellwood Dean, O., $2, vol. 34; from V B. Smith, Pa., $2, vol. 33; from Evan Philips, Pa., $ vols. 32 and 33; from Marshall Fell, Pa., $4, vols. 5 and 34; from J. K., N. Y., for N. D. Tripp and J. Ba and 3+; from 5, K., M. 1, 101 K., D. 17(p) and 3-5, tey, $2 each, vol. 34, for H. Nickerson, $2, to 26, vo. 35; from F. Taber, jr., Mass., $2, vol. 33; from Jes Hall, agt., O., for Wm. Hall, N. Cook, J. W. Smith, J. Binns, ir., and Win. Hall, jr., $2 each, vol. 34, for and R. Miller, $2, to 27, vol. 35, for Israel Steer, $vol. 32, 33 and 34; from Saml. Sheffield, R. 1., $vol. 33; from Sarah Green, R. I., $2, vol. 34.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend and his wife are wanted to fill the station of Superintendent and Matron at West-town Boarding School.

Application to be made to either of the following Friends: NATHAN SHARPLESS, CONCORD; JAMES EMLE West Chester; SAMUEL HILLES, Wilmington; HENI COPE OF WILLIAM EVANS, Philadelphia.

Twelfth mo. 10th, 1860.

DIED, at their residence, on the 16th of Twelfth me 1860, in Washington county, Ohio, SARAH, wife of Cale Engle, in the forty-ninth year of her age; a member Plymouth Monthly and Particular Meeting. For sever months previous to her sickness, she had felt her mind it pressed with the belief that her time here would be sho She bore an illness of several weeks with a remarkab degree of patience and resignation; frequently reques ing portions of the holy Scriptures read, expressing the comfort it afforded her, and the fear she felt that, through the hurry of business, and multiciplicity of tempor engagements, the practice of reading therein, and of the ment of the true christian life, was too much neglect on account of the state of society, and earnestly desir that Friends might seek to be clothed with the spirit forbearance, charity, love, and forgiveness, one towar another, and towards all men, often expressing the loshe felt to flow towards all the human family. In the New York—On the 7th inst., Mayor Wood sent 18 at message to the Common Council, recommending a separation of the city from the State, and that New York be a free city. He argues that the metropolis ought to break the bands, which bind her to a people and party that have plundered her revenues, attempted to ruin her commerce, taken away the power of self government, and destroyed the confederacy of which she was the nroud empire city! The mayor's riews are, it is said, and in a calm, composed manner, bid each an affectionate faverell, and shortly after she peacefully pass away, without sigh or groan.

HRIRND.

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, FIRST MONTH 19, 1861.

NO. 20.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

rice Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by JOHN RICHARDSON

AT NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

Postage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three onths, if paid in advance, three and a quarter cents; any part of the United States, for three months, if appearing-good is thy will, O! Lord." id in advance, six and a-half cents.

> For "The Friend." Henry Rull.

(Continued from page 146.) d more reverence and obey the holy One of Is-el, for he hath dealt bountifully with me."

"After atte:

a visit to Friends there. My mind was a good deal to accompany me to Charleston." oressed, as I found I could not comfortably give Of his stay in that city, and return the prospect. But on the morning of the 21st, makes the following memorandums, viz: whom my soul loves, and whom I delight to me, would still go with me; and although nothing tention during the course of this journey; but nebut discouragement prevails as to the outward, yet ver more than while I was in this place, where this blessed be his holy name, in his adorable merey he oppressed race are very numerous, and are frenever fails to help the humble. O thou who givest quently sold at auction like eattle. At one of these me this faith! I pray thee, keep me in the way I sales I was much affected, in hearing a young co-should go, and thou shalt be my God. I will not loured man pleading his cause. It is aged father love another, pay, nor anything this world affords, and mother, and his wife and child were all mountlike unto thee, for thou hast dealt bountifully with ed upon a stage, so that they might be seen by the me in this trying time; thy love shed abroad in bidders; they being about to be sold. The young my heart has been life unto me; and the discour-agements, which, as a thick eloud, hung round ordered down. He said he wanted to be sold with about me, are dispelled by the brightness of thy them—but was told that he could not, as it was a

he remarks: "The first day of the year 1800, be- fecting and moving language, to show how hard ings, I received information, that three Friends had all to no purpose. When he saw that his prayers lly attentive to the leadings of his Divine Master, two hundred miles in search of them. Having kill him; for, said he, I had rather die than be s mind was preserved in a lively exercise that fallen in company with Daniel Haviland and Jesse separated from my family—upon which he was s ministerial labours might not dwindle into mere Copeland, they had come on together. And our meet-dragged off the seaffold and driven away. Commanlity, or be prompted by any motive, short of ling was mutually agreeable, as I had see no "The company went on bidding, apparently as rmality, or be prompted by any motive, short of ing was mutually agreeable, as I had seen no fresh sense of the renewed call and qualification Friend of my former acquaintance for some months; unaffected as though the auctioneer had been sellthe Spirit of Truth immediately administered and having long known Daniel, and he being from ing sheep, while the screams and prayers of the e says, "I was often seriously thoughtful lest I New York, and having been at my house long since laged parents, and the bereaved wife with her include get into the habit of preaching, but upon a I left home, it was truly comfortable to discourse infant in her arms, went up to heaven in behalf of mable and reverent appeal to the Searcher of with him, as he brought good accounts of my family, themselves, and especially for the poor young man, arts, to know how to conduct before him and his We attended the Mouthly Meeting of Wrightsboople, I was answered with the precious incomes rough, and found Friends to be in a divided state, Besides these victims to cruel and antichristian sweet peace and inward holy consolation, far and the business conducted in a spirit of strife, to avarice, there was a large number more confined erbalancing my doubts and fears—and an evince was given me, that these fears were permit-set an example of meckness, and taught that we different purchasers. Thus it is, that near relatives to keep me watchful. Oh! that I may more should not return reviling for reviling, but blessing are often violently separated, never more to see el, for he hath dealt bountifully with me."

"After attending several other meetings in "In the early part of the Second month, I sold From North Carolina, he went into South Caro Georgia, we returned to Allwood, where we met my horse, and embarked on board a schooner, of a and Georgia, and visited the few professors Susannah Hollingsworth, a minister living in South about seventy tous burthen, bound for New York. th Friends in those States. Many trials and Carolina, and we all attended meeting there next We had a fine wind in our favour for about three ivations attended the prosecution of this journey, day. Here Daniel Haviland left me, to visit some days, when it came directly ahead, and commenced this mind was secretly sustained by the power meetings which I had been at; and after resting a one of the most violent storms any of us had ever Him, who had put him forth in the work, and day, I set out for Bush river Quarterly Meeting, witnessed. There were seventeen passengers pent Him, who had put him forth in the work, and day, I set out for Bush river Quarterly Meeting, witnessed. There were seventeen passengers pent oo condescended to go before and care for him. Isophing at an inn upon the road, I heard of he up in a small cabin, one of whom was a sea capie following memorandums are interesting. He dath of George Washington, late President of the dath of George Washington, late President of the tain, who said he had been to the East Indies three last Cook, near Mudlick, in South Carolina, me and those in office; appearing to have the but was never in so great a storm before. It continues wife, Charity Cook, was then absent on a welfare of the community in view, rather than the nucd six days and nights, and our vessel being tight tigious visit to Friends in Great Britain. While homour of men or the profits of office. The day and well balanced, laid well to the wind—though tre, he writes: "During this time our horses was an unpleasant one for travelling, by reason of her rigging and sails had the appearance of a syed away, and my companion, Joshua Lord, the abundance of snow that fell, being more than wreck when the storm abated. At times we companied by another Friend, set out in search twelve inches deep, a circumstance very unusual cluded we should never see the land again—the them. The rivers and creeks being much swol-liu this country. The Quarterly Meeting of Bush is a beating over us so violently, that no one could by the long continued rains, we were very river was large, and through Divine condescending remain on deck: the helm was lashed, and the by the long continued rains, we were very river was large, and through Divine condescension remain on deck; the helm was lashed, and the bughtful how our friends would fare in the purproved a good time. Here my companion, Joshua companion way door sluit close to prevent our being t, and in looking toward Georgia, its seemed very Lord, left me, in order to return home by and overwhelmed with water in the eabit. Thus we likely that I should be able to fulfil my prospect with Daniel Haviland, and Samuel Miles agreed passed several long winter nights, without any light

"We had a meeting with the few Friends resiproceed, although my companion was absent, board here during the winter; also one with the prevailed.

d our horses not found. I felt my mind deeply inhabitants more generally, both held in the house "In common with my companions in the voyaged in reverence, and gave up cheerfully, in the belonging to Friends. The crying injustice and age, I gave up all hope of ever seeing home, yet the beloft, that He who had thus far been with cruelty of slavery, had frequently engaged my atpearing—good is thy will, O! Lord." | sale to satisfy a mortgage upon the others, in which After attending a number of meetings in Georgia, be was not included. He pleaded with very afing at a Friend's house, a few miles from my lodg- it was to be separated from his family; but it was arrived there, who wished to see me; and on re- were unheeded, and that the others would be sold Pursuing his journey, he attended most of the turning, I found my companion, Joshua Lord, who without him, he harst into a flood of tears, and in settings of Friends, in North Carolina. Watch-had recovered our horses, after riding more than the anguish of his feelings besought them rather to each other in this world!

-the jug containing our supply of oil being broken Of his stay in that city, and return home, he at the commencement of the gale. The consternation which prevailed in the night, when it was expected the waves would swallow us up, was great ve, condescended to open my way with clearness dent here, and those from the north and east, who indeed-though at times a comfortable silence aroused all hands out of their beds, I was favoured it was a new thing then in England. The good Coulier. He did not understand one of the m to remain perfectly quiet in mine, expecting every people of Lancashire were not sure that the cotton chanical principles which the barber laid down, b moment to be the last, ere we were swallowed up. did not grow on the sheep they had in America; he had been used to see "Travelling Dick" carr O then, the most anxious desire I had was, that but it was brought in ships which came to Livering about a bag of hair or mending old wigs, as my dear connexions and friends might know how pool every half-year, wind and tide permitting; Master Thomas believed that was the only busine calmly and undismayed I met death, and the com- carried up to Manchester on the aforesaid pack- he could do. The bobbins and sticks amused h I had not been allured by cunningly devised fables, wheels, woven on the hand-loom, bleached or the barber's machine for bringing the finest musl I was renewedly confirmed in my mind, that 'verily printed sometime within twelve months, and all down to half-a-crown or so. There was a known there is a reward for the righteous,' and that the articles made of it were more costly than silk is in wink given to his brothers; they would take it o peace which our Lord Jesus Christ gives his fol- our day. lowers, cannot be wrested from them by any of the adversities of time. Although, from the greatness for one of his uncle's men, who had been in the his engine by water-power, like a corn-mill, wh of the apparent danger, I came to the conclusion West Indies, told him it was planted and har- Master Thomas burst into a loud laugh of derisio that I should not see my home again, attended vested just like their own beans. He had mighty his brothers followed his example; and they with feelings of great tenderness of affection for my tales, too, about the strong arms it required to began to chaff the barber, one advising him to tabeloved family and friends, yet hope revived in the card and rove the wool, when it came out of the a farm and grow cotton on it, and another to ma midst of the storm, and a belief that we should closely-packed bags after the long voyage; how himself a pair of wings and fly to the moon. T not be lost, in which my mind was centred in hard it was to spin into thread tine enough for poor young man had not expected such a rece quiet reliance upon Him, who will assuredly do muslin, and how his uncle's looms were stopped tion for his invention, and was evidently much d

the sailors had much to do to put our vessel in a rigging and sails much torn.

gaged a passage for Poughkeepsie, and soon reach-ter. Two or three old neighbours had dropped in when Dick came round again. ed home, where I found my family well, for which, to bear Master Thomas's news, and a young man and the many preservations and favours I witness- of very humble pretensions, who went about the with all that live, and it did with Thomas Coult

(To be continued.)

mer of 1763, when Master Thomas Coulter came with time and service, the barber brought all the other things to think of now. He was a man home on a boliday visit from his apprenticeship in news of the country, and could tell how markets thirty-four, with a wife and two young children Manchester. Thomas's father was a respectable went for forty miles round. Now, he was listening provide for. His rent and taxes were hear in the midst of his own fields, which stretched along seemed more attentive; but when the family and his looms were not paying him. Newer houses a lone hill-side, not far from the county-town of neighbours, with one accord, began to lament the Manchester could undersell his muslins and ke Lancaster. There they sowed and reaped, baked great loss which Farmer Coulter's brother must them out of the market. They had got up their own bread, browed their own lae, had Easter sustain by the stopping of his looms, the young new spinning-frame invented by that man in N feasts, harvest homes, and merry doings at Christ- barber, who was known through all Lancashire by tingham, whom the king had lately knighted, a were two brothers and two sisters, all older than ing manner:—

Thomas, some half-dozen of servant men and maids,

"Master Thomas, I have been often thinking of it spinning; a wondrous engine of many whe Thomas, some half-dozen of servant men and maids, who, in the homely fashion of those times, worked your uncle's inconvenience for want of yarn. They and spindles it was, all turned and driven by c together in house and field, and sat down together can't spin it fast enough, you see, and his are not great water-wheel, yet spinning the finest yarn at the same table; yet Thomas was at once the the only looms brought to a stand by that: there astonishing quantities, without the help of hum gentleman and traveller of the family.

uncle had taken him two years before as an ap- or so a yard, if a certain machine I have been money to pay for one just now, but they say prentice, to learn his trade of muslin-weaving; thinking and working at these five years, were only Richard is a liberal man; perhaps if I went but it was believed at home, that if Thomas be- set a spinning. But it takes money, Master Tho- Nottingham, told him my circumstances, and haved well, he would be his uncle's heir. This mas, to get an engine properly made and put in fered him proper security, he would let me hav was his first home-coming, and his fourteenth working order. I am a poor man, and can't do it frame, and pay for it when I could."

birth-day came round next month; but the two myself; but if two or three men of substance, like Thomas did go to Nottingham, and found years of living in a large town, seeing shops and your uncle, were to subscribe a certain sum, the great inventor's office beset by men of great stage-coaches, cotton-spinners and people who came thing might be set going, and they would get their wealth and standing than himself, but all in sea from London, had made a great man of Thomas, money out of it with good interest."

of spinning frames. After waiting his turn, not only in his own eyes, but in those of the whole The family thought "Travelling Dick" must be was admitted to the room where the now import farm-house.

so that honest families, like the Coulters, never bobbins, which he called the model of his machine, ishment and shame too. The sticks and bobl went many miles beyond their parish-church; and set them up on the kitchen-table, and began to ex- set up on the kitchen-table, had a meaning in the though Manchester was not then as large as one of plain how the spinning was to be done. its suburbs now, a boy who had lived there two It is not easy for a boy to be listened to by a for Sir Richard Arkwright, the inventor of death; and at one time, when the terrible roaring years, was thought to have seen the world. Be-of the elements, with the cracking of our vessel, isides, Thomas had seen the wonderful cotton trade; and pride was the besetting sin of Master Thom right.

"When the wind changed, and the storm abated, considerable loss, and Thomas a long holiday." He th the fire in their best kitchen, which looked so bright mer Coulter was vexed with his clever son, and t "As soon as we arrived at New York, I en-with its sanded floor and shelves of glittering pew-boys were told they must not talk of the machi ed in this arduous journey, I was humbly thank-country as a travelling barber, mending wigs, which He had learned his uncle's trade, behaved we then formed part of every gentleman's attire and and became the old man's heir. His uncle h every farmer's Sunday dress, and buying hair to waven out the web of life and left him the musl make new once from all the poor girls who could looms. "Traveiling Dick" had never sought From "The Leisure Hour."

be induced to sell it. He was always welcome at the farm-bouse; for, besides being quiet and civil, but the barber's machine had been a standing jet that evening in the best kitch the farm-bouse; for, besides being quiet and civil, but the barber's machine had been a standing jet that evening in the best kitch the farm-bouse; for, besides being quiet and civil, but the barber's machine had been a standing jet that evening in the best kitch the farm-bouse; for, besides being quiet and civil, but the barber's machine had been a standing jet that evening in the best kitch the farm-bouse; for, besides being quiet and civil, but the barber's machine had been a standing jet that evening in the best kitch the farm-bouse; for, besides being quiet and civil, but the barber's machine had been a standing jet that evening in the best kitch the farm-bouse; for, besides being quiet and civil, but the barber's machine had been a standing jet that evening in the best kitch the farm-bouse; for, besides being quiet and civil, but the barber's machine had been a standing jet that evening in the best kitch the farm-bouse; for, besides being quiet and civil, but the barber's machine had been a standing jet that evening in the best kitch the farm-bouse in the farm-b farmer, and lived in an old-fashioned farm-house to Master Thomas, like the rest, and none of them bakers, butchers, and doctors had to be paid, a mas. Besides his good father and mother, there the name of "Travelling Dick," said in a hesitat- people called Sir Richard Arkwright. Thou is not a master weaver in Manchester, who does hands, except to supply the raw cotton or to pie He had been named after an uncle who lived in hot lose hundreds every year for want of yarn. a broken thread.

Manchester, owned what were then called muslin- That's what keeps cotton goods dear; yet I would looms, and had no children. Thomas was generementally considered a clever boy; and this well-to-do ally considered a clever boy; and this well-to-do ally considered a clever boy; and this well-to-do by the same factor of the same of the same losing his senses to talk in that fashion; but he man sat, with every requisite for business rou Travelling was a tedious and expensive business was too deep in the business to notice the general at the time of our story. Goods were carried on surprise. Thomas was the travelled man, and the assisted by two clerks. He received him coupack-horses, country people rode in wagons, the master weaver's probable her; so he moved to bis cousty, but as a stranger; yet Thomas had a roads were bad and frequented by highwaymen; side, took out of his pocket a few small sticks and of Dick; and he pretended to listen attentively ! Thomas could tell them how the cotton grew; some time, till the barber began to speak of drivi

He thrust his sticks and bobbins back into He was discoursing on those subjects one even-pocket, would not be persuaded to stay for supptrim for sailing, her bowsprit being sprung, and the ing when work was done, and the family sat round and went away so much out of spirits, that Pe had heard of the wonders it could do; he had so which he did not understand twenty years a pinning-frame, was none other than Travelling And can we, who are yet conflicting with the cares through and over all froward and unsanctified of time and many close probations, but feebly spirits. wiser man than he left it, and with his organ of hope, our latter end may be like to that of the elf-estcem considerably subdued.

For "The Friend." Extracts from the Letters and Memorandums of our Late Friend, H. Williams.

"17th .- I feel solicitous that not only a literary, ut the religious guarded education of the children our religious and social duties; within the latter I hould be promoted by such means as may be in include the care of providing things honest in the ur power; that where schools cannot be obtained, nuch may be done at home; a mother or a sister, ninds of the children to receive the precious seed, acts consistently." nd to the opening of their understanding in best lessing, a generation may be raised up, prepared had a communication from eeply mourn on our own account.

"Eighth mo. 29th.— * ly impressed that that testimony and scruple ostile about."

aged to minister faithfully to us, encouraging 'to "28th.—I crave that thy hands may be strong ring our deeds to the light.' The subject was in every good word and work; and if we expect b, but hiding them in the dark and covering them apart from those who lightly look on these things buch we owe every way to that Power that has so 'broad way,' which leads, &c. : a great mercy inme."

e could do but little more one for another: 'If "29th—My visit in retrospect seems easy to my or ourselves great need.

righteous."

"The longest journey through life is very short, when compared with a never-ending eternity; and in these days. on this short period, our claim to a happy eternity depends, if faithfully filled up, yea or nay: so that it seems as if we had no time to spare between sight of men.

Now, for a week past, we have had our friends, nder a due sense of the importance of the sub- M. Morton and her niece, with us very pleasantly et, if concerned to devote a portion of their time and profitably, I hope, in the best sense. Margathe careful instruction of the junior members of ret is an elder (of Wilmington Monthly Meeting,) family, may greatly aid in preparing the tender very firm to ancient Friends' ways and views; and

"22nd.—Attended Arch-street Meeting (being hings: early impressions are very lasting; thus in the city) morning and afternoon; the last a e may be encouraged to hope that with the Divine silent and very still meeting; in the morning we and none else.' And Robert Peel did wait. As support in their day, the doctrines of the So-lety and also its peculiar testimonies; the tread-for that which we need, many of us; that we may ng down and overlooking many of which we be drawn away from dependence on man and looking one on another; but confidently trust in I was forci- the great Helper who will do all things well."

"26th.-Whilst in the city, I attended three against war ought to be faithfully maintained. Monthly Meetings. I did not do this without long that the disposition to encourage war or thinking a good deal about it, and had reasonings reparation therefor might be brought out before a and fears, lest it was out of place in me; but I is a great evil; and should we ever be brought I hoped I might gain a little good. I believe it is to a war, we as a society, will have much to suf- a low time among Friends, yet a little life is left, r from some whom now in peace, we see nothing and some truly and honestly endeavour to transact the business rightly; and the ministry of our dear "At our Monthly Meeting, R. Scotton was en- Friends who appeared in that line, seemed good."

osely followed, and the consequence of not doing to succeed, our exercises must be to ourselves; earer than we are aware to some of us-when all the objects of our care; then out of weakness we or us hereaway; there seems something like a the parents and care-takers of youth, good fruits oking up to the creature, and a forgetting how would appear, and multitudes saved from the sercifully preserved and kept us to the present deed, when any escape and sore conflict first, is me." theirs. Oh! I often think great accountability "I fear the Babylonish garment and golden lays at the door of parents. This is a day of peedge are not only coveted, but hid in some of our culiar desire to run into fashions and customs; but he Lord does not help us, vain is the help of man.' feelings, hoping no harm was done to the good hough often greatly discouraged, I do yet hope, cause, which I felt very fearful about, and hardly uirty-one years since my dear husband died testimonies rest, will have to be humble and watchncountered: have had much to feel, -in that af time and their fidelity and faithfulness proved, iction, the sympathy of many, and the good hand strength will be furnished to lend a helping hand ore me up, surprisingly to myself. We had so to others, in the way that best wisdom sees best. est, that to mourn for him would have been folly; to do like, 'building over against our own houses,' as I sat in the last meeting: nevertheless discour-, I learn that dear L. N. has come to aging things exist more or less everywhere, yet I

I was glad of thy account of your meeting and of dear E.'s advice and care; also of S. H.'s living ministry, which is a favour of great account

Sir Robert Peel.-When Robert Peel, then a youth, began business as a cotton-printer, near Bury, he lodged with his partner, William Yates, paying eight shillings and sixpence per week for board and lodging. "William Yates' eldest child," says our author, "was a girl named Ellen, and she very soon became an especial favourite with the young lodger. On returning from his hard day's work at 'The Ground,' he would take the little girl upon his knee, and say to her, 'Nelly, thou bonny little dear, wilt be my wife? to which the child would readily answer, 'Yes,' as any child would 'Then I'll wait for thee, Nelly; I'll wed thee, , which, to me, the girl grew in beauty toward womanhood, his determination to wait for her was strengthened, and after the lapse of ten years-years of close application to business and rapidly increasing prosperity-Robert Peel married Ellen Yates when she had completed her seventeenth year; and the pretty child, whom her mother's lodger and father's partner had nursed upon his knee, became Mrs. Peel, and eventually Lady Peel, the mother of the future Prime Minister of England. Lady iscerning public, or that part who can discern; tried not to make myself conspicuous any way, and Peel was a noble and beautiful woman, fitted to grace any station in life. She possessed rare powers of mind, and was, on every emergency, the hightoned and faithful counsellor of her husband. For many years after their marriage, she acted as his amanuensis, conducting the principal part of his business correspondence, for R. Peel himself was an indifferent and almost unintelligible writer. She died in 1803, only three years after the baronetcy had been conferred upon her husband. It p until that day comes, and it hastens and is seeking and improving suitable opportunities with is said, that London fashionable life—so unlike what she had been accustomed to at home-proved e have said and done, will appear in the light, shall be made strong, and He who careth for His injurious to her health; and old Wm. Yates was nd we be judged accordingly; it felt to me a own will help, and we shall 'see the desire of our afterwards accustomed to say, "If Robert hadn't blemn call and warning. I am often under fears hearts." Were this the travail and earnest care of made our Nelly a 'Lady, she might ha' been living. made our Nelly a 'Lady,' she might ha' been living yet.' "- Self-help.

Volcanic Eruption in Iceland.—Accounts from Iceland give an account of an eruption-after thirty nine years' repose-of the volcano called the Rotlugia of the Myrdalsjokel mountains. On the 7th May, several shocks of earthquake were experienced in the parish of Myrdal, in which the volcano is situated, and the day after, an enormous volume of water was cast up from the crater. Mixed with be Great Preserver of men will spare his heritage, had confidence to go around. I feel particularly the water were large quantities of cinders, and the nd not give it to reproach and let the heathen rule satisfied that I was at your Monthly Meeting [Arch eruption was accompanied by a subterranean noise, wer us, saying exultingly, where is their God?' street.] I have had a fresh sense if ever our Zion On the 11th and 12th, smoke, cinders, and balls "Ninth mo. 4th.—Oue day more, and it will be arises and shines, those on whose shoulders the of fire were thrown up. The smoke rose to such unity-one years since my dear husband died, testimonies rest, will have to be humble and watchhou remembers that evening; to me it seems ful to keep themselves and families, and to be good though at a distance of more than 22 miles, and ery fresh in memory: many trials since have I examples to the flock. After abiding here a sufficient though mountains 5000 feet high rise between the two places. The eruption continued with intervals more or less long, to the 26th, but fortunately it did no harm to places in the vicinity, the cinders all and perfect assurance of his safe entrance into I do not know much, but I thought I saw a work and others things it threw up being carried by the wind partly to the sea, and partly on to some glaoiers. It presented a very imposing spectacle. Previous cruptions of the same volcano did great be city very poorly. I felt sad at hearing it, for felt some encouragement, more than I often do." injury; one in 1025 in particular, was terrible, and be account before had been encouraging; was it "I was sorry to hear of the company at Ohio it is recorded that some of the cinders thrown up ot for the suffering the poor tabernacle has to Yearly Meeting. Friends must draw near in feel- were actually carried as far as Bergen, in Norway ndergo, for her too, as for the one just mentioned, ing, keep firm, and not give away their strength in Another on the 17th October, 1775, caused devaswe need not mourn; I seem to have a sense that needless words and uncalled for actions or move-tations in five parishes; it preceded by a fortnight when the period arrives to her, all will be well. ments, and it seems to me they will be helped the earthquake at Lisbon. Injustice and Unlawfulness of Oppression.

The following remarks of one of the most prominent instruments in the work of reformation, by which the Society of Friends was brought to see and abandon the evil of holding their fellow men in bondage, may not be out of place, or without New Testament: "The labourer is worthy of his in the following glowing terms:
interest, at the present juncture, wherein the sanction of justice and mercy is claimed for the iniquidation of justice and mercy is claimed for the iniquidation of you, do ye even so to them." "Thou shalt cissitudes of our climate, which are too often made the following glowing terms:

"Here let us say a word in favour of those very growing terms:

"Here let us say a word in favour of those very growing terms." "Here let us say a word in favour of those very growing terms." tous and eruel practice.

In reference to this subject, John Woolman says, "The general disadvantage which the poor Afrieans lie under in an enlightened and christian country, having often filled me with real sadness, and the Scriptures stand opposed to human slavery, as the north. They float our summer sky with go been like undigested matter on my mind, I now it now exists in our professedly christian land. "Wo geous tints of fleecy whiteness, and send dow think it my duty, through Divine aid, to offer some unto him that useth his neighbour's service with cooling showers to refresh the panting earth, ar understanding; for as God's love is universal, so against those that oppress the hireling in his wages, bas also its long intervals of cloudless sunshine, when where the mind is sufficiently influenced by it, it and that turn aside the stranger from his right." the snow-clad earth gives redoubled brightness begets a likeness of itself, and the heart is enlarged towards all men.

with whom the Jewish christians would not so should presume to advocate the lawfulness and break of our spring, bursting at once into leaf as much as eat, was strange to them. All they of the justice of a system so opposed to the precepts of blossom, redundant with vegetation, and vocifiero circumcision were astonished to see it. The opi- the Bible, to the feeling of humanity, and a sense with life; and the splendor of summer; its mor nion of peculiar favours being confined to them, was of true justice? But so it is; and this affords reling voluptuousness and evening glory, its airy p deeply rooted. Thus Israel, when deeply corrupted newed evidence of the willingness to sacrifice ho- laces of sun-lit clouds piled up in a deep azuresky and degenerated, yet remembered they were the nour and truth itself, for the sake of personal and and its gusts of tempest of almost tropical grandeu chosen people of God; and could say, 'Stand by party ends. Are not those in high standing, and when the forked lightning and bellowing thunder ve thyself, come not near to me, for I am holier than high stations, who, from policy or fear, are thus ley from the battlements of heaven, shake the suth thou.'

nions are biassed in our own favour, and in this Alas, for these! when the day of righteous reckoncondition, being concerned with a people, so situ- ing shall have arrived, how will they have to beated, that they have no voice to plead their own moan their dishonesty! when they shall be called Truly we may well say that in our climate, 'The cause, there is danger of using ourselves to an un- to render an account of their stewardship, what heavens declare the glory of God, and the firm at this day be excluded from the common rules of was small and number few, compared with the darin entertained me at dinner. When the prov justice; be deprived of that liherty, which is the native inhabitants. He that sleeps not by day nor sions had been placed on the table, every or natural right of human creatures, and be a slave to night, hath watched over us, and kept us as the sat down. My neighbour on the left offered me others during life on account of a sin committed by apple of his eye. His almighty arm bath been portion of a kitten, the one on the right the wil his immediate parents, or a sin committed by Ham, round about us, and saved us from dangers. the son of Noah; is a supposition too gross to be the wicked for reward. Zephaniah, contemporary land fruitful. with Jeremiah, on account of the injustice of the civil magistrates, declared that those judges were den, and see how the Lord hath opened a way in the law.

lawgiver esteemed precious, appears in this; that returns, and the remembrance thereof ought to lasted three hours, and when it was over, a litt such who unjustly deprive men of it, were to be humble us in prosperity, and excite in us a chrispunished in like manner as if they had murdered tian benevolence towards our inferiors. them. 'He that stealeth a man, and selleth him, or if he be found in his hand, shall surely be put through a stupid indolence, conceive views of into death.' This part of the law was so consider- terest separate from the general good of the great and her hair raised to a prodigious height. S able, that Paul, the learned Jew, giving a brief brotherhood, and in pursuance thereof treat our poured out to each guest a glass of fermente account of the uses of the law, adds this, 'It was inferiors with rigour to increase our wealth, and liquor, which to me was detestable; received grave made for men-stealers."

sages from it may also be cited. "If any man be what shall we answer him? did not He that made only wooden legs; her feet, in truth, were so smu found stealing any of his brethren, and maketh us, make them? and did not one fashion us?"" merchandise of him, or selleth him; then that thief shall die." "Remove violence and spoil, and execute judgment and justice, take away your exact forgives first, wins the laurel.

tions from my people." "Deliver him that is spoiled out of the hand of the oppressor, lest my fury go of our uncertain climate, give rise to many form out like fire, and burn that none can quench it." "Thou shalt not deliver unto his master the servant which is escaped from his master unto thee.'

These, together with the general precepts of the love thy neighbour as thyself." "Where the Spi- the subject of exclusive repining. If they anno rit of the Lord is there is liberty;" and some us, they give us one of the most beautiful climat others, in the Old Testament, we might suppose, in the world. They give us the brilliant sunshin "To consider mankind otherwise than brethren, to third favours are peculiar to one state of the consideration of others.

"To consider mankind otherwise than brethren, to third favours are peculiar to one nation, and to exclude others, plainly supposes a darkness in the shall not be heard." "I will be a swift witness and chilling frosts, and whirling snow storms, but

"The effusion of the Holy Chost upon a people and professedly humane feelings, and liberty loving, her most limpid radiance. And the joyous ou doing, in danger of incurring the wo pronounced atmosphere; and the sublime melancholy of o "When seif-love presides in our minds, our opi- upon those "who call evil good, and good evil?"

"To suppose it right that an innocent man shall remarks, "the time is short since our beginning admitted into the mind of any person, who sin- our fathers passed the days of their pilgrimage, are his plate with what they consider the most delica cerely desires to be governed by just and solid now turned into pleasant fields; the natives are morsels, so that he runs the risk of having a viole principles.

"Making construction of the law contrary to in the possession of the land, onjoying our civil the highest beauty in man. The Chinese with the true meaning of it, was common among the and religious liberties; and while many parts of whom I was at table had good appetites; they at Jews. Samuel's sons took bribes, and perverted the world have groaned under the heavy calamiates. judgment. Isaiah complained that they justified ties of war, our habitation remains quiet, and our nails, which are as hard as iron, to separate the

"When we trace back the steps we have trodevening wolves, and that the priests did violence to the wilderness for us, to the wise it will easily ap table. I confined myself to taking a few glass pear, that all this was not done to be buried in of the latter, but it would be difficult for me "That the liberty of man was by the inspired oblivion; but to prepare a people for more fruitful ade for men-stealers.'"

In confirmation of this view, the following pass do when God riseth up? and when he visiteth, addressed to her, and then trotted off as if she he

Force may subdue, but love gains; and he that

Our Changing Climate. - The frequent change of disease, and we often murmur and repine at the suddenness. But there is a bright as well as a dan side in all the ordinances of nature, and Washingto Irving has painted the bright side of the fickle sease

Does it not appear strange, that, at this day of the day, when at night the stars beam with intense enlightenment, any person of common intelligence, lustre, or the moon floods the whole landscape wi autumn, magnificent in its decay, withering down th pomp of a woodland country, yet reflecting bac from its yellow forests the golden serenity of the sk disturbed partiality, until, by long custom, the mind becomes reconciled with it, and the judgment itself judgeth righbously! ment showeth his handlwork. Dayunto day utters speech, and night unto night showeth knowledge. The concept of the property of th

A Chinese Dinner .- In the evening, the ma of an owl, and the third pressed on me the leg "The wilderness and solitary deserts in which a dog. The Chinese, to do honour to a guest, era food into small portions. That was to me a new er ployment for human nails. Wine made from ric tea, and different sorts of syrup were sent round tl give the names or describe the taste. This repa girl ten years of age came in and offered us liquor She was not ugly in European eyes, and in tho "If we do not consider these things aright, but of the Chinese, was a perfect beauty. Her ey hrough a stupid indolence, conceive views of inthat they could scarcely be distinguished. After wards pipes were brought, and every one begg smoking with great gravity and in silence.—Lett in Moniteur de l' Armee.

Prospects.

is uncertain and transient abode. Should our formerly, "It is I, be not afraid." itward substance so much increase as to enable on, thus bringing us into a state of His holy ac- ment. eptance, our prospects in the future remain still comy and dismal in the extreme.

If we come rightly to consider the verity of this nchangeable declaration, we must acknowledge to keep all these things and other worldly influences hogs should have sun is more important than for from rising into dominion and fettering us to the any other animal; their habits are filthy, but Persons in early life are apt to suffer their minds earth, striving to hold fast to that precious grain the rays of the sun, to a certain extent, will correct be much elated by flattering pecuniary prospects; of living faith which works by love to the purify-their bad habits. We have little doubt but that that the abundant means of procuring temporal ing of the heart; so that in times of affliction and much of the hog cholera is due to want of sunratification appears to be the highest aim and de-trouble, this cheering language may salute our de-light and to damp situations. With those facts re, of too many who do not look seriously beyond sponding spirits, as it did the ear of the disciples before us, who can fail to see the necessity of sun-

If we do not partake of an earnest of the life to health .- Ohio Farmer. s to gratify every desire that wealth could pro- come, which is in reserve for the righteous, to ote, and there is no prospect brightening be- sweeten our enjoyments, and to animate and enand this scene of probation, through a faithful courage us in our labours and daily walk, but p-operation with the strength and love of our content ourselves with the things of time, we feed lessed and merciful Redeemer, to emancipate and only on the husks of this existence, which are osen us from the shackles of sin and transgres- destitute of every true comfort and all real enjoy-

Ledyard, N. Y., First month, 1861.

Light for Animals.

A correspondent of the Homestead, in an article the accuser of the brethren, will not fail, where he e insufficiency of wealth in the abstract, to pro- on fattening hogs, gives the following advice: - can under any disguise gain admittance, exceedto the man shall hardly enter into the kingdom of locate your pen where your hogs can have the lead, by little and little, to despise the Lord's aven. And again I say unto you, it is easier benefit of light. I do not mean merely daylight, anointed, to "speak evil of digotities," and lightly r a camel to go through the eye of a needle, but the full, bright light of the sun; it will add to to esteem the sacrifices which the Lord hath comand for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of their cherful contentment, as it does to the human manded to be offered in the holy place.

od." This warning from the lip of Truth, is species, and physiologists declare that, other things like it is not in my heart to justify, to excuse, or being equal, families who occupy apartments in the extendate, the failings and imperfections of the every thoughtful mind, against reposing confi-sunny side of dwellings are the most healthy and foremost rank in the Lamb's army. I know it ence in uncertain riches, which become both de- happy. Although the comparison may to sensi-deeply hehoves them, above all others, to walk ifful and dangerous, if we set our hearts upon tive nerves appear odious, still it is beyond our circumspeelly, to make straight steps to their feet, teem, and do not act as being responsible or the power or province to change the established laws to be examples to the flock; and I am verily pergit temployment of our abundant means.

In the power or province to change the established laws to be examples to the flock; and I am verily pergit temployment of our abundant means.

In the power or province to change the established laws to be examples to the flock; and I am verily pergit to the power or province to change the established laws to be examples to the flock; and I am verily pergit to the power or province to change the established laws to be examples to the flock; and I am verily pergit to the power or province to change the established laws to be examples to the flock; and I am verily pergit to the power or province to change the established laws to be examples to the flock; and I am verily pergit to the power or province to change the established laws to be examples to the flock; and I am verily pergit to the power or province to change the established laws to be examples to the flock; and I am verily pergit to the power or province to change the established laws to be examples to the flock; and I am verily pergit to the flock in the power or province to change the established laws to be examples to the flock to the flock in the power or province to change the established laws to be examples to the flock to the flock in the power or province to change the established laws to be examples to the flock to the flock in the power or province to the flock to the fl Obedience to Divine injunctions, is no less im- other animal, kept under the north side of a barn their offences, none more deeply bowed under the ortant for us to heed under the present dispensa- or other building, where the dampness and dark- humilitating sensibility of their own unworthiness, on, than it was when the command, "put thy ness is never penetrated by the sun's rays, and none more frequently covered with blushing and otes from off thy feet," was delivered to Moses by where the animal was employed as the scavenger confusion of face, than these. I do not want to be Divine presence, at Mount Horeb. "The place for other animals, to be sleek looking, fat, clean, excuse or explain away their failings; but I want the place for other animals, to be sleek looking, fat, clean, lecause or explain away their failings; but I want here thou standest, is holy ground," is truly signi- or quiet. I have seen many a pen where the mud to impress a proper regard to the dignity of the part of the position of all true christians, and the and offal was two or three feet deep, and no place heads there is, particularly for those who have of retreat left for the poor occupants upon a higher "Thou shalt not speak evil of the ruler of thy alized the fulness of the truths of the gospel, as spot, excepting the bed floor, and that unfirmished people." God forbid, said David, that I should processed by Friends, to take diligent heed that at level to be straw. The rays of the sun have a very pow-put forth my hand against the Lord's anoisted, the population of the processions promal and vegetable life. Many plants require a little matter, oil "tell it is not in Gath, publish it use in the view of the worldly-minded. Their strong light, that they may perfect their organiza- not in the streets of Askelon, lest the daughters of bridgers miles samptified in our possession, is to litonic others less; but few plants ever come to let be "lititismes rejoice, lest the daughters of the part of the procession and the contraction of the procession of the procession is to litonic others less; but few plants ever come to let be "lititismes rejoice, lest the daughters of the procession of the procession is to litonic others less; but few plants ever come to let be "lititismes rejoice, lest the daughters of the procession endency, unless sanctified in our possession, is to tions; others less; but few plants ever come to the Philistines rejoice, lest the daughters of the aff up the mind, and induce a desire to exert an perfection without a full supply of light; common uncircumcised triumph." Oh! did but the people adde influence even in our religious Society, observation proves this. The potato growing in a know, were it but possible for the uncircumcised to eause of pre-eminence, from the unrighteous cellar is colourless, fragile, and worthless. The consider, the secret travail of their spirits; the sammon; rather than to promote that nothing apple growing on the inside of the tree is often painfully distressing conflicts which these have ess and simplicity of the Truth, which should be green, tasteless, and imperfect; and the peach that passed through, and which yet await them; how ar covering, and make way for the authority of has not been kissed by the rays of the sun has not often they have wandered in the wilderness, "with viritual gifts exercised under the covering of Gos-that high flavour requisite to its perfection. With their hands upon their loins;" what they have to al love; in which condition only can we learn out the sun, the leaves could never decompose car- pass through in the weeks of preparation, while e important lesson "of preferring others to our bonic acid from the air, and assimilate its oxygen." cating the roll of prophecy, and lying on their

st doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break of light that he says he would always, if possible, the Lord Jesus."

rough nor steal," an awfully irreparable loss must select for his sleeping room, an apartment on the Permit me to express some degree of jealousy, e sustained.

Rather than to move in circles of vanity and is sinces, six hours of the day. Animals like the honour, there is a murmuring, unthankful, gainlow, and to indulge in all the gratifications that surface, says expert in the hottest of weather. Irre, lasting spirit, which is for condemnation; for, whilst ealth can furnish, how much more desirable it is they should have shade, if they desire it. That I was musing on these things, the exceedingly un-light for all animals, if we would retain them in Selected for "The Friend," " Esteem them very highly which labour among you, and are over you in the Lord, and admonish you. They who are dedicated to the service of the ministry, and bear as in their foreheads the inscription of holiness, having to conflict with all the struggles of the private soldier, may sometimes manifest weaknesses inconsistent with the dignity of the holy office; and he who yet remains to be

With animals, the same is true. The sun does sides; how often such now are covered with sack-If we become satisfied to live at ease, and to sit as much towards painting roses on the cheek as cloth, and have secretly to muse on the contents of own contentedly in the enjoyment of our heart's does a bracing air. The skin of those persons the roll, wherein is written "lamentations, and esire in the acquisition of flattering earthly pros- exposed freely to the light, performs its functions mourning, and wo;" were it possible, I say, for cets, regardless of the maintenance of a living vigorously, while that of those too much shaded is such who are yet whole, not having yet fallen upon pagement of mind to acquit ourselves acceptably feeble, and easily disturbed. Physicians assert that that stone which the Lord hath laid in Zion for a Him who has kindly bestowed each and every people living on the shaded sides of streets, in foundation, and been thereby broken, and enabled essing upon us, as responsible stewards for their towns are more liable to sickness and less vigorous to offer the sacrifices of a broken heart; were it ght employment, our prospects still remain un than those living on the side influenced by the possible for those who have not trodden the arduration and gloomy indeed. For if the mind is sun. We have often noticed that children reared one path of regeneration, to consider these things, ken up with the riches of this world, which conne but for a short season, and then vanish away, in the content of th ressions of heavenly good, and there is a neglect and unpleasant. Dr. Winship, in his lecture on for the work's sake, because "they watch for your lay up durable riches, "where neither moth nor physical culture, so fully appreciates the importance souls, as they that must give account in the day of brought into and affected my mind; and the lan- account of our inability to accommodate them. guage of their complaint was brought to my rehe, as an instrument, had wrought for them, in tion to them and to their parents.

bringing them out of Egypt, in bearing them in Much interest is manifested by his bosom, and so frequently and availingly interceding for them with the Almighty. But the Lord pleaded for him against these men, and destroyed them by a remarkable destruction. mention this instance as it simply arose, without any charge or application, leaving that to the Divine Witness in your bosoms, to which I recom-mend every one of you, in order that you may be by these broken hints .- John Thorp.

For "The Friend." Report of the Philadelphia Association of Friends for the Instruction of Poor Children, for the Year 1860.

The managers report, that they have given the closed, and it is gratifying to be able to say, that they have not been in a more prosperous condition, since the present members have been in the Board.

138, and the average attendance for the year has been 87; the highest average for any month was 106, and the lowest, 72. There have been 70 death, since last report. new scholars admitted, and 38 re-admissions. When we consider how many of these children have had improper, if any, training at home, and the crowded forms on which the youngest of them 724 were re-admissions. are obliged to remain during school-hours, their behaviour and progress have been very encour- $100, less the collateral inheritance tax, from our

The teacher has adopted the plan of rewarding every scholar who has not misbehaved during the of Managers. day, and not unfrequently a child that has had to be reproved, comes weeping to her at the close of the school, with promises of amendment in future.

It is gratifying to see so much interest manifested by the parents in their children's education; they appear very anxious that they should improve the of an instance of dissatisfaction on the part of any Joseph W. Stokes, John M. Wetherill. parent. They generally use great exertion to send their children to school neatly clad, though some bear evidence of extreme poverty, and many a shivering little child has been rendered comfortable by garments made up in the girls' school, and by shoes supplied by the managers to the most needy in the winter-season.

the time of roll call, and though it is to be regretted that many of the children are yet remiss in this particular, especially in the short and cold days of winter, yet when we remember from whence many of them come, it is rather remarkable that a large majority are very punctual in assembling. When the schools are small, it has been the practice of the teachers to visit the parents of those of Winchester and its vicinity, their guarded reli- compelled to march, in company with the militi who do not attend regularly, but this has not been gious conduct and conversation, soon made an im- to the camp, during which time several of the done, to much extent, in the infant school during pression upon those who came into contact with had muskets tied to their bodies, and were force happy case of Korah, Dathan, and Abiram, was full, and several have been refused admittance on distrust, into sympathy and confidence. They he him who "blinded their eyes, and hardened their have the scholars attending the girls' school shown days to the house, Lieutenant Smith gave order hearts," they murmured against the meekest of so great evidence of home comforts and parental that they should be allowed to walk out a sho all men, and the friend of God. Ah! poor re- care, the change in this respect is very marked, and distance, attended by a sentinel. On the 11th turn this, for all that good and deliverance which their regular attendance is worthy of commenda. Tenth month, none of the guard made their a returned at the stated times.

it is out of their power to control, and due allowcommittee and teachers.

Four girls have been taken from this school by

The number in attendance has averaged 421.

late friend, Catharine W. Morris.

Signed by direction and on behalf of the Board J. WISTAR EVANS, Clerk. Philadelphia, Twelfth mo. 27th, 1860.

OFFICERS OF THE ASSOCIATION.

Clerk-Edward Richie.

Treasurer-Jabez Jenkins.

Managers-Joel Cadbury, Israel H. Johnson, opportunity thus afforded , and none more so, than Richard Richardson, Mark Balderston, Benjamin those who have themselves received their early in-th. Pitfield, Joseph S. Elkinton, Jabez Jenkins, struction in the same house; and we have not known Caleb Wood, J. Wistar Evans, Ellihu Roberts,

THE FRIEND.

FIRST MONTH 19, 1861.

(Continued from page 152.)

We wish not to weary our readers, by dwelling There has also been an improvement in observing too long upon, or entering too minutely into the and though they bore a steady testimony again particular circumstances attending the exile of those warlike measures, and refused to partake of the worthy Friends, who by their firmness and chris- provisions allotted to themselves and others, and tian faithfulness, maintained the principles they handle any of the muskets, to which they wer professed, and left us an ensample, that we should urged, yet they were forced to move on in militar follow their footsteps.

prisoners in the minds of many of the inhabitants were allowed to return home, though others wer

religious meetings regularly, twice on first day, an Sarah M. Alexander, who had the charge of once in the middle of the week, in which Joh membranee: "Ye take too much upon you, seeing this school for two years, to the satisfaction of the Hunt and John Pemberton-both recommende all the congregation are holy, every one of them, managers, resigned the situation in the Ninth month ministers—were frequently engaged either in min and the Lord is among them; wherefore then last, and Emma Ogborn was appointed to succeed istry or vocal supplication. The guard soon man lift you up yourselves above the congregation of her, and Susan Scattergood engaged as her assistant. fested reluctance to confine them to their narro the Lord?" Thus, through the seduction of It may safely be said, that at no previous time limits, and after being restricted for three or for pearance, and on the 12th, which was first da Much interest is manifested by the pupils in pecight will owere appointed as a new guard, attende rusing the books of the library. Nine hundred and sixty volumes have been loaned during the gers; the new guard, however, soon disappeared year, and with few exceptions, they were punctually and the prisoners were left with none to watch over them. Lieutenant Smith being called to anothe The present class-list enrolls the names of 64 part of the State, they came under the charge girls, 24 of whom are in the first class, 12 are Colonel Kennedy, who was an entire stranger t studying grammar, and 20, mental arithmetic, with them. Upon application being made to him for great interest and credit. The other studies usual liberty to walk or ride within certain prescribe enabled to reap the caution and benefit intended in such schools, including sewing a part of one day limits, he at once granted them permission to g each week, are also taught, in all which the ad- any where within six miles of Winchester; and vancement of the pupils is satisfactory. We here the same time told them that as he understoo meet with the same difficulty as in the other school, Friends were unwilling to enter into obligations with regard to punctual attendance at the hour make promises, under such circumstances, he woul appointed, but we must remember that many of ask none, but rely upon them not to take advar these children are subjected to hindrances, which tage of the freedom he gave them. This was the more extraordinary, as the Friends learned he ha usual attention to the two schools for coloured ance should be made for them on this account, been greatly opposed to them and their principle children under their charge during the year just This school not being full, the teachers have called and they knew of no circumstances likely to have at the homes of those who were delinquent in at- effected a change in his feelings towards then tending, and many pleasant interviews have been Beside the liberty granted them, no difficulty we had with parents, who manifested their interest in thrown in the way of their friends visiting them The class-list in the infant school now numbers the schools, and their sineere thankfulness to the and many came; some from great distance Among others they were visited by J. Augusti Washington, brother to the Commander-in-Chie with whom they had much friendly converse, an he gave them an account of the various success From the register of both schools last month, it of the American army. An order was received by appears there have been 3136 admissions, of which Colonel Kennedy, from the Secretary of War, in forming him that the prisoners were placed unde Our Treasurer reports the receipt of a legacy of the charge of J. Holmes, Commissary General Prisoners, in the Western Division of Virginia, an directing the colonel to dispose of them in a mar ner "suitable to their respective characters an stations, and to suffer them to be supplied wit every necessary they may want, at their own es pense," A communication from the Council an Governor of Virginia was also received, in reply the address to them from the Friends; the tenor which was, that they should be protected from vilence, and allowed to walk about the town. Th colonel at first informed them, that these fresh in structions would make it necessary to restrict the walks and rides within the limits of the town; bu after conferring with them, he took the respons bility of continuing the liberty he had befor granted them. Among those who visited them, was a Frien "who, with thirteen others, members of our religion Society, residing in this county, had been drafte under the militia law of the present governmen and taken forcibly from their friends and families order, from place to place, for some distance, whe Notwithstanding the violent prejudice against the about half their number, from indisposition of bod the past year, as the room has been usually too them, and in many instances converted dislike and to stand at certain places for many hours together camp, they were discharged by General Wash-cil of Pennsylvania, in which the prisoners informed the exiles, but in the afternoon of the same day, gton. Congress and the Executive Council having those bodies that they had written no letters, extlety were called on by Colonel Kennedy, who read y thing tending to the prejudice of the States," ous representations made by some of the inhabiiends, instead of being obliged to live in their to promise they should not do so hereafter. milies, at the extortionate price of board they dety of the town, the inhabitants of that Societyoney."

ne prisoners urged upon the Commissary General month. e injustice and cruelty of the order, and entreated Hictions. A memorial was at once prepared, to to be released." forwarded to Congress, and the Executive Coun- This intelligence cheered the drooping spirits of olved that these Friends, though their prisoners, cept to their families and immediate friends, and to them an order he had just received from the ould pay all their own expenses, they found there these related exclusively to their own private affairs; government of Virginia, directing him to carry into is a disposition with those on whom they were that they had never been informed it was expected execution the order of Congress to have them incartered, to exact an extortionate price for board they would submit their letters to the inspection of mediately removed to Staunton. Though friendly m them, which they required to be paid in any officer; but of their own accord, they had disposed the colonel at first seemed to think they ceie, instead of Continental money. They there officed the first letters they wrote, to the lieu must remove at once. They interceded for delay re applied for and obtained permission to take tenant in command over them, who politely de- until some further information should be received ard in different families, by which means they clined reading them, and said he had confidence from Alexander White; and after placing guards are able to reduce their expenses within reason-they would not communicate anything they ought over them again, and making them close prisoners, le limits. With the seventeen Friends, there not; and they had been careful not to abuse this he said nothing further about their starting at once, ore three other respectable citizens of Philadel confidence. That the currency was greatly depre- On the 15th, Alex. White returned, and informed ia, exiled with them. One of these, who was a citated when they arrived at Winehester, the inthe Friends he had not succeeded in inducing the spician, had been allowed to practise his profeshabitants refusing to part with anything except in members of Congress, with whom he had had rein the neighbourhood, and taking advantage barter or for gold; that those with whom they peated interviews, to come to any decision in relathe privilege, he left Winchester and made his were quartered charged them five times the accustion to them or their memorial. He bowever said, sape towards Philadelphia. On the 12th of the tomed price of board, though they found all the that having obtained an interview with some of the weith month, the Friends were called on by the foreign articles used; that many of them had no members of the Board of War, they assured him it mmissary of Prisoners, who communicated to other money than gold or silver to purchase the was not their wish to have the order for the priey of War. In this it was stated that sundry done, had been with the intent, nor had it, so far at once; and upon hearing this, Colonel Kennedy ters, written by the prisoners, had been inter-as they knew, diminished the confidence of the readily agreed to let them remain where they were, pted, which had not been first shown to the people in the continental money. They represented and once more released them from close confinemmissary General; by which it appeared they that several of them were aged, and many of them ment, dismissing the guard. pt up a correspondence with other members of very infirm, and to remove them and imprison them Two other persons, not members of the Society er Society; and that one of them had carried on as ordered, at that inclement scason of the year, of Friends, now offered their services on behalf of raffic highly injurious to the credit of Continental and over such roads, and through such a country, the exiles, and both journeyed to Yorktown, for oney, by exchanging gold for it at an extraval where they could obtain none of the comforts of the purpose of pleading their cause with the memnt premium, by which the confidence of the peo-life, and so much further from their distressed bers of Congress. Yet there were many constantly in the neighbourhood of Winchester, in the families, was imposing upon them a punishment on the watch for an opportunity to stir up the com-rrency of the States, was greatly diminished; the which should be inflicted only for crimes of the mon people against them, and, if possible, to de-ard therefore ordered that this Friend be forth-deepest dye. They again protested their innocence prive them of the little liberty they enjoyed, and th removed to Staunton, and there closely con- of any charge brought against them, and entreated increase their sufferings. Thus, some millers haved in jail, deprived of pen, ink and paper; that Congress to take their suffering case into consideraling refused to grind rye and other grain for some other prisoners be also forthwith removed to tion; to recollect they had never been heard in distillers, it was at once charged to the influence s same place, and unless they affirm, in the their own defence; that they had to bear all the and advice of the Friends, and, in consequence of anner and form prescribed, "not to do or say expense of their exile and imprisonment; that the excitement produced, Colonel Kennedy again several of them who had families to support, had began preparations to remove them to Staunton; ey be confined and restricted in the same manuer. uo other means of doing it but that derived from but on the 26th, an order came from the War office. This sudden change arose from false and mali-their respective occupations, and these means were to keep them where they then were, until further now nearly exhausted; and that as they never had directions. nts, in and near Winchester, who were incensed had any correspondence with, or given any infor-

On the 8th of the First month, the prisoners ally consented to await further directions from terview he had with the Secretary of the Council, fal, and his loss greatly felt by his fellow sufferers.

ose in power. It may be remembered, that Con the latter informed him, he had written to the On the 31st of the Third mouth, the exiles reess, on a former occasion, had declined interfer- delegates from Pennsylvania in Congress, stating ecived information that Congress had ordered "the g on behalf of these Friends, because it decided "that as the original arrest was thought by many Board of War to deliver the gentlemen of Phila-ey were prisoners of the Executive Council of not to have answered any good purpose, as things delphia, now prisoners at Winchester, to the order ennsylvania, but inconsistency did not withhold had turned out, and the detainment in confinement of the State of Pennsylvania, which means shortly em from interfering to add to their bonds and not serviceable to the public cause, they wished us to send for them, and bring them to trial on the

On the 2d of the First month, 1778, the Friends cause the prisoners were allowed to board among mation to the British, so they were entirely willing were allowed to attend Hopewell Mouthly Meeting-distant about six miles-where John Hunt Among those who resided near Winchester, and was largely engaged in the ministry, in which he anded; and the cruel order was based upon a had become deeply interested in the exiles, was a spoke very encouragingly to his fellow exiles, tell-position made by some person whose name was gentleman named Alexander White, a man of high ing them "the night was far spent, and the day of pt from the Friends, who, on his oath declared standing and much influence in that section of the their deliverance at hand, but that he should neat being at Winchester, "he heard several of the country. He had interceded for their remaining ver have another public opportunity with Frie ds habitants complain heavily, that since the Tories in their present quarters until they had had an opthere;" which was fulfilled by his being taken ill the Quaker Society had been cularged and per- portunity to appeal to Congress; and upon the not long after, and after a suffering illness, laying itted to reside at the Quaker houses in the vici- Friends requesting him to undertake the bearing down his life on the 31st of the Third mouth, as of their memorial to Yorktown, and presenting it we have before stated. During his sickness, the of are numerous in that part of the country—to Congress, and to Lancaster, where the Executer physicians deemed it necessary to amputate one of the country generally refused to take Coutinental tive Council then sat, he consented to do so. They his legs, in which mortification had taken place. accordingly furnished him with written instructions The memorandæ states, "he was enabled to en-Guards were now placed at the doors of the relative to the points upon which they felt free to dure the operation with fortitude and composure, uses where the Friends were assembled, and they allow him to plead their cause, and with copies of so that the surgeon observed to him, when he had ain made close prisoners; preparations were also the various papers connected with their case. He finished, and dressed the wound, "Sir, you have gun to carry the order into immediate execution, set off on his journey on the 20th of the Twelfth behaved like a hero!" to which he mildly replied, "I have endeavoured to bear it like a christian."

Thomas Gilpin, another of the exiles, died on m to delay proceeding therein until they could received a letter from A. White, dated at York- the 2d of the Third month, having been sick seveand a memorial to Congress, stating the facts of town, informing them he had been at Lancaster, ral weeks with fever, the result of his exposure. cir case, and receive an answer therefrom. This and presented their memorial to the Council, which He bore his sickness "with great patience, as he urse was also strongly advised by some of the body at once referred it to Congress, whose prison-ost respectable persons residing in the place. He ers, they said, the Friends were. That in an in-tion from his wife and family." His end was peace-charge formerly established."

(To be continued.)

SUMMARY OF EVENTS

EUROPE .- Liverpool dates to the 30th ult. The weather had been unusually cold throughout England, the thermometer in some localities sinking below zero. The winter in France had set in with considerable severity. There was a report, that France and Great Britain had come to an understanding with regard to Venetia, and that a joint commission would shortly be sent to Vienna, urging the cession of Venetia, without any territorial recompense.

The Ex-king of Naples still held Gaeta. The garri-son had been diminished in number by the dismissal of a portion of the royal guard whose fidelity was doubt-The hombardment was kept up by the Sardinian army

The condition of Hungary was very unsatisfactory

No taxes were being paid.

The particulars of the treaty with China had been received. The gardens, palaces, temples and pagodas destroyed by the allies, occupied a space six or seven miles in extent, and two days were required effectually to set fire to and destroy the buildings. The loss on the property destroyed, exceeded £2,000,000, exclusive indemnity of £3,000,000 was to be paid by the Chinese. The Liverpool cotton market was active at an advance of \(\frac{1}{8} \) a \(\frac{1}{4} \). The breadstuffs market was firm, with united of § 4 4. Consols, 92% a 92½.

United States.—Affairs at Washington.—On the 8th inst., the President sent a special message to Congress, on the alarming condition of the country. He represented the imminent danger of civil war, arising from the secession of several States, and the violent proceedings in others, and urged Congress to devise, if possible, tion, providing that no amendment thereto, interfering some means of peace and reconciliation. "Let us," he says, "pause at this momentons point, and afford the people of both North and South an opportunity for re-flection." He recommends Congress to devote themunattainable. There have been dissensions in the Cabinet greatly embarrassing the executive department of the marshal in the capture or detection of the fugitive, exgovernment. First, Lewis Cass, Secretary of State, cept when force is employed or apprehended for the regreatly emourrassing line executive department of State, copt when force is employed or apprehended for the re-government. First, Lewis Cass, Secretary of State, copt when force is employed or apprehended for the re-withdrew, because more active measures were not taken lease of the figitive. Several resolutions were also against the secessionists, and subsequently, Cobb, Se- lambuitted by them for adoption, intended to allay the against the secessionists, and subsequently, Cobb, Secretary of the Treasury; Floyd, Secretary of War; Thompson, Secretary of the Inferior, and Thompson, Secretary of the Inferior of the In succeeded Cobb, have all resigned, because of their unwillingness to go as far in the way of coercion, as the President believed was required by the Constitution President betteved was required by the State is now filled by Black, of Pennsylvania; Treasury, Dix, of New York; Navy, Toucey, of Connecticut; War, Holt, of Kentucky; Postmaster-General, Holt, of Kentucky; Attorney-General, Stanton; Interior, vacant. The members, now in the Cabinet, are said to be united on political questions, all those claiming the right of secession having retired.

Congress .- In the Senate, Hunter, of Virginia, made an able speech in defence of the seceding States, and in favour of the establishment of a Southern confederacy, which he considered indispensable for the South. At some future time they might possibly be again united with the North, in terms of equality. On the 12th inst., Senator Seward expressed his views in an address of remarkable clearness and power, which commanded being desirous of warding off hostilities, messengers great attention from a crowded house. The blessings of the Union and the probable evil effects of its destruction were set forth in a convincing manner. His speech was calm, philosophical and conciliatory in its tone, expressing a willingness to yield much for the sake of The Secession Movement.—The States of South Caro lina, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi, have already passed ordinances of secession. The conventions, new in session, or to assemble shortly, in Georgia, Louisiana, Texas and two or three other States, are expected to take the same course. The forts, arsenals, &c., in these States, have been generally seized by the revolutionists. A reign of terror and excitement has been inaugurated almost throughout the entire South, under which no expression is allowed to any but the most ultra and intemperate views. The members of Congress drawn thither for that purpose from other quarters, from the Southern States, with a few exceptions, main-tain the right of each State to withdraw from the Union at its pleasure.

Penasylvania, laid a bill before the U. S. Senate, pro-I that is, if the conventions should decide for resistant, such as the property and the property of the was accepted by the majority at a conference of the members of Congress from the border States. Its most under the act of Twelfth month last. important feature is embraced in the first two articles, as follows:—"Article 1st. That the territory now held, or that may hereafter be acquired by the United States, shall be divided by a line from the east to the west, in the parallel of 36 degrees 30 minutes north latitude. Article 2d. That in all territory north of said line of latitude, involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime is prohibited, and in all territory south of said for crime is prohibited, and in all territory south of said line, involuntary servitude as it now exists io States to States to Mason and Dixon's line, is hereby recognized, and shall be sustained and protected by all departments to the sustained and protected by all departments. of the territorial governments, and when any territory north or south of said line within such boundaries as Congress may prescribe shall contain the population requisite for a member of Congress according to the then federal ratio of representation of the people of the United States, it shall then be the duty of Congress to admit such territory into the Union on terms of equality with the original States." The fifth and sixth articles are as follow :-- " Article 5th. Congress should have no power to prohibit or hinder the transportation of slaves the property described, execution, and of the buildings. When the allies further threatened to for the oblidings. When the allies further threatened to face Rekin, the Chinese yielded to their demands. An slaves are by law permitted to be held, whether the indeemity of £3,000,000 was to be paid by the Chinese. Imasportation be by land, the navigable rivers, or by sea, but the African slave trade shall never be revived except by the unanimous consent of both branches of Congress. Article 6th. That hereafter the President of the United States shall hold office during the term of six years, and shall not be eligible to re-election." On the same day, a report was submitted to the House of Representatives, by a majority of the Committee of Thirtythree. "They propose an amendment to the Constitu-with slavery, shall originate in any other State than a slaveholding State, and to be valid, shall be ratified by every State in the Union. They also submit an enabling bill, for the admission of New Mexico as a State, on an selves exclusively to the question of maintaining peace equal footing with the original States, and a figitive Jos. Corron, 0., $ and union. A common ground on which conciliation slave bill which gives the right of trial by jury to the and harmony may be produced, is, be thinks, surely not slave claiming liberty in the State whence he escaped, and releases any citizen from assisting the United States prevailing excitement in the South.

The Stor of the West.—This steamer, which sailed from New York, with reinforcements and supplies for fort Sumpter at Charleston, S. C., was not permitted to en-ter the harbour. On arriving at its entrance, she was fired upon from a masked battery, and found that further attempt to enter would bring the steamer under the guns of fort Moultric, and lead to her certain capture or destruction. The Star of the West returned to New York, and landed the troops there on the 12th inst. A resolution was subsequently passed in the South Carolina Legislature, by an unanimous vote, declaring any attempt made by the federal government to reinforce fort Sumpter an act of open hostility and declaration of war. Also, a resolution approving of the act, and the promptness of the military in firing on the Star of the West, and promising support to the Governor in all measures of defence.

Charleston .- On the evening of the 12th, the U.S. ship of war Brooklyn arrived off the bar. Both parties were despatched to Washington for instructions for Major Anderson, and with proposals on the part of South Carolina. The latter is represented by -- Havne, and the former by Lieut. Hall.

Washington, D. C .- The contagion of the secession movement, rapidly ripening into open rebellion in great part of the slaveholding States, has reached Washington, in which a military organization has been formed, already numbering about five hundred, who call them-selves "National Volunteers," and openly avow that their object is to stand by and defend the South. In view of this state of things, and the threatened forcible opposition to the inauguration of the President elect, the War department has taken measures to guard against possible breaches of the peace, by posting military forces in several parts of the city. The U.S. troops have been some from the distant post of Leavenworth, Kansas.

Tennessee and Virginia.—The movements in these States indicate that they will not rush into secession, without and suffering sickness with patience and resignation Attempts at Compromise .- On the 14th inst., Bigler, of submitting the proposition to a direct vote of the people.

plan which has been urged by Senator Crittenden, and U. S. Treasury, its Secretary has advertised for prope

New York .- Mortality last week, 425 Philadelphia .- Mortality last week, 271.

New Jersey .- The complete census returns of th State show a population of 675,812. In 1850, it wi 489,555. In 1800, the population was 211,949, incluing 12,422 slaves.

Pennsylvania Common Schools.—The whole numb-

The Coal Trade .- The coal trade of Pennsylvania f 1860 amounted to 9,528,024 tons, of which 8,131,27 tons were anthracite, 1,156,093 semi-anthracite at bituminous, and 240,697 imported. The increase anthracite this year is 613,717 tons, and the other kine give an increase of only 24,519 tons, making the increa for the year 638,232 tons, against 1,115,399 tons, th increase in 1859, over the supply of 1858.

The Trade of New York.—The imports at this gre commercial centre, in the year 1860, amounted to $238 260,460, being about seven millions less than in 185 the exports of the same year amounted to $145,683,45 being about eight millions more than in the previo

The Pemberton Mills .- The Pemberton mill at Lav rence, Mass., the scene of a fearful loss of life sor months ago, has been entirely rebuilt on the old site, a cost of nearly $500,000. It will commence running forthwith, and will give employment to about 1000 op ratives. David Nevins & Co., of Boston, Mass., the fo mer proprietors, are still the owners.

RECEIPTS.

Received from Ed. Prichard, Ill., for J. Churchill, $ vol. 33; from Jus. Walker, O., $4, vols. 33 and 34; fro Jos. Conrou, O., $2, vol. 33; from J. Leffingwell, N. Y

SOUP-HOUSE.

The Society for supplying the poor of the city wi soup, has opened its house, No. 16 Griscom street, (le Green's court,) where soup will be delivered to the po every day, except First-days, between the hours eleven and one. Donations in flour, meat, vegetable &c., will be gratefully received at the house, or in m ney, by JEREMIAH HACKER, Treasurer, S. Fourth stree THOMAS EVANS, 817 Arch street.

Philad., First mo. 15th, 1861.

FRIENDS' ASYLUM.

Committee on Admissions .- Samuel Bettle, Jr., No. 1 Committee on Admissions—Sammel Dettle, Jr., No. 1. N. Tenth street; Charles Ellis, No. 124 Market stree William Bettle, No. 426 N. Sixth street, and No. S. Third street; John C. Allen, No. 335 S. Fifth stre and No. 321 N. Front street; Horatio C. Wood, No. 6 Race street, and No. 117 Chestant street; John M. Wh all, No. 1317 Filbert street, and No. 410 Race street Wistar Morris, No. 209 S. Third street; Nathan Hill-Frankford; Elliston P. Morris, Germantown, and N 805 Market street.

Visiting Managers for the month .- Benjamin J. Cre No. 417 Marshall street; James Thorp, Frankford; Elli ton P. Morris, Germantowa.

Physician and Superintendent .- Joshaa H. Worthio ton, M. D.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend and his wife are wanted to fill the statio of Superintendent and Matron at West-town Boardin

School Application to be made to either of the following Friends: NATHAN SHARPLESS, Concord; JAMES EMLE West Chester; SAMUEL HILLES, Wilmington; HEN

Twelfth mo. 10th, 1860.

COPE OF WILLIAM EVANS, Philadelphia.

DIED, in Greenwich, N. J., on First-day, the 25th Eleventh mouth, 1869, Resecca, daughter of Francand Hannah Bacon, in the fifteenth year of her as This beloved child was enabled to pass through a lo expressing that she loved her heavenly Father, and for

THE PRIEND.

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, FIRST MONTH 26, 1861.

NO. 21.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

rice Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by JOHN RICHARDSON.

AT NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

Postage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three mths, if paid in advance, three and a-quarter cents: any part of the United States, for three months, if id in advance, six and a-half cents.

> For "The Friend." Henry Hull.

(Continued from page 154.)

After his return from his Southern journey, he is not called into any very extensive service gs, in his own neighbourhood and parts adjacent, thankful to be made sensible thereof. gs, in its own neighbourhood and parts adjacent, thankful to be made sensitile thereof.

It is a great work, and we had need to die us off the light house, wind moderate and a heavy tervent in spirit, serving the Lord." For any years, he had believed that it would be refast, nor yet too slow; and the fervent desire of soon sea-sick."

It is a great work, and we had need to die us off the light-house, wind moderate and a heavy daily, if favoured to keep even pace, neither too swell running, occasioned by the late storm. I was in and Ireland, and as the period for entering continue to be resigned to Divine disposal, and if cold and suffering time for the poor sailors, and uch as it was in the cross to his feelings as a th of obedience was the only way to peace, and the year 1810, he submitted his prospect to the dgment of his Friends, and obtained the requisite rtificates for the performance of the visit. He thus notices this weighty subject, viz:

d under a solemn impression of mind, I am led view the prospect I have submitted to my friends, friends, who, I believe, will do what is best. nich looks awful from its greatness, and my littless, with the sacrifices to be made, if way should en for me to go, having a dear wife and child-n, for whose comfort in life I am so desirous, me is comfortable, and having lately commenced

"2d day of Second month, 1810. In retirement are inseparable from trade and commerce! Had balm of thy love, and thereby cheer and support others in this respect.

"Through adorable merey, I have experienced the condescension of Israel's Shepherd to be great ed by unfavourable weather, he attended several towards me; and he hath at times been pleased to inpress my mind with gospel love, under the influence whereof, I have endeavoured to labour in "My mind was opened in the line or the minisork and Canada. His time, however, was indus- part of my life to which I can recur with so much nued.' ously occupied in making provision for the wants satisfaction, as the time I have spent in the service this family; and, as his divine Master was of the gospel. I am sensible that I have sometimes the ship Russell, Joseph Allen, master, and weighted and qualify him, attending meet- include misses in my services, and was I trust, ed another between seven and eight o'clock, A. M., tion to the first. 'By one spirit are ye haptized into God." one body, and also drink together in the spirit,' said the apostle; that with sincere desires to do south, with which we ran rapidly up George's right, I have again thrown myself as amongst my Channel, and hy four o'clock, P. M., the wind had wife, after a solemn and haptizing season, at the by any observation of the land. Happily, we met house of my cousin, Wager Hull, in New York; a vessel just as we got up to Holyhead, by which wherein we commended each other to the protect- we learned that we must steer east to make it, at I am willing to exert my strength in labouring ing care of Israel's Shepherd. She was to return which we accordingly did, and in a few minutes their subsistence, both day and night, if neess home with our children, and immediately set out lsaw the point, and keeping close in shore, we came ry. To leave these, and a circle of near friends to attend Rhode Island Yearly Meeting. I relabreast of the Skerries light-house about seven dennexions, seems nothing short of forsaking mained in New York, with a prospect of soon o'clock. It is searcely possible for a person who , I trust, for the gospel's sake. I think no pros- crossing the seas to visit the churches in Great Bri- has not been confined to the sight of water only to of accumulating worldly treasure, would be tain and Ireland. The season of parting was truly during a sea voyage, to conceive how pleasing the inducement for me to leave them, and encounsolems, when we remembered our dear children, the perils of a voyage across the ocean. My and that our motives in the separation were purely that objects on shore were seareely discernible, religious, without any view to earthly advantages. and the wind blowing tremendously, our situation e interesting employment of farming, I have the Thou, O Lord, knowest that it is in obedience to awakened some serious reflections. How changesmooth proposed of soon being clear of the eumshould prospect of soon being clear of the eumshould prospect of soon being clear of the eumthe bessed will, manifested by the precious effuslow endanger of a multiplicity of business, in which I have sions of thy holy Spirit in our hearts. My trust is ther was remarkably pleasant; now how altered!

retofore been too much engaged; the profits of in thee—I pray thee to keep my dear wife and We have, however, no alternative, but to await the slight, however great, would never induce me to gage therein again. Oh! that the ministers of pendence upon thee, that their minds may be sweetgespel in our society may keep clear of the end by resignation to thy blessed will. Do not lot be will of Israel's Shepherd—believing I cantanglements of the world, especially those that be pleased to soothe their afflicted minds with the not east my care anywhere, but upon him, and

I attended to the clear intimations of Truth in my them during my absence. Thou hast a right to own mind, I never should have engaged in them; do with us as seemeth good unto thee—blessed be but the Searcher of hearts knows, that it was not thy holy name-keep me in thy fear, that I may in rebellion, that I gave up to the judgment of acceptably fulfil the mission, in which I am en gaged, to thy honour and praise."

The vessel in which he was to sail, being detainthe ability received for the good of mankind, that try, to encourage my friends to faithful dedication they might come to walk in the light of the Lord, in the service of Truth, and in reverent supplica-to the praise of his great and worthy name. In tion and humble praise, to commend myself and these services I have sometimes been at a distance them to the gracious keeping of the Shepherd of from my home, for a considerable length of time, I srael. Another Friend was also drawn forth in and found that I have served a good Master, his fervent intereession, that preservation might attend love sufficiently compensated for the privation of me in the embassy in which I was engaged. There domestic comforts, and the endcaring ties of na-seemed to be a general uniting in the petition, and ture; that now I think I can say as I have some-thanksgivings and praises were witnessed to flow road until 1802, when he visited the meetings of times thought when I apprehended the probability to the Preserver of men, for favours past, and for iends, in the western part of the State of New of a final separation being near, that there is no the hope vouchsafed that they would be contiwith a south-west wind. About noon the pilot left the service approached, his mind was at times way should open, to go in that littleness which how much more so must it be in the winter season, ought under deep exercise and conflict. He found prefers others to ourselves; for surely I may say I have often thought, during the voyage, of John at as great as were the sacrifices involved, and with Gideon, my father's family is poor in Manas. Woolman's observations on the sea-faring life. sah, and I am the least in my father's house; yet Commerce is pursued with too much avidity, by an, to be separated from his beloved family, the there is strength in Omnipotence, and if he is the members of our Society, as well as others, pleased to separate me to the work, good is his will.

Merely to gratify imaginary wants;—the real

Next to this is the sympathy and unity of the brethren; if favoured with this, it will be a confirmaknow their desires circumscribed in the fear of

"Seventh month 9th. A light breeze from the increased to a gale, and the weather become so "Sixth month 2d, 1810. I parted with my dear dark and thick, we could not tell where we were having come to Liverpool, to take passage tor home, turely activity, to sit under their own vine and fig-and Susannah Horne being about to proceed to tree, where none can make afraid, and where Christ America on a Policion with the theory there. Then I have been a process the state of the America on a religious visit to the churches there, Jesus is known to teach his people himself." and being also in town, I went with them on board the ship in which they had engaged their passages, necessity of receiving daily supplies of heavenly she gave birth to a little stranger) by a loud assi and we all attended the fore and afternoon meet bread, in order to sustain the spiritual life in the rance that he had it; and, taking her in his sturc ings on First-day in Liverpool, to pretty good soul, and to be enabled to follow the example of arms, in the blankets, the baby in her arms, I were drawn to meet together from an inward con-ceeding from pure love to the holy Head."

pany of several worthy Friends belonging to this she bore them all cheerfully, setting an examp "10th. A fine morning—the wind fell about place, and I was favoured to feel comfortable in of devotedness, not common among those in affi midnight, and veered round to the westward, and the retrospect of my endeavours to promote a re-entercumstances; and though wanting for nothin about seven o'clock we took a pilot on board, and vival of ancient zeal and simplicity in this place, which the riches of this world could command, sl at ten o'clock hove to, to wait for the tide, in com- We left on Second day morning, and called to see freely surrendered all her domestic comforts, at pany with a number of other ships; among them George Jones, who accompanied us to Lowlayton, gave up to spend and be spent for the gospe was the Hannibal, which left New York three days where there is but one family of Friends. Near sake, both in her own country and in foreign land after we did. We lay in sight of the mountains this place lived that faithful servant of Christ, John Her great exertions in travelling, as well as in the of North Wales, which somewhat resemble the Gratton; but little evidence of his pious labours exercise of her gift, were believed to be a mean Catskill mountains, in New York State. Whilst for the good of mankind is now visible hereaway, of shortening her days, as she herself expresses sitting alone in the cabin, I felt my mind reverently Many of the neighbours came to the meeting we but the precious cridence of Divine approbate bowed before J-hovah, the Shepherd of Israel; had here, and the power of Truth rose measurably was her support. May we who survive her pre the sweet influences of whose love, enabled me re- into dominion, spreading an humbling solemnity after the same experience, and submissively a newedly to dedicate my all to his blessed service, over us, and many interesting truths were deliver- quiesce in our bereavement, under the consolir with desires, that I may be wholly devoted to his ed, endeavouring to bring the people off from their evidence, that our dear sister is enjoying the r will in this religious embassy, without murmuring lidle customs and pastimes, to which many of the ward of a well spent life. Many servants at at anything I may suffer, either in body or mind, poor manufacturers are addicted, and by which handmaidens have done valiantly, and dear D for the precious cause sake. My heart was filled much of their small earnings is foolishly spent, to borah was not behind many of them. Blessed with praises to Him whose mercies endure forever their own injury and that of their families. The the name of Israel's God, who has taken her "In the afternoon, about four o'clock, we came good satisfaction, and in the evening had a large abreast of Liverpool, but did not land until about public meeting in the upper story of a building Friend who was acquainted with the captain; comfign on board in a boat, took me home with him. In meeting with Friends of Macelesfield, and a full rolled on the stone floor at full length. He is My arrival was nexpected, Friends not having one in the evening with the town's people, which with his face toward the floor, and made lines at heard of my prospect of visiting the nation, and was attained; but I met a welcome reception, and was satisfactory. At this place, Truth seemed to circles with the end of a burned stick. He ros comforted in being once more in the company of within a few years, being formerly kept up by only hold of his bristly hair with one hand, and rubbe friends."

(11th Parisania White from Parayalustic "14th. Benjamin White, from Pennsylvania, have been brought off from a dependence on createned stick. Then he sat upon a chair, and place isfaction."

Our worthy predecessors in the Tru't; and that lifted her out, and held her over the black drawit

On First-day, the 22d, was at the forencon without this, we should dwindle into formality, and on the floor. These he explained, and she joine meeting at Liverpool, and dear Susannah Horne become uscless. In the evening we had a meeting a small, hopeful, happy laugh with his high-tone having a prospect of a religious meeting for the with the town's people, and next day rode to Ut-assurance that she should never again toil at the benefit of the servants in Friends' families, and my toxeter, and had a meeting that evening. The spinning wheel—that he would never again "play" mind being under a similar engagement, the after- usual meeting occurring in course next day, we sat and have his loom standing for want of weft. Si noon meeting was put off until six o'clock, and with the few Friends who composed it; and under asked some questions, which he answered, after sea Friends requested to set their domestics at liberty the feeling of near sympathy, I was drawn to enling her in the arm-chair, by laying her spinnit to attend, with which they cheerfully complied; courage them to a faithful dedication of time and wheel on its back, the horizontal spindle standing many staying at home, where it was necessary to talents to the work of the Lord, in their day; set- vertically, while he made the wheel revolve, at let them attend. The meeting was large and solid, ting forth the great duty of diligently attending all drew a roving of cotton from the spindle into and many minds were bowed under a sense of the renewed favour of our heavenly Father."

the renewed favour of our heavenly Father."

the holy Helper of his people, and our dependence that is made, "he said, speaking of his drawings of the holy Helper of his people, and our dependence that is made," he said, speaking of his drawings of the holy Helper of his people, and our dependence the foor. "What will you call it?" asked he had a precious meeting with a few poor people, a where we live, which would not fail to be vouch. considerable part of whom were not members, but safed, if rightly sought after—our endeavours pro- Jenny! They called thee 'Spinning Jenny' afor viction of the propriety of the engagement. It was "We had a meeting in the court-house at Staf- hill Moore at the wheel. What if we call it 'Spin a reviving opportunity, in which our spirits were ford, which was well attended and satisfactory, ning Jenny?" - Men who Have Risen. dipped into near sympathy one with another, with The mayor of the town sent an officer to keep order much tenderness. May the Shepherd of Israel at the door, and showed other marks of his esteem same serious concern. Too many of their neigh- from that which our worthy ancients experienced man had been washed overboard and drowned o dined at one of their cottages, in preference to we rode to Colebrookdale, the residence of that all were drowned except the boy, who got to lancoing where we might have been more sumptu-truly devoted and humble servant of Jesus Christ, but could not return to the vessel. The two cusly entertained, and were well satisfied in doing Deborah Darby, who deceased a few months past, men on board afterwards tried to get ashore, b held in the evening, and had several family sit- the sufferings she underwent, and which were in- owners.

find the same comfort and serenity as I now enditings, all to good satisfaction. We had the comdesparable from travelling in a wilderness land. B sprang to his feet, and replied to some feeble que "At Leek, I had to open to the few Friends, the tion of his wife (who had not risen since the da I had thee, because thou beat every lass in Stan-

(To be continued.)

Strange Series of Casualties .- The following preserve them in meekness, that through the light for Friends, and good will to promote the meeting. strange series of casualties occurred to the shof their example, others may be drawn into the Very different was the reception we met with, Mary Ellen, from Liverpool to La Union:—O: same scroos concern. Too many of their neigh- from that which our worthy ancients experienced min had been wissen overload and drowned of bours spent a part of their small carnings foolishly, in their day, at this place, where they were sorely Cape Horn, and the master had disappeared with in idle pastimes and for strong drink. I believe these Friends are called to be examples of sobriety my nind, and produced thankfulness to Him, and sailed for Libertad, but, by mistake, anchord and godliness, and may be a great blessing to the whose power had opened the way for his peofero for Gorocordia. He there attempted to land, wit neighbourhood, if they retain their integrity. We worship him numolested by man. From this place three men and a boy, but the boat capsized, at a fined at one of their contracts. "Next day we went to Manchester, and put up passed by few. As I sat in the meeting here, I The mate of the Dashing Wave was put in con ith Richard Routh, where we enjoyed the com-sensibly felt the loss which the church has sustain-any of his valuable wife. Attended their meet-ing on First-day morning, and a large public one and shed tears of endearing sympathy for her in

"I have often felt thankfulness raised in my they will be valuable citizens and good members of (1 am many times ready to conclude,) fall to my eart, that while my mind was under the weighty society. xercises which preceded my appearance in the blowers; but I believe, beyond all doubt, that a most favourably. such greater number have suffered by being injuiciously drawn forth, before the full accomplishneet for them to pass through."-Mary Alexaner. [Friends' Library, vol. 13, p. 54.]

From Liberia.

A letter from Liberia, published in the London tar of the 26th ult., states that the population of Ionrovia, 3500 in number, find difficulty in proiding for the 4000 recaptured slaves recently rown upon their hospitalities:

" Monrovia, Nov. 3, 1860.

early 1400 recaptured Africans landed here, viz: to build up a respectable nationality." ne barque Cora, of New York, prize to the United rize to the United States steamer Jan Jacinto, on ne 21st, each having on board within a fraction inistry, and which I believed some of my feeling heathen savages into christian civilized beings will, touch the hem of his garment, we shall witness indends, in the vision of light, were permitted to I hope, be eminently successful. The government heavenly virtue in the least touch of his love; if ehold, they used such great caution in intimating will spare no pains to insure success to this valua-something of this were not witnessed, at times, he subject to me, as seldom to give me reason to be scheme of turning ignorant young people into what would become of us, when we are bowed low he suppose they had any apprehension of my real elected, moral and industrious citizens, who are under a sense of our own nothingness and insufficiently and included the sense of the sense of our own nothingness and insufficiently and in the sense of the sense of our own nothingness and insufficiently and in the sense of the sense of our own nothingness and insufficiently and insuff is own season; even though, through fear or care, transforming the cargo of the Pons, a slave ship, when the sea was before, the inaccessible mountains state of jeopardy may be somewhat prolonged; which landed nine hundred poor naked heathens on each hand, and their old oppressing enemies ather than that any injudicious interference of some years ago in Monrovia, from rude and igno-pursuing hard after them, from whose force they there, should bring the poor, tribulated soul out of rant beings into educated, moral and respectable were altogether unable to defend themselves; the ne preparatory furnace, before the appointed bappened bappened by the people, that they are stimulated to the greatest expectations are fulfilled. I am fully aware, that the critisms to procure similar results for the now much the fully aware, that the critisms to procure similar results for the now much the fully aware, that the critisms to procure similar results for the now much the fully aware, that the critisms are fulfilled. I am fully aware, that the oubting mind may sometimes be rightly encour- more numerous body of people east upon their showing his salvation to his poor, afflicted Israel, ged to obedience, by the countenance of those charity and benevolence. Some of the Pons' men as they are ceasing from their own willings, and ho have had larger experience of the great Mas- are now magistrates and members of the Legisla- runnings, and actings; and depending only upon r's dealings with his humble and truly dependent ture, and most of these people have turned out his providential care. Let no poverty or progress of Liberia, in an industrial point of view, thee reason to call the truth of the visitation and nent of all the dispensations which the Lord sees is as favourable as can be expected in a country mission in question. Many are the fears and where capital is the grand requisite of the com-false reasonings which at times will rush upon thy numity. The production of tree-labour cutton is soul, especially in times of weakness and want.

This useful fibre The imagination is secree ever more at work, and grows spontaneously throughout the country, and more apt to create false images, than when the Dithe labour of collecting, cleaning and preparing it vine object is partly withdrawn. And if there is for market, is alone requisite. In short, the in- not a steady bearing and holding fast our faith, dustrial future of Liberia is most promising, and and a resignation of the whole soul to God, we will, I hope, attract the attention of the free colour-shall certainly, in such seasons, be very apt to sufed people of Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, fer loss, and abundantly weaken our own hands, Ohio, &c., who, living under such unfavourable and give ourselves up into the power of the enemy. "Since I wrote you last, two more prizes from and depressing circumstances in their native land, But though thou mayest meet with deep trials and ne Congo river have been brought into this port would so much benefit themselves, and so much provings and reasonings, and as it were the valley y the American cruisers, and their live cargoes of benefit Liberia, by going to the west coast of Africa, of the shadow of death to pass through at times;

> Selected for "The Friend." S. Fothergill.

It was not because I feared thy not holding out f seven hundred slaves. The officers in charge to the end made me write thee as I did, but it was eport that we may expect several more prizes up in order to encourage thee in thy journey through the fishermen resident at Ackergill, while pursuing core the close of December. There have now been this vale of tears; for I am sensible of the many their avocation in the bay, had their attention diunded in our midst about four thousand recaptured deep plungings those meet with, that have set their rected to a large fish struggling and plunging on the faces Zionwards. Oh, I have sometimes thought the surface of the water. They at once directed nings will be I cannot see as yet, but will be able I was quite forsaken, and even left to myself; yet their course towards it; but a closer approach rejudge pretty caractic tee as yet, our way was a property and the second of the property and the second of the property and the second of the surprise the true source of its anomatic United States, which I expect to next appear again, with healing virtue in his hand, noyance. The fish, while swimming near the surprise the true source of its anomatic that the surprise the surprise the true source of its anomatic that the surprise the surprise the true source of its anomatic that the surprise the surprise the true source of its anomatic that the surprise the surprise the true source of its anomatic that the surprise the surprise the surprise of the surprise the surprise the surprise the surprise the surprise of the surprise the surprise of the surprise the surprise the surprise of the surprise the surpr "I am glad to say that we have late news from be preserved to the end, for it was the same arm bird, which it had partly swallowed, but which it be United States, that the American government that turned thee, which turned Saul, when he was was unable, from the size and energetic resistance ave made arrangements with the American Colo- going to persecute the church. I wish that it may of its victim, to drag beneath. The singular apization Society to advance 3100 for each recap- have the same effect on thee as it had on Saul, for pearance of the widely extended wings of the bird, and he reasoned not with flesh and blood, but was obe- which frantically thrashed the water, at one extremho may be well taken care of and kindly treated dient to him that called. I would not have thee ity, and the occasional glimpse which was obtained or one year. The Colonization Society has en-go into reasonings: for the enemy of our souls when of the tail of the fish at the other, induced the fishaged to hand over to the Liberian government he cannot lead into those things which we have ermen to believe that they had fallen in with some very cent received from the Washington govern- been prone to, he then begins another way; that rare nondescript. The fish was hooked and secured, ieof, and I am assured that every attention will is, to bring to despair of ever overcoming our one- and the whole affair incontinently hauled in trie given to make these poor recaptives, who are mies, because they are so numerous. But it was umph over the granwale. The principal actor in rucipally young people, as comfortable as possi- his arm that turned Saul, which brought assivation, this scene was then at once recognized as an old le. The government of Liberia are sending many and can overturn all our enemies, and bring deacquaintance by the boat's crew; his jaws were the missionary establishments which abound in liverance to his afflicted seed; for they are as the unceremoniously wrenched open, and the bird, still ie republic, say thirty or forty to the Baptist mis- apple of his eye, and although he may withhold alive, released from its uncounfortable position. on, an equal number to the Presbyterian mission, his face for a time, it is in order to try our love to The victim of this novel strait proved to be a fine try or fifty to the Wesleyan mission, and so on, him, and to see whether we love him above all or specimen of that large and powerful species, the ad placing the others in industrial farming esta- not, for he will not admit of any rivals, but will great northern diver (Colymbus Glacialis,) a bird lishments scattered over the country, under the have the whole heart or none. . . . I join with unsurpassed for its speed and power in the water. parge of officers and preachers, where these young thee in real belief, that we shall be helped forward The fish is the Lophous Piscatorius of the scientific lot, I fully believe, as we are concerned to press "The result of this experiment of converting through the crowd of opposition, if possible, to barrenness of soul dismay thee; no new or unex-"I am happy to add, in conclusion, that the pected surprise, as giants in the land, ever give yet, as thou art engaged, in sincerity of heart, to look over and through all to holy Jesus, he will tates steamer Constellation, came in on the 14th preserve thee from the fear of evil, and from falling into the snares of the wicked one.—S. Fotherpreserve thee from the fear of evil, and from fallgill's Journal.

Selected for "The Friend."

Extraordinary Capture. On a recent Saturday, esple will be taught English, christianity, and towards the heavenly Canana, as we are truly renaturally, the brought up in such a manuer as to signed in heart, to be made what the Divine being mergsman" or "oof," the latter probably a corsure the greatest development in their physical would have us to be; notwithstanding the many ruption of "wolf."—John o' Groat Journal.

For " The Friend." TREASURES SOUGHT AND OBTAINED .-- A CON-TRAST.

In the humble dwellings of lowly life, Two healthy boys into men were growing, Already they felt that sorrow and strife, Attended the path wherein they were going; And that poverty with their humble birth, O'erclouded their prospects of useful worth. Both braced themselves for the ills of time;

The one, by thought, they would soon be over, For beyond earth's darkness, a light sublime Of transcendant glory, he could discover. To that far-off beauty his love was given, And this earth he trod as the path to heaven. The other, prompted by sordid thought, Determined to gather up golden treasure,

With which this world's respect is bought, And much that ministers pride and pleasure ; For abounding wealth to have wide renown, He deemed of life a sufficient crown.

As men, strong-hearted, they won their way, To the object each deemed worth pursuing; The lirst, bound home to eternal day, With spirit-eye the dear Saviour viewing, Took the cares and sorrows which oft distrest, As merciful helpers to heavenly rest. The other, through profiting mazes of trade, Gold for his coffers still gathering ever, His only pleasure of business made, Nor felt it rest from his toils to sever; Scarcely mouraed he love's losses, frieads fading in Or aught which delayed not his struggle for wealth. The first had of sorrows a bountiful store But found in each trial a heavenly sustaining, The second had coffers with wealth running o'er, Yet still in his trade-toil was ceaselessly straining. The first, with a little, was sweetly content, The last, with abundance, dissatisfied went.

IN OLD AGE.

In his age-fading twilight, the last one inquired For his playmate in childhood, and heard in reply, On earth he still lingered, beloved and admired, With his warmest affections still placed in the sky; There in Jesus his treasure securely found room, Where thieves could not enter, nor moth-worm consame.

In meekness and patience as life wore away, With Jesus he tasted communion sweet, The love and the light of salvation's near day, Forevermore brightening his lowly retreat.

More humble, forgiving, and Christ-like he grew,
The nearer and nearer eternity drew. Then sadly heart-stricken, the questioner cried, "I know that his future is golden and glad, His treasure-house stands upon Jordan's far side, And as death leads him thither, he cannot be sad ! He goes where his riches iocreasingly shine, But death is approaching, to take me from mine."

Franklin and its vicinity continue encouraging. The is fully equal to him in watefulness and agility.

But the true place of the agam is in the poultry and all being found right, it then mounts to a chose The Fairview company commenced pumping on the yard. There it performs, with a zeal, a patience, perch, which no other is permitted to share. From 24th ult, at a depth of two hundred and sixty-two and a tact, which are truly wonderful, functions thence it continues to exercise its usual vigilance. feet, and are getting six barrels a day, and in which it alone is capable of discharging. The and care; rousing up at the slightest noise; evereasing. Robb & French, on Martin & Epley's accounts which have been given by travellers of ready either to keep the peace around it, or to driv land, have struck a good vein, at a depth of two the performances of these animals, have been so off any foe from without.

hundred and fifty-six feet, and commenced pump- novel and extraordinary as to cause them to be ing. Reynolds & Co., at the point, have struck regarded with much hesitation and distrust; but has two distinct cries -one shrill and discordant what appears to be a good vein, and are making they have recently been shown to be altogether which it utters with open beak, and by which preparations to pump. Griffin & Co., on Single-trustworthy, by observations made upon their indicates dissatisfaction or displeasure; the other ton's lot, commenced pumping, and are getting ten habits and doings in the Jardin des Plantes at low and musical, and which seems to proceed from barrels per day. Boyds & Roberts, three miles Paris. There, in the inclosure which is reserved beneath its feathers, rather than to issue from it down the river, opposite the Hoover & Stewart for the larger species of fowl, a hen agami has, by throat. It is by this kind of cooing that it is ac well, tapped the jugular, and gathered fifteen bar lits united intelligence and strength, constituted it customed to express contentment and joy. rels in one day by voluntary flow. This firm has self the sovereign ruler of the community; and it It appears from the statements of naturalist been labouring some six months, and had almost de- is very interesting to observe how, in the perform- that this bird can be, without difficulty, naturalize spaired of success, but they may congratulate them- ance of its self-imposed duty, it maintains order in in Europe, and from the example which has just selves as the possessors of a No. 1 well. M'Laugh- the inclosure. It watches over the young, protects been given of its qualities and capabilities, it would tin & Co., on Plumer's farm, commenced pumping the feeble, restrains the strong, and prevents or seem to be a very desirable acquisition for our terly & Co., on Plumer's farm, commenced pump- is feared even by the most sturdy and rebellion: ing at a depth of two hundred and forty-two feet. This individual has, however, one fault (arising So says the Venango Spectator. On Oil creek, most probably, from her being without a mate, an Dobbs, Knapp & Co. have a flowing well, yielding which, if leniculty judged, may even be allowed to fourteen harrels per day. Fifteen wells are ready to go into operation at Titusville. The number of possession of all the broods which are hatched i yielding wells altogether on Oil creek is between the inclosure, and charging itself exclusively wit forty-five and fifty. The Pioneer well at Tideoute their care and support—of course to the great dis is yielding thirty barrels a day. The total yield comfiture of the bereaved mothers. This is, ur of the Tideoute wells is about two hundred barrels questionably, a serious abuse of authority-thoug a day. Several wells are preparing to pump.

From the Leisure Hour. A New Monarch of the Barn-Yard. - The Agami. has not long been deficitively classed. Some have being under its care, may well dispose us to for assigned it a place among the pheasants; Buffon giveness. In the season it may be seen surrounde placed it among the gallinaceous varieties; but, by a flock of chickens and ducklings of various more recently, Cuvier has classed it among the species, sometimes gravely pacing to and fro in the Grallee-an order of birds with long naked legs, sun, and at others keeping off those of its subject which are adapted for wading in the streams and which are able to provide for themselves, but which marshes, where they are accustomed to seek their wish to get at the food which is prepared for the food. It is a native of South America, where it younger members of the community. This foot abounds in the forests of Guiana; and it seems to which consists of bread-crumbs, seeds, salad, an be allied to the crane by the length of its legs and occasionally a little fine-chopped meat, the agan the rapidity of its course; to the pheasant, by the carefully distributes to its foster children, alway metallic brilliancy of the plumage which adorns its showing a preference for the young, the ailing, an breast; and to the domestic hen, by the conforma- the least voracious of the tribe. tion of its beak and the scantiness of its wings, but, above all, by its habitudes. It is so naturally numerous family, the watchful creature is care inclined to seek the friendship of man, that, even fully observing all that transpires in the other part when captured full-grown, it speedily becomes tame, of its dominions; taking note, especially, of the and never after seeks to return to a wild state. proceedings of the known quarrellers and bullie Those which inhabit the denser forests, are by no among its subjects. At the first aggression of an means wild, and, before taking to flight on the approach of a sportsman, generally give him plenty of these tyrants, it utters a shrill cry, and, if the proach of a sportsman, generally give him plenty is not heeded, it strides forward to the scene of time to aim with deliberation. Consequently, conflict, and deals the offender a blow with it its pursuit offers but few attractions to the lovers of beak, which makes him speedily desist, and fl the chase, since it is attended with no other diffi- for shelter to the remotest corner of the place mi is most frequently seen in a state of complete domestication. There it is charged with the care has escaped the vigilance of the keepers, ar of the dwellings and of the yards. By its cry it proaches this well-governed kingdom, and then, i gives notice of the approach of a stranger, and it the manner of a true sovereign, the agami prepare menaces with its powerful beak the legs of those to defend its territory and subjects. It boldl who venture to approach before the arrival of one marches towards the enemy, accompanying its ad of the inmates. It performs this duty with all the vance with such demonstrations of hostility, and sagacity of the dog, for, like him, it recognizes the so evidently meaning mischief, that the intruder friends of the family, and proportions its hostile without waiting for the attack, seeks safety by demonstrations to the respectability of the appear- precipitate retreat from the spot. ance of the intruder. By some of the colonists, at a depth of eighty-two feet in the rock. Shut puts an end to quarrels, by an intervention which poultry-yards.

it must be confessed, in this it only resembles th political authority which resides near it, and whic kindly takes under its fostering care everybody an everything; but still, the solicitude which the age Although long known to naturalists, this bird mi displays towards its charge, and their wel

But while thus busily engaged in tending it culty than that of finding the game.

It is in French and Dutch Guiana that the aga- aggravated one, and severely punished for his offence

It sometimes happens that a dog or a cat, whic

On the arrival of night, when all well-dispose too, it is preferred to the dog as a guardian for animals, as well as all well-disposed persons, retir the death is approaching, to take me from mine."

sheep; because it cannot, as he is apt to do when to their resting-place, the subject of this narrative in a state of irritation, seriously injure the young does not go to roost till it has assured itself, by the Latest Oil News.—The oil prospects about and feeble of the flock; while at the same time, it careful round of inspection, that all the other in

One of the peculiarities of the agami is, that

For "The Friend." BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES

Ministers and Elders and other concerned members of the Yearly Meeting of Philadelphia.

(Continued from page 148.) JOSHUA BROWN. y extended to the newly married couple, and vice of the enemy, to stop or turn aside, and thus shua was constrained to address them under the miss of reaching their desired port of rest. Dining fuence of that Spirit, which wisheth well to at Samuel Hughes', he rode, accompanied by John men. He attended meetings in the city on Lee, to Maiden Creek. Here, on the 21st, it berst-day, and on Second-day the weekly meeting ing the first day of the week, he attended meeting, bour for the everlasting good of those assembled. former sin. He had to instance the case of David, en cause of humility to me, when the Lord hath whilst the day of the Lord's loving visitation was ray opened for service, and Joshua was particu-arly concerned for those young in years. On the 7th, they attended Richland Mouthly Meeting. Hobson, at New Providence, where he had a meetderein Joshua exhorted Friends to seek for abi- ing on the 26th. In this meeting he spoke of the the Truth. On the 18th, with Thomas Roberts the family residing in it were in imminent danger and Samuel Foulk, he rode to Exeter, to the house of receiving injury. This figure he used in a spi-of Samuel Lee. On the 19th, he was at Exeter meet-ritual sense, and showed them that the true-hearted, ing, in which he warned those present to see that upright christian can bear a great weight in the On the 5th of the month being the seventh of the work, he remained in Philadelphia, attending death might not surprise them unprepared. He upright walk, consistent with the principles of marriage of two coloured persons in the evening, exhorted such as had entered in the way of life, Truth. The meeting seemed favoured, and Joshua veral Friends were present, and in the quiet who had taken some steps on the heavenward journation and the principles of the princ rst-day, and on Second-day the weekly meeting ing the first day of the week, he attended meeting, hotel in this country, and probably the largest in ministers and elders, and, in the afternoon, was held mostly in silence. Lodging with James Starr, the world. It is 272 feet front, 227 feet deep, a meeting at Fair-hill, which last, he says, was he next day had an appointed meeting in Reading. 112 feet high, and fronted with cream-colored low time. Lodging at Benjamin Mason's, he, on In this meeting he was much exercised in the belanger of the behalf hilst expressing thankfulness to the great Master who, to conceal one crime, was guilty of another foundation, and 35,000 cubic feet of cut stone in this owning presence, he notes, "it hath always He exhorted all to close in with the offers of mercy, the fronts. Besides the marble flooring and other en pleased to favour with a time of enlargement extended. He told them that the Lord would be its flooring, and it will require 30,000 yards of his work and service. On the 9th, after attend- honoured, whether they were vessels of wrath or carpet to cover them. Some 16,000 feet of gas g the burial of a son of Anthony Williams, he of mercy. He was then constrained to pray for as at a meeting at Abington, where he had some those assembled, and to render to the Lord, praise nall service in a large assembly. Visiting Thomas and thanksgiving for his mercy extended that day. letcher, an elderly Friend, confined at home by After a satisfactory sitting in the family of Benjadisposition, he had a religious opportunity in his min Pearson, he rode to the house of his brother-namber, and then rode to the house of James in law, James Thomas, at the Forrest. On the hornton, at Byberry. On the 10th, he was at 23d, in the meeting here, he pressed the people to hat was called a General Meeting at that place, seek after an establishment in the Truth, to give roof. which he was much enlarged in labour. He up dependence upon the uncertain and changeable which the was much charged in labour. The up dependence upon the detectant and ordered those assembled to let their light shine (conjectures of men, and to seck to know a buildforce their families, and in the church, and to set ing on the alone sure foundation, the revelation of to us the following interesting and authentic ancererything that was contrary to its own holy narericising meeting. Accompanied by his brother-inthe Going to Joshua Morris' to lodge, he, on law, he rode that afternoon to Nantuell, where, on believer, was travelling in Manilla. He was esthe section of the section of ley would be like wise builders, who, building on the woman to bruise the head of the serpent. He stranger to pray to his God. rock, their houses would stand whatever storms then spake of the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, ight beat upon them. Thus, those who built who was the seed of the woman, his miraculous pon Christ, would be enabled to endure all trials, conception, and the benefit mankind received and on his declining, the native said, "Well, some and would be accepted of him. On First-day, the through him. He spoke of the warfare of the two God must be prayed to, so you will excuse me if 3th, he attended Horsham meeting, which was seeds in the heart of man, one working for his I pray to mine. urge and favoured. Joshua was much exercised bondage to corruption, the other for his salvation at those gathered, should endeavour to improve and freedom from sin. The seed of the serpent ne present time, in seeking for and labouring after was of limited power; that of Christ was unlimited. urable riches and righteousness. He desired that The meeting was an open, satisfactory one, and ney might have oil in their lamps, when the mid-furnished this faithful labourer with encouragement ight cry should be sounded,—"Behold the Bride-still to trust in him, who had ever helped him in room cometh." In the language of the apostle, the needful time. After the meeting, he rode, in e queried with them, "If the righteous scarcely company with Isaac Potts, to the dwelling of the His next visit is to be with the missionaries to preach re saved, where must the sinner and ungodly ap- latter, in Pottstown. At a meeting held in that Christ.—Late Paper. ear." He showed them that when called to render place, on the 25th, he was concerned that his p their earthly stewardships, the righteous would hearers might be earnestly engaged in considering ave nothing to spare. Lodging that night at the their future condition, when all the trials and pleaouse of Joseph Lukens, he, on the 14th, went to sures of time were over. He pressed upon them forth Wales, where the next day he had a suffer- the necessity of witnessing a preparation for eterng meeting, wherein he had some close, honest la- nal blessedness, whilst the day of God's merciful our. In company with Thomas Evans, he then visitation to their souls was still lengthened out. ode to the house of John Lancaster, at Richland. This could only be known, by yielding themselves thich they had a sitting with an old Friend, who giving up their whole hearts to Him. The la-as in a dying condition. In all these visits, the bour was fervent and affectionate, yet the meet-ty to stand in their proper places, prepared to pillars, on which a house rested, which, as long as vice instruction from him, who alone can teach they stood perfectly upright, would safely support, awingly and give forth the words of eternal life. and those within it would be in security. But if secution to reform.

He urged them to press forward towards perfection, that they might witness an establishment in less, the house became instantly liable to fall, and

The Lindell House, -The Lindell House, in St. Louis, now nearly completed, is the largest 1,200 guests. In its erection, 8,000,000 bricks were used, 8,000 perches of rubble stone in the flagging, 300,000 feet of lumber has been used in pipe are required to light it, with many thousands of burners; 120,000 pounds of lead and 30,000 pounds of iron pipe to supply it with water, besides that for heating it. Forty to fifty miles of bell wire will be required, and three water tanks, containing 30,000 gallons or fifty tons of water, constantly replenished by a steam engine, will rest upon its ie 11th, was again at Abington meeting. Here the 24th, he had a meeting. Herein he set forth corted by a native of rank, and as they were about a exhorted Friends to hear the sayings of Christ, the fallen state of man by nature, and the necessistanting, the native, with the refined politeness ad to do them, showing them that if they did so, sity there was that he should witness the seed of which chracterizes the orientals, requested the white

"Full many a shaft at random sent, Finds mark the archer never meant."

And so it was in this case. The unbeliever was rebuked by the heathen, and the man of science, who had gone there in quest of natural curiosities, returned, having found the " pearl of great price.

The Passport System in Europe being Abolished. The Swedish Government has taken a step in advance of all continental powers. It has abolished the passport system. Anybody hereafter may enter Swedish territory, travel through or leave it without any molestation from the civil authorities or any police interrogating him, as if he suspected the be 16th they spent in visiting families, in one of in unreserved obedience to the Lord's will, and stranger with being a criminal. Russia has also modified her passport system. These steps show that Europe is getting tired of her absurd restrictions upon free intercourse between the people of different countries. The interests of trade and the convenience of the world require that travel shall be free over all the countries of the globe.

Violence is not calculated to convince, nor per-seeing that the clouds still lower, and storms con- shaving .- American Agriculturist. tinue to threaten. May these know their trust renewed in Him who is able to keep them from falling, in the dark and cloudy day, and finally to plaint of the Lord, by the mouth of his prophet tirely and permanently relieved by simply kee

Truth, may feel east down almost below hope, seed withs; they have forsaken me, the fountain of living Gymnastics, ing it is assailed on the right hand and on the left, waters, and hewn them out disterns, broken cisalso remember this gracious declaration, and place terms, that can hold no water. Such is a mere to this mere than the state of their trust in Him and in Him alone. Their hearts profession, though of the Truth itself, without the find no relief, but when I feel a revival of the pare others to take their places, can lead them education, tuition, or other outward means; yet people we should be, did we dig deep enough; o along step by step, first introducing them into the vineyard of their own hearts there to labour—the child's and fool's state, that knows its sufficiency the salt of the earth. How many who have he perhaps shocked at the discoveries made. Instead motion of religion, are so dry, insipid and ineffi-of a smooth surface of skin, presenting, when un-cacious. Truth will carry its own evidence. The It will not do for any to rest contented wi washed, a dingy appearance, there will be seen a spring of action being the Holy Spirit of Christ, it having known the Lord in days past, and year rough, corrugated surface, with deep irregular furwill gain the assent of all his children, and answer that are over and gone; we must follow on to known the foreign particles are deposited his pure witness in the hearts of the rebellious, far him; a supply of daily food is requisite; and like earth among the rough paving stones of the beyond what many conceive or imagine. Upon there is not a hunger and thirst after righteousness street. If they lay loosely, it would be an easy which I would just observe, that the only way to we may be sure the mind is distempered; but O but the porse, the waste pipes of the body, are continually discharging into these open drains, per in it, certainly to feel the Lord leading and direct and its spirit; who, instead of being way-mark spiration and oil, which, by evaporation, become a ing them in all their services; and on the other are as stumbling-blocks to honest inquirers—the spiration and on, wind, by capitation, considering the spiration of the particles of dust, &c, and to remove them, requires both chemical and mechalities much the strength of human abilities only. Agreat deal are not hurt by those who ought to be helper pands the furrows, and makes the skin pliable, so depends on that, more than some are aware of: it that by rubbing, the soil is disturbed and partly is observable, that the preservation of the Jewish Ross, removed. But chemistry must aid a little before church in purity much depended upon the governthe process is complete; and soap is added, the ors and rulers thereof; and so do and will, the alkali of which unites with the oily matters, and prosperity and purity of the christian church. | logy, science, belies lettres, and education, is ver the whole is then easily disposed of.

The wash cloth is useful, because its threads or fibres work down among the furrows, like so many little brooms, sweeping them out; hence it should Neck .- A distinguished physician, who died some Miller, 100,000; Annual of Scientific Discover be soft and platele. Flamed is preferable to cot-years since in Paris, declared:—"I believe that 40,000; Life of Amos Lawrence, 26,000; Ma ton for this purpose, and a sponge is the best of during the twenty-six years I have practised my leom's Bible Dictionary, 142,000; Bailey's Cla all. Rough coarse cloths are objectionable, as they profession in this city, twenty thousand children book, 41,000, Wayland's Noral Science, 118,000 abrade the skin, and leave it rough and more have been carried to the cemeteries, a secrifice to Political Economy, 51,000; Agassiz and Goul easily filled with dust than before. Harsh, strongly the absurd custom of exposing their arms naked." Zoology, and Guyot's Earth and Man, 15,000 cac alkaline soap should be avoided for the same reason; it abstracts all the oil from the upper layer to show the soft, white skin of her baby, and would of the skin, and makes it "chap" or crack. Where cut out a round hole in the little thing's dress, just a sponge is not obtainable, a very neat and ser- over the heart, and then carry it about for observiceable wash cloth may be knit of soft cotton vation by the company, it would do very little upright himself.

"Now unto Him that is able to keep you from en needles, knitting back and forth, as garters are so far removed from the heart, and with such feel falling, and to present you faultless before the pre- knit. A mitten knit of tidy cotton with the crochet circulation at best, is a most permicious practice. halling, and to present you reduced ing joy. To the sence of his glory with exceeding joy. To the needle, is very handy for this purpose, and makes only wise God our Saviour, be glory and majesty, a neat article for the wash stand. A wash rag mouth; the murcury rises to 99 degrees. Not dominion and power, both now and ever. Amen, will not be tolerated by a tidy housekeeper. If carry the same bulb to its little hand; if the arr (Jude, 24th and 25th verses.)

Very precious and comforting is the belief that there is One who is able thus to preserve his deland water to the hands or face, after the use of flows through these arms and hands must fall free to the hands or face, after the use of flows through these arms and hands must fall free to the hands or face, after the use of flows through these arms and hands must fall free to the hands or face, after the use of flows through these arms and hands must fall free to the hands or face, after the use of flows through these arms and hands must fall free to the hands or face, after the use of flows through these arms and hands must fall free to the hands or face, after the use of flows through these arms and hands must fall free to the hands or face, after the use of flows through these arms and hands must fall free to the hands or face, after the use of flows through these arms and hands must fall free to the hands or face, after the use of flows through these arms and hands must fall free to the hands or face, after the use of flows through these arms and hands must fall free to the hands or face, after the use of flows through these arms and hands must fall free to the hands or face, after the use of flows through these arms and hands must fall free to the hands or face, after the use of flows through the second the flow of the total through the second pendent children. May the tried ones in our reli-soap, and rinsing off the vinegar with clear water, 20 to 40 degrees below the temperature of t gious Society keep this truth in view, especially is a capital process to prevent chapping or rough heart. Need I say that when these cold current those who, having long been burden-bearers, and ness. The acid neutralizes the alkali of the soap, of blood flow back into the chest, the child's ge passed through many trials on account of their and keeps it from destroying the skin. Try this eral vitality must be more or less compromise love for the precious cause, may now feel, as the frequently, especially on washing days. Diluted And need I add that we ought not to be surprise. evening of their day approaches, much discouraged, vinegar or other acid, is excellent for the face after at its frequently recurring affections of the lung resent then faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy."

And may those in younger life, who, loving the ciety, viz: "My people have committed two great to witness the same simple cure.—Lewis's No. no doubt are oft-times ready to sink within them real possession. This is holding the Truth in no- which is the healer of breaches; but that is not no doubt are obt-times ready to sink within them real possession. In its notating the I rutin in no- which is the healer of breaches; but that is not as they reflect, that in a few years, many among tion, speculation and initiation only. The same my own command. My mind was, last night their dear aged friends, whom they love and value, may be said of whatever is done in religion, without much drawn out to my fellow-labourers. Oh, the and upon whom now rest the burden and beat of the immediate influence, direction and legion, without much drawn out to my fellow-labourers. Oh, the and upon whom now rest the burden and beat of the immediate influence, direction and legion, without much drawn out to my fellow-labourers. Oh, the what will become of the church then? He who trine may be preached, as to words and the aming who have not defined their garments," and I he called and qualified these for his service, can pre- scope thereof, and true principles included from there are a few in York. Dear friends, what vineyard of their own hearts there to labour thus preparing them for service in His church and for every good word and work to be immediately gun well, have had their garments defiled with t received from God alone, is neither experienced world, and are become like the salt that has te nor abode in. "For it is not you that speak, but its savour; they are as dead weights in our asset Hints on Washing the Hands, 4c.—Some the Spirit of your Father that speake, but jits savour; they are as dead weights in our asset "philosophy" is useful in even so simple a matter by you." I say, without this living sense of things, the dead. Oh, Friends, keep to the Truth, for as washing the hands; if any one doubts it, let all is but a broken cistern; it will hold none of shall rise above the heads of gainsayers. Her with a microscope, examine the surface to be the water of life; which is the real cause, that the element of the production of t John Griffith.

For "The Friend." twine, either with the crochet, or with coarse wood- harm. But to expose the baby's arms, membe throat, and stomach.

I have seen more than one child with habitu The Child's and Fool's State. - Surely the com- cough and hoarseness, or choking with mucus, e

It is High Time to Repair the Breaches .-

The circulation of works of real value in the large in this country. Gould & Lincoln, for exampl of Boston, whose list comprises chiefly works Little Children's Dresses-Naked Arms and this kind, have circulated of the works of Hug

He who scoffs at the crooked, had need to ;

se with his presence, and before whose majesty ence of these States." sible, but absolutely certain.

write was 70 to 100; in fourteen departments had been expecting an application from the Country (We, the subscribers, inhabitants of Philadelphia, proportion of the ignorant was about 60 to 100; eil for their being delivered to their agents. ool knowledge.

THE FRIEND.

FIRST MONTH 26, 1861.

(Continued from page 159.) The intelligence of the death of Thomas Gilpin the exiles, not only among their immediate relaes and friends, but also in the minds of the comnity where they were well known, and had long n esteemed and respected.

A memorial was prepared and presented to Coness, the President and Council, and to the Assemof Pennsylvania, which begins as follows: Ve, the afflicted and sorrowful wives, parents, I regard, to request you, that you suffer chrisent and oppressed Friends, and entreat you not time after. let the ruin of such who have evidenced their

he good-will, the friendship, the kindness of love home, or at least be heard in their own defence, once, and to have them brought to Lancaster, in-nething of the loving kindness of father and up the prisoners to the State of Pennsylvania, and the Lexecutive Council of Pennsylvania gave out it. On the 19th of the Fourth month, 1778, after this kindness; or, parents ourselves, we know was about to try those they had already so severely an exile of nearly eight months, the prisoners left well the throbbing of parental affection. Deep, punished. It is remarkable that the resolve of Con-Winchester on their return home. Their escort, nest, self-sacrificing, is human love in many ten-relations. We trust in it fervently, and without place the prisoners at the disposal of the Council, that r. Oh! if there were no human love in which the latter body represented "that the dangerous distely on the journey, on account of their requircould trust, what a desolate place would this example which their longer continuance in banish ing rest, as did also their horses, proposed to follow th be | But the loving kindness of God, of that ment may afford on future occasions, has already after and meet the prisoners at Fredericktown, in at and incomprehensible being who fills the uni-given uneasiness to some friends to the independ. Maryland, which was done. When at Yorktown, s that must be! the kindness of infinite love the disposal of the Executive Council, and the "If I had been in Philadelphia at the time of your Ided with infinite power! There is nothing pressure from without in favour of them began to being arrested and sent into exile, I would have took ean conceive of, or wish to do for its ob be felt onerous, there were members of that body prevented it." He gave them an order to the offit, but is contained here, and rendered not only who, actuated by unfounded prejudice or hatred cer stationed at the crossing of the Susquehanna, towards their innoceut victims, managed to delay directing him to furnish them with boats and see action, and were determined they should not be they were not delayed; and Thomas Mifflin fur-Education in France.—The results of the inves- heard in their own defence. The resolution of Con- nished them with an order to the same officer to ation of the Ministry for Public Instruction are gress was come to on the 16th of the Third month, supply them with horses on the opposite side of the very favourable as regards the education of "la and the Board of War transmitted its order on the river, should it be found impracticable to ferry their and the Dout of that transmitted to over the Susquehanna. Both these ormse, of 1903 newly-married couples, 1263 men Winchester, to deliver up the prisoners, yet no effidence, consequently 75 per cent, could write. Among the women alone, only 8 of the Stu of the Fourth month, the President of the hood of that town met the four women Friends, knew how to write—a proportion of ignorance Board of War wrote to the Executive Council, who had remained there to receive them on their ich can hardly be exceeded in Russia. In four stating that the exiles would have been immediately way home. They at once presented to the Couner departments the number of those who could sent away from Winchester, but that that Board cil a written communication, in which they say, > their whole proceedings in the case, included the not hear them.' names of the two deceased Friends in the order for The prisoners protested to the Secretary against ppassionate religion of Christ, one of whose ex-lent precepts was, whatsoever ye would that to whom they made application for permission to directed to proceed to Pottsgrove. n should do to you, do ye even so to them." send one or more wagons to convey provisions to In order to obtain permission to go into the city,

The Western Quarterly Meeting appointed six the exiles, and to assist in conveying them home, it was concluded to send some one to the camp,

The Loving-Kindness of God.— The lovingthe Executive Council to terminate the unjust banlupon it to grant the request, and not to restrict it tachess of God! what a beautiful expression! How ishment of the prisoners. On their arrival, the to one or two, but to allow as many wagons to be had consoling the thought contained in it! It is Council refused to allow them to appear before it, less the as night be desirable. He also furnished the there good-will, nor mere complacent friendship, but agreed to receive any written communication women Friends with passports to go to Lancaster, the mere neighbourly kindness of human beings, they might present to them; whereupon they peti- They accordingly proceeded there, and interceded hough these are of high and precious account; it tioned that the exiles might be allowed to return with the Council to allow the exiles to return at of the love of God, who is love itself. We know We mentioned that Congress had decided to give stead of discharging them at Shippensburg. This they were called on by General Gates who manipillars of heaven tremble—what a loving kind- But although Congress placed the prisoners at fested a strong interest in them, and said to them, other fourteen departments, 50 to 100; and in Two persons were now deputed by the Council, chester, in Virginia, by your authority, upon rest 40 and 30 to 100. Reading is somewhat to proceed to Winchester and accompany the pri-groundless suspicion, without any offence being regeneral, but on an average those who are not deficient in writing are so in reading. On discharged from custody; no doubt with a hope place by your messengers, after a captivity of near whole, scarcely the half of the French people that in their anxiety to get to their families, and eight months, think it our duty to apply to you to boast of the most necessary and elementary their joy at being again at liberty, the Council be re-instated in the full enjoyment of the liberty would hear no more from then. They had long of which we have been so long deprived." Two been a "burdensome stone" to their persecutors, who were desirous to escape being brought into they were waited on by the Secretary of the Councontact with them. Undoubtedly information had cil, who handed them an order just passed by the been received by the members of Council of the Council, directing that the prisoners be immediately death of Thomas Gilpin and John Huut, from sent to Pottsgrove, in the county of Philadelphia, diseases brought on by their exposure, and the and there discharged from further confinement: want of accustomed comforts, inseparable from their each one of them was furnished with a passport to 1 John Hunt, produced much feeling on behalf exile; and they knew the grief and indignation that place. He also said that the Council had awakeued thereby; they therefore, with the hope of directed him to inform them, "that any further warding off a part of the odium likely to attach to application to them was unnecessary, as they would the release of the prisoners. It was certainly a this continuation of injustice on the part of the wanton disregard of the feelings of their friends, Council; they urged that an opportunity should and of the respect due to the community, thus to be afforded them to hear and answer whatever command the restoration to their homes and fami-charge could be brought against them; that they near connexions of the Friends in banishment lies, of two highly esteemed Friends who, they were innocent men, who had suffered on suspicion and near Winchester, think ourselves bound by knew, had already been liberated by the hand of and without a hearing, and they demanded to meet strongest ties of natural affection, sympathy death from the power of the oppressor. The last their accusers and to show that they were guiltless official act of the President of the Council was his of any hostility to the cause of their country. a charity and compassion so far to prevail in letter to the two persons appointed to conduct the They likewise pointed out, that as the Council had ar minds, as to take off the bonds of those in prisoners back to Penusylvania. He died in a little made it a penal offence for any American citizen to enter Philadelphia without permission from Con-Before the order for the release of the exiles was gress, the Executive Council, or the Commanderong attachment to their native country, and a finally passed, four women Friends—wives of four in-Chief, and they had not received such permisevolent disposition to mankind in general, to lie of the sufferers—left the city—then occupied by sion, they were not fully liberated, and were yet the door of a people professing the tender and the British army-and crossing the lines, visited prevented from going to their families. But all lends to go to Lancaster and endeavour to move He at once wrote to the Executive Council, urging and ask for passports from General Washington, Society of Friends, had shown a correct appreciation of their principles, and treated them with justice and courtesy. Accordingly, a letter was written to the General, which was carried to him by a Friend. He at once directed the necessary passports to be prepared, which were signed by him, and with these the Friends proceeded to their homes. The minutes of the exiles close with the following remark: "Thus, through the favour of Divine Providence, we were restored to our families, in a way and at a time, we had little reason to expect it; which is worthy our humble gratitude, in addition to the many mercies we have experienced in our exile; and it should be a cause of further confidence in Divine Providence, to endure such dispensations as may be permitted to us, through the future part of our lives."

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

EUROPE .-- News from England to the 6th inst. It is stated that the English government has sent a strong note to the French Emperor, protesting against the extension of the occupation of Syria by the French marks at his discretion.

forces.

The position of affairs at Gaeta was unchanged. It was reported that negotiations had been-opened between the Sardinian government and Francis II., for the conclusion of an armistice at Gaeta. An insignificant attempt at reaction transpired at Naples on the 30th ult., but it was easily suppressed. Naples and the provinces were tranquil.

It is reported that a Sardinian loan of 300,000,000 francs is about to be negotiated at Paris.

The Bank of France has raised its rate of discount from $4\frac{1}{2}$ to $5\frac{1}{2}$ per cent.

The King of Prussia having died, his brother, the Prince Regent, has assumed the reins of government as King William V. A Berlin letter says, the excitoment in all the States of the German confederation greatly resembles the agitation, which preceded the events of

The Paris Patrie reports that the Emperor of Russia has resolved to grant a Constitution to Poland, and to place it on a similar footing to that in which Hungary stands in the Austrian empire. The Russian Imperial manifesto declaring the abolition of serfdom, is expected to be published on the 3d of Third month next.

The Liverpool cotton market was quiet, with a small decline in prices. The following were the quotations for breadstuffs. Flour, 29s. a 32s. 6d.; red wheat, 11s. 3d. a 13s. 3d. per 100 pounds; white, 12s. 6d. a 14s. Business was restricted by the difficulty of removing produce into the interior, in consequence of the severity of the weather.

The London money market was active. Consols, 923

UNITED STATES. -Affairs at Washington .- Early in the present week, no definite action had been taken by Congress, in relation to any of the various propositions for conciliation and compromise, which have been before the two houses. A Washington despatch asserts that the prospect of an early adjustment of the difficulties was more favourable than it had been a week previously. The probability of any successful invasion of the capital, or of attempted forcible opposition to the inauguration of the next President, had in great measure disappeared. The South Carolina Commissioner, Col. Havne. on his arrival at Washington, required the immediate withdrawal of the U. S. garrison from fort Sampter, as the is actermined, the same the only means by which peace could be preserved. The treason to be committed within his jurisdiction." demand was not acceded to, and it is stated that he has 1 Phicadelphia.—Mortality last week, 558. withdrawal of the U. S. garrison from fort Sumpter, as been induced to moderate his demands at the request of been induced to moderate his demands at the request of the Southern members of Congress, who insist that South Carolina shall not proceed to further acts of a constitution of the Southern possed the hill for the hostility at present. The Florida revolutionists having in seized all the undefended property of the United States, in that State, desired to othat mossession of for Flick.

The Pacific Railrand bill and the Critical Composition that State, desired to othat mossession of for Flick.

The Pacific Railrand bill and the Critical Composition that State, desired to othat mossession of for Flick.

The Pacific Railrand bill and the Critical Composition of Francisco Composition of the State of the S rison. The Governor of Florida telegraphed to the Mayor of New Orleans for the aid of 2000 men, in order to effect its capture, and the latter promised to raise diate action on his propositions, and expressed the hope them within forty-eight hours. Subsequently, a despatch signed by numerous secessionists, members of Congress, was sent to Florida, arging their friends there loan will be awarded to the lowest bidders, and the rate will average about 10½ per cent. Both the amount of-fered, and the rates asked show greater confidence in the stability of the government, than was felt when the previous five millions were taken.

Banking .- The number of banking institutions in the United States, on the 1st inst., was 1392, with a capital of venue, will be needed for th $421.880.000. The circulation was $207,102,000; due 1st of Seventh month next. depositors, $255,802,000; specie, $83,594,000; loans and discounts, $691,945,000; stocks, real estate and other assets, $109,251,000.

The Southern Confederacy .- A committee of the Mississippi Legislature has reported resolutions to provide for a Southern confederacy, and to establish a provisional government for the seceding States. It is proposed that the Southern convention shall meet at Montgomery, Ala., on the 4th prox.

Georgia.—On the 19th inst, the State convention passed the ordinance of secession from the United States, by a vote of 208 years to 89 nays. A resolution was adopted to continue the present postal and revenue systems until ordered otherwise; also, all civil federal officers.

Alabama.—The Legislature has passed a bill to provide against the invasion of the State by sea, by rendering all pilots bringing foreign vessels into Mobile, liable to fine and imprisonment, and authorizing the commander of fort Morgan to destroy all beacons and land-

Louisiana .- About two-thirds of the delegates to the State convention are reported to be in favour of immediate secession.

Virginia.-The following resolution has been adopted in the Legislature, by an unanimous vote. "Resulved, that if all efforts to reconcile the unhappy differences between the two sections of the country shall prove abortive, then every consideration of honour and inte-rest demands that Virginia shall unite her destinies with her sister slaveholding States."

Arkansas.-The Legislature has unanimously passed a bill submitting the convention question to the people, who are to decide at an election to be held on the 18th of next month. In case of a majority favouring it, the Governor is to appoint a day for the convention to assemble.

The North and the South .- The slave States, not including Maryland and Delaware, which, it is supposed, will in all events, remain united with the North, have a free population of 7,691,519, and 3,912,479 siaves; total, 11,604,098. There are in the whole Union 31,300,000 inhabitants. Deducting the slaves, there are 27,400,000 free persons, and of these nearly 20,000,000 are in the free States. The States of South Carolina, Georgia, Florida Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana, have a free population of 2,287,649, and 2,165,72t slaves. Virginia, North Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, Arkansas, and Texas, have a free population of 5,408,870, and 1,740,758 slaves.

The Federal Revenue .- The Secretary of State has informed the various foreign ministers at Washington, that no clearances of vessels issued by any other authority than of United States officials, will be recognized, and that any payments of duties, except to such officials, will be regarded as mispayments, for which the parties paying will be held responsible to the U.S. government.

Immigration .- During the year 1860, there arrived at New York from foreign ports, 103,621 immigrants. They brought with them $7,875,000 in specie, of which $3,546,000 came from Ireland, and $2,860,000 from Germany. The total number of immigrants arrived at New York, in 1859, was only 79,322.

North Carolina .- The Governor of North Carolina has eremptorily ordered the State troops to evacuate the forts of which they had taken unlawful possession. "He is determined," it is said, "to allow no overt act of had terminated by the secession of the States they represented. After the withdrawal, Crittenden urged immethat the Union might remain a long time yet, and all the States be re-united. Saulsbury, of Delaware, and the two Senators from Pennsylvania, also warmly urged by all means to avoid a collision with the federal troops. the adoption of the compromise proposed. The House

New York .- Mortality last week, 414.

The Treasury Loan.—On the 19th inst., the Secretary of Representatives has been engaged upon the Appro-The Presum your,—on the four inst, the occurrency of the presentatives has one charge a ball of the Treasury ponend the bids for the second five mill-prisition bills, but the speeches have related chiefly to lious of Treasury notes. Nearly $12,500,000 was offered the perilous condition of the country. On the 21st, who, in all his intercourse with members of the at various rates of interest, from 83 to 12 per cent. The Corwin, of Obio, and Millson, of Virginia, made c servative addresses, arging the members to devote the selves to a removal of the difficulties, which were bre ing up the Union. The Committee of Ways and Mer have received a communication from the Secretary the Treasury, stating that twenty millions of dolls over and above what will accrue from the ordinary venue, will be needed for the public service before lst of Seventh month next.

The Marketa.—The following were the quotations the 21st inst. New Fork—Red Western wheat, $1.3 s.

13.7; white, $1.50 a $1.55; rye, 73 ct. a 75 ct barley, 67 cts. a 68 cts.; corn, 69 cts. a 70 cts. for white; oats, 36 cts. a 37 cts. for white; oats, 36 cts. a 37 chiadelphia—Red wheat, $1.30 a $1.32; white, $1.4 $1.50; rye, 75 cts. a 76 cts.; new, yellow corn, 64 c a 65 cts.; old, 71 cts. a 72 cts.; oats, 34 cts. a 35 cts. a 35 cts. a 36 ct white, 65 cts. a 72 cts., old and new.

RECEIPTS.

Received from A. Buzby, for Jos. Taylor, Pa., $4, vc 32 and 33; from S. M., for Maria Marriott, N. Y., $ vol. 34; from Wm. Darlington, Pa., $4, vols. 33 and $ from Jehu Fawcett, agt., 0., for Jos. Painter, (omit Eleventh mo.,) $2, vol. 34, for Josiah Ratcliff, Io., $2. Theretain 10.7, 5.2, vol. 34, for Jossan Ratichi, 10, 5.2, vol. 34 and postage, for Jos. Stratton, S3.56, to 27, vol. 34, for J. L. Kiie and E. Bonsall, jr., $2 each, vol. 33, Isaac Carr, J. R. Carr, Sanal. Carr and Elizabeth Facett, $2 each, vol. 34, for Jane Crew, $2, to 26, vol. 36 or Jonathan Fawcett, $4, vols. 33 and 34, for March 10, vol. 34, vol. 35 and 34, for March 10, vol. 36, vol. 37, vol. 37, vol. 37, vol. 38, vol. 37, vol. 38, Fawcett, S4, vols. 33 and 34; from Mercy Cope, Pa., vols. 33 and 34; from Ed. Y. Cope, S4, vols. 33 and 3 from Sarah Ann Cope, Benj. Gilbert and Jas. Marsh, each, vol. 34.

At a meeting of the Managers of the Northern Sou house, held 21st inst., the demand for soup was fou to be unprecedentedly large, perhaps with one excepti There has been already 732 families supplied w tickets, comprising 1390 adults and 2280 children all, 2670 persons. On the 17th, 1238 quarts were d tributed; the daily average a little below 1200 quar Our friends are invited to call and see the Institution situated Fourth above Brown street, between the hor of 12 and 1 o'clock. Any contributions thankfully a ceived by either of the undersigned Managers.

JOEL CADBURY, Franklin street, DAVID SCULL, Arch street, HORATIO C. WOOD, 612 Race street.

SOUP-HOUSE.

The Society for supplying the poor of the city wasoup, has opened its house, No. 16 Griscom street. (In Green's court,) where sonp will be delivered to the po every day, except First-days, between the hours eleven and one. Donations in flour, meat, vegetabl &c., will be gratefully received at the house, or in m ney, by JEREMIAH HACKER, Treasurer, S. Fourth stree THOMAS EVANS, 817 Arch street.

Philad., First mo. 15th, 1861.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL

A Friend and his wife are wanted to fill the static of Superintendent and Matron at West-town Boardin School

Application to be made to either of the followi Friends: NATHAN SHARPLESS, CONCORD ; JAMES EMLI West Chester; SAMUEL HILLES, Wilmington; HEN COPE or WILLIAM EVANS, Philadelphia.

Twelfth mo. 10th, 1860.

DIER, on the morning of the 3d of Tenth month, 18e MARTHA, wife of William Askew, of St. Clairsville; member of Plainfield Monthly Meeting, Belmont conn

Ohio, in the seventy-third year of her age.

—, Twelfth mo. 29th, 1860, Caroling W., daug, ter of the late John Bacon, in the forty-third year of I age; a member of Philadelphia Monthly Meeting, af age; a member of Philadelphia wouldny Meeting, at a protracted indisposition of several years. Her frien have the consoling belief, that, through the operation of Divine grace in her heart, the washing of regener tion, and the renewings of the Holy Ghost, she expe enced a state of prepara ion for the great change, a has joined the just of all generations.

PILE & M'ELROY, PRINTERS, Lodge street, opposite the Pennsylvania Bank.

FRIEND. THE

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, SECOND MONTH 2, 1861.

NO. 22.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

Price Two Dollars per aunum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by

JOHN RICHARDSON.

AT NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

Postage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three onths, if paid in advance, three and a-quarter cents; any part of the United States, for three months, if id in advance, six and a-half cents.

> For "The Friend." Henry Hull.

(Continued from page 162.) Of his visit in Wales, the following remarks

ay reached Dolegelly to dinner. In the after-oon we walked to the meeting-house at Tydnyiends, and should not be neglected, though much and very useful on the journey." tigue is to be endured by those who visit them.

were before aware of.

which has occurred for forty years, though many
"The following morning we were joined by Barof the neighbours come in when notice is given "From Leominster we proceeded to the Halfvisitation was extended to those present.

ureg, in which Lowry Jones lived, from whom "Next morning we rode to Dolegelly, and at except the want of more solid weightiness of spirit electrons, that they had not heard of our intentended the meeting at Tydnygarreg, and from in some, who it is to be feared, are too ready in on of having a meeting with them; and as the thence proceeded to Machnylleth, which we reached speaking to business, and thus in some instances, ay was fir spent, we concluded to return and about five o'clock in the evening; and many of the three was a want of that order, in which, one by cet with them next Frist-day. Lowry Jones linkbits.is being in the streets, we sought a place one, all have the opportunity of relieving their to hold a meeting with them, but could not obtain minds. Care is necessary in speaking to the business, and tely the habitation of a valued Friend, named any, except the open space under the town-house, ness of meetings, as well as when we arise to speak orothy Owen. As I stood looking round, my where a large number assembled and stood, there in the ministry, that we wait to feel the mind clothed ind was comforted, in considering how happy being no seats. I was drawn forth in testimony with a right qualification, so as to speak to the any of the worthies have been, who were stransers to affluence. Wales has been the birth-place bustle seemed at first to make against the solemn. Friends are thinly dispersed over Wales; and bemany, who lived and died in the Truth; but ity which it is precious to experience at such times, ing now assembled from various and distant parts, we the number of such seems small indeed, com-yet the power of Truth brought them into great they appeared to enjoy each other's company very red with what it was in the first breaking forth stillness. The day following we rode to Landy-Truth. Many of these valiants removed to loss, and had a comfortable meeting, in an meeting, then the town. From Breckon I proceeded, consylvania, and others were gathered from works to come at an inn. Here Barnard Dickinson leit us ad directly below us the sea was dashing. As it gallery with us, who, as I afterward learned, had factory opportunity the same evening." as considered dangerous to pass, we dismounted a few days before taken for his text the same passom our carriage to walk; and being told that the sage of Scripture which I felt engaged to bold up. "I visited the family of Richard Jaco carest way was under the hill on the sea-shore, I to the view of the people, in order to show the ne- in deep affliction, in consequence of the sudden tout to go, while the Friends led the horses, cessity of a quiet inward waiting to experience a removal of this servant of Christ. The loss to the Vhen I had got a part of the way, I found the preparation of heart from the Lord, to worship him widow and children is indeed great, but they have de was so high, that I could not pass a point of a right; and that this was equally as necessary for not to sorrow as those who have no hope; for alocks against which it was dashing, and the dis the minister as for the hearer. I also showed, that though his removal was sudden and unexpected, since being considerable to return the way I came, all external performances entered upon in the will there is good reason to believe he was prepared. attempted to climb the rocks, but found them so and wisdom of man, and without this preparation, He had been at meeting, and was drawn forth in one as to endanger their rolling upon me. The were no more acceptable in the Divine sight, than fervent prayer, to the comfort of many minds pre-lemma I was in, affected my nerves with an un-the performances of the Jews, which the Lord re-sent, and soon after he got home, was scized with sual trembling, and I became alarmed. I now jected. The aforesaid elergyman had asserted in a fit, and died before night. The church too has stout to walk back, fearing that the rising tide his discourse, that the charge to the disciples to sustained a great loss in his death; there are now rould enclose me and prevent my escape; and "tarry at Jerusalem until they were endued with but two men Friends in the station of ministers in seeing a path slanting up the hill, where the sheep agent of the state of t situation, I became more collected, and was favoured opinion, as indeed, I had abundant cause to do to ascend the mountain safely. I did not entirely from my own experience; for I often find, that as recover myself, however, until I had passed the my mind is reverently bowed under the baptizing precipice. When I had got part way up, I saw influence of Divine power, doctrines are opened to Barnard Dickinson coming to look after me, as they me with a degree of clearness that I had never perceived the tide had risen much higher than they before witnessed, under a consideration of which I have often been much humbled. Thus it was this "We were kindly received by Henry Owen, who evening, words flowed like oil, and the power of had lost his wife a few months before. She was a Truth produced a great stillness and solemnity, worthy daughter of a Friend, who possessed the both in the house and among those who stood estate called Llewyndec, where the meeting had around it, so that the priest's hearers, many of been held ever since it was set up in the time of whom were present, had an opportunity of wit-Oliver Cromwell; during all which period the pro-perty had been held by an Owen. The number of is fulfilled to us in this day, 'Where two or three Friends has for many years, and perhaps always, are gathered together in my name, there am I in been small, and now there are only three, one of the midst of them.' I was glad I had not heard of whom could not understand English. Beside these, his reviling Friends in his sermon, as I afterward a woman has attended meetings with them for learned he did; and also, that I did not know who several months past, the only instance of the kind he was—though had I known, my testimony would ard Dickinson, and set out for Wales, and next that a minister is to be with them. This was the year's Meeting for Wales, held at Breckon, which case in the meeting we had, and I thought a renewed was owned by the great and gracious Caretaker of his people, and the business was well conducted. rewards, and the few who remain, love their to return home-his company had been pleasant then rode to the house of a person who had recently become acquainted with Friends, and united Respecting a meeting at Leominster, he writes: with them so far as to receive the messengers of "In the evening we had a very crowded public the Gospel. We were strangers to each other, but "We passed a very dangerous piece of road, "In the evening we had a very crowded public the Gospel. We were strangers to each other, but bout three-quarters of a mile in length, which is meeting, not more than half the people being able the cementing love of our heavenly Father made ug out of the side of a hill, at the toot of which to get into the house. A clergyman sat in the our meeting mutually pleasant, and we had a satis-

"I visited the family of Richard Jacob, who were Munster province, was held at Waterford, in which tors. I was enabled to feel something of the cementing love of our heavenly Father, and in the strength and devoted great attention to agriculture and nity which he had shown under the clouds of it thereof was led to set forth the necessity of a faith- architecture; the number and magnificence of his ful individual engagement at our respective posts, palaces proved his absolute sway. But it is his a want of which appeared evident; yet, there is a intellectual pre-eminence that gives such interest and forty-third of his reign; leaving as his suc precious remnant preserved amongst them, who to his character, heightened as it was by clearer, cessor a son, then only eight years old, but wh have proved their attachment to the cause of God, more spiritual views of religion, than prevailed, and had given rich promise of future greatness. Amon whilst the shield of the mighty has been vilely cast which, like light out of darkness, shined in his many other charges suited to his comprehension away, and many fallen as upon Mount Gilboa, heart. His subjects had lapsed from a more sim-the dying monarch besought the child, not to neg where there is neither dew nor rain.'

In this town there are many hopeful and sweet-scented gums." youth, for whom, in the course of the time I spent | Nezahualcoytl was among the most illustrious of the virtuous are to dwell after death, while the amongst them, I was frequently engaged, I trust the Tezcucan bards. Many of his odes descended wicked will suffer pains unspeakable. He invoke under the love of the Gospel, which drew me from through several generations, and may still be pre-the Most High, as 'He by whom we live,' an my dear kindred and friends in a distant land, served in some of the dusty repositories of Mexico 'who has all things in himself.' He recognize Often was my spirit bowed in reverent supplication or Spain. His latter years he devoted to study and the sun for his father, and the earth for his mothe for them, to the Father of mercies, that he would meditation, "giving utterance to his feelings in If he could not entirely abolish human sacrifice he pleased to have them in his holy keeping, that songs, or rather hymns, of much solemnity and derived from the Aztics, he, at least, restricted the they might grow up in his favour, and come for pathos." An extract from one of these will convey to slaves and captives." (To be continued.)

the skies, and, plunging into boundless space, mea-cemetery is full of the loathsome dust of bodies and the extinction of the Indian dynasty forever sure its proportions, and define its systems, but it once quickened by living souls, who occupied most interesting character is Nezahualcoytl, the and power, and empire.

| from the Northern States, $169,162,770, while the monarch of Tezcuco. Tezcuco was one of the "But these glories have all passed away, like imports were $305,312,349 into the Northern States, $169,162,770, while the Northern States, $169,162,770, whi chief nations of Anahuac, and, at the time of the the fearful smoke that issues from the throat of States, and $32,955,251 into the Southern State conquest, had long been a friendly rival of Mexico. Popocatepetl, with no other memorial of their The registered tonnage of the United States but far its superior in the approaches to civilized existence than the record on the page of the 2,507,401 tons, which is of vessels employed life. Nezahualcoyotl, gifted with an understand- chronicles. ing far beyond his age and country, being estab-lished by the success of his arms in absolute power, took many judicious measures for the ad-mingled with the clod; and that which has befallen almost all enter at Northern ports, and also the vancement of his people. Among these the most them, shall happen to us, and to those that come the exports of the South are made almost whol extraordinary was the establishment of a tribunal, after us. Yet let us take courage, illustrious no in Northern and foreign vessels. These facts she "to which all works on astronomy, chronology, bles and chieftains, true friends and loyal subjects, how little prepared the proposed Southern con history or any other science were to be submitted, -let us aspire to that heaven, where all is eternal, deracy is to become soon a great commercial n before being made public. This body which was and corruption cannot come. drawn from the best instructed persons in the "At length, about the year 1470, Nezahualkingdom, with little regard to rank, had supervi- coyotl, full of years and honours, felt himself sion of all the productions of art, and of the nicer drawing near his end. Almost half a century had (falsely called charity,) although opposite in the fabrics. It decided on the qualifications of the clapsed since he mounted the throne of Tezcuco. appearances, frequently proceed from the sa professors in the various branches of science, on the He had found his kingdom dismembered for the various branches of science, on the He had found his kingdom dismembered for the various branches of science, on the He had found his kingdom the various branches of science, on the He had found by sanchified, we fidelity of their instructions to their pupils, the do-tion, and bowed to the dust beneath the yoke of a ficiency of which was severely punished, and it foreign tyrant. He had broken that yoke; had into death; that not only the earth in them mig instituted examinations of these latter. In short, breathed new life into the nation, renewed its antit was a general board of education for the councient institutions, extended wide its domain; had there hath been frequently fruitless and unsatured to the councient institutions of the councient institution of the councient institutions of the try. On stated days, historical compositions, and seen it flourishing in all the activity of trade and tified efforts to engrait the remains of the first Ads

The Tezcucan king was successful in conquest, ple faith, and were imbued with the sanguinary lect the worship of "the unknown God," regret "The meetings on the following day were fa- idolatry of the Aztees. "He endeavoured to wean ting that he himself had been unworthy to knot youred seasons, in which a tender and affectionate them from their degrading superstitions, and to Him, and intimating his conviction that the tim call was extended to the youth, under a persuasion, substitute nobler and more spiritual conceptions of would come when He should be known and wor that a renewed visitation was afforded them from the Deity." He reared a pyramidal temple, ela-shipped throughout the land." His descendant and historian says of him, "He cloud of witnesses can still bear their testimony to known God, the Cause of causes." "No image was well instructed in moral science, and sough the love he has toward the children of believing was allowed in the edifice, as unsuited to the 'in- above all things, to obtain light for knowing the parents-may they be wholly given up to his direc- visible God,' and the people were expressly protion through time, that so a succession of standard hibited from profaning the altars with blood or any tor of heaven and earth, by whom we have ou and testimony bearers may be found in the mili-other sacrifices than that of the perfume of flowers being, who never revealed himself to us in huma their strength fails, and they sink into the dust. reign, the Mexican king, Montezuma, plundere All the round world is but a sepulchre; and there his brother monarch of some of his most valuab is nothing which lives on its surface, that shall not possessions, and arrogated to himself the title be hidden and entombed beneath it. Rivers, tor-rents, and streams move onward to their destina-Nezabualpilli sunk under his misfortunes, heigh cannot unravel the mysterious Past of our coun-thrones, presided over assemblies, marshalled armies, subdued provinces, arrogated to themselves port shows that the total value of exports from the But in the records that are left to us, by far the worship, were puffed up with vain-glorious pomp, Southern States last year was $187,626,686, at poems treating of moral or traditional topics, were agriculture, gathering strength from its enlarged into the plant, which is of an immortal nature resources, and daily advancing higher and higher this divides in Jacob, and scatters in Israel." in the great march of civilization. All this he had S. Scott.

as in the others. On Seventh day, the 20th of recited before it by their authors," and prizes of seen, and might fairly attribute no small portion.

Tenth month, the select Quarterly Meeting for value were distributed to the successful competion of it to his own wise and beneficent rule. His long and glorious day was now drawing to its close and he contemplated the event with the same sere morning, and in its meridian splendor." He died in the seventy-second year of his age true God. He believed in one God only, the Cres form, nor in any other; with whom the souls ward acceptably to the help of his servants, in adwancing that cause, which is dignified with immortality and crowned with eternal life."

Nezahualpilli, his son and successor, was a r
markable prince, worthy of his father in power tality and crowned with eternal life."

Nezahualpilli, his son and successor, was a r
markable prince, worthy of his father in power
the most joyous career of their vanity and splendor, mind and integrity of character. Yet, during he
the most joyous career of their vanity and splendor, mind and integrity of character. Yet, during he
the most joyous career of their vanity and splendor, mind and integrity of character. Yet, during he
the most joyous career of their vanity and splendor, mind and integrity of character. Yet, during he
the most joyous career of their vanity and splendor, mind and integrity of character. Yet, during he
the most joyous career of their vanity and splendor, mind and integrity of character. Yet, during he
the most joyous career of their vanity and splendor, mind and integrity of character. Yet, during he the most joyous career of the most joyous career of their vanity and splendor, mind and integrity of character. Yet, during he
the most joyous career of their vanity and splendor, mind and integrity of character. Yet, during he
the most joyous career of their vanity and splendor, mind and integrity of character. Yet, during he
the most joyous career of their vanity and splendor, mind and integrity of character. Yet, during he
the most joyous career of their vanity and splendor, mind and integrity of character. Yet, during he
the most joyous career of the most joyous career

The condition of the aborigines of America, is a rents, and streams move onward to their destina-subject of deep and lasting interest. Now and tion. Not one flows back to its pleasant source, ened as they were by gloomy prognostics of a new then this interest is stirred afresh, by some new They rush onward, hastening to bury themselves calamity, which was to overwhelm the country discovery of remains,—the fossil fragments of an in the deep bosom of the ocean. The things of In the year 1515, he sunk into the grave, and, I unwritten history. But the inquiries they suggest, yesterday are no more to-day; and the things of his timely death, escaped witnessing the fulfilment bey do not answer. The mind of man may pierce to-day shall cease, perhaps, on the morrow. The of his own predictions, in the rain of his country

> American Commerce .- The last Treasury R the foreign trade, and of this aggregate, the Sou

"A mistaken zeal and supposed moderatic

^{*} See Prescott's "Conquest of Mexico."

he Necessity of Waiting for the True Guidance and Balance, to Avoid Shipwreck.

Seek principally after improvement in acquaintace with the sanctifying hand, and to learn the ay and end of its turning; and also that stillness required, when we see that no hand but the ord's can open the way, and bring the longedr help. Let the feeling knowledge hereof, and humble hope and trust to be guided and baneed by the invisible Holy One, guard and stay through the unsettling struggles that may attend

. For, betwixt the converse and pursuits of the deavours, and the earthly nature in ourselves; th the gilded appearance of penetration, comchensiveness of reasoning and finesse, of many nong the more learned part of mankind, and the tle, low, yet pure and powerful seed, which at nes makes itself known indisputably, yet hides elf again, creatures are liable to dangerous tossgs; and good beginnings, ideas, and desires, of od's own begetting, have unhappily miscarried; d too many, for want of looking towards the Amount of ra ne port, have been gradually, by one wave after 1860, inclusive: other, carried off to sea again, and shipwrecked 183 the loose, unbottomed conceptions and interests 188 this world, "The world by wisdom knoweth 184 t the things of God, neither can it know them, 184 cause they are spiritually discerned;" but "the 184 cret of the Lord is with them that fear Him," 184 id "in quietness and confidence is their strength." S. Fothergill.

For "The Friend,"

184

184

184

184

Weather Statistics. We find the following record in the Philadelphia edger:

Comparative Temperature of each Month in the years, 1851 to 1860, made up from the mean hour after sunrise, and every evening about 101 greatest in 1859, when the fall was 58.12 inches. clock, at M'Allister & Brothers':

Months.	1851	1852	1853	1854	1855	1856	1857	1858	1859	1860
							18.5 36.3
	39.8	37.3	39.4	39.0	35.4	29.7	34.3 40.8	43.6	43.6	40.1
ау	59.0	59.1	59.5	61.5	58.4	56.7	57.4	55.4	60.2	60.3
ly	75.1	74.3	73.4	77.6	77.1	76.6	73.8	76.1	71.8
ptember	65.4	63.7	65.9	67.8	66.2	64.4	54.8	64.0	63.4	62.8 53.9
ovember	40.0	41.3	45.3	43.0	14.9	41.4	41.3	38.9	43.8	43.8 29.8
r. each year

it of doors, and exposed to the north

I, give the state of the thermometer at that Instition, and the amount of rain which fell. Highest, west and mean temperature of each month

HOOG GELG	moun com	JOINGULO OI C	aca mon
	Highest.	Lowest.	Mean.
nuary,	57	4	33	legrees.
ebruary,	69	1	$32\frac{3}{4}$	"
arch,	75	27	451	"
pril,	82	30	501	"
ay,	88	47	641	"
une,	93	57	721	"
aly,	94	59	76 į	66
ugust,	94	58	73	44
eptember,	88	45	651	46
ctober,	74	39	561	"
ovember,	75	13	463	44
ecember.	49	12	321	44
,

53‡ degrees.

Mean	temperature of	each month	of the	yea
for 36 y	ears, viz: from	1825 to 1860), inclu	sive
January.	32 degrees.	July,	76 de	gree
February	7, 323 "	August,	73	"
March,	411 "	September,	UUT	"
April,	51 } "	October,	0.4.1	66
May,	621 "	November,	441	44
June,	711 "	December,	$34\frac{1}{2}$	"
Mean	temperature of	the seasons:

mortified world, however, polished by human Winter, 33 degrees. | Summer, 731 degrees.

Spring, 513 "	Autumn,	$54\frac{3}{4}$	"
Amount of rain for ca	ch month of	1860	:
January, 3.22 inches.	July,	0.98	inche
February, 2.76 "	August,	8.40	44
March, 1.41 "	September,	2.85	44
April, 3.80 "	October,	4.52	66
May, 3.82 "	November,	6.13	46
June, 2,89 "	December,	3.31	66
Total amount for the	year, 44.09 i	nches.

Amount of rain for each year, from 1838 to 38,	45.29 inches.	1850	54.54 i	nches.

39,	43.73 "	1851	35,50	44
10,	47.40 "	1852	45,74	44
11,	55,50 "	1853	40.66	"
12,	48.53 "	1854	40.18	**
13,	46.91 "	1855	44.09	46
14.	40.17 "	1856	33.93	66
15,	40.00 "	1857	48.28	44
16,	44.38 "	1858	40.45	44
17.	45.09 "	1859	58.12	66
18.	35.00 "	1860	44.09	66
19,	42.09 "	2000
п,		0.0

The average of these 23 years, is 44.32.

The smallest amount of rain recorded in any observations registered every morning about half year, was in 1825, when only 291 inches fell; the

The greatest fall of rain in any one month, was 11.80 inches in the Seventh month, 1842; the least in the Ninth month, 1846, 0.25 inches.

Timber and its Decay.—The present century has been marked by very active inquiry into the nature of wood, the structure of its fibres and cells, the derangements to which the fibres are subject, the effect of these derangements on carpentry and ship building, and the best mode of removing the evil. There have been many curious facts ascertained concerning the qualities of different kinds of timber, and especially in relation to its decay. The explanation of dry rot may be stated as follows: All trees contain within their pores a kind The above records have all been made from the of albumen, which contributes to the sustenance of me thermometer, which has been kept constantly the growth; but when the tree is felled, and the trunk and branches converted into timber, this al-The following weather statistics for 1860, pre- bumen becomes an evil, instead of a good. When red by Dr. Conrad, of the Pennsylvania Hospi- the albumen is moist—which it always is before the timber is seasoned-it has a tendency to enter into a sort of fermentation; if this state commences, the albumen becomes a favourite relish for certain minute animals, who forthwith bore for themselves chemical mode of protecting timber from ruinous 12 inhabitants for each house. decay. Sulphate of iron has been recommended. also sulphate of copper, as a steep-preservative of wood. Col. Congreve proposed the adoption of a is least sensible of his own.

The mean temperature for the year, at the Hos- coating of oil of tar; afterwards, a mode was brought pital, was 54 degrees. The mean annual tempe- forward of extracting the air from the pores of wood, rature deduced from observations for 36 years, is and forcing chemical agents into the porcs thus vacated, then came a multitude of proposals respect-ar, ling the substance to be employed—coarse whale es. oil, oil of birch bark, unslaked lime, pyroligueous es. acid, &c. But the albumen cannot be driven out; and if dried, it has a tendency again to absorb moisture. Hence, chemists have recommended, and practical men have adopted, modes of rendering the albumen insoluble, by combining it chemieally with some other substance; being made insoluble, it defies moisture.

Have we been Converted?-This is a question which great numbers of professing christians ought to ask themselves, seriously, and with deep solicitude. It is not every excitement which is the work of the Spirit of God. Not all sorrow connected with sin, is repentance unto life. Not every petition, however intense may be the desire that prompts it, or however numerous the tears that accompany it, is prevailing prayer. Not every joy that is felt in connection with religion, is joy and peace in believing.

The question whether we have been converted. is not to be decided by the recollection of certain feelings experienced years ago. What is wanted, is not a recollected experience, but a present experience.

Many, it is to be feared, are resting their hopes for salvation upon the recollection of what they once felt, or what they once were, not upon what they now are.

The question whether a man has now a firm footing on solid ground, is not to be determined by a recollection that his feet were once taken from the mire, and placed upon a rock. Is he now walking on firm soil, or floundering in the mire? The question whether a man is in health, is not to be determined by the recollection of a recovery from a fever many years ago. Is the cheek ruddy, the pulse even, the head clear, and the arm strong now? And in like manner, the question whether we have been converted, is to be determined not by our recollections, but by our present experience. -S. S. Times.

To the Rich .- Your fortune, perhaps, has removed you from the necessity of labouring for your bread; you have been politely educated; you have no trade or employment to take up your time, and so are left to be disordered by corrupt passions and pleasures. Whilst poor people are at hard labour, drudging in the meanest offices of life, you, oppressed with idleness and indulgence, are relieving yourself with foolish and improper books, feeding and delighting a disordered mind with romantic nonsense and poetic follies. If this be the effect of riches and fortune, only to expose people to the power of disordered passions, and give them time to corrupt their hearts with madness and folly, well might our blessed Saviour say, "woe unto you that

New York and Philadelphia. -- According to invisible passages through the wood, to attain the the late census, the number of dwellings in New object of their search; these passages admit air and York was 54,338, and in Brooklyn, 30,523-total moisture, which so act upon the chemical constitu- in both cities, 84,861. In Philadelphia, the numtion of the sap as to afford a kind of soil in which ber of dwellings was 89,979, or 5,118 more than minute parasitical plants grow; these plants, sprouting the two cities first named, which have together ing out, force holes for themselves through the wood, a population nearly double that of Philadelphia. and appear on the surface as dry rot. Attempts Each dwelling in the latter city averages 63 inhainnumerable have been made to find out some bitants; in New York and Brooklyn, there are over

He deseants most on the failings of others, who

For "The Friend." "THY WILL BE DONE."

No strong words of ancient sages Teaching self-reliant power, Come to us adown the ages In our deepest trial-hour;

Stripped of all poor human wisdom, turn we to the Holy One, And His prayer is ours, "Father, not my will, but Thine, he done." Oh, the wondrous, patient feeling Sent in answer to that prayer

The calm depths of peace revealing Under every anxious care; Though we needs must fight the battle, ere the victory be won.

Still we cry to Thee, Oh! Father, "not my will, but Thine, be done." Though in love, we fain would offer Labour in His holy Name, If He sayeth rather.—"Suffer, And for glory, bear the shame;"— Shall we not accept it meekly, as His own beloved Son,

And bow humbly to the mission, if thereby His will is But a little while it lasteth,

Pain, and prayer, and parting days; For the heavenly morrow hasteth, Where we meet in joyful praise; There no longer weak and fainting, in the race we have to run.

We will read His ways, rejoicing, that His will on earth was done!

boat, the Cora Anderson, as she was passing Green. I cannot help craving the prayers of the spiritual every day remember to walk so, that at the end ville, Miss., whither he had gone on business, to travellers in the Lord's cause, that His own works the race, which to some of us may not be distant return home. Shortly after being under way, our may praise Him; that man's works and workings we may be admitted into rest and peace, where sl Natchez friend observed a pensive looking little be laid low." attention of the latter, with whom he was soon en- received into glory; very peaceful and in full awaking, thou wast brought to my remembrane gaged in conversation concerning the child, inter- faith he died." rogating him in such manner as to elicit answers not always agreeing with previous statements, and remembrance; think I never felt thee and wetter that thou have the content of the said and camined. She it is a very low time, and so poor, I have feared to a vest to England, in the Select Year Meeting:—'When I said my foot slippeth, it would not write: mercy, O Lord, held me up.' Well, I said the The little girl was taken aside and examined. She it is a very low time, and so poor, I have feared to are still slippery places, and felt earnest in desi and she was an orphan, and had been taken from say much or little, lest I might increase my weak. He may still continue to hold thee up. I was an asylum in New York, by this man; that her ness; was a little encouraged to hope I was not that thou shouldest 'hold fast that thou hast; I have reasoned to the complexion brunchette; that wholly forsale to day in meating, those second this man told her he was going to the South with her, where, as his adopted child, she would have a "At our last Monthly Meeting, we had our through has been one of deep wading; and hidde good home; that black hair was preferred in the friends, — and —; both had great and good exercise oft thy portion, attended with many disouth, and prettier than hers, and that he had scruice; did not flatter us; nay, verily." taken her to a barber, and had her hair dyed black. "121/6.—Brother B. seems to be recovering; is are as full as any previous, so that my soul crav He also told her that if she would allow him to put very quiet and peaceful in his mind; I could wish His mercy may still hold [thee] up to his praise some yellow dye on her skin that her complexion he might never be worried again with the business and that His mind and will through thee (thou would become much whiter in a few days, and of this world; but as he cannot get along through in thy apprehension,) a feeble instrument, may it that he had put the stain on. On bearing these (time without business, he will of necessity meet forth to the comfort and help of many poor soul statements, the girl was taken charge of by the cross occurrences, so that I had better desire for captain, and potash, soap and water being applied, him, that he might meet them with composure. I ment in thy close provings and trials, which to the dyes were taken off, and the light hair and light complexion brought to light. The pretended varied scenes of life; I have never been able to it might seem as if I had something in view; b master was seized by the excited passengers, who account for it. I feel for him as a parent for a cannot say that I have, only the love I bear to the were about to deal with him summarily, but it was child." finally arranged to lock him up in a state-room "17th.—I have looked back at your situation, lest anything harm thee. I trust thou wilt excu

captain of the boat to New Orleans, and placed in thankful." one of the orphan asylums in that city .- The Natchez (Miss.) Free Trader.

For "The Friend." our Late Friend, H. Williams.

of the month, and my eye lighted on the sentence at the bottom of the page of the Eleventh month often. E. C. gave us a short, lively exhortation in the 'Moral Almanac.' I read it, and it seemed to cast our dependence on the Saviour, and call of very good, and as is often the case, my mind turned Him in extremities, as did the disciples when tosse to thee, with an earnest wish that the causes there in a tempest and likely to be wrecked: 'Maste mentioned as 'baits,' may never catch thee; I carest thou not that we perish?' He arose an want thou should read the sentence. Beside these, rebuked the wind, and there was a great calv there are many ways of falling into error and from He kept to the point or text, and was soon done; the Truth; I know of nothing that will preserve, seemed fresh and lively.' but humble watching with a prayerful heart; eyeing that faithful monitor, which in mercy is furnished to each of us."

degree of satisfaction: came home stronger in on whom 'help is laid:' and my present bodil Painting a White Girl to Make her a Slave.—

body and mind than I went: though not without health is such, that to go to thee would add to the A gentleman of this city hailed an up country with many in our Society, in most places. * * * all the near friends of the dear departed, might

"26th .- It seems, indeed, as if my strength was girl, aged about nine or ten years, whose black "26th.—It seems, indeed, as if my strength was "The contents of ——'s letter this evening dibair and yellowish brown skin would indicate that failing: I only desire my day's work may go on make me truly glad; I remembered 'weeping ms she was a mulattress. There was something about with the day, and that it may be your happy ex- endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning her that interested him, and he inquired of the perience also dear children, seems to be at present Well, we are helped through many troubles; captain concerning her. He was informed that she my earnest desire. Your father's work was cut fresh occasion for gratitude." was a slave belonging to a man on board, whom short at an early age, and very unexpected to himthe captain pointed out, who said he was taking self and to me, yet, I believe fully, he was pre- I can assure thee it has done no harm; I can u her to New Orleans, to sell her, he having bought pared; after wearisome days and sleepless nights, derstand every word of it; that, or something, he her for $160 in North-western Missouri, on the wherein the end was, no doubt in wisdom, hidden brought thee very near in feeling; almost all wiborders. Our Natchez friend eyed the little girl from him, he was able to say, 'He believed he ter have I been thinking of thee with earnest d and the border man so closely as to attract the should die; but he felt an assurance he should be sires for thy preservation. One morning lately, hair was light, and her complexion brunette; that wholly forsaken to-day in meeting; there seemed no man take thy crown.' It is not possible for a until the boat should land. In the meantime the and have believed patience will help to carry you me, and remember me when it is well with thee. boat had passed St. Joseph, and when a few miles through the difficult windings of the day; for hubelow that town rounded to, to take in wood. At man life is like the journey of a day. My and he shall bless thee. Now do, dear this point, how, or in what manner, is not known, mind, after settling at home, was very peaceful and watchful in time, over those given you; that the border ruffian escaped from the boat, leaving quiet; on retrospect it appeared I had received you may be clear when the solemn inquiry may his baggage behind. The girl was taken by the many favours, and there was a little ability to b

"29th .- I was particularly struck, on readin Thomas Shillitoe to find him, out of great weak ness and difficulty and trial, as a last resort, sum Extracts from the Letters and Memorandums of best, which to me, conveyed instruction. If unit of the conveyed instruction. der our provings we endeavour to do our best, n "Tenth mo. 3d. _____ is wonderfully suited doubt we shall be helped, as was his experience in the company of his young friend, R. M., who even to admiration. We move along from day t has come to spend a few days with him; he does day, with as much to do as can well be done, c seem very clever, as indeed he ought to be; but gotten through with; and if only favoured to d so many of our nice young Friends take a stand the right thing or the 'best,' it matters little wh: at a certain place, and let their day be spending." the difficulty is. We are all verging on towards "24th .- I took up the almanac to see the day state of 'fixedness,'-to be ready is all at last.

"Our meeting yesterday, to me, was better tha

"First mo. 4th, 1846 .- My mind has been muc with thee lately, in sympathy, under these clos provings, and gladly would I come and sit wit "I performed my visit to the 'school' to a good thee; it would comfort me so to do; but thou know is doubtless gone.

"The contents of -- 's letter this evening di

"14th .- I herewith send thy 'little note,' thoug "Twelfth mo. 4th .- I have borne you closely in relative to a visit to England, in the Select Year

> "I feel nothing but the language of encourag leads me to remember thee, and to be very jealo ade; where are those lambs I have given in the life; teaching them to read, write and cipher, &c., mourned. I might enlarge, but this is enough, g our good. In our meeting on Fifth-day, he face seek thy own. d E. C. were very much exercised, and laboured ace of repentance was found.

"I thought it a fresh call, to be more serious. . . . To tell thee I hardly ever felt worse, would no help. I see things so discouraging [in Soety.] It takes more than one thing to ake up 'soundness;' defects are various, and they ill pull down."

"Second mo. 24th .- The first thing of moment

th humble thankfulness, inasmuch as she was eatly favoured. I shall not soon forget her excise and testimony in ——— meeting; remark-ple, indeed, as things have turned out. But oh! en. My heart truly was pained for dear hen last here, and I feel no better yet, she was tender and affectionate, and yet the way we took other familiar and useful articles.

a mystery to her."
"I want thou should write to me of your Quarrly Meeting; shall feel desirous all may be done e times."

are good things, but various other important les- perhaps, to show thee where my dwelling place has "30th.—As regards thy business, I want that sons are or ought to be learned at school. It may often been for mouths past.—Thomas Scattergood. ou shouldst keep in a good safe way; and be seem needless to write all this to thee, who is not ery careful not to go counter to thy better judg- a school teacher; but yet are there not duties in ent. A blessing will rest on faithful, honest in thy line? Yes, I should say there were, and very ustry.

"We had two meetings Fourth and Fifth-days. and clear in conduct and in all thy dealings, giving . S. had been around from house to house, seek- others their just due, then thou mayest with a good

"I went to see our friend E. C. lately; he is ithfully and very impressively with those who often quite poorly; continues to feel much on Soad run on in their own way until the door of mer-ciety matters. I endeavoured to encourage him to was near to close, unless a speedy stop and a trust that a right way would be made when the after a heavy meal, the weight of the digestive or-time came."

and for all kinds of brick work exposed to intense the arrest is partial, the sleep is disturbed, and heat which would melt common bricks. They are there are unpleasant dreams. If the meal has been made from a natural compound of silica and alu-recent or hearty, the arrest is more decided, and mina, which, when free from lime and other fluxes, the various sensations, such as falling over a preis infusible under the greatest heat to which it can cipice, or the pursuit of a wild beast, or other imat transpired after thou left, was our little silent be subjected. Oxide of iron, however, which is pending danger, and the desperate effort to get rid ceting on First-day morning; how others felt I present in most clays, renders the clay fusible of it, arouses us; that sends on the stagnating on the know, but my feelings were so tried, I was, when the silica and alumina are nearly in equal blood, and we awake in a fright, or trembling, or a rolling billow; and I greatly feared the proportions, and those fire clays are the best in perspiration, or feelings of exhaustion, according to prose of going to meeting was in a very slight which the silica is greatly in excess over the alu-the degree of stagnation, and the length or strength gree answered.

mina. When the alumina is in excess, broken of the effort made to escape the danger. Eating a "I know enough of myself to assuredly believe, crucibles, glass house pots, and old fire bricks, large, or what is called "a hearty meal," before at while unpleasant matters remain unsettled, ground in powder, are substituted for the common going to bed, should always be avoided, and is the en if we are in a good degree clear of the cause, silicious sand used in the ordinary processes of frequent cause of nightmare, and sometimes the t it worries and harasses and creeps in, in the brick making, but which, in this case, would be in- cause of sudden death. ace of food and rest. . . . The stout will, the jurious, as having a tendency to render the clay see of self, the disregard of the riews and confusible. Fire clay being an expensive article, it is rend of others, were the leading cause of this suffusible. Fire clay being an expensive article, it is solvering Mirrors.—The use of quicksilver, for coading the backs of mirrors, proves, as is well dig. I desire, however, in as much quietness as mines, to mix with it burnt clay for the sake of known, injurious to the health of the artisans, and ssible for my mind to attain, to bear along, hop-economizing the clay, and diminishing its contrac-g a better day will dawn. Though I coufess, I tion. It may be here remarked, generally, that to prevent this unpleasant result. Baron Liebig at tampering with the time, in mercy given, to the various argillaceous earths used in brick- and other chemists have been experimenting for both out our souls' salvation; but as of ourselves making, are generally mixed with some other submany years upon the possibility of substituting thout Him, we can do nothing; so I wish to stance, being for the most part unfit to be used silver for it, without incurring the expense. Their ait, with an earnest desire to stand open to con-and are strong, and exceedingly plastic, but can-four years ago Licbig hit upon a process which, "I am obliged for the reading of ----'s letter; not be dried without splitting. Others, being light after the severest tests, proves to answer the purcar woman, she may truly refer to that first visit sandy clays or loams, are too loose to be made into pose perfectly. The silver, by this precess, adheres bricks without lime as a flux, to bind the materials so firmly to the glass that in cannot be separated together. Others again are natural compounds of even by the action of a furnace. It is only one alumina and silica; but these, if free from lime, 6,400,000th part of an inch in thickness, but covers magnesia, or metallic oxides, are exceeding valuations, and reflects twenty per cent. fear dimness has overtaken many of us since ble clays, being, from their infusible nature, adapt. more light than the old mirror, while the cost is ed for making fire bricks for lining furnaces, for not enhanced, and the health of the operatives is making crucibles, glass house pots, and numerous preserved. A manufactory has been established,

The Strength of Israel in yet with his People. st in our school; so we seem to be favoured. I as the garden of the Lord: joy and gladness shall time before his decease, sh our every-day walk may be so guarded as to be found therein, thanksgiving and the voice of courage the good, in our scholars, and help them imelody! There are precious plants, even little in the best sense. I believe there never was a children in this city (London,) who, by keeping of Gloucestershire, a county in England, containing the faithful to the Lord, will in due time have this ing a population of nearly 500,000, are tenantless;

Position in Sleeping .- It is better to go to sleep on the right side, for then the stomach is very much in the position of a bottle turned upside down, and the contents are aided in passing out by gravitation. If one goes to sleep on the left side, the operation of emptying the stomach of its contents is more like drawing water from a well. After going to sleep, let the body take its own position. If you sleep on your back, especially soon gans, and that of the food, resting on the great vein of the body, near the back bone, compresses Fire Bricks .- Fire bricks are used for furnaces, it, and arrests the flow of blood more or less. If which finds abundant employment for a large body of artisans.

The Principles of Friends .- I continue con--Thou knowest the fat and full must be fed with firmed in the belief, that the principles of Friends seently and in order in every respect. As regards different food from the panting, bleating sheep approach nearer the truth, and hold forth the spime uneasiness on account of -, our duty in Alas! alas! how many there are of the first de-rituality of our Saviour's dectrines and offices, in a these things is so clearly pointed out in the scription, not only under our name, but amongst more clear manner, than those of any other reliw Testament, and had we not that inward guide the people at large, although the Judge appears to gious society; open, I trust notwithstanding, to the direct us, favoured as we are, we should be be so near the door. Well, dear friend, amid all import and torce of the apostolic declaration, that thout excuse to miss our way; but this two-fold which we may have to wade through for the Lord's in Him, uncircumcision availed no more than cirrector lays us under heavy obligation, when we sake, I think I see, and hope I am not deceived, cumcision; unless the new creature be quickened rector lays as under neary oungation, where sace, that the strength of Israel is yet with his people, and formed in us. My prayer, both for myself use one of another. I am sad about the signs of and that the declaration of the prophet will be and friends, is, that we may be willing so to die to more fully brought to pass: 'The Lord will com- all that is of the old man with his deeds in us, as "Third mo. 10th.—Received a letter from — fort Zion: he will comfort all her waste places; he that the pure nature may be revived, whose life is tevening, saying she is willing to come and as will make her wilderness like Eden, and her desert, hid with Christ in God.—William Lewis, a short s of children. There is such a mighty torrent of song, or one similar to it, to sing. The Lord is while in the seventh the number of prisoners is so stom and fashion, that many young females are blessing Zion; but Oh! how poor and desolate she small, that the Justices decided at the sessions not uch carried away with it. School-keeping in-lats in this great city: are not her sons found slain to appoint a successor to one of the officers who cases in importance, in my view, as I advance in at the head of every street? And for this I have had resigned.

Ocean Splenders.

five fathoms of water. The crystalline clearness of the Caribbean sea excited the admiration of food. Columbus, who, in the pursuit of his great discolife shows itself in an endless variety of forms, the the scene easily becomes giddy.

"On the clear sandy bottom appear thousands of sea-stars, sea-urchins, mollusks, and fishes of a the same manner as mammarize, when similarly with their spirits upon those solemn and all-impo brilliancy of colour unknown in our temperate seas. agitated during the day time, sink in the liquid, Burning red, intense blue, lively green, and golden and then again ascend to the surface. - Hartwig. yellow, perpetually vary; the spectator floats over groves of sea-plants, gorgonias, corals, alcyoniums, flabellums, and sponges, that afford no less delight to the eye, and are no less gently agitated by the heaving waters, than the most beautiful garden on earth when a gentle breeze passes through the waving boughs." Charles Darwin paints in vivid colours the magnificent spectacle presented by the surface which, during the day, is seen as foam, now her bows two billows of liquid phosphorus, and in Town, the breaking of the waves produced so strong a light that the room in which the natural-ists of the good Remembrancer, furnish at times a lists of the expedition were seated, was illumined waterboard through the day, when assailed by as by sudden flashes of lightning. Although more temptation. than fifty paces from the beach where the phenomenon took place, they tried to read by this won- and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for cor- the coming, life and miracles of the Son of Got from the waves that bathe the southern promoutories have unity with what He revealed, and commanded thing less than to aid helpless man in the path of the old and new world. But what is the cause hely men to record for the benefit of those who regeneration, through the application of those trut of the beautiful phenomenon widely spread over should follow. Their religious experiences often and promises, by the Holy Spirit, and to perfe the face of the ocean? How comes it that at cer- answer to each other, like face answers to face in the man of God in the Divine principles and my tain times flames issue from the bosom of an ele- a glass, and the blessed Spirit which moved the teries of the gospel, promotive of his growth to d ment generally so hostile to their appearance? holy ancients to write, will often carry home their stature of a perfect man in Christ Jesus.

a very dark night.

Without troubling the reader with the ground- sayings with quickening efficacy into the hearts of What a sad mistake on the part of parent less surmises of ancient naturalists, or repeating their successors. It is good for old people also, especially mothers, who should exercise a saving the useless tales of the past, I shall at once place who have long been familiar with the Scriptures, influence upon the children, to be decking at myself with him on the stage of our actual know- to have them frequently revived in their remem-ledge of this interesting and mysterious subject. It brance. The apostle Peter, writing to those who and in themselves, and to recommend them to the is now no longer a matter of doubt that almost all had "obtained like precious faith" with himself, corrupt, fashionable world, by a showy exterior inferior marine animals, particularly the jelly-fishes, says, "This second epistle, beloved, I now write instead of restraining, and watching over them many mollusks and annelides, crustaceans and inunto you, in both which I stir up your pure minds keep them from evil, and to teach them, that lovir fusoria, possess the faculty of emitting a phosphoric by way of remembrance, that ye may be middlel and fearing their heavenly Father, and abstainl light, and adding their mite to the grand phenoof the words, which were spoken before by the from everything displeasing to Him, is their dut menon. When we consider their countless multi- holy prophets, and of the commandment of us, the and would contribute to dignify them, and to seem tudes, we shall no longer wonder at such magni-ficent effects being produced by creatures individ-which has been made by our heavily Pather, for which is to come. If parents faithfully dischar ually so insignificant. In our seas it is chiefly a helps in the work of our salvation, can be lightly their duty, in watching over and religiously trait minute gelatinous animal, the mammaria scintil-esteemed, or the proper use of it neglected, without ing their beloved offspring, and they should live lans, which, as it were, repeats the splendid spec-loss. We have need of all the benefit that we can maturity, not only will their domestic enjoyme tacle of the starry heavens on the surface of the derive from them, by the aid of the Holy Spirit, be of a pure and refined character, but when t may by daylight be seen floating at the top. For of the doctrines of Truth, and in the living experwill add to their own peace, and they can part from

When the sea is perfectly clear and transparent, one spot exhibit a milky opacity. Under the mi-frequent reading of the Holy Scriptures, and has it allows the eye to distinguish objects at a very croscope they plainly appear as globular animals, ing their time and thoughts too much occupied i great depth. Near Mindora, in the Indian ocean, with an indentation corresponding to the dull spot worldly pursuits. the spotted corals are plainly visible under twenty- on the surface, from which a tolerably long tentacle proceeds, moving slowly about as if in quest of terest, in hearing read the early lives of eminer veries, ever retained an open eye for the beauties proceeds from the animals, for on straining the sions have been made upon their tender minds, that of nature. "In passing over these splendidly phosphorescent water it entirely lost its inmones often persons apprehended at the time. If the adorned grounds," says Schopf, "where marine property, while the mammarize remaining on the should be removed by death before reaching me filter shine on being moved, the intensity of the turity, it is a great favour to them, when passin boat, suspended over the purest crystal, seems to light being always in proportion to their number. through tedious, suffering illness, that their mind float in the air, so that a person unaccustomed to And finally, on gently shaking in the dark a bot have been exercised upon heaven and heaven tle of sea-water containing some of these animals, things, by the precious influences of the Spirit small luminous bodies are seen to fall and rise in their Redeemer, invisibly operating and communin

> For "The Friend." Keep Religion Uppermost.

A short season daily spent by every family in bodily affliction they have to pass through reading the Holy Scriptures, and seeking to the Lord for spiritual strength, is a highly useful ap-children, for want of parental religious concern an propriation of time, and is often blessed to those care, have grown up with very little right sense to who sincerely practise it. What employment is the dignity of their creation, its object, and of the sea, while sailing in the latitudes of Cape Horn on more becoming, than the parents and children to daily duty to live in the fear of God, that by the gether or separately, reading the Scriptures, with aid of his Spirit, they may glorify Him in the world There was a fresh breeze, and every part of the hearts turned to the Father of mercies, that they and in his service in the church. Where such may derive benefit from the revelations made to the unhappy condition of children, do they not o glowed with a pale light. The vessel drove before holy men-from the experiences they had of the ten show a great want of almost everything the mercy and goodness of God, and to be reminded dignifies a rational, accountable being, and the her wake she was followed by a milky train. As of their duty to lift up their souls in humble prayer they bave little desire but to indulge the anima far as the eye reached, the crest of every wave was for his continual preservation, that they may live passions and appetites, and the pride of the huma bright, and the sky above the horizon, from the in conformity with his divine will—with the spirit heart. We do not mean to convey the idea, the reflected glare of these livid flames, was not so and doctrines of the gospel, and thus be made merely reading the Holy Scriptures, and commit utterly obscure as over the rest of the heavens. partakers of the precious promises. Such a practing them to memory, will overcome our evil pre While La Venus was at anchor before Simon's tice pursued in the fear of the Lord, will often have pensities. Nothing can bind the strong man, an drous oceanic light, but the successive glimpess rection, for instruction in righterousnes, that the his doctrines and precepts, his death, resurrectivere of too short duration to gratify their wishes. In an of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished and ascension; and He has marvellously preserve this was ese the same nocturnal splendor which unto all good works." Those who are made men those sacred records to this day, in the state shines forth in the tropical seas, and gleams along of God by the regenerating power of his Spirit, perfection in which we have them. He must have our shores, burst forth from the Arctic waters, and while they keep their habitation in the Truth, will had a great design in all this, which could be not the perfection in the perfection in the perfection in the perfection in the perfect of the

the most part transparent as crystal, they only in rience of a growth in it, by their neglect of th

Many young children have shown a strong in persons recorded in the Bible; and there is reaso It can easily be proved that the phenomenon to believe, that more deep and available impretant subjects, of which they had read in their bible Many Divine promises recited there, may be brough to their recollection by Him who constantly watche the lambs, and gives them patience, and hope, an faith, enabling them to endure as christians, th

Is there not also reason to believe, that som "All Scripture is given by inspiration of God, men to record his dealings with his chosen people ocean.

On filling a vessel with the luminous water, the seeking mind. It is to be feared that many have seiousness of having done what they could throu small mammarize, about the size of a pin's head, suffered loss, both as regards a correct knowledge Divine help, for their preservation in the wor ngdom of their blessed Redeemer.

The Fall of Table-Rock, Niagara.

years were nothing to them, restored the old its final poise.

riage; and, as we approached the projecting tform, I pointed out to my companion a vast ck or fissure which traversed the entire base of cause we are upon it.'

ne." etched our heads timidly over the frightful depth ow, and we felt our natures quelled in every red, and drew herself together in alarm. Our em in the hope and trust, that He who has been perhaps sits poised in a succession of steps or | Glass for Telescopes.—An object glass of great next week.

Wilkes, editor of the Spirit of the Times, gives jocosely, though not without alarm-I seized my it. To make good object glasses, the plan is to pockety, inough not without animal secretary of the falling of fast as our feet would carry us, toward what might cible, this being heated so high that it will almost the parts which have elapsed since I first be called the shore. We burst into a laugh, when pour like water, and is kept stirred in order that ited Niagara, I find many changes have been we regained the land, and, jumping into our car- it shall be homogeneous and of as uniform density de. The precipice has visibly receded, and the riage, felt actually as if we had made a fortunate as possible. This stirring is difficult, because the racious torrent still keeps eating into the river's large, the actually as n we had had a bitunder possible. We had been to soft, and as stirrers of pipe-clay ky bed from year to year. Table Rock has before we had proceeded two minutes on our way, are used—which, occasionally touching the sides of len, but that was partly caused by me; the Tower a thundering report, like the explosion of an earth-the crueible, rub off particles which injure the still more perilously towards the edge, and mentoes of new victims are creted here and there type the river's bank. The same shop-keepers, the their goods; the same lazy Indians, with their their goods; the same lazy Indians, with their d-work trinkets; and the same loitering couples, bation caused by our flying footsteps, disturbed the piece in it an object glass is made—the flint half 1 under twenty years of age, and looking as if exactness of its equilibrium, and thrilled it from of it—the other half of it is made of greenish tinted

I having again got in good practice at handing hurrying people, and during the following half-liable to injury, being much weaker: in fact, a quarters, I was several times on the point of hour we were told a hundred times in advance of wafer put on it, with paper over it, will, when dry, ling about me to see if I had not ten years or so the next morning journals, that a lady and gentle-pull off some of the glass with it. It is well known spare along with the rest.

In au who were on the Table Rock, had gone down that it requires two kinds of glass to make an ob
I said I had something to do with the falling the falls. We are told that the trot of a dog would jeet glass. The various experiments which have Table Rock, that broad shell on the Canada shake old London Bridge from end to end, when been made on colours of the rays of light, their e which, in 1850, jutted over the very cauldron it would not be disturbed by the rolling of heavily different reflexibility and refrangibility, prove the the seething waters, but which tumbled into it loaded trains. Table Rock had probably not been fact that the red ray passes more directly through

Just so far as any have an interest in Christ. -So far only as men come by faith, repentance and rock, remarking that it looked wider than ever amendment, to be Christ's, Christ is theirs, and as appeared to me before. The lady almost shud- he has an interest in their hearts, they have an red as she looked at it, and, shrinking back, de- interest in his love and salvation: that is, so far red that she did not care about going to the as they are obedient to his grace, and take up his ge. 'Ah,' said I, taking her hand, 'you might cross, and follow him in the ways of meekness, well come on now that you are here. I hardly holiness and self-denial, so far they have an intenk that the rock will take a notion to fall merely rest in Christ, and no farther. And here there is no condemnation to them that are in Christ Jesus, "The platform jutted from the main land some because such walk not after the flesh, but after the ty feet, but to give the visitor a still more fear- Spirit; for we have seen a shoal or sand here, projection over the raging waters, a wooden upon which we fear many thousands have split, dge or staging had been thrust beyond the ex- and which we desire to avoid, and are carnest that me edge for some ten feet. This terminated in others may beware of it also; viz., that because mall box for visitors to stand in, and was kept Christ died a sacrifice for the sins of the whole its position and enabled to bear weight by a world, by which he put mankind into a capacity adderous load of stones heaped upon its inner of salvation, and has given every one a talent of l. The day was very bright and hot, and it grace to work it out by; they presume upon that ing about lunch time at the hotel, but few sacrifice, and sin on, without a thorough repentance, itors were out, so we occupied the dizzy perch reformation and conversion to God, not dying with Christ to the world, but living in it, according to "We gazed fearfully out upon the scene, we the lusts and spirit of it. Such as these may be assured, that where Christ is gone, they shall never come; for, says the blessed apostle, God sent his re by the deafening roar that seemed to saturate Son to bless us, by turning every one of us from as it were, with an indefinable dread. 'This the evil of our way. So that the contrite, humble, a terrible place,' said I. 'Look under there and meek, and self-denying people, are those that have on what a mere shell we stand. For years and the true and full benefit of Christ's coming, sufferars the tooth of the torrent in that jetting angry ings and mediation, and of all those holy ends for following shows where the hishops and priests come eam has been gnawing out that hollow, and some which God his Father anointed and gave Him to from: y this place must fall.' My companion shud- the world, viz., to be the Way, Truth and Life, Light, Leader and Saviour, to be a King, Priest, es swept the roaring circle of the waters once Prophet, Sacrifice, Sanctifier and Mediator; being more than half of the forty-nine bishops of this ain; we gazed about in fearful fascination, when sensibly felt of all such to reign over their hearts, ldenly, turning our looks upon each other, each to teach them God's royal law, to give them savpopulsed a corresponding fear. 'I do not like ling knowledge, and to mediate, atone for, sanctify place!' exclaimed I, quickly. 'The whole and justify them in the sight of God his Father, se of this rock is probably disintegrated, and or defence and deliverer from evil, will bestow notches, ready to fall out and topple down at any size is exceedingly difficult to make of adequates a same mercy upon their dear children, if they unusual perturbation. That fissure there seems to purity and perfectly homogeneous. Glass has been ey Him, and that they shall meet again in the me to be more than usually wide to-day! I think poured on an iron-table, then rolled out by a metal we had better leave, for I do not fancy such a roller; object glasses have then been made of this, finish; and, besides, my paper must be published by cutting out a piece and placing it so that, while heated to sufficient pliability, atmospheric pressure

"With these very words-the latter uttered half would give it proper form; but there were strize in crown-glass, as it is called. The flint-glass is put orama step by step. The effect was magical, "In a minute more the road was filled with inside and the crown out, because the fint-glass is a certain day in the month of June, of that, by well-remembered year. About noon on that perhaps never; and, therefore, whenever I hear it made to get rid of the prismatic colours entirely, yell-remembered year. About noon on that perhaps never; and, therefore, whenever I hear it made to get rid of the prismatic colours entirely, yell accompanied a lady from the Clifton House the Falls. Arriving at Table Rock, we left our something to do with its fall." any translucent medium; and the experiments great reflector weighs about three tons. These solid mirrors are all difficult to manage in celestial observations, on account of the serious inconvenience of difference of temperature between them and air: for when the air is warmer, the moisture is immediately condensed on the mirror, so that very often the observer becomes disappointed, wipes it clean, and the polish of it suffers.

> Cause of Mourning and Sorrow,-In his retired hours, he was frequently in a state of mourning, expressing that the low and declining state of many Friends from that lively exercise of mind arising from sincere devotion to serve the Lord, was cause of deep sorrow to him; and that it was sealed to his understanding, that truth and righteousness would have shined with much greater brightness, had it not been for the captivating influence of the love of this world, and the alluring prospects thereof; from a sense of which, he was frequently engaged in supplication to the Lord, that he would be pleased, more and more, to wean the minds of Friends from the things of this world, and gather them to the true fold of rest .- Memorial of Ebenezer Miller,

> Popery in the United States. - A thousand facts prove that Popery does not suit the soil and climate of the United States, and is kept alive here only by constant supplies from abroad. The

> "The (Roman Catholic) Pilot complains that all seven of the Roman Catholic archbishops, and country, are of foreign birth, while not one hundred of the 2235 priests are native."

> The exercises of God bring into an hungry and thirsty state after holiness and rightcousness.

Where all Meet with the Lord .- So, Friends, when you come together to wait upon God, come orderly, in the fear of God : the first that enters into the place of your meeting, be not careless, nor wander up and down, either in body or mind; but innocently sit down in some place, and turn in thy mind to the light, and wait upon God singly, as if none were present but the Lord; and here thou art strong. Then the next that comes in, let them in simplicity of heart, sit down and turn in to the same light, and wait in the Spirit: and so all the rest coming in, in the fear of the Lord, sit down in pure stillness and silence of all flesh, and wait in the light; a few that are thus gathered by the arm of the Lord into the unity of the Spirit,this is a sweet and precious meeting, where all meet with the Lord .- Alexander Parker.

The Bad Spirit and Nature .- That is the bad spirit and nature, (which God will sharply punish,) that is ready to accuse others; and though it be never so had and guilty, yet will be excusing itself, and laying the fault upon others, or remembering some other fault of another, when it should be sensible of arms, pending the efforts to bring about reconciliaof and ashamed of its own .- Isaac Penington.

Cotton .- Late statistics show that five million persons are supported in England, by cotton; that Washington from Abraham Lincoln, urging his friends thirty million saindles are employed in the producto conciliation and compromise, and it is said that he tion of the yarn; and that the capital absorbed exceeds $750,000,000. Four-fifths of the cotton consumed in England-800,000,000 pounds-is American.

THE FRIEND.

SECOND MONTH 2, 1861.

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

EUROPE .- News from England to First month 13th. The weather had moderated, and a thaw had become general throughout England. The Bank of England had advanced its rate of discount to 7 per cent. The Liverpool cotton market was active, and prices had advanced \(\frac{1}{2}d \). Breadstuffs were dull. Flour was

The monthly returns of the Bank of France show a decrense of 82,000,000 francs in specie. The Bank has advanced its rate of interest to 7 per cent. It is stated that a negotiation is pending between France and all other continental States for the abolition of passports. It is also reported that the governments of Italy, Spain, Greece, and Turkey are contemplating a reformed tariff, in accordance with that lately made between France and Great Britain.

The intelligence from Gaeta was contradictory. despatch asserts that an armistice for ten days had been signed; another says the Sardinians had increased their vigilance and activity before Gaeta, and the Paris Moni-teur says the negotiations for an armistice remained without result. The correspondent of the Times had been ordered to quit Rome.

The Russian ambassador to China had ratified a treaty at Pekin, confirming the privileges of Russia on the Amoor river, and conceding further commercial advantages. By the late treaty between China and the allies, arrangements were made for the residence of ministers with sealed orders. She took two companies of soldiers from France and England at Pekin. All important from france and England at Pekin. All important from france ports are to be open to trade, and permission Pickens.—An election of delegates to the State convention is granted for foreign steamers to trade in inland

It is reported that Spain will shortly occupy the principal fortresses in Morocco, in consequence of the nonfulfilment of the treaty on the part of the latter power.

Four Days Later.—Hostilities had been suspended temporarily at Gaeta. The French fleet had left that port. It is however helieved that Francis II. is determined to defend Gaeta to the utmost

The Bank of France was still losing gold; a further rise in the rate of discount was expected, and a suspension of specie payments was even anticipated.

for Charleston, S. C.

in London, thousands of whom were in a destitute condition, and thronging the work-houses and every place, at which relief might be hoped for Letters from Berlin, Prussia, describe the winter there as the severest since 1812, the year of Napoleon's Russian campaign. From other European capitals, the accounts are of similar import, coupled with sad pictures of the distress and sufferings of the working

UNITED STATES. -Affairs at Washington .- On the 28th lt., the President sent a message to Congress, submitting a series of resolutions adopted by the Legislature of Virginia on the 19th, having in view a peaceful settlement of the questions now endangering the Union. These resolutions extend an invitation to all States, whether slaveholding or free, to appoint commissionters to meet on the 4th inst., in the city of Washington, to consider and, if possible, agree upon some amicable adjustment. The President warmly commends this action of Virginia, and expresses his gratification that other States have appointed, and are appointing commissioners as proposed, and hopes that when assembled, they will constitute a body entitled in an eminent degree to the confidence of the country. He urges Congress to pass no law calculated to produce a collision tion; says he still cherishes the belief that the American people will perpetuate the union of the States on terms just and honourable to all sections of the country.—It is asserted that letters have been received in indicates the border State resolutions as the basis of an

Senator Seward. Congress .- The debates in both branches of Congress have been interesting, but no new views have been presented. Several Sonthern members have spoken in condemnation of secession, and in favour of preserving the Union by peaceful measures. The House of Representatives baving passed the bill for the admission of

become a law

Progress of the Revolution .- Ten members of the Virginia delegation to Congress have issued an address to the people of Virginia, in which they say that it is in vain to hope for any measure of conciliation or adjustment from Congress. They urge prompt and decided action by the people of Virginia, in convention, as the surest means of arresting the impending civil war, and preserving the hope of reconstructing a union already dissolved.—The State convention of Mississippi has quoted at 29r. a 32r.; red wheat, 11r. 3d. a 13r. per 101 pounds; white, 12r. a 14r. 6d. The state of trade in meet at Montgomery, Ala., and has also passed an ordinance to raise cipit regiments of troops. Jefferson Davis has been elected Major General .- The bnoys in the harbour of Mobile located thirty miles from the city, have been destroyed, thus rendering navigation difficult and dangerous .- At Charleston, S. C., the erecting of fortifications progresses unceasingly; about two thousand persons, mostly slaves, are engaged in the work. Governor is disposed to regard the wish of the other Southern States, and delay an attack of fort Sumpter, but it was believed the uneasiness of the excited popu-lace will precipitate hostilities. The Legislature of South Carolina, in response to the invitation of Virginia to appoint commissioners, resolved, on the 28th, by an unanimous vote, that the separation of South Caro-lina from the federal Union is final, and she has no further interests in the Constitution of the United States .-About 3000 troops from Alabama, Mississippi, and Florida have assembled in the neighbourhood of fort Pickens, Pensacola, for the purpose of effecting its capture if the federal officers refused to surrender. 25th, the sloop of war Brooklyn sailed from Norfolk, with scaled orders. She took two companies of soldiers was held last week in Texas. The returns, as far as re-ceived, indicate a great majority for immediate secession .-On the 26th, the Louisiana convention passed the ordinance of secession, by a vote of 113 yeas to 17 nays. A proposition was made to submit the ordinance to a vote of the people, but it was defeated; ayes 45, nays The convention passed unanimously an ordinance, declaring the right of free navigation of the Mississippi river and tributaries by all friendly States, and the right of egress and ingress to the Mississippi by the vessels o all friendly States and Powers.

Union Measures.—Both branches of the Rhode Island

Several rifled cannon had been shipped at Liverpool, r Charleston, S. C. There was great suffering among the labouring poor New Jersey have dopted resolutions in favour of Sea. tor Crittenden's propositions or some other concilinto mensures, and appointing commissioners to meet the of Virginia. Advices from different parts of Missou indicate a strong union feeling, and that the State covention will be controlled by conservative men.-T Legislatures of North Carolina and Kentucky have a pointed commissioners to meet those of other States Washington, on the 4th inst. The State of New Yor has also decided upon a similar appointment, and the Governor of Maryland, the Legislature not being in se sion, has appointed five commissioners, all devoted Unio men. Ex-president Tyler, who was deputed by the L gislature of Virginia for the special purpose, had a lor and friendly interview with the President, for the pu pose of urging upon him the avoidance of any me sure tending to produce a hostile collision with the seceding States. The latter expressed his belief there would be no collision between the federal and State forces during the remainder of his administratio and said that he should certainly make every effort preserve peace.

Pennsylvania .- The entire public debt of Pennsylvani on the 1st of Twelfth month last, was $37,969,847. T debt has been reduced $2,238,882 within the last thre years. To pay this debt beside the ordinary services revenue, the State holds mortgage bonds derived fro the sale of canals and railroads, to the amount of $10 981.000.

Public Instruction in Illinois .- The number of comme schools in Illinois is 9162; scholars, 472,247; ma teachers, 8223; females, 6485; school-houses, 822 scholars in private schools, 19,264; average wages teachers, $28.82 per mouth to males; $18.80 to female adjustment. Similar views and wishes are attributed to total permanent school fund, $4,919,054.

New York .- The arrivals of specie from Europe at California have been very large for two or three wee Business of all kinds very dull. The New Yo World, however, denies the statement that there was much greater number than usual of persons in that cit out of employment, or that there is any great degree suffering among the poor. The applications for relief Kansas, it only awaits the signature of the President to the various benevolent associations do not indicate su destitution as prevailed three years ago.

Philadelphia.—Mortality last week, 282; croup, 1 consumption, 39; diptheria, 17; inflammation of t lungs, 19; scarlet fever, 24; adults, 111; children, 1

RECEIPTS.

Received from Amos Hibbs, O., $5, to 15, vol. 3 from Asa Raley, O., $2, vol. 33, for Jos. Raley, $4, vo 33 and 34; from Nathan S. Yarnall, Pa., per J. E., $ vols. 33 and 34; from James Bell, jr., Pa., $2, vol. 3 from J. J. Hopkins, agt., Md., for N. Huppman, $3, vo 32, 33 and 34, for Abel J. Hopkins, $4, vols. 32 and 3

SOUP-HOUSE.

The Society for supplying the poor of the city w soup, has opened its house, No. 16 Griscom street, (h sonp, has opened its noise, No. 16 Griscom street, in Green's court, where sonp will be delivered to the pt every day, except First-days, between the hours eleven and one. Donations in flour, ment, vegetabl &c., will be gratefully received at the house, or in a ney, by JEREMIAH HACKER, Treasurer, S. Fourth stre THOMAS EVANS, 817 Arch street.

Philad., First mo. 15th, 1861.

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend and his wife are wanted to fill the static of Superintendent and Matron at West-town Boardin School

Application to be made to either of the follow Friends: NATHAN SHARPLESS, Concord; JAMES EM West Chester; SAMUEL HILLES, Wilmington; HEI COPE OF WILLIAM EVANS, Philadelphia.

Twelfth mo. 10th, 1860.

MARRIED, on Fifth-day, the 17th of First month, 18 at Friends' Meeting-house, Adrian, Lenawee coul Michigan, Isaac H. Moshea and Elizaseth Hoag, b members of that meeting.

DIED suddenly, on the 25th of Twelfth month last the residence of her sister Rebecca Corse, ELIZABETI Moanis, in the seventy-sixth year of her age; a men of Wilmington Mouthly Meeting of Friends.

> PILE & M'ELROY, PRINTERS, Lodge street, opposite the Pennsylvania Bank.

RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, SECOND MONTH 9, 1861.

NO. 23.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

ice Two Dollars per annum, payable in advance. Subscriptions and Payments received by

JOHN RICHARDSON.

T NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

'ostage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three nths, if paid in advance, three and a-quarter cents any part of the United States, for three months, if d in advance, six and a-half cents.

For "The Friend."

Henry Hull.

(Continued from page 170,)

It is encouraging and consolatory to the chrisn traveller to contemplate the Divine support daily preservation graciously vouchsafed to the mble, self-denying servants of Jesus, who have ne before and are now entered into their rest. remarks :ey had their trials and discouragements to ensuch the reward is sure!

While in Cork, he writes :-"John Conran, who had been with me since the arterly Meeting at Waterford, opened his conn to visit the families of Friends in and about city, which was encouraged by the meeting, I informed Friends I had thoughts of accomh this prospect, and our friend John Conran Spirit. Amen. med much relieved, as he had been under great the name of Friends, some neglecting their reli-gious meetings upon slight occasions, others con-like a prelude to more general troubles. Was the forming to the world and the customs of the times, unrighteous exaction of tithes done away, I believe with scarcely the appearance of a Friend, and a the people would be more quiet; but they are so few were in a spirit of bitterness toward their fel-low members; but through adorable mercy, we on their side, to euforce their demands, as well as were enabled in meekness to set the judgment of by their own popish priests, that after paying them Truth over opposing spirits, some of whom ap- and their rent, they have little left to live upon. peared humbled. Often times a loving invitation Sometimes they are turned off their lands for was extended to the youth, like the flowing of the want of means to pay their rent, and seem almost heavenly oil, and many were much tendered there- in a state of desperation, which induces them to by. Having the comfortable answer of peace in resort to the iniquitous practice of plundering my mind, I was willing to continue pretty much others. through the visit, and was at about one hundred sittings; the engagement was an arduous one, be- the people may be brought to sit under the vine giuning early in the morning and being out late in and the fig-tree, where none can make them afraid. the evening, and the streets being very damp with Christ Jesus is the true and living vine, and were the almost daily rain, I took a heavy cold, which the pretended ministers, his ministers and servants, much affected my head, and obliged me to give up they would not seek their gain, as many of them on the last day and take some rest."

they would not seek their gain, as many of them do; but labour to bring the people to a conon the last day and take some rest."

sickness, during which he penned the following as they would that others should do unto them.

inter, and often were brought very low, but as loved wife and family often made me thoughtful, dwell securely: but commotions will increase in y kept in simplicity to the leadings of the Spirit with humble desires that they may be preserved the earth, and the people to whom he has made their Redeemer, it conducted them in safety through the vicissitudes of time in the sweet enjoy-himself known, having too much partaken with the ough all, to a peaceful termination of their mention of the mention of th ough we may think the trials of our day are bitter cups. It is long since I heard from them, forth with brightness, and her light be as a lamp uliarly heavy, yet His power is above all, and an anxiety sometimes rises in my mind when that burneth.

dicient to preserve and protect in seasons of the contemplating my situation, far separated from "After leaving Garryroane, I spent a few days statest danger and proving. What is wanting, them, and the uncertainty of life. This, however, at the house of Samuel Grubb, of Cloghceu, who living faith in the Lord Jesus, and steadfast is now sweetly and comfortably removed, by the with his family had been much alarmed by his lking in the way of his requirings, willing to arising of the language, "Good is thy will, O having been attacked upon the road and beaten ar his cross, and to endure patiently the allotted Lord!" under which feeling, I commend my dearly and robbed; his wife and son had also been robpermitted measure of suffering until He sees beloved family, with my own soul, to his holy keep-bed upon the highway. She appeared cheerful, et to change the dispensation. These have no ing, fervently praying that we may not forget his although tried at the state of the country, on her ug to fear, for it is an unalterable truth, that the mercies, which have been plenteously bestowed children's account. She is a valuable minister, mb and his followers shall have the victory. upon us, though at times we have been tried with and I had much comfort in being under their roof, ere is much in the experience of our dear friend outward besetments, and have had to endure losses. She rode with me to attend the Select Meeting at nry Hull, that holds out encouragement to the and crosses in the business of this world; yet not Clonnel, which was satisfactory. aggling and often depressed christian not to give so, but that we have had many comforts, even in "On the third of the week and first of the year but strive to hold on and endure to the end - the things of this life, which others have not en- 1811, was held the parting meeting for worship; joyed. My dear wife has been a true help-meet to after which we rode to Ballynakill, and were at a and cares of this life, and my children affectionate evening to Carlow, where we had a very large and kind. Lord, what shall I render unto thee for meeting with the town's people, in which the docall thy mercies? Grant that I may be preserved trines of the Gospel were freely declared to a solid grateful therefor, and that my dear wife and and attentive audience; the praise is due to Him children may experience thy watchful providence who only can still the raging waves of the sca. aying him to some of the families, as I found extended over them, to preserve them under thy After meeting, a kind friend handed me a packet mind engaged and way opened. Friends united keeping and in the blessed counsel of thy Holy of letters from my dear family, which she had couragement. Things appeared to be much out twice with Friends at their meeting. Whilst in this settle my mind, as I would not have time to read order amongst them, both from the minutes of place, as well as at other times, I felt a tender them before meeting. The information they conmeeting, and what we witnessed in sitting with sympathy with my dear friends, who are often tained respecting my family, was comfortable. In m, so that the work looked truly arduous.

Tried by the depredations of unprincipled men, who reading these tokens of tender affection from my we entered immediately upon the visit, and do not regard the laws of their country nor the beloved connexions and friends, my mind was so ends generally received us with freedom, and Divine law, but frequently commit robberies and filled with thoughtfulness respecting them, that I ers of the opportunities were to mutual satis- sometimes murder. Several Friends have suffered did not get to sleep until two o'clock in the morntion; but offices, alas! were humbling seasons the loss of property, but generally they have esting, and I was obliged to rise before six, in order in the want of a religious engagement amongst caped unburt, except the fright occasioned by to reach Ballitone in time for meeting. On Seventh-visited. Many were contenting themselves with threats made with drawn swords and presented day, we rode to Atby, and had a very comfortable

"Much yet remains to be done, in order that At Limerick, he was confined for some days by formity to the Divine will, and to do unto others Mystery Babylon must fall, whether Protestant or "During this time, the remembrance of my be- Papist, saith the Lord; then shall my people me, both in religious engagements and in the toils small meeting there next day, returning the same received before meeting, but prudently kept them, "From Limerick I went to Garryroane, and was without informing me thereof, lest it should nulittle labour in the ministry fell to my lot. I had prison of a few starving roots and shrubs. to lament the very low state of the meeting, but a hope arose, that there would be a revival and a return to health, out of the wounded and diseased is any description now extant, we shall refer to a we know, did not neglect the orchard and kitche state which many had been left in by the apostacy few only. The garden of Alcinous, so poetically garden. That the pleasure-garden made its adveof Abraham Shackleton, who rejected the doctrines described in Homer's Odyssey, is perhaps the most in Europe in a sort of Dutch dress, we think the of Truth, and lost himself in the labyrinth of conjecture and speculation. I reached Dublin on the of Bacon's idea: it was but four acres in extent, period these odd principles of gardening first car 7th of First month, and during my stay in the city, and even that contained a vineyard and an orehard into operation. We are of opinion that this contained a vineyard and an orehard into operation. attended their meetings as they came in course, as well as a garden with flowing fountains. But try was long free from them after they had a attended their meetings as tasy came in course, as went as a gardens of King Solomon existed previous to tained upon the continent. Be that as it may, too, in which the minds of Friends seemed united that of Alcinous; and though there is no precise know that the most hideous absurdities prevail in concern to have the discipline conducted to the account of them in the sacred writings, it is clear here, even so lately as a hundred years ago; I are immersed in the concerns of the world, and for we all know that they were planted with flow that day assailing them with the ridicule they c seem to have little thought respecting their duties ers, fruit-trees, and spices in abundance, and that served, and finally succeeding in ousting them from in the militant church; thus the work falls heavily 'they must have been a favourite resort of the public favour. It was the fashion with our gree on the few who are given up thereto.

Wicklow, I left Dublin and rode to Rathfriland, in "from the cedar of Lebanon to the hyssop on the presses; to twist the rough elms into the shapes Ulster Quarter, where a great fall of snow detained wall."
us nine days. The wind blowing very hard, while the mails from accomplishing their routes. Many above another, to a great height, and covered with champion flourishing on horseback at one end, a vessels were lost on the coast during the storm, and if soil for the growth even of the largest trees; the queen in perpetual youth at the other. Po a number of persons perished in the snow. One the terraces were raised on vaulted apartments launched the shafts of his wit against such ence sengers were obliged to sit in the coach all night, elevation they commanded an extensive view, and tuosi are called to compete for a whole catalog After the storm and snow had considerably sub- they were so firmly constructed as to survive for of such lusus nature. Among them were "i sided, with some difficulty I reached Moyallen, and some centuries the destruction of the monarchy. George, in box, his arm scarce long enough, b was at their meeting. Many of the Seceders live Little is known concerning the gardens of the will be in a condition to stick the dragon ne at this place, a number of whom attended and seemed well satisfied. Some of them see the loss they have sustained, several have returned to resort of the philosophers of the time; and the Friends again, while others appear obstinate. most celebrated teachers had gardens of their own, be had a pennyworth; a quick-set hog, shot Great is the loss which the dear youth have sus- in which they received and entertained those who into a porcupine by being forgot a week in rai tained; they seem estranged from the Truth and sought them for instruction or counsel. It is proba-weather; a lavender pig, with sage growing in] gone off into the wilderness of the world. Sor-ble, however, that the Greeian Academe bore but belly," etc. etc. rowful, indeed, are the effects of parents giving small resemblance to the modern garden. way to the wild imaginations of the human mind! What will they do in that solemn season of in-tion to gardening, except for purposes of utility, only by his pen, but by the example he set in l quisition, when the query will be, "What hast until a very late period of their history. The own garden at Twickenham. At this time, Ket thou done with those lambs which I committed to gardens of Lucullus are the first which are de- an artist by profession, turned his attention to t thy care?"

The Garden.

civilization among a people is the fondness for gar- few descriptions of a Roman garden with enters ture in lieu of the insipid formalities of the dening, and the prevalence of the practice of gar- into detail, is that given by Pliny, in speaking of school. He changed the tame level for the dedening manifested by them. The savage who hunts his Tuscan villa; and that, notwith-tending the clous contrast of hill and valley gliding impered his prey in the forest, who spears the fish in the praise it has met with from the commentators and tibly into each other; he planted groves on slig waters, or snares the wild fowl of the marsh, though lovers of classic learning, is not very creditable to eminences, extended the perspective by breaking he may rudely cultivate a little maize or grain for Roman taste in gardening. In fact, we find it up the distance with groups of trees, and shut of store against famine, has no notion of cultivating identical almost with the absurd and ridiculous the sight of deformities by screens of plantatic anything for the mere pleasure the sight of it will conceits which, said to have originated among the Instead of spouting water through pipes into basis afford him, and consequently has no notion of a Dutch, prevailed in this country and in France he allowed it to meander at pleasure, now conceal garden. Before the garden can exist, there must about the beginning of the last century and later, by thickets, now expanding into a lake, now bu be the sacred institution of home, with which the It is undeniable that the elegant Pliny delighted bling over a bed of pebbles in a brook, or rushi garden, if it be not locally connected, as it most in what would now raise the laughter of a London down the gorge of a ravine. He planted trees frequently is, is yet intimately allied, and of which mob; he speaks with boastful enthusiasm of his in accidental positions, on the banks, and left the it may even be said to form a part. When the box-trees shorn into unnatural shapes, of slopes their beautiful natural forms unmutilated; a home is established, the garden naturally follows, and terraces, of shrubs elipped to pattern, of pipes thus, concealing his art by his knowledge of a spreading around it a halo of brightness and beauses and case of shrubs elipped to pattern, or pipes thus, concealing his art by his knowledge of a spreading around it a halo of brightness and beauses, and cascades falling into a basin; exhibited what seemed a new creation to the eyer, and clasping it in an embrace of tenderness and of bay-trees and planes planted alternately, with of his wondering patrons. In a few years, Ke joy. That this is the natural instinct of civilized obelisks stationed between them, and of names and completely put to the rout all the old and ridicule man with regard to his home, we see everywhere: inscriptions in box, precisely in the manner of the notions which had so long prevailed, and had giv the site of the house is the site of the garden; and worthy Dutchmen of the time of William III. Can birth to a new science, which, under him, was though in our crowded cities Mammon has fixed it be that the worthy Hollanders, who inoculated the first time worthy of the name. At the prese his grasp on the soil that should blossom around the north of Europe with their cruelly vile conceits, day the old style of gardening must be sought our dwellings, and filled the adytum of the sacred did not invent them, but stole them bodily from the in old engravings, there being hardly a single st opportunity with a few Friends who lived near the temple with the tables of the money-changers, yet polished Roman consul? It looks very much place. On the following day, attended the fore even here the garden is a household word, though though that were the case.

and afternoon meetings at Ballitore, where but it is too often but little more than the unsightly. We may here quit the subject of ancient ga

real advantage of the members, many of whom that they must have been much more extensive; we find the best writers and the men of taste royal philosopher, who studied botany with the grandfathers to ornament their gardens with me "After attending meetings at Ballynakill and fervor of a man of science, and wrote of plants, sters carved in the thick foliage of yews and c

the snow was falling, drifted it so as to block up the hanging gardens of Babylon. They are sup- beautified his country garden with the fac-simile the roads, which stopped travelling and prevented posed to have been a series of terraces rising one a coronation dinner in greens, where he had t of the mail-coaches was so buried in a snow-bank, which formed a portion of the palace, and were mous stupidities; in a paper in the "Guardian that they were unable to extricate it, and the pas- kept cool by the overhanging foliage. From their he announces a pretended sale, at which the v

The Romans, it would appear, paid little atten-in gardening which he did so much to promote, n scribed as of any magnificence; and he, indeed, subject, and, being backed by the poet, soon a carried extravagaoce so far as to surpass all who quired patronage sufficient to enable him to test came after him. The Tusculan villa of Cicero, new principles. He abolished the high stone-wa though so often mentioned, is nowhere particularly inclosing the garden ground, and substituted a su described in his works. Virgil has a few lines on fence; and, seeing and feeling that all Nature w One of the least mistakeable of the evidences of the subject of gardens, but no more. One of the a garden, introduced the fair irregularities of N

We may here quit the subject of ancient ga dens, and leap a long interval of time; for it wou be but an unsatisfactory task to attempt to folk Among the most ancient gardens of which there the history through the middle ages. The monl living creatures, or to lop the oak into the form One of the great wonders of ancient times were some apocryphal Colossus. A retired cook actual iderstood as those of any other that could be 57 less than in Cuba .- Late Paper. med. The gardens now attached to the ancesal homes of England are as fine as any to be und on the globe, and some of them transcend uit, is a passion as well as a pleasing occupation; leaves men, judgment finds them. very county, every township, every parish has its Oh, what can prevent this ill conclusion? or what burn dim? Oh, never, let it never!" ontingencies of our lot. Flowers are the graceful the vain fashions of this world. ompensations which Nature scatters at random for and the same may be said of France, where, the gardens of the provincial châteaux, the old fields, fruit, vegetable gardens, &c., comprises and for the joy that was set before him, endure the yle is, under some modifications, partially pre-treed, and, strange to say, is not without its charms ben mingled with the new.

Kent was succeeded by "Capability" Brown—

ken wingled with the pew.

Kent was succeeded by "Capability" Brown—

kent was succeeded by "Capability" Brown man who, if less imbued with the principles of equal to 2,652,580 boxes, which, at the prices that life, endure His cross and despise the shame of it. that of some that the principles of the companion of the press of his peculiar talent, ere he died, in almost value of the molasses and rum produced on the The loaves they follow, but the cup of his agony rety county in England.

The reform which Kent and Brown inaugurated, is been carried out to the full, and far more contestly than either of them imagined, by the land-tely than either of them imagined, by the land-ape-gardeners of the present day. The principles largest crop, i. c., 269,360 tons,) the number of so thou for the love of Him, must humble thyself, then extra row may availed should as a well-acceptance. their art are now as well defined and as well plantations in Louisiana this year being 1308 or and be contented to be "or no reputation," that

> For "The Friend." Pride.

lornment. Almost every flower that blows on the hinder? What disappointments help, or what deemer." ce of the earth, which possesses the charm either frustrate? It delivers not from the common stroke; The keeper of the light house at Calais was once colour for the eye or fragrance for the smell, is sickness disfigures; pain mis-shapes; and death boasting to a traveller of the brilliancy of his lanbe found in the vast conservatories of Chats- ends the proud man's fabric. Six feet of cold tern, (which can be seen ten leagues at sea,) when orth or of Blenheim. Every species of delicious iearth bounds his big thoughts; and his person, the visitor said to him, "What, if one of the lights uit is also grown in the foreing-houses of the which was too good for almost any place, must at should chance to go out?" "Never," he cried, ealthy; and the rarest exotics from every clime, last lodge within the strait limits of so little and so with a sort of constraint on at the bare hypothesis, noderly fostered in palaces of glass, supplement dark a cave; and he who thought nothing well "Sir," said he, pointing to the ocean, "yonder, the luxury of their abodes. It is a rule that the enough for him, is quickly the entertainment of the where nothing can he seen, there are shirps going stes and habits of the great are always reflected lowest of all animals, even worms themselves. by to all parts of the world. If to night one of isses an names of the great are always reflected lowes of an animals, even worms themselves, by to all parts of the world. It to-night one of those of the humbler classes, and in nothing is Thus pride and pomp come to the common end; my burners were out, within six months would be operation of this rule more prominently visible but with this difference, less pity from the living, come a letter—perhaps from India, perhaps from India, perhaps from India perhaps from the living, and more pain to the dying! The prond man's America, perhaps from some place I never heard hroughout the length and breadth of the entire and indiation of the state of the living and the pronding of the state of the living and the state of the livin bonetimes even there, the home of the Englishman bonour vanish at this extremity; and no power or gleeted his post, and vessels were in danger! Ab, surrounded or flanked by his cultivated garden; wealth, no distance or respect can rescue or insure sir, sometimes in the dark nights in stormy weather rearing of choice flowers, the growing of choice them. As the tree falls, it lies; and as death er, I look out to sea, and I feel as if the eye of the wer-shows and horticultural festivals, whose hon-cau remedy this world declension from ancient. Was the keeper of this light-house so vigilant; are competed for and prizes won. The cot-ger, the weaver, the shoemaker, the humblest and power, which were so conspicuous in the au-and its responsibility, and shall christians neglect tisan of to-day, is learned in dahlias, fuchsias, thority of the preaching, and examples of the liv- their light, and suffer it to grow dim-grow dim algeolarias, and a host of other plants, the very ing, of the first and purest ages of christianity! when for need of its bright shining, some poor soul, sames of which were unknown to men who squandered for the plants, the very little properties of the properties aff-century, the list of new flowers, added to the Him, and a better inquiry into the matter and es- a bed (worldly case.) Neither under a bushel andens even of the poorest, far outnumbers all amples of holy record. It was His complaint of (worldly business and worldly measures,) but set it asses which, not coming under the denomination of old, "that light was come into the world, but men upon the candlestick, a steady, bright example of eeds or wild-flowers, were indigenous to the soil. loved darkness rather than light, because their uprightness, moderation and goldly fear; that become the poor man's garden they overflow into the deeds were evil." If then wouldst be a child of holders may glorify God on your account. reets of our towns and cities; they adorn our God, and a believer in Christ, thou must be a child nantel-pieces, and diffuse their sweet breath in our of light: thou must bring thy deeds to it, and ex-ose and sultry chambers; their beautiful presence amine them by that holy lamp in thy soul, which heers us at our labour, soothes us in our sickness, is the candle of the Lord, that shows thee thy nd sheds a gleam of sunshine on the gloomiest pride and arrogancy, and reproves thy delight in Religion is a denial of self; yea and of selfreligion too. It is a firm tie or bond upon the soul The recapitulation is as follows: Steamboats sunk religion too. It is a firm tie or bond upon the soul I he recapturations as sources of the block to produce the master-pieces of which she loves to produce the master-pieces of er skill.

(To be continued)

To be continued) Christ's yoke, is not carried away by the deal's 12; machinery broken, 16; collision with bridges,

The Sugar Crop of Cub2.—There are in ope allurements; he finds excelling joys in his watchation the prescut season in Cuba 1365 sugar fulness and obedience. If men loved the cross of flat boats and barges, 41; number of lives lost, states, which produced this year 563.574 terms of Cubic Living and the cross of states. states, which produced this year 563,674 tons of Christ, his precepts and doctrines, they would cross 221; estimated aggregate loss, 83,145,500. agar. Out of these 1365 plantations, there are their own wills, which lead them to break Christ's 49 using steam power; 7 with water power, and holy will, and lose their souls in doing the devil's 09 with ox power, the old or primitive style. The will. Oh! delight not in that which is forbidden! own eyes, and has no delight in the praise of man.

ving specimen of it remaining in this country. total extent of land planted with cane on these look not upon it, if thou wouldst not be captivated thou mayst follow Ilim; not in a carnal, formal way, of vain man's tradition and prescription, but as the Holy Ghost by the apostle doth express it, "In the new and living way," which Jesus hath magnificence all that we read of among the wonars of the ancient world. The most lavish exirreligion, is there in pride? It cannot add one cubic to any man's stature. What crosses can it entered, who is the holy and only blessed Re-whole world was looking at my light! Go out?

"For sadder sight the eye can know,
Than proud bark lost, or seaman's woe—
The shipwreck of the soul."

Disasters on the Western Rivers,-The Louisville Courier gives a compiled statement of the disasters upon the Western rivers for the past year.

He that truly knows himself, becomes vile in his

For "The Friend."

The slaveholders have hard work to make their truly say that he was no ordinary man in intellitheories and their practice correspond. They insist gence, and in all that constitutes an honest, truththat their slaves are an inferior race which Divine ful, and reliable man. He was raised in my Providence designed to be hewers of wood and draw family from early boyhood, and was my property ers of water for the whites, and that in accordance for over twenty-five years, and I knew him to have with this decree, their masters are obligated to been as near a perfect man as any I have ever Dining at the house of Israel Jacobs, with wh keep them in bonds, while they enlighten them; known of any colour. Indeed, I have always wife and children he had a satisfactory religious and they compare the alleged superior moral and viewed him to be without spot or blemish in chaintellectual condition of their slaves with that of racter and disposition, beginning even in his youth, the barbarous African, as evidence of the benevo- and continuing up to the day of his death."

the 28th, he rode to Philadelphia, and attended to the day of his death. lence of the Divine plan of placing them in bonds. Yet they contend for the necessity of keeping ligent coloured clergyman," was so "without spot friend, Thomas Carlton, he attended a meeting their wards in mental darkness, and award con- or blemish," as to extort from his white master the Germantown. Joshua was largely led to speak dign punishment to whoever may attempt to edudign punishment to whoever may attempt to edu testimony that he was no ordinary person in "all the coming in the flesh of our blessed Savio cate them, or to awaken in them the feelings, that constitutes an honest, truthful, and reliable which was to be glad tidings of great joy to which belong to man as a rational being, endowed with faculties, and gifted with means, capable of of another claiming him as property could deprive to the everlasting gospel, they might witness it placing him but a little lower than the angels. him of all rights, and reduce him to the level of be so to them. After a sitting in the family They insist that Paul's epistle to Philemon is con- the beast that perisheth. clusive as to the duty of returning a fugitive slave, but they scoff at the idea of accepting the injunction laid upon the master in that same epistle, to receive him "not now as a servant, but above a shows an aggregat servant, a brother beloved." To-punish him with the lash, or barter him for gold, that he may be taken to where escape from his fetters is hopeless, is what such a victim of the law must expect. They claim that the slave must be considered and Recks treated as property alone, and as such may be carried to every part of the country, just like a horse or a bale of goods; that "he has no rights Cumberl Bauphin which a white man is bound to respect;" and yet they demand that he shall be represented in the national councils as a man; and their demand is granted, and thus their representation is kept up to its present number.

But notwithstanding all the affected complaisancy with which they strive to strip the negro of the attributes of a man, in order to ward off the condemnation and scorn of the civilized world from their "peculiar institution," now and then the truth is extorted from them, and gives ground to believe that like the persecuting Saul, they must find it "hard to kick against the pricks." This conclusion may be drawn from the following obituary of one of the despised race. It is taken from a Southern paper, and could hardly apply to a mere "chattel."

"The Augusta (Georgia) papers announced some days ago the decease of Kelly Low, a pious, venerable, and intelligent coloured clergyman of the Baptist church, in that city. What Andrew Marshall was to Savannah, Kelly Low was to Augusta. We copy the following account of his funeral, in which a large portion of the white population participated, from the True Democrat of Tuesday:

Circumstances beyond our control have precluded an earlier notice of the death of Kelly Low, coloured pastor of Springfield Baptist church. This event, so deeply regretted by all classes and conditions of persons in our community, took place on the 3d inst., at his residence in this city. In 1835, he was ordained a minister of the gospel, and from that time to his death, he has been constant, zealous, and efficient in his labours.

"His funeral on Sunday afternoon was very largely attended by both black and white. The number of the latter in procession has been estimated from one thousand to fifteen hundred, and the number in attendance at the grave, in the church-word washington wyoning warren. yard, was not less than four thousand persons.

"We forbear any comments of our own upon the character of the deccased, and give place to the following tribute from his former owner, one of our most intelligent and prominent citizens. It reflects the sentiments of our entire community.

"' From my own knowledge of Kelly Low, I can man," it is hard to understand how the mere fact people, and he told his hearers that, by obedien

EASTERN DISTRICT.

Manuf.

647 573 94

No. In-

Delaware				30,614	373	1,629	207	5,54
Franklin				42,242	447	2,484	325	7,57
Lancaster				116,621	1,259	6,721	985	29,52
Lebanon				30,030	319	1,783	220	5,87
Lehigh				43,932	665	2,734	464	7,74
Monroe				16,805	164	979	81	2,82
Montgome	ery			70,494	703	5.303	699	12,33
Northamp	ton			47,775	380	2,265	251	8,95
Philadelpl	hia c	ount	У	568,034	6,079	1,731	4,400	89,97
Pike .			٠.	7,360	64	544	43	1,31
Perry				22,949	216	1,716	174	4,16
Schuylkill				PU.173	971	2,257	579	16,96
Wayne				32,172	188	3,430	336	5,72
York				68,988	820	5,089	673	11,27
				1,558,153	17,172	62,398	12,149	267,39
				WESTERN	DISTRI
Alleghany	,	99,8	22)		1,062	4,452	516	17,69
Pittsburg	city,	49,:	16 >	180,074	722	1	551	7,62
Alleghany	c'y,	31,5	36)		338	146	123	5,60
Armstron	g			36,114	246	2,809	103	6,31
Butler	٠.			33.753	352	4,600	79	6,51
Beaver			- 1	29,321	264	2,262	319	5,45
Bedford				26,803	279	2,000	155	3,61
Blair	1			27,785	327	921	132	4.87
Bradford	1			59,046	394	5,655	402	9,48
Crawford			•	49,041	294	5.507	230	9,31
Clarion		•	•	25,575	98	2,537	142
Columbia	•			24,603	207			4.33
Соншыя					207	2,023	196	4,54
Centre			•	27,087	127	1,061	129	4,57
Clinton				17,722	163	784	140	3,14
Clearfield				18,925	140	1,564	114	3,28
Cambria				29,313	300	1,435	314	5,32
Erie .				49,697	414	4,474	386	9,75
Elk .				5,848	55	1,093	46	1.02
Fayette				40,166	376	2,084	151	7,20
Fulton				9,140	69	1,009	37	1,68
Forest				889	13	98	11	15
Greene	-			24,406	2:21	2,111	78	4,27
Huntingdo	on.		- 1	26,167	278	2,097	242	4.97
Indiana		:	:	33,869	362	3,410	142	6,109
Jupiata		:		16,300	194	967	154
Jefferson			•	18,414	180	1,926	117	2,989 3,83
				37,560	323
Lycoming				01,000		2,039	129	6,69
Lawrence			•	23,213	163	1,837	69	4,237
Luzerne				91,089	268	3,387	389	18,025
Mercer				37,164	379	3,473	87	6,855
Mifflin				16,378	188	1.048	184	3.19
Montonr				13,110	152	593	86	2,381
M-Kean				3,000	49	859	38	1,700
Northumb	erla	bc		29.057	294	2,416	744	6,439
Potter				11,487	196	1,224	87	2,215
omerset				26,920	197	2,089	177	4,676
Snyder				15,134	102	1,094	81	2,746
Sullivan				4.140	51	668	14	1,048
Susanehan	ma			36,665	453	3,775	273	7,004
Tioga		:		31.218	195	2,859	207	6,940
Union	:		:	14.222	103	927	50	2,657
Vanance				95 150	160	9 924	60	4,600

12,465 98,525

47.319 12,644

54,020

Dwellings 267,840 247,007 20,704 next day, the 24th, attended the Quarterly Mei

4.360

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES Of Ministers and Elders and other concerned memb of the Yearly Meeting of Philadelphia. (Continued from page 165.) JOSHUA BROWN.

opportunity, he himself being absent, he rode If Kelly Low, the "pious, venerable and intel- the spring meeting. On the 30th, with his John Jones, he rode to Plymouth, where the n day he attended meeting in silence. On Fourth 1 The Census of Pennsylvania.—The complete 2d, he was at a meeting in the valley; on Fire census of Pennsylvania is at length furnished, and shows an aggregate population of 2,913,441; Haverford. He had service in all these me ings, but the two last were closely exercising. Haverford, no doubt, under a sense that many w negligent in religious matters, he pressed on th hags the necessity of doing their day's work in the d time, and being diligently engaged that they minot only profess the Truth, but be in possession 3,535 13,736 it. On the 5th, he was at a meeting at Newton which was very large, occasioned by the funeral an ancient woman Friend. The service in t meeting was to explain and defend the doctrine universal saving grace, in opposition to the Calv istic tenet of unconditional election and reprol tion. The hearers were exhorted to a faith abiding with the gift received, that they mig witness a state of election, which was the gift God given to us through Jesus Christ, and propitiatory sacrifice for the sins of the world. the 6th, at Goshen meeting, Joshua was led to hort to a steady persevering travel in the spirite journey. His mind was led into sympathy a carnest concern on behalf of some visited child the Lord, who had fallen into great anxiety a themselves on the mercy of God, and look to him: strength and restoration. Lodging at the house of Randall Malin, he, the 7th, attended Uwchlan Monthly Meeting, whi was an exercising one. Lodging at Thomas Lig foot's, he the next day was at Pikeland meetil in which he had to rejoice, being made sensil that there was a living remnant amongst them.

depression, because of not having been faithful the visitations of grace. He pressed such to co

The account of the rest of this journey is lost Having the unity of his Monthly Meeting, wi his prospect of religious service in New Jerse Joshua Brown left his own residence, Eleven mo. 17th, 1775, to fulfil it, as he might be enabl by the great Head of the church. Attending th day Nottingham Preparative Meeting of Ministe and Elders, he afterwards rode to the house William Jackson, at Londongrove. After t Western Quarterly Meeting, his mind was cover with sadness, and he felt no liberty to proceed his journey, until he had given up to sit with committee of the Quarterly Meeting appointed visit such members of the religious Society Friends as continued to hold slaves. Having pe 9,036 2,365 3,844 9,787 formed this duty, in which he found peace and sat 8,556 247,007 faction, he found liberty to go forward. Stoppi Manuf. esta-that night at the house of the widow Trimble ments. 12,149 he passed over into Jersey, tarried one night at t 8,556 house of Peter Worrell, in Burlington, and t hemselves that true and living faith, which works by love to the purifying of the heart. It was a avoured meeting.

On the 3d, which was the first day of the week, ie had a meeting at Joseph Moore's, wherein his nind was opened to treat of the coming in the article in Silliman's Journal, communicated by miles below the head-spring, is a cove or basin of desh of our blessed Saviour, of his propitiatory John Le Conte, M. D. sacrifice for the sins of the whole world, and of the iniversality of the gift of grace purchased thereby, centre of Marion county, in the State of Florida, He earnestly entreated those present to close in in latitude about 29° 15' North, and longitude 82° with the offers of redeeming love and mercy whilst 20' West. It is about five miles north-east of dinary transparency of the water; in this respect they were extended to them. Thankful for the Ocala, the county-seat, and nearly in the axis of surpassing anything which can be imagined. vidence of Divine favour extended at the time, and the Peninsula, being equally distant from the At- of the intrinsic beauties which invest it, as well as greatly desiring that the labour bestowed might be lantic and Gulf coasts. Its waters are discharged the wonderful optical properties which popular greaty agrangement and about personwed might be latter and curr coasts. Its waters are accuraged, as wonderful optical properly with the post of the same parties of the same name, viz. reports have ascribed to its waters, are directly or rode to Jacob Birdsall's, where he had lodged the "Silver Spring," which, running about six miles, indirectly referable to their almost perfect diapharorevious night. On the 4th, a meeting was held butary of the St. John's river. The stream takes at this lodging place, in which he was led to treat butary of the St. John's river. The stream takes at tained sufficient altitude, the view from the side its origin in a deep pool or head-basin, which is of a small boat floating on the surface of the water the Lord tree spiritual worship, from which every-thing of man's contrivance or invention is exsluded. He also set forth the necessity of know-dred feet in diameter, and is surrounded by hills a powerful impression upon the imagination. Every ing themselves brought under the peaceable go-covered with live-oaks, magnolias, bays, and other feature and configuration of the bottom of this rerment of Christ, the Saviour of the world, gigantic evergreenes. The amount of water dis-gigantic basin is as distinctly visible as if the water charged is so large, that small steamers and barges was removed, and the atmosphere substituted in its distinct various families the state of the saviour of the control of the contr risited various families there, in which he had readily navigate the "Silver Spring," up to the "some satisfaction." On the 7th, he had a public pool or head-spring, where there is a landing for the shipment of cotton, sugar, and other produce.

A large portion of the bottom of the pool is the shipment of cotton, sugar, and other produce. Paulin's Kill. In this meeting he treated on the the level of the water of the Spring at the landing of boiling sand. who seeds,—the seed of the woman and the seed of the subject to comparatively slight fluctuations, on the servent. He showed the difference of their scarcely ever exceeding two feet. These fluctualities, the servent of the first person of rains. The commencement of the rainy season this remarkable pool as brilliantly as if nothing the other seeking to keep him in bondage to the varies from the 15th of the Sixth month. The waters of the spring looks from the product of professions and large reason of lie the season of the servent and looks of professions and looks of the surrounding forest. from the holiness and heavenly estate of glorified begin to rise about the middle of the season of jeeting crags and logs of the surrounding forest, spirits. He pressed on them the necessity of wit-summer rains, and attain their maximum height and of the vegetation at the bottom, were distinctly nessing in each heart, the seed of the woman, about its termination. The maximum depth of and sharply defined, while the constant waving of Christ Jesus, the quickening Spirit, to prevail over lyater in the pool or basin constituting the head of the selender and delicate moss-like algre, by means the seed of the serient, the spirit and corruptions of the evil one, who works in the natural and unterpresent the series of the evil one, who works in the natural and unterpresent the series of the series of dds, "At the said meeting was Hannah Smith, meeting there on the 14th, in which Joshua was satisfactory character. who appeared in the meeting in great innocency led to warn the audience against trusting in anynd simplicity, and very affecting [her communication was.] She was the daughter of John and Hanlan Smith, late of Burlington." From Freehold, Samuel Worth. At a meeting the next day at imputed to them, unless they had witnessed real recesses along the margin of the stream. (To be continued.)

"Silver Spring," Florida.

This remarkable "spring" is situated near the to be twenty-six feet. tedecmed from sip, and made through sanctifica tral and deep parts of the basin was found to be reality to the scene which can never be forgotten.

ag of Ministers and Elders at Crosswicks. Dur. tion of the Spirit, the children of God. After a about thirty feet. These measurements were made og the meetings for worship and discipline of the comfortable sitting in Benj. Schooley's family, they by means of a heavy plumb-bob attached to a Quarterly Meeting, he had comfortable service, went to the "Drowned Lands," and lodged at the twine, to which bits of white cloth were secured at nd, at the close of the last, rode to Nathan house of Joseph Dennis. At a meeting there, on intervals of six feet or one fathom. As the plumb-Vright's. On the 29th, he attended a meeting at the 13th, himself and companion were both opened bob, as well as each piece of white cloth indicating Jpper Freehold, which was an open, satisfactory in the ministry. Riding down to the house of the fathoms, could be distinctly seen down to the eason. After speaking of his service therein, he Hartshorn Fitz Randolph, at Mendem, they had a very bottom, the measurements were of the most ecompanied by Aaron Ivens, he rode eight miles, is with fire and with the Holy Ghost, to the very course of the stream, which contribute more or and attended, on the 30th Robins' meeting, after cleaning of the heart. He also warned them less to the volume of water. These usually occur and attended, on the 30th, Robins' meeting, after cleansing of the beautiful the passed on to Stonybrook, to the house of against trusting to having Christ's righteousness in deep basins, or coves (as they are called,) in which he passed on to Stonybrook, to the house of against trusting to having Christ's righteousness in deep basins, or coves (as they are called,) in the passed real recovers along the margin of the stream. The that place, his service was close and searching, sanctification. He was largely engaged for the depth of one of these coves situated about two At a meeting held in Trenton on the 2d, he had good of his hearers, and the meeting was much bundred yards below the head-spring, was found to be thirty-two feet in the crevice in the limestone bottom, from which the water boiled: in other deep parts of the basin, the depth was about twentyfour feet. The "Bone-Yard," (so called from the fact that several specimens of the bones of the The following is abstracted from an interesting mastodon have been taken from it,) situated two a similar character. Its maximum depth was found

The most remarkable and interesting phenomenon presented by this spring, is the truly extraor-

bour, but it was not a comfortable time. In com- These steamers and barges make regular trips be- water grass, and gigantic moss-like plants (freshpany with Henry Cliffton, a young man, he rode tween the Silver Spring and Palatka on the St. water algo,) which attain a height of three or four to the Raritan, and, on the 8th, reached Hardwick, Johns. The boatmen informed me that at its feet. The latter are found in the deepest parts of or the great meadows; an uncomfortable ride of junction with the Ochlawaha, more than one-half the basin. Without doubt, the development of so thirty miles performed mostly in the rain, and he of the water is contributed by the Silver Spring vigorous a vegetation at such depths, is owing to being very unwell. He lodged that night with stream. By means of a canoe, I explored the the large amount of solar light which penetrates Cabriel Wilson, and on the next with Samuel stream for about two miles from its head; its these waters. Some parts are devoid of vegeta-Lundy. On First-day, the 10th, a satisfactory breadth varied from forty-fire to one hundred feet, made it is depth, in the shallowest parts, from ten to sand, and present a white appearance. The water which he and companion were both opened in gospel love to labour amongst them. Diving with less than ten feet in the channel of the stream vices being filled with sand and comminuted lime-Thomas Lundy, they had a religious opportunity. The average velocity of the stream was rudely stone, indicate the ascending currents of water by with him, his wife and "nine hopeful children". On the 11th, they had a meeting at the ren." On the 11th, they had a meeting at the passes of Benjamin Schooley, at a place called lower of Benjamin Schooley, at a place called lower. According to the reports of the residents, plumb-bob was observed to bury itself in the mass ginations have invested this enchanting spring, as from the great work."

In looking back over her past life, and her inaccuracies which have been perpetuated in relation to the wonderful properties of difference and neglect respecting the great duties and seemed filled with holyjoy. In the afternor its waters. On a bright day, the beholder seems of religion, she seemed almost ready to question she faintly articulated, as though replying to its waters. On a bright day, the behalder seems of rengon, she seemed almost ready to question and almost almost a behalf and on the locking down from some lofty, airy point, on whether the evidence of forgiveness could be real, query respecting her removal, "not yet—not yet—a truly fairy scene in the immense basin beneath and on the 14th of First month, 1835, again asked stay a little longer;" and when still further recombing, a scene whose beauty and magical effect is her sister if she thought it possible her sins were ered from the state of great exhaustion, in whice vastly enhanced by the chromatic tints with which forgiven; adding, "I have been so neglectful when she had been lying, she remarked, "I believe m it is invested.

(To be continued.)

For "The Friend." We think many of the readers of "The Friend," may derive instruction and encouragement from the following account of Lydia S. Rogers. Lydia S. Rogers, daughter of John and Elizabeth Jones, of the city of Philadelphia, was born the 16th of Sixth month, 1810.

Her disposition was amiable, and being naturally of a cheerful and lively temper, she was drawn by the temptations of the enemy into lightness and frivolity, and to take much delight in steadily abiding under the refining baptisms of the she could not communicate anything to thou gaiety of apparel; which deviations from the christian path were causes of condemnation and sorrow her heart, and a grateful sense of the Lord's mer adding, "Remember, Joshua's army compassed the to her mind when the awful period of dissolution was approaching.

in the Eighth month, 1833, but after a confinement Oh! how kind he is to me." "And again, Oh, the The next day she saw many of her friends: gree of health, although some symptoms of pulmonary disease still remained.

In the Third month, 1834, she was married to Samuel Rogers, and was able to attend to her domestic concerns until the Eleventh month fol- having neglected it so much. lowing, when she became seriously indisposed. The prospect of separation from those she loved, the fear of death and a sense of her own unfitness to meet its solemn summons, produced great conreading the Holy Scriptures, and the society of efficacy of the Redeemer's love; adding, "He gave bear it to the honour of my Lord; if he saw me serious and religious people became peculiarly his precious life for us." flict of mind. She was frequently occupied in pleasant to her. She was evidently aware of the On the 16th, she expressed great love for all her danger of her situation, and on being asked about friends, many of whom she named, and remarked, during this period, there is cause to believe that should see me." the Holy Spirit, who is a reprover for sin as well was secretly at work in her heart, setting her sins

During this time the enemy was permitted to it. On what can they have to rest upon, who buffet her with his suggestions, which induced her to exclaim, "Oh, what an unwearied adversary! change my belief for a thousand, thousand worlds," all. The borses are come—the chariot of Israe how be tempts me!" and to ber sisters her remarked, "Can it be that I shall be forgiven my many sins." ransomed children are all in perfect wisdom and but the third with doubts and fears, He goodness, though past our finding out, she was perperaise him—he is a God of love. These light at whose mercy is over all his works, was pleased in mitted, on the 20th, to experience a season of great deficiency. his own time to grant her an evidence of pardon tossing and distress; and when, through mercy, a for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight c his own time to grant her an evidence of paroon lossing and distress; and when turough mercy, a jor us a far more exceeding and electral weight of and reconcilitation, and to animate her drooping degree of calmoness was restored, she remarked, glory,"

She called one in the room to her, and gave he be received into the kingdom of heaven. One day, has my poor mind had. I fear I have taken hold after some hours of quite retirement, she broke of promises that do not belong to me. Of I have have the first place in her affections, saying, "Low forth in this manuer—"Now I feel as I never felt been such a sinner!" This painful dispensation [IIII] frist—Him last—and through all—then all the properties of the prop striking, that objects beneath the surface of the dears, do not weep for me, I can truly say this is! though I am very weak. There are some clow water, when viewed obliquely, were fringed with the happiest evening of my life—Praise the Lord, through the day, but my nights are all joyous. The prismatic hues, we shall cease to be surprised O my soul—bless his holy name." Afterward she Father is very near me this morning." at the mysterious phenomena with which vivid ima- observed, "I want nothing worldly to divert me

> I had strength, will the Lord receive me at this lime is to be prolonged."
>
> After a time of solemn silence, she desired to be helped to a kneeling posture, and then of suffocious which rendered it doubtful whether feelingly petitioned the Most High for the aid of she would survive the night, in allusion to which his grace, and that she might be thoroughly washed she sweetly remarked, "If I do not, there need | and purified. A female minister of the gospel on bustle—I believe all is done, everything is recalling to visit her, spoke encouragingly to her dy." Next morning the state of her mind w very peaceful and heavenly, and she observe on her behalf. These religious exercises afforded "This is a sweet morning to me, - Praise the Lore her much comfort; her mind was peaceful, and O my soul." appeared to overflow with gratitude and love.

Holy Spirit, she experienced sweet peace to flow in around her, unless her dear Father gave it to her cies to her. On the 15th, she seemed full of com-fort, and several times remarked, "How little I shout. If I dared to speak of myself, I shoul She was attacked with bleeding from the lungs suffer, and how much the dear Master suffered, say a great deal, for I am earnest for your help. of two weeks, she nearly recovered her usual state sweet peace—I cannot be mistaken; it is all the was the exercise she underwent on their account, an of health, although some symptoms of pulmonary heavenly Father's work." She often mentioned deep her sense of the exceeding sinfulness of sin, ur what a comfort the bible was to her, and what a der which impressions her mouth was opened in blessing it was that she could now understand it, wonderful and affecting manner to speak to th and take hold of the promises it contained, after states of those who came into her room.

> as do not believe in the divinity of our Lord Jesus strengthened to endure them with much patience Christ, saying, "What can they have in an hour and resignation, she said, "I hope my patience wi like this to rest their hopes upon?" and mentioned hold out-I fear I do not bear trial as I oughther desire, that such might be brought to feel the is not my wish to be relieved from suffering, but t

"Perhaps I may last until Spring, but I do not cause: I feel that I have espoused it, and if it will seemed to affect her; she desired a pair of seisor expect to get well, nor do I wish it."

do any one good to see me here entirely changed, to be brought and bed there exist of the cause: I feel that I have exposed is even to get well, nor do I wish it." "I would be glad to do something for the blessed peet to get well, nor do I wish it."

do any one good to see me here entirely changed, to be brought, and had them cut off, saying, "Oh Under the exercises which she passed through I should be glad some of my thoughtless friends these ruffles illy become dying hands." She als as a comforter for well-doing, and whose operations teaching of the Spirit of Christ in her own heart, are compared to a refiner's fire and fuller's soap, she found it to be indeed a light to her mind, unfolding the mysteries of redemption and giving her she had the fourteenth chapter of John read t in order before her, and producing that godly sor to see clearly the true meaning as well as the pre-row which worketh unfeigned repentance. Many clous value of the Holy Scriptures. She spent time previous. Her weakness rapidly increased times her spirit was much contrited, and she would much time in reading these, particularly the New it was evident that the solemn change was near entreat her friends to pray for her; mourning over Testament—and one morning, after having been so and the family were collected around her dyin her mis-spent time and her multiplied transgree- employed, she looked up with a joyful countenance bed. To her husband she said, "The dear Savi sions, saying, "I fear my sins are too many ever and exclaimed, "This has been a sealed book to our is the way—he is the door—knock and it shat to be forgiven." During this time the enemy was permitted to it. Oh! what can they have to rest upon, who took a most affectionate and impressive leave of

[before]—I shall be received—I am perfectly re- gradually passed away, and on the morning of the will go well." Presently after, as if all the ener

And if we add to this picture, already sufficiently signed to live or die-I am very happy-O my 22d, she could say, "All is peace and comfo

Soon after this, she was thought to be dying, at

On the 26th, her mind appeared much exercises Continuing in this inward frame of mind, and and often engaged in prayer. She remarked the

A few days previous to her dissolution, her su She expressed deep concern on account of such ferings became extreme, and though mercifull most to his glory."

One of her dresses which had ruffles on th sleeves being put upon her, the sight of ther requested to have some ornamental articles of he Being now brought in good degree to the blessed dress burnt, observing, "They will be useful to n one-finery is indeed a great burden."

On the evening of the 10th of Second month

ie Lord."

ie morning of the 11th of Second month, 1835, as they are shared by others. the twenty-fifth year of her age. Her ransomed operations, and has its funds separate from and overcome. e others. Beside soup, which is furnished daily, the best modes for relieving the extreme poor.

For "The Friend." The Philadelphia Soup-Houses.

THE FRIEND.

SECOND MONTH 9, 1861.

There could hardly be a case supposed, that

pirit, we joyfully believe, was received into the Friend, with an examination of the causes which shrouded in darkness. ansion prepared for it by Him who had so mar- have led to, or the consequences involved in the allously redeemed her unto himself, and is now controversy now existing between the North and must feel and deplore the sad condition in which ne of that happy company who surround the the South. Believing the present difficulties and our country is involved, and they must also see prone of God and the Lamb, with the nuceasing dangers of our country to spring from the source there is much reason to fear that the folly and vionthem of "Salvation, and glory, and honour, to we have assigned, we think it requires great vigi- lence already witnessed, are but "the beginning of [im that sitteth on the throne, and unto the Lamb | lance on the part of every member of our religious sorrows." Each one must judge how far it is his Society, to guard against like feelings being awak- duty to take part in any measure proposed for the May this memorable instance of the uncertainty ened in them, while perusing narratives of the events peaceful solution of the difficulties. But we think life and of all temporal enjoyments; of the of the day, or discussing the consequences they in | we cannot go wrong in reminding our readers that lorable mercy of God in Christ Jesus to the sin-volve or foreshadow; and yet they cannot fail to it requires great care, lest in the spirit we manifest ere penitent; and of the power of his blessed interest us all more or less deeply, and are deserv- when speaking or acting upon these exciting topics, pirit in purifying the soul, weaning it from earthly ing of serious consideration; that so we may per- we betray our religious principles. It is an easy tachments, filling it with the pure and precious form our duty, as members of the community, in thing, in view of the gross injustice and inhumanity insolations of the gospel, and conferring on it a telligently, and in strict accordance with the prin- of slavery, and that it is the subject of controversy ope full of immortality and eternal life, encourage ciples of the holy religion we profess. But inti- between the North and the South, if we enter into hers to yield in unreserved obedience to the early mately connected as our welfare must be with the argument upon it, or participate in party politics, sitations of heavenly love; that thus living in the system and character of the government in which to have the feelings so warmed, as to give way to ar and love of God, they may experience pre- we live, it does not follow that we are called upon a spirit that would call down destruction upon those rvation from the snares which beset the paths of to mix with the restless and heated party strife we consider to be the aggressors. But let us bear buth; know the light of Christ Jesus to be their and movements which surround us. Our object in mind, that the sins of the nation, for which it is fe guide through the trials and temptations of the should be to exemplify, in our daily walk and con- now threatened with chastisement, have been as resent changeful life, and in the awful close have versation, the christian doctrines and testimonies widespread as its domain; confined to no political well-grounded hope of admission into the man-one of eternal glory.

The Friends have ever been called upon to uphold, and thereby promote peace and goodwill among The christian can feel enmity towards no one.

The Friends have ever been called upon to uphold, and thereby promote peace and goodwill among The christian can feel enmity towards no one.

The Friends have ever been called upon to uphold, and thereby promote peace and goodwill among The christian can feel enmity towards no one.

The Friends have ever been called upon to uphold, party, and monopolized by no geographical section. cupy the position of statesmen, to settle the just jurious to him, but he is bound to forgive them, balance of conflicting duties, to adjust rival, and and, as far as may be in his power, to pray for A Subscriber living at a distance, requests some sometimes incompatible interests; to judge when them and to do them good. Our wisest course is, formation respecting the institutions for supply- and how to put forth the strength of the nation, to to seek to have our own spirits brought under the g the destitute poor of this city with soup. There secure or protect its standing and its integrity; government of the Prince of Peace; to inquire e, we believe, six such associations located in and to make use of the means, by which the feuds whether we, as members of a highly favoured Sourious parts of the city, each of which carries on that are distracting and dividing it, shall be met ciety, are falling short in maintaining, by a godly ead is given out on certain days, and on others a troubles in which our country finds itself involved, weight of the stroke inflicted on the land; and stribution of Indian meal is made. Much care spring from no recent or transient political error, whether we are striving to obey the call loudly taken by some of these establishments to make Short as has been its career, and rapid as has been e charity as effective as possible. In order to its acquisition of power, it has, in its social and to put up our petitions that we may stand with actard against imposition, the parties applying for moral relations, borne along and nourished the ceptance in the day of righteous retribution. lief, are generally first visited, and the cases in-seeds of inherent weakness, which, unless eradi-stigated. These associations are probably one cated, sooner or later, must bring forth dissolution proved in civil society, and conformable to human coming more acrimonious and complicated, until whole human family would finally be permanently ere is great reason to fear they will culminate in benefited; and that the future teemed with power int of disagreement is respecting an abstract by the proper adaptation of the means already pos-the—the right to introduce slaves into the terri-sessed, the people have been suddenly awakened ries-which, whether decided in favour of one from their dream of delight, to see their model le or the other, will in no wise materially affect government supinely and helplessly dritting down e future condition of that immense domain; the the stream of revolution and dismemberment, inmate and soil securing its settlement by free capable, with all its collective wisdow, to buffet, or be considerably reduced. The Manchester advices are es of her dying frame were summoned to the labourers, maintaining free institutions. But the triumphantly override the rapidly succeeding waves, fort, she broke forth in a loud voice, urging on evil passions which "war in the members" of bad which threaten it with destruction. We must adlose present the necessity of bowing to the cross men, have been invoked and stimulated into mad- mit that the system is good, and that where there Christ: "The dear Saviour," said she, "hung ness, until their promptings appear to rule the countries preponderating virtue and intelligence in the alled to the tree, bleeding for us—for our sins:" sels of those in whose hands the control of a large people, it is admirably fitted to effect great and nd afterwards, "It is hard work to die-but the part of the country has fallen, and dismemberment noble ends; but when the source of power becomes ing of death is gone—thanks be to God—he of the government, fratricidal warfare, servile iu- corrupt, and the leaders accustomed to consult ath given me the victory-Oh, help me to praise surrection, ruin and distress are effected or threat their lusts and passions, rather than the precepts of ened, to gratify inordinate pride, the lust of power, the gospel and the restraints of truth, unless pre-Thus, with an hymn of praise on her expiring revenge, and an intense selfishness, which imagines served by the interposition of Divine Providence, it ps, this dear young woman ceased to breathe on all benefits diminished or destroyed, in proportion is but a natural consequence of such deplorable selfishness and shortsightedness, that our highest We do not wish to entertain the readers of The hopes should be blighted, and our fairest prospects

Friends, in common with their fellow citizens, life, the doctrines and testimonies given it to illus-We should not lose sight of the fact, that the trate before the world, and thus adding to the going forth, to repent of the evil of our ways, and and premature decay. The people have been pleas-policy, so called, are distinguishable from the purity ing and priding themselves with the belief that of truth and righteousness; while many professing they had solved the great political problem, of how Truth are declining from that ardent love and the advantages of government are to be secured, heavenly mindedness, which was among the primiwith the least possible inconvenience to the govern-tive followers of Jesus Christ, it is time for us to ed; but they have too much lost sight of the great attend diligently to the intent of every chastisement, truth, that as it is righteousness exalteth a nation, and consider the most deep and inward design of ore strikingly exhibits the truth contained in the so the virtue, the justice, the humanity and the them. The Most High doth not often speak with tery of the Apostle James, "from whence come humility of the people, individually, are the only an ontward voice to our natural ears, but if we are and fightings among you? come they not sure bases upon which the peace and safety of the humbly meditate on his perfections, consider that noe, even of your lusts that war in your members government can rest. Accustomed to boast that He is perfect wisdom and goodness, and to afflict rs?" than the contentions now going on in our man had here achieved the great and noble end of his creatures to no purpose, would be utterly reloved country, and which, from day to day, are self-government, by which the condition of the verse to his nature, we shall hear and understand his language, both in his gentle and more heavy chastisements, and take heed that we do not, in the ur. Both parties appear to admit that the main and wealth, that would be developed or acquired wisdom of this world, endeavour to escape his hand,

SUMMARY OF EVENTS.

EUROPE .- News from England to the 22d alt. It is rumored that the British army and navy are to Consols, 91\(\frac{3}{6}\) a 91\(\frac{1}{2}\).

The drain of gold from the Bank of France continued. Arrangements have been made with the Imperial Bank of Petersburg, similar to that with England, for an exchange of thirty millions of francs in silver for gold. The French war preparations were very active. It is said that a lery of 150,000 men will be asked for from the Legislature. Seventeen additional regiments are projected.

Gen. Klapka was making preparations for a rising in Affairs at Gaeta were unchanged. The tendency to war in the spring is thought to be abating in Italy. It is said that 30,000 Bourbon troops have entered the Neapolitan provinces through the disaffected territory, and that they met and defeated a portion of the Italian forces, compelling them to retire. Reinforcements had been sent to the latter troops.

The trials in Beyrout of parties charged with the massacre of Christians in Syria, have been concluded. The Druses have been sentenced to death, while the Turkish prisoners are exiled.

United States .- Congress .- The House of Representatives passed a bill authorizing the President, at any time before the 1st of Seventh month next, to borrow on the credit of the United States any sum not exceeding twenty-five millions of dollars. Certificates to be issued for not less than $1000, with coupons for interest, payable : emi-annually. The money will be needed to meet the expenses of the government, and pay Treasury notes falling due. Many speeches have been made in both the Senate and House, but the members do not seem to have approached any nearer to a practical solution of the difficulties, which are breaking up the Union. On the 4th, the Senators from Louisiana had the ordinance of secession passed by that State, read from the Clerk's desk. They then addressed the Senate for the last time, and took formal leave of Congress. Senator Slidell said the new Southern confederacy would not attempt to improve on the Constitution of the United enactment of such measures as will forever prevent the States, but would recognize all the existing obligations; those respecting the African slave trade, included.

Affairs at Washington .- Orders have been issued for the District of Columbia. A considerable number of which are the reaction and need the federal troops, including five companies of artillery, have been collected in and near the capital. The Grand to be received from postmasters in the seceding States, Jury bare found a true hill against take Blood had been collected. The control of the property of Jury have found a true bill against John B. Floyd, late for supplies of stamps, blanks, wrapping paper, &c. But Secretary of War, for conspiring with others to defraud these are furoished on the condition that the postmasthe United States government, in the case of the ladian Trust Bonds. A bill has also been found against Goddard Bailey for larceny, in abstracting the bonds en-trusted to his custody. The Commissioners appointed by a number of States to devise means of perpetuating the Union, assembled in Washington on the 4th inst. The slave States represented in it, are Virgioia, North Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, Maryland, and Miramon's ex-ministers, had been caught at Jalapa, and the rest that remaineth for the people of God. Delaware. The free States are Illinois, Indiana, New an order was transmitted from the government at the _____, on the 16th ult., in the seventy-fifth y York, New Jersey. New Hampshire, Ohio, Pennsylvania, there delegates to the convention; Maryland and Ken-mon's wife, the order was countermanded within a few tucky, each six; Pennsylvania and Ohio, each seven; hours. The whereabouts of Miramon is not known. Rhode Island, and Vermont. New Hampshire appointed New York and New Jersey, each nine; Tennessee, twelve; the remaining eight States, five each. At the twelve; the remaining eight States, her each. At the party which surrounded him, by the free bled his terms meding, eleven States were fully represented, and yolver. The election for President took place on the delegates from the others were expected soon. The loth alt, with what result is, of course, not known, majority of the convention appeared to be in favour of though it is supposed by some that Lerdo de Tejada conducting the deliberations with closed doors, in order stands the best chance, since Juarca and Ortega have to secure more freedom in the interchange of views.

New York.—Mortality last week, 367.

Philadelphia.—Mortality last week, 261.

The Markets.—The following were the quotations on the 4th inst. New York-Chicago spring wheat, $1 17 nufavourable, prices having a declining tendency. The but rejecting their claims to the adjoining land. Thirty manyouthness prices having a securing tenseury. The loss agreeing their rains to the appoint the markets for breadstuff were dull and declining. The prisoners made an attempt to escape from the State price totto market was active. The bullion in the Bank of son on the 10th. In the attempt to the house, three Brighand had decreased 240,000 during the week, of the number were killed, and thirden were wounded. son on the 16th. In the attempt to retake them, three Only one of the prisoners effected his escape.

North Carolina.—The Legislature has passed a bill, which directs that the question of convention or no convention be put to the people, who are to elect delegates at the same time. It also restricts the operation of federal laws. The election is to be held on the 28th inst.

Virginia .- An election of delegates to the State convention was held on the 4th inst. From the partial re-turns received, it was uncertain whether the secession or nnion party would have a majority.

Kansas.—The President has signed the bill for the admission of Kansas, and the representative of the new

State has taken his seat in Congress.

Progress of Revolution .- On the 1st inst., the United States Mint and Custom-house at New Orleans were seized by the State anthorities. At the last returns made up a few days previously, there were $510,505 of the public funds, in the Mint and Sub-treasury, in that city, The former which has now been taken by the seceders. officials continue in their positions, having taken the oath prescribed by the ordinance of secession .- On the 2d inst., Hayne, the South Carolina envoy, sent a communication to the President, proposing to open negotia-tions for the transfer of the federal property, in South Carolina, to the State, and threatening the capture of fort Sumpter, in case of non-compliance. The Presideut summoned his Cabinet, on receipt of the letter, to consider the subject. Arrangements have been made for the departure of the women and children from fort Sumpter .- The commissioners from South Carolina, on their arrival at Paris, presented themselves to the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, who gave them a courteous reception, but made no engagements with them .-- A convention of delegates from the seceding States, and from several that have not yet seceded, met at Montgomery, Ala., on the 4th inst. It is understood the main object of the convention is to form a Southern confederacy. The Alabama convention has instructed its deputies to the Southern convention to insist upon the re-opening of the African slave trade.—Georgia has re-opening of the African stare trans.—ecough in the attendance of our religious meetings, was adopted a revenue ordinance, similar to that of South in the attendance of our religious meetings, was adopted a revenue ordinance, which independent authority is assumed to ability, and by her solid deportment therein, evince (Carolina, by which independent authority is assumed to ability, and by her solid deportment therein, evince (Carolina, by which independent authority is a superior of the carolina and displaced and for a superior of the carolina and displaced and of the carolina and displaced and of the carolina and displaced and displaced and of the carolina and displaced and displaced and of the carolina and displaced and of the carolina and displaced and the carolina and the nose respecting the Aircan stave trade, included, ladopted a revenue ordinance, similar to that of Soutin just the attendance of our religious meetings, when Great numbers of petitions unumerously signed continue. Carolina, by which independent authority is assumed to ability, and by her solid deportment therein, evine to be sent in to Congress, urging the adoption of the issue clearances, and to collect duties in her own name, the exercise of mind which she fit for the arising Crittenden or the Border State plan of compromise. —The House of Representatives of the North Carolina is the exercise of mind which she fit for the arising Crittenden or the Exercise of mind which she fit for the arising Crittenden or the Exercise of mind which she fit for the arising control of the exercise of the exerc Orleans, state that the troops which had been assembled the enrolment of all citizens, subject to militia duty io for the capture of fort Pickens near Pensacola, had been ters will acknowledge and conform to the laws affecting > received. Juneze had made his entry more and received from the prearty believe that they were alike folueum and amid great rejoicings, and there were but two or three rearty believe that they were alike folueum and amid armed bands of the beaten faction in the field, unfailing mercy, and having their robes washed as small armed bands of the Lamb, have entered in capital, to shoot him, and every clergy leader as soon as they might be taken; but on the intercession of Mira-The last heard of him was, that he had escaped from a party which surrounded him, by the free use of his relost ground by their magnanimous clemency to vanquished enemies.

RECEIPTS.

the 4th inst. New Fork—Chicago spring wheat, $1.17 as $1.21 red Western, $1.30 a $1.31; with is iliciban. $1.21 red Western, $1.30 a $1.31; with is iliciban. $1.22 a $1.55; oats, $3.75 ets. a $3.75 et

FRIENDS' INDIAN INSTITUTE, TUNESSASSAH. A man and a woman Friend are wanted to aid in cor ducting this Institution. A man and his wife would t preferred, one of whom should be qualified to teach i EBENEZER WORTH, Marshalton, Chester Co., Pa. THOS. WISTAR, Fox Chase, Philadelphia Co., Pa.

JOEL EVANS, Oakdale P. O., Delaware Co., Pa. Philad., Second mo. 5th, 1861.

NOTICE.

The Annual Meeting of the Auxiliary Bible Associa tion of Friends of Philadelphia Quarterly Meeting, wi be held at the Arch Street Meeting-house, on Second day, the 11th instant, at half past seven o'clock, F. M.
THEOPH. E. BEESLEY, Sec'ry.

Philad., Second mo. 4th, 1861.

the school. Apply to

WEST-TOWN SCHOOL.

A Friend and his wife are wanted to fill the station of Superintendent and Matron at West-town Boarding

Application to be made to either of the following Friends: Nathan Sharpless, Concord; James Emle West Chester; Samuel Hilles, Wilmington; Hene COPE OF WILLIAM EVANS, Philadelphia. Twelfth mo. 10th, 1860.

DIED, on the 14th of the Eighth month, 1860, EUNIG STARR; a member of Maiden Creek Meeting, Pa., in tl eighty-sixth year of her age.

eighty-sixth year or ner age;
—, on the 8th of the Tenth month last, in the eight sixth year of her age, Mary Douona, wife of Job Doudna; a member and elder of Somerset Monthly an Ridge Particular Meeting, in Belmont county, Ohio. For a number of years, she had to endure much bodily a fliction, which she bore with patience and resignatio It was he to at times to experience great porety spirit, concerning which she said, "These seasons a designed for some good purpose; I feel an evidence th I am not forsaken;" and often craved that patien might hold out to the end. She was a good examp

, on the 29th of Twelfth month, 1860, after short illness, Mary F., wife of Henry H. Lawrence, the sixty-third year of her age; and on the 3d of Fire the sixty-third year of her age; and on the 3d of Fire the sixty-third year of her age; and on the 3d of Fire the sixty-third year of the sixty the sixty than the sixty th month, 1861, Susan F., eldest daughter of Henry and Mary F. Lawrence, in the thirty-ninth year of hage, both members of the Monthly Meeting of Friends Philadelphia for the Northern District. In the remov of these dear Friends, their relatives have the coosoling the postal service.

MEXICO.—Vera Cruz dates to the 23d ult., have been could both acknowledge that they enjoyed times of so crecived. Junvær had made his entry into the capital ramid great rejoicings, and there were but two or three ready believe that they were alike folded in the arms small armed bonds of the beaten faction in the fold.

> —, on the 16th ult., in the seventy-fifth year of bage, Joseph Rhoads; a beloved member and elder Springfield Particular Meeting, and Chester Month Meeting, Pa. Having submitted in early life to t transforming power of the Holy Spirit, and been co cerned to walk daily noder its restraining and crucif ing operations, he was thereby made an example to t ing operations, he was thereby made an example to the believers in watchfulness, humility and uprightness and in that christian government of the tongue a temper, which marks an advanced stage of religions. stability and experience, and is one of its brightest orn ments. Thus growing up in the Truth, through livi to that of an elder and pillar in the church, the work preparation for death kept pace with the day; ar through the mercy of God in Christ Jesus, his closi

THE FRIEND.

A RELIGIOUS AND LITERARY JOURNAL.

VOL. XXXIV.

SEVENTH-DAY, SECOND MONTH 16, 1861,

NO. 24.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY,

cice Two Dollars per aunum, payable in advance.

Subscriptions and Payments received by

JOHN RICHARDSON.

T NO. 116 NORTH FOURTH STREET, UP STAIRS,

PHILADELPHIA.

ostage to any part of Pennsylvania, for three nths, if paid in advance, three and a quarter cents; my part of the United States, for three months, it d in advance, six and a-half cents.

> For "The Friend." Henry Hull.

(Continued from page 178.)

In the prosecution of his religious labours in land, he makes the following memoranda, viz: "From Moyallen, I went to Lurgan, and was the usual meeting on First-day, and in the evenat a very large one with the town's people, ere the doctrines of Truth were opened in the nonstration of the Spirit and with power: the ople were solid, and appeared well satisfied. The hority of Truth reigned over all, and there med a renewed visitation extended to this place, ere anciently the Truth prevailed, although now number of Friends is small. Formerly it was residence of many worthy Friends, among om was that faithful servant and minister of sus, William Edmundson. "I then attended Hillsborough meeting, and had uffering time on the following Fifth-day at the onthly Meeting at Lisburn; visited the province sool there on Sixth-day, and was at Monthly eeting at Lurgan on Seventh-day. First-day at-ided Moyallen meeting, and then the Monthly setings of Grange and Rich-hill, where the goswas preached in the love of the heavenly Sheprd, and Friends invited to come to the living intain, Christ Jesus. In the management of the cipline of the church, cause for mourning was ministered, things appearing to be much out of ler. It being the time for answering the queries, nplaint was made in several of the meetings, it some Friends were remiss in the great duty of ending meetings for worship and discipline; ne guilty of attending places of diversion, and my of paying tithes and church-rates. Yet a s a revival of concern in the minds of a number, have things brought into better order, and to t the discipline in force against such as persisted these inconsistent practices. This, together with evident extendings of Divine love, in a renewed ful enjoy, the call is afresh extended to those that and indulge in high life, far removed from the useare in the highways and hedges, the streets and fulness and self-denial of a christian, and unmindleaving Antrim, I had meetings at Belfast and readiness, as good stewards, when the solenin sum-Milecross. At the former place I had some solid mons arrives, 'Steward, give an account of thy the world, who appeared to be under convincement, but finds it hard work to give up to what he be-lieves to be right. I left him in a very tender fortable respite from travelling for a few days, in frame of mind, with a belief that the opportunity would be an encouragement to him, more cheerfully Stanford Quarterly Meeting, as follows: to submit to the cross, which many stumble at, and thereby fall short of the reward of that peace which the world can neither give nor take away. From Belfast, I went to the Quarterly Meeting at Lisburn, the several sittings of which were, I trust, apostle, I salute you: 'Grace be to you, and peace solid and profitable seasons, them, [occasioned by a number of persons denying the christian principles of the Society,] were God of all comfort, who comforteth us in all our the means of the discontinuance of the Select Meet-tribulations, that we may be able to comfort those ing, the elders having all lost their stations, a part which are in any trouble, by the comfort whereof them having been dismissed by the overbearing with we ourselves are comforted of God, influence of the seceders before they left the Society. Only one member was left, who was in the undiminished, and is to be witnessed by the faithstation of a minister, and the meeting was conse-ful followers of Christ in our day, as well as by the Meeting. The situation of the Society being now and vouchsafed by its holy Author to support unmore favourable, I proposed for consideration the der the various trials that await his servants. In propriety of reviving the meeting of ministers and the enjoyment of a measure thereof, my mind has of the body, there being, within the compass of the you, although far separated in a distant land. I Quarterly Meeting, several who appear as minishave felt you preciously near, desires have been ters. The meeting was unanimous in recommending to the Monthly Meetings a care in the appoint of gospel fellowship, and that you may witness its pe was expressed, that in each meeting there down, and I felt released from the concern of mind dulgence that arises from self-love, that seeketh I had laboured under, in the course of my visit to only the support of self, and those whom we are Friends of this province, hoping that the judgment of Truth will be placed over opposing spirits. The walk in the paths of self-indulgence with us. We appointment of elders, as fathers and mothers in are all in a tribulated path as inhabitants of the the church, is a wise measure, if such are chosen world, and have need of all the comfort we can the church, is a wise measure, if such are chosen world, and have need of all the comfort we can lit to come out and be separated from the world's in customs and maxims, afforded ground to hope the things would be better amongst them.

"On First-day, the 24th, I attended a meeting Ballinacree, where the number of Friends is greater hard in finding him desirous of preparing to leaver the number of Friends is preacher and his hearers, and it was a solid mortable season. The following day we had a content attached to business. Harding acmitted because. The following day we had a content attached to business. Harding acmitted because the number of the preacher and his hearers, and it was a solid mortable season. The following day we had a is now desirous of distributing it, so that it may ment, as a cordial reviving the drooping spirits, trim, where we had a solemn, good meeting with a do some good. I had much conversation with him, number of the town's people and the few Friends and found that he was careful to appropriate it for living there, much to the satisfaction of my mind, benevolent purposes, and that he contributes largely which had been oppressed under a consideration of for the purposes of society, and helping to repair the low state of our Society, in the north of Ire-land. Many, who went under the name of Friends, the poor, &c. Well would it be if more of the have gone off with those disaffected persons, whose wealthy cherished this disposition, and spent their stations in society should have engaged them in substance in like manner, rather than placing their endeavours for the preservation of the weak; but children in possession of great estates, thereby as they have proved themselves, by their revolt-ing, unworthy of the blessings which the faith-above the simplicity and humility of the gospel, the lanes, to come in and take their places. After ful of the importance of having their accounts in conversation with a man of considerable note in stewardship, for thou mayest no longer be steward,

"From Lurgan, I rode to the house of Thomas which time I wrote a short epistle to Friends of "Epistle to Stanford Quarterly Meeting, written whilst in Ireland.

"Dear Friends,-In the language of the beloved from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus "The late difficulties they have had amongst Christ. Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies, and the

"The uniting influence of this comfort remains quently discontinued by direction of the Quarterly primitive believers. It is precious in its nature, elders, as a measure very necessary for the health been engaged this morning by the remembrance of ment of suitable persons to have the oversight of cementing virtue, to render you truly one another's the ministry, excepting one Friend, who, I feared, joy in the Lord, that you may comfort one another would prove an opposer of this prudent means for the preservation of a living ministry.

Truly, if you are partakers of that peace which is from God the Father, "A minute was accordingly made and sent this will be your delight, in preference to any in-dial administered to him, fainteth, and finally dies your friend and brother, away; and where anything of a poisonous nature is administered, his sufferings increase, and pre-sage a speedy dissolution.

"Seeing we are social and intelligent beings, professing a belief in the consolations of the Hol Spirit, and called upon to seek them, let none think to obtain them, or to be able to administer them, early as the days of Moses, as appears from Exobut by an engagement of mind that preferreth the dus xxviii. 33-35, where the priest is commanded lbs., was long celebrated not only as the large righteous cause of God to our earthly joys. 'God to hang bells to his robe, in order by their sound is love,' saith the apostle, and 'they that dwell in to give notice of his approach to the sanctuary. love dwell in God, and God in them.' Thus they Bells were also appended to horses as an ornaare near to the fountain of consolation, and are ment, (Zech. xiv. 20.) probably similar to those lbs.; and in Olmutz is another of about the sar enabled to comfort one another in all their tribu- which are still used in many parts of Europe. As lations. May you be enabled to come up in use-fulness in the militant church in your day, that you may bear testimony with the beloved apostle times, having been thus used by the ancient Greeks House, in London, weighs 30,000 lbs.; that to the sufficiency of Divine love.

we have had together, wherein we have known this of bathing, and the early christiaus adopted the thedral in Montreal, (the largest upon this con as the streams of that river which makes glad the same signal for designating the hour of prayer; whole heritage of God. I also remember that Paulinus, Bishop of Nola, in Campania, at the end England, in 1843. sometimes these streams were obstructed, so that of the fourth century, being the first to introduce there was not an uninterrupted flowing of them. them in christian churches. Their use gradually As these streams of Divine consolation are very extended, and when parish clurches began to be precious, we certainly ought to endeavour that the erected in England, they were generally adopted of it, has been rung upon European bells for ce comfort resulting from them may be witnessed by there, giving rise to that feature of ecclesiastical turies:all, and that the aged may be strengthened, the architecture, the bell tower. The ringing of bells middle-aged animated, and the dear youth invited during eclipses, (which were supposed to be caused to bend their necks to receive the yoke upon by the oppression of evil spirits,) was common, and world alto the instrument of the thereof. Where this guard is maintained, Zion spirits was increased by the ancient custom of toll-becomes beautiful; and if she were preserved so by ing the "passing bell" for the dying, that those the vigilance of the watchmee on her walls, would who heard it might offer up a prayer in their before three hum become the praise of the whole carth. But her half, as the virtue of the bell was thought to be this country: been, had her watchmen been on the watch at their that it also drove away any evil spirits that might posts; the enemy has gained an advantage, and dismay has been spread in the ranks of the army; when the "curfew tolled the knell of parting day," heavenly calls, by which your love was turned to fires, and retire to rest.

the Fountain of true consolation, with desires to Russia is pre-eminently the country of great partake thereof, and you have been refreshed bells, where they may be heard in full vigour, not thereby. Oh! that nothing may deprive you "swinging slow with sullen roar," for they are too thereof, but that you may steadfastly look unto beavy to be swung, but incessantly tolling and Him, who can support under every trial, and will booming, and deafening all ears but those of Ruscontinue to supply you with the needful strength sians, who almost worship their bells. In Moscow for every good word and work.

nant of life, and be willing to join in a continued heard, was cast in 1653, by order of the Empress and a renewed care, that we may be one another's Anne. Its weight is variously estimated at from joy in the Lord, not suffering anything to divert 360,000 to 440,000 lbs. It is 21 ft. 3 inch. high, our minds from the renewings of the Father's love. and about 22 ft. in diameter at the mouth. May this support me, who am exposed to various 1837, the Czar Nicholas eaused it to be taken out perils in a distant land. And you, dear friends, of the pit in which it lay, and to be placed upon in the land of my nativity, may you witness the the granite pedestal as it is now seen. Upon its glory and the beauty of this world stained in your side is seen the figure of the Empress Anne in view, that avarice and covetousness may not have flowing robes. It has been consecrated as a chapel, an ascendency over those who are advanced, and the Russians regarding it with the most superstiare advancing in years; nor the youth be left to tious veneration, and will not allow a particle to one (of a peal of three) in Worcestershire, ea serifice on the altars of vanity, but while cheerbe taken from it as a specimen of the metal. The fully employed in the necessary cares and conentrance to it is through a large fracture or openceros of life, be engaged to comfort each other in ing in the side, whence a piece has been broken all your tribulations, and not forsaking the assemout. There is now suspended in Moscow, upon the body. But he that languisheth, and hath no cor- Lord, even the God of all comfort. So prayeth is 13 ft. HENRY HULL.

" From Grange, near Charlemont, in Ireland, Third month 8th, 1811." (To be continued.)

A Chapter on Bells. A tinkling instrument of some sort was in use as and Romans for civil, military, and religious pur- York Minster, called Great Peter of York, weig "I often remember the seasons of refreshment poses. The Romans by bells announced the hour them, that there may continue to be a succession is referred to by Pliny and Juvenal. So, too, it was of those who prefer 'Jerusalem to their chiefest supposed that their ringing would avoid tempests, joy.'
